NATIONAL OWNERSHIP AS AN ISSUE

The World is charged by The Ottawa Citizen and The Hamilton Spectator with setting up public ownership as an object of worship. They argue that the matter is not one of principle but of expediency.

Mr. Borden has laid down a principle which is good in many other cases than the Grand Trunk Pacific. "What the people pay for, the people should own."

The same principle applies to street railways, telephones and other similar services. Even if no subsidy is given, the people in these cases give away a franchise that is just as much their property as the money in their pockets.

Now as to the argument that we should not discuss the general principle of government ownership, but confine ourselves strictly to the special circumstances of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

The objection to that course is that it deprives the movement of the greater part of its force. The people, in spite of our contemporaries' jeers, are attracted by the general principle, as well as by its practical advantages.

The Citizen is good enough to compare this journal with the "cranks" who exhibited an interperate zeal for the manipulation of the masses in the United States. Does The Citizen suppose that the states would have been free to-day if it had not been for the intemperate zeal of the abolitionists?

Protection in this country had a similar history. Of course it had its practical side; but it carried the country because the policy of the Conservative party embodied a clear principle, and could be expressed in a phrase. If it had been handled in a gingerly way, confined to two or three special industries, with a lot of ifs and qualifications that would take an hour to explain, it would have made very little headway.

Public ownership will not be won in this half-hearted way, nor will that kind of advocacy bring political advantage to any party. The sentiment in favor of public ownership is growing, not only in federal but in provincial and municipal affairs.

That sentiment is a force which no public man or party can afford to neglect. It will be ten times as effective as all the flouting about the cost of the Grand Trunk Pacific and the details of the bargain. The National Railway will be as effective a phrase as the National Policy; and it

TO HIM THAT HATH SHALL BE GIVEN.

The Globe agrees with us that residents near the mouth of the Don have as much right to regard with disfavor the proposal to establish a packing-house there as those of any other part of the city.

But the Don is not the only stream in that neighborhood there is already a packing-house, the largest in the Dominion, besides one or two soap factories, tanneries and other industries which have each their own proper odor.

It is true that the Don is unusually favored with fragrant industries, but the odors are now combined in certain proportions, and the residents have become accustomed to the blend. Another packing-house would disturb the combination, which would have to be restored by another tannery or other corrective. We may adopt, with a slight modification, what Tennyson says about music:

That each to each, according well, May make one fragrance as before But vaster.

TORONTO'S LIVE STOCK TRADE.

Toronto is the centre of a large and growing live stock business. It is the chief market for the sale of all the live cattle and hogs of this province.

Fresh meat is shipped from Toronto all over Ontario, and often to other provinces. It is also the centre of a very large export trade in the way of live cattle. And on its own account the local butcher business is a very important feature.

This business, to obtain the best results, must have up-to-date facilities, whether for the sale, packing or exporting of the product. The centralizing of the whole trade would best conduce to the highest possible price for the farmers who produce the animal, as well as for the men who buy them, and those who sell them. Such a business as this needs first-class railway accommodation. At the present time, we have stock yards in Toronto Junction, at the west; we have the City Cattle Market in the west, and alongside of which is the Park-Blackwell and the City Cattle Company; at the east, and there is the large plant of the William Davies Company. All this business centres on the front of the city, with the single exception of the cars shipped by the C. P. R., which go out by Toronto Junction and Leaside.

The World is open to suggestions as to how this industry can be centralized, and, above all, suggestions as to how it might be taken away from the front of the city, where traffic is already more than congested. If all the stock yards could be sent to the north of the city on a joint track, owned by the two big railways (and all thru freight for that matter), instead of the single track now owned by the Canadian Pacific, and if accommodation could be found alongside for the stock yards, packing-houses and abattoirs and other appurtenant industries, there would be no doubt about it that the trade would grow still larger, and immense savings could be accomplished. The rise of the live stock and dead meat trade of the United States has been brought about more by savings and economies in handling stock and dead meat than in any other way. Is the City of Toronto prepared to outline and carry out a policy which would centralize this great industry here, would provide the best possible shipping facilities, and at the same time would avoid being a menace to the comfort of our citizens?

A CONSCIENTIOUS JUDGE.

Judge Ferguson's brethren on the bench and of the bar have spoken truly of his high attainments and the esteem in which he is held. Naturally and properly, these tributes were of a serious kind, and it may be some time before any of those who knew him well care to give us a character sketch in a lighter and more familiar vein. With his towering height and great bulk, the judge was a notable figure on the streets of Toronto, and he was equally well known for his unfailing humor. Off duty, he acted as if he had not a care on his mind. His face beamed with good-humor, and he delighted in playing little jokes on street railway conductors and all with whom he came into contact. All the responsibilities of a lawyer and judge could not crush out of the "forty-nine" in him. Solicitors whose cases he had handled with unfailing care and patience, would find inscribed on his briefs such memoranda as "Tom, don't forget your lunch."

