Ruled BY Destiny!

CHAPTER XX.

RULED BY DESTINY.

THE brougham whirled Josine back from the station, and she made her way at once to Lady Blanche.

Her ladyship was lying down on the couch in her room, and merely turned her head as Josine entered; her face was very pale, and there were dark marks under the eyes, telling of the agony of suspense and actual fear she had endured.

"Well!" she said, her dark-brown eyes resting on Josine's face with feverish, haughty impatience.

Josine smiled, and began taking off her gloves as she would have done in the presence of an equal, and Lady Blanche flushed as she noticed the action.

"It is all right, miladi!" said Josine. "Fortune has favored us, and Miss Carlisle has gone to London, to—ah, who cares where?—by the afternoon train!"

Lady Blanche drew a breath of relief and turned her face away.

"Oh, yes, our little comedy has finished splendidly," went on Josine; "and it deserved to, for it was admirably conceived and carried out. But, ah Heaven, the trouble it was to convince mademoiselle that Milord could be false!"

Lady Blanche leaned her face on her hand and frowned.

"You think that all is safe," she said, coldly, "whereas I can see that we are only at the beginning of the affair. Do you think that Lord Norman will not write to her—follow her? Josine, I fear that this will end badly. I am sorry that—that I was tempted to have anything to do with it." And she began to pace the room.

Josine looked at her rather contemptuously.

"Miladi loses courage when the battle is over," she said. "Bah! there is little sense in that. Pardon!"—for Lady Blanche had turned on her with fierce hauteur—"Pardon, but is it not true, miladi? Is not mademoiselle gone, never to return?"

Lady Blanche smiled bitterly.

"My poor girl," she said, scornfully; "I fear that she will return, all too quickly, and that our punishment will be as speedy. Lord Norman is no fool—not a man to be deceived and bullied."

"Bullied, no, perhaps; but deceived, yes!" retorted Josine, showing her teeth. "Any man can be deceived, miladi. Bah! it is easier than deceiving a woman."

"You may try," said Lady Blanche, grimly. "And first, you will have to account for Miss Carlisle's absence. I have been going over the whole shameful business while you have been away, and I wish to Heaven that I had had nothing to do with it!"

The reaction had set in after the time of excitement; and fear, actual fear, had taken possession of Lady Blanche.

"To account for mademoiselle's

IN MISERY FOR YEARS

Mrs. Courtney Tells How She Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oskaloosa, Iowa.—"For years I was simply in misery from a weakness and awful pains—and nothing seemed to do me any good. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so and got relief right away. I can certainly recommend this valuable medicine to other women who suffer, for it has done such good work for me and I know it will help others if they will give it a fair trial."
—Mrs. LIZZIE COURTNEY, 108 8th Ave., West, Oskaloosa, Iowa.

Why will women drag along from day to day, year in and year out, suffering such misery as did Mrs. Courtney, when such letters as this are continually being published. Every woman who suffers from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, nervousness, or who is passing through the Change of Life should give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. For special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of its long experience is at your service.

sudden flight is easy. I have two reasons," said Josine. "First here is this."

And she took the telegram and laid it on the table.

Lady Blanche glanced at it and turned pale.

A sharp pang of pity, actual pity for Floris, shot through her heart, and then it turned to stone again. She pushed the telegram away with her white hand, petulantly, impatiently.

"Lord Norman will follow her immediately he returns from Scarfross," she said, with an air of conviction.

"Ah, well then, he must not see this telegram!" rejoined Josine. "And now for the other reason for mademoiselle's disappearance. What if we say that she went off with Milord Clifford?"

Lady Blanche stared at her as if she thought the girl had taken leave of her senses.

"Gone off with Lord Clifford!" she repeated. "What use would be such a lie as that, which would be detected at once!"

"But it is no lie!" said Josine, coolly enjoying the amazement she had excited. "It is certain that Miss Carlisle was met at the station by Milord Clifford, for I saw him!"

Lady Blanche smiled contemptuously.

"No one will believe that, my good girl," she said.

Josine shrugged her shoulders. "On my bare word? Perhaps not! But all the same, Milord Clifford was there, and traveled to London in the same car with Miss Carlisle! Others saw him—the porter—the guard, who knew him!"

Lady Blanche sprang to her feet, pale and breathless.

"Can it be possible?" she murmured.

Josine laughed.

"It is quite true, miladi! It was a strange coincidence, certainly, a happy chance. Accident is favorable to us, is it not? Now see, what is easier than to put this telegram on the fire—so—she flung the telegram in the grate as she spoke—and to say that we know nothing excepting that a telegram came from some one or somewhere, and that Miss Carlisle did start for London at once, and that Milord Clifford met her at the station. I make no accusations! No, Heaven forbid!" she went on, with a smile.

"I say nothing! Ah, no, I'll not say the telegram came from Milord Clifford? Certainly not! I do not say that it was an appointment—their meeting at the train but—others will."

Lady Blanche stood regarding her with breathless intensity.

"I shall tell no lies!" said Josine, coolly. "I shall tell the truth—all but excepting the telegram. That I know nothing about, save that it came! You see, miladi, the trump cards are all in our hands; we have just to play them, so!"

Lady Blanche sank into her chair again.

Suppress the telegram! Another crime! Step by step she was sinking to the lowest depths of deceit and mental depravity.

And yet what could she do? She had set out upon the sea of falsehood, and must drift, drift, drift with the tide of circumstance.

She must decide at once. In a short time—an hour or two—the party would have returned from the Cascades, and Floris' absence would have to be accounted for.

With a troubled frown she got up, and going to her jewel-case took out a bundle of notes.

Almost solemnly she held them out to Josine, who stood watching her with glittering eyes.

"Take these," she said; "it is the reward we agreed upon. I give them to you willingly—you have earned them. But from this moment I will have nothing more to do with the affair. I know nothing about Miss Carlisle's flight, and will say nothing, remember that! Tell what lies you please, account for your absence in any way that suits you best, but do not expect me to help you or to bear out any of your statements. From this moment I wash my hands of the business!" And she turned away.

Josine laughed.

"That is well said, miladi! Truly now is the time for miladi to wash her hands of the affair, now the affair is done."

Lady Blanche started.

