CHAPTER XLIV.

"Say that I will be there in a few minutes," was the reply; and the man went away.

Sir Basil turned to Hettie. "Let me take you to the house," he said. "You must not remain here."

"I cannot go. You must leave me here. I cannot walk," she said; "I cannot stand. Do you not see how I tremble? You must leave me."

He looked terribly distressed. "My darling!" he began.

But she held up her hand.

"Hush, Basil!" she said. "Remember, you are Leah's lover."

"I will not leave you, Hettie," he said. "You will faint."

"No; do not fear; listen to me. It will be all for the best. You go now. No one will know that you have seen me, and they will tell you the story. We must meet after that as strangers. Go."

"Heaven knows that no man was ever more pained or more unhappy than I," he said.

Her eyes were dim with tears as she watched him—Leah's lover; and then, as he went slowly down the terrace, a mist seemed to rise before her; she swayed to and fro, staggered, and, helpless, fell suddenly to the ground.

CHAPTER XLV.

As he passed quickly through one of the side-halls of Brentwood, Sir Basil caught a glimpse of his face in a mirror, and started back, almost frightened, by his own reflection. Was that haggard face his? He stood still for a few minutes before he went to the library, to endeavor to collect himself, to drive the weird shadows from his face and eyes, to clear his brain. Then, when he was in some measure himself, he went at once to the room where the general awaited him.

Sir Arthur was alone, and so pre-occupied with his own thoughts that he did not notice the pallor and agitation of Leah's lover. He shook hands with him, and welcomed him home most heartily.

"I am glad to see you, Basil," he said. "I assure you that some of us have found the past few days very long ones. We have had a very unpleasant, anxious time of it since you parted. I am thankful it is over. There remains a duty perhaps even more disagreeable, and that is to tell you a story which I would fain have buried in oblivion."

"A story!" repeated Sir Basil. This, then, was what Hettie meant when she said "they" had something to tell him.

"You will always remember, Basil, that it is I who have kept this secret from you. It was by my desire, my wish that nothing was said. Leah would have had it otherwise, if I had let her have her own way. The fault, if there be any fault, lies with me. You can judge when I have told you. Let me add this—if anything which I tell you should be adverse to your tastes and opinions, you are as free as air, Leah would not bind you. You have only to say the word."

"Nothing can free me from Leah," he said; and, Sir Arthur, in his satisfaction at the words, did not notice the tone of the speaker's voice.

"Thank Heaven for that! Now listen to my story, Basil. I will begin from my earliest recollection of the one being I loved better than the whole world—my little sister."

He did not think it strange that Sir Basil turned his face to the window, so that no change passing over it could be seen.

At first Sir Basil seemed hardly to realize the words he heard—they passed over him as it were; then they began to strike on his brain. Some faint glimmer of the truth came to him when he heard the name of Martin Ray—enough to turn him faint and dizzy, to make his heart beat wildly.

He never forgot that hour. From the window he saw the sunshine on the distant hills and woods, on the bare branches of the trees, on the white stone terraces and the evergreens; a little robin redbreast flew up and down; the wind blew the brown branches of a dead gaulder-rose against the window-panes. He never forgot one detail.

The general's voice went on in dull monotone; and presently Sir Basil's attention was caught and riveted by the names of Leah and Hettie, the two fair sisters. He listened intently as the general told him, with some dramatic skill, the story of the choice they made. He was back again with Martin Ray in fancy, listening to this same relation, but told in so different a fashion; and he remembered with a bitter pang that when Martin Ray recited the story he (Sir Basil) had condemned Leah—he had judged her cold and selfish; he had admired Hettie, the daughter who clung to her father, a thousand times more than her who had left him. And now the girl whom in his own mind he had considered selfish and heartless was she whom he was to make his wife. He blamed himself that he had not discovered the truth; it all seemed now so easy to understand. He could not even imagine how he had been so blind, save that it had never occurred to him to connect Martin Ray and his family with the general's household. While these thoughts ran riot through his brain, the general went on with his story, and Sir Basil listened in silence to the end.

It was true then; he the most unfortunate of men, stood between these two loving sisters. He loved one with his whole heart, and he was bound in honor to marry the other, and both loved him. Was there ever such a misfortune such a fate? He was silent from sheer excess of despair. Who could have thought that the beautiful, queenly woman and the fair, winsome girl were sisters—one the very queen of beauty and fashion, the other earning her living and supporting her father by teaching? Fate must have been laughing at them when it led him to Southwood.

The general wondered at his silence, and, when he had finished his story, waited for his young companion to speak. Still, Sir Basil sat with his face to the window, silent and still.

"You will understand," said Sir Arthur, "that it was no question of social inequality. If my sister had married one greatly her inferior in rank, and he had been a loyal, honest man, I should have respected him; but a man like Martin Ray I could not tolerate. There is no use in speaking ill of the dead; but my sister would never have written to me without due reason to ask me to save her children. However it may be, whether I did right or wrong, it cannot be altered now. If you find any reason, Basil, in what I have told you for bringing your engagement to an end, you will be justified in doing so."

"The general was struck by the pain and the pallor of the face turned to him.

"I do not complain," said Sir Basil, "though I wish that I had known the truth from the first. I understand your motives and respect them. I, in your place, should probably have done the same thing; but I think better of Martin Ray than you do; and the fact that he was the father of the girl I loved would never have made the slightest difference to me. I hope you will not be annoyed when I say that Martin Ray's daughters would have been the same to me as daughters of your own."

"I am delighted to hear it," returned Sir Arthur. "Affairs have changed considerably of late years. Martin has been like a lion with his teeth drawn; but, when my poor sister ran away with him, he was a power in the land."

Sir Basil was thinking deeply. He decided that it would be much better for him not to mention that he had ever seen or known Martin Ray—much better for the whole sad story should be buried and done with forever. Yet, as he framed these thoughts, he was dazed and blind with his great misery. What manner of life lay before him—loving one sister, marrying the other, and the one he loved always near him?

"Just Listen to This"

I HAVE been after you to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and you always say it is intended for men. That is what I understand, for I see you women talking so much about using it. Don't you think men have nerves as well as women? Dr. Chase's Nerve Food gives new, rich blood and restores the exhausted nerves back to health and vigor. "Yes," the doctor says it is your nerves that are responsible for your indigestion and sleeplessness. Why not try some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food? You know that it did for me." "I would like to know of some men in my condition who used it."

"Just listen to this: Mr. A. W. Foster, 178 Le Breton street, Ottawa, Ont., writes: 'For a year I was troubled with "nerves," was restless, especially on retiring, and unable to sleep for hours. I was easily fatigued and very irritable. "A friend told me to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and before I had used the treatment a week I was enjoying a good night's rest every night. I gained rapidly in every way and my general health is very much improved." "That sounds all right." "Yes. This statement is vouched for by Mr. E. M. Ahearn, the druggist, and is no doubt correct." "Well, I will give it a try-out." GERALD S. DOYLE, Distributor, St. John's.

FURTHER MURDERS IN BELFAST.

BELFAST, May 25. An armed band to-day entered a pork shop and killed the butcher. Two men were shot this morning in Black Falls District. The Carnegie Library was set afire three times and badly damaged. The Curfew was imposed from 11 to 5 o'clock for the whole six counties of Ulster, with the exception of Belfast where the curfew period will remain unchanged.

THE MATTER OF TARIFFS.

WASHINGTON, May 25. Noting that the new Canadian Budget increases British preference on a number of articles imported into Canada, opponents of the high rates of the pending Tariff Bill here declare the increase of the British preference is the inevitable effect of the tariff policy which is being shaped by protectionists of the United States and the fulfilment of their prediction that the proposed tariff law will drive away trade from the United States.

IRISH SITUATION DISCUSSED.

LONDON, May 25. The Anglo-Irish Treaty must be saved. This is the burden of the editorial comment on the Irish crisis by a considerable section of the British Press this morning. There are indications of increasing anxiety and even alarm, and the suspicion that the agreement between Eamonn De Valera and Michael Collins covers the intention to declare an Independent Republic, continues unabated. The Times says if the Treaty is repudiated "Great Britain would have to face a terrible but not doubtful situation." "Her duty to Northern Ireland," it adds, "would be especially clear. The Northern Government would have to be protected from any and every act of aggression. The Treaty is the inviolable character of Ulster's rights as well as those of the rest of Ireland. For Englishmen it stands as the one clear criterion in the present obscurity. It offers the only path to settlement and upon its preservation the dread issue of peace or war inexorably depends." The Daily Mail recalling Collins' Ard Fheis speech and recent utterance that the Treaty was merely a step to a Republic inquires what value his signature to the Treaty has, and adds that he and Griffith ought to immediately be asked what their exact position is and warned that Great Britain is not going to be jockeyed into acceptance of a Republic. Elsewhere the refusal of the Ulster Premier, Sir James Craig, to participate in the boundary commission provided for under the treaty is sharply criticized and this development is regarded as further complicating the situation. The Westminster Gazette warns Sir James that Great Britain's voice must be heard on the question as "it would be merely folly for English ministers to insist that Collins adhere to the Treaty if they admitted Craig's veto."

Dye Dress, Skirt or Faded Curtains in Diamond Dyes

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple any woman can dye or tint her worn, shabby dresses, skirts, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, draperies, hangings, everything, even if she has never dyed before. Buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—then perfect home dyeing is sure because Diamond Dyes are guaranteed not to spot, fade, streak, or run. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.

When is a Man Drunk?

