STEWART'S Home Made Bread,

THE BREAD MY DADDY LIKES.

Daddy is evidently not one of those back number lords of creation who believes that woman's place is in the home—and only there. His taste in a wife is an up-to-date woman who will prove herself a real companion. He knows that if she is a slave to her kitchen she can't enjoy the poise or have the interest in world affairs that a little extra leisure would make possible; and so he is pleased to eat MRS. STEWART'S HOME MADE BREAD—the loaf with the home made flavor.

The smiling, well-nourished kiddie doesn't look as though suffering because mother is progressive enough to buy good bread made by a bread specialist, instead of wearing out her life in the kitchen.

At the City Hall.

WEEKLY MEETING.

The Weekly Meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Gosling and Councilors Morris, Mullaly, Ayre, Jackman, Peet and Vinnicombe were present.

After the minutes of the last meeting were confirmed the following matters were disposed of.

Minister of Mines & Agriculture is to be asked for conditions of lease to be given Mr. Tavermon, Signal Hill. The Council have no objections to land being used as a quarry.

P. F. Collins suggested that the Council flood portion of Bannerman Park around Band Stand for open air rink. The Council did not consider same practicable or advisable.

Arrangements are to be made with Mr. Silverlock to have the Whippet Tank loaned by the Government put in working order for snow clearing purposes.

City Appraisers Godden and White are to be instructed to proceed with the Triennial Appraisal of property.

Health Officer Brehm reported 4 cases of Diphtheria and 1 of Typhoid Fever in the city during the past week.

The matter of nonpayment of City Taxes was the subject of considerable discussion and as the City's revenue has suffered through the negligence of taxpayers in this connection, it was unanimously decided that notice be inserted in the daily papers that, on and after March 1st, legal proceedings will be taken to recover the taxes due, and the names of parties to be proceeded against and the amounts need of further extension of water owed by them be published.

The City Engineer reported on the need of further extension of water and sewer mains. Careful consideration was given the matter and the following resolution was adopted: "Whereas the necessity exists for the extension of new water mains and for laying of new storm and sanitary sewers and taking into consideration the lack of employment existing in the city, that arrangements should be made to proceed with the work as soon as weather conditions permit, and that the Mayor be authorized to negotiate a loan of Eighty or One Hundred Thousand Dollars for the above purposes."

The Sanitary Supervisor submitted his report as follows:

In presenting this the annual report of the Sanitary Department, I beg to point out that in former reports submitted by me I dealt with many matters that need calling for attention at the hands of the City Government, but owing to the lack of legislative power these matters could not be given the attention they deserved. I shall now content myself with drawing your attention to a few matters, which I think it is necessary should be dealt with.

The condition of the stables is of such a character that it is a very difficult matter to keep the horses in good condition; they are in a leaky dilapidated state and through age and decay necessarily have to be replaced. It is impossible in their present condition to do any effective repairs.

The closets at King's Cove and Wood's Dock should be replaced. The King's Cove closet could be connected with the sewer and cleaned every morning.

Owing to the great number of streets being opened up and building operations going on, it will become necessary, during the summer, to make provision for another horse and cart. For instance, a cart commencing at the head of Carter's Hill has to go up Prince of Wales Street, down Franklin Avenue, and from thence to Gear Street. There are at least, two loads of ashes in these streets and the building of other houses in those localities must mean the providing of another horse and cart to do the work of removal of ashes and garbage properly.

The work of the Council in enforcing the provision of the law by requiring the connection of all suitable houses with the sewerage system has had the desired effect of reducing very considerably the operations of the night-soil cart. Seven years ago there were sixteen night-soil carts operating nightly. If houses continue to be connected with the city water and sewerage system at the same rate during the coming summer as in the past two or three years there will be necessary only two or three carts to perform work that formerly required sixteen. As an illustration of the improvements effected in this direction seven years ago there were on an average of one hundred and twelve loads a week and at the present time there are only about forty-nine a week.

In a great many portions of the city the gullies and drains are in a bad state and will need considerable repairs and will need considerable repairs when the season permits the work to be done.

The condition of the pavements on Water Street owing to its unevenness and holes makes the work of keeping it clean exceedingly difficult.

During the past year there were three hundred and seventy-four loads of stable-manure delivered. The cost of feeding a horse per day is $1.27 1/2; to this must be added the sum of 15 cents to cover cost of labor of attendant who looks after the bedding and bedding of the horse; the total cost of the feeding of the horse thus being about $1.43 1/2 per day. There is also, of course, in this connection, the question of labour to be taken into consideration; labour is paid two men to each horse, each of whom being paid $3.50 per day.

Each horse daily averages six loads throughout the year; each load costing for up-keep of horse, $2.33 1/2 cents. The 22 horses employed by the Council for carting this cartage 138 loads and for 313 working days this totals 43,194 loads.
There are other horses in the city that are not included in the above three, namely the horses used on East and West End Roads and used by the water man.
If you will take into consideration the very great increase that has taken place in wages and the cost of the up-keep of the Department, the work is not costing any more than it did eight, ten or twelve years ago. The large increase that has taken place is solely due to the increase in the cost of articles and the wages paid. A pair of wheels that cost $24 in 1907 now costs $60; a box-cart body that then cost $20, now costs $50; an axle that then cost $9, now costs $20 and a set of shoes that then cost $10 now costs $4.00; a catamaran that formerly could be bought for $35, now costs $95; a box-cart complete that cost $50, now costs $120. The Hay could be purchased for $18 a ton; it now costs $46.00. Sixteen years ago the wages paid men was $1.00 a day; it is now $3.50.
After the passing of pay rolls and bills the meeting adjourned at 8 p.m.

