BRITISH GAIN ON EIGHT-MILE FRONT TAKE TWO VILLAGES, 1200 PRISONERS

Worst Fighting of the War Now Going On on Both Sides of Scarpe River Against New German Trench System—Canadians Advance to Outskirts of Avion Village, Near Lens—Germans Throw Thousands of Troops into the Fighting and Casualties Are Heavy

BRITISH OPEN GREATEST EFFORT WITH A BIG DRIVE DOWN SCARPE

Despite Savage Resistance, Germans Have to Give Ground Before Onslaught on Wide Front—Three Villages Fall to Attacking Troops—Field Marshal Haig Also Pushes Wedge Along Souchez River, Throwing Loop Further About Lens.

By Arthur S. Draper.
Special Cable to The Toronto World.
London, April 23.—The British grand offensive was renewed today. The battle of Arras became the battle of Douai.

Germany have not thrown an energetic counter-attack against Monchy and sometimes the assaults occurred two or three in a day. They have been consistently hoodwinked. When Haig's khaki-clad soldiers swept down from the heights at day-break this morning they passed over ground covered by thousands of grey-coated bodies. In one day the Germans lost as many as 2,800 killed before Monchy.

CANADIAN LINE NOW CLOSE UP TO AVION

Attack Launched at Dawn Was Speedily Successful and Objectives Were Reached With Relatively Small Losses.

By Stewart Lyon.
Canadian Headquarters in France, via London, April 23.—At dawn this (Monday) morning, after a considerable artillery preparation, an attack was launched upon that part of the enemy line opposite the northern end of the Canadian corps. On the centre and on the extreme south the attack was speedily successful and our objectives were reached with relatively small losses. At the northern end of the line the enemy developed a tenacious resistance, at the electric station to the west of Avion. Here houses had been transformed into carefully fortified machine gun positions, which were difficult to deal with.

Smoldering Battle of Arras Has Burst Into Flaming Fury

British Forces Sweep Over German Positions on Eight-Mile Front, Taking More Than Twelve Hundred Prisoners and Two Villages.

By R. T. Small, Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press.
With the British Army in France, via London, April 23.—The battle of Arras, which has been smoldering for a week past, burst into flaming fury again today, and is still raging tonight, with some of the heaviest fighting of the war in progress.

The sky is alight for miles with the flashes of guns, with star shells that spread a moonlight paleness over the battlefield and with vari-colored rockets, which flash signals to the opposing artillery. The cold east wind carries the echoes of the reverberating cannonade far back of the British lines.

where is there any regular tracing of trench works to barrage. "For the present, it must be a business of clearing out the widely pulverized enemy, which is being done with the least costly tactics by pounding ground rather than by attempting to rush positions in direct infantry attack.

The fighting today covered approximately an eight mile front, from south of Vimy ridge to a point well below Croisilles. At the north end of the attack the British swept over the German fixed positions running about due south from Lens and captured long sections of German positions in front of the Hindenburg line and a great number of prisoners.

Today in many parts of the battle front there were no more dugouts to serve as shelters and the Germans had to stand and fight, with the result that their casualties were higher and their prisoners fewer in those sections of the line.

"I hear that many tanks have been in action and have given a fine account of themselves. "The weather is all in our favor and our aimers are busy. It is too soon yet to get definite details of the extensive operations. However, we have not done quite so well in other places. That is all that can be said for the moment."

Between Gavrelle and Croisilles the heaviest fighting occurred along both banks of the Scarpe and around Monchy-le-Preux, where the British Easter advance had projected a sharp salient into the German lines. Monchy was taken in the first phase of the Arras battle after three days fighting, and has been held against desperate counter-assaults.

The artillery preparation for today's attacks did not cover the ground and did not equal in intensity that of Easter Monday, when the first battles of Arras were launched. There had been what is termed a deliberate bombardment for two days, but nothing like the mass of fire which was concentrated to blow the Germans out of their old positions opposite the cathedral city.

Copenhagen, via London, April 23.—Additional light is gradually being thrown upon the extent of the recent strike in Berlin, by items appearing in the Berlin newspapers. The Vorwarts which previously denied, explicitly with other Berlin newspapers, that the big munitions centre of Spandau, near Berlin, was affected by the strike, printed the following in Monday's edition:

During the past two days the enemy have been putting gas shells into Vimy and Petit Vimy and this morning in the black area, they experimented with what is believed to be a new form of poison gas. Eight bombs, bursting high in the air, threw out at first a ruddy glare, then a bright orange vapor, which rapidly changed to a heavy grey cloud that drifted before the wind. No ill effect, however, was observed in the district in which these bombs burst.

