Announcement of L. M. Trask & Co.

New Management.

The Newfoundland business will be entirely re-organized and Mr. A. A. Alcock will be in absolute control and will give prompt attention to all orders.

As we have had a great deal of difficulty this past two years in procuring repairs and accessories due to the unsettled metal market caused by the war, we have now been able to procure and have in stock a very large assortment of Ferro fittings sufficient to last us for five years, and can fill all orders for anything of this kind at once.

The New Ferro Oil Engine

For a number of years all the best Engineers in the United States have been working to produce a satisfactory kerosene engine, all of them being more or less successful; but the new Ferro Oil Engine leads them all and is acknowledged the best kerosene engine made in two cycle type, and only uses about half the fuel of the ordinary cheap made two port engines on the market.

Wolverine Engines.

We have accepted the agency for the Wolverine Engine, which is one of the best heavy weight engines on the market. It is built in sizes of from 5 to 200 H.P. and to suit any boat from 20 ft. to vessels up to 300 tons.

We have purchased the entire plant of the Milton Iron Foundry of Yarmouth, the original manufacturers of the Niagara, Waterloo, Island Crown and Silver Moon Stoves. We will continue to manufacture this line and will furnish repair parts for any stoves which are out, and we will also build the Trask Heavy Duty Oil and Gasoline Engines, announcement of which will be made in a later issue.

We will also build Vessel Hoists, Winches and Ships' Castings, Propellers, Pumps, Mufflers, Stuffing Boxes, Lag Screws, Coils and accessories required in the gasoline engine line, but are prepared to quote prices on any of the above at once.

Repairs for Fraser and Ferro Engines.

Inasmuch as there are so many Fraser Engines in use in Newfoundland, and as this firm has gone out of business and it being so difficult to get repairs, we will manufacture Connecting Rods, Timers, Piston Rings and other repair parts for this line of engines, and also repair parts for the entire Ferro line.

Do not purchase a gasoline or oil engine until you get our descriptive literature on our new Oil Engine.

NEW ARRIVALS!

Just received Choice Prince Edward Island Sept. CREAM CHEESE. And to arrive in a few days, SELECTED VEGETABLES—Parsnips, Carrots, Beets.

Out of Apples for the moment, but expected daily several hundred barrels ROSY SWEET APPLES, all sizes and prices, at the old stand.

CHAPTER XIX.

"Dulcie, dear, I—I shall not live until the morning. Don't cry, dear; I—I never could bear to see you cry."

"I am not crying," says Dulcie, choking back the sobs. "I will not cry, dear."

"No, don't; it—it isn't worth crying about, now, it would have been different if I had gone a month ago; then you would have been left alone. I should have been sorry to leave you then, dear, for though I was but a poor sort of guardian for you, Dulcie, I was—something. I should not have liked to have left you alone in the world. But now it is all different, and—I can go with my mind at ease."

Dulcie hides her face and grasps the hand. She feels what is coming and shrinks from it. How can she tell this gentle, kind, loving soul the truth? That when she goes she will leave her charge alone—worse than lonely. She cannot. "At least we can make her last few hours happy," the doctor has said. She cannot make them wretched.

"I—I always liked Sir Hugh," goes on Aunt Fermo. "From the first I liked him. I think you are a very fortunate girl, dear. Not that you are not worthy of him," with a touch of pride. "There's no one in the world too good for you, dear. But I liked Sir Hugh; he—he will make you happy, Dulcie, I am sure, and it is so great a comfort for me to think that it has all ended so happily. I—I would end so from the first. My dear, I think that you fell in love with of Dulcie before that awful night and the cruel days that followed, and sought to complete it, he would have needed to have begun a fresh picture.

If Death were but satisfied with his victim—if he were but content with the sheaves which fall to his fatal sickle! But he is not. To reap that sheaf, how many delicate flowers are trodden beneath his feet! how much of sorrow and desolation does he leave in his track!

"It is not that she is dead," exclaimed Dante, of Beatrice; "it is that I am left alive!"

That is the sorrow of it! If one could die and pass away with one's loved ones, it would be so much easier and better; but to be left behind! To face the awful emptiness of the world in which one is left alone! To feel that always while life lasts that beloved one cannot come back to you; that never will that pleasing face be more seen, that dear voice heard until one follows it to that bourne whence no traveller returns.

For weeks Dulcie sits communing with her sorrow, until the beautiful face grows pale, worn, and wan, the dark eyes larger and more solemn. But for the glorious strength of youth and perfect health, she, too, would have made her exit from the stage on the day of the doctor's visit. For some days, indeed, she has craved for death, longed for it with a wishful, weary eagerness, which will scarce take denial.

But Death will have nothing to say to her; he passes by, unheeding her passionate prayer, and she lives to fight through.

It is her first sorrow. In one short week she has lost her lover and the woman who was a mother to her. In one short week Fate has taken from her all that made life worth living, but she has to live notwithstanding; and presently Time, the great healer, comes to her aid, and casts his glamour over her, and makes life seem at least worth struggling for.

And then the old spirit reasserts itself, and she begins to rally. She is still pale and wan, but her beauty has not departed; indeed, there is an added charm in the pallor of the clear oval face, a deeper light in the dark eyes; and the black dress—plain to severity—seems to emphasize the grace of the slim figure.

Lover and constant friend have gone, but beauty is still left her; but there is little beyond. Poor Aunt Fermo spoke the simple truth when she said that poverty would be Dulcie's lot but for the marriage with Sir Hugh. The income upon which the aunt and niece had lived had been provided by an annuity, and all that remains of it is a poor sum of a few pounds a year which would not serve to keep Dulcie in the plain black frocks.

She laughs a mirthless laugh when the solicitor, who managed Aunt Fermo's simple business matters, makes this plain to her.

"You see, my dear young lady," he says, "your poor aunt effected this annuity before you came to her, and, indeed, it was the wisest thing to do. But now she has gone the money is gone too. Have you any plans?"

Dulcie shakes her head. It is rather more than a month since she him that first night you met at—ab—I forget the place—somewhere abroad."

Dulcie raises her face, white and strained.

"At Rome, dear," she murmurs, hoarsely.

"Yes, at Rome," wearily, "and I could see that—that he had fallen in love with you, Dulcie, I am glad—very—very. It would have been so dreadful to have left you alone, and—and there is something else—I can't remember for the moment."

"Don't try, dear. Do not think of me."

"Ah, yes!" with an effort. "It was about money, dear. It was that that was troubling me; but it need not now, need it? Thank Heaven you are safe from any trouble of that sort, dear! You will be rich now—above feeling poverty now; but if it had not happened as it has you would have been very poor, Dulcie. Do you know—or did I never tell you, dear, that my little annuity dies with me?"

"What does it matter?" sobs Dulcie, despairfully. "What does anything matter now? Put it away from your mind, dear—don't give it a thought."

"I will, dear," murmurs the thin voice, brokenly. "As you say, it does not matter. But"—with a little sigh—"I wish I had something to leave you; it would, with a wistful smile, "would have been useful to buy things for the wedding."

Dulcie crouches, her eyes fixed on the white face, her heart throbbing with a dead kind of anguish.

"For the wedding! For the wedding! I—I should have loved to see you and Sir Hugh married, dear; but—Heaven's will be done, I—Dulcie—Sarah has forgotten the light—"

Alas! the candle is still burning—it is the darkness of death.