Wedding Bells.
On Wednesday, Feb. 2nd, a most pleasing and attractive ceremony was solemnized at the R. C. Cathedral at 8 p.m., when Mr. Bernard Short, a most estimable young lady of Goodwin Street, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Greene in the presence of a large number of friends of the happy pair. The bride was attired in a costume of fawn silk crepe-de-chene with lace and match and was attended by Miss Alice Hyde who was also prettily attired in a costume of sea green silk with picture hat to match, while the groom was supported by Mr. John Short, brother of the bride. After the ceremony the happy couple drove to the residence of Mr. P. Martin, William Street, followed by a cortege of sixty couple, where a sumptuous repast was partaken of and a very enjoyable night spent in dancing and pleasant entertainment till wee small hours of morn. The bride and valuable presents received with the esteem in which both are held. Hearty congratulations were extended by all present, and after due service had been rendered by all the happy assembly dispersed for home. All extended to Mr. and Mrs. Short happy felicitations for a most prosperous and joyous marriage over 100 matrimonial seas.—Com.

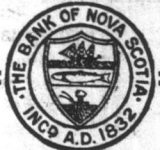

Home Rule and Freemasonry
Under the above heading the following note was included in "A Londoner's Diary," published in the "Evening Standard" recently.
"It is an interesting fact that the act of William IV, which caused the B.I.C. recruits have to take an oath that they do not belong to any political or secret society whatsoever, 'unless' in the words of the oath, 'to the Society of Freemasons.' The members of the Irish Republican Brotherhood have to swear that they belong to 'any other oath-bound society' and that excludes Freemasons from that revolutionary front. On the other hand, the present Home Rule Bill expressly excludes the Freemasons' oath from unlawful. 'Our readers will be interested in the clause of the Government of Ireland Bill now before Parliament headed 'Special Provisions as to Freemasons,' which is thus referred to:—
"62. (1) It is hereby declared that existing enactments relative to unlawful oaths or unlawful associations in Ireland do not apply to the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of Ireland, or of any Lodge or society recognized by that Grand Lodge."
(2) Neither the Parliament of Southern Ireland, nor the Parliament of Northern Ireland shall have power to abrogate or affect prejudicially the privilege or exemption of any Lodge of Freemasons in Ireland, or any Lodge or society recognized by that Grand Lodge which is enjoyed either by law or custom at the time of the passing of this Act, and any law made in contravention of this provision, shall be void."
"We may recall that just four years ago there were set out in The Freemason (Vol. LVI, pp. 260, 263, 264 and 614) the full circumstances of the attempt made in the Session of 1916 to deprive the Irish people of all time of the right to become Freemasons if so inclined, a right that had specially enjoyed by statute from the creation of the force in 1801. The London Freemason."

Mr. Ayre and Certain

Under the above heading the following note was included in "A Londoner's Diary," published in the "Evening Standard" recently.
"It is an interesting fact that the act of William IV, which caused the B.I.C. recruits have to take an oath that they do not belong to any political or secret society whatsoever, 'unless' in the words of the oath, 'to the Society of Freemasons.' The members of the Irish Republican Brotherhood have to swear that they belong to 'any other oath-bound society' and that excludes Freemasons from that revolutionary front. On the other hand, the present Home Rule Bill expressly excludes the Freemasons' oath from unlawful. 'Our readers will be interested in the clause of the Government of Ireland Bill now before Parliament headed 'Special Provisions as to Freemasons,' which is thus referred to:—

Some time ago there was a couple of educational campaigns conducted here. They were directed by other Birds of Passage who, after the Campaigns were over, left, with their wings well glided. They cleaned up quite a lot of the people's hard earned money. The idea was to promise to give, for five years, as much as you would care to do. People used with each other to give as much as they possibly could. By dinners and speeches the public was worked up to an orgy of promising. Poor people promised little, rich people promised much. The result is to-day that many of those who promised are without a job and can hardly find the wherewithal to provide the necessities of life.

A German Pre-Vision

Will Germany attempt another war of aggression? The question is worth consideration by the Supreme Allied Council, for already France is suspicious that there is something in the wind, and is strenuously standing out against any mitigation of the price that Germany, by treaty, must pay in the way of reparation for wilful damage done to French territory during the war, and has practically won her points of debate over the German objections and Lloyd George's backing of same. French editors are already beginning to take stock of a new crop of war writers—Bernhardis—springing up in Germany, whose writings all converge on the point that the Hun is the natural selection of world ruler. The most conspicuous of these German war prophets is one Otto Autenrieth who has recently written and published a work entitled "Three Future Wars: Political Military Forecasts." In this publication, as a result of two of their war mentioned, the writer predicts that ultimately the only independent states of the world will be the United States in the Western Hemisphere, Germany in Europe and the Empires of the Far East in Asia. The British Empire, according to his calculations will have disappeared. All other nations, now existent will be reduced to a condition of vassalage to the powers in control, named. After the two initial wars, the third and final conflict will be fought between the White and Yellow races, which will result in victory for the former.

