GFC meetings open to public Half day seminar ok'd

By KEN BAILEY

Student cooperation may be the key to a benevolent General Faculty Council (GFC).

Two major student proposals were passed in Monday's General Faculty Council meeting as a result of student cooperation and pressure.

The most significant student gain was the opening of GFC meetings to the public and the press.

This was the result of six months of students' council pressure on GFC. The pressure began last April when GFC voted down a student request to open their meetings to The Gateway. In September, students' council ex-tended their request to allow both the press and the public to attend GFC meetings.

"It is particularily significant that this important change proposed by students has been achieved through cooperation rather than confrontation," said president of the students' union, Marilyn Pilkington, one of the three student representatives on GFC.

Previous to the Monday meeting the GFC executive committee had formulated a recommendation to open the meetings to students and The Gateway.

"We must bear in mind that the General Faculty Council is the senior academic body at the university. Therefore a great deal of work must be done at meetings," said university president and GFC chairman, Dr. W. H. Johns.

One of the objections to the opening of GFC meetings was the members would not feel free to give opinions on major policies.

"I am afraid that the GFC may change its operating functions to making major policy decisions at the committee level, then just

'rubber stamping' the decisions in the open meeting," said Phil Pont-ing, a student representative to GFC.

Dr. Johns did not think this would be done.

"As far as I can see, there will be no change in General Faculty Council or executive committee procedures," said Dr. Johns.

The second student proposal passed by the GFC dealt with stu-dent-faculty-administration semi-It was agreed that on one half-day before the end of January, campus-wide seminars will be substituted for classes.

Dr. Johns stressed the point that the proposal had only been ap-

A major goal of the student representatives on GFC will be to increase the student representation.

"I definitely think that we must continue our push for more repre-sentation on GFC," said Ponting.

"I think that the students have enough representation, although I realize that it does place a heavy responsibility on the three student members," said Dr. Johns. At the present time the students have three representatives to the GFC: Phil Ponting, who is also president of the Alberta Association of Students; Richard Watson, president of the Graduate Stu-dents' Association; and students' union president Marilyn Pilkington. Phil Ponting's appointment to the executive committee of the General Faculty Council was recently confirmed by GFC.

"I'm totally unconcerned," he said. "It takes a lot worse than this to get me excited. I can't see the point of it all but it's rather funny." As if the campus hadn't had enough trouble, Mark Rudd, SDS chairman at Columbia and leader of the spring revolt there is scheduled to speak today. There is some doubt about him being allowed into the country and if he is, some people at UBC are reluctant to follow Rubin with Rudd.

students, and undergraduates deny that anything has been agreed except there are problems, it neverthless appears under-graduates as well as graduates will now be on the department's The Melvin committee, which is studying the possibility of changing the department so as to improve its representation, is made up of four faculty, four grad stu-dents, and four undergrads.

"The faculty club," shouted. And that was that.

Over 2,000 gleeful University of British Columbia students marched a half mile to the faculty club Thursday and took over. The students, led by Rubin, and members of UBC's Students for a Democratic Society, paraded a squealing pig (presidential candidate for Rubin's Youth Inter-national Party) into the opulent "faculty only" restaurant and bar. By late Thursday afternoon, ob-servers had estimated 3,000 UBC students passed through the doors at one point or another, ignoring the "Members Only" sign. There appeared to be few con-against the Georgia Straight, a Vancouver underground news-paper. The paper has been charged by the city prosecutor with printing obscene material. On Friday, at a mass meeting of the secrecy is because the issues are too controversial and any open debate would stifle free criticism.

They want to settle the whole matter without trouble. Open debate would cause more problems like the Oct. 22 resignation of Dr. Christian Bay, the department head.

It was Dr. Bay's resignation and his subsequent withdrawal on Oct. 23 which revealed the strife in the department, evidently concerning the proportion of representation undergrads and grads should have on department committees.

While all parties-faculty, grad

On Monday the undergraduates of the department met to select undergrad representatives to four committees of the department. Three of these committees are permanent, while the fourth is the committee of Democracy in the Department (Melvin committee), which held its first meeting Tuesday.