"All is over and finished—yes! And it is quite wise of miladi to know nothing and say nothing; for her the consequences will work out themselves. And as to Josine—well, she will know nothing, absolutely nothing; and as to Monsieur Raymond—"

Lady Blanche started; for the moment she had almost forgotten him.

"He, too, will be very glad to forget! I am going now, miladi. Is there anything I can do for you?"

Lady Blanche shook her head, and Josine, with a respectful courtesy, departed.

Two hours afterward the party from the Cascades returned.

Lady Blanche could hear them laughing on the terrace outside, and at the sound of their voices a spasm of fear shook her.

How could she face them all, she, with so black a secret, so heavy a load of sin upon her bosom?

Josine, calmly and demurely putting out Lady Betty's evening attire, smiled as she heard them outside.

To her the whole thing was a keen enjoyment, and in anticipation she was reveling in Lady Betty's astonishment and perplexity.

Presently they came trooping up stairs, and Lady Betty entered the room.

"We are late, Josine!" she said; "we must be quick."

"Certainly, miladi. Has miladi had a pleasant day?"

"It has been delightful, Josine," said Lady Betty, who had enjoyed herself immensely, and was in the best of spirits. "Delightful! I am so sorry that Miss Carlisle was not with us. How is she?"

"Better, miladi. Mademoiselle has gone out," demurely.

"Gone out!" said Lady Betty, slipping off her habit. "I'm glad of that; it will do her good. But she ought to be in by this time, or she will be awfully late for dinner."

"Miladi misunderstands me," said Josine, suavely; "mademoiselle has gone, has left Ballyfoe!"

Lady Betty turned, and stared at her.

"Left Ballyfoe! Miss Carlisle!"

"Yes, there was a telegram, miladi."

"You obstinate pig—why couldn't you say so?" almost shrieked Lady Betty, driven frantic by Josine's assumed nonchalance.

"Miladi didn't ask me."

"Ask you! And who was the telegram from?"

Josine stared with well-simulated indignation.

"How should I know that, miladi? No, I do not know. Mademoiselle burnt it—carefully burnt it."

"Burnt it!" repeated Lady Betty. "Well—and then?"

"And then mademoiselle directed me to pack her box, and order a carriage for the station; and I did so, and accompanied mademoiselle."

"And she has gone up to London by herself!" wailed Lady Betty. "Lord Norman will go out of his mind!"

Now don't be an idiot, Josine. What do you mean?"

Josine pretended to be aggrieved.

"Miladi, I tell you only what I know of my own knowledge! Mademoiselle has gone—left Ballyfoe! She went by this afternoon's train!"

Lady Betty flung herself into Floris' room.

Josine had tidied it up, but there were still traces of the packing, and no signs of Floris.

With something like a cry of alarm, Lady Betty darted back and confronted Josine.

"It is a stupid joke!" she gasped.

"Tell me it is, you wicked girl! Where is she? Floris!" and she ran to the door and called, "Where are you?"

Josine stood with a dark smile on her face, and Lady Betty came back, panting and breathless.

"Miladi, it is quite true, I do assure you," said Josine, suavely. "Mademoiselle left Ballyfoe this afternoon. I myself accompanied her to the station and saw her off."

Lady Betty sat open-eyed and open-mouthed.

"You did!—and it is not a joke! Then—then, why did she go?"

Josine shrugged her shoulders and pursed her lips.

"She left some message—some note for me!" said Lady Betty, almost tragically. "Where is it?"

"No; mademoiselle left no note for miladi," replied Josine, gravely; "but message—ah, yes; she said that I was to tell miladi she would write."

"She would write! But why did she go—why did she go?" demanded Lady Betty, in a frenzy.

Josine shrugged her shoulders again.

"Was she sent for?"

"Yes, there was a telegram, miladi."

"You obstinate pig—why couldn't you say so?" almost shrieked Lady Betty, driven frantic by Josine's assumed nonchalance.

"Miladi didn't ask me."

New German Attack Crushed

Australian-American Brigade Carry Their Line Forward.

Name of Germany Will Be Loated Says Bonar Law. French Check Enemy in Lorraine. Turkey's New Sultan Proclaimed.

WAR REVIEW.

While there has been local encounters of more or less importance along the battle line in France, there has been activity of significance in its bearing on the general tense situation from the North Sea to Switzerland on the British front. East of Amiens Australian troops with which Americans are brigaded, have pushed forward from the village of Hamel south of the Sois River. The Australians carried their line forward over a front of almost four miles at that point last Thursday in their last assault they have surged ahead at the centre of the new front which they created last week. The operation was successful in that the objectives were reached and the positions taken are being held by the men from the Antipodes. Further north along the southern side of the Lys salient there has been quite heavy artillery, especially in the Hinges sector where during the fighting in April when the Germans had pushed far ahead in the Flanders area. The battle north and east of Hinges was one of the most desperate in character, the village of Loos being the scene of repeated combats in which the German attacks were crushed by the British defences. In the French sectors in the Oise, Soissons and Rheims regions only patrol encounters have been reported. The Americans and French have been quite active near Chateau Thierry where the French have made some advance in the neighborhood of Hill 204 on the north side of which the Americans attacked and captured the village of Vaux last week. The French report some measure of success in this fighting, while the German assaults were repulsed with heavy losses. Austrian troops have been pushed across the stream. During the offensive last fall they crossed the new channel of the river and pushed forward for some distance toward the old river bed. In the abortive offensive last month they made the further progress there and across the hills there and were forced back by the Italians. Since the collapse of the Austrian drive the Italians have been steadily forging ahead in this region. Positions on the west bank of the river have been abandoned. This restores to the Italians the west bank of the Piave from north-west of the Montebelluna Plateau to the sea and writes the final chapter in the story of the Austrian drive in that sector of the Italian front. In the mountains the Italians have held all the ground they have won in recent fighting east and west of the Brenta River. There seems to be some inclination that fighting of a serious character may be impending on the west end of the line where it passes through Albania. Vienna reports a heavy attack there by French and Italian troops.

THE FATEFUL HOUR UPON US.