"She was always so careful of—of candles and coals. Poor Sarah! If—if you can, keep her with you, dear; she—she—has been a faithful creature, and I—I am—sure—she wouldn't quarrel with the Castle—servants. Dulcie—how dark—kiss me—dear!" and in the girl's strong arms the tired soul sinks to rest.

CHAPTER XX.

There is a story of a painter who set to work at a lady's portrait; when the picture had nearly reached completion, the painter for some reason was compelled to leave it for a time. When he returned to it and sought for another sitting, he found the lady dressed in black—she had lost her husband of a week. She was so changed that the painter stood gazing at her with a dismay and compassion which he could scarcely conceal. The lady smiled at him sadly.

"The change of dress disturbs you," she said; "I will resume the old one during the sittings."

"Madam," said the artist, "that would be useless. It is yourself who have changed." And he commenced another picture.

Had an artist commenced a portrait

HOW THE TROUBLE STARTS

If more people knew how Rheumatism and kindred ills started, there would be infinitely less suffering.

It should be a matter of popular knowledge that the blood stream completes the circulation of the body in approximately three minutes, gathering up waste matters. It is the function of the Kidneys to remove these impurities or poisons from the blood and eliminate them from the body. Should there be any derangement of the Kidney action the poisons are not eliminated but are carried around again in the blood stream, to accumulate slowly, and occasion sickness and distress. Then follow pains in the back, in the region of the Kidneys, Rheumatism, constant headaches, and the many complaints arising from derangements of the Kidneys or Bladder. First, the Kidneys must be put in order and until these organs are healed and regulated no real health is possible. GIN PILLS contain the medicinal and tonic properties that the Kidneys require.

You can get GIN PILLS at all dealers—50c a box or 6 boxes for $2.50, or a sample will be sent free upon request to the National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto, or to the U.S. address, 302 Main St., Buffalo, N.Y. 142

Dulcie smiles—a cold, mechanical smile.

Simple Wash Cures Eczema

A great skin specialist who has compounded for his patients a marvellously effective cure for Eczema, Bad Leg and all other forms of itchy, has recently given his valuable preparation to the world. It is known as D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema, a simple external wash, easy to apply, a reliable home remedy.

D. D. D. gives instant relief from skin distress the moment it is applied. It penetrates the pores and kills the germs which are the root of skin disease. Nauseating stomach drugs are worthless for the disease. It is in the skin, not in the blood. Greasy salves are dangerous for they clog the pores and aid the growth of germs. D. D. D. washes out disease, cleanses the pores, then soothes and heals the skin.

Test this simple cure; get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription to-day. Sold Everywhere. Recommended by T. McMurdo & Co., A. W. Kennedy, M. J. J. Jones, Peter O'Mara.

was left alone, and she still keeps in the rooms at Caroline Street, living the life of a recluse with Sarah, the faithful servant, who has transferred her allegiance from her aunt to her dear young lady.

"Have you any plans?" asks the lawyer, gravely, and Dulcie laughs again.

"None whatever," she says.

"He looks grave."

"What do you intend to do?" he asks, his shrewd eyes resting on the pale, listless face with inquiry.

"I don't know," says Dulcie. "What do persons do in my position?"

The lawyer draws his hand over his clean-shaven face and ponders, then he coughs.

"I understood," he says, at last, "that there was some arrangement under Mr. Trevelion's will."

Dulcie looks up, with a touch of color in her face.

"That is all done with," she says.

"Oh, indeed!" he says, and he coughs; it is a delicate subject, he feels.

"I suppose," says Dulcie, at last, "that I have not enough to live on?"

"I am afraid not," he says.

To his amazement, she laughs again. It seems so strange, so unreal! But a few weeks ago she was betrothed to Sir Hugh Falconer, was to be the wife of one of the most influential men in England; was to have titled, wealthy, honored; and now—now is plunged into the depths of poverty.

"Surely there was some such arrangement?" he says again.

He is an old man, old enough to regard this sorrow-smitten girl as a daughter, and at the bottom of his hard, legal nature there is a spark of tenderness.

"That is all over," says Dulcie, firmly. "You mean that—that Sir Hugh Falconer and I were to be married? That was impossible."

He coughs.

"Let me see," he says. "I think Scobell & Scobell were the solicitors! Well, I will see what can be done," and he goes.

But he comes back the next morning with the head of the firm of the Scobells.

Dulcie receives them with the same pale face and apathetic manner, and listens to them.

The Falconers' solicitor is spokesman, and his statement is short and business-like.

"I have received instructions from my client, Sir Hugh Falconer," he says. "He begs us to convey his deepest regret and sympathy."

Dulcie bites her lips and waves her hand.

"And he is anxious that you should participate in the benefits of Mr. Trevelion's will. In fact, he instructs us to make over to you by deed of gift one half the sum realized by the estate."

Dulcie smiles—a cold, mechanical smile.

F.—Medical Practitioners may prescribe under Section C. up to the aggregate amount of five gallons only per month.

G.—The total amount may be exceeded by any Medical Practitioner at the discretion of the Controller up to five prescriptions per month, and any further amount by a special ruling of the Board.

H.—The unused amount which may be to the Doctor's credit any month will not be carried forward.

I.—The Controller shall notify each Medical Practitioner weekly, as to the amount of any intoxicating liquor remaining subject to his prescriptions.

J.—When any Medical Practitioner reaches the limited amount at his disposal, the Controller shall notify by post all Licensed Druggists and Licensed Practitioners to refuse further prescriptions signed by that doctor for that month.

K.—Prescriptions shall be written only on printed forms numbered consecutively, supplied by the Controller. The forms to contain spaces for name and address of patient, character of liquor, prescribed dose, doctor's name, and the date.

L.—The Controller, Licensed Druggist and Licensed Practitioner shall cause to be written on prescription the name of the messenger who procures the liquor.

M.—Gummed labels showing the name of the patient, character and strength of liquor, prescribed dose, doctor's name, date, and by whom supplied, shall be placed on each package when prescription is filled.

N.—All manufacturers who obtain intoxicating liquors for manufacturing purposes shall keep a record of the amount supplied by the Controller and report weekly the uses to which same were put, stating the amount of goods manufactured and the percentage of alcohol used. The Controller shall refuse to re-sell to any manufacturer until such returns are received.

O.—The Controller shall have the right to regulate the amount of intoxicating liquor to be supplied to Licensed Druggists and Licensed Practitioner, according to the probable number of prescriptions to be filled by each per month.

P.—The Controller shall keep a separate record for each Medical Practitioner, Licensed Druggist and Licensed Practitioner, and shall prepare and submit a statement to the Board on Monday of each week, showing the number of prescriptions given by each Medical Practitioner, the quantity of intoxicating liquor supplied from each doctor's allotment, and the balance (if any) remaining to his credit, and also showing the amount of intoxicating liquor ordered by Licensed Druggists and Licensed Practitioners located in the Electoral District of St. John's, and the amount supplied by them on prescriptions, also the amount supplied by the Controller on prescriptions.

The report for Licensed Druggists and Licensed Practitioners located outside the Electoral District of St. John's shall be made not more than one week later. The report shall also include an inventory of all stock on hand, stating character and strength. The strength of draught liquor to be certified to by H. M. Government Analyst by distillation.

IF YOU BUY ENVELOPES

YOU WILL SAVE MONEY BY BUYING THEM HERE.