MAGISTRATE'S CLERK ANSWERS QUESTION IN VERSE. "I should like a definition of the word 'drunk,'" said a defendant at Ruabon Sessions, recently. Magistrate's Clerk: "He is not drunk who lies upon the floor, with power to rise and ask for more; but drunk is he who helpless lies. Without the power to even rise. You could not rise according to the police evidence. You were drunk." Chairman—Pay ten shillings—Liverpool Post.

Prehistoric Man in America.

Recent discoveries in the caves of the Ohio valley seem to give evidence that man existed in America in the Glacial Age. In two Kentucky caves were found human bones identified as belonging to an Indian man, and bones of raccoons, ground hog, gray fox, deer, buffalo and bear. The bear skeleton, partly fossilized, is supposed to be the remains of a polar bear that lived in the great Ice Age before the present geologic era.

Celebrated 103rd Birth Anniversary on Empire Day.

LIVED UNDER SIX BRITISH MONARCHS.

Bright and alert, Mrs. Stephen Macdonald of Castle Bay, grandmother of Mrs. W. MacKenzie, 15 Louisa street, and of Kenneth Macdonald, of the local staff of the Canadian National, has left the century mark in life well behind and on May 24th she celebrated her 103rd birthday. Born in Barra, Scotland, in 1819, Mrs. Macdonald has lived under six British sovereigns—George III, George IV, William IV, Victoria, Edward VII, and George V. Mrs. Macdonald came to Canada from the Old Land when a girl of 17, so that nearly all of her very long life has been spent in this country. At Castle Bay she has been for very many years one of the most highly esteemed people of the community, and there is to-day much satisfaction that despite her great age her health continues to be good. Mrs. Macdonald's husband died some years ago. One of her sons, Charles, is now resident in Alberta and a second son, Neil J., in Castle Bay. Mrs. Hector J. McNeil, of McKinnon's Harbor and Mrs. Vincent McPhee, of Eskasoni, are daughters of Mrs. Macdonald, who also has 28 grand-children and 20 great-grandchildren—Sydney Post.

The Hand of Fatima.

Just as the swastika is the charm of the Far East, so the hand of Fatima is the charm of the Near East. A brooch or pendant in the form of a hand is supposed to avert the evil eye and bring good luck. The thumb and four fingers made the number five, which Arabs think peculiarly fortunate. An ancient legend amongst the Arabs explains this good luck sign. Fatima, the favourite daughter of Mohammed—one of the four perfect women of the Mohammedan faith—and was married to Mohammed's cousin, Ali. Once when Ali was about to slay some prisoners who would not embrace the Mohammedan faith, she rushed forward and held up a restraining hand, and the prisoners, overcome by gratitude, became believers. So the "hand of Fatima" became the symbol of good luck in the East. It is significant that in the Eastern story of Blue Beard the one lucky wife is called Fatima. A frequent greeting amongst the Arabs can be translated, "All five to you," or, as we might say, "The very best to you."

It is curious how, when East meets West, this old-time legend has helped trade. The effect of the famous Rudge-Whitworth trade mark of the uplifted hand on the Arabs of Morocco and Algiers is that, in choosing a bicycle, they will have none but the one with the "hand of Fatima" upon it!

Commons Voted Confidence in Lloyd George.

Rejected Unionist Amendment by Large Majority—London Press Discuss Irish Situation—More Outrages and Murders Reported From Belfast.

LOYD GEORGE GETS CONFIDENCE VOTE.

LONDON, May 25. A carefully worded statement of eloquent rebuttal of criticism against him regarding the Genoa Conference, Lloyd George once again received support in what is believed another vote of confidence in the House by a majority of 235. He rejected an amendment by Unionist Rupert Gwynne to the motion which the debate was based as a means of expressing dissatisfaction with the Premier's exposition. Her Majesty, J. R. Clynes, the Labor leader, and Lord Robert Cecil, critic of the Genoa Conference as having accomplished little or nothing for rehabilitation of Europe.

LOYD GEORGE ON RUSSIA.

LONDON, May 25. In opening his speech in the Commons to-day, Mr. Lloyd George said he proposed to deal with the Genoa Conference and not to discuss German relations or British relations with Russia, an opportunity for the discussion of which would be provided next week. Although peace had been established in Europe, the war atmosphere prevailed. As to Russia there were three alternatives in dealing with her. The first was force, which had failed. The second was to leave her alone, but this policy involved risks, such as the Russian-German agreement. Germany could not equip Russia commercially, not having the capital, but with armaments it would be different. Whatever was thought of the Soviet Government, some arrangement with Russia was necessary to swell the trade of the world on which many millions depended. The Russian leaders realized they needed outside assistance, and that they could not get credit upon the basis of confiscation and repudiation of debts. Revolutions in England and France had carried confiscation of property, but their case was different. They were not then seeking credit from the outside world as Russia is to-day.

Revised Version.
NEW MUSIC IN "SWEETHEARTS."
 That her talents are not confined solely to the dramatic was demonstrated by Miss Ruth Oswald last night in the revised version of "Sweethearts" when she sang a song entitled "Memento," which she had also written and composed. Other members of the Company also gave a proof of versatility. A humorous monologue "The Short Cake Ingredients," was put over by Teddy Wilde, assisted by J. Paul Callan and Thos. Wall. Miss Charlotte LaRose, a member of the chorus, rendered a solo in a manner which earned her well merited applause. One of the features of the show was the "crying monologue" with which another chorus girl, Miss Mary Cox, delighted the audience to the extent of making them weep with laughter. With such a display of talent so early in their engagement, big things will be expected from the Company before they terminate their visit to St. John's.

Building Colinet River Bridge.
WORK STARTED ON MONDAY.
 The work of erecting a new bridge over the Colinet River began on Monday last and Contractor Whelan has a large gang of men at work on the job. A schr. load of material for the structure arrived at Salmonier on Tuesday, which is now being transported to the scene of operations. The work of building the bridge, will, it is thought, occupy a couple of months, so that the road to Placentia will be open to motor traffic during the latter part of the summer.

A Public Meeting of the Catholic Laity will be held in the Nickel Theatre on Sunday, the 28th inst., immediately after prayers, to arrange for the presentation of an Address to His Grace the Archbishop, on the occasion of his Sacroretal Silver Jubilee.—May 26, 21

A Correction.
 In the account of the Empire Day's Programme at St. Mary's School the names Olive Carter and Queenie Vallis were inadvertently interchanged. "Our contributor" it was Olive Carter who recited so excellently, while Queenie Vallis was the winner of the prize donated by Sir Richard A. Squires.

Firemen Called Out.
 Last evening, shortly after 4 o'clock, the Central and East End Fire Companies received a call from King's Bridge Road. Arriving on the scene they found that some soot had ignited in the chimney of the residence owned by Mr. Hector Ross. The blaze was quenched in a few minutes and no damage to the premises was done.

Majestic.
 Two things especially pertain to this theatre should not be forgotten. One is the date of a Tom Mix appearance here, and the other is to let their friends know how good the show is. Mix is to be here to-day for a run of two days in "The Big Town Round-Up," a Fox production, based on William McLeod Raine's story. Big author, big plays, big producer, big star. And—Lynn F. Reynolds directed the picture.

CARD PARTY AND DANCE.
 A very successful Bridge and Auction forty-five party was held at St. Andrew's Club Rooms, Water Street, last night. There was a large gathering present and the games were thoroughly enjoyed. The following were the prize winners: Bridge, Mr. Tasker Cook; Auction, forty-five, John Taylor, Mrs. McCafferty. Special prizes were awarded Miss Carrie Crawford and Mr. A. Brown. Supper was served by the Ladies' Auxiliary, and the night concluded with a dance.

Erecting New Aerial.
 Wireless telephony which is now all the rage will shortly have its sphere of operation increased through the efforts of Mr. J. J. Collins, Superintendent of the Marconi Company. An Aerial is now being erected which extends from the Daily News Office to the Exchange Building and when completed elaborate concerts will be broadcasted. Last night Mr. Collins gave a concert which was much enjoyed by those who possess receiving apparatus.

Personal.
 Sir John Crosbie, who is now in England, is expected home about the second week in June, coming by way of New York.

 Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Branscombe, who were on a honeymoon trip to the Continent, left Liverpool by the Saxon Wednesday on their return.

Street Improvement.
 During the past couple of days the Municipal Council employees have been engaged making a concrete curb and gutter at the corner of Catherine Street and Monkstown Road. The improvement was badly needed as at this particular corner both horse drivers and motorists had a habit of turning in on the sidewalk to the imminent danger of pedestrians.

"Piffle De Luxe."
 "Piffle de Luxe" was again produced at the Canon Wood Hall last night. For two hours Mr. A. E. Holmes succeeded in amusing a large audience with difficult feats on the parallel and horizontal bars, and with the help of his two crazy clowns, with some ingenious horseplay. The "Piffle de Luxe" act which concluded the show was convincing. Rev. C. A. Moulton, in a brief speech, paid a tribute to Mr. Holmes' excellent work.