LONDON, July 6. The coming German blow will not be less dangerous because of the time employed in preparing for it, but it is comforting to know that the men responsible for the command of the Allied armies are confident of the result. Andrew Bonar Law declared last night at a dinner to the delegates of the Parliamentary Commercial Conference. It is impossible to foresee the future, he said, but I do believe that the fateful hour is upon us, and if in another three months our enemies have won no strategic object, then their campaign will have failed, and it will, I hope, be a decisive failure. The Germans possessed the most perfect military machine that ever existed, but the Chancellor said he believed that when the history of the war was written it would seem that Germany had made greater military mistakes than any other Power. He instanced the submarine warfare which had brought the United States into the war. He doubted whether Germany would get as much out of Russia as she expected. Wherever the German soldier had planted his foot the name of Germany will be loathed for generations. Mr. Bonar Law said he trembled to think what would have been the position of the Allies after Russia went out of the war but for the help of the United States. He had not despaired of Russia, who was like a patient in a delirium. It was impossible, however, to tell what the future might bring. The population of the enemy Powers was 154,000,000, that of the Entente Alliance 1,200,000,000. That in itself was a league of nations with a miliitary force that was terrible, but the economic force also was strong. One thing, he said, there was no doubt that just as the Allies were standing together now, so would they stand when the war was over to repair the ravages of the war. The Chancellor concluded: I see no immediate hope of peace, there is no road to it, I fear, except the rugged road through victory. It will be fatal to the world and fatal to the Germans themselves if they are not taught the lesson that war does not pay.

NEW POLICY ADOPTED.

WASHINGTON, July 6. Increasing man-power and rapidly extending control of the air have permitted the adoption of a new policy by General Foch, supreme commander of the Allied armies on the western front is the opinion of many observers here. They believe the sequence of hard local blows that have been struck recently by the French, British, American and Italian troops show that a new major operation on any part of the front the situation was found favorable is possible.

MUST ACCEPT WILSON'S TERMS.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE BRITISH FRONT, July 6. (By the Associated Press.)—If Germany does not accept the conditions laid down by President Wilson, she cannot have peace, and she can have peace to-morrow if she accepts them. David Lloyd George, the British Premier, gave this message to the American troops in training on the British front after he had seen them at review to-day. The arrival in France of one million American soldiers had made the German Emperor realize that his defeat was certain. The Emperor, the Premier said, had many an illusion regarding the war. One of these was that the new American troops would not be capable of meeting those of Germany trained to the minute. Premier Lloyd George reiterated forcefully that the Allies do not covet a single yard of German soil and do not desire to dispossess Germany of her rightful inheritance, or the German people of their legitimate rights.

ADVANCE THEIR LINES.

LONDON, July 6. The Australian troops advanced their line northwest of Villers-Bretonneux last night, on a front of two thousand yards, according to Field Marshal Haig's report from British headquarters in France. A successful raid was carried out by Lancashire troops near Linges in which several prisoners were captured, the statement adds.

ASSASSINATED AT MOSCOW.

BASIL, July 7. (By the Associated Press.)—General Count Von Mirbach, German Ambassador to Russia, was assassinated to-day at Moscow, according to a despatch received here.

DRIVEN TO LEFT BANK OF PIAVE.

ROME, July 6. After five days' of uninterrupted struggle, says a late official communication, the enemy was completely driven on to the left bank of the new Piave Saturday afternoon. The recapture of all the coastal zone which the enemy had occupied and held since November brilliantly crowns the victory gained by us in the first great battle of our recovery and enlarges the zone of protection for Venice.

ITALY'S WAR BOOTY.

ROME, July 6. (Official.)—Altogether since the 15th of June 523 officers and 23,911 of other ranks have been made prisoners. We also captured 63 guns, 65 trench mortars, 1,824 machine guns, 3,700 rifles, two airplanes, 5,000,000 rifle cartridges and many thousands of shells of all kinds and a large quantity of telephone equipment and recovered our artillery and material which in the advanced zone had to be abandoned during the first phase of the struggle.

A NAVAL SCRAP.

AMSTERDAM, July 6. An Austrian official statement received here says a detachment of our torpedo boats encountered a superior enemy torpedo force on July 7th. A violent engagement occurred at short range. A large enemy destroyer was set adrift, another was severely damaged. The enemy retired swiftly. Our vessels were little damaged. A few men were slightly wounded.

DUNKIRK ATTACKED.

PARIS, July 7. Several enemy aerial attacks occurred on Dunkirk last night but no bombs were dropped on the city. One of the planes was brought down by aircraft guns. A number of enemy machines also flew over Cologne and its vicinity. They dropped bombs or aerial torpedoes, resulting in the wounding of three civilians, one of whom suffered severe injuries.

CANADIAN TROOPSHIP ASHORE.

OTTAWA, July 6. It is officially announced through the office of the Chief Press Censor, that the "City of Vienna," a Canadian troopship, having troops on board, has gone ashore on the Atlantic coast during a dense fog. The troops and crew have all been safely landed, and it is thought that the ship herself may become a total loss.

RESCUING BODIES.

PEORIA, Ill., July 6. With the break of day divers went down into the sunken steamer bringing up bodies of the one hundred or more victims of the disaster, believed to be between the crushed decks of the boat. Almost at the same hour hearses began arriving from Pekin from the scene of the disaster, bringing the first of the bodies. All known victims were residents of Pekin or neighboring villages.

SILVER WEDDING.

LONDON, July 6. To-day is the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of King George and Queen Mary. The popular rejoicing with which such an event would ordinarily be celebrated was refrained from in consequence of the war, and the only public ceremony commemorating the event in which the Royal couple participated took the form of a special thanksgiving service in St. Paul's Cathedral. This was followed by a visit to the Guild Hall, where a congratulatory address and a gift from the City of London was received.

THE WEEK'S CASUALTIES.

LONDON, July 6. British casualties during the week were divided as follows: Killed or died of wounds officers 140, men 21,596, wounded or missing officers 413, men 14,187. These figures show a considerable falling off in the rate of British casualties reported as compared with those of the weeks after the attacks during May and June, when the effects of the heavy German attacks on the British front were revealing themselves in the casualty list. The June casualties reported, for instance, averaged approximately 35,000 a week. For the last eight days in June they were more than 37,000. The total casualties reported during May were 166,802, or an average of more than forty thousand a week.