OUR CHALLENGE ENVELOPE at $2.30, $2.50, $2.70, are, we believe, the best envelope value in town to-day. THE CHALLENGE comes in 3 sizes—small, medium and large; the small at $2.30, medium at $2.50 and the large at $2.70. THE CHALLENGE is a good, strong, oblong, commercial envelope, good enough for your own use, and a splendid one for retail. We have sold over a million of them in the last 12 months.

Our APEX Envelope at $2.50 and $2.70 is the same shape as the Challenge, but it is a better grade envelope, with a very smooth surface and well finished. It is an ideal envelope for retail purposes. We have over half a million of these two grades in stock.

Our No. 8602 BARONIAL is a good, smooth-finished, strong, square envelope. We have it in cream and in white at $3.50 per thousand, and at this price it is worth white seeing, if you use or sell square envelopes.

Some persons prefer a Colored Envelope. If you are one of these persons call on us for our new red, yellow, green or pink; good large size well finished commercial envelopes, something distinctive for you at $3.00 per thousand, and extremely good value, and when printed look most attractive.

We are also selling a cheap Manila Envelope, if you are interested in getting them cheap for ordinary use. We have all sizes in Pay and Coin Envelopes; we have all sizes in White and Cream Footsack Envelopes; we have all sizes in Linen Lined Envelopes; we have all sizes in Square Envelopes; we have all sizes in thin Opaque Envelopes for foreign correspondence; in fact we have more envelopes than you have seen at any one time at any one store. The qualities are good and the prices are right. If you buy your Envelopes at Dicks & Co., Ltd., you get just what you need, and you get them at the right price.

Under the provisions of "The Prohibition Act, 1917," His Excellency the Governor in Council has been pleased to approve the following Rules and Regulations, submitted by the Board of Liquor Control.

R. A. SQUIRES, Colonial Secretary, Department of Colonial Secretary, 23rd October, 1917.

PROHIBITION ACT.

Rules and Regulations.

A.—The strength of Intoxicating Liquors supplied by the Controller to Licensed Druggists and Licensed Practitioners and dispensed by Controller, Licensed Druggist or Licensed Practitioner shall be 20 per cent. under proof for Brandy, Gin, Rum and Whiskey. The strength of Port Wine, Claret, Sherry, Porter, Stout, Benedictine, Vermouth, Champagne, Liqueurs, Ale and Beer shall be as imported by Controller.

B.—All prescriptions for private patients for intoxicating liquors to be limited to one prescription at any one time of not more than 8 ozs. per patient, for all Districts supplied by Licensed Druggists and Licensed Practitioners; and outside the Electoral District of St. John's where not so supplied the amount to be limited to a 12 oz. prescription per patient, except as provided hereinafter. No person is to receive more than one prescription per week and the Controller, Licensed Druggist and Licensed Practitioner shall refuse to fill more than one prescription for any one person from any other medical practitioner within the said period of one week.

C.—All prescriptions for Port Wine, Claret, Sherry and Champagne shall be limited to a 24 oz. prescription per patient.

D.—All prescriptions for Stout, Porter, Ale and Beer shall be limited to 1 doz. pint bottles per two weeks.

E.—Medical Practitioners may prescribe amount of three gallons only per month each where Licensed Druggists and Licensed Practitioners are established, and 4 1/2 gallons in Electoral Districts where not so supplied.

bolted, only to fall beneath a hail of machine gun bullets from the monster. To-day the French advance proceeded rapidly and units reached various objectives with regularity. After taking the village of Pison, patrols went forward and entered the forest of the same name. They found many German cannon abandoned, but with breech blocks gone. Dead horses killed by the German gunners lay beside the cannon. The Germans had found it impossible to get the weapons away over the marshes adjoining the Alsace Canal, over which most of the bridges had been destroyed, making retreat of the artillery impossible. Hundreds of machine guns were captured by the French and many of them were turned on the fleeing Germans who had left plenty of ammunition behind. It is reported that 150 cannon have fallen into the French hands, but the number is uncertain owing to the condition of the battle field and its width. The same uncertainty applies to the total number of prisoners, hundreds of Germans being encountered on all parts of the field marching wearily back to the French lines.

WAR SUMMARY.
The new gains of the British and French in Flanders were obtained in another satisfactory and decisive offensive launched early this morning on the front between the southern edge of Houtholst Wood and the region of Ghelvel. Bad weather and soggy ground hampered operations to some extent and all objectives could not be taken. The majority of them, however, rested in the hands of the Allies at the end of the day's fighting. More than 800 prisoners were taken by the British.

With the important railway junction of Laon as their objective the French are continuing their pressure against the forces of the German Crown Prince, north of the Aisne River. In another attack on the right the village of Filian was captured and footing gained on the plateau north of Epine de Chevrigny, and the enemy was forced to give ground north of La Chapelle St. Berthe.

The Austro-Germans on the Isonzo front are fast developing their offensive against General Cadorna's forces. Already the Italians on the north wing of a fifteen mile front have been forced to give ground and at several places are back across the Isonzo, north and south of Tolmino, where the battle is raging on Italian territory. The Italian war office says that the evacuation of Bainsizza, Helligengeist Plateau, is a necessary retirement which will render null in a great measure the brilliant advance of the Italians in the summer campaign.

ATTACKS BY BRITISH AND FRENCH.

LONDON, Oct 26 (Official).
At 5.40 o'clock this morning attacks were launched by the French and British armies northeast and east of Ypres. The Allied troops are reported to be making satisfactory progress. Rain fell heavily during the latter part of the night and is still continuing.

FRENCH CAPTURES.

PARIS, Oct. 26.
The village of Draubank, Pappesgod Wood, and a number of fortified farms were captured by the French in the attack launched this morning. Hundreds of prisoners were taken.

BERLIN OFFICIAL.

BERLIN, Oct. 26 (Official).
The attack of the Teutonic Allies on the Italian front is progressing, and the large number of prisoners captured is being added to hourly. The statement asserts that strong French and British attacks in the Ypres region were repulsed with losses.

REUTERS CORRESPONDENT TELEGRAMS.

LONDON, Oct. 26.
Reuters correspondent at Italian headquarters telegraphing Thursday stated the weather had broken and there was mud and slush everywhere.

WAR BETWEEN GERMANY AND BRAZIL.

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 26.
The Chamber of Deputies to-day, by almost an unanimous vote, declared that a state of war existed between Germany and Brazil. The vote was 149 to 1.

"A state of war between Brazil and Germany is hereby acknowledged and proclaimed. The President of the Republic is authorized to adopt measures enunciated in his message of the 24th October, and take all steps tending to ensure national defence and public security." Such is the wording of the Diplomatic Commission's action in favor of war.

ON THE MACEDONIAN FRONT.

LONDON, Oct. 26.
The British official statement, dated Salonika, and dealing with operations in Macedonia, says: Yesterday our cavalry and infantry captured the villages of Salma, Kispaki Ada and Kakaraska, all on the northeast shore of Lake Tahnino. After completing our task we returned to our lines with 110 prisoners and one machine gun, leaving behind 50 dead Bulgarians.

ITALY'S CABINET TROUBLES.

ROME, Oct. 26.
The Government was defeated in the Chamber of Deputies to-day when a vote of confidence was faced, by 314 to 96.

The resignation of the Cabinet was announced to-day by Premier Roselli.

SITUATION ON THE ITALIAN FRONT.