Subsequent to this Armageddon Germany (first place please) and United States will rule the world, and to quote the author, "Germany will be just a little bit stronger than the United States by the superiority of her genius and intellect." The "kultur" imposition over again, coupled with the dearest wish of Germany, Republican or Imperial to dominate the whole world and fasten German ideals upon all mankind. A French Senator wonders whether the author of this la Bernhadi book is a reasonable being or a mad dreamer, but be that as it may there is a sentiment in Germany that is cultivated by such literature, and worked up by the publication of such opinions as Herr Autenrieth expresses. The writings of this author reveal the "dear hopes of all Germans," especially with regard to the utter annihilation of France and the ultimate subjugation of Britain, toward which all future efforts will be directed. In contention of this the latest German war prophet advances the theory that England has lost her influence in the Orient, has incurred great difficulties in India and has had to suffer the expansion of the naval and commercial fleets of Japan and United States, without ability to keep pace. England also, claims this German seer, owes United States a great sum of money, and from this he anticipates and earnestly hopes trouble between the two great representatives of Anglo-Saxondom, while he further avers that the relations of France and Great Britain are becoming less and less cordial. Out of all this the German wizard deduces the conclusions at which he has arrived, and opines that the sun of Germany is in the ascendant, notwithstanding the reverses suffered by the war. It is just as well for Allied statesmen to take cognizance of such expressions and map out the course they intend to pursue without any deviation whatever from the terms laid down by the Treaty of Versailles. Otherwise they may have more on their hands than they can conveniently manage. Mistaken sympathy and lachrymose pity for Germany will show a weakening of which the Huns will not be slow to take advantage.

Men's Heather Mixture English Wool Socks have been hard to get, but now BISHOP'S have received a few dozen pairs, which are selling for only One Dollar. Pre-war prices were not nearly so low as this.

The Bank of Nova Scotia.

The 49th Annual Statement of The Bank of Nova Scotia which appears in today's issue is of considerable interest. The statement shows that the liquid position of the Bank is well maintained; Current Coin and Dominion Notes to the amount of $34,128,350 are held, an increase of $1,699,000 from last year and represent 15.2% of the Public Liabilities. In addition, $12,750,000 is on deposit in the Central Gold Reserve; this amount increases the Bank's proportion of Cash Reserves to 22%. Readily available Assets total $142,480,237, equivalent to 67.5% of Liabilities. In the other Assets headings, changes are noted as follows: Municipal and British and other Public Securities show a reduction of $6,600,000 representing repayment of advances by the British Treasury. Current Loans in Canada and elsewhere have increased $9,000,000, showing that the Bank's support of the country's business has been fully maintained and extended. On the Liabilities side, Total Deposits show an increase of $4,500,000. Deposits not bearing interest have decreased $14,600,000 during the year, due to the Government withdrawal of temporary Victory Loan balances. Interest bearing or savings deposits have increased $19,000,000, or practically 15% during the year. The profits for the year are $2,327,423, as compared with $1,925,478 for the previous year. The increase is due to the Bank having had the full use of the augmented capital of $9,700,000 resulting from the amalgamation with the Bank of Ottawa as compared with an average capital of $8,833,333 in 1919. The rate of interest earned on shareholders' funds (Capital, Reserve and Undivided Profits) is 8.2% in 1920 against 7.6% in 1919. The profits have been distributed as follows: Dividends $1,552,000, War Tax on Circulation $97,000, Contribution to the Officers' Pension Fund $100,000, and for writing off Bank Premises Account $300,000. The balance carried forward is $982,595, an increase of $278,423 for the year. Altogether the statement is a very creditable one and shows that this old established Bank's reputation for soundness and liquidity of position has been well maintained. The statement demonstrates further that the Bank is in good condition to meet any situation that may arise during the present period of declining values and deflation generally.

You can get Men's Good Overcoats now as low priced as Twenty-four Dollars at BISHOP'S, where all prices have been adjusted to a lower level than new goods to arrive during 1921.

The Winter Fishery.

Codfish is reported plentiful at Rose Blanche and those engaged in the catching are doing fairly well. The fish is being sold at 1 1/2 cents per pound with head and viscera removed. Six hundred boxes were brought along by the last Portia for the cold storage plant. Four bankers have sailed from Grand Bank for the fishing grounds and four others are getting in readiness, and it is anticipated that at least two more will be engaged in the winter fishery.

NOT A LOTTERY.—When you buy a ticket for the Prince of Pilsen you take no chance whatever. It's a certainty you'll get your money's worth.

Police Court.

STOLE HIS OWN OVERCOAT.—A young man was charged with stealing of boots and an overcoat to the value of $38 from the shop of D. Furlong. He elected to be tried summarily. Mr. G. W. B. Ayre, who was present in court, offered himself as defendant's counsel. Accused stated that the overcoat was his own and that he was wearing it repaired at Furlong's. He went in to pay for it and as there was no one there he left, taking his coat with him. He denied all knowledge of the boots. The Inspector General, who prosecuted, asked for a postponement until 10.30 a.m. to-morrow. The prisoner was remanded to the police station.

DRUNK IN CHARGE OF HORSE.—A man who was charged with being drunk and disorderly whilst in charge of a horse and sleigh pleaded guilty through his counsel, Mr. T. P. Halley, who stated that this was a first offence and asked for light sentence. His Honor imposed a fine of $2.00.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY AT HOME.—A man was given in charge by his wife for being drunk and disorderly in his own home. He said he only had a few drinks and couldn't remember being drunk. He was discharged.

Died at Sea.

News was received to-day that the wife of Mr. J. F. Richards, Assistant Superintendent of the Cable Co. at Heart's Content, had died at sea yesterday evening at 7.15 o'clock. Mrs. Richards, who with her daughter was accompanying her husband on a health trip, left on the S. S. Digby bound for Liverpool last week. She died on the voyage she developed pneumonia and yesterday evening she passed away. The late Mrs. Richards was formerly a Miss Bellamy. To her sorrowing relatives the Telegram extends its sympathy.

Foreign Fish Market.

Another meeting of those interested in the sale of fish to Portugal will be held in the Board of Trade Rooms this evening. Regarding the Italian market, a message was received last night from Italy, stating that the Consorzio had not made any new purchases of fish. The fifty thousand qts. reported as bought, consisted of six cargoes disposed of while the regulations were in force, two of which belonged to Hickman and two to J. & F. Moore. The message also states that the market is stocked with fish, mostly of French cure.