NEW YORK'S FORMER MAYOR KILLED.

LAKE CHARLES, La., July 6. Major John Terry Mitchell, former Mayor of New York City, and an officer in the army aviation service, was instantly killed this morning at Gristner aviation field here, while flying in a scout machine.

SEIZING ARMS.

LONDON, July 6. A Press Association despatch from Dublin says that the police of Ballisloe, County Galway, have raided farm houses within a radius of fifty miles, seizing hundreds of guns and arms of various descriptions.

Coddling the Hun.

For knocking down a German prisoner who was one of a party being marched to work on the land at Long Ashton, near Bristol, Charles Ridge, a seaman, was bound over and ordered to pay 4s. and costs.

Ridge said that when he saw the Germans they were singing and one was smoking a cigar. He asked the soldier in charge if any of them spoke English, and one being pointed out he inquired whether he remembered the Lusitania.

"Bah!" replied the German and spat in his face.

The soldier said he did not see the German spit.

The German was brought into the police court at Long Ashton, but Ridge objected to a German giving evidence against an Englishman, and as the summons was for disorderly conduct on the high road the magistrates agreed not to call the German.

Ridge, who is lame, put in his discharge papers showing he has a good service record. He has served in the Mercantile Marine, the Navy and the Army. At Ostend early in the war he saw many mutilated Belgian women refugees. He is suffering from locomotor ataxy, and the magistrates said that but for this fact they would have dealt severely with him.

The chairman said: "While we all have the greatest abhorrence of the crimes committed by the Germans, we must not forget that so long as German prisoners of war are in our midst we must treat them in accordance with the best British traditions."

Ridge: I wish they thought the same.

The Chairman: We intend to see that the German prisoners working in this district shall have the same rights as an Englishman. We shall see that these men are protected, and we are glad the military brought the case into court.

Ridge: If a German spits at me again I shall knock him down.—Daily Mail.

The Sign of the Cross.

Just a little wind-swept mound in Flanders, topped by a cross and open to all the rains of heaven. But within that dust is "a richer dust concealed" for the cross marks the resting place of a soldier who died for YOU. He did not shrink his duty. He took up arms at the call of his country, in YOUR defence. He suffered all the discomforts and hardships of the trenches that YOU might live in ease at home. He was in that charge of July 1st the more recital of which thrilled you and made you glad you were a Newfoundlander and a fellow-countryman of those brave lads to whom death was as nothing to dishonor. He fell. That little grave in far-off France is all that remains to tell where he lies. But that grave and that cross will be forever a symbol of YOUR debt and YOUR obligation to the heroic dead. If you have not done your part to do your part to carry on the struggle in which he fought and fell, that grave and that cross will be a continual reproach to you. Will you desert the dead? Will you disgrace the living, who are now fighting your fight. It is for you to decide. Do so at once. Back up the efforts of our soldiers and sailors by buying Victory Bonds. Help shorten the War. By so doing you save soldiers, ensure your own safety, and help on civilization. Get into the crusade, turn your money into bullets, and do your part in bringing the present struggle to a close.

The Scandal-Monger.

London, July 1.—Having refused to leave the House of Commons when ordered to do so by the Speaker for disorderly conduct, Noel Pemberton-Billing, member for Hertfordshire, was forcibly removed by the officials. The incident arose through Mr. Pemberton-Billing persistently attempting to discuss the question of internment of alien enemies, while other members were before the House. Before his removal, the House had on motion of Andrew Bonar Law, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, unanimously decided to suspend Mr. Pemberton-Billing for the rest of the session. He fought desperately, and outside assistance had to be secured before he was removed beyond the Parliamentary precincts.

BATTING AVERAGES.

As will be seen from the following official batting averages of last Thursday's game between the Cubs and B.L.S., the latter team had twenty-two players at bat and Hall allowed but two safe hits out of that number. This certainly is "Big League" stuff. Perhaps we may yet see here "Hitless" games. While Carew of the B.L.S. allowed eight hits it may be somewhat discounted by the fact that at least four of them, while not classed as "put-outs," ought to have resulted in German Honor.

Readers will remember the notorious Luxbourg message to German U-boats regarding shipping belonging to the Argentine Republic, to which country he was the accredited Prussian Ambassador, and during his tenure of office was abusing diplomatic usage by utilizing his exalted position to send out instructions and advices to his countrymen, unknown to the authorities of the Argentine and contrary to international law. The instruction, now famous, or infamous perhaps would be more fitting was "spursi versenkt" (sink without leaving a trace) and was directed to the German Government as a last word to the commanders of all U-boats meeting with Argentine vessels carrying supplies to the Allies. Hun treachery and disregard for all established rules of courtesy and decency was revealed in the Luxbourg despatch, and it has been the common custom of Hun submarine officers whenever and wherever possible to sink ships and drown crews and passengers without leaving a trace. Further evidence of this is offered in the case of the hospital ship "Landover Castle," the fourth vessel of her kind to be sunk by German submarines this year. It will be recalled that the German Government's statement alleged that the ship struck a British mine as no submarine was in her vicinity at the time of the disaster. And this in the face of the fact that the U-boat commander personally questioned several of the crew of No. 1 lifeboat (the only one that was saved by the war) including the Captain, several of his officers and Major Lyon of the Medical Corps, and for his purpose made them go on board the submarine. Yet notwithstanding the testimony of these gentlemen the German Admiralty brazenly announced that none of their submarines were near the position in which the ship went down. The world can gather from this that Germany does not care a straw for public opinion or national protests. Of honour she possesses not a shred, and she is multiplying her crimes against humanity with the obvious intention of intimidating all nations into submission through terrorism and frightfulness. Shameless and discredited her one course appears to be a mad rush to destruction, over the precipice of barbarism and outrage. It has now been made quite clear that the torpedoing of the "Landover Castle" was deliberate and premeditated, and there is no doubt, (there never was in the mind of the average man) that the submarine intended to slaughter in cold blood all witnesses of the crime according to the Luxbourg dictum "spursi versenkt." It is further made plain that the German Navy staff has a settled plan to destroy hospital ships on sight, and so far as possible to do so without leaving any trace. This is the high aim of German "Kultur." And the wonder is that there are some people who have a sneaking regard for the Hun, and who would be prepared to accept peace overtures from him. There can and will be no peace for the world until the Allies do to Germany as the Roman Empire did to Carthage. It must be destroyed.