Carbonear Excursion.
L. O. A. ATTEND SPECIAL SERVICE.
 Six cars full of happy, laughing excursionists visited Carbonear with the C. L. B. Band on Wednesday and returned to the city early yesterday morning. The trip was enjoyed by all. The residents of Carbonear extended a hearty welcome to their visitors. In the afternoon the L. O. A. held a big parade to the Methodist Church, where an appropriate sermon was preached by the Pastor, Rev. A. V. Robb. On leaving the church the parade proceeded through the principal parts of the town to the Hall, the Band rendering patriotic airs en route. The open air display of Drum Major Willar was a feature of the parade and won the admiration of the populace and he was personally complimented after the parade had disbanded. At 8 p.m., Capt. Morris and his talented musicians gave a band concert at the College Hall which was filled to capacity, amongst the audience being Padre Nangle and Rev. Fr. O'Brien. An excellent programme of choice selections was rendered and at the conclusion Rev. Mr. Robb congratulated the Band upon its performance and thanked them.

Rothschild's Wit.
 During the revolutionary year 1848, a threatening mob had gathered round the house of the head of the house of Rothschild in Paris. Baron James opened the door, faced the crowd, and beckoned to its leader, who, with his lieutenant, all once came forward. The three together entered the financier's sanctum. "Gentlemen," said the Baron, "you desire, I understand, an equal division of what I and others own among the people of France. I am quite agreeable, to ensure justice, I have been working out a little sum. The realisable value of my property amounts to; divide that total by the whole population of the country. You will see that it amounts exactly to so many sous per head. Allow me, gentlemen, to hand you your share (4 cents) and to wish you a very good morning!"

At last you will be able to see Miss Charlotte LaRose in a soprano solo. You may have seen other fine voices in the chorus, but sing by herself to-night.

HIS DIARY.
May 25th.—Mighty sleepy; slept till past eight of the clock. So up and to the office but no news there. I learn from the Prime Minister how the Reids did assign their book debts to the Banque for the security of the Government. Home and there find Mr. Pollard, the Joyner, and his man, with a box of great variety of carpenter's tools, which I had bespoken him to bring so that he may set me up some book shelves for the proper setting out of all my library. This I will make to equal my ancestors', which he did give to Cambridge, and not leave to his sons, which is a thing I shall ever hold against him. I to the Casino play-house where I see a rehearsal of "Sweethearts." I meet there Mr. Callan, the director, and Mr. Wall, and did discourse with them. I find them mighty pleasant. Home and to smoke of some good tobacco in a pipe, which is the only manner of smoking I may do these days.

Fish at King's Cove.

TEN QUINTALS TAKEN IN TRAP.
Special Evening Telegram.
KING'S COVE, To-Day.
Cod traps have been set here since early in the month but without success till yesterday, when one trap had ten quintals of fish. There is much scattered ice around, making fishing difficult and traps had to be taken up yesterday, some of them being damaged by ice. There are numerous "clumpers" in the offing, but no field ice. A good many salmon have been taken on the Western Head shore. S. S. Senat arrived here yesterday, bringing the first mail since the arrival of S. S. Prospero.

CORRESPONDENT.
The last word in Men's Summer Caps, arrived at BISHOP'S this morning.

Landing Junks.

GOVERNMENT IN SPLIT BUSINESS.
Several schooners from Trinity Bay are now discharging birch and spruce junks at the King's Wharf. The schooner Jubilee with a cargo of some 80,000 junks, hauled in to-day. These junks were cut on contract during the winter and were part of the Government's plan to relieve destitution. The junks are being sold by the department at 75 cents per hundred from the wharf or 95 cents sent home. The spruce junks are being bought eagerly, and after being chopped up are sold as splits for kindling.

"Sweethearts."

AN INADVERTENCE.
In yesterday's advertisement for "Sweethearts," the musical comedy which is now running at the Casino, an inadvertence on the part of the ad writer occurred. It was stated that "this is a new show absolutely." This statement was incorrect. The musical selections and vaudeville were altered, but the plot remains the same. In other words, it is merely a revised version. The management regret that any of the public should have been misled by this advertisement as written.

Ping Pong.

The Officers' Mess of the C.L.B. won the return ping pong tournament with the Dunfield Boys' Club by the narrow margin of six points. The tournament took place last night in the latter's rooms. Every set was keenly contested, and a final tournament will probably be played later.

Here and There.

EXPRESS ARRIVES.—The express which left Port aux Basques after the arrival of s.s. Sagona on Wednesday, reached the city at 4 a.m. to-day.

QUEEN MARY'S BIRTHDAY.—Bunting is being displayed to-day on the public buildings in honor of the anniversary of the birth of Queen Mary.

AT TWILLINGATE.—S.S. Prospero is at last clear of the ice at Herping Neck and was reported to-day as being at Twillingate.

SAILS WEST.—S.S. Eagle sails for Western ports of call as far as Channel to-morrow morning. She will take freight and mails only. Capt. Taylor goes in charge of the ship.

AT THE BALSAM.—The following are guests at Balsam Place:—W. White, Trinity; E. D. Elliott, Miss Cheeseman, Burn; Rev. I. French, Green's Harbor.

APPOINTED SECOND ENGINEER.—A message was received this morning from Engineer Wm. McFetigan, of s.s. Rosalind stating that he had received an appointment as second engineer of s.s. Silvia.

Doctors Declare Music Heals.
As a powerful healing agency mental as well as physical ailments are one of the principal topics discussed at the annual meeting of the Tri-State Medical Association recently. Approximately Missouri, Arkansas, and Tennessee heard this subject discussed. The 250 physicians and surgeons from physicians were enthusiastic in recommending music as a healer and classed it, in certain circumstances, as almost as effective as drugs.

A Bruising Fight.
WOULD-BE FUGHISTS BADLY DAMAGED.
Two would-be pugilists, whose faces looked as if they had been first hit by a battering ram and then belted over by a steam roller, appeared before the Magistrate this morning charged with being drunk and disorderly. They met yesterday in Martin's meadow and both being the worse for drink, they decided to engage in mortal combat. When the police arrived on the scene only one battered warrior was there. Half his clothes were missing, his right eye was closed, and stitches were found to be necessary for both sides of his face. The other bruiser was discovered afterwards. Fines of $3 and $2 were inflicted on the combatants.

Newfoundland Trade

The following leading article taken from the North Sydney Herald of recent date is worth careful perusal, showing as it does the interests of trade and commerce which bind the Colony with the Dominion of Canada...

Commenting upon the announcement that the Reid Newfoundland Company will for the present only run two trips per week of their steamers between North Sydney and Port aux Basques, the Glace Bay Gazette remarks that of course falling off of the traffic between Newfoundland and Canada is the reason for this curtailment in the company's business...

The neglect of this matter by the late government and by the railway and government steamer management was very much to their discredit. It is hoped that the present government will take it up along the lines we have indicated, and see that the railway and steamer management are made to regard it as one requiring their constant and earnest attention...

SHARD'S LAMENT FOR GARRET IN COWS.

THE RAILWAY SITUATION.

Agreements for Temporary Operation--The Story in Brief--Government Accept Book Debts as Security for Guarantee.

The official story of the recent dramatic events in connection with railway operations has been made public to-day in the agreement between the Government and the Reid Newfoundland Co., extracts from which we publish. The Agreement is dated the twenty-third of May and after reviewing the history of the 1921 Railway Agreement and subsequent events, includes the correspondence which passed between the Company and the Government previous to the deadlock, and gives the terms of the arrangement made for the temporary operation of the line while negotiations are pending.

AN AMBIGUOUS PARAGRAPH. The opening part of the agreement quotes the ambiguous paragraph in last year's Railway Agreement which provides a Government Guarantee for losses on operation to a maximum amount.

"The Government shall pay the actual loss of operating the railway during the term of this agreement provided that should such loss exceed the sum of one and one-half million dollars such excess shall be borne by the Company."

THE INTERIM AGREEMENT. On Monday, the 15th day of May instant the Prime Minister in anticipation of a probable cessation of railway operation moved the House of Assembly into Committee of the Whole to consider the following resolution, the further consideration of which was after some debate deferred:

"WHEREAS from correspondence published in this House it appears that a serious interruption in railway transportation throughout the country is imminent; AND WHEREAS it is in the public interest essential that at this season of the year there should be no interruption in railway services, which are necessary to the general trade of the country; BE IT RESOLVED that this House is of opinion that in the event of any immediate interruption in railway services, His Excellency the Governor-in-Council should take over and operate the railway system of the country, with all its appurtenances, pending further proposals to this effect; and should take such steps as it may consider necessary for the maintenance of railway operations essential in the public interest."

AND WHEREAS the operation of the Newfoundland railway and its branches was on the fifteenth day of May instant partially suspended, on the sixteenth day of May instant almost entirely suspended, and at this date entirely suspended; AND WHEREAS the continued total cessation of railway operations would be a matter of great public inconvenience and injury and it is desirable in the public interests that railway operations be resumed; AND WHEREAS the Government and Company have agreed for the temporary operation of the railway and its branches; AND WHEREAS the Company has considerable moneys due it on operating account by its agents in Newfoundland and abroad, and has also considerable moneys due it by the general public for passenger, freight and other transportation services rendered; NOW IT IS HEREBY AGREED between the Government and the Company as follows:

1. The Government agrees to arrange with the Bank of Montreal, the bankers for the Company, a special credit of such sum as is necessary to meet the regular payroll cheques of the employees for the month of April 1922, due on the 15th day of May next, said special credit not to exceed the total sum of $74,500.