THE NEW CONSERVATIVE PLATFORM.

favor of public ownership it means that it is in favor of public ownership ship all along the line. If a man professes to be a public ownership man in regard to a transcontinental railway, he must also be in favor of public ownership for the municipality in which he lives, insofar as the distribution of electrical energy and of gas, of street railway service and the like are concerned.

The Spectator goes on to say that it only knows Mr. Borden to be in favor of the Grand Trunk Pacific being publicly owned, and, by inference, that if he went as far as The World he would be a "faddist" and "foolish."

But The Citizen goes further, and calls The World a "crank"—"the champion crank journal of the country," and that it is "one that is 'doing all it can to obstruct the forward movement' of 'government ownership of railways.'" The Citizen also alleges further dreadful things against this paper.

The World has a plain and short reply: It is not doing job printing, and it is not declaring for public ownership of telephones one week and swallowing that declaration the next, as, unfortunately for The Citizen, we proved last week. It believes in "fads," and working for them day and night, all season out of season, summer and winter. It was called a "fad" paper, and its writers before it existed were called "faddists" in the matter of protection. Perhaps The Spectator was called the same. The World is sorry that it has never been able to record a single act on the part of the Hamilton Spectator in favor of the citizens of that city against the public franchise-holding companies of that town. We have never read a word either in The Citizen or Spectator against the iniquitous electric lighting contracts that have been fastened on the people of both Ottawa and Hamilton by the aid of The Citizen and Spectator.

There are just two cities in Ontario where there have been instances of a solid and united newspaper press on the side of the franchise-holding corporations, and these two cities happen to be where The Southams, Limited, own newspapers and hang out their job printing signs. Newspaper trusts and newspaper combines mean the death of public rights.

The demoralizing influence in our municipal, provincial and federal politics comes from corporations holding or seeking franchises and other favors. The demoralizing influence in newspapers circles these days can be traced up to the same source.

The Southams, Limited, cannot serve the people and the corporations at the same time. Nor can there be in the minds of the people two kinds of public-ownership politicians and journalists. They must be for or against; earnest, whole-souled and true, not lukewarm and not fervor-lacking.

The Spectator has a splendid chance to show what it thinks of Mayor Borden's effort to get a reduction in the lighting contract in Hamilton; The Citizen has already made a show of itself on the lighting contract at Ottawa. With this record behind them they are not the journals to define who are and who are not the friends of public ownership.

CHANCELLOR WALLACE REPLIES.

Editor World: It will be sufficient, in answering President Landon and Chancellor Burwash's letter of June 1, to re-state my position, as opposed to theirs. While earnestly desirous of seeing the principals and masters of our high schools given a higher status than they have now, and strongly in favor of any change, now or later, that shall so improve the qualifications of high school teachers as to add to their efficiency as the educators and trainers of the youth of the province, I am opposed to the plan of a qualifying examination, as advocated by the promoters of the proposed bill.

In my criticism of their memorandum, I pointed out some of the serious objections to the system proposed, and in my letter of May 23, answering their letter of May 18, I expressed certain inconsistencies in their proposals, and in my letter of June 1, I have not found anything which, so far as the proposed system is concerned, has not been pointed out by me. My objections to their proposed plan, as published in their memorandum and modified in their letter of June 1, are as follows: The plan, when referring to me, their proposed scheme was so much in contempt of my opinion, that they introduced into their letter two sentences which I will bring nearer to their own position, under the heading: "The chancellor knows perfectly well that the settlement of all details of the proposed system, and the election of the board, is, and must be, entirely in the hands of the education department." Referring to the present system, they say: "It is clear that the education department has not controlled, and does not now effectively control, the standard of the qualification." If, as implied in this second sentence, the education department lacks the competency or the courage to control the standard of the present simple system, one wonders what ground there is to expect that the education department will have the much more delicate and difficult task referred to in the first sentence. When President Landon and Chancellor Burwash abandon their advocacy of a qualifying examination by outside examiners, under the control of the education department, the force of objections to which they feel, as indicated by the admission of their own position, is that the omission of any attempt to answer them, I am sure they will find that the representatives of Queen's and McMaster universities are ready as themselves to respond sympathetically and heartily to the endeavors of the education department to improve the qualifications of teachers, as may be found necessary from time to time, under conditions equally fair to all candidates, and with a view to the greatest possible efficiency of our high schools. O. C. S. Wallace.