LONDON, Oct. 26.
The situation on the Italian front is at present obscure. The Minister of War yesterday electrified the Italian Chamber in a strong speech, reassuring the people that the army was fully prepared and asserting the enemy will never tread on Italian soil.

ITALY'S POLICY.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.
No change in Italy's foreign policy nor weakening of her aggressive prosecution of the war is expected here as a result of the fall of the Cabinet. Official despatches from Rome to-day say before the failure of the vote of confidence in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, the entire Chamber applauded a speech by Foreign Minister Sonnino, reviewing the international situation, calling the phases of the Pope's peace proposal pro-German and declaring the intention of Italy and the Allies to fight until the war is won. All references to the Allies were greeted with enthusiasm, and when the Minister spoke of the visit of the King of Belgium to the King of Italy the entire Chamber rose to applaud. According to advices received here, the fall of the Cabinet was due solely to dissatisfaction over the food administration and in the reconstructed Government Baron Sonnino will be retained at the head of the Foreign Office. His speech, which was cabled to the Italian Embassy, touched upon Italy's entry into the war and declared their hope; and cheerful and courageously bearing burdens of war which they wanted and for which they are ready to stand any sacrifice.

If you would know what is correct in Fall Millinery, visit Scott's now!

Because of our extreme care in studying fashions and making selection of Millinery that would best accompany them, women are regarding our collection as supreme for style and variety.

Here are the draped crown effects, sailors, tams, and the equally striking small, no brim shapes. Felts and Velvets are equally as prominent. In a word, the showing is well worth an immediate visit to the store to prove to yourself the superiority of variety, style and price. The New Millinery is marked from $1.50 to $5.00.

OFFICIAL WAR FILMS.

It is the intention of the War Office Cinematograph Committee to issue weekly "Topical Film" Budgets showing all the principal events of interest in connection with the war. For this purpose the committee has taken over, for the period of the war, the Topical Film Company. Pictures from the British fronts in France and elsewhere will be shown along with French, American, Italian, and Portuguese films. Naval and military events at home will also form part of the record. It is proposed to circulate the films through the British Empire, France, the United States and other countries. The enterprise will be run on commercial lines, and the profits devoted to military charities.

DUG-OUTS AND DODGE-HOLES.

Londoners are given the choice during the moonlight nights of a plentiful supply of dug-outs and dodge-holes in case of enemy aircraft alarm. On a large number of substantial buildings in the City and West End alike is to be found bolted and placarded a notice that the public are welcome to take shelter in the cellars therein at time of alarm, but of necessity at their own risk. The dug-out railway stations also are to be regarded generally available, though one of the most extensive of these "the Underground" appears the worst. "Owing to insufficient cover the station is unsuitable for the protection of persons sheltering during air raid." There are commercial concerns which seek in this regard to combine private profit with public protection--as, for example, a well-known London insurance office which hangs out the bland announcement on its outer walls: "In the case of air raids, take shelter in our cellars. Meanwhile, take cover under our poles." The Corporation of the City of London, while on patriotism proves of a frugal mind by carefully limiting in advance the number of affrighted wayfarers to be welcomed to the Guildhall crypt, bidding them overflow to go elsewhere. The Corporation of St. Paul's Cathedral, indeed, hard by, and this also is to be open when occasion calls, though the imaginative may not care to take shelter in that part of the edifice which "Harrison Ainsworth (a well-known nineteenth century novelist)

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, Sept. 28, 1917.

OFFICIAL WAR FILMS.

It is the intention of the War Office Cinematograph Committee to issue a bi-weekly "Topical Film Budget," showing all the principal events of interest in connection with the war. For this purpose the committee has taken over, for the period of the war, the Topical Film Company. Pictures from the British fronts in France and elsewhere will be shown along with French, American, Italian, and Portuguese films. Naval and military events at home will also form part of the record. It is proposed to circulate the films through the British Empire, France, the United States, and other countries. The enterprise will be run on commercial lines, and the profits devoted to military charities.

DUG-OUTS AND DODGE-HOLES.

Londoners are given the choice during the moonlight nights of a plentiful supply of dug-outs and dodge-holes in case of enemy aircraft alarm. On a large number of substantial buildings in the City and the West End alike is to be found boldly placarded a notice that the public are welcome to take shelter in the cellars therein at time of alarm, but of necessity at their own risk. The Tube railway stations also are to be rendered generally available, though on one of the most extensive of these of "the Underground" appears the warning: "Owing to insufficient cover this station is unsuitable for the protection of persons sheltering during an air raid." There are commercial concerns which seek in this regard to combine private profit with public protection—as, for example, a West End of London insurance office which hangs out the bland announcement on its outer walls: "In the case of air raids, take shelter in our cellars. Meanwhile, take cover under our policies." The Corporation of the City of London, while on partitionist bent, proves of a frugal mind by carefully limiting in advance the number of affrighted wayfarers to be welcome to the Guildhall crypt, bidding the overflow to go elsewhere. The crypt of St. Paul's Cathedral, indeed, is hard by, and this also is to be opened when occasion calls, though the more imaginative may not care to take shelter in that part of the edifice in which Harrison Ainsworth (a well-known nineteenth century novelist) placed one of his most lurid catastrophic scenes.

ENGLISH NURSES IN RUSSIA.

Nearly all the English doctors and nurses who have been serving in Russia under the direction of the National Union of Women's Suffrage Societies have now returned to England. Dr. King-Atkinson, of Manchester, and her sister Dr. May, who were the first to go out, being among the last to return. When they went out to Petrograd in the winter of 1915-16 it was to establish a maternity hospital there for the Polish, Lettish and Lithuanian women who were then crowding into the capital, and their work was so successful that the Moscow Zemstvo asked them to work also in Middle Russia and Galicia. It was then that the units known as the Millicent Fawcett Hospital Units were formed to do the most varied work. In Kazan, where later a violent form of scarlet fever broke out among the refugees, they opened an infectious diseases hospital for children. Last year the town took the hospital over, retaining the services of the medical director, Dr. Daisy Steppney, who is still there, and who must have had thrilling experiences during the great fire of a few weeks ago. Other hospitals were established in the remote districts of the Volga for the hordes of refugees, as well as for primitive native tribes who had no other doctors, and few nurses. The enormous work of the out-patient department and the cottage visiting were important educational agencies here. A military hospital for infectious diseases on the edge of the Bukovina had the distinction of stamping out a serious smallpox epidemic, and continued its ordinary work until the advance of the Germans made it necessary to evacuate the hospital at a few hours' notice and to take a most laborious journey to safety through the ranks of retreating Russians. The most exciting escape was that of the staff from the hospital forty miles from Tarnopol, almost in the trenches, where in the middle of the chaotic retreat the doctors and nurses were rescued by English armoured motor cars.

JUVENILE CRIME.

Remarkable testimony regarding the increase of juvenile crime is to be found in the reports of the inspectors of Church schools in all parts of England. The evil is characterised as a blot upon our social conditions, and a distressing factor in modern life. The cause is attributed to the absence of the father on military duty and of the mother on war work, and from that point of view it is urged that discipline is lacking in the home if discipline is lacking in the school. The reports strongly support the opinions expressed by the Home Office, and enforce the necessity of preventing if possible any serious ill effects settling upon elementary education. The evil is not confined to the towns, but is equally noticeable in the rural districts. Among the remedies proposed is the closing of cinema theatres which exhibit exaggerated pictures; preventing children loitering at night in the darkened thoroughfares; the provision of some evening occupation—some hobby or recreation, and organised efforts to induce war savings. The difficulty of getting rid of juvenile delinquency while the war lasts is admitted, inasmuch as the schools are in a more or less disorganised condition owing to the great depletion of male teachers.