Another horrible excursion steamer disaster has occurred in which 150 people were drowned and trampled to death, when the river boat Columbia struck a rock in the Illinois River, on Friday night. After striking the pilot mistakenly rang his engines "full astern," when the vessel slid off the ledge and went down in deep water.

A Kind Act.

On Saturday afternoon an elderly man on crutches was seen crossing Water Street just east of Adelaide St. He had stood on the sidewalk for several minutes waiting for a let-up in the traffic. At last he launched out in an effort to reach the opposite side of the crowded thoroughfare. When about half way across one of his crutches slipped and he all but lost his balance. A motor car dashed past him at the time which caused him to pause as if bewildered. A little girl about nine or ten years of age, very neatly dressed, who with several of her young companions, was passing along, saw the poor man's unfortunate position, and went to his assistance. Taking him by the arm she said: "Come along, you are all right with me," and steered him safely to the sidewalk, but before the old man had time to thank his little benefactress she had slipped off to join her companions. The scene was witnessed by a number of people who spoke in very complimentary terms of the little lady's kind deed.

Motor Owners Association.

The Committee appointed to draw up constitution and bye-laws for the proposed Motor Association, met in Inspector General Hutchings' office Saturday evening. A general meeting is being called for Thursday, the 11th inst., at 8 p.m. in the Board of Trade Rooms for the purpose of forming the organization, and all motor owners are requested to attend. This meeting is being called by Inspector General Hutchings, who is at the head of the movement.
Should the proposed association materialize it is hoped that some measures will be adopted to break down the bad feeling between autoists and the country people. Speed rules must be made and rigidly enforced. There is no danger of the pedestrian running down and damaging the motor car, and if ordinary discretion were used, no charge of road hogging could be preferred against the motorist.

Letters Save Life.

We were shown this morning a package of letters which undoubtedly saved the life of Corp. Richard O'Reilly. In the drive of last April Corporal O'Reilly was wounded in the left arm the German bullet passing clean through the fleshy part of the biceps, and entering through the tunic was stopped by a packet of letters carried in the left breast pocket. But for having these letters on his person the gallant Corporal would have been shot through the heart. The wound in his arm necessitated hospital treatment, from which he is now thoroughly recovered. Corp. O'Reilly is son of Mr. P. J. O'Reilly of this city, and went on active service last fall, winning his stripes in France.

Draft Arrived Safely.

Word has been received that the last draft which left here on June 11th, in charge of Captain Nunns, has arrived at the Depot, Winchester. All well.

We have a Stock of the very best Picture Mouldings to be had, and our expert workmen can turn out work equal if not better than any in the City.

ORDERS SHOULD BE PLACED NOW

That the work of this character should be taken in hand and promptly executed.

IT COSTS YOU NOTHING

to get our side of the story. If we are able to make bigger profits than usual for you, as we claim to do, you owe it to yourself to at least examine our proposition, and you cannot do that unless you ask us to PROVE our case by giving you the fullest particulars. It isn't fair to yourself to simply ask every Tom, Dick or Harry what he thinks of it.
Get at the bottom of our methods. Demand particulars from us. Examine our evidence, and if it does not bear the fullest investigation, there is no obligation on your part to do more. We claim to be HONEST, CAPABLE and SINCERE, and we must stand or fall on MERIT ALONE.

To-Day's Messages. 10. A. M.

A NEW ALLY.
COPENHAGEN, To-day. The entire population of the Muzman Coast on the Kola Peninsula bordering the White Sea and Arctic Ocean, has broken with Russia, and joined the Entente, according to a despatch from Vardoen, Norway to the Christiania Tidens Tegn. A supply of provisions from the United States have arrived at Murmansk, the despatch says.

STRIKE POSTPONED.

WASHINGTON, To-day. Indefinite postponement of the strike of telegraphers employed by the Western Union Tel. Co. called to begin tomorrow was announced to-night by Secretary of Labor Wilson, after he had conferred over the long distance telephone with S. H. Kokenham, President of the Commercial Telegraphers Union.

NO ACTIVITY YESTERDAY.

PARIS, To-day. (Official)—No events of importance occurred along the front during the course of the day.

SUCCESS IN THE EAST.

EASTERN THEATRE, To-day. There were reciprocal actions in the Vardar and Cornu Bend regions, and enemy patrols have been very active in the neighborhood of Strumolitza. West of Gorizia, French troops co-operating with Italian units, attacked the heights between the Dorelli and Tomiora Rivers for the purpose of improving their positions. They seized the crest of Gasperizza in spite of the violent artillery work of the enemy, and have repulsed counter attacks. Some prisoners have fallen into our hands.

AERIAL OPERATIONS.

LONDON, To-day. Official bulletin dealing with aerial operations issued last night, says: Our balloons and observation planes carried out valuable work on the 6th inst. There were three German machines destroyed and one driven down out of control. One of our machines is missing. Seventeen tons of bombs have been dropped on various targets during the past 24 hours.

NOTHING INTERESTING.

LONDON, To-day. (Official.) Last evening's official report says: Early this morning the enemy attempted a raid near Loere, but was repulsed. Except for hostile artillery and trench mortar activity in the Bethune sector, there is nothing of interest to report.

ITALIANS MAKE FRESH GAINS.

ROME, To-day. (Official)—The Italian troops on the southern end of Piave line have driven the Austrians across the new Piave River, re-establishing their positions in the extensive region between the new and old river basins, which the Austrians were compelled to evacuate. To-day's valor of the troops won the pronounced success that has been achieved.

VIENNA'S ADMISSION.

VIENNA, To-day. To avoid heavy sacrifices, the Austrian front of Piave-Delta have been withdrawn to the east bank of the main stream, the war office announced to-day. The Italians according to the report cautiously followed as far as the west bank of the Piave.

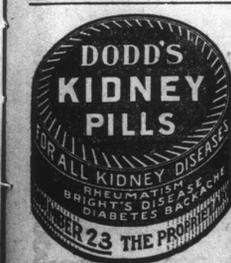

NOON.