The other three are the department faculty committee, which is the final policy maker within the department, the curriculum committee, and the undergraduate committee.

This would seem to indicate undergrads will have a large voice in the policy making of the department.

Secrecy is still the rule except in the undergrad meetings. An attempt by a Gateway reporter to cover Tuesday's Melvin committee meeting was met with unanimous refusal by the committee.

If the department finally breaks out of its shroud of secrecy and reveals what has been going on, the campus could be presented with a model which other departments and faculties could use to admit students into their own decision making bodies.

said they left the building to talk about academic reform.

Faculty club president D. S. Huberman, a UBC commerce pro-fessor, was not upset: "This is just delightful-there's nothing against your being here as long as you don't break into the liquor cabinet or damage the building. Other-wise we will consider prosecution."

Thursday, many occupiers turn-ed on (with pot and hash), others drank, and political discussion buzzed through the building. And one person who took the on U of A's role in CUS. Either Peter Warrian, CUS president; Martin Loney CUS president-elect; or John Gallagher, University of Saskatchewan at Regina student councillor will be expounding the CUS viewpoint.

The debate will take place in the SUB theatre lobby at noon.

The Gateway has on page four an article on Peter Warrian stating some of his viewpoints.

On anxiety and the university

By BRIAN CAMPBELL

Polarization sharpens, but at the same time, obscures issues.

Consider the current student demands for an end to exams and accreditation, more students on curriculum committees and a more relevant curriculum, and student power at the faculty and administrative levels. All these demands are aimed at building a better university--one which turns out humane citizens, and not just blocks for the corporate peg-board.

The trouble is that with enough screaming and yelling these become phony issues, in that many of the supporters of these demands think they are voting for an easier, lazier university.

Consider the curriculum and accreditation demands against the background of that ideal university with its aware students. As the noise for these reforms narrows to specific demands, the cause of the problem fades into the background and there is a danger that these reforms will be supported for the wrong reasons. I have heard them talk: "No exams, an easier degree," they say Curriculum seems the same in that students are looking for courses which tell them about revolution, marxism, the black problem, how to deal with politicians, reform, how to make bombs (Experimental College at San Francisco State), and so on. They want something where they are.

But what was the original purpose of all this reform? As I understand it, it was to get students involved in their courses and aware of their world. The purpose was to produce the educated man. The university does not produce this. Perhaps the problem is that universities aenerate more anxiety than students can handle, and thereby increase the time students spend worrying about their hang-ups as compared to the amount of time they spend getting involved. What are the causes of anxiety? Basically grade hang-ups and sex hang-ups. Universities are inhuman judges. Read, for example, the souldestroying remarks on some honestly produced, but not quite competent papers. Look at the inflexible stance of the administration toward grades. The grade is the man, the man is the grade, they say. A student who is trying to get through sometimes gets caught in a worsening gradesincreasing anxiety-more worry, less work, treadmill.

And so what about the ideal university? First, I think, we need a humane, human and forgiving environment. Education should not be them against us, but a community experience. Intelligent students who do not help others who are not doing as well-who do not share their knowledge-have no place in an ideal university. Students who hide their "9" papers do not belong here. Knowledge is, and should be communal Second, curriculum should be changed. Some new courses students want should be introduced, but basically the subject-matter (and I am speaking of arts courses only) would remain the same. Third, the university should build a stronginterdisciplinary atmosphere, while at the same time encouraging students to learn the structure of knowledge, and not a series of isolated facts.

The sort of student who began learning at the ideal university would, working in a friendly environment, bring to bear knowledge from all areas on a particular problem. Modern courses in revolution and marxism and so on are useless without a wide-ranging background in the humanities (and I use that word in its fullest literal sense). Many students who complain about irrelevancy are so personally hung-up they are unable to see past themselves. Students in the new university would be encouraged to make the connections between Blake and MacBeth and society and politics which are clouded and ignored now.

But in the end, the new student will have covered more material, in more depth, than today's model. The changes will not reduce university curriculum in quantity or quality. If anything, there will be more to cover. Hopefully the new student will be able, through a more human environment, a less threatening world, to involve himself, without anxiety, and think in the new university

Peter Warrian and the student movement

By KEVIN PETERSON Canadian University Press

Peter Warrian doesn't talk about the Canadian Union of Students, he talks about a student movement.