FOOD ECONOMY.

Lord Rhondda (the Food Controller) having now established an almost complete system of State control over food supplies and prices, it becomes the paramount duty of every citizen to support him. Measures will be taken very soon to impress upon the people the necessity of voluntarily cutting down their food consumption. Should these steps prove unavailing, we shall be face to face with rationing in respect of all the prime necessities. The sugar ticket is the beginning, and the organization which has been brought into existence for this one commodity will be readily adaptable to others. While there is no cause for alarm, the future position necessarily cannot be accurately foreseen. It depends upon consumers to a very great extent whether that position shall be as tenured with absolute security. We have heard a good deal about the actual practice of economy, but the facts seem to point to a great falling off among the mass of the people. It is disappointing to find that the consumption of bread and flour during August was only 5 1/2 per cent less than during 1916, in spite of the plentiful supply of cheap potatoes. The Food Controller points out that if we cut down consumption of food by one-third, we should only have in our normal home supplies, half the amount required for our sustenance. The provision of the balance rests between the extension of our agricultural output at home and the maintenance of the services that ensure our overseas supplies. It is therefore incumbent upon everyone to help Lord Rhondda in his gigantic task of feeding a nation. "Save food" and "Save money" are the two essential commands that are laid upon the people at this time.

THE INTERNED COURT PAINTER.

Philip de Laszlo, the Anglo-Hungarian Court painter, who was naturalised in November, 1914, has suddenly been interned. The news interests London more than anything else in the papers. The advanced painters of the Chelsea and Camden Hill (London's art centers) say that as an artist he deserved it. True enough, his portraits were "flashy," superficially clever, repeating the same popular tricks, and never attempting to seize or convey the character and soul of his sitter. But it flattered and charmed, so that he became the favored painter of the Courts of Europe, and the most-sought-after and most tactful limner of Mayfair beauties who had reached an age when they preferred to have their features and complexions idealised. His facility and sureness in such work was unrivalled and must have been vastly profitable. At the first of the Red Cross sale here the empty canvas on which he offered to paint a portrait sold for an unequalled sum—£10,000, if my recollection does not betray me.

NEWFOUNDLAND'S BAND TRUMPET.

The past week has been one of continuous triumph for the band of the Newfoundland Regiment which has been playing all the week in London in one place or another and has been given most stirring receptions. The marching tune of the Regiment, "The Banks of Newfoundland," in which echoes of Irish and Indian airs are happily blended has been effectively rendered, portraying the ebullient gaiety of the Irish going into battle and the proud grief of the Indians bringing back from the fray their dead braves. Mr. Worthington, the conductor, on every occasion, had to rise again and again and acknowledge the tributes of his audience.

There seems to be a growing fondness among French milliners for touches of the vivid colors like jade, turquoise, peacock blue and Kelly green.

MINARD'S LIMENT CURES DANDRUFF.

She Went Days Without Food.

When Hospital Treatment Failed an Operation Was Advised. Cure Was Effected Without The Use of the Knife.

Glouce Bay, N. S., October 27th.—Here is a case which sorely puzzled the hospital doctors. It was evident that the great suffering from pain under the left shoulder-blade was due to torpidity of the liver, but no medical treatment seemed to do any good. In fact medicines failed, and the doctors said an operation was the only hope. But Mrs. Watkins hesitated before the enormous risk of an operation and decided to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills first.

The result was that she was perfectly cured three years ago, and now that she can report the cure as thorough and lasting. This is not an isolated case, but proves that this great medicine cures when ordinary prescriptions fail. Mrs. Annie Watkins, Glouce Bay, New Harbor, N.S., writes: "I think it is time for me to give my experience with your wonderful Kidney-Liver Pills. For seven months I suffered with what the doctor called indigestion; but whatever it was, I suffered terribly. The pain would start under my left shoulder and pass down my side until it reached the pit of my stomach. It just seemed as if the flesh were being torn from the bone. At times I used to go without food from one morning until the next. I had no energy left for work at all. At last our doctor sent me to the hospital for four days and nights I never broke my fast except for a drink of water. After four weeks' treatment there I returned home and was back only four days when the pain came back worse than ever. Then I was told I would have to undergo an operation, but I would not consent to that. At last I read about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and started to take them. At first I did not notice much difference, but still I kept on using them, and by the time four boxes were used I was perfectly well again. That was in 1914, so you see I can safely say that I was cured. I shall always be grateful to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, as they did more for me than four doctors."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Refuse substitutes, for they only disappoint.

Everyday Etiquette.

"If one is to have a very small and informal wedding, how should the invitations be extended and, with only a few invited friends, is it necessary to have engraved invitations?" asked the about-to-be-bride. "The bride's mother may write informal notes of invitation to be sent to the friends and relatives," advised her confidant.

Highlanders' Promotions and Presentations.

The Newfoundland Highlanders, under command of Adjutant Henderson and Capt. W. Herder, held a full dress parade at their Armoury last night. There was a goodly number of friends and supporters of the brigade present, including Rev. Gordon Dickie, M. A., Chaplain; Mrs. Dickie and Surgeon Major Paterson of the 11th. Regiment, who is also Lieut. Colonel of the Brigade. Following the inspection the lads were put through a number of exercises, performing them in a faultless manner, which speaks well for the officers in charge who are untiring in the efforts and have the interest of every lad at heart.

Rev. Mr. Dickie, who has a deep interest in the welfare of the lads, congratulated them on their splendid appearance and exhorted them always to uphold the name of Highlander, remembering at all times the noble examples and deeds of bravery that have been performed by those gallant men who all through our military history are respected as being of the best. From their own little band had gone many of its brave lads, who had ably acquitted themselves in the field. To those who had fallen he paid a high tribute, making special reference to Capt. Jas. Ledingham, 1st Nfd. Regiment, who had been a member of the Highlanders since its inception and at the time of enlisting with "Ours" was an officer in the Brigade.

Rev. Mr. Dickie then presented the prizes and conduct stripes to the fortunate winners. Conduct stripes were awarded to L.-Corp. Pushie, Ptes. C. Thorburn, H. Lewis, W. Taylor, W. Antie, J. Penney and F. James. For the best kept camp, prizes were donated by Mr. Jacob Barrett, an ex-member of the brigade, and were awarded to Ptes. Symonds, Hopkins, Clarke and Fry.

Ptes. Antie, Fry and Taylor were promoted to be Lance-Corporals.

Bay de Verde Notes.

The schr. Bruce, Capt. Hogan, arrived yesterday from St. John's. She will take back a load of fish purchased for the Gorton Pew Co.

The schr. Jane, Capt. Churchill, will also load fish for the Gorton Pew Co.

It is estimated that the Gorton Pew Co. have purchased over 15,000 qts. of fish at this place and Lower Island Cove this fall, at nine to ninety-five cents for dry fish and six-sixty stop cure.

A few boats still venture on the fishing grounds and procure fair catches when the weather permits.

Mr. Hall, the popular manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Old Perlican, was here yesterday. Mr. Hall is an obliging and courteous official and is doing well.

Juverna the great renowned magician and handcuff king is now here and is drawing crowded houses. He is presenting a high class repertoire of superb illusions and magical mysteries that fairly amaze his audience.