LUDENDORFF GETTING BUSY.

PARIS, To-day. A new offensive is impending on the Arentino front. General Ludendorff says a despatch to the Matin, from reliable sources in Switzerland, personally has visited the Austrian headquarters there and has hastened preparations for another blow against the Italians. Considerable reinforcements it is added are being concentrated at Innsbruck and Trent.

AUSTRALIANS STILL ON THE ADVANCE.

LONDON, To-day. Australian troops last night advanced their line aside the Somme slightly on a front of three thousand

A Wide Awake Woman's Schemes

By BETH CAMERON.

What are women doing in the face of the scarcity of domestic help to make their work easier?

I asked that, the other day, hoping that some of my little friends would care to share the short cuts they have worked out, and thus indirectly do a bit toward conserving the time of the women of this country. The response was smaller than I expected, but I had one wonderful letter from a woman who is evidently as generous as she is intelligent, and that's a lot.

I print all I have space for of her letter.

"Accepting your invitation," she writes, "I venture to write of some little schemes of mine I have found helpful.

"Over my sink, in the kitchen, I have a small oak case made original for books, fastened to the wall. In this, behind a cretonne curtain, I keep my bluing, ammonia, cleanser, borax, sal soda, etc. On small brass hooks screwed into the bottom, hang the dipper, sink strainer and soap shaker. After the screws holding the soap dish had loosened and become useless, I suspended a soap dish of wire between the two faucets, fastening it to them with wires.

A Place for Everything.

"I have two low cupboard in my china pantry; at the end of the upper shelf of these, I have double rows of baking powder boxes for corks, curtain fixtures, alum, gum arabic and similar things. The name of its contents is written on each tin, each also has its number in large figures cut from the calendars of yesteryear. On the other two rows of fruit jars hold my soda, sugar, tapioca, rice, raisins, dates, etc., each with its number, seen so much farther than a label. On the inside of each cupboard door hangs a card on which the articles are listed for reference.

"In a corner of the kitchen, I have a little cabinet fastened to the plate rail with seven shallow drawers, some divided into square or rectangular apartments, others without partitions. These are most handy for thumb tacks, little hooks, cat's bells, screws, nails, etc.

I Have Already Adopted This One.

"In an open basket, hanging in the kitchen, I collect crumpled (but not soiled) paper napkins and tissue paper which I use in a multitude of ways,—to grease bread and cake tins, wipe off butter knives or plates, rub up the range, dispose of bits of cream, ink, etc. By wiping out greasy spiders or platters first with this soft paper, and then putting sal soda and hot water in them, they are no longer disagreeable to wash. The voracious appetite which sal soda has for grease is a satisfaction as well as a wonder!

A New Kind of Holder.

"My holder for the range is rectangular and long enough to have the ends turned back and stitched at the edges, thus forming pockets for the protection of the fingers and thumbs as well as the palm.

"An old-time high chair, minus the back, serves as a restful place to sit when preparing vegetables and such work.

"Our home is a dear little flat, the second story; on the back piazza we keep a strong basket, such as bakers use, attached by a rope to the railing. This we use as an elevator for Felix, our beloved feline, who easily learned to get in when let down for him, and fearlessly descends in it, as well, saving us many steps. The delivery boys appreciate it too."

HARVEST TIME.

It's gettin' on to harvest time, the heavy work is done.

The fruits are turnin' red an' brown, beneath the summer sun; I've born the heat an' faced the rain an' stood to weeds o' toil an' met with disappointment an' some mighty stubborn soil. But the corn is lookin' splendid an' there's wealth on every tree An' the Lord who reigns in Heaven has been mighty good to me.

It's gettin' time to harvest, there's a field o' wavin' gold, Where poverty was dwellin' in the lazy days of old. Then I let it lie neglected, as a barren patch of earth, An' I recored 't give it labor, for I didn't know it's worth.

Now I stand an' see it's treasures; there was wealth beneath the clay! An' the whole world is the richer for the grain that there's to-day.

As I gaze upon the splendors of the harvest time o' year, An' the joys that sow have blossomed out of dismal days an' drear; See the apples in the orchards, an' the acres rich with grain My thoughts begin to wander to the Flanders' fields of pain An' my heart starts beatin' faster an' my hopes begin to climb As I think o' joys we'll gather when it comes our harvest time.

When the bitter work is ended, an' we've siltimed every gun, When the rain of hate is over, an' the victory is won, From the bloodshed an' the anguish, an' the faith our children keep Souls in tune with Truth an' Freedom it shall be our joy to reap. We shall know for all our labors, all our griefs an' all our tears, A harvest time of riches that shall last for many years.

Open wide your eyes for here is something worth reading: 48 doz. Men's Dress Shirts, worth $125, all sizes and one price, 79c. each. W. R. GOOBIE is just opp. Post Office. 3ly24f

KEEP MINARD'S LINTMENT IN THE HOUSE.

Milady's Boudoir.

BEWARE OF EMOTIONS.

Emotions have a most startling way of writing themselves upon the facial muscles. If we could study a picture of ourselves at the age of twenty, when we are thirty, we could see what the emotions have done for us in the ten years. Seeing oneself everyday, the little telltale lines and contractions creep upon us so gradually that their progress is almost unobserved.

Then some morning, when there is better light than usual, Milady happens to look in her mirror, and realizes suddenly that something has happened to her face and that it is not nice looking or pleasantly attractive as it used to be.

If you have suspicion that you have allowed worry, nervousness, sadness or the passing irritations of the moment to dominate you, and that perhaps your face is not all that it could be, stand before the mirror and be frank with yourself.

The corners and kinks around your mouth show you haven't laughed enough, or how out-balanced the merry moods are by ones of anger, worry, jealousy, fear and melancholy.

Perhaps this morning study will convey to you the truth about the emotions. Each one of them leaves their wake on the smooth surface of the face. Beware of the indulgence in the unpleasant ones.

Your Boys and Girls.

If in making childrens dresses and shirt waists you will hemstitch the yokes and collars and cuffs on the machine as follows they will wear just as well and look much better.

Use any soft paper that will crease and tear easily: have the same thickness of paper as the width of opening in the hem stitching you desire. Place one piece of goods under the paper and the other on top and sew. Crease the paper where stitched and tear out: finish the raw edges by stitching or hemming as desired.

