Organize Hospital Corps.

In keeping with the notice published in the last issue of THE STAR, a public meeting was held in the Assembly Hall last Monday evening for purpose of considering the advisability of appointing a Hospital Committee with a view to the future establishing of a Hospital at this point.

Mr. Mark Spencer was called to the Chair with E. N. Barker as Secretary. Information along the lines suggested was given by Messrs Barker and Laurie. It was decided to form a committee to take up the work of organization, collect funds for the same and gather information necessary to its consummation. A site for the Hospital has already been proffered and the deed to the land will be placed in the bank to be surrendered to the Hospital Committee. Those present were of the unanimous opinion that a hospital should be located at Cardston.

A Committee of five was appointed to gather information with regard to Hospitals and submit their report at a meeting to be held in the Assembly Hall next Sunday evening at 8.30 p. m. The Committee was also instructed to confer with the Bishop and the officers of the Mutual Improvement Association with regard to securing the Hall on that date.

Special Prize for Thomas Woolford

Mr. T. H. Woolford has been apprised of the fact that he was the lucky winner of the special prize offered by the North West Jobbing Company at the Lethbridge Fair for the most prizes won by any one man. The prize is a Weber Fanning Mill and Mr. Woolford is very proud of the same. This will make a trio of Fanners that he has and the first thing we may expect from Woolford is a complete Baseball Nine. We are pleased to know that Mr. Woolford was so successful, at the Fair.

Nominations at Magrath

Last Monday Nominations for the offices of Mayor and Councillors for the Municipality of the Town of Magrath were taken by the Returning Officer, Mr. George Thompson. The following were nominated for the office of Mayor for the new town, Messrs Levi Harker and Christian Jensen. A dozen were named to fill the places of six councillors. They are as follows: James Stacey, Andrew Hudson, Daniel Fowler, Austin R. Bennett, George A. Hacking, George W. Heathershaw, C. W. Stoddard, O. A. Woolley, C. W. Sanders, John L. Gibb, George J. Forsyth and J. B. Ririe.

There are two full and complete tickets in the field. Those under the Mayorship of Levi Harker have taken the name of THE PEOPLE'S PARTY and the others are known as THE CITIZENS PARTY. There will be a lively election held there on Monday next and if you hear something "drap" don't put up the quilts and think there is another of those "little hailstorms" coming your way.

By an oversight last week we failed to make mention of the fact that James Hansen was the winner of two more prizes than mentioned two weeks ago and also that Mr. Cleveland carried off a prize on that fine horse of his.

Field Grain Competition

Judged by W. C. McKillican.

First prize, $50.00, was awarded to Walter Pitcher on a field of Alberta Red which scored 92 points.

Second prize, $20.00, was awarded to S. M. Woolf on a field of Alberta Red which scored 91 1/2 points.

Third prize, $20.00, was awarded to Thomas Woolford on a field of Alberta Red which scored 91 points.

THE FIRST PRIZE.
This was a very fine crop which was cut 2 points for weeds, 1/2 point for purity of seed and 5 1/2 points for "Apparent Yield," which section considers vigor of growth, uniformity, size of head, stiffness of straw, thickness of stand and state of maturity. This wheat being lodged a little lost some points on that score.

THE SECOND PRIZE.
This was also a very good crop of Alberta Red but lost two points on purity of seed, 1/2 point on freedom from weeds, 1 point for smut and 5 points for apparent yield. This wheat was also lodged a little.

THE THIRD PRIZE.
Another excellent crop which was docked 1 point for weeds, 2 points for purity of seed, and 6 points on apparent yield, being rather badly lodged.