OFFICIAL WAR REPORTS

BRITISH.

London, April 23.—The official report from British headquarters in France tonight reads: "There was heavy and continuous fighting throughout the day on both banks of the Scarpe, and important enemy positions were gained by our troops. A marked feature of the day's operations was the frequent violent enemy counter-attacks, in which he suffered heavy losses.

FRENCH.

Paris, April 23.—The official communication issued tonight, reads: "In Belgium the enemy launched this morning several attacks at various points along our front, but these were completely repulsed by our fire. Some enemy groups which succeeded in penetrating our advance elements were driven out immediately after a hand-to-hand engagement. The Germans left prisoners in our hands.

NEW BATTLE AT ARRAS ONE OF WAR'S HARDEST

Germans, Stimulated to Extreme Efforts by Officers, Make Stubborn Resistance, But Lose Heavily—Conflict is One to Death.

London, April 24.—Correspondents at British headquarters in France concur in statements that the battle which has been resumed at Arras is much fiercer than when it began. The Germans, they say, were fully prepared for its renewal and are being stimulated to extreme resistance by their officers. One of the correspondents asserts that it is one of the most difficult battles of the whole war.

Washington, April 23.—Further encouraging reports from Russia came today in despatch to the state department telling of the effect of President Wilson's war address and declaring that Russia under the new democratic provisional government, is no more likely to abandon the war without achieving her object than is the United States.

DINEEN'S POPULAR SALE
The Dineen Sale continues to be of absorbing interest to shoppers on Congress Street. Every day finds a new throng with renewed interest in the bargains. Original coats are entirely lost sight of in the great reductions made for the closing days of the sale. Store opens at 10 o'clock this morning. Dineen's, 140 Yonge Street.

Thus far the number of prisoners counted considerably exceeds a thousand around Tresscaut. Throughout the day the fighting was most savage. The Germans prepared to battle for every yard of the ground which leads to their base at Douai, counter-attacked again and again, but without being able to check the British advance. Both General Haig's communique and the Berlin bulletin comment on the heavy losses inflicted on the enemy. The British attack has grown more violent and the Hindenburg defence has stiffened.

Berlin asserts that German aviators fired four enemy captive balloons and brought down eleven planes. It is reported that the pursuit squadron, operating under Baron Richthofen, has brought down 100 allied planes. Calm in French Lines. Except for the occasional pounding of the artillery the day was relatively calm along that part of the French front faced by the formation of the Crown Prince. But there were attempted German diversions both on that portion of the Belgian front still held by French troops and east of St. Mihiel and in the Woëvre, beyond Verdun.

Big Canadian Wheat Cargo Sent as Gift to Belgians
New York, April 23.—The local officers of the Belgian relief commission authorize the information that another full cargo of Canadian wheat, a gift from the people of Canada, has been shipped to the commission's headquarters at Rotterdam, for distribution among the destitute population of Belgium. The value of the cargo is estimated at $12,235 and is the seventh complete cargo of wheat sent to Belgium by the people of Canada.

Important Positions. The positions which the British have maintained and gradually extended for more than a week on the heights east of Monchy were the key to much of the day's fighting. The importance of these ridge lines to the Germans lies in the fact that they dominate the plains of Douai for 40 miles. Not a day has passed that the Clean House With an Electro-Vac.

Here is a Durable and Efficient Machine Moderately Priced at $27.50. And this last is a very strong argument in its favor, for it is marked at the same figure as the usual price in the United States, the place of its manufacture. Its remarkable efficiency is assured by these special features: A graded scale bar, making it possible to adjust the suction regulator for rugs of either very short or very long pile. A motor that is fully guaranteed by its maker (independent of the guarantee of the Electro-Vac)--placed horizontally and so assembled that it cannot come out of position. A tipping device by which the machine can be raised when necessary to run from one rug to another. Two auto roller-bearing wheels which do not need oiling. Oil reservoirs which insure a constant supply of oil, prevent overheated bearings and need filling only once a year. A self-adjusting brush located in the nozzle and so arranged that it cannot get out of order. An encasement of nicked pressed steel, which is extremely durable. The price of the machine ready for use is $27.50. Attachments for cleaning upholstery, stairs, etc., can be supplied for $7.00. A Reliable Carpet Sweeper, $22.50. The "Perpetual" Carpet Sweeper has a strong, well-made hardwood case, in oak or mahogany finish, rubber tires, good brush and screw-in handle; good value. Price .2.50