GREAT STROKE OF POLICY.

Saturday Night: Hard as it may have been for Hon. Mr. Borden, leader of the federal opposition, to overcome his prejudices, his declaration in favor of the government building and owning the railway which the Grand Trunk Pacific has been so liberally subsidized to construct, is regarded by a large and influential section of the people as a great stroke of policy. In every sense it is good politics, and the Liberals have made a great mistake in placing themselves on the wrong and unpopular side of this question, as they will discover when they regard how splendidly public ownership will stand when this all-absorbing topic is discussed on the hustings. As to the record of the politicians on this subject, there is no reason why any aggregation of electors wearing a particular name, or any combination of leaders who ask for the control of the country, should year in and year out, decade after decade, allow here to be exploited theories because the date and the view in the present are forefathers wearing the same name refused to be convinced. The Liberals are deluded crowd last night. There are performances to-day at 3:15 and 8:15 p.m. A big bill is promised for next week.

ENGINEERS IN SESSION.

Chicago, June 3.—The closing session of the joint meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the Institution of Mechanical Engineers of Great Britain was held to-day. Technical papers were read by G. J. Churchill and Dr. William Campbell of London, Eng.; Dr. M. Moss of Lafayette, Ind.; J. T. Nicholson, Montreal; and A. H. Hitecock of Columbus, Ohio, and W. J. Keop of Detroit. The next meeting will be held in New York.

HIS SALARY WAS TOO LARGE.

London, June 3.—The solemn debates of the East Suffolk County Council were agitated a few days ago by a modest request from the treasurer, who asked that there had been a grievous fall-off in the amount of work he was called upon to perform, and that therefore it was only fair the council that his salary should be reduced. The council, after some deliberation, say their way to oblige the conscientious treasurer with a reduction of £10 a year.

CONDUCTOR HIT BY ENGINE.

London, June 3.—John Wilson, a G.T.R. conductor, residing on Hill-street, this city, met with a serious accident to-day. Mr. Wilson was attempting to board a yard engine while crossing Colborne-street, but instead was knocked down, and he was seriously injured. He will consequently be confined to his bed for some time.

NEW JAIL DEPUTY.

Peter Ewan, for 22 years deputy governor of the jail, has retired and has been succeeded by John English, for thirty years provincial bailiff to the Central Prison. John J. Ryan of the parliament buildings succeeds him, and Philip Simser will, after June 15, on which date the appointments take effect, transfer the inmate from the jails to the asylums.

MUNRO PARK.

The show at Munro Park to-day is a very fine one and was seen by a large and delighted crowd last night. There are performances to-day at 3:15 and 8:15 p.m. A big bill is promised for next week.

much as it may hurt their ears, should step joyfully into line with their leader by his new policy.

Mr. Borden should not make the mistake of being or appearing half-hearted or weak of faith in this matter, no doubt he adopted it only as a logical alternative and not because he is particularly fond of exactly the sort of thing. The Liberals made a great mistake in abandoning their old fighting ground for if they lost by confiding for a government road years ago they must remember that the world has turned around a great many times since then, and besides have been approached and preached to and have discussed public ownership until tens of thousands who were afraid even to trust a municipal franchise in the hands of an aldermanic body have become champions of the doctrine of public utilities being owned and managed by the people.

The fear of corruption and waste of money in the government building and operating so great an enterprise is of course a great factor in the government's reluctance to have not been able to build it but it will take very few exposures such as the Cornwall Canal lighting contract to convince the public that if a government road years ago they must remember that the world has turned around a great many times since then, and besides have been approached and preached to and have discussed public ownership until tens of thousands who were afraid even to trust a municipal franchise in the hands of an aldermanic body have become champions of the doctrine of public utilities being owned and managed by the people.

The editor of The World has made a sounding mouthful of "Municipal or Public Ownership." And to Mr. Borden he has said, "You must accept my policy, for during eight years' opposition you have not been able to evolve a policy for our party."

Mr. R. L. Borden refused to take Mr. Maclean on his western tour two years ago. Public ownership theories and corporation looting policies were then too advanced for the leader of the opposition.

To-day Mr. Borden stands draped in the clothes cut out for him by William Maclean.

Decent Democrats are to-day ashamed of the mad revel in socialism which that party indulged in when William Maclean laid upon its brow a tarnished crown of free silver.

The day will come and even now is when thoughtful Conservatives will be ashamed of following a leader who would gutturose another man because that man was more successful in a worldly way than he.

Mr. W. Maclean is now the leading factor of the opposition. The principles and his personality are abhorred by such men as Mr. W. R. Brock and other leaders in the councils of the party Mr. Maclean is to-day the leader of the opposition.