The next crops in order of points were: N. W. Tanner, Alberta Red 89 points; Arthur Perrey, Alberta Red 89 points; Horace Williams, Preston 88 1/2 points; J. W. Woolf, Alberta Red 88 1/2; Edward Pitcher, Alberta Red 88; D. E. Harris, Alberta Red 87 1/2; (marked, "rather late.") Walter Pitcher, Preston 84; Adam Gedelman, Alberta Red 83 1/2; H. R. Eldridge, 80 1/2; J. A. Hammer, Alberta Red 80; W. T. Ainscough, Alberta Red 80; William Sharp, Alberta Red 76; W. L. Thompson, Soft Wheat 75 1/2; James Anderson, Preston 74; Edward Leavitt, White Fife 71; Johanas Anderson, New Zealand 71; W. Sorenson, Alberta Red 71; Elias Pilling, Alberta Red 66; Chance Layton, Alberta Red 65; James Layton, Alberta Red 64 1/2; James Hansen, Alberta Red 64; J. C. Cahoon, Alberta Red 64; D. C. Hyde, Preston 59; C. T. Marsden, Jr. Alberta Red 43; Dr. Brant, Preston 42; C. T. Marsden, Alberta Red 41.

Mr. McKillican was kept busy for five days judging these fields and he pronounced most of the crops as first class. Anything that scores over 85 points is considered high class and anything over 80 is counted good. Some of the crops that scored very low marks were fine looking crops but in some cases were cut the full 25 points for being badly mixed with wild oats and some being tainted with smut. Some of the crops were too heavy so that the ears were small and the crops had lodged.

There were 25 entries with three crops going over 90, nine over 85 and 14—all told—over 80. There were six between 70 and 80, thus 20 crops out of 29 scored over 70 points.

Those who entered this competition can obtain the official score cards of their crops by applying to the Secretary. This will give them a chance to see wherein they failed and wherein they scored.

The presence of other varieties of grain in a crop, wild oats, mustard and other weed seeds, with smut in some, seems to have been the chief factor in reducing the scores. Another thing that told against some of the crops was too heavy seeding with a result that the grain was too thick which is the chief cause of lodging. Most of those faults can be eliminated with a little care exercised in the farming operations.

The scores noted above, are, however, very encouraging for, as the competition was strong and the entry heavy, the judge could not be lenient and scored against the crops all that was coming to them. The fact that so many came out well is a feather in the cap of the district and speaks well for our progress.

We Have Improved It.

On Saturday last we had the extreme pleasure of meeting and talking to Mr. A. M. Ten Eyck, Professor of Agronomy, Kansas State Agricultural College and Experiment Station, Manhattan, Kansas. It appears that the good word has gone abroad that the grain brought to Southern Alberta from Kansas some four years ago had been greatly improved by the Albertans. The Kansas Board of Regents hearing of this held a meeting and appointed Mr. Ten Eyck to come and investigate the condition for himself as the representative of the Board. He states that he was more than pleased with the Winter Wheat which had been produced from the old Kansan produce and that he would be compelled to admit the truth of the report regarding the improvement and also that he was recommending to the Board that they make their purchases for experimental purposes from the district south west of Lethbridge. It would be hard to find a better authority on Winter Wheat than Professor Ten Eyck and the fact that he has been in the district for about two weeks looking over the fields and talking to the practical farmers convinces us that he is on to his work all right.

Wilcox Mine Leased

Messrs Duggan & Huntrods have leased the Wilcox mine for a term of years and will go into mining on a large scale, they intend to put in considerable new machinery, such as cutting machines, fans, pumps etc. and it is their intention to get a railway to the mine as soon as they can if the right of way can be secured. The opening of this mine means much to the town and there should be little difficulty in getting the right of way for a railroad. Both these gentlemen have been in the employ of the Canada West Coal and Coke Co. and are practical men in the business.

We wish them success in their enterprise.—Taber Free Press.

"Make Hay While the Sun Shines."

There is a lesson in the work of the thrifty farmer. He knows that the bright sunshine may last but a day and he prepares for the showers which are so liable to follow. So it should be with every household. Dysentery, diarrhoea and cholera morbus may attack some member of the home without warning. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which is the best known medicine for these diseases, should always be kept at hand, as immediate treatment is necessary, and delay may prove fatal. Hudson Bay Company Planned in Hard -ship, Built up by Toil, Has Reaped Millions

THOSE who look upon trusts as modern growths may be surprised to learn that one of the most powerful on the North American continent is 86 years old. This is the Hudson Bay Company, which probably furnished the muff, collar or the fur overcoat which you are wearing this winter. It is the continent's oldest trust.

Age isn't the chief distinction of this trust, however. It can claim, what no other trust can, that it has made a nation; for it would be difficult to exaggerate the Hudson Bay Company's part in creating modern Canada. Many of the great Dominion cities of today have developed from trading posts established by the fur company many years ago.