Canadian Northern Railway Has Enormous Possibilities and Can Be Made Self-Sustaining in Few Years Say American Railway Experts

Capital Invested in Property Has Been Secured Economically and Expended Wisely. Interest Rate on Fixed Capital Has Average Under 3.93 p.c. Railroad Could Not Be Duplicated for Anything Like Its Present Cost. With Proper Facilities Completed System Should Earn All Fixed Charges. Physical Property Will Permit It to Meet Any Competition That May Be Offered.

Ottawa, April 23.—(By a Staff Reporter.)—A report that ought to be an important factor in solving one of Canada's most important railway problems has been completed on the Canadian Northern Railway system by a special commission composed of Edward E. Loomis, president of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Co., and former vice-president of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad Co., and John W. Platten, president of the United States Mortgage Trust Co.

The enormous possibilities of this new transcontinental line and the relatively small expenditures that are now necessary, in order to enable it to obtain the benefits of its full earning power.

that a large and profitable volume of originating traffic can be developed along the lines of the system. A large interline traffic can also be built to the United States gateways and like ports and a fair share of through transcontinental business secured.

Principal Features of Report. Some of the features of the report are in the soundness of this big Canadian undertaking can quickly be gathered from a number of the conclusions reached by them after their exhaustive study and investigation. Among them are the following: "We are unanimously of the opinion, after many months' consideration of the subject, that the Canadian Northern Railway undertaking is sound and that its soundness can be demonstrated at this time."

"The railway now has 3513 miles of line practically complete and 948 miles under construction, which will make the total mileage of the system 10,441 miles."

"The transcontinental main line grades over practically its entire route are the most favorable in existence, and under a normally developed traffic density the railway should operate at a ratio previously unknown and at enormous profit."

McCoig's Resolution Defeated After Debate on Farm Production Problem.

FOOD RIOTS PREDICTED

Verville Accuses Labor Minister of Failure to Achieve Results.

Ottawa, April 23.—The house of commons today discussed "more production" and the allied question of the high cost of living. Archibald McCoig, Liberal member for West Kent, moved to have tractor engines for farm purposes admitted free of duty, but after a short debate the resolution was voted down.

Replying to a question on the orders of the day, Sir Edward Kemp said that the government was now engaged in making an inventory and appraisal of the Ross rifle factory and no manufacturing was being proceeded with. The government, however, was prepared to make an improved rifle.

Mr. Blain (Peel) asked what the tractor cost laid down in Ontario, freight and duty paid. Mr. McCoig: "$1,140 at Onitaham."

prosecutions had been brought under the combines act. Mr. Crothers replied that no prosecutions could be brought about except with the consent of the provincial attorney-general.

PROGRAM OF EXPENDITURES. Estimated gross revenue during first year following completion of either program... $80,320,000

It was hoped that the imperial government would also order some wooden vessels to be built in Canada, and the Dominion government, but the imperial authorities had placed orders for Canadian ships for 22 steel vessels with an aggregate tonnage of 175,000 tons.

Mr. Burman (West Peterborough) thought the Liberals were inconsistent in complaining of high prices, and at the same time advocating free wheat.

Mr. McCoig (West Kent) moved a resolution to the effect that seed beans be admitted into Canada free of duty.

Mr. Crothers is Dubious. Mr. Crothers, minister of labor, doubted if any such price as $12.25 per ton had ever been charged for coal in New Brunswick.

Mr. MacDonnell (Picton) said the high cost of coal was largely due to the fact that coal miners had been recruited for military service overseas.

Added Value in This Milk

Why is it that milk from one dairy should be preferred to milk from another? Why is it that the people in Toronto prefer The Farmers' Dairy Milk? It is because of the added value. Because they get something more than "eighteen pints for a dollar."

The Farmers' Dairy milk is better. It is pure. It is fresh. It is safe. The farms the milk comes from increase the value of the milk for they are an assurance to customers of the quality and cleanliness of the milk. Added value is given to the milk by the way in which it is handled at the sanitary dairy. In the dairy it is scientifically pasteurized. This makes it safe, more digestible and increases its keeping power. The milk is bottled by machinery—no human hands touch it. Regularly every day it is delivered by courteous salesmen on the white Farmers' Dairy wagon—a reliable delivery.