And he sees his main task as putting across certain relationships to students which they may not see now---relation-ships like what he sees in the movie Rosemary's Baby.

"How about a film review of Rosemary's Baby in terms of liberal con-sciousness?" he asked Peter Alloutt edi sciousness?" he asked Peter Allnutt, edi-tor of CUS' national student magazine, "The just society is going to be Issue. Rosemary's Baby.

Peter Warrian is president of the Cana-dian Union of Students. The professional media pictures and quotes him as a building-burning revolutionary who in-tends to knock Canadian universities down to the ground and then move on to level the rest of society in the same way. The media lies. Warrian on leadership says: "My concept of political leadership is not the leaders and the led. Leadership is describing the situation then presenting al-ternatives."

'The student movement has always been hung up on leadership, the charis-matic leader like Dutschke or Cohnencouraged by the media Bendit which builds these people." For the moment, Warrian would much rather stand on a table in some university cafeteria and talk to students than lead howling masses through the streets. He doesn't deny that someday he may be fighting in the streets, but he has no intention of doing it until Canadian students think that's what's required.

When people describe Warrian sympathetically, they say he is the image of the clean-cut, Canadian kid-doesn't smoke or drink, likes football (he still plays it occasionally) and once was a seminarian. In short, he becomes the male version of Playboy magazine's ''girl next door".

If you want to like Warrian, he's all that and more. When he speaks, he has a sincerity which, at times, becomes too much to believe.

He speaks in quiet tones, but the message is the sort that is supposed to come across only in revolutionary rallies.

He wants CUS to take ideas to people and help them see their position: 'We talked a lot at the congress about taking it to the student . . . when we talk about confrontation, we mean not only political confrontation but a confrontation of ideas."

CUS's September congress in Guelph passed several motions condemning American imperialism in Canadian society. Warrian is convinced the student can see his position within this framework.

"When I say imperialism, I have in mind a system of political domination and exploitation," Warrian says. "Students may be turned off by the word imperialism, but that's a semantic problem.

"I think an examination of our situation will show we are politically domi-nated and economically controlled."

Warrian sees housing in similar terms. He says, "You can't deal with the question of student housing in isolation. You must start with the overall problem of housing in Canada. Again, you are going to arrive at some basic contradic-tions which have produced the situation."

Warrian and CUS are taking things to the student with an expanded fieldwork program: four full time fieldworkers, one each in British Columbia, the Prairie provinces, Ontario and the Atlantic provinces.

If the approach proves completely suc-cessful, Warrian says, "The year will end with mass student involvement—the majority of students would demand their place in university decision-making and take that place firmly and clearly. The university would probably begin to ope-rate on a sort of syndicalist (student as worker) line.

The union could be in trouble

But even Warrian doesn't believe in complete success. Optimistically, he says, "I think it may be possible that by the end of the year 20 per cent to onethird of the students in Canada may be involved on a continuing day-to-day basis, with an equal number following them in crisis situations."

If something near Warrian's prediction is not reached, the union may be in trouble. For the past three or four years there have been rumblings throughout Canada that ''students aren't getting their money's worth from CUS'' and talking to people is not going to produce easily defined financial benefits.

CUS lost nine members during its congress, although three others signified their intention to join. Referendums are taking place on numerous campuses about CUS membership this year---no one is quite sure how many—and if more large campuses withdraw, the union could be in serious trouble.

On the other hand, some universities not in CUS, most notably the University of Alberta, are also having membership referendums. If these schools decide to join the union, it would be in a much stronger financial position. But, it would also have a significantly stronger moderate block which opposes the line Warrian is trying to sell.

thing is to educate---by making what we have more effective.

"If the conditions are there they give rise to the movement-if they remain, the movement will flourish. We don't manufacture the issues and it is impossible to justify CUS on those grounds."

However, whether Warrian likes it or not, there are fall CUS referendums and they do have to be fought.

Meanwhile, and between referendums, Warrian will be working for a new sort of university.