In the forming of this trust and its development tragedy and romance run riot. The killing of rival traders in close encounter, in duels and in pitched battles; the accidental death of many a man while engaged in his perilous work; the hardship of life in isolated sections, to some of which mail, even at this day, goes only once a year; the commercial romances connected with bay-tree growth of cities in the wilderness—these things might, if inanimate objects could speak, be told by

A Furrier of the Early Days.

Canada, he exacted as payment only two elk and two black beavers annually, and this only when he should happen to be within the territories granted.

It kings and parliaments of this day only had a sense of humor! The fates ordained that these Englishmen, invested with unlimited powers by their government, were not to have things all their own way. The French could appreciate furs, too. In 1672 the company of New France was founded.

It is unnecessary to go into the merits of the French and English contentions. Both seriously claimed the territory. Things dragged along until, in 1683, Sieur D'Iberville headed a hostile expedition, which captured three of the Hudson Bay Company's five forts and several of its vessels.

For a century warfare interfered with the commercial the fur which drapes feminine shoulders or is exposed for sale in the store window.

Before the Hudson Bay Company absorbed its rival and formed the first trust of the continent its stirring history had already extended over a century and a half, and for a long time enjoyed a monopoly of the rich fur field.

IF THE Hudson Bay Company had not absorbed the Northwest Fur Company, of Montreal, in 1821, thus forming America's first trust, it is perhaps not too much to say that Canada for many years thereafter, perhaps almost to the present, would have been little more than a chain of towns and cities along the St. Lawrence and around Lake Ontario, and a group of semi-isolated maritime provinces.

Not long ago a Toronto writer expressed this opinion, and found none to dispute it. It is not in itself an excuse for the existence of a corporation, as such, although it speaks volumes for the enterprise of this particular trust.

Misled by its name, many people have thought the company's original scope of operation was only in the Hudson Bay district, when, as a matter of fact, it extended from ocean to ocean, and from the latitude of Alaska south as far as the Great Lakes—a country hardly smaller than the whole of Europe. This immense region was populated by about 160,000 Indians, half-breeds and Eskimos.

Only twenty years after the landing of the English at what is now Jamestown, Va.—to be exact, in 1627—the nucleus of the Hudson Bay Company had its birth in a trading post which a Frenchman named Du Pont set up at the junction of the St. Lawrence and Saguenay rivers. He sold merchandise to the Indians and received furs in return.

Then came the French Fur Company, a few years later, and, in 1683, an expedition outfitted by Prince Rupert, of England, the first to penetrate the Hudson Bay country.

Two years later a company was chartered by King Charles II. Less than forty years ago this company sold to the Dominion Government for $1,600,000 its territorial rights to certain lands, but retained its trading privileges. What a romantic story of commerce these less than 400 years have written on the snow-clad topography of British Columbia! And how much more tragic than that recorded may be that which is not known!

ONCE RULED THE NORTH

The Hudson Bay Company is not today what it was before the Dominion Government became a strongly organized force. Once it was the ruler of the North; its factors exercised the power of feudal barons, declared war and made peace. No other enterprise on this continent has had such a colorful career.

One of its wars—the one which ended in the consolidation—lasted over forty years. Both the Hudson Bay Company and the Northwest Fur Company realized that further fighting would mean destruction to both, and so, in 1821, "for mutual protection," did what many oil companies, railroad lines, rubber factories, tanneries, sugar refineries and other industries have found it to their advantage to do since then. They consolidated.

And why shouldn't the history of the Hudson Bay Company have been a romance of commerce, when in its very foundation existed such a quaint strain of humor and court atmosphere as one might expect to find in a time of King Arthur's day?

Witness the fact that when the liberal old English monarch ceded to the stock company of noblemen and gentry, including Prince Rupert, the vast lands in side of the Hudson Bay country, and in 1782 the French admiral, La Perouse, captured Fort Prince of Wales. This was on Cape Prince of Wales, on the coast of Alaska, just south of the Arctic Circle. Today that old fort stands, just as the conqueror left it after he had destroyed it, perhaps the most imposing ruin on the continent.