2. The Company agrees to assign to the Government by way of security for the amount of the said special credit its book debts on railway operating account as on the date hereof and those which may become due as a result of the operation of the railway under these provisions and to the said special credit account at the Bank of Montreal promptly after receipt such moneys as the Company shall receive from day to day on such railway operating account until the full amount of the liability of the Company and of the Government to the Bank of Montreal and all the bank's interest and charges thereon arising out of the credit mentioned in this and the immediately preceding clause shall have been paid, and without regard to any outstanding disputes or claims connected with or arising out of any other dealings between the parties. It is understood and agreed that should the said special credit account not be fully paid by the Company on or before the last day of June 1922, by the deposits on account of said railway operating account as aforesaid the Company shall pay into such account a sum sufficient to fully satisfy the same.

Telegram. This correspondence began on May 10th, and ended on May 15th with the letter with an enclosure consisting of the now famous notice to the railway employees. A letter which was later published, was received by the Government on May 16th and stated that as "the majority of our engineers have not reported for duty, that hardly any trains are running to-day, and that a complete tie up of the railway appears inevitable. We are thus, through no fault of our own, but by reason of the breach by the Government of its contracts with us, prevented from operating the railway, and, as intimated in previous letters to the Prime Minister, propose to call for an arbitration under clause 181 of the 1898 contract of 'all matters in dispute between us and the Government arising out of all the contracts. Formal notice of claim will be served on the Government within the next few days. This letter concluded with the following important statement: "In the meantime, and before resorting to 'this final and irrevocable step, we are still open to discuss a compromise which will put an end to all claims and disputes on either side." The next step was the interim agreement which follows.

GERMAN COMPETITION. In a letter to the Board of Trade, dated May 25th, Messrs. Lind & Couto, the well known fish dealers of Portugal, state that it has been learned that German fish is being sent into the market and that the Germans were prepared to undersell other cures in an endeavour to obtain a footing in the market. The letter further states that a cargo of large and medium German fish which arrived on April 22nd by S. S. Theodor sold within a few days of arrival at the equivalent of 40% per cwt. G.F.P.

Flower's Cove--N. E. wind with rain; lots of ice in Straits, but scattered.

Potato Seed Distribution.

FRAUD DISCOVERED. During yesterday and to-day so many people are besieging the Agricultural Department to get a share of the seed potatoes that are being given out free, that the services of a policeman had to be requisitioned to keep the crowd back. No potatoes, however, are being given out to-day as it has been discovered that a lot of fraud has been practiced. Some people, so it has been learned, have sold the seed given them at one dollar per barrel, and others received a barrel by representing that they had plots of land in which to set the seed, when at the same time they did not live within leagues of the place specified. In all probability prosecutions will follow for fraud. The Department has also appointed several inspectors to see that the seed given is set and not eaten or sold.

TROUTERS RETURN--A large number of trouters who were out to Maher's and Briggs Junction for the holiday, returned to the city by train last night. Although the weather was very disagreeable, good catches of trout were taken, many of the anglers having from 8 to 10 dozen fish.

Charged With Murder.

YOUNG CHINAMAN ACCUSED OF TRIPLE HOMICIDE IS REMANDED--STILL IN WEAK STATE, IS SUPPORTED BY BAR. Supported between two stalwart constables, Wo Fen Game, a young Chinaman presented a pitiful spectacle, as he staggered to the bar of the Magistrate's Court this morning to hear the charge of wilful murder read against him.

THE OFFICIAL CHARGE.

The official charge is "For that you, the said Wo Fen Game, on May 3rd, 1922, feloniously, wilfully and of malice aforethought, did kill and murder Hong Leon, Hong Kam He, and So Ho Kia against the peace of Our Lord the King, His Crown and Dignity." During the reading of the charge, Wo Fen Game leaned heavily on the bar, his face white and drawn. He was apparently still feeling the effects of his self-inflicted wound although he has been discharged from the hospital.

NO MONEY FOR COUNSEL.

The charge was interpreted by Kim Lee, a leading member of the Chinese community. Asked by the interpreter if he were represented by counsel, he replied that he had no money. He was then informed that when he came up for trial in the Supreme Court he would have counsel provided for him. After being told that he need not say anything at the present stage, the accused was remanded for eight days at the request of the Inspector General of Police. The judge explained that although the prisoner appeared to be in a weak state, he had been discharged from the hospital and was in the custody of the police who were now compelled to bring him up for the preliminary hearing. While in the Penitentiary he will be under the care of the visiting prison doctor.

ACCUSED RECOVERS WEAK.

Wo Fen Game, after being removed from the court, became very weak and a cushion had to be brought for him to rest on until the arrival of the taxi which was to take him to the Penitentiary. A glass of water was brought him but was refused. At the Penitentiary everything possible will be done to make him comfortable until he is fully recovered. As he was conducted to the waiting car he was trembling and shivering. Since he was first placed under arrest at the hospital, shortly after the dramatic murders which shocked the city, Wo Fen Game has been under constant surveillance. Even in the cell at the Police Court, a constable watched outside his door. The preliminary enquiry will probably begin next week.

vided all department heads and certain office employees. In connection with the factory, a special premium store was opened some years ago on Water Street, and here will be found a valuable stock of presents which are exchanged for coupons, packed in the company's cigarettes. To attempt to give a detailed description of the manufacture of cigarettes and tobacco is impossible and in the limited space at my disposal, but I hope that what explanation I have given will be found sufficiently clear.

Finally, I should like to thank Mr. Hartnett for his kindness in showing me through the plant and for his explicit explanations of the various processes in the manufacture of the soothing weed.

LOVING OUR NEIGHBORS.

I try so hard to love my neighbors! I strive, yet I must say, I find it harder than the labor by which I earn my pay. There's Jim, who lives in yonder dwelling, a tenuous man is he, and early in the morn'g he's yelling wild songs of land and sea. It's then that I would sleep and slumber, with folding of the hands; and Jim, his voice like sawing lumber, beneath my window stands. I try to love James Towhead Baker, whose house is one door west, but he's a sad and tiresome faker who has one ancient jest; it is a bald and hectic story that Noah shoeed away; and that old yarn, so stale and hoary, James tells me twice a day. I try to love old Thomas Tittle, but I loathe the politics, and hate discussing topics vital with chew-and-argue Hicks. And Thomas never tries to twitter at any other theme; so loving thoughts grow sadly bitter, and sympathy's a dream. I thought one time I was succeeding in loving Hiram Jones, and then he had me pinched for speeding, which cost me fifteen bones ($15). My heart is full of loving kindness, with impulse high and strong, but neighbors, in their willful blindness all get themselves in wrong.

Four-Power Treaty Assures World Peace.

The following statement by Robert Dollar, head of the Dollar Steamship Lines, and a well-known authority on Far Eastern questions, appears in the current issue of Forbes Magazine (N. Y.):

To those of us who are trying to develop American commerce across the Pacific, the Four-Power Treaty is the greatest boon we have ever had. Only those who were in close touch with the situation knew that war with Japan was certain and that it was not very far away, perhaps only a few months. Several months ago one of our high naval officers gave the best description of the situation that I have heard. He said, "The situation between Japan and America resembles two fast express trains rushing towards each other at full speed on a single track, approaching the inevitable result—a terrific collision."

Therefore, President Harding, who had the foresight to see the approaching crisis and the wisdom to call the biggest men of the world together in Washington to decide ways and means of averting this rapidly approaching calamity, deserves not only the thanks of every American citizen but the people of the whole world. The people of Europe have certainly had enough of war and we were on the eve of having a terrible experience on the shores of this Pacific Ocean.

Now that the peace is assured, we can go on developing our commerce and the greatest commercial progress that the world has ever seen will result.

Outfitting Giant Liner.

SOUTHAMPTON.—The outfitting of the liner Majestic, 56,000 tons, which made her maiden trip to New York this month was a colossal affair, and quite on a par with her size, which is the largest in the world. Seventeen tons of blankets, 15 miles of sheets, 10 1/2 miles of bed covers were being utilized for the sleeping apartments. For the dining rooms there were 18 miles of table cloths and 29,000 pieces of glassware, China and Enamelware, totalled 80,000 pieces. The electro-plate and cutlery consists of 50,000 pieces, with an extra 5,000 pieces for the French restaurant. The crew of the ship will wear something like five and one-half miles of aprons during a passage.

Pretty Tough, But—!

Mrs. Jones was entertaining some of her son's little friends, "Willie" she said, addressing a six-year-old who was enjoying a plate of cold beef, "are you sure you can cut your own meat?"

The child, who was making desperate efforts with his knife and fork, replied:

"Yes, thanks, I've often had it as tough as this at home."

Salvage Notes.

Mr. Stanley Brown and Co. spent a very enjoyable time during their four days' stay at Port Blandford. They arrived back in Salvage on Thursday, 11th.

Mr. Wm. Hiccock and family, who were living in Port Blandford the past winter, having removed there last autumn, have returned to Salvage and re-settled in their old home.

These days furnish a little liveliness among the shoremen, and schooner owners. But, how different the scene now to that of years ago when a score or more of schooners prosecuted the Labrador fishery instead of the meagre half dozen as at present.

We learn that Mr. Isaac Squires, one of our most successful fish killers, has sold his schooner the Beatrice May to Mr. Samuel Warren, Gooseberry Island. Mr. Warren and crew are at present getting ready for the new purchase and will be leaving Salvage in a day or so. We wish them good luck.

Miss Elsie Dirdle, formerly of Salvage, but latterly living in Grand Falls, is here on a visit to friends and relatives.

The men of the congregation of St. Stephen's Church, have nicely painted the interior of the chancel of their church (paint provided by the Ladies of the C.E.W.A.) The improvement is very noticeable. The usual Parochial spring work has also been done, including the painting of the front and north end of the rectory.