You need this extra-value milk. It will make your children healthy and strong. Give them lots of it every day.

A National Curse.

Moved by the protests of Capt. Goforth, The Financial Post has taken up the question of the wet canteens in England, which have been tolerated upon the Canadian troops there against the wish, and it is stated, the express orders of the Canadian Government.

It is not necessary to go outside of Toronto to evidence of disease. The medical staff can give plenty of information on this head if appealed to.

The Financial Post does not emphasize the moral side of the question, leaving that to the other agents, but from the point of view of economics it denounces the criminal waste that the toleration of the system against which it protests has involved.

"Men," it declares, "are being ruined, needlessly and shamefully; and each man thus rendered unfit for useful citizenship, when he goes back to civil life, is a direct loss to the country, a loss that cannot be reckoned in dollars and cents."

There is a feeling in some quarters that it is better to let the evil continue than to make any trouble in trying to stop it.

The Potsdam Princes.

These repeated and concerted smashes on the German lines, unfollowed by any come-back on the part of the German forces, can only mean one thing.

member that the mathematical view is the military view, while to make assurance doubly sure, the element of morale, in which the British troops are superior to the German, is such a factor that the men themselves have no doubt of the result.

The Germans, on the other hand, while they have added to the actual number of their men for the present campaign, have few of the class left which marched so gaily into Belgium thirty-three months ago.

All these things in a nation more mentally alert, less intellectually enslaved, would long ago have led to action. But the German people are not trained in democracy.

As one after another the nations of the earth shook the German dust from their feet the Potsdam princes must have felt that the strokes of doom were falling closer.

The crumbling of the huge German war machine will be the greatest tragedy of history. It will mean revolution.

Give a cheer to the boys of Vimy ridge. Raise the flag to the breeze. Over land and ocean.

Give a cheer, loud and long, to the boys Canada, or the troops, either of them, in this mention, but to the persons who see injury where no injury is intended, and especially in such a case as this, are blind, indeed.

Give a cheer and a tiger for our brave lads—Canadian true to the core—Against the hell-hounds of earth And their lion roars with a roar.

CITIZEN OF TRENTON DIES AT NINETY-FIVE Was Well-Known Public Man Thruout District in Which He Lived.

The funeral of Thomas German of Trenton took place in that town yesterday. Mr. German died on April 19 in his 95th year. The late Mr. German, who was one of the town's best known public citizens, was born near Belfast, Ireland, and at the age of eleven years emigrated with his parents and settled on a farm in the Township of Sydney.

The late Mr. German was a member of the town council for eleven years, and at different times served on the board of education. He was a justice of the peace, and was the second oldest member of the Masonic order in Ontario.

"There are three attitudes toward the business of race track gambling," he said, "held by three different sections of the community. There is the attitude of the puritan, and the average honest intelligent man of the street who does not ask for his money's worth."

"The grafter is one who preys upon people either against the law or under the law. A man who, pretending to do a public service, is really doing something for himself, is a grafter."

Willing to Have Rules Under the Revenue Act Changed.

WOULD LIMIT PROFITS

Part of Surplus for Red Cross and Aid of Disabled Soldiers.

The racing associations are willing to have the rules under the Revenue Act (under which certain taxes are collected from race tracks, when licensed by the Ontario Government), changed so as to greatly limit their profits, and to perhaps reduce the days of racing, certainly to the benefit of the Red Cross and disabled soldiers.

The Ontario Government will have to approve any changes in the rules of racing that go with the license, and these changes, it is now known, will be quite drastic. Hon. Mr. McGarry, provincial treasurer, is taking advice on the subject, and looking into the complaints made by Mr. Raney and The Globe.

Messrs. Michie & Co., Ltd. Toronto, Canada.

Dear Sirs: The enclosed letter of advice mailed by you on Dec. 20th was only received here March 17th, so had no chance of notifying you of receipt of parcel.

For some reason to me unknown, I received the parcel in Feb. 19th, over a month before this letter, and naturally didn't know the sender's name, so I had to wait and see.

Be assured that the parcel was in every way satisfactory and it was not your fault that this advice was not in your hands ere this.

Yours truly, (Sgd.) D. Stephen, Cpl. No. 907405.