'We're sometimes slandered because it is said we want to destroy the university," Warrian says. "In fact we are trying to give it viability and life which can only come from analysis, self-criticism and definition---otherwise we become extinct like some huge grey mushy sort of dinosaur."

Increasingly there is the feeling we will have an anti-capitalist, anti-imperialist university or no university at all.

Warrian talks about the reaction from administrations to student activity calmly and coolly. "I don't think they're capable of a common approach across the country, he says

Without a total change in mental framework towards, and within, university, the new university, not easier, as many think now, is not possible.

Warrian is bothered by referendums on member campuses, not because of pos-sible membership losses but because, Theoretically a referendum is a way to bring issues to the student; in practice it doesn't.

"Referendums may be valuable at the end of the year, but in the fall they become counter-productive, abstract, organizational debates."

"The major task is building a mass base for a student movement, the major

Recently. at Brandon University and Memorial University, threats have been made to expel students for demonstrations and other activities which were deemed disruptive to university life.

Warrian commented on the threat of expulsion: "A more serious error by administrations or a more beneficial act for the students as a whole couldn't be dreamed of '

'There are just too many students to whom the threat of expulsion for political action is a cause for glee rather than dismay.

There was a look of glee in Warrian's face when he said that.

About feminine engineers

The Editor,

On the masthead of The Gateway of Oct. 25 appears the following: ". . . but poor Harvey really got his backbone jolted when he discovered a second engineer on staff. And it is a SHE. What is a perfectly normal girl like MISS Terry Petitt doing in engineering? The rest of the staff . are perfectly shocked. And as for yours truly Harvey G. . . ., if there are people like Terry in Engineering, maybe I should just slither over there.

It may be news to the writer of the above bit of ethnocentric male chauvinism that women constitute a substantial percentage of engineers and scientists in a number of other countries, especially in eastern Europe. The notion that it is strange, undesirable or unfeminine that a "perfectly normal girl" is an engineer is simply a reflection of the predominantly North American nonsense which says that women are not fit or suited for such professions. It is a manifestation of the reactionary ideology that says womanhood can be properly expressed by edu-cation in the "lighter" subjects, supplemented by housewifery and motherhood. One wonders to what extent the shortage of scientific and technical personnel, of which our society constantly complains, might be reduced if such attitudes regarding sex roles were liquidated, so that the Terry Petitts might be multiplied several thousand-fold.

Who sold themselves?

The Editor,

A recent issue of The Gateway contained an article concerning the appearance last week at the Jubilee Auditorium of folk singer

A letter from Dr. Bay

The Editor,

In your story last Friday on my decision to withdraw my previous resignation as head of the department of political science, your conjecture about why I had resigned is about 180 degrees off. Referring to our graduate students' request for equal numerical representation in our department meetings, you wrote that the fa-"asked that they be given culty time to consider the proposal. It was apparently over this decision that Dr. Bay put his job on the line

On the contrary, what I have insisted on throughout has been that we do take the time to discuss and negotiate, and that none of the requests submitted by our students were to be turned down prior to discussions and negotiations.

This is a very serious charge to make, and it seems to me that by not providing substantiating evidence, you are guilty of irresponsibility verging upon 'yellow journalism'. Can you produce empirical evidence to prove that Mr. Lightfoot's audience had sold out? If you cannot, it seems to me that you are guilty of slander. If, on the other hand, you have such proof, it seems to me that it is your duty to publish it. If some students on this campus are selling out, the student body at large has a right to know who is selling out. Who are the scabs? And to whom are they selling out? The CIA? Dow Chemical? The American military-industrial complex?

Until we know the facts, we cannot act. I await your response eagerly.

In defence of Major Hooper

The Editor,

I wish to clarify the position of the Pakistan Students Association with regard to a statement made by Mr. Saghir Ahmad in these columns. Having been present in that meeting myself, to the extent of my knowledge Major Hooper did not undertake any "propagandising and salesmanship" and his words about Asian Student could by no means be interpreted as effort at "selling" that newspaper. He did not use the adjective 'valuable' for Asian Student in his speech, which Mr. Ahmad seems to have disliked, nor did he make any "laudatory remarks" about the paper. In fact, Major Hooper only made an announcement to the effect that Asian student which used to be distributed free of charge could now only be received after paying a certain subscription.