Messrs. Moore, Archer and Miss Masie Burt gave fine shows here last week.

The Church of England Sale of Work held in St. Barnabas Hall achieved a splendid success and nearly five hundred dollars was realized.

Looking After Our Prisoners.

Staff Sergeant Herbert Dowling, who was in charge of the interests of prisoners of war in Germany, is now replaced by Staff Sergt. G. Burt, to whom enquiries regarding prisoners may be addressed, in care of the Pay and Record Office, London. Sergt. Dowling was recently married at London and has resumed his duties as Records officer at the base at Rouen, France.

These Suits are made from materials specially imported by The Royal Stores, Limited. They are cut and tailored in first-class style and fit perfectly. Purchases made here are assurances of satisfaction. When purchasing Suits men would be well advised to visit this Department and examine these Suits before purchasing elsewhere.

Prices range from $9.50 to $28.00.

OVERCOATS.

When a man comes to this Store and finds that the Overcoats are in style, right down to the minute; that they are new, and as far from the zones apart from those "homely" looking kinds, they're bound to invest in a "Royal Stores" Overcoat.

To sum the whole thing up, they're cut along the right lines in the first place, then they're well made and finished in every particular, from their well shaped hand-padded shoulder to their strongly sewn buttonholes.

They may be obtained from $10 to $20 each.

Men's UNDERWEAR.

We have a full stock of Stanfield's Unshrinkable Underwear. It is the most comfortable underwear made. It is not clumsy or too heavy and undoubtedly offers the greatest protection against cold.

Stanfield's Underwear is durable and does not lose any of its heat-giving properties through wear.

Men may obtain weights to suit them because such an immense stock is at their disposal.

Reliability is the feature of all Underwear purchased here, insuring the purchaser absolute satisfaction.

NECKWEAR.

An unusually complete display of smart, new patterns and designs in Men's Wide End Ties is attracting considerable attention.

Smart, reasonable Neckwear in an immense variety of beautiful effects, in many instances exclusive to this Store, may be obtained at decidedly reasonable prices.

Collars in the famous Arrow Brand, made from superior linens, are shown in seventeen different styles at prices that are sure to please.

Should the Worm Turn?

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

When the worm turned, of course he ruined his chances of making a hundred per cent perfect record for meekness, but think what a healthy and doubtless much needed shock it must have been for the person who was about to step on him.

Meekness is undoubtedly a great virtue, subjectively. But looked at objectively, it may be a great temptation. Given a sweet, self-effacing, apologetic-for-it-is-in-a-worm of a mother and how many sons and daughters won't relieve the fits of irritability that come to the best of us by flinging out at her.

Of course he'll blame her. Given a wife who is in the habit of letting her husband blame her for everything that happens and how many husbands won't let off steam at any annoyance by blaming her for it.

I once knew a wife who had let herself get into this habit. A friend found her crying one day because her husband had been especially unreasonable. "He couldn't be so cross to me if he really loved me," she moaned. "Do you love your mother?" asked her friend.

The wife stopped crying to consider this unexpected counter and to say that of course she did.

Yet she snaps her mother up. "Yet I've often heard you snap her up," pursued the friend inexorably. "Now don't get cross with me but think it over. Why are you irritable when you love her so much? For just one reason. Because she lets you be and because it's human nature to impose on anyone who permits it."

THE SEAL.

The seal is a massive, club-footed animal which earns a living by supplying satin-lined coats to members of the Upper Ten. Inasmuch as it requires the entire savings for many years of a robbin seal to make a seal-skin sacque, the species is becoming about as extinct as the bone napkin ring at a 6.30 dinner.

The seal is not prized for his beauty, being short several inches of chin and having no hips to speak of. He is surpassed in facial charm only by the horned rhinoceros and the North American hoot owl, but has an honest, open countenance, especially when in the act of perpetrating a yawn, when the interested onlooker can easily see what is on his mind.

The seal also comes equipped with a profuse mustache, hung just above the upper maxillary. This is one of the few mustaches in existence which does not have to be dyed from time to time in order to conceal the age of the dye.

A fearless trainer can teach them more tricks than a freshman class at a senior banquet.

The seal is a docile animal, and when treated with affection and fed a few drayloads of catfish can be trained to do anything except smoke a cigarette. A fearless trainer can take a herd of seals which look as if they didn't know enough to read or write and teach them mors tricks than the freshman class at a senior banquet. As the seal is the only known fish which can stand erect on its tail and make a low bow without caving in at the knees, it is a bigger drawing card at the circus than the den of man-eating lions which had their teeth drawn in childhood.

The seal lives in the frozen regions of the north, far from the hay fever germ, where pure channel ice is cheaper than human life in Mexico and the thermometer frequently ascends to 420 degrees below zero in the summer time. Despite this fact, no one ever heard of a seal being bothered with chilblains or having to rub a frozen ear with a snowball. The favorite method of capturing seals is to back them up against an iceberg and chloroform them with a lasso. This preserves their skins from unnecessary punctures and also enables the hunter to return home to his family intact as to arms and legs.

The seal has a very disagreeable speaking voice, being a cross between a power saw and a high baritone with the influenza. Nobody has ever attempted to cultivate the voice of an enraged seal by using the old Italian method, most people preferring a pitchfork with long, eager tines.

Girls! Draw A Moist Cloth Through Hair Double Its Beauty

Try this! Hair gets thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful at once.

Immediate!—Yes! Certain!—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents.

Petition of Industrial Workers to Council.

To His Excellency the Governor in Council.

The petition of the Newfoundland Industrial Workers' Association humbly sheweth:

That your petitioners have been informed that application has been made by the Reid Newfoundland Company for the grant of certain water powers at Mobile in the District of Ferryland.

That prior to this application the St. John's Municipal Council had asked to have control and possession of the waters and watershed of Mobile River for the purpose of generating electrical power for the use of the City and for sale to citizens;

That the City Council asked for these water powers some years ago when Mr. Ellis was Mayor;

That the Civic Commissioners appointed by the Executive Government by virtue of an Act of the Legislature recommended that these water rights be reserved for the City and embodied their recommendations in Section 194 of the City Charter;

That the Citizens' Committee appointed at a meeting of ratepayers of St. John's agreed with the recommendations of the Commissioners in this respect, provided that proper enquiry be made as to its feasibility;

That the present City Council has protested against the granting of these water powers to any private person or company;

That your petitioners believe that public bodies should be given such franchises as these in preference to any private individual or corporation;

That your petitioners suggest for Your Excellency's consideration that the water powers on the Mobile River and all water powers within the Electoral District of St. John's shall be reserved for the use of the public in St. John's and the settlements in the neighbourhood of such water powers;

That your petitioners recommend that powers be given to the St. John's Municipal Council to make expenditures for the examination of these and other water powers in the Colony and to issue debentures for such sum as may be found necessary to develop such water powers and to instal machinery for the purposes of generating electrical power, to convey the same to the City for lighting and power and to sell or dispose of such surplus power as may remain, at such rates as may be deemed advisable;

And your Petitioners will ever pray, etc.

Signed on behalf of the Newfoundland Industrial Workers' Association.
 P. BENNETT,
 President.