We heard of the first sign of codfish this morning. Mr. John Burden having three in his trap. We trust these are but the augurs of a most prolific fishery, for admittedly a big voyage is needed to help in the stabilizing of our industrial conditions.

Mr. C. Tooke went to Grand Falls during the week, to take up employment.

There is a fine sign of herring around and the nets usually average from half to one barrel per haul.

Some of our men are now employed building the Government wharf which was washed down by the sea in last October's storm.

Most of our schooners expect to be leaving for St. John's the latter part of next week; the majority of them are first going to Newman's Sound for a load of birch junk, etc.

Mr. Allan Moss, Sailor's Island, after a winter's vacation at home, left last week for the land of Uncle Sam.

Laid to Rest.

The funeral of the late Thos. J. Bailey took place from his late residence, Tremont Hotel, yesterday afternoon and was largely attended. At the R. C. Cathedral, prayers for the dead were recited by Rev. Fr. McGrath, after which interment took place in the family plot at Mount Carmel. The funeral arrangements were conducted by undertaker Nash.

A Thrilling Air Duel.

One of the most remarkable of the many thrilling duels in the air during the war, took place on May 28, 1915, between an anonymous Frenchman and a German pilot. The account given by the Frenchman is believed to be the first actually written and published by any airman of a duel fought by himself. The Frenchman heard that there was a certain liveliness being displayed by the Germans; so, about 6 a.m., he climbed to between eight and nine thousand feet, and flew continuously in the glare of the sun above a batt that he knew was a tempting one, over a small town with a railway station which had often been aimed at. While taking up his position he perceived a machine passing him from behind and making toward Paris. "I gave chase," he says. "The German was eight thousand feet up. I rose to nine thousand and as I had a faster machine, I rapidly overhauled him. We drew to within thirty feet of the Albatross, but we had such a way on that we shot right past, and I got a bullet in the shoulder, which, however, did not prevent me from continuing the chase. The Albatross then tried to escape by sinking quickly, but I flew over him, and my lieutenant got in a last volley point blank. The Albatross dipped, and plunged headlong to the ground, six thousand feet beneath. We followed it with our eyes, and saw it strike the earth, crumple up like a ball and bound along the hill side like a rabbit. We descended in spirals and found that the pilot had been thrown out, and lay a few yards away. The observer lay crushed beneath the engine. We found papers in his pocket bearing the name of Lieutenant von Buelow, Imperial Guard, Berlin. The sight sickened me at first, but when I found 10 large bombs and 40 grenades on the Albatross I was glad, for I realized that we had been the means of saving the lives of innocent victims for whom these bombs and grenades had been intended."

Business Must Grow to Keep Big Men.
Thirty-eight years ago there landed at old Castle Garden a penniless German lad of 17. Within a week he had secured his first job as a clerk in a small family grocery store in Brooklyn at $7 a month and board. To-day he is the active president of the H. C. Bohack Company, Inc., one of the largest chain store corporations in the East, doing a business of $15,000,000 a year. There are 187 stores now where one tiny grocery store used to be.
"We are going to keep on growing."

says Mr. Bohack in Forbes Magazine (N. Y.). "until we are the biggest chain store corporation in the country, and perhaps the world. We've got to keep on growing. If we expect to keep our big men. No business can afford to lose a good man. And good men never stay if there is no room to grow. So we've got to make more—and that's why we've got to keep on growing. If your competitor can afford to pay a man a big salary, then you can, too. The man who is ambitious for himself is the man for a business to keep, because if he grows, your business will also grow. I consider the man with whom I was first in partnership a bad business man because he did not keep me. He made a great deal of money but lost all, because he was not a good judge of men. I was a good man for him, but I was ambitious, and he did not have sense enough to make it worth while for me to stay with him."

Using the Sea as a Post Office.
Christopher Columbus is believed to have been the first captain to try the idea of entrusting a message to the sea. In a storm near Madeira, he placed a written statement of his adventures up to that time in a stout wooden cask and cast it overboard in February, 1493, but unfortunately it had not turned up as yet. This would have been the champion maritime trophy of the world, had it ever been picked up. Since then there have been thousands of bottles, tin cans, casks, etc., containing messages for the world, cast into the sea. Explorers very often made use of this method in the hope that, should they perish, the story of their journeying might reach somewhere and thus be conveyed to their countrymen. In 1825 the East Indiaman Kent caught fire in the Bay of Biscay. A Major McGregor wrote an urgent message calling for help. It was sealed in a bottle and cast over the side. Fortunately a brig came along and saved over 600 of the 600 in all who had embarked. Two years later the major had his bottle sent to him from Barbados. Captain Simpson, of the Aberdeen White Star Line, famous for its clippers, threw bottles overboard every voyage he made for many years. He had hundreds of enclosures returned to him from literally all parts of the world. He usually presented the finder with a well-bound book, generally Frode's "Oceans," and it was his pride to receive letters from those who returned his missives.

It's Flavor that Makes the Meal!
And the sauces that the Libby chefs have adapted for you give flavor to the simplest dishes.
It may be eggs, or macaroni, or a cheap cut of meat—an unusual and delicious sauce will make it something you eat with delight and remember with pleasure—because of its flavor.
LIBBY'S CATCHUP and CHILI SAUCE are made from red, ripe tomatoes, grown in the fertile soil of Kent County, Ontario, picked when they are mellowed by the sunshine of long summer days, then rushed to the nearby Libby kitchen.
Here in sunny rooms the tomatoes are cooked with fragrant spices, onions, sugar and the best vinegar—cooked for hours until all the flavors are blended through and through.
Now the sauce is ready to give an appetizing relish to your steaks and chops, or a new piquancy to the meat gravy you serve with your roasts.
Your grocer has, or can get you, Libby's Catchup or Chili Sauce. Use it with your cold meat teas and note how quickly the second helping is necessary.
The delightful flavor of Libby's Beans is due largely to the wonderful Sauce prepared by the skilled chefs. Have you tried them?

Woman's Part.
If every woman knew her power over her man what a world it would be to live in!
As it is, half—perhaps more than half—of the credit that is given to men for their achievements is due to some little woman who remains in the background, whose name the world never knows, though it knows the fame of her man, remarks an exchange.
The statesman and the clerk, the professor and the student, the business man, the man of law, the painter, the musician, the man of science or of medicine—all are inspired by the influence of some little woman whom they love, whom they have won or whom they hope to win. She it is who spurs them on, and if the rebel who in every man now and then breaks loose, she it is who can tame him.
Any woman can make or mar her man. Her "soft word" will "bring him to his knees."

Drinking Men for Prohibition.

INTERESTING EXPERIENCES IN NEW YORK CITY TO PROVE THAT FORMER DRINKERS WOULD VOTE TO RETAIN PROHIBITION, REAL LIQUOR SCARCITY IN THE METROPOLIS AND GROWING SCARCER.

(Saturday Evening Post)
 Right now there is less drinking in proportion to the population in New York than there was when the old settlers got the Indian chiefs keyed up and talked them out of Manhattan Island for something like a shilling. This is the conclusion of a writer in the Saturday Evening Post who has been making an investigation of conditions in the metropolis.

This writer declares that there is not enough liquor to go around and it is getting scarcer all the time. The average man is either unable to pay the price, or is afraid to take a chance with bad stuff.

The entire Post article is illuminating, for it gives a clear idea of the Prohibition situation in a city which scoffed at the dry law and predicted no effort would be made to obey it. To the writer of the Post article it was suggested by a New Yorker that he get an honest expression from a group of drinking men and find out how they would vote on Prohibition now. Recalling the suggestion, the Post writer discussed it with the proprietor of a well known billiard room whose place is a gathering joint for men about town. The billiard room proprietor said:

"I have sold whisky at my bar for fifteen years. I stopped cold when Prohibition went into effect. I do a better billiard business than ever before. Most of these fellows who denounce Prohibition are kidding themselves. They denounce it just to agree with some loud talking fellow, but they do not think that way at home. I will lay even money that if it comes to a vote, New York City will go for Prohibition.

This statement was disputed by a former whisky salesman present and it was agreed by the whisky salesman and the proprietor to try it out then and there. Ten men were in the room, and all of them were former drinking men. A secret vote was taken, each man writing his ballot and depositing it in a hat.

The count showed 8 to 2 in favor of Prohibition.

The former whisky salesman kicked and said the gang was kidding him. "Just a minute!" the billiard-room keeper snapped him up. "It's not these fellows but the old whisky sellers like you that are kidding themselves. See that fellow over there at the billiard table—know him?"

He pointed to a man that we all knew to be a copy reader on one of the papers.

"Sure, I know him—one of our old gang."

"Looks pretty good, doesn't he? You don't see any more of those red blotches on his face, do you? He hasn't been drinking for a year."

"Well, what of that? He could have gone on the wagon in the old days if he'd wanted to, couldn't he?"

"Yes, but he didn't. And you know as well as the rest of us how often he failed to show up for work, and how we had to stall for him over that telephone there. Another thing: I've often heard you say that when you were a whisky salesman you took twenty-five or thirty drinks a day. Now you don't take four a day, and you're looking good."

"I ain't saying that too much liquor don't do a guy any harm," still argued the whisky man, "but I'm sayin' it's a bad law that says I can't take a dozen drinks if I want to. That's my own personal business."

"And," said the billiard-room man to the group leaning over his former bar, "that guy'll go right on thinking that way as long as he lives. He'll make that speech in some crowd and rather than argue with him they'll all agree with him. I see it here every day."