Train Notes.

STORM RAGING EAST OF GAMBO. The local express from Port aux Basques, as held at Goober's by the storm now raging along the line east of Gambo. The Trepassey train is held near Portugal Cove by the storm. The incoming express which left Port aux Basques this morning on the arrival of S.S. Kyle, is not due here before Sunday. It brings mails and passengers.

Traffic Suspended

The N.E. storm which started last night and continued with unabated fury up till this afternoon, has practically tied up business. The street car service on the belt line had to be discontinued, and the efforts of the street car employees were directed to Water Street, where a fair service is being operated. Very few horses were on the streets to-day, practically none from the country reaching the city.

Hockey Notes.

The Terra Novas and St. Bon's clash to-night in what is likely to be an exciting game. Bob Stick will be in the Terra's lineup. He has just recovered from an attack of tonsillitis. The line-up to-night will be: TERRAS: "Doc" Power, Goal. Rawlins Defence. Higgins Bob Stick Muir Centre. Tobin Eagan Right. Clouston Cahill Left. L. Stick Callahan Canning The spares are: St. Bon's—Joe Murphy, Power, Fred Brien, Gibbs. Terra's—Jim Herder, Gosse, Fraser.

It is very satisfactory to note that the Rink Management has at last made arrangements whereby the confusion usually reigning outside the door before the hockey games, will now be avoided. In future all seats in the galleries will be reserved and may be obtained at Gray & Goodland's at 10 a.m. on the morning of the game, and the ticket holders will be able to enter the rink by a side door. Whilst this arrangement of reserving the gallery seats for every game may not meet with the approval of all, nevertheless it is a great satisfaction to know that in future the confusion caused by congestion at the door will be obviated.

Coastal Boats.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

CONFIDENCE IN GOV. ROME, Feb. 4. The Chamber of Deputies yesterday voted confidence in the Government on its internal policy.

AIR PILOT KILLED. MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 4. J. M. Stewart, Chicago pilot in Minneapolis-Chicago air mail service, was killed yesterday, when his plane fell, three miles south of Mendota. His mechanic was injured.

CONFERENCE POSTPONED. PARIS, Feb. 4. The conference of experts, which was to have been held in Brussels, has been postponed. It was officially announced yesterday. This action was taken because Charles Bergman, German Under Secretary of State, chief of the German mission to reparation committee in Paris, informed the French Foreign Office that under changed circumstances the German Government would not send delegates to the conference.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE. JERSEY CITY, Feb. 4. Evidence, alleging manslaughter in connection with the fire in the Hotel Colonial, last Saturday, in which thirteen people lost their lives, will be submitted to the Hudson Grand Jury to-day, it is announced.

POLICE BARRACKS ATTACKED. DUBLIN, Feb. 3. Another big attack occurred Wednesday evening, when one hundred armed men attempted to rush Rath-cormac Barracks, near Fermoy. The police, using rifles and bombs, beat off the assailants. No casualties have been reported.

REJECTED PROPOSAL. LONDON, Feb. 3. Operatives in the building trades at a meeting to-day, rejected the Government's proposal for closing the building industry by the absorption of former service men to alleviate unemployment. The executive committee of the operatives said a ballot among different unions proved overwhelmingly against acceptance of the Government's plan. The ground was taken that workers now in the industry were fully able to meet housing needs by direct labor through contracts with the building guilds.

PREPOSTEROUS CLAIM. NEW YORK, Feb. 3. "Sinn Feiner," a local publication, to-day printed a despatch, purporting to have been cabled from Dublin, that the British submarine K-5, which sank in the English Channel off Lands End two weeks ago, was destroyed by an aircraft. The destruction of the submarine, it is said, was brought about by an electrically controlled projectile, recently invented by an Irish engineer.

TWO CONSTABLES KILLED. DUBLIN, Feb. 3. Dublin Castle announced to-night that another ambulance took place "this afternoon near Ballsbridge, County Cork, a short distance southwest of Greenstown. Four constables were attacked. Two of them were shot dead and one was seriously wounded.

WILL FULFIL CONDITIONS. BOSTON, Feb. 3. Boston men, who are interested in the construction of schooner Mayflower, as a contender for International Cup for fishing vessel next fall said to-night that they had received word from the Committee at Halifax, N.S., that the Mayflower would be eligible to compete, if she were completed in time to start her for the fishing banks by spring. The Gloucester Board of Trade recently received a communication from Halifax to the effect that the Mayflower would be barred under a section of the cup agreement, which provided that in order to be eligible, a vessel must have been engaged in deep sea fishing for at least one season. It was explained to-night that the fishing season in Nova Scotia began in April and that it would be impossible to complete construction of Mayflower by April. The Boston Syndicate has been assured by builders at Essex, Mass., that this condition will be fulfilled.

EXCESS PROFITS TAX WITHDRAWN. BIRMINGHAM, Feb. 3. J. Austin Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a speech here to-day, announced that excess profits tax in Great Britain would be withdrawn. Not only would this tax be abolished, he added, but no new tax would be proposed to replace it, and no new taxes would be proposed for the coming financial year. There might be a new duty in connection with dumped goods or depreciated exchange, but there would be no new taxes on business, the Chancellor declared. Mr. Chamberlain, who was speaking to his constituents, denied that the Government had any intention to promote and rush an election on a popular budget. None of the Ministers had any such idea, he said, and if the Government should wish to appeal to the country, it would not be on finance that they would find an opportunity for the means of gratifying that wish. With reference to abolishing the excess profits tax, Mr. Chamberlain said that all businesses except those begun since the war, will pay a tax for a period of seven years, dating from their first accountancy period, but for all new businesses, the tax ceases from December 31 last. Before making this announcement the Chancellor explained that he was taking an unusual course in announcing budget intentions in advance, and nothing but present abnormal conditions would justify such a course. The war had left Britain a debtor nation, but the country had made progress and transformed a deficit into a balance on the right side, and had even begun to redeem its obligations toward Foreign Nations. The excess profits tax, he said, had many defects. It tended to encourage extravagance and discourage enterprise, but conditions which made it necessary, had changed, and its renewal was no longer necessary.