I believe, and on behalf of the Pakistan Students Association, I want to make it clear that Major Hooper's words were not interpreted as any attempt of "salesmanship" in that meeting, of a "CIA publication", by most people present. Every interpretation given to his speech is Mr. Ahmad's private affair.

Treasure Van returns – aaahhh! The Editor.

My dear Miss Minich;

A few words-is Treasure Van soon to impose itself upon us?

If it is again to arrive, and since we have a new group of naive frosh again, tramping about a new campus, might I request that you print again my letter of last year, appearing I believe in The Gateway of Dec. 13, 1967. It should have a greater affect if it appears before television, rather than after the fact as it did last year. G. H. Harper

THE GATEWAY, Thursday, October 31, 1968

By PETER BOOTHROYD

A letter in last Friday's Gateway from J. R. Nursall claims that "things such as Boards of Governors and administration are peripheral to the main function of the university, which is the transmission of experience and the utilization of it to modify and improve man's state." There can be little disagreement with this claim as an expression of an ideal. That's the way the university should be. The problem is that it is isn't that way now.

Mr. Nursall underestimates the importance of the present board and administration when he says they are conceived with "just simple watchdogging." It's hard to see how "obtaining and distributing financial and physical sup-port for the university" is "simple watchdogging". Control of the finances is ultimate power. He who pays the piper calls the tune, and all that.

By having ultimate control of the finances, the board can decide what departments, faculties, and institutes get adequate financial support and which do not. It can decide the extent to which students from poor homes will be admitted to the university, by determining residence rates, the price of food, and of course the cost of tuition.

Having responsibility for all building, the Board of Governors decides what kind of residence student will live in. The board makes the decision, in the end, about how many teachers of one kind or another get hired and can if it wants, indirectly decide any professor's fate. In sum, the board determines the balance between teaching and research, salaries and buildings, all expenditures and tuition fees. This is rather more than forming "the boundaries of the university's growth," as Mr. Nursall claims. This is forming the direction of the university's growth. Even the more clearly academic functions of the General Faculty Council are "subject to the authority of the Board.'

Some body has to make the final decisions of course, but why should it be seven businessmen, a Social Credit lawyer, a judge, a doctor, a housewife active in community affairs, and three administrators.

Who decided these people should decide our fate? Manning, of course. But besides being general wheeler-dealers, why should these people have such responsibility for our education? They can't have more time than students and faculty for running the university. At least two of these people live well out of town, one runs a hospital, one runs half the world through Industrial Acceptance Corporation, International Utilities Corporation (and all their subsidiaries). Occasionally their advice might be valuable. However, ridiculous as things are now, we're the ones whose advice is occasionally listened to. It is the students, and most faculty, who are regarded as the guests in the university community.

Dear Chuck . . .

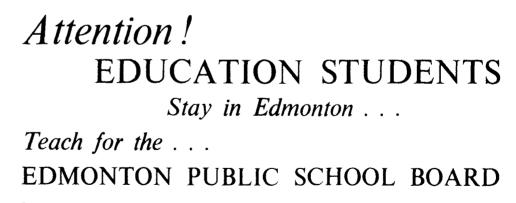

Dear Chuck Moser.

Something needs to be done about football reserve seats! Students with ID cards are coming early to get a good seat but are being asked to move just before game time by persons holding reserve seats.

A simple specification of the reserve seat area would enable students to support their Bears from one seat while allowing the off-campus fan a fair seat.

Grrr Bears outgronk Dinos Bear - Bison clash big one

By BILL KANKEWITT Gateway Sports Editor Bears 38, Dinos 1

The chips are on the line for the Golden Bear football team. Clare Drake will herd his bruins into Winnipeg this weekend for a into Winnipeg this weekend for a do-or-die struggle with the Manitoba Bisons.

If the Bears win, they will gain a berth in the Western College Bowl, Nov. 17 against the winners of the Ontario-Quebec conference.