All the time the English had been living comfortably in their seaside quarters, never venturing into the forest, content to let the Indians bring them what furs they would, the more adaptable Frenchman was making his way into the recesses of the forest, living with the Indians, gaining their confidence first, their skins afterward.

It was not long before the Hudson Bay Company managers realized that the pick of the furs was going overland to Montreal on the backs of French carriers. In this connection, the year, 1774, and the place, Fort Cumberland, on the Saskatchewan river, are important. It was then, and there, that the French and English traders first met. This was the beginning of that second war, not between the nations, but between man and man, which lasted over forty years.

HAND-TO-HAND BATTLES

At the present day the only thing in this country that can be compared with that struggle is the sheep feuds of the Northwest, in which shots have been taken at shepherds at sight and the Canadian wild game were freely used. When it so happened that the combatants got close enough together, knives were brought into play. Fists were seldom used—this would have been too mild.

Stirred to commercial competition, the Hudson Bay Company for a time paid the highest prices to the Indians, thus securing the pick of their furs; but the Frenchmen, so it is recorded, got around this by introducing frowater. And, in order to offer a formidable front to the English, the French traders in 1772 organized into the Northwest Fur Company, of Montreal. Soon this company overshadowed its rival.

Instead of paying salaries to its men, as its rival did, the Northwest permitted them to work on commission, or to acquire partnership in the business, and so in a few years it was making annual profits of $200,000, which in ten years jumped to $600,000.

The principal "Northwesters," as partners in the Northwest Company were called, formed an exclusive aristocracy in Montreal and Quebec, living in lordly style, yet preserving associations with the superintendents of their trading posts, joining them in pleasures, dangers, mishaps and novel adventures.

When they ascended the streams, it was in magnificent barges, decked with red furs, with every luxury at hand, carrying with them their cooks and barbers—like sovereigns making a progress.

Colonists came from Great Britain; their coming spurred the French Northwesters on to acts of intimidation and violence. At this time Lord Selkirk acquired a controlling interest in the Hudson Bay Company and determined to punish the pertinacious rivals.

Where they established a fort, he placed one. Every method that artifice, fraud or violence could suggest was adopted to get the skins from the Indians, who cared not who got them so long as the money and frowater were sufficient.

What ruses were tried to gain the upper hand in this odd rivalry! Once the Hudson Bay people, on the pretense of making friends, got up a grand ball with the Northwesters as their guests, and while the merriment was on, a few agents slipped out to meet a company of Indians whom the scouts had reported as headed for the town. When, next day, the Northwesters learned of the Indians' approach, they found them all gloriously drunk and not a skin left.

Another time, two trading parties met in the woods. The Northwesters proposed a fire and a round of drinks.

Then, while the others drank, they poured their liquor on the ground.

Finally, when every Hudson Bay man was helplessly drunk, the Northwesters bound them to their sleds, turned the dogs toward the Hudson Bay camp, and then hurried on to the Indian camp. This time they had the skins all to themselves.

Forts were attacked, burned and the settlers and officials made prisoners and terribly maltreated. In vain did the Governor-General of Canada exhort and threaten. These bloody scenes led up to a frightful battle at Fort Garry, the post of the Hudson Bay people, in which seventeen men and three officers of the company, including Governor Semple, fell, pierced by bullets.

Officers and men on both sides were hired with a view to their fighting qualities; prices were sent so high and frowater flowed so plentifully that the trade was ruined.

Such was the condition when, in 1821, the cooler heads of both companies got together and formed the first trust on this continent. Like those of today, it was for mutual preservation.

Then, talk of your captains of industry of the present day! How small most of them seem beside a young Scotchman who, simply on account of his business acumen, was singled out among all the residents of British Columbia to be head of the new trust and Governor of Rupert's Land, as the fur country was called.

This man was George Simpson—Sir George he afterward became, for he was knighted because of the wonderful ability he displayed in his new position. For forty years he remained at the helm, and his reign was one of peace and prosperity.

When, in 1869, the Hudson Bay Company was induced by the Canadian Government to part with all but about one-twentieth of the immense tract of land in its grant, the money recompense was $1,500,000.

This ended the romantic, thrilling side of the company's history; it thereafter became simply a very prosperous corporation, with capital swollen to $10,000,000, no competition and enormous dividends assured.

