THE ASSEMBLY CHURCH—1918

THE RETIRING MODERATOR

REV. DR. NEIL, Moderator

Rev. Dr. John Neil, retiring Moderator of the General Assembly, has been known for years far and wide as the minister of Westminster Church, Toronto. Like the Senior and Junior Clerks of the Assembly, he is Canadian-born.

Mono Centre has the honor of being his birthplace, and he was educated there, in the Jarvis Street Collegiate, Toronto, Toronto University, Knox College and Edinburgh, Scotland. He is a D.D. of Queen's.

Beginning his ministry in 1882 at Nassawagweya and Campbellville, he has been in Westminster Church for thirty-four years. He was made Moderator of the Synod of Toronto and Kingston in 1903, and was the popular choice for Moderator of the General Assembly in 1917. In his official capacity he has had the privilege of visiting the Canadian Military Camps in England and France during the past year.

THE MAYOR OF LONDON

Mayor Charles R. Somerville has for many years been a leader in the activities of St. Andrew's Church, being one of its oldest elders in point of service, and for twenty years Clerk of Session. It is a fact of some interest that this is the seventh successive year that London has had a member of the Presbyterian denomination as its chief magistrate, Mayor Graham and Mayor Stevenson having each served three years in the office.

MAYOR SOMERVILLE

LONDON ASSEMBLIES

For a fourth time in its history, the City of London-on-the-Thames, Middlesex County, this year has the honor of entertaining the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. Though the Assembly was formed in 1870, following the union of the three branches of the Church in Canada, it was not until 1883 that the invitation to meet in London was acted upon. This, however, was only the ninth assembly, which tells the story that the highest court of the church had not yet become a regular, annual event.

Five congregations combined in extending a royal welcome to the "fathers and brethren of the church," the First Presbyterian, with Rev. Dr. Proudfoot the second as its honored pastor; St. Andrew's, under the ministry of Rev. J. A. Allister Murray; King Street, in charge of Rev. Mr. Wright; and St. James' Church, of which Rev. D. McGillivray was the pastor. It was not until the following year that Knox Presbyterian Church became a settled charge in South London, under the guidance of Rev. James Ballantyne, now Rev. Dr. Ballantyne, of Knox College.

The Twenty-first Assembly met in London in 1895, and the Thirty-second in 1906, when church union was just beginning to loom large on the horizon and was hotly debated. The Assembly Church on that occasion, by the way, was the First Presbyterian, and Rev. Dr. W. J. Clark the pastor.

The London Assembly has had in each instance noted Moderators. In 1883, the Moderator was the late Principal King of Winnipeg, father of Mrs. C. W. Gordon. Principal King went to fill the important post of training men for the ministry in the Canadian West, from Knox College, Toronto. The late Dr. Robertson, pioneer missionary of the North West, and the home missionary giant of the Presbyterian Church in every sense of the word, was the presiding officer in 1895. He was a striking figure, this tall, bearded, muscular man, who perhaps more than any other citizen of Canada endured hardship that the foundations of Empire might be laid in righteousness on the prairies.

It is an interesting coincidence that the retiring Moderator that year and the one who delivered the opening sermon, should be Canada's most famous foreign missionary, Dr. G. L. MacKay, of Formosa. Mrs. D. C. MacGregor (Marian Keith), wife of the minister of this year's Assembly church, has written a book on the life and work of Dr. MacKay, entitled, "The Black Bearded Barbarian," the name by which he was first known to the natives of Fortmosa. Not far from London was the early home of Dr. MacKay, Zorra, which has given so many scholars and theologians of note to Canada.

Dr. Falconer, a Maritime Province man, and father of the President of Toronto University, held the Moderatorship in 1915, when the Thirty-second Assembly met in the First Presbyterian Church. There were lively sessions over which he was obliged to preside, owing to that aggressive infant, church union, which was claiming attention.

Argument waxed hot on both sides on the floor of the house, until it was commented by onlookers that "those who were for it were just as pugnacious as those who were against it." The grand old blue traditions of the church were freely and heatedly quoted by eloquent speakers. The retiring Moderator this year, Dr. John Neil, of Westminster Church, Toronto, has for many years held an outstanding position in Presbyterianism in the Dominion of Canada.