Obituary.

It is our sad duty to announce the death of John Steer, who died at the General Hospital, where he had been a patient for some three weeks after a most extensive surgical operation. The deceased was a member of the constitution of a most successful business man, and a most devoted father. He was a native of the oldest surviving family in the county, and his father had completed a liberal education from when he was a young man. His father's business was in the well-known firm of Steer, whose enterprise and activity was also director in several industries, a young man of splendid physique. His death is a great loss to the community, and his family is to be commiserated. He was a member of the cricket and football clubs, and was a member of the athletic team. He was a most devoted father, and his death is a great loss to his family. He was a member of the cricket and football clubs, and was a member of the athletic team. Obituary.

JOHN E. STEER.

It is our duty to record the death of John Steer, which occurred shortly after noon yesterday at the General Hospital, where he was taken from his residence for treatment some weeks ago. After an extensive surgical operation he appeared to be getting on his feet, and it was hoped that his constitution might enable him to recover from a condition which would have been hopeless from the first in an ordinary case. Even with his extraordinary strength and vitality he finally collapsed, after a protracted illness, and the city had lost another business man of first rank. No one is better known or more respected throughout the length and breadth of the land than the Steer family, for some years and more their affairs have been prominent in moulding the thought and life of the community. The deceased was the oldest surviving member of the family. A native of this city, he spent his boyhood and early school days at the school of his father, and returned to assist in his father's business. In 1896, after his father's retirement, he joined his brothers in the formation of the well-known firm of Steer Brothers, whose enterprises he has been managing and actively engaged in. He was also a director in several of our local enterprises, which he helped to organize. As a young man with a splendid physique, he attained considerable athletic prominence, both at school, where his won distinction, and in the cricket and football fields on the city grounds. He retained the firmness of his physique and his liking for prolonged walks and runs, and indulged in strenuous swimming exercises during the summer months and formerly in the winter months and formerly in the winter months. He was a man of wide and generous reading with whom it was a pleasure to converse on topics of current or historical interest. He travelled extensively in connection with his business and this experience reflected itself on his well-trained and refined mind. His judgment was well known and his thought instinctively clear and logical. His manner of speech, gentle in tone, but firm in expression. His character was unimpeachable and his love for his family and his country was well known. He was a member of the City Club. He was connected with the George Street Methodist Church since its opening and was for many years a member of the choir of the church, and greatly assisted in the musical work there. His hobbies were numerous, but he especially depended upon his work in the church and charities connected therewith. Such was the man whose life terminated yesterday, but whose influence will go on indefinitely in the sphere of his past activities. He will be missed and mourned by all within his immediate circle and beyond it. It is in the passing of such men that the community makes its greatest loss.

We have had over so many enquiries of late for Jorico Pills, highly recommended for indigestion, liver trouble, headache, and constipation. We had been out of these pills for a few weeks, but we have now fully stocked up with them, and will be in a position to fill any order. Price 30 cents a box.
These pills differ, certainly, in the matter of strength and looseness, as well as of most other things. Some are made of a highly medicated lozenge or pastille, and for these we have several good formulas. And for the summer that likes a mild demulcent lozenge, we can supply a very nice Jorico and Black Currant Lozenge, which we believe will fill the bill properly. Price 35 cents a box.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

WHY THE YOUNGEST IS SPOILED.

RUTH CAMERON

Did you ever witness a scene like this? Three children are playing together, two of them older children somewhere between five and ten, and the third a baby anywhere from a year and a half to three. One of the older children takes up a toy, which catches the baby's eye and he reaches for it. The older child, who has uses of his own for it, withholds it. The baby begins to howl. He howls for a few seconds and then mother rushes in. "Jimmy, what are you doing to the baby?" "Nothing." "What's he crying for then?" "He wants my engine." "Do You Want to Hear Him Howl?" "Well, why don't you give it to him?" Do you want to hear him howl? Give it to him this minute.

The engine is handed over very slowly by a sulky, resentful boy. Baby grabs it and stops howling. Mother departs feeling that there is peace in the house again.

Which there is, if you call peace any-price real peace. But not if you look.

I have made that particular scene up out of whole cloth to illustrate my point, but I have seen so many almost exactly like it that I know it is essentially true, even if it is not individually true.

Over and over again the older children in a family are rebuked for not giving way to the baby the minute he begins to cry for anything, simply because it is so unpleasant to hear a baby cry.

And the Baby Knows!
And the result is, of course, that the unpleasantness is made about ten times as common as it would be if the baby did not know perfectly well that the minute he began to cry that long drawn out mechanical whining cry of his, he would get what he wanted.

I think it is one of the most pitiful things in the world to hear a child cry with real grief or suffering. One's heart opens up to him instantly. One is filled with a perfect passion of pity and rue. But I think it is one of the most exasperating, maddening things in the world to hear a child break in to one of those long drawn out mechanical bellows which do not denote one single thing except his uncontrolled desire to have his own way. One's heart is filled with the desire to see that he doesn't get it. I have seen older children actually punished for letting baby cry when he wanted something of theirs and I have boiled with resentment at the injustice.

When a Child Will Stop Howling.