When a baby chafes badly try bathing him with warm water and a little soda, pat dry and powder well.

Children love sweets and home made ones are always best. Date cream bars are made by boiling three cups of granulated sugar and one cup of cold water until it will harden when dropped into cold water. Do not stir while cooking. Beat well the whites of three eggs and pour the sugar over them slowly. Stirring constantly until thick enough to mold. Then add one and a half pounds of chopped dates. Make into bars and roll in powdered sugar.

UPLIFTING TALK.

Though thrones may crash and kingdoms tremble, some delegates when they assemble, can only talk disease; their endless lives a gossip flows in concerning bally lights and livers, and mumps and ho use maids' knees. Last night some neighbours came to cackle; the only subjects they could tackle were symptoms and the like; one talked for hours about lumbago, one dieted on rice and sago, his stomach on a strike. I wished to talk about the fighters we've sent to the Prussian blighters, and put them in the soup; alas, my stern prosaic neighbours had little use for swords and sabers, they'd only talk of croup. I wonder how, in times of battle, grown people can get down to practice about their pains and aches; about their wens and warts and felons, or gripes brought on by eating melons, or filling up with cakes. With chargers fighting, captains yelling, the small bore popular are always dwelling upon their piffing ill; in presence of great world disasters, we hear men talk of porous plasters and anti-billous pills. Upon the marketplace I loiter, to talk of gore, and not of goitre, of war, and not of warts; I'm tired of men who're always thinking about the medicine they're drinking, by gallons, pints and quarts.

Fine Sports Program.

Arrangements have been completed for the presentation of a particularly fine Sports programme by connection with the Mount Cashel Garden Party. There will be the usual football five, in which this year a team from the Regiment will compete; the final baseball game for the H. D. Reid Cup; the ever popular pony race which will supply a large field of entries this season; and some exhibitions of drill by the Regiment. Then there will be the new feature in the form of the quarter mile race for boys under fifteen for which already a number of young runners are competing. It will thus be seen that patrons of the event will have a varied and attractive program.

Sir,—Every workman in the city is interested more or less in the matter of providing decent homes for the people and will hail with delight any undertaking that has for its aim the carrying out of this movement, hence in common with my fellow workmen I have read with great interest the account of the meeting called for that purpose. But nevertheless no one can blame us for being sceptical as to the actual results when we look back and review the many movements of a similar nature that came forth with blare of trumpets and then died away in silence. I am delighted to find Mr. Jas. McGrath, President of the 'Longshoremens, in this movement, but I do not give much for professional politicians being mixed up in the affair. I must confess that I have lost faith in them. Why on earth cannot the workmen do their own business on their own account. The Unions embrace men in their ranks equally as intelligent as the Jack-in-the-box politician who is always pluming himself in the limelight, and it is high time that Unions should bestir themselves and place their own brains in the forefront, and not act as in the past, belittle themselves by admitting their inability to do their own business by leaning on far weaker men. What are our Unions going to accomplish if they do not show that they have brains at their disposal in their own ranks and avail of an opportunity such as this to bring their own men into prominence. The day of the workman has arrived, but they will have to get over the foolish idea that prevails that politicians must be called in to inaugurate and carry out schemes that aim at their betterment. Let us look at the past and what do we find, we see young lawyers who were taken by the hand by the workmen they gain notoriety immediately lose the independent stand and go after the big money that Corporations make smart men who will remain true to them, men who will not fall for the glittering grandeur that is theirs as soon as they become strong enough to be grasped up by the selfish hand of big Corporations. Yes, fellow workers, we can produce men of ability, men of courage, men who think more of the esteem of their fellows than they do of the dollars easily scooped in when they sink their manliness. The housing question can be successfully worked out by ourselves, we can find the money, then why make little of ourselves by parading individuals before the community who are not a little better qualified in this respect than ourselves. Wake up and show the country that the nursing days of Unionism is past and that we have in our ranks men capable of carrying out the work that we want to accomplish.

Yours truly,

Bolshevism As It Is.

Bolshevism, which a few well-intentioned people in this country, and a considerably larger number who are most ill-intentioned—like to describe as a manifestation of democratic aspirations, and therefore deserving of our sympathy in spite of occasional mistakes, was presented in another light yesterday by a man who told in action is when seen by one in whose presence it had acted for many a troubled month.

Simoon Gest, who was unfortunately enough to have this opportunity for personal observation of Russia under its new Government, drew a picture of it strangely different from that of our theorists. His experience had not revealed men struggling out of oppression into liberty, but men who press upon free rein to instincts and impulses common to the criminal classes in all lands. The Czar has been replaced, he said, by a new autocrat—the thug with a rifle. The vapors of Lenin and Trotsky pass unheeded by the present rulers of the remnant of Russia not ruled by Germany. They are not interested in peace, with or without annexations and indemnities. Such intelligence as they have is devoted to brigandage in the most familiar of its cruder forms—to robbery enlivened with murder on large or small scale, as happens to facilitate the one object of getting what ever may be wanted without going through the tiresome convention of working for it.

The realities of Bolshevism are theft and slaughter, the overturn of all the rules and laws that make civilized life possible and without which democracy is an inconceivable as for anocracy. What Mr. Gest said well bore out a recent statement made by the stalwart young woman, now in this country, who once led the Amazonian cohort known for a while as "The Battalion of Death." She was asked what the Russians with whom she had associated really thought of the Americans, and her reply was, "In Russia nobody thinks—nobody talks." That some of them do more than talk Mr. Gest was able to show, but of thinking on the part of the Bolshevik he saw no evidence. He also made entirely credible another story that is told—that of a man stopped in a street of Petrograd by a "thug with a rifle" and ordered to hand over his fur overcoat. "Why," the selected victim protested, "I stole the coat only an hour ago and should have the use of it for at least a day!" And the plea was successful.—N. Y. Times.

Are You Deceived?

Have you been led to believe that the knife is the only cure for piles? If so, it is unfortunate, for many thousands are being cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Sometimes after operations have failed and often when doctors have said that an operation was the only hope. It won't cost you much to try this treatment in your own home. It is sure to relieve and usually effects complete cure.