MANY VIOLENT DEATHS

As indicating the perilous lives of the hunters and half-breeds in those early days, it is recorded that of those Northwesters who assisted in the killing of Governor Semple and his nineteen associates, sixty-five died violent deaths.

First, a Frenchman dropped dead while crossing the ice on the river, his son was stabbed by a comrade, his wife was shot, and his children were burned; Big Head, his brother, was shot by an Indian; Coutonahs dropped dead at a dance; Battosh was mysteriously shot; Lavigne was drowned.

Fraser was run through the body by a Frenchman in Paris; Baptiste Morille, while drunk, was thrown into a fire by ebriate companions; another died drunk on a roadway; another was wounded by the bursting of his gun; Dupluis was impaled on a pitchfork; Gardaple was scalped by Indians; another was gored to death by a buffalo, and still another shot by mistake in a buffalo hunt.

And so on down the list—there are fact and fate for every one of the sixty-five cases.

But, while some people prefer to consider this a punishment for what they term "the massacre," it is perhaps no more than an illustration of the dangers attending the fur-hunting business on every hand.

Today all is changed. Those places which the old school geography designated as trading posts have become prosperous cities, some of them with department stores as elegant and comprehensive as those found in the largest American and British cities.

For instance, near the head offices of the Hudson Bay Company, at the point where used to stand the walls of Fort Garry, one may now see the principal stores of the city of Winnipeg, which is likened to Whiteley's Necessity Store in London, where you may buy a house or anything belonging to or around a house.

TRANSFORMED THE WILDERNESS

The great retail emporium of Victoria is the Hudson Bay Company's store, and in Calgary, the metropolis of Alberta and the Canadian plains, the principal shopping place is the Hudson Bay store.

Since the opening of the Northwest Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan by the Dominion Government, about two years ago, the boom has been continuous. The country is becoming one of the most prosperous and up-to-date in America. And yet today, as two centuries ago, the Hudson Bay Company is the greatest of fur-trading corporations, and fur trading is today a principal source of its profits.

As in the early days, the Indians come now to the stores with their pack of skins on their backs, to be traded for tobacco, sugar, corn, cooking utensils, lodge furnishings and money.

And today, as of yore, the scouts and agents of the company penetrate to the homes of the more isolated tribes, buy up their skins and "tote" them to the trading post on their backs or by dog team. But they are not the picturesque old fellows with tomahawk and moccasins and muskets and quaint accoutrements; they are prosaic-looking individuals.

Like the commonplace, present-day cowboy on the western ranch, they have become simply ghosts of vanished romance.

SOME CURIOUS FACTS

THERE is a special examination in Austria cities for female barbers, who are yearly growing more numerous. In France it is a penal offense to give any form of solid food to babies under a year old, unless it be prescribed in writing by a properly qualified medical man.

Turkey will not allow typewriters to be sold in the Balkan provinces that still remain subject to her control, alleging that they are used to "print" revolutionary literature.

A pretty table observance in Danish families is for children, even little ones who can scarcely toddle, to go gravely after dinner to salute their parents and say, "Tak for mad" ("Thanks for the meal"). Even visitors shake hands with their host and hostess and go through the same formality. In German families that hold to tradition the same custom prevails. When the evening meal is ended the party stand up around the table and each shakes hands with the neighbor, saying, "Gesegete Mahlzeit"—blessing the food.

A quaint ceremony is witnessed in parts of Norway twice a year. It is the "blessing of the beasts." The cows, asses, and a few thoroughbred horses, which are raised in that part of France, are brought together in front of the church, whence issues a procession of gaily dressed peasants to the sound of a chant sung by the priest and people. Then the pastor sprinkles a few drops of water on the head of each animal. Sometimes as many as a couple of hundred peasants take part in the ceremony, but not a trace of levity is to be seen on their faces. When the ceremony is completed the procession passes through the village singing, and then disperses.

The custom of adoption is universal in Japan, where it is practiced to keep a family name from becoming extinct. Indeed, there is scarcely a family in which it has not at some time or other been observed. A person who has not male issue adopts a son, and, if he has a daughter, often gives her to him in marriage. A youth, or even a child, who may be the head of a family, occasionally adopts, on the point of dying, a son older than himself to succeed him.