W. J. NAUFFETS,
 Secretary.

Moving Heavy Machinery.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Charles Lester, master carter, undertook one of the heaviest jobs in his line when he removed a piece of machinery weighing twelve tons from the Red Cross premises to the Railway Station. The cumbersome package was consigned to the Harbor Grace Shipbuilding Co. and only recently arrived. In order to guarantee safe delivery at the station a special truck weighing two tons had to be constructed, to which were attached 14 horses in pulling it up to Water St. from the Red Cross wharf; after that six horses were sufficient to take it along to the station. Several other packages weighing from one to three tons are being successfully handled by Mr. Lester.

NORTHCLIFFE SPEAKS TO THE POINT.

ST. LOUIS, To-day.

Lord Northcliffe, head of the British War Mission in the U.S., before Chamber of Commerce to-day said the Austro-German offensive against Italy is a desperate attempt to knock Italy out of the war, and disturbances in Italy are being fomented by Germany. "I believe there will be a desperate fight on the Italian front the next few weeks," said Northcliffe. "The most serious point in the war news to-day is that the Germans are attacking the Italian front for the first time. The German statement to-day speaks of Austro-German troops. It is evident that they are trying to put Italy out of the war. If I were a Prussian I would think I had won the war. We know they are preparing all occupied country for permanent residence. Our duty is to see that they don't do this. Nations wake very slowly to war conditions. The first indication of a shortage in England was in candy for young ladies. I find the same thing here. In New York women are trembling for candy; there is a sugar shortage, though to see the candy piled in the windows of candy stores one would not think so."

THE CANADIANS BACK IN FLANDERS.

FRANCE, via London, Oct. 26th.

(By W. A. Wilson, special correspondent of the Canadian Press). — Back again in the bloody salient, smashing forward towards Passchendaele Ridge, the Canadians, fresh from destroying the enemy forces cooped up in Lens, advanced at daybreak this morning on a front extending roundly from Passchendaele to the Combe-beke Road to Watten. They have many strong points in front of them, such as Wolfe Copse, the Heine House, Heine Farm and higher land to the northwest, but the Canadian troops, avoiding the impassable swampy land known as Marsh Bottom, swept forward in two waves, first taking the higher ground to the north of marshes. They launched the brunt of their attack against Bellevue, while a second wave to the south advanced against Augustus Wood, Heine House and Hillside Farm. While not a major operation, this morning's attack will rank as one of the most historic incidents in the war and in the history of the Dominion, for the battalions engaged advanced from practically the identical trenches held by Canada's veteran division on April 22 two and a half years ago, when the Germans, launching their gas attack, captured St. Julien and might have stormed through to the coast but for the desperately gallant fighting of the battered battalions of the Dominion. To-day those trenches are ours and Canada in the advanced area has wrested from the Hun the only bit of Dominion trenches he has succeeded in holding in this war. Preceded by over two hours of concentrated artillery barrage the advancing force to the north went forward through slime and mud to the Germans' advanced position before Bellevue Spur, which was the scene of desperate fighting on October 12 and has extensive wire entanglements, with many five feet thick concrete pill boxes. During the last ten days our artillery moved up with the greatest difficulty through seas of Flanders mud and has been giving Bellevue Hill daily attention. The effect of our fire having been demonstrated early in the week, when two prisoners wandered into the Canadian lines, they were dazed by the effects of our fire on their concrete shelter. To the south of the marsh ravine our outposts for the last week have been constantly encroaching on the German positions in Augustus Wood, Heine House and Hillside Farm. That the Canadian attack was a minor one is shown in the Allied advance on roughly a ten mile front from Houtholst Wood in the north of Ghelvelt. To-day at the time of the filing of the despatch the engagement is progressing favourably to the south, with stubborn fighting to the north. Among the battalions engaged are those of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Central Ontario.

IN BRAZIL.

RIO JANEIRO, To-day.

The Senate unanimously approved the proclamation of a state of war with Germany.

TREMENDOUS BRITISH ARTILLERY.

BRITISH FRONT IN BELGIUM.

(By the Associated Press).

This was shortly after eight o'clock and the captives numbered sixty. The enemy guns stationed on the high ground southeast of Ghelvelt, which constituted one of the main defenses of the Ghelvelt position, were comparatively quiet in the early hours, probably due to the heavy and effective bombardment conducted against them by the British artillery last night. Many explosions were seen in the vicinity of these enemy batteries in the darkness. The attack began in a cold rain that had been falling for several hours. It has become almost trite to say that the greatest barrage yet seen was employed, but once more this was the case. The depth of the barrage fire was considerably increased and the British troops went forward behind a terrific hail of shells. The preliminary bombardment for those attacks had been proceeding for days with the greatest intensity and the expenditure of ammunition was enormous. The faces of Passchendaele Ridge and of other regions have been so altered that they resemble a volcanic zone. Last night the concentrated fire was increased and the heavens were lit with a crimson glow as the great guns hurled their charges into the German lines. The preliminary bombardment was the result of the remarkable work in moving the guns forward over marshy terrain. The brisk wind of the last few days had done wonders in drying up the water, but the mud was still formidable. In many places there were impassable morasses. Notwithstanding these trying conditions the preparations were completed. The Germans had been expecting an attack. In fact they thought it was being made on Monday, and marched up troops to the support. Later they withdrew them and thus these troops underwent three hours of marching each way through deep mud.

CREeping AHEAD.

LONDON, To-day.

Operations with limited objectives were undertaken by the British and French armies in Flanders early this morning. Notwithstanding great difficulties caused by the weather and bad ground, considerable progress was made and valuable positions taken on the greater part of the front attacked, says a British official communication issued to-night. The communication says that more than 600 prisoners were captured during to-day's operations.

COLOSSAL FIGURES.

LONDON, To-day.

The supplementary estimate for a vote of credit for £400,000,000, which is to be moved in the Commons on Tuesday by Andrew Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer, was issued to-day. This will bring the total loans for the year to £1,900,000,000, and the total since the commencement of the war to £5,692,000,000.

FRENCH GOING AHEAD.

PARIS, To-day.

The French troops are continuing their successful drive on the Flanders front, according to a War Office statement issued to-night. The number of men captured since the 23rd instant totals 180, and 700 more prisoners were taken this morning. In the Champagne enemy supplies, attacks broke down and the French succeeded in entering the German lines at one point and brought back prisoners.

BRAZIL IN THE WAR.

RIO JANEIRO, To-day.

President Braz has sanctioned the proclamation of a state of war with Germany.

FIGHTING THE WEATHER.

LONDON, To-day.

Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters in France and Belgium says the sum total of to-day's results in the attack in the Ypres sector is a series of important tactical gains. It is only because we know we should have done much more had the heavens favored the operations, the correspondent adds, that one cannot regard the collective achievement with complete satisfaction.

FINE WORDS, BUT ACTION WANT.

It has in front of it roads and villages whose names will live for ever in our national story, roads and villages where high and smiling courage presided over heroic combats, and the dauntless spirit of the heroes who can no more hold up the German flood-tide.

With what burning emotion will the new armies survey the scenes of that glowing epic! How the hearts of all will thrill to pass through surroundings, the very hedges of which bear witness to the great peril that became the great triumph! And as they move on it will seem that their task becomes easier because the shades of the heroic dead are there to point the way.

We are going back along the roads where French's blood and dusty little army never lost faith, although always near to destruction. We shall reach the place where the guns at Le Cateau roared their challenge, and where, amidst fire and shell, with dead falling around them, the gunners continued to serve their eighteen-pounders.

Turning the Tables.