The advocates of public ownership are usually the ne'er-do-wells or at best the failures in their respective callings. Failing in their chosen way of life they desire to manage the affairs of their fellows who are more diligent and successful.

Mr. Borden will find himself in strange company when he fully associates himself with the exponents of his new policy.

Public ownership is a beautiful theory. It has been successful where there are financiers and auditors who can do as a Professor Kelch advised, "Manipulate the expenditure so that it can be made almost anything."

Where public ownership is successful in one place, it is ruinous in ten places—just as ten business men fall where one makes a permanent success.

In a thriving, striving and changing country like Canada there is no stable place for men with the policy of looking which is not even concealed behind the name of public ownership.

The man who follows William F. Maclean, who is a rare Beriah Wilkie of finance, will soon be able to talk as proudly to his constituents as did the western speculator 50 years ago.

"Boys, I'm proud and prosperous. A year ago I'm here without a red cent. Now—now, sirs, I owe fifty thousand dollars."

That was Mr. Maclean—before his reincarnation.

LITTLE WILLIES WHO WRECK THEIR PARTY.

Ottawa Free Press: William J. Bryan, a candidate for president, wrecked the Democratic party of the United States when he sanded upon them the theories usually held by the Man Who is a Failure.

William F. Maclean, a candidate for Conservative leadership, will as surely wreck the Conservative party with the policy which he has forced Mr. Borden to accept.

Here are the two Willies—both party wreckers.

Mr. Maclean is a member of parliament, a city man representing a farming constituency, a man with a head full of Wray Willie theories, which will make every man get rich quick without working.

The editor of The World has made a sounding mouthful of "Municipal or Public Ownership." And to Mr. Borden he has said, "You must accept my policy, for during eight years' opposition you have not been able to evolve a policy for our party."

The Glory of Man is His Strength!

The weak person does not live who cannot be made stronger and healthier by wearing my Electric Belt. None of us are perfect, and anything that we can do to add more to such vitality as we possess will make us better.

DR. McLAUGHLIN'S ELECTRIC BELT

It is a positive cure for all weaknesses in man or woman. It is a wonderful tonic, a vitalizer. When you arise in the morning after having worn it all night you feel the vigor of youth in your veins.

It cures, to stay cured, Nervous Debility, Weakness of any kind, whether in Nerves, Stomach, Heart, Liver or Kidneys. It cures Rheumatism, Pains in Back and Shoulders, Sciatica, Lumbago, Indigestion, Neuralgia, Constipation, Dyspepsia and all troubles where new life can restore health.

I Have Confidence in My Treatment, and Any Man Who Will Secure Me Need Not Pay Till Cured.

To Men Who Have Drugged in Vain--To Men Who Have Been Robbed by Quacks--To Men Who Have Lost Faith in Everything.

To men who are weak and debilitated, not only from the defects of a drain upon the vitality, but from excessive drugging and dosing, from rining the organs of the body with poisonous chemicals; to men whose faith in doctors and remedies of all kinds has been destroyed by the failure of every remedy that has been tried--to all men who are sick of medicines which never cure--I say

Stop Drugging. Stop Dosing Yourself.

Nature calls for new strength, and you will never be cured until you supply that strength. I have demonstrated during my twenty years of successful application of Electricity for weakness that it and nothing else will cure these troubles. It is the only thing on earth that will restore the lost vigor to the nerves and organs, and you must use it to be cured.

Well Pleased. Dr. McLaughlin: Dear Sir,--I am wearing the Electric Belt and am well pleased with it; so much so that I am recommending it to others. You might write to the enclosed names, and mention my name if you wish. Yours truly, LUTHER DEBECK, and name, Ont.

CIRCUS COMING TO TOWN
BEST, BIGGEST EVER SEEN
 Ringling's Aggregation of Performance, Spectacle and Menagerie Arrives Sunday.

There are circuses and circuses, but Ringling Brothers have a peculiar place of favor hereabouts. The four special trains were to convey their enormous shows from place to place every day from Toronto to the place where they were to perform. The circus will arrive in Toronto early Sunday morning. Probably before the early rise has had his morning coffee, if he lives within sight of the College-street show grounds, a strange city of capras will have sprung up and fluttering flags will bespeak the circus' arrival.

There is something fascinating about the circus, the sleek horses, the comely acrobats, lazily swinging their trapezes, the neatly stepping canals and the thousands and one other sights and sounds that go to make up a good circus. PROTECT HOME CONTRACTORS.

Yankees Should Be Shut Out When G.P.F. is Built.