DAVID H. ELTON,
Editor and Proprietor.

Cardston, Alberta, Canada.
Friday, August 23, 1907.

Monday, September 2, is LABOR DAY—A DOMINION HOLIDAY. Don't forget the date. It is the first Monday in September.

The Winnipeg Commercial celebrates its 25th anniversary in one of the finest numbers that has ever been published in the Dominion of Canada. The number contains nearly two hundred pages and is a marvel of attractiveness and veritably an encyclopedia of useful information both for the farmer and the business man of the West. As a book of handy reference it should take its place among the best in the land.

And now the harvest days are here—here in dead earnest—here good and plenty. The people of the Cardston District have great cause to be thankful for the bounteous harvest and the splendid weather. It looked just a little "shaky" a few weeks ago but we are pleased to know that everything portends a splendid season for the gathering of the crops at the present time. It is a source of satisfaction to the farmer who has placed his all in the ground to see it bring forth in rich abundance and to be permitted to gather the same free from ravaging storms or killing frost. When the Governor General announces Thanksgiving Day let us gather together and give thanks. It is a beautiful custom and one calculated to impress the young men and women, the boys and girls, of the utter dependence upon the Father of Mercies. A public demonstration is the proper thing. Let us show our gratitude in this way. When "all is well" is the time to acknowledge the supreme Power.

We are indeed pleased to note the general interest that prevailed at the meeting held on Monday night for the considering of the advisability of the establishing of a hospital at Cardston. It is not the intention of the promoters of this scheme that the hospital will be established at once. Not by any means. Their idea is to prepare the way and, little by little, acquire the finances requisite to its completion. We all know that the establishing of a hospital, be it ever so small, is no easy thing. It requires capital as well as interest and what the hospital people are striving to do at the present time is to raise the capital. We hope they will succeed. As stated on the front page of this week's issue, the site of the building has already been donated and the deed for the same will be placed in the bank awaiting the organization of a permanent committee. It is one of the things that we desire to keep before the people at all times and create a good feeling towards the same.

Warehouse Commissioner

M. Snow Deputy Warehouse Commissioner, Winnipeg, made a brief visit to Cardston on Tuesday. In talking with the STAR, Mr. Snow stated that he was highly pleased to note the very fine crops around Medicine Hat, Lethbridge and the towns along the A. R. and I. He said that in conversation with Mr. Naismith he had been assured that the loading platform at Wellington, between Raymond and Mazrath, would be attended to this Fall and also that the siding would be in working order. Mr. Snow said he thought that it would be a good thing if the farmers selling grain to track buyers would kindly notify the Commissioner at Winnipeg so that it might be ascertained whether or not they were licensed and the farmers thus protected because certain bonding restrictions were placed upon those who were licensed.

Thos. Woolford Abroad

On Monday and Tuesday, Thos. H. Woolford of Cardston, who is the judge in the standing grain carried on by the Agricultural Society, drove through the country judging the various fields entered. He is most enthusiastic over the crops. Those of W. H. Pawson of Coaldale come in for particular praise, the judge declaring that the oats on this farm are as fine as any he has ever seen. They stand higher than a man's shoulder and are as thick as they can grow. Mr. Pawson has about two acres of wheat, seeded with hard picked seed, that is particularly fine. If his whole farm were of the same quality the crop would be worth $1,000 more and they are first rate crops at that. Mr. Pawson intends saving this seed to sow again and soon expects to have his whole farm seeded with wheat as nearly perfect as possible to get it.

Wheat in this district is uniformly good both in yield and quality. Lethbridge Herald.

Mr. T. H. Woolford, of Cardston, has been spending the week in the vicinity of Medicine Hat for the purpose of judging the crops of the competitors for the field-of-standing-grain prizes offer by the Agricultural Society. He is accompanied on the trip by Pro. Teneyck, of the Kansas Agricultural College, who is summing in Alberta.

The competitors are, Jas. Fleming, wheat and oats; James Atkinson, Irvin, wheat; Archibald McGillivray, wheat; T. L. Corbett, wheat and oats; John Evans, wheat.