Scene In Victoria Park

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH, LONDON, ONT.

St. Andrew's Church building celebrates its Jubilee, this year, by gathering the General Assembly within its walls. For it was just fifty years ago this Spring that the corner stone of the present edifice was laid.

The history of the congregation covers a much longer period. The first meeting for Divine Service was held as early as the year 1833. Here and there, in school room or public hall, the people gathered until finally, in the year 1841 they were organized as a Mission Station under the care of Rev. Donald MacKenzie, of Zorra.

The very next year the corner stone of the first church building was laid. It was on the present site with a manse nearer the corner, and was formally opened in September, 1843.

Seven years later the congregation called their first pastor, Rev. John Scott. For twenty-five years Dr. Scott led his people in a steady advance until a new building became a necessity, and the present edifice, with a seating capacity of 1,500, was erected. The manse followed in the next year.

In 1875 Dr. Scott resigned and the Rev. J. Allister Murray, of Lindsay, became pastor. At his death in 1894 the membership of the congregation numbered over seven hundred, and the church property was almost free from debt.

He was succeeded by the Rev. Dr. Johnston, new of the American Presbyterian Church, Montreal, who ably filled the pulpit until 1903. Rev. James Ross, D.D., of McGill University, was his successor, the strong tie between him and his people being suddenly broken by his tragic death in 1913.

The Rev. Hugh McFarlane, B. A., who had been acting as Dr. Ross's assistant, carried on the work alone until October, 1914, when the Rev. D. C. MacGregor, B.A., of Toronto, became pastor of the congregation.

THE ASSEMBLY CITY, 1918

While Nature has indeed been kind to the London of Canada—unsparing in her gifts of fertile soil, of rich verdure and grateful foliage—man has done his part towards making the city the place of beauty it is to-day. Early comers to London from the old land began right by planting for the future, and many gardens and shade trees in existence to-day are tributes to the taste and energy of those who have long since gone hence. Nor is the population of to-day one whit behind that of years ago in this particular. On the opening of a new street, even before the sidewalks are laid, the people lose no time in planting maples, and it is difficult to find in London to-day a treeless street. Is it any wonder, then, that London is known far and wide as the "Forest City"? The surveyors who mapped out London were wise in their day and generation.

They staked out wide streets, a course which has made it possible to have spacious boulevards in front of their homes. These boulevards complete the work begun by the planting of trees, the whole presenting scenes which cannot be duplicated anywhere in America.

London's parks are the delight of its people. Of these Victoria Park is the oldest, being located right in the very centre of the City. It comprises over fifteen acres, and is one magnificent piece of landscape gardening, with sufficient foliage to protect the weary from summer sun's rays. Queen's Park, in the east end, a little over thirty-five acres in extent, is a natural forest with plenty of greensward. Much of the space is taken up by the buildings of the Western Fair Association, but there is ample room for picnicking parties and large summer gatherings. The newest and largest of London's parks is Springbank, located a few miles west of the city and reached by trolley car. This park depends much on its natural beauty, although a great deal has been done by the hand of man to trim off some of Nature's rough edges. The scenery on every hand is delightful. No visitors to London in summer time should fail to see Springbank.

London is a city of homes in the best sense. Many of them reach the dignity of mansions, but whether it be the residence of the wealthy or the humble cottage of the toiler, the same regard for the beauty of the city as a whole is manifested. It is also a city of churches, all the denominations being well represented, of educational and eleemosynary institutions. It is the financial, industrial and commercial centre of Western Ontario, and in every respect is well abreast of the times.

"The real battle line is in the soul of the nation."—Sir Douglas Haig.

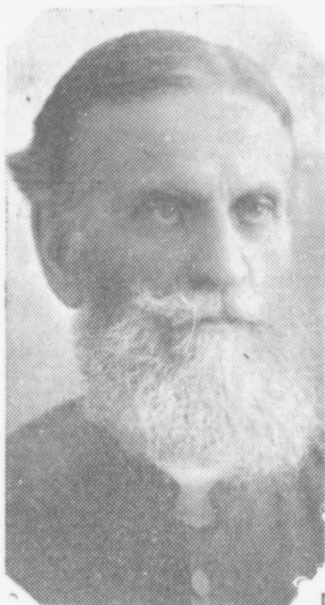

"In the matter of winning wars, moral and spiritual forces are to military and material forces as three to one."—Napoleon.