"He'll go away swearing and be-

Prophy-lactic Tooth Brush

YOU can make any tooth brush reach the inside surfaces of the teeth, if you try hard enough.

But the curved handle of the Prophy-lactic Tooth Brush makes it easy to brush the hard-to-reach places.

The tufted bristles reach between the teeth and into depressions made by crooked teeth without any special effort on your part.

This brush gives you all the help in the world and makes every brushing a thorough one.

Prophy-lactic Tooth Brushes are made in three sizes—adults', youths', and children's; and in three textures of bristles—hard, medium, and soft.

Each brush is sterilized after being enclosed in the yellow box. Buy them at any store where tooth brushes are sold.

If you buy one that does not give you satisfactory service, return it to us and we will replace it.

Send for interesting booklet on the Care of the Teeth. Distributed in Nfld. by GERALD S. DOYLE, St. John's.

Having that everybody is against Prohibition, and that if the people had a vote on it they'd show these Anti-Saloon Leaguers something. But take it from me, when it comes to a show-down the people will vote just about like we did a few minutes ago.

"I used to loan money to fellows who've now got money in the banks and who are buying things for their homes. They don't stay around here late at nights either. They are not kidding themselves."

The Post writer sums up the facts of the changed conditions in New York under Prohibition in this way:

Institutions devoted to the practice of what is often called the oldest profession in the world, the police say, have perished.

Gambling houses are gradually becoming extinct as quasi public institutions.

An old police captain in New York declares that mighty few grown men would go to either of these institutions unless drunk or drugging.

The annual hooper's day of the Salvation Army is no more. For years this organization picked up all the drunks from public parks, railway stations, etc., when Thanksgiving Day came and gave them a dinner. There were not many homeless drunks last year and the day was given to the Other charitable institutions and mission hotels, including the Mills Hotel, report that drunkenness among the applicants for food and shelter has about disappeared. Another thing that has disappeared from city life and one that occasioned much wonder among old timers, is the bar-room pest. What has become of him?

IF IT'S WORTH WHILE. If it's worth while, then it's worth a few blows. Worth a few setbacks and worth a few bruises. If it's worth while—and it is, I suppose—It's worth keeping on, though the first struggle looms.

If it's worth while, then it's worth a good fight. Worth a few bouts with the demon. Worth going after with all your might. Worth keeping on 'till you've proved you are master.

If it's worth while, then it's worth a few pains. Worth a few heartaches and worth a few scowls. Worth clinging fast to the hope that remains. Worth going on through the doubtful tomorrow.

Stand to the battle and see the test through. Pay all you have in endurance and might for it. If it's worth while and a good thing to do. Then it is worth all it costs in the fight for it.

EXCUSES VERSUS RESULTS.

There are two classes of people in this world (along with the innumerable other classifications such as "folks who like olives and folks who don't")—the people who are satisfied with nothing short of doing what they set out to do, and the people who think that having a good excuse is just as good as getting results.

Here is the sort of thing I mean. I know of a man who for 35 years has been in the same organization without making much headway. His excuse is that the head of the firm had several sons and nephews to whom were given all the important executive positions. That man brings forward that explanation of his minor position with the same satisfaction with which a different kind of man would speak of his own advancement. Of course there is some truth in it.

But you know as well as I do that there are men who would not be satisfied with that excuse, and who would either have blasted their way through it to the top, or have gone elsewhere.

Excuse Instead of a Market.

A man on our street started a business of his own on a very small capital and against the advice of his friends. His end of the business has been carried on skilfully and well, but the people who promised to buy his product went back on him and the business failed. He did not seem at all abashed. "The failure was not my fault," he says, "if those people had been honest I would have made a whale of a thing of it just as I said I would." And with that he seems content. If the other kind of man had gone into that business, one of two things would happened. Either he would have found out in the first place whether the firm he was to depend on for his market was honest or not, or, when that market failed him, he would have found another. But this man found an excuse instead of finding another market.

More Excuses.

Of course it is not only in business that people are satisfied to let the excuse take the place of execution. In school, in college, in games, in housework, in club work, in social life, we do the same thing. It is always easier to find a club member who can be depended upon to give an unimpeachable excuse for not getting the 20 articles she promised for the fancy goods table than it is to find one who can be depended upon to turn over those 20 articles rain or shine.

Why We Plan Them.

Sometimes when I don't feel like doing something I know I ought to do, I catch myself thinking: "Well, I can say that I—etc." And then I know that I am putting myself in the class of the weaklings, who are satisfied with excuse instead of accomplishment.

I said at the beginning that there were not two classes of people, those who are satisfied only with good results and those who are content with a good excuse. I was wrong. There is a third class much larger than either. Most of us belong to it.

Musical Horse-Shoes.

Way back about the year 1770 a country blacksmith, in a little place near Exeter, England, began to make his horse-shoes, which were mysteriously disappearing, one or two at a time. Keeping watch, he at last discovered the guilty culprit to be a harmless little boy, about six years old. Following him home, his parents were duly informed, and the boy was commanded to tell what he had done with the stolen horse-shoes. Leading the way to an upper room, he showed them. From the twenty or thirty he had taken, he had chosen out eight and hung them up by strings, and these, when struck lightly by a piece of iron, gave out the notes of the musical scale—the largest one gave the deepest tone, the smallest one, the highest. On this crude instrument he had taught himself to play tunes.

The minister, Rev. Mr. Eastcott, was appealed to in the matter. No doubt he gave the little chap serious admonition on the sin of stealing, but after that he had the good sense to advise the boy's parents to give him a musical education, and they apprenticed him to an organist in Exeter, named Jackson—the same boy, by the way, who composed the Te Deum in F, which has long been a stand-by with many choirs. When he had grown older and his apprenticeship was finished, he went to London, where he wrote a great deal of music for the theatre—that is, "incidental music" for various plays, new and old. He also wrote a great many songs which were popular in their day. One of them, "The Boy of Biscay," is not yet quite forgotten. The boy's name was John Davy.

Increases the action of the intestines

Hundreds of men and women have already found freedom from laxatives by eating Fleischmann's fresh yeast.

Doctors are now agreed that proper elimination of waste matter should be brought about by food. One doctor comes right out and states plainly that the insinuate use of cathartics is one of the causes of constipation.

Physicians all over the country are recommending Fleischmann's fresh yeast because it is a fresh food, rich in those elements which keep the intestines healthy. In one series of tested cases, normal functions were restored in from 3 days to 5 weeks.

Try it out for yourself. Begin today by adding 1/2 oz. of Fleischmann's Yeast to your everyday diet. Keep it up and see how naturally and regularly your intestines act. Be sure it's Fleischmann's Yeast—the familiar tin with the yellow label. Place a standing order with your grocer.

Prize Morsel for Cannibals.

Among the cannibals of New Guinea, according to a correspondent, no morsel is more prized at a feast than the left shoulder blade of a 10-year-old girl. It is recorded also that one roasted "long pig" will satisfy hunger of more than 10 persons. That it is considered more prized than any other morsel is shown by a raiding party of cannibals who, finding a victim asleep, they always wait up before killing him; the morsel being that the first word he utters used as the name of the morsel born in the settlement of the Article I.

PRESENT "FINANCIAL LEAKAGE."

Professors "back in the early days" exercised both economy and frugality in the expenditure of public money. They, evidently, had a little more sense than we have. It was then called "financial leakage" and it was then called, I distinctly remember how Sir R. B. T. Carter, Prime Minister, used to be reported in the local press as sitting "in the chair" with a loaded rifle in his hands guarding the people's money. This is how the Department of Public Works, half a century kept things in hand:—

"Board of Works Office, 2nd January, 1871. It is hereby given that the person who will be accountable for any amount of money expended on account of any of the public institutions under my control, without a written order of the Chairman of the Board, signed by order of the Board."

TEACHER AND HIS INCOME.
The inducements then held out to teachers in the outports. The salary must have been quite as good as the salary:—
"I have a male teacher for a school at Little Harbor, three miles from Willsboro, on the same Island. He is paid $250 currency, per annum, and a month's fishing."

FORMATION OF A CANDIDATE.
Notice of a candidate for the Electoral Division of St. John's, 1871, observed in reference to Legislative proceedings:—"The Address in reply to His Excellency's Speech on opening the Legislature passed the Assembly yesterday. It is to be hoped now, therefore, that the business to be done will be got through with as rapidly as careful progressive legislation will admit of."

A LONG DRAWN-OUT DEBATE.
The Morning Chronicle of February 10th, 1871, observed in reference to Legislative proceedings:—"The Address in reply to His Excellency's Speech on opening the Legislature passed the Assembly yesterday. It is to be hoped now, therefore, that the business to be done will be got through with as rapidly as careful progressive legislation will admit of."