FRIND ALIMONY CASE AGAIN IN THE COURTS

Husband Brings Retaliatory Charges Against His Wife—Other Witness Examined.

Max Arno Frind, defendant in the case brought against him by his wife, Mrs. Alice Louise Frind, for alimony in an unstated amount was the most important witness yesterday when the defence opened its case before Justice Middleton in the non-jury assize court after a three months' postponement. The plaintiff's testimony was offered to the presiding judge in February and Justice Middleton, with its conclusion, ordered the postponement to permit of a possible reconciliation between Frind and his wife.

Frind in the witness stand yesterday denied the sensational charges made against him by his wife in the February hearing, and made a series of counter-charges claiming that he paid all the bills while his wife and her brother played cards until the early hours of morning.

GARDENING

THE ASTER.

Asters may be grown either from seed planted in the ground outside, or from plants purchased from the florist. Unless one desires very early bloom it is usually satisfactory to sow the seed in the open. This may be done as early as the ground is fit to work in the spring. Many make the mistake of leaving the plants too thickly in the rows. The large branching asters should not stand nearer than fifteen inches apart, each way, and eighteen inches is preferred by many experienced growers. The closer the plants grow the less vigorous branch they throw out. About eighteen inches is about the maximum width apart to leave the plants. Vigorous plants can be procured at the right season for planting from any local seedman and florist in plant boxes holding 12 or 13 plants. Some good varieties are obtainable in mixed and separate colors but where some special variety is required or something choice intended to be raised by the amateur himself, the seed should be procured from an aster specialist, of which there are several who make a feature of this flower. Each year these firms bring to our notice some new variety. Some good seed can be had from any seed store, but they are not exhibited in the five-cent pictorial packet display.

There is no other flower that more closely resembles the chrysanthemum than the aster. So close is its resemblance that thru the efforts of skillful hybridizers there is a variety called the aster-mum. If asters are to be grown successfully they must have the grower's best cultural management. Often an aster is merely put in the soil and allowed to take care of itself. But this treatment only gives it a poor recommendation. Given good rich soil and liberal treatment, we get the best results.

Varieties Worth Selecting. This is a problem that calls for the mental study of the amateur. It is said that experience can only be gained in growing flowers and plants thru failures. We practice by our own growing. Some asters are only useful for cut flower purposes. These hues will grace any silverware or cut glass that adorns the dining table. Others are adapted for bedding purposes, for beds and borders of our residence.

The Giant Comet aster, resembling the Japanese chrysanthemum, stands prominent among all classes of floriculturists. It is of great substance and stands out prominently among other subjects in the border. It can be had in distinct colors. But where a small garden is concerned, the mixed packet of seed is to be preferred. It is more interesting than growing one color. And with the mixed seed one has to wait until the plant has attained its maturity and development before its full beauty can be seen. Another most useful variety is the branching aster. This last two or three years it has come into public fame, owing to the abundance of flowers it carries on long, stout stems. There is the early branching aster, which is the late branching aster. The latter is the variety that should be grown on account of its lasting qualities, and it will be found to bloom thru the latest fall, and often a slight frost will not affect the flowers. If a very early aster is required, "Queen of the Market" is to be recommended. It is not a large flowering species, but it comes in very useful.

The Plume Aster.

The Plume aster, and no aster bed should be without this wonder in the aster world. The demand for this variety is increasing each year, as it offers one of the latest acquisitions. It shows how fertilizing submits to plant life. The feathery petals make them valuable for cutting purposes. In growing the plume aster to perfection it must be remembered that it must have plenty of room, so that a free circulation of air pervades the blooms. This gives it a more gorgeous effect and a fuller development. The rose color in the variety is strikingly showy. The rose, together with the blue and white, will make a good patriotic design for a flower bed.

The Victoria aster, also an old variety, will come up to the standard regarding the qualities of its bloom. Where a bed of asters is required for showy purposes only, and not for cutting, the Victoria, owing to its stiffness, forms an ideal bedding plant. A thunderstorm during the summer will not damage the plants if it does to the tall-growing varieties.

The Grego Aster. The Grego aster is a mid-season variety closely resembling the plume. It is noted for its curled and twisted petals. The seed is more expensive than some of the other varieties. Nevertheless it can be purchased from any seed store. There are scores of varieties that deserve merit that are not mentioned in this column, but the above varieties can be depended upon to suit the amateur florist.