A loss against the Bisons would mean a sudden-death playoff the following weekend to determine the WCIAA champion. The setting for the big contest in Winnipeg came about last weekend as the Bears and Bisons thoroughly trounced their respective opponents.

Before over 4,000 chilled spectators in Edmonton, the Bears rolled over the Dennis Kadatz coached Calgary Dinosaurs 38-1. Meanwhile in Saskatoon, the resurgent "herd" from Manitoba trampled the hapless Saskatchewan Huskies 42-7 to stay two points behind the league leading Bears.

NO CONTEST

It was no contest here between the Bears and Dinnies.

The Bears jumped off to a 7-0 first-quarter lead on a touchdown by defensive lineman Bruce Gainer. Hardcharging middle-linebacker Dave Wray popped the ball out of Calgary quarterback Greg Gibson's grasp. Gainer, the "Jolly Green Giant", simply scooped up the loose pigskin and rambled 58 yards for the score.

Wray set up the second Bear touchdown when he blocked a Dino field goal attempt with Bob Clarke recovering the ball on the Calgary 26. Two plays later, Hart Cantelon skirted around left and from 21 yards out for the six pointer.

The Bears moved three touchdowns up when quarterback Terry Lampert clicked on a 29-yard pass to sure-fingered John McManus who was hiding in the shadow of the southerners goal post.

A 60-yard run by Cantelon, off a screen pass, brought the Bears into position for their final score of the second stanza. Lampert snuck over from the one yard line for the T.D.

Action simmered down considerably in the final 30 minutes as both fans and players alike seemed more interested in listening to game announcer Glenn Sinclair's unorthodox commentary. The overspirited Sinclair, resident mouth on campus, left no doubt as to his lineage in the minds of all present.

Two safety touches and another touchdown by Cantelon closed out the Bear attack in the third quarter.

Dave Benbow was good on all five of his conversion attempts.

Calgary's lone point came on a booming 94 yard punt by "southfooted" kicker Bill Newcombe. His kick was aided by a brisk 40 mph wind.

BARE FACTS

Bear football players voted Sinclair the "drip of the week" as they threw him, fully clothed, into the showers following the game.

Gene Lobay and Bryson Archibald were forced to miss the Calgary encounter. Lobay is still hobbled by a gimpy knee while Archibald was laid low by the flu. Al McCann of CTV chose Dave Wray and Terry Lampert as the most valuable Bear players in the game.

It's your chance for the winter warm up

THE DOUBLE BANDSTAND

The Bears appear to be in good shape physically for Manitoba encounter. Guard Vic Justic suffered a charley-horse in the game but should be ready to go by game time Saturday.

Bear fans will be able to listen to the contest on CKUA starting at 1 p.m. Saturday. Ray Dallin will be heading the U of A radio crew that will be going to the Manitoba capital for the broadcast.

B'ball Bears open Saturday

The Edmonton Chieftains come to the Main Gym this Saturday at 8 p.m. to tangle with the Bears in an exhibition game. Chieftains, it is said, like the rule but then Bears are rather hard to tame. This should provide quite an interesting tussle for spectators to take in. Last year the Chieftains and the Bears met twice with each club winning once. The attempted training session continues this year with another two games scheduled between these two perenial opponents.

Coach Barry Mitchelson said he regards Saturday's game as a grudge match so the Bears can be expected to be up for the game. With the highly improved team they have this year their chances of mastering the Chiefs are good.

Last week the mens' intramural tennis wound up with Arts and Science taking first place in the team standings. Engineering and Recreation finished two-three behind the winners.

In mens' singles play Geoff Trott, a post grad student in Engineering, defeated L. Lodoen of Arts and Science in the semi-finals and went on to out-last Prakish Radia of Zeta Psi 6-0, 6-2 in the finals. Second place finisher Radia had defeated T. Kokin of Lower Res earlier in the semis.

Trott, who also won the summer session tennis tournament, triumphed in seven consecutive matches on his way to the championship. No player succeeded in beating him more than twice in any game.

In doubles, Lorne Sawula and Dennis Fedoruk of Recreation were pushed to the limit in their final match against the twosome of E. Dawson and R. McLean of Engineering. The first set went 20 games with Sawula and Fedoruk winning 11-9. McLean and Dawson appeared to tire in the last set and went down 6-1 to the victors.