In wheat the prizes are, First $30 second $20, third $10, while in oats the awards are $20 for first, $15 for second and $5 for third.

Medicine Hat News.

Rev. McKillop Passed Away

Rev. McKillop, well known and highly respected in all parts of Alberta, passed away at Lethbridge the early part of the week. Mr. McKillop was veritably a "land mark" in Western Canada and one of the strongest character types of the age. He was fearless, broad minded, consistent and liberal. For some time he presided over the little flock in Raymond and while there was greatly admired and respected by the people of the dominant faith. He always manifested a tolerant spirit towards his fellows with diverse creeds. The writer recalls to mind a lengthy conversation with the dear old gentleman just prior to his trip to England some time ago. He was keenly interested in the welfare and advancement of the west and looked upon the new towns and villages much the same as a fond mother upon her babe. His heart gentle and kind yet his muscle and brawn were strong and active. We extend the most heartfelt condolence to the bereaved widow and children and trust the blessings of heaven may attend them in the hour of their affliction.

Unnecessary Expense

Acute attacks of colic and diarrhoea come on with out warning and prompt relief must be obtained. There is no necessity of incurring the expense of a physician's service in such cases if Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is at hand. A dose of this remedy will relieve the patient before a doctor could arrive. It has never been known to fail, even in the most severe and dangerous cases and no family should be without it. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

Mr. C. D. Fox and wife of Raymond passed through yesterday enroute to their home from the Kootenai Lakes. They spent a few days here with Mrs. Fox's sister, Mrs. William Rose. They were accompanied by Miss Fox of Lehi, Utah.

CREAM SEPARATORS

The accompanying picture illustrates how one buyer of a "cheap" cream separator feels over his great "bargain" and how he has arranged to punish himself for so wanting his money, time, labor and product.

DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS may cost a little more in the beginning, but they always cost less in the end. If you are thinking of buying a separator, you will never have cause to "kick" yourself if you select a DE LAVAL machine. Send for new 1907 catalogue.

Vern France returned from Lethbridge on Tuesday.

Ladies! Don't forget the white wear bargains next week at Spencer and Stoddard.

Mr. Warren Bowden is gloating over the arrival of a fine baby-boy which made his appearance on Monday last.

Owing to lack of space we are forced to leave the report of the Quarterly Conference until next week.

Ladies! For fall cloth coats, fur coats and collarettes, we have an excellent line. Spencer and Stoddard.

Mr. J. T. Scott and company returned on Wednesday from a two weeks visit to the Kootenai Lakes.

Misses* Birdie Hudson and Hilda Peterson left on Monday for Calgary where they will attend Normal School preparatory to teaching.

Mr. and Mrs. William Burton are off on a little vacation trip as far north as Edmonton and west on the Crow's Nest. Bon Voyage.

Mr. Van Brown and family, Mr. D. E. Wilcox and family, Mrs. D. H. Elton and Miss Viva and Miss Jennie Tanner left on Wednesday morning for the Kootenai Lakes.

With Autos buzzing through the streets and visitors seeking Cardston for vacation all the way from California, who dares to remark that we are not going ahead.

As the old lady says after the storm is over; "Why didn't you take my advice" and buy a stack cover? How many dollars would it have saved you last week? W. O. Lee & Sons make them, all sizes.

A. E. Humphries, Secretary Treasurer of the Lethbridge Fair and Immigration Agent for the Department of the Interior came in yesterday to spend a couple of days looking over the district. Mr. Humphries is greatly interested in the crops and is one of the stoutest and best boosters for Southern Alberta.

Mr. T. H. Woolford returned on Tuesday from judging Fields of Growing Grain in Lethbridge, Medicine Hat and Macleod. In Lethbridge there were 11 entries, in Macleod 10 and in Medicine Hat 7. From this it will be seen that Cardston had more entries than all these combined. A booster and a Rooster both have a right to crow.

John Halstead, Assistant General Freight Agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway, Calgary, was a caller at THE STAR office yesterday. Mr. Halstead said that the crops were looking fine in the Cardston District and that he had not seen better crops any where.

Among the Conference visitors from Orton, were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Orr, Mr. and Mrs. George Sillito, Mr. and Mrs. George Simons, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Henson, Mrs. Sarah McMurray and daughter, Miss Myrtle Orr, Miss Mabel Henson, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Scott and Mr. Arthur T. Henson.