APPEAL TO THE ELECTORS.
"I mark how modestly the candidate appealed to the free and independent electors in the early years of responsible Government:—
"Being called upon by a portion of the respectable citizens of this district to offer my name as a candidate to represent your names in the next House of Assembly, and finding your views agree with my own, I at once submit to your election an Anti-Confederate at heart, and have fought hard against Confederation since that question came up in this colony. If you shall honor me as your representative, dependent upon it, I shall keep a sharp eye to your welfare and strive to promote the best interests of the trade, fisheries, agriculture, etc., etc., of Newfoundland. Lighthouses, roads and bridges, agricultural resources, educational grant, poor houses, hospitals, and all other public business shall have my serious attention. I have the honor to be, gentlemen, yours respectfully, William Woodford." This appeal was published on the 12th January, 1871.

says:—"We never have the thermometer down to zero, except once or twice a year, and then only for a few hours, and for a few degrees—three or four, perhaps ten—while we hear of the temperature of twenty below zero in Canada and New Brunswick. Then, we see another effect of this: the Canadians and the North Americans of the same latitude are obliged to keep up hot stoves, continually at most, in their houses, while we have open fire places, and need nothing more; our children, I may say, as lightly clad as in summer, spend a large portion of their time in the open air, and thus, while our neighbors have the sallow hue of confinement tingling their cheeks, and their children look comparatively pale and delicate, our youngsters are blooming with the rosy hue of health, developing their energies by air and exercise, and preparing themselves for the battle of life hereafter, either as hardy mariners or healthy matrons—the blooming mothers of a powerful race. Thus the gulf stream, which clouds our skies, paints the cheek, invigorates the population, pours out to us in its return from the northern basin, the Arctic current which encircles our seas with fish, and enables us to furnish this luxurious and necessary article of food to the languid inter-tropical nations, for no food is so wholesome or so agreeable to the inhabitants of warm countries, whose diet is mostly vegetable, as the dried codfish of Newfoundland."

A WELL-MERITED REPRIMAND.

Speaking of the people's indifference with regard to such essentials as sheep and poultry raising, the Bishop observes:—"It is a shame that, even in St. John's, we have little chance of a turkey till the Halifax steamer comes in; and the goose, the most nutritious, the most useful and the most easily kept of all fowl in a northern country like this, is just as scarce. In the north of Europe you get a goose almost every day; and a good roast goose for dinner, and a feather bed to rest on, are not to be despised; and here, in the very habitat of the goose, the very climate of all others where the bird could be brought to the greatest perfection, and the wild goose, which breeds in enormous numbers, is the most delicate of our wild fowl, we get geese from Nova Scotia, and feather beds from Ireland or Hamburg."

NO RELIGIOUS ANIMOSITY IN THOSE DAYS.

Referring to the people and how they dwelt together in peace and unity, Bishop Mullock adds:—"I have found them, in all parts of the island, hospitable, generous and obliging; Catholics and Protestants live together in the greatest harmony, and it is only in print we find anything, except on extraordinary occasions, like disunion among them. I have always, in the Protestant districts, experienced kindness and consideration. I speak not only of the agents of mercantile houses, who are remarkable for their hospitality and attention to all visitors, or of magistrates; but the fishermen were always ready to lend Catholics in manning a boat when I required it, and I am happy to say that Catholics have acted likewise to their clergymen. It is a pleasing reflection that, though we are not immaculate, and run races to evil, still, out of a population of over 130,000, we have rarely more than eight or ten prisoners in goal, and grievous crimes are happily most rare, capital offences scarcely heard of."

THE PEOPLE AFLOAT AND ASHORE.

Somebody has said that "the beneficence of Providence appears at least in Newfoundland to be sadly frustrated by the perverseness of man. The very people, whom no difficulty can intimidate, no danger appal, whose cradle is the tempest, and to whom all hardship is sport, are very different persons afloat and ashore. At sea, they are necessarily laborious; on shore they are constitutionally idle." Any way their rustic life and the primal conditions of the country at that time commended themselves to the big-hearted Bishop. He could say, with the poet:—
"There is pleasure in the pathless woods,
There is a rapture on the lonely shore,
There is society where none intrudes,
By the deep sea, and music in its roar;

I love not man the less, but nature more.

ABOUT OUR JUDGES AND LAWYERS.

One of the wisest and rightest Judges we have ever had on the bench of our Central District Court here was the late Judge Coaroy. You may know a Judge by his judgment and you may know a judgment by the Judge. As Mr. Justice Pincus used to quote for the benefit of Bench and Bar:—"This with our judgments as our watches, none go just alike, yet each believes his own." The late Mr. John H. Bone, on one occasion, while talking over legal matters with me in the library of the old Athenaeum, remarked with the merry twinkle in his eye peculiar to him when he had anything really good to say, and that was pretty often: "An up-to-date lawyer can forecast with fair accuracy the decision of any particular Judge if he is in possession of all the points of the case." But the least easy of all our learned local Judges to anticipate was the late Judge Winter. It was not so much a matter of learning, Sir James Winter's equipment was not greater than that of others one might name. But he never allowed himself to get into a groove. He permitted his views to change, and while he was on the bench of the Supreme Court he never posed as being orthodox on any given class of cases. Having had the advantage of a business training before he took up the study of law, he was looked upon by his associates as an authority on all cases connected with the trade and commerce of the country.

"CALVERT" AND THE NOMENCLATURE BOARD.

It was a happy idea, that of the Nomenclature Board, to change the name of Caplin Bay, Ferryland District, to that of Calvert, after the first Lord Baltimore, George Calvert. In 1835, obtained a patent from James I. creating him proprietor of a part of our island home with all the rights and privileges of nobility. To Ferryland, on the Southern Shore, he sent a colony in 1621, and he spent of his own fortune $25,000 in building warehouses and granaries, as well as a superb mansion for himself. His biographer says: "He followed in 1625, about the time of King James's death, but was completely disappointed with Newfoundland, the climate proving too severe and the soil too rugged. In 1628 he visited the Virginia settlements and explored Chesapeake Bay. From 1628 to 1632 little is known respecting him, but he is supposed to have returned to Newfoundland, as history relates that in the war between England and France he rescued 20 sail of fishing vessels (those of Newfoundland at the time being upward of 250 in number), after they had been captured by a French squadron."

An Orgy of Spending.

WHERE MONEY HAS NO VALUE.
MOSCOW (Associated Press)—Moscow's new capitalists are indulging in an orgy of spending that has culminated in the city's night life until restaurant and cabaret resemble the palmiest days before the war when Muscovite merchants spent money freely. The millions of rubles netted by a day's trade or speculation are squandered at night, because tomorrow the money will buy less as prices for everything are climbing daily. When the ruble was quoted recently at nearly 500,000 to the dollar, prices for foodstuffs and other commodities were four to five times as high as a month previous when the ruble was worth nearly twice as much. The ruble equivalent of a dollar has purchasing power that are

A Dollar's Worth.

A dollar will buy only 20 pounds of black bread, two pounds of butter, four pounds of meat, even less in the line of new wearing apparel. But it will buy a bit of antique jewelry, or porcelain that would bring 10 times as much in America. The necessary things have leaped so high in price that the people sacrifice the unnecessary cheaply to get them. The rising prices and decreasing value of currency have sharpened the contrast in the life of Moscow's inhabitants. Thousands are unable to buy even bread, while hundreds pay the ruble equivalent of $5 for a dinner at the brilliant night restaurants. Imported face powder, at the cost of $5 a box, finds buyers, while a pound of potatoes, costing less than two cents American, may be beyond the pocketbook of the next person to pass the market which sells both of them. A month ago foreigners living in Moscow found life cheap when calculated in American or English currency. The soaring prices, however, have changed all this and on a comparative scale the cost of living is higher now in Moscow than in Berlin and New York. It is not the foreigner, but the Russian speculator who buys the champagne.

Corsets

FOR FULL FIGURES

For every figure there is an appropriate model of La Diva corsets which will give comfort, style, freedom of movement—and at moderate cost.

Model No. 4000—Superbone—is most recommended. This corset of English cut confines the hips, moulds the figure and secures the flat-back, slim effect, without undue compression, owing to its special design and also in the wonderful elasticity of its "Superbone" woven boning used exclusively in these models. WEEKLY MEETING.

The weekly meeting of the Council was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Cook presided and all the Councillors were present.

Communications were tabled from the St. John's Light & Power Company as follows:—

(1) Re street sprinkler service, which was deferred; (2) That attention was being given the covering of unused street car rails in the City; (3) That lights reported out had been attended to.

Solicitor Fox, on behalf of Estate of Connors, referred to the use which was being made by citizens of this property in going to and from the bathing house at Quidi Vidi, stating that, as a result of trespass, damage had been done to crops and fences, and that steps should be taken to prevent recurrence of same. The City Engineer will look into the matter and make arrangements to remedy the cause of complaint.

The taking of a portion of the land, Military Road, property of St. Thomas's Church, was left with the East End Road Commission to make arrangements for securing of said land. The road at this point is very narrow and dangerous to traffic, as the street car crossing is close by and pedestrians cannot alight in safety.

HENRY BLAIR.

T. B. Cliff again called attention to the condition of Gear Street and the lighting of LeMarchant Road. Both matters will be attended to.

Mr. J. H. Lakin brought to the notice of the Council the conduct of the Impounder in dealing with stray cattle, and asked that steps be taken to prevent this official from what he considered all-treating cattle.

The complaint will be investigated. Residents in the vicinity of Scamlers Lane, where new street line was recently adopted, asked that the Council arrange to secure an opening on to Water Street. The property mentioned is east of that at present occupied by the Imperial Tobacco Company, and is owned by the Estate of Smyth. The owners will be communicated with, with a view to arriving at a satisfactory arrangement for purchase of the land.

Mr. S. Elliott, Water Street, asked that surface drain fronting his premises be given attention; also that the parties who have carts, etc., parked on the sidewalk be notified to remove same, as they are both inconvenient and dangerous to pedestrians. This matter was ordered to be given attention.

Mr. Wm. White wrote re condition of sidewalks on the North side of LeMarchant Road, stating pedestrians were compelled to use the main thoroughfare, which is not at all safe, as it is largely used by motorists and traffic of all kinds. It was decided to have the sidewalk repaved in the interest of public safety.