"Why should United States contractors enjoy privileges in Canada not enjoyed by Canadian contractors in the United States?" asked a prominent contractor of The World yesterday...

"They have a statute in the United States barring aliens from competing with United States contractors, and we are prevented by this statute from tendering on the work of the enlargement of the Erie Canal, which is a job of $10,000,000...

"When we fail to produce enough contractors in Canada, and they say we did in the case of the engineers, then there can be no objection to allowing foreigners to come in. If the Canadian people are to pay for the railway they ought to be given the preference when the money is being paid out for the construction of the railway. If the Yankees are allowed to come in, a large slice of government money will be taken over by the border to promote American prosperity. It is natural to suppose that the orders for their supplies will be placed with the firms that have been dealing with for years, and thus money that ought to stay in Canada will be sent out of the country."

The gentleman spoke to the added that Canadian contractors built the C.P.R. with the exception of Onderdonk, who was an American.

DREAM AN IDLE ONE.

Emperor Bill Will Be Unable to Germanize Brazil.

Montreal, June 3.—(Special.)—James Mitchell, manager of the Sao Paulo Electric Railway and Power Company, left for Toronto to-day. He has lived in Brazil for 14 years, and being asked what he thought of the German Emperor's dream to get hold of Brazil, said: "This dream, if it were carried out, is an idle one. The Germans, like all other nationalities, do their best to secure a foothold, and they make excellent citizens of the republic. There is no more chance of Brazil being Germanized than the United States. The third generation, and perhaps the second of these German families, is all intent and purposes Brazilian. Neither Germany, the United States nor any other foreign nation will be able to dominate Brazil. They might be able to secure a foothold on the coast, but would never do so because the country is as large as the United States proper, and the population is thirty millions. The Italians are the most numerous of any foreign race, and they, too, are gradually, yet surely, being blended with the natives of Brazil. The Italians have also become large propertyholders, and their people are doing well generally."

Mr. Mitchell explained that the president, as well as the government, highly appreciated the enterprise of Canadian capitalists, who had invested large sums of money in Brazil, and as they had been most successful, would no doubt place a great deal more in different parts of the republic. The Rothschilds have just made a loan of $5,000,000 to the Brazilian government to be used on the Rio Harnsor works, and the same money has been doing Brazil business for years past. It does not look as if they had any apprehension as to the country's ability to pay the interest.

Strong Current of French Emigration Settling in Towards Gaspé.

Montreal, June 3.—(Special.)—Rev. French children up to the age of 13 or 20 will apply themselves to agricultural pursuits. In this manner, the French will serve the young people and Canada as well.

Father Cramillon believes that the best field of action would be in the Gaspé Peninsula, and he also adds that a strong current of French emigration has set in generally towards Canada.

A Thrilling Airship Experience.
In the May World's Work the following thrilling experience in one of his airships is related by Santos-Dumont: Once when I was flying over Paris a rope running from the long frame of the "engine-room" suspended, got caught in the pulley—fortunately in the long frame, not in the "engine-room." I walked along the frame, which is about three inches wide, sideways, leaning down, fixed the pulley and got back to my seat in four or five minutes. How high was I then? Oh, about a thousand feet; but I held on to the braces. If anything happens to my engine I am a ballistoon, and therefore I have a similar predicament to a sea captain whose ship has lost its propellers or broken its engines. He must hoist the sails or be at the mercy of the elements. The valves at the top of the balloon regulate the effect of the temperature upon the gas. If I have difficulty in climbing quickly I throw over some ballast or let out water from the "engine-room."

He Did Not Bite.
Miss Daisy Letter has brought back from London a story about Charles Darwin. "Two English boys," said Miss Letter, "being friends of Darwin, thought one day that they would play a joke on him. They caught a butterfly, a grasshopper, a beetle and a centipede, and out of these creatures they made a strange composite insect. They took the centipede's body, the butterfly's wings, the grasshopper's legs and the beetle's head, and they glued them together carefully. Then, with their new bug in a box, they knocked at Darwin's door. "We've caught this bug in a field," they said. "Can you tell us what kind of a bug it is, sir?" "Darwin looked at the bug and then he looked at the boys. He smiled slightly. "Did it hum when you caught it, he asked. "Yes," they answered, nudging one another. "Then," said Darwin, "it is a humbug!"

54-Piece Set of Wm. A. Rogers Silverware 10.80. For the past two years we have made a demand on the factory supplying us with Silver-plated Spoons and Forks, and have succeeded in securing a great special for Canadian brides of June. Mr. Rogers considers this silverware reduction equal to a raid on the Treasury for United States silver certificates.

Wm. A. Rogers Silver-plated Ware is well known to require little tending from use.