AUCTION—Acting under instructions from Mr. A. Kennington I will offer for sale at Cowley Alberta on September 25th, 1907. 60 head of pure bred shorthorns all registered, consisting of 27 cows, 8 three year old heifers, 10 two year old heifers, 6 yearling heifers, 8 yearling bulls and one stock bull. H. Ambrose, Auctioneer.

Mr. C. A. Gigot, local manager of the Union Bank of Canada has received notice that he will be changed to another branch. Mr. Gigot is not yet aware as to his future location. The people of Cardston and the district will regret to see him leave, having been here something like 8 years.

What might have been a very serious and probably fatal accident took place last Saturday when Mail carrier W. O. Lee's little boy Willie was engaged in transferring some baggage from his home to the station. The other two sons Grant and Laurie, accompanied him. He endeavored to cross the track just north of the elevator when the moving train struck the rig and literally wrecked it in pieces. The little boy was violently thrown beneath part of the wagon and received severe injuries. The other two escaped unhurt. Mr. Lee was compelled to leave yesterday with his son William for the Lethbridge Hospital. We hope for a speedy and permanent recovery.

ORTON

August 19th. The residents of this district are looking forward to a banner crop this season. Cutting has been in progress for over a week, and in the course of a few days will be general.

Our general store is having merchandise shipped in every day, which is pretty good evidence of the patronage it receives. Mr. Milton Scott, the manager and proprietor, is also carrying on a lumber yard.

The town has recently purchased from Milton Scott, Block No. 12, which is to be reserved for a public square, and the committee in charge are preparing to plant trees during the coming spring.

On Aug. 5th, the stork paid a visit to the home of Mr. David Orr. Both mother and David Jr. are reported doing well.

Many new buildings are going up and more contemplated.

A company is being formed here for the purpose of purchasing a Well Boring machine, being out of patience waiting for the government machine which had been promised us so long.

The Pilling Realty Company have offered a special prize of $25.00 cash for the best exhibit of Grains and Grasses at the Cardston Fair next month. The produce must be the property of one competitor and the exhibit become the property of the Pilling Realty Company.

Important Decision

A decision recently handed down by Justice Stuart at Calgary is of considerable interest to those who buy land on the part payment plan.

The purchaser was absent from Calgary at the time a payment came due, and on his return shortly afterwards tendered the amount due to the seller. The latter refused to accept it, saying the agreement was cancelled by the nonfulfillment of the terms of contract, and he preferred to keep the property.

Justice Stuart finds that the man had a perfect right to keep the property, but if he does so he must return to the other the money previously paid on it.

After reviewing the case, the judgement concludes:

"No doubt, if the defendant could have shown any damages resulting from the default of plaintiff, he would have been entitled to have these deducted from the amount still in his hands; but as it appeared in evidence that the property is now worth two or three times as much as it was at the time of the default and as the defendants real reason for defending the action is beyond question because he wishes to make a better sale of the property than that entered into with the plaintiff, it seems that the defendant had clearly suffered no damage whatever; but will be in a better position than he would have been if the plaintiff had carried out his bargain. If the default of the plaintiff had been of such a nature as to show that he intended to repudiate the contract, it might have been a question whether he could have claimed a return of the money paid; but it is quite evident that he always intended, if he could, to carry out the contract and would have done so if the defendant had not insisted upon the decision provided for by the contract itself."

Mrs. Elton spent a few days in Magrath last week the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Stacy.

Tabor Townsite Trouble

At the preliminary hearing of Messrs W. F. Russell was placed under bonds of $10,000.00 and Messrs Van Orman and Probert in the sum of $5,000.00 apiece.

Summer Diarrhoea in Children.

During the hot weather of the summer months the first unnatural looseness of a child's bowels should have immediate attention, so as to check the disease before it becomes serious. All that is necessary is a few doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, followed by a dose of castor oil to cleanse the system. Rev. M. O. Stockland, Pastor of the first M. E. Church, Little Falls, Minn., writes: "We have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for several years and find it a very valuable remedy, especially for summers disorders in children." Sold by all druggists and dealers.