"When the nation gets upon its knees, then we may count the days when peace and victory will be secured."—Admiral Beatty.

"We cannot fight autocracies with autocratic means. Forces born of spiritual vision and moral conviction must be ranged behind the battle line."—Sir George Adam Smith.

"If you would help us most, go home and flood your churches with spiritual life."—President Wilson.

"Not by might nor by power but by my spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts."—Prophet Zechariah.

REV. DR. R. CAMPBELL, Senior Clerk

Some time ago, a journalist wrote of Dr. John Somerville, Associate Clerk of the General Assembly, "He is admittedly one of the great scholars of the Presbyterian Church in Canada." A B A and M.A. of Toronto University, he graduated in theology from Knox College in 1874, and held one charge, Division Street Church, Owen Sound, from 1875 to 1906 when he was appointed Junior Clerk of the Assembly. He has also been Convenor of the Home Mission Committee, and General Treasurer of the Church.

ASSEMBLY CLERKS

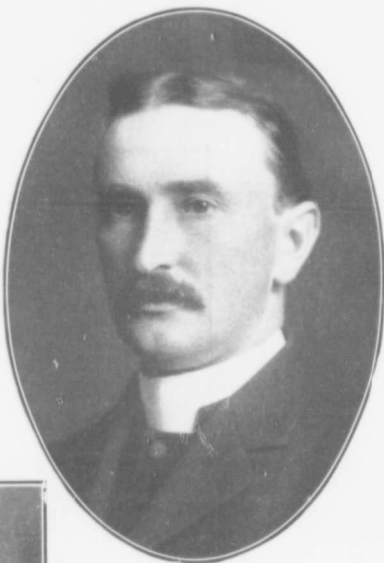

Rev. Dr. Robert Campbell, veteran Senior Clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, has held this office since 1892. He was appointed to the highest office in the gift of the Church, the Moderatorship, in 1907. Editor of "The Presbyterian" from 1867-70, in 1870 he won the prize offered for the best essay on Presbyterian Union in Canada. Born in Lanark County in 1835, his mental and physical alertness give the lie to his years. He is regarded as one of the best versed ministers in ecclesiastical law in the church.

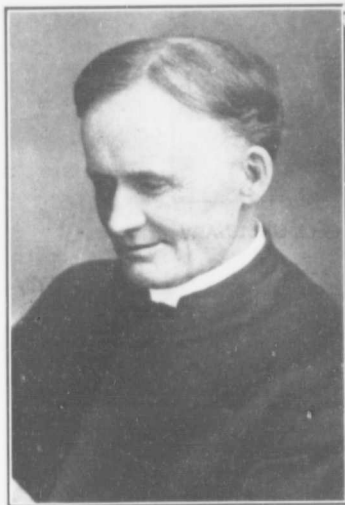

REV. DR. JOHN SOMERVILLE, Junior Clerk

Knox, M.A., minister of First Church of this city, and convener of the Board, and an address delivered by Rev. Dr. Douglas McKenzie, President of the School of Religious Pedagogy, Hartford, and one of the foremost educators in America.

Arrangements are made to have prominent missionaries, both Home and Foreign, address the Presbyterian Sunday Schools of the city at open sessions on the afternoon of Assembly Sunday.

SOCIAL SERVICE

From the fact that the Rev. Dr. Shearer, Secretary of Social Service for the Presbyterian Church in Canada from the inception of that work, and to whose enterprise the success of that department is so largely due, has been invited to become Secretary of the Social Service Council of Canada, the future of this phase of religious work is likely to receive prominent attention. Social Service is now connected with Home Missions, but still requires a directing head of its own.