Mr. Jas. O'Brien, 10 McKay Street, complained of damage done his premises through overflow of river. The City Engineer was instructed to investigate.

Messrs. Higgins, Hunt and Emerson intimated it was their intention to claim damages for injuries sustained by Miss Zita Hawkins through falling over projecting shute at the foot of Spencer Street. The communication was ordered placed in the hands of the City Solicitor.

W. B. Fraser offered truck horse for use of Sanitary Department. The Council are not, at present, in need of same.

A communication was tabled from Mr. R. Sutton, in which he stated he was prepared to enter into a contract for the collection of garbage, etc., which is at present being performed by the Sanitary staff. The communication was left in the hands of the Sanitary Committee, who will consider the same, and report their views to the Council.

Mr. F. W. Knight asked that claim for damages referred to in his previous communication, be considered. He stated the value of his property had been greatly depreciated by the close proximity of the dump. He referred to the award made the Council some years ago, when the land in this vicinity was taken for railway terminus, and stated that out of the amount of $200,000.00 awarded the City the Council had expended nothing for repairing and making good damages occasioned by the railway construction. Mr. Knight is evidently not aware that although this award was made in favor of the Council, instead of being given them to be utilized for the purposes mentioned by him, it was placed to the credit of the Consolidated Debt due the Government by the City at that time. The many other matters, mentioned in the rather lengthy communication, were deferred for consideration, were deferred for consideration.

The following plans were passed, subject to the Engineer's approval: Jno. O'Keefe, extension, Job Street; N. W. Chown, garage, Lime Street; M. E. Hamilton, garage, corner McFarlane and Central Streets, on condition same is removed at owner's expense at any time the Council may call upon him to do so; G. Tucker, outhouse, Gear Street.

The application of G. Harris for permission to extend stable, Hamilton Avenue, was deferred to the Health Officer.

The Plumbing Inspector reported that notification had been sent house-owners who have not water and sewerage installed, and on expiration of said notice if regulations are not complied with, the parties in question will be prosecuted.

The health of the City for week showed five new cases of Diphtheria. It was ordered that notice be placed in the daily papers, warning owners of animals which may be found at large within the City that it would be as well for them to see that fences around their property were secure. The Pound fees are $4 per head.

The City Engineer reported on work in connection with various departments under his control for the past week; and also that the widening of Waterford Bridge Road had been commenced, but that it would be necessary to continue the work further east on this road. It was ordered that same be proceeded with, and a portion of the proportion of Messrs. Cousens and Byrne, etc., down to that of Capt. A. Rean, will be appropriated, in order to widen this very narrow thoroughfare.

During the past week, many summonses have been issued against parties owing City Taxes and also some twenty Poll Tax delinquents, who have since made good their indebtedness. The names of a great number owing above taxes have been placed in the hands of the Solicitor, and summonses will be issued against them during the coming week.

MRS. BROCHU LIVED ON VICHY AND MILK DIET

But Now Montreal Woman Eats Anything And Feels Fine All The Time—Gives Tanlac Full Credit.

"For nearly five months before taking Tanlac I had to live on milk and vichy water alone," said Mme. Louise Brochu, 1366 Amity St., Montreal, Que.

"I suffered so much the past two years I was almost a wreck. My digestion was so bad I was almost afraid to eat for everything disagreed with me. My liver got to troubling me too, and pains in my side nearly ran me wild. Nearly every night my sleep was broken by terrible headaches.

"I took the first bottle of Tanlac to please my husband, who worried over my case, but my second bottle I took of my own accord for I was beginning to feel so fine. I have a good appetite now, eat anything, and have no more trouble from pains or sleeplessness. I think Tanlac is wonderful.

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

The Inspector is now taking the names of unregistered dogs within the City and it is more than likely a number of summonses will be issued within the next few weeks.

Reports of Sanitary Supervisor and other department heads, were tabled and requisitions acceded to.

After passing payrolls and weekly accounts, the meeting adjourned.

At the Yarmouth Y.M.C.A. Boys' Camp, held at Tusket Falls in August, I found Minard's Liniment most beneficial for colic and toothache.

Constitution for Lebanon.

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY UNDER FRENCH MANDATE.

BEIRUT, LEBANON. (Associated Press)—The people of Lebanon have been celebrating with fetes the proclamation of a new constitution for Lebanon and the setting up of a new national assembly under the French mandate. The constitution as proclaimed by General Gourard, the French High Commissioner, affords the country a large measure of self-government. The Administrative Committee of Lebanon which was nominated by France in 1920 for the purpose of co-operation in government affairs in Lebanon has been dissolved and has been succeeded by a representative assembly whose members are all elected by the people. There are 30 members in the National Assembly. In accordance with the French electoral law which was promulgated in Syria, there is allowed one deputy for every 20,000 inhabitants. The census just completed shows the population of Lebanon to number 600,000.

French Control of Foreign Affairs.

The constitution affords the National Assembly absolute power over legislation, taxation, education and welfare institutions. France however retains control over foreign and military affairs. The extremists are naturally dissatisfied with the provisions of the constitution and ask for no less than complete independence.

"We are worthy of independence and well qualified for it," declared the ex-mayor of Aintab, in a speech protesting against the new organic laws. "When Palestine, Syria and Mesopotamia were still under the actual sway of Turkey, Mt. Lebanon had a privileged system of government, which afforded a wide scope of freedom. Why cannot we have the same privileges now?" The liberals however who form the majority of the population, although not altogether satisfied with the constitution, still consider it a great step forward in their onward march to free statehood. Their leaders remind the opposition of the fact that the country is still under mandate according to Article 22 of the pact of the League of Nations and therefore still under tutelage. One journal remarked "France in granting us such a liberal constitution has proven herself worthy of the trust given to her by the League."

The state of Lebanon lies to the north of Palestine. It is bounded on the north by the River Kabil and the eastern boundary is fixed along the hills to the east of Lebanon. Beirut is the chief city and seat of government.

Fight Between a Snake and Bird.

From Australia comes a vivid story of a fight between a snake and a bird. A traveller in New South Wales saw a sparrow-hawk dive time after time against some unseen antagonist. He watched it fly round and

1st "Caribou" Company

GIRL GUIDES.
 Last evening the 1st Caribou Company Girl Guides held their first public entertainment in St. Joseph's Hall, which was enjoyed by the large audience present. The affair opened with the Recital of the Guide Law and Manual Exercises by the Company under command of Lieut. John McGrath. After this the Company were put through some figure marching and made a very creditable showing. Then followed a very pretty two act play entitled "The Little Mothers' League" in which all the players (including the Baby) carried out their parts to perfection and were loudly applauded. In the second part of the entertainment another two act play was staged. In this play which had for a title "The Ghost of Tiny" there was a delicious spice of tragedy and romance which all thoroughly enjoyed. During the evening there were dances and songs by the Guides and all were encored. The recitation by Guide Broderick was a feature of the evening, as also was the Dances by Guides Costello, Chislett and Grace as well as the Highland Fling by Guide M. Grace. The whole affair which proved such a success speaks well of the combined efforts of the whole company, and particularly of the management of Lieut. McGrath who conducted it. The pianiste, Miss M. Gallivan, rendered some beautiful music throughout the whole evening. The committees are sorry that the advertised programmes were not available owing to the printers falling them in the last minute. The whole company ended their most successful entertainment in true Guide manner by saluting the flag after forming horseshoe formation. The same entertainment will be presented on next Saturday afternoon at 2.30 for the benefit of those who could not see it last night.

"The Scoffer" a Masterful Production

A BIG THEME HANDLED IN REALISTIC MANNER.
 "The Scoffer" which was seen at the Nickel Theatre last night, was one that appeals to all classes of screen supporters. "The Scoffer" is a powerful story interpreted by a cast of players chosen for their special aptitude in depicting the type of characters assigned and directed by Allan Dwan, under whose magic touch the shadow world pulsates with red-blooded men and women. An excellent example of a successful photography that, strictly speaking, has no "star" but a well-balanced cast of finished players who diversity and hold the interest usually concentrated in the personal equation of the stellar role. There are not important roles essential to the telling of the story in this photodrama and each is in the hands of an artist. The picture is one that you would travel miles to see. Another important feature is Mr. Henry G. Kelly's rendition of "The Lost Chord" and "Cookies and Mussels." Watch for Norma Talmadge on Monday in "The Passion Flower." It moves forward at a tension that grips the mind like a vise, is wonderfully acted and artistically produced adaptation of the stage success.

The Gypsy Curse.

The Gypsies are a race about whom there hangs many a tale of mystery and romance. Long years ago a Moslem saint of Turkey cursed the Gypsies in these words: "May you never more enter or belong to the seventy-seven and a half races that people the earth, but as outcasts be scattered to the four corners of the earth, homeless, wretched and poor; ever wandering and toiling, never realizing wealth, enjoying the fruits of your labor, or acquiring the esteem of mankind." This curse seems to rest upon the Gypsies of the present day, and the son of the Roman is still a wandering, homeless, restless creature. Of the marriage customs of the Gypsies one writer says: "In most tribes of European Gypsies the girls use cakes as love letters. They procure a coin and bake it in a cake, which they fling at the first opportunity to the favored man. All over Europe, and in both the Americas, the fortune of the newly-married pair is told by the chief of the tribe—told from the fragments of a pitcher which he breaks after the bride has checked it with a garland of wild flowers."