Perhaps you may think that when I speak of an uncontrolled desire on the part of a child of from one to three, I speak of something that is inevitable at that age. Not in the least. A child that is capable of throwing down his toys is capable of learning that he loses them when he does that unless someone subverts the law of Nature by promptly restoring them, to be thrown down again. And a child who finds that an unjustifiable bellow does not bring mother to his rescue, but brings him rebukes, is capable of learning not to bellow so much.

When a child is sickly and nervous there is some excuse for his breaking into whines and howls at every little thing—though even then he can be helped to overcome this distressing habit. But when a healthy child has this trick it is time to look out—rather, is look in. For there is certainly some fault in the training of such a child.

Spectres of the Sea.

Strange Tales of Phantom Ships.

The legends of the deep relating to ships are among the most attractive of romances, and both poets and novelists have embellished them with many fanciful and picturesque tales. Every maritime country has its own legends of ghostly ships. The rock-bound Cornish coast has many stories of spectres of ships. They are usually said to be seen in stormy weather, and the crews are manned by desperate men of bygone days. Some legends are reported to have been seen in the East on which the ghost of a notorious pirate who once resided in the district.

A very ancient legend of a phantom ship comes from the old days. This was a huge vessel, the captain had to gallop about on deck to give his orders, and these men were so tall that boys were left to attend to the sails called grey-haired men. It is also related that this vessel while endeavoring to pass through the Straits of Dover scraped the rocks and so made white cliffs of England.

World American Traditions.

The Palestine is America's spectre. The vessel was wrecked on a rocky island, and after being plundered by wreckers was set fire to and drifted to sea with some of her crew still aboard. Every anniversary of the deed the ship appears away near the island.

In the Gulf of St. Lawrence, off the coast of New Brunswick, the ship of the Admiral sent by Queen Elizabeth to bombard the French forts.

The inhabitants of that port tell how the ghostly ship occasionally reappears, crowded with soldiers and ablaze with lights, while on the bowsprit stands an officer with a woman in his arms. Then the lights go out, terrible screams are heard, and the ship disappears.

A phantom vessel, said to haunt the coast of Brittany, is manned by skeletons and dogs. The former are lost sinners, while the dogs are demons set over them to watch and torment them. Pilots regard the meeting of this craft with fear and as a harbinger of great danger.

On the Hudson River a spectral boatman rows. This is Rambout van Dam, who, after drinking till midnight one Saturday, swore to row the boat home if it took him a month of Sundays. For this he was condemned to ply his oars until the Day of Judgment.

A few centuries ago the crew of a fine Spanish galleon mutinied and murdered the captain. When dying, he asked for water, but the crew mocked him by holding it just beyond his reach. For this deed they were doomed to roam the sea for ever crying out for water to every ship they meet.

An interesting old Venetian legend relates to a phantom ship. Once during a storm a fisherman was engaged to row three men out on the Adriatic sea. Before they had gone far a big spectral galley bore down upon them with demons aboard, but the fisherman's boat cut right through it and it disappeared. For his courageous action the fisherman was presented with a ring by the passengers, who informed him that they were St. Nicholas, patron saint of sailors, St. Mark, and St. George, and that by his action he had saved Venice. So, it is said originated the ceremony of wedding the Adriatic with a ring.

There are many versions of the famous Flying Dutchman, which is seen off the Cape of Good Hope in stormy weather and always forebodes disaster. One is that it is the spectre of a vessel that was loaded with precious metals. After a brutal murder had been committed a plague broke out and attacked all the crew. The ship was refused entry to any port, and is so doomed to roam the seas as a ghost. The most common legend is that a Dutch captain, Vanderdecken, homeward bound from the Indies, met with such stormy weather that he could not round the Cape; whereupon he swore a dreadful oath that despite God he would round it, even if it took him until the Day of Judgment. He is still striving, and occasionally reports come to hand that the ghostly vessel has been seen. Other phantom ships which are said to be encountered round the Cape are the Carmillan (whose captain, Klaboterman, sits on the bowsprit dressed in yellow and smoking his pipe) and Van Dieman's vessel.

A North Sea Spectre.

For over six hundred years a spectral bark has roamed the North Sea. The story goes that a German baron named Falkenberg, in a fit of jealousy, murdered his brother and his bride, and a curse was set on him that he should for ever wander the North Sea. The Devil conveyed Falkenberg to the seashore, where a demon rowed him aboard a phantom ship. On her he sailed away, and on her he sits for ever playing dice with the demon crew for his soul. The ship is painted grey, her sails are blood-red, and at night lurid flames rise up from her decks.

Another supposed omen of woe to mariners is the spectral Death Ships which are supposed to sail the seas—black, gloomy crafts, with crossbones decorating the sails, and a skeleton on the poop with an hour-glass in his hand. The crew are the ghosts of sinners, never to be forgiven until a Mass is said aboard.

There is a spectral visitant of the Solway Firth—a bark that always appears to a vessel doomed to be wrecked. It is the phantom ship of a bridal party, who, when crossing the Firth, were maliciously run down by a discarded lover and all on board drowned.—Glasgow Weekly Herald.

COMPENSATION.

This much I know—though life has brought me care,
The pain of sorrow and its bitter loss
Has laid upon my shoulders many a cross,
And many a heavy burden, hard to bear;
Though I have trudged its rugged thoroughfare
In search of gold, and found but worthless dross,
And seen the winds my hopes in ruin toss.

In all its splendor it has let me share,
I owe unto the gift which men call life
All that has made my round of years worth while,
The rich devotion of a loving wife,
The home made radiant by her gentle smile,
The children's laughter, and—to make amends
For all its care and pain—the joy of friends.

CURRENT EVENTS CLUB.—Dr. Fallon has kindly consented to read a paper at a meeting of the Current Events Club, which is being held to-morrow afternoon. Mrs. R. A. Squires is kindly providing afternoon tea.