Our cavalry will one day stand where the 9th Lancers and the 18th Hussars made their hopeless charge. They will ride through the hamlets where the Gordons and Munsters were thinned like chaff. At the thought of reaching such hallowed ground the imagination leaps, and the heart, in anticipation, prepares its solemn homage.

How the new armies will fight at Mons, with so much to repay, with the eyes of those who breathed their last on its brown roads upon them, and a look in them that seems to say: "We did our best, but we had no chance. For our sake, as well as your own, defend, and strike home!"

It is not such a far cry, having regard to the map, to speak of Mons as a British objective. We are pushing across the plain of Douai towards the town itself, and from Douai to Mons is not more than forty miles.

True, it is country every mile of which must be desperately defended by the Germans if they are to avoid terrible disaster. But an army that has scaled the ridge of Vimy need not be deterred by any obstacle, however formidable.

Step by Step.

The "contemptible British Army," grown twenty to forty times in size, as compared with the little force which first stemmed the German onrush towards Northern France, slowly, but steadily, despite all opposition, will retrace its steps along the great avenue of invasion, where the best and bravest of our race, outnumbered and out-gunned, fought and died.

Alas! the great bulk of the original British Expeditionary Force lies dead under the soil of Flanders or France, or because of injuries will never meet the shock of battle again. But there are some who survive and they are fighting to-day, and it is our hope that when, after the lapse of all these long and anxious months, the battle-field moves once more to Mons, these seasoned veterans will be found in the vanguard.

Just as Mons was the cradle of the issues of the war, so Mons, in all likelihood, may be its turning point.

For, if Antwerp is a pistol pointed at the heart of England, Mons is a pistol pointed at the heart of Germany. An army at Mons threatens Namur. With Namur retaken, who in Germany will say that Liege is safe?

And from Liege runs the great main railway to the Fatherland.

The day when we cross the Rhine may be still far distant, but it is the logical sequel to the return to Mons, where good fortune and hard fighting should bring us sooner, possibly, than we think.

Here a word of warning is necessary. It would be presumptuous to attempt to define Sir Douglas Haig's plans, which are known only to himself. But it is not unreasonable to suppose that quite as important an object with him as the recovery of territory is the destruction of the German army.

Paradoxical though it may sound, Hindenburg would retire faster if we allowed him. Unhindered by us, he might be back in Mons much more rapidly than joined battle will send him.

The truth is that Hindenburg seeks not to give battle, but to evade it. It is no part of his plan to have to defend the approaches to the Belgian plain with an army weakened in numbers.

When the Rout Begins.

If he must give ground, he prefers to yield it with as small an attenuation of his forces as possible. That, at least, is sound generalship.

On the other hand, it is no part of our plan to let him get away without terrific punishment, and so, what might under ordinary circumstances be an orderly retirement to the line of the Sambre and the Meuse, may prove to be precipitate flight.

An army that knows itself to be weaker than the one thrown against it must, if it is to survive, seek safety in retreat, until such time as the handicap has been reversed, or there is time for a strategic plan to mature, whereby the relatively weaker army may manoeuvre itself into local superiority.

Such a plan presupposes the disposal of a large manoeuvring mass. This mass Hindenburg had accumulated during the winter months, and proposed using at a convenient opportunity to regain the initiative. It was to serve him for a third blow at Calais.

Haig Dictates This Time.

But the unexpected mobility of the British artillery units have frustrated him. They have compelled him to accept battle, not on his own chosen ground, but on ours. What is more, the mobility of all British arms has forced him to draw heavily upon his reserves to prevent his tactical defeats developing into a rout.

The punishment will go on, week after week, and, as each mile of territory is regained, the German army will be rendered weaker and weaker, until, when Mons is reached, only a badly mauled and dispirited legion may be left to bar the road to Liege and Namur.—Answers.

IT HAS MANY DELICIOUS USES.

Use Cleveland's Cocoa instead of Chocolate.

Below is a recipe for Mocha Frosting:

1-3 Cup Butter.
1 1/2 Cups Icing Sugar.
1 Tablespoon Cleveland's Cocoa.

1 Tablespoon Cold Coffee (left over).

Cream butter, add sugar, gradually continuing the beating, then add Cocoa and cold coffee until of right consistency to spread, or force through a pastry bag and tube.

PIKERS.

Bee-wax & Blinken make a good soup, which soup they largely advertise; and when I find my spirits droop, I buy a can, and feel them rise. Bee-wax & Blinken spend good money to introduce their helpful broth, and so, wherever there are men, their product cuts a good wide swath. I buy it by the dozen cans, consume it morning, noon and night; I eat it out of bowls and pans, and always find it strictly right. Sometimes when I am needing soup, by Bee-wax and his partner cannot, I tattle to the grocer's copy, and ask him for this famous brand. Sometimes the grocer says, "Odsahn! I do not keep the Bee-wax line; I know it is a famous dish—but here is something just as fine." Oh, then I pull the grocer's nose, and deftly stand him on his head; such piffle, as you may suppose, will always start me seeing red. The advertiser strives to make his product's merit understood; then comes the imitator's fake, which he pronounces "Just as good." The thing they wisely advertise is still the safest thing to get; the men who make it are too wise to fool their customers, you bet.

Your Boys and Girls.

It is hard to deny a child when one has the means to gratify the wish but, when the mother's calm judgment shows her that the gratification is not for the child's good, it is for her, in the interest of family welfare, to exercise self control and the right to deny.

One may deny pleasantly and gently as well as harshly. The good natured method is much more likely to bring the child willingly to face the crisis, thus avoiding an outburst of temper. Mothers should teach their little ones when very young, to be frank and honest. Show them that almost any mischief is preferable to deceit and falsehood and then, when they realize the value of truth, trust them.

You have no idea how great an influence a mother's trust can be. The very knowledge that mother trusts them will be enough to hold the little one back from any real evil.

Building Ten Steamers a Week.

Halifax, October 26—The standardized ships, Britain's great hope in the overcoming of the submarine devastation of the Huns, are becoming a frequent sight in our harbor. Yesterday a Halifax Herald reporter was in company with an officer of one of these ships and learned some interesting things about their construction which is now going on in the shipyards of the United Kingdom at the average rate of ten a week.

"Do you see that ship?" asked the officer as he pointed to his steamer out in the harbor, "I saw her launched. I was right in the yard and it is a fact that within fifteen minutes of the slips being vacated keel plates were being laid for another ship just like her. She was built right up to schedule in every particular and was launched within five minutes of the pre-arranged time."

Speaking further regarding these steamers, the officer referred to their large number of windows and the speed with which they can load or discharge cargo. The accommodation for the crew is excellent, much better than in the old-style tramps. In place of the usual quarters in the forecastle there are two-bunked cabins or bunks. These are fitted in the poop and there are separate mess rooms for the firemen and the seamen. They have proven themselves good sea boats and all of them have come up to the speed requirements provided by the government. Practically all of the steamers now being built in British yards are on standard lines and for account of the state. There are six types of cargo steamers of varying sizes, the parts of each type being identical and so perfectly finished that the assembling of the parts is facilitated.

"There is one thing about it," said the officer, "The Germans have destroyed a lot of ships for us, but by doing so they have taught us how to build ships in a way that knocks them absolutely out of ever again being able to compete with us. It's not going to take us so very long after this war is over to replace all the tonnage that has been destroyed, and what we want to see is a rush to this war that will make the Germans pay all the bills."