REV. J. C. SHEARER, D.D., Toronto

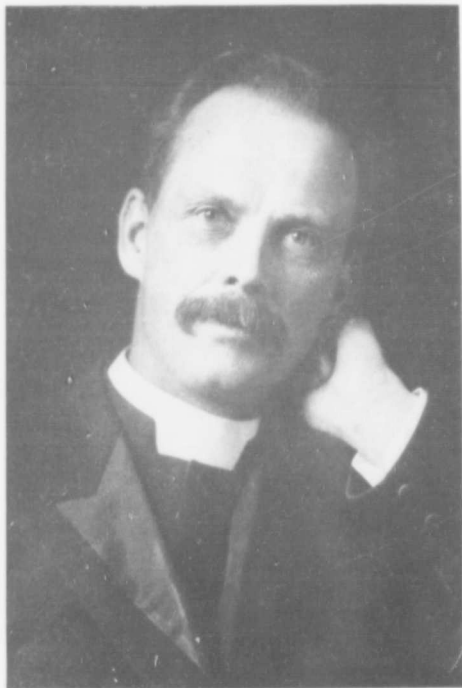

MAJOR (REV.) C. W. GORDON, D.D.
("Ralph Connor")

WAR AND AFTER THE WAR PROBLEMS

Akin to the work of Social Service is the War Work and Reconstruction Work of the Church. A report of work done will be presented by the Board named at last Assembly, and of future plans—in the discussing of which several returned Chaplains, who are Commissioners to Assembly, are expected to take part.

COLLEGES

PRINCIPAL GANDIER OF KNOX COLLEGE

Among other problems thrust upon us by the War is the question of our Colleges, so sadly depleted of students. The proposal to effect a mobilization of the Colleges of the Church, so eminently desirable from the standpoint of economy, is likely to meet with many practical difficulties. The church and the country will await with interest the outcome of the debate on this important matter. This problem will come up to Assembly through its Board of Education.

FORWARD MOVEMENT

Following the lead of some of the American Churches, the question of launching a Forward Movement is expected to come up at this Assembly. This Forward Movement is three-fold in its scope:

To secure a deepening of spiritual life in the Church;

To secure recruits for the Ministry for Mission work and for Deaconess training;

To provide an adequate budget for the financing of such a Forward Movement.

REV. A. E. ARMSTRONG
Assistant Secretary F. M. Board

WOMEN AND THE CHURCH

The new place woman is coming to occupy everywhere will find its echo in the Assembly. Arrangements must be made to utilize the services of our capable and consecrated women on the Boards of the Church, and to widen the scope of Deaconess training to include the work of preaching and the ministry.

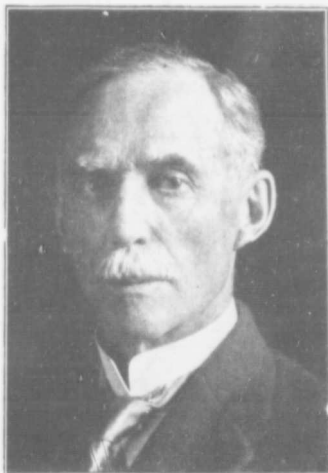

A meeting of women for prayer and consultation will be held in First Church on Thursday, June 6th, at 2.30. Mrs. C. R. Somerville will preside and two prominent members of the Assembly will present respectively the problems of the Church in Canada and in the Orient.

PRAYER

This Assembly is expected to meet in the atmosphere of prayer. The stress of the military situation and the deep need of the Church and nation for guidance and strength will lie close to the heart of all the Commissioners.

A room in the Assembly Church will be set apart for prayer, in which prayer service will be held one-half hour before each Session of the Assembly.

Come of Age Next Year

It is twenty years since the Publications Committee was appointed by the General Assembly, and our Church's publishing work, known under the business name of "Presbyterian Publications," began. The Assembly of 1917 changed our official name from "Committee" to "Board"—Board of Publication. The business name, "Presbyterian Publications," continues, for convenience.

NEXT JUNE WE SHALL COME OF AGE. And we want the help of every subscriber to every one of our twenty-four (by the New Year it will be twenty-eight) periodicals, and of every one who orders supplies of any sort from us—we want their help in making this twenty-first year a record year.

The business is a partnership—every one connected with our Sunday Schools and Young People's Societies and Churches has a direct interest in it; for the more business that is done, the more margin there will be for improving the periodicals we have, and for providing additional ones that may be necessary.

Just this sort of loyalty is what we are expectantly looking for in still greater measure, as we now enter upon our twenty-first year as a publishing Board.