M. C. L. I.

Debating Society Favors Monarchy.
The Methodist College Literary Institute favors the Monarchical system of Government and considers it preferable to the Republican. At least, with the qualification that the Monarchical system be the British system or patterned after it. The Institute in its vote did not at all place itself on record as being in sympathy with unlimited monarchy or despotism.

Dr. H. M. Mosdell, Chesley Bowden and A. N. Waterfield were the set speakers for the Monarchical side, while William White, F. Gushue and Walter Sparkes led off for Republicanism. An exceptionally large number of the big attendance chimed in the debate and the subject was thrashed pretty thoroughly.

Almost from the start the debate took on the form of which had to do with the relative excellence of the one, Government of England, and the Government of the United States. Most of the Monarchical speakers dealt with the subject from this viewpoint. There are good Monarchical systems of government and bad systems, contended the affirmative side. There is absolute monarchy and there is limited or constitutional monarchy. The absolute system could not be too strongly condemned. It meant rule by one individual, unrestricted or checked by constitutional guides and unhampered by popularly elected representatives. Such a system meant the suppression of the masses and the exaltation of one individual. The liberty of the mass and the liberty of the individual member of that mass was suppressed. Evil and harm resulted from absolute monarchy. In 1914 it resulted in a world war whose equal in reversion to barbarism the world had not previously seen. Such a system could not be taken as the one meant by the word "Monarchical" in the resolution being debated.

The Monarchy meant there was the Monarchy of the British Empire—a Constitutional, Limited Monarchy. In England the people ruled, through their popularly elected representatives. The King was merely a figure-head without legislative powers. This meant that England was more of a Republic than a Monarchy. The history of England is a history of constantly recurring limitation of the rights and authority of the King so that to-day he has formed the spirit of a tyrant whose base was the people. The affirmative speakers pointed to the great solidarity which characterizes the British Empire and ascribed it to her limited, Constitutional-Monarchical form of government. United States, as a typical Republic, was described as a cosmopolitan aggregation where liberty was free and freedom more restricted and often denied than in England, a Monarchy.

The negative side took the question more as one of principle than as a question of the Government of Great Britain being a better Government than that of the United States. Also, when the words "Monarchy" and "Republic" were used they were meant in the broad sense, and an average of each must be struck before comparison could be made. Striking an average of the various Monarchical systems of government in the world to-day, and striking an average of the various Republican ones could not help being struck by several outstanding points. These were: First, that under Monarchy the supreme head of the state was not popularly elected, but held his crown by right of heredity. That is to say, the people whom he was to rule had no word or act in the choosing of that ruler. Second, the King was King until he died. Nothing less than a revolution could overturn him until that death and a bad king could, by virtue of his hereditary right, rule until he died and the people had no redress. Third, a King was not the best man in the society over which he ruled to do that ruling. He was not a picked man. He was ruler by accident of birth. There might be and probably would be any in his kingdom better fitted and able to rule than he.

But what do you find when you turn to the average Republic? The head or apex of government was popularly elected—that is elected by the people over whom he was to preside. Also, he was elected for a short term only and, in case he proved false to the people, might be removed before his term expired. The President of a Republic is elected by the people and is responsible to and must answer to the people who elected him. A President of the United States had more power than the King of England, said the affirmative speakers. Possibly, but he had to answer to the people for his use of whatever power he possessed under the written Constitution, which was more than the King of England had to do. In a Republic too, any citizen who filled the qualifications (that he be above a certain age and has been born in the Republic, mostly) might become President, which was more than could happen in a Monarchy, no matter how limited or Constitutional. The citizens of a Republic were more a part of that Republic than were the citizens of a Monarchy, no matter how limited, that Monarchy. In brief, under Republicanism, the people were the State, while under Monarchy the King was the State.

The arguments presented by the pro-Monarchical speakers carried great weight with the Institute and the Supreme Court Judgment.

IN THE SUPREME COURT.

Between The White Clothing Manufacturing Company, Limited, Applicant and Walter R. Smallwood, Respondent.

JUDGMENT OF APPEAL COURT.
The question raised on this appeal relates to the ownership of a motor engine, removed by the defendant from the basement of a building on Duckworth Street, in which the late Frederick Smallwood carried on in his lifetime a boot and shoe-making business. Mr. Smallwood died in 1917 leaving as his sole next of kin his widow and two sons, Walter, the defendant, and Frederick. After his father's death the defendant continued the business with the consent and as the representative of all the next of kin until some arrangement would be made between themselves for the division, amongst them, of the assets of the Estate of the deceased. The basis of the division proposed to be made was that Mrs. Smallwood would take certain lands and building on Duckworth Street in which the boot and shoe-making business was carried on. That the defendant would take the assets of the business, including the boot and shoe-making machinery in the Duckworth Street building, and that Frederick would take a building on Water Street which was the premises on which the business on the premises on Duckworth Street was carried on. That the defendant would take the assets of the business, including the boot and shoe-making machinery in the Duckworth Street building, and that Frederick would take a building on Water Street which was the premises on which the business on the premises on Duckworth Street was carried on.

"Dear Sir,— 29th December, 1920.

"At the last meeting the Rhodes Trustees reviewed the whole question of the value of the Scholarships in relation to the present cost of living. As you are aware, they have lately done something to meet the new conditions by granting a bonus of £50, over and above the value of the Scholarship, to those scholars who had been elected or had come into residence without warning of the change in the purchasing power of money. They have also warned future candidates that the Scholarship of £200 is no longer sufficient to carry them through the year and that a candidate should be able to produce at least another £50 annually from his own resources. The Trustees have now decided, however, to extend the £50 bonus for the present to all Rhodes Scholars, and not to limit it to those cases where a Scholarship might reasonably be considered the real value of his Scholarship. The amount therefore of all Rhodes Scholarships henceforth and until further notice will in effect be £250 per annum. It is not suggested that even this sum is sufficient to meet the existing increase in prices, and candidates should still be warned that they may well need some small addition to it."