More Berkeley . . riots Police vs students

BERKELEY (CUPI) - About 1,000 policemen virtually occupied the Berkeley campus Thursday (Oct. 24) in order to prevent seething students from erupting into massive rebellion.

For the last two days roving ands of students have moved bands from building to building staging a series of sit-ins protesting the university regents' handling of a lecture course given by black militant Eldridge Cleaver.

Over 222 students have been arrested since Tuesday in the aftermath of police dispersal of sit-in after sit-in.

Thus far, students have occupied Dwinelle Hall, Moses, Hall, Cam-pos Hall and the Naval ROTC headquarters. Early Wednesday, administrators were forced to lock themselves in Sproul Hall, the administrative centre.

The present unrest has been led by a new campus group, Students Oppossed to University Racist Corporate Elite (SOURCE). Well over 4,000 Berkeley students have participated in various SOURCE rallies.

kicked off the whole affair. About 200 students from the class invaded the registrar's office and sat there in protest after Cleaver's third lecture which ended at 1 p.m. At 7 p.m., they were told repeatedly to leave the building or face arrest for trespassing. They refused, and 121 students were arrested. A hundred policemen battled the vanguard of a huge student crowd, estimated at 2,500 persons, as the rock-throwing mob tried to get in the building to prevent arrests. Student leaders at Berkeley say they will, in all probability, call a general strike Friday.

The dispute stretches back to Sept. 20, when the regents voted to limit Cleaver's lecture series to one non-credit lecture.

A compromise later allotted Cleaver use of a campus lecture hall for an unlimited number of lectures, provided they were noncredit.

Student help telephone service to aid academic, emotional problems

Last Friday student volunteers met to orient themselves for their task in the Student-Help project.

Student Help is a telephone service, whereby students can discuss academic or emotional problems by telephone with other students, or with professional people.

The orientation evening was in the form of a panel discussion. Panelists were Dean of Women Isabel Monroe, Major Hammond, operator of the Salvation Army suicide number, Dr. Elliot, director of Student Health Services, Dr. Sartorius of the Student Counselling Services and Anglican church chaplain Rev. MacLean. Through this discussion the task and difficulties of the volunteers became more clear. The volunteers must first of all be listeners.

Students who will not go to the official services may want to dis-cuss their problems with other students.

The second task is that of re-direction. The Student-Help or-ganization has contacted professors, staff and students who are willing to give their time if asked for. To such persons the student will be directed if the problem requires this.

The service will be in operation from 7 p.m. till 1 a.m. Volunteers hope that this service will provide the private and confidental at-mosphere required to discuss personal problems.

The service will hopefully be in operation starting Tuesday.

DeJong to B of G

The students' union have selected Jan DeJong, a third year grad-uate student in the Faculty of Engineering as their second repre-Engineering as their second repre-sentative to sit on the Board of Governors. DeJong was chosen after interviews with other ap-plicants by a committee composed of three graduate students from the Graduate Students' Association, and three councillors from Students' Council. The other representative to the Board of Gover-nors is Marilyn Pilkington, president of the Students' Union.

The job of these representatives is to represent student opinion on matters discussed at the Board of Governors meetings, such as university financing and campus development. These representatives are very interested in discussing policies with all students on campus. They can both be contacted by any interested students through the students' union office.

Students may soon be represented on the arts faculty council. On May 24th the council decided to form a committee to look into aspects of student representation in the decision-making process of the arts faculty.

Prof. John Terfloth of the drama department was appointed as head of this committee. The other eight members represent the other departments in the faculty.

"This committee has a free hand in deciding how to handle the problem." said arts Dean D. E. Smith.

The first meeting of this committee, primarily an organizational meeting, was held last week. The first public meeting which all students in the Faculty of Arts are invited to attend will be held today at 3 p.m. in T-L 11. This meeting will be an attempt "to establish channels of communication" between students and the committee.

Student representation on the faculty council is only one of the channels of communication to be considered, as this is not neces-sarily the best way, of gauging student opinion, said professor Terfloth.

The committee expects to have a report ready by December.
