By pursuing the contrary plan, and establishing a customs union, a thorough tion of interest does not relate to Bills of Exand continually increasing interchange of products not only bound the States fast to each other, but threw out feelers in all directions that gradually drew new regions of production into the circle of the common industry. The British possessions on the North have most successfully resisted this in the North have most successfully resisted the interest of the Lower Canadians, partly from the loyal pride of the English, fostered by the capital of the Mother Country and encouraged by faith in the old Colonial protective policy. But perhaps more influential protective policy. But perhaps more influential protective policy. nial protective policy. But perhaps more influen-tial than all these has been the fact that Cafiada tial than all these has been the fact that Cafada holds out no great inducements to American enterprise; she offers nothing which is not to be had on better conditions in the States, and therefore does not attract attention where it otherwise would.—Yankee energy would long since have stirred up her Galic inertness, revolutionized her British loyaber Galic inertness and the British loyaber Galic inertness and therefore does not intend the British loyaber Galic inertness and therefore does not intend the British loyaber Galic inertness and therefore does not increase the British loyaber Galic inertness and therefore does not increase the British loyaber Galic inertness and therefore does not increase the British loyaber Galic inertness and therefore does not increase the British loyaber Galic inertness and therefore does not increase the British loyaber Galic inertness and t her Galic inertness, revolutionized her British loyalty, and inoculated the whole with American vivacity. This has, however, not been the case; but Canada has suffered imperial protection, consoled by pride of leyalty, with contempt for republicanism, until these later sentiments have been very materially modified through the conviction fieted upon the Canadians that the States have been very materially modified through the conviction fieted upon the Canadians that the States have reversed the usual order of things upon this Continent. The States have treated the Canadas with tinest. The States have treated the Canadas with cool neglect, and the latter, finding that they are not to be courted, have been compelled to permit their Anglo Saxon enterprise to get the better of their British pride, and are rapidly taking the position of suitors for union with the once contemped republic. The dilapidated fortunes, depreciated lands, singgish markets, and inactive commerce of the Canadas, seek renovation in a more intimate connection with the States. Canada has been to accomp to the context of the context marge of the Canadas, seek series. Canada has but little to affer in return 1 she wants to rival our own Western States in their productions on equal terms, to build up rivals to New England mann-naturem, to use the American Atlantic ports antazed for shipments and importations, and to enjoy a l'h se advantages which our inst tutions confer on the members of the Union, but offers no material general advantages in return. It is true that the international trade must offer mutual advantages, but these must be more on the side of Canadas and the state of the same and the side of Canadas and the same and the same

And what, hi k you, did he hold up as the great beauty of our syst. m? Why, that it constitues himself and three or four others, the directors of Legislation! In the United States, there is in Legislatures no Government to dir. ct and wa ch over the legislation; that is the style of his a gu-ment. He admitted, that there was a time when the ic nuttu ion of the Legislative Council was very be', and although it is precuely the same now as then, it is perfect, according to Mr. Baidwin's notion. The only rea difference is, that Mr. Bullwin and his colleas use now wield the appointing power. Mr. Ba dwin's notion is, that the Government should be suprome in the Legis'a ure, and control all its functions. It was curious enough however, to hear him declaring himself opposed to nowever, to near nim declaring minisel opposed to the practice of making wholesale appointments to the Legislat ve Council for any particular jurpose. Mr. Boulton, of Toronto, not only supported the Elective Principle, but unhesitatingly declared his preference for the American over the system of government now in operation here, and ridi-culed the notion of Mr. Baldwin that the connexion is to be preserved by crying loyalty and shouting God save the Queen. OBBINS, LANGDON & Co.,

MEN,—After about three months trial of your

New Haven and Northampton Railroads, for the following reasons:—

1. It wears quite as long as Sperm Oil.

2. So far as I have no completiful front our men about cleaning the Engines, and presume it is equally as easy to clean an Engine by using your Oil as it is in using Sperm Oil.

4. I can see no reason why it is not equal to the best of Sperm Oil for lubricating Machinery.

5. There is in my opinion a very great saving to all partness in using your Oil for lubricating Machinery.

6. I believe it will stand cold weather better than any seem Oil.

Very respectfully yours.

GENTLENEX.—In unswer to your request for my testimony as to the Machinery Oir mainfactured by you. I will say that I have used it for some time past on the Bay State, and am perfectly satisfied that your statement to grow of its good qualities, is correct. As far as its lasting properties go, it wears equally long as Bperm Oil, ruise sening a better than hearing. I would recommend you to consider the control of the sening as the control of the sening as the far as its lasting properties. JOHN GRAY, Engineer of Steamer Bay State. Pier 3, N. R.