"The Trustees prefer to continue the practice of regarding the additional payment as a bonus and not as a permanent addition to the Scholarship, because they cannot be certain either of the value of money in future years or of their own capacity to continue the payment indefinitely. "At the same time they wish it to be clearly understood that the bonus will not be withdrawn without adequate notice and certainly not in any case where a candidate has been elected in expectation of receiving it. It is proposed to pay the bonus in two half-yearly instalments of £25, beginning in Midsummer, 1921.

"The Rhodes Trustees will be glad to hear that steps have been taken to make it known to all who may be affected by their decision. "A copy of it is being sent by this mail to the Secretary of your Selection Committee.

"I am,
"Yours faithfully,
"Acting Secretary."

HANS MAKES A HIT.—Hans Wagner has some remarks anent local affairs of which he unbosoms himself nightly at the Casino. Hear his parodies.

In this new year of '21 which has so lately been begun, We wish you all prosperity And as such strict sobriety Is now enforced on you and me We sing the praise of Pheasant Tea.

For if the water's piping hot And Golden Pheasant's in the pot You'll say not all the wine and things Of which the Persian Poet sings Will take away misfortune's stings Like tea which is a drink for kings.

Champagne the rich alone can buy, The price of Grape Juice too is high, But just a pinch of tea will make A drink that any thirst will slake, And hot or cold, if you will take 'Twill never cause you pain or ache.

Now Home, Sweet Home could never be One half so sweet devoid of tea. For sitting round the festal pot All cares and troubles are forgot. In stately halls or humble cot, Tea is a drink that all have got.

So, for this universal drink The best is none too good we think. As Golden Pheasant is the best We ask you, give it now a test. You'll find that 'twill be drunk with zest.

And you will praise it like the rest. FERGUSON HOLNESS & CO., LON.

Will Elect Opposition Candidates.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—A correspondent from Kelligrews, over the signature of "Old Liberal", in your issue of the 28th inst., demands the right of selection of one or more members for this district in the coming bye-election. Allow me to inform "Old Liberal" that the voters of this shore are not greatly concerned over the choice of a member save that they are determined to put in, with the greatest majority ever recorded in Newfoundland, the two men seeking election in the interest of the present Opposition. This is a decided fact, Mr. Editor, a fact that "Old Liberal" cannot truthfully dispute. We want truth, not fiction. The tactics of "Old Liberal" are well known to the people of this shore the past twelve months, and if he bestow a little more energy in his daily avocations than in setting forth his views on the political issue, it would be better for him.
Take a bit of advice, my friend: hang on to the little job you have, serve your pennies—you'll want them after the deluge. You belong to a coterie of a baker's dozen who had their pockets well lined last fall in connection with road mending, and do not for the moment represent the opinions of the electors of this shore. Give us the truth—you know it well. Hang the job, you'll live as you did before the reign of the Squires-Coaker Government began. You know as well as I that there are not 50 votes on this South Shore for any Government candidate.
You say the people of this shore were awake last fall and are still awake. Yes, brother, they are awake, hundreds of them, to the fact that in voting for the Squires-Coaker party last fall they supported a rotten combination—a combination that has been piling burdens on our shoulders, and the end is not yet.
To the good people of the "head of the bay" I say in good faith, we are one with you this time in support of ANY opposition candidate. Situated as we are, of course we lean to the advisability of having one man in the city, but we are a unit in anything that will tend to the discomfiture of the present corrupt administration.
Yours truly,
W. MEMESIS.
Kelligrews, 31st Jan., 1921.

Wedding Bells.

CROWDELL—ATLYARD.
Yesterday morning, at 11 o'clock, the marriage of Miss Madge Crowdell, daughter of Mr. James Crowdell, to Mr. John T. Atlyard took place in the Oratory of the Sacred Heart Convent, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Dr. Greene. The bride, who was attired in a pretty travelling costume of lawn gabardine with hat to match and white fox furs and carried a bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair fern, was attended by Miss Addie Atlyard. The groom was supported by Mr. James R. MacDonnell, M.H.A. The groom's present to the bride was a silver watchband, and to the best man a suitably engraved watch. A reception was held at the residence of the bride's father, Henry Street, after which the happy couple entered for O'Rourke's, Holyrood, where the honeymoon will be spent. Numerous presents testified to the esteem in which the bride and groom are held by their many friends. The Telegram wishes Mr. and Mrs. Atlyard many happy and prosperous years of wedded life.

Digby Picks Up Tow.

A message was received yesterday by the Furness Withy Co., stating that the S.S. Digby bound from this port to Liverpool, had picked up a disabled steamer and was towing her to Greenock. A further message was received from Liverpool last night which read as follows:—"Digby delayed, towing disabled steamer Laidian Range, due Liverpool Saturday." The Digby left here on Jan. 25th.

Shipping Notes.

S.S. Canadian Sapper left Halifax for this port at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.
The sailing of the S.S. Fortia, for Western ports is postponed until tomorrow morning, owing to delay in discharging her coal cargo. The steamer is taking very little freight.
S.S. Minola which arrived in port yesterday at 2 p.m. brought a full freight equivalent to 20,000 barrels. This is the Minola's first trip on the service from St. John, N.B., to here.
CARD PARTY POSTPONED.—Out of respect for the Hon. Mr. Grieve, the card party and supper of the St. Andrew's Society which was to have taken place last night was postponed. Mr. Grieve was a past president of the St. Andrew's Society and an enthusiastic member of many years' standing.