Newfoundlanders Make Good.

The following item from a Sarnia, Ont., paper refers to Pearce Brothers formerly of St. John's, who at one time worked at mechanical engineering on Bell Island. Their many friends in the Dominion will be pleased to learn of their success.

"That there is a radical difference between the professional and the amateur way of vulcanizing tires is clearly evident from the many voices daily heard in conversation around the plant of Pearce Bros., whose location is at the corner of Christiana and George streets of this city.

When Pearce Bros. do a thing they believe in doing it right. They believe that every satisfied customer increases their business. "A customer well pleased is our best ad," they say. Pearce Bros. opened out a tire repair and vulcanizing shop at 172 Christiana street, this city, on February 16, 1914. Because of their good work and untiring efforts their business so increased that they found it necessary to recently remove to bigger and better quarters. Their shop to-day is complete. They have every known mechanical device installed that will tend towards making the best job of the wrecked or punctured tire. Autoists, residents of this city and from various other points have sounded far their praise regarding the splendid work turned out by Pearce Bros. "I'll never trust an amateur again," they say. Their present plant is one of the most up-to-date in Western Ontario. They guarantee their work—that is what the amateur cannot do. If he does, his "shingle" soon comes down, because he finds that he is operating at a loss and that his customers are everlastingly returning with their troubles and their tone of voice is not by any means "soft and sweet."

Smugglers Fined.

Two of the crew of a local steamer which arrived from abroad at an outpost a few days ago were caught in the act of smuggling and were fined $100 and $150, respectively, or three months imprisonment. They both came across with the cash.

Children's Outing.

Sometime ago the Daughters of Empire suggested giving the children of War Veterans, outings in this country, and already the first batch of youngsters are receiving the benefit of the plan. The camps on the Blackmarsh Road have been fitted up for the accommodation of the children, who will receive ten days' vacation, in squads of ten, the girls getting their first.

Man Missing; Suicide Feared.

The following message was received on Saturday by the Deputy Minister of Justice from Magistrate Roper, of Bonavista:—

"James Chant, of Elliston, left his home Wednesday morning and has not yet returned. This is the third time he has left his home in this way but never before so long. Suicide feared."

Express Passengers.

The following passengers are on the incoming express: J. D. Mitchell, Mrs. G. Siney, J. and Mrs. Gillingham, Mrs. A. Rendell, Mrs. A. Mackay, Mrs. K. Fudge, M. Jacobs, K. A. Radway, J. Quill, Mrs. P. S. Lemoine, M. Pottle, M. Young, J. B. and Mrs. Weddock and 2 children, A. and Mrs. Horwood, Miss Beibin, Mrs. A. Musgrave, R. S. Rendell, F. and Mrs. Rosseter, R. L. Smith, Mrs. L. Pippy, Mrs. J. Sauriers, J. D. and Mrs. Bennett, Miss M. Stone, Mrs. P. Walsh.

New Quarters.

Mr. Jesse Whiteway, an enterprising business man of Water Street, has removed his business from the old stand into that formerly occupied by Greaves & Sons, Ltd. The store, being very tastefully decorated and illuminated, drew a great crowd of purchasers on Saturday evening, which kept the clerks busy up to closing hours. We wish Mr. Whiteway every success in his new establishment.

War prisoner Arrived.

By Saturday's express Private H. A. Vaughan, one of the repatriated war prisoners, arrived in town. Private Vaughan reports that he received fairly good treatment in Germany, particularly during the latter part of his term. He was in Switzerland for some weeks, after crossing the border, and from thence went to London where he received medical treatment. Private Vaughan is the sole survivor of four brothers who served the King in the Royal Newfoundland Regiment.

Blame the Nerves

When you cannot sleep and are easily irritated and worried you have reason to suspect that the nerves are below normal. They are not getting proper nourishment from the food you eat and need a little special help. A few weeks' treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will do wonders for you in this condition. Note your increase in weight while using this food cure.

They are trimming hats with furniture fringe. Shirred mill hats are very becoming to wet lots. Long capes of silk are much shown and worn. Shades of brown are increasing in favour in Paris. Skirts continue to be irregular around the bottom.

Household Notes.

The best way to clean enamelware is to use a little ordinary salt and no soda; this will keep it in new condition.

Always, if possible, have the breakfast room in a light and sunny part of the house.

When making a mustard plaster, mix with it the white of an egg; this will prevent the plaster from causing a blister. Wax candles which have become dusky can be made perfectly white by rubbing them with a clean piece of flannel dipped in spirits of wine.

When you want something in a hurry for tea, go to ELLIS'—Head Cheese, Ox Tongue, Boiled Ham, Cooked Corned Beef, Bologna Sausage.

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS BET

THAT ONE OF OUR PATRIOTIC CITIZENS WILL PUT UP
A Piano for the Recreation Hut
 IN A WEEK'S TIME FROM THE TAKING UP OF THIS BET.

Bets for unlimited amounts are also open to be made that the other requirements of the Recreation Hut as previously advertised, will also be donated by other Patriotic Citizens. Following are some of the requirements:—

A GRAMAPHONE.
 A good Victor or Columbia is good enough! We won't ask for an "Edison," but perhaps one of you millionaires who have been lately buying an "Edison" from our friend Fred Chesman can donate an older machine. (We trust that this may not pass Fred's eye, but may score a hit.)
 We shall want some records for that Gramophone. Everybody can help here. A few Concertinas and Mouth Organs would not go astray.
 We want some comfortable Chairs, and we will not refuse Morris or Chesterfield Chairs, as taking up too much room. We can do with a whole lot of Books and Magazines, and some Book Cases would be all right.
 Some Pictures would brighten up the walls, and some Oil Heaters are wanted to warm up the place for "the Boys."
 Some of these things have been asked for before in an advertisement, but perhaps you did not see that ad.
 All the boys love music, and we need that Piano badly. It will keep them in, wet evenings, and may keep them from wandering into many pitfalls, as well as from getting colds, etc.
 There are many families in St. John's who have a Piano that is not being used.
 WE KNOW that one of these families is going to distinguish itself by helping the Regiment with a Piano. This appeal is made jointly by

The Recreation Hut Committee.
The Veterans' Association.
