ARTIFICIAL LEGS AND ARMS

RUBBER FEET AND HANDS.

Although a man may meet with the misfortune of having both his Legs severed from his body, he is not necessarily helpless.~

By having Artificial Legs applied with RUBER FEET attached, he can be restored to his usefulness.

Figure 1 is from an instantaneous photograph of a man ascending a ladder; he has two Artificial Legs substituting his natural ones, which were Legs substituting his natural ones, which were crushed by a railroad accident and amputated.

Figure 2 exposes his Stumps. With his Rubber Feet he can ascend of descend a ladder, balance himself on the rungs; and have his hands at liberty. He can walk and mingle with persons without betraying his loss; in fact he is restored to his former self for all practical purposes,

With the old methods of complicated anklejoints these results could not be so thoroughly

Over ten thousand in practical use, scattered in all parts of the world. Many of these have been supplied without presenting themselves to us, simply by sending measurements on a copyright formula which any one can easily fill out. The press, eminent surgeons and competent judges in many parts of the world have commended the Rubber Foot and Hand for their remarkable advantages.

Awarded the Highest prizes at every competitive exhibition. Endorsed and purchased by the U. S. Government. A treatise of 400 pages and copyright formula, sent free.

PREFACE.

THE PUBLISHERS have great pleasure in placing before the public this edition of the Nova Scotia Directory. The matter contained in this work has been arranged in such a systematic form as to render it very easy for those who peruse it. The fact that this has been such a tremendous undertaking, and the desire to have it published and ready for their advertisers and subscribers in the time specified, has occasioned a great outlay of time, money, and nervous energy. For any shortcoming, the publishers must appeal to their readers. They have experienced great difficulty in getting the names spelled properly; especially is that the case in some counties. Errors of course, will be found (as they are in all works of this kind), but the strict and very careful manner in which this work has been compiled has made the errors that have been committed unavoidable.

The publishers here acknowledge their indebtedness to all who have in any way forwarded this work.

The publishers also express their thanks to one and all of the advertisers and subscribers who responded to make this edition a success, so much so that we find when this very large edition is supplied to the advertisers and subscribers, very few will be left.

HISTORICAL SKETCH.

NOVA SCOTIA.

OVA SCOTIA.—"New Scotland"—was so named by James I. of England. There was a "New England" in America, and he was determined that his own Scotland should in like manner have a part of the mysterious new world called after her. There were "Baronets of Nova Scotia" created by the same monarch, but these worthies have left no mark—hardly the shadow of a name—on our history as a Province.

EARLY HISTORY.

Long before the days of James, long before Columbus cast keen and searching looks upon the Western main, the shores of Nova Scotia were visited and explored by brave adventurers from the far North,—Norsemen who loved the tossing waves and dared anything for the wild joy of being free. Their delight was in raid, and spoil and battle. They sought their prey as far south as the sunny shores of Africa, carrying terror and ruin wherever they darkened the shore. Traditions too numerous and precise to be doubted tell of their visits to this continent, seeking new realms for their adventures. They braved the storms of Labrador and the fogs of Newfoundland, iceberg and polar current, snow storm and wintry gale—they heeded none of these except to battle with their fateful prowess and win the day, or else sleep at night under the waves in endless peace.

Harold, the Fair-haired tyrant of Norway, wishing to bring all into subjection to himself, ruled with the iron hand, and his stubborn opponents, rather than yield, sought new homes in Iceland. This was over a thousand years ago. "Eric the Red" made Iceland his base of operations for exploring the seas—dark and stormy—towards the west. He found "Greenland," and gave that dreary land a pleasant name in order to attract people to its coasts. Thirty-five ships left Iceland in the tenth century to colonize Greenland. From Greenland brave Vikings ventured southward and discovered "Markland" and "Vinland," which may have been portions of Nova Scotia. The tostility of the natives at last constrained the Norsemen to turn their prows to the riendly shelter of their Greenland home.

MODERN DISCOVERY.

These stories of the olden time are interesting in their way; but it is more to our urpose to note that our Province was certainly discovered in 1498, by Sebastian Cabot. ome years afterwards French fishermen from Basque and Bretagne visited Cape reton, and began to fish on its coasts,—an industry pursued with commendable ersistency and with much success to this hour.

In 1518 Baron de Lery, brave and adventurous, undertook to found a French blony in "Acadia," which then included New Brunswick and part of what is now the State of Maine. He set sail with a considerable company of intended settlers; but the expedition failed—mainly because of tempestuous weather. As early as 1590 some. English adventurers visited Cape Breton, but they failed to effect a permanent settlement there. In 1598 we have to note Marquis de la Roche's fatal experiment of settling the country by convicts. Sable Island was selected by him as the right spot to commence his experiment. Forty of his men were left on that storm-swept and perilous spot. He was himself, with his vessel, driven home to France by a gale. Flung into prison there in consequence of some local strife, it was five years before he could return to America. By that time his Sable Island colony was reduced to a wretched remnant of twelve gaunt survivors, who had endured the tortures of frost and famine, and now eagerly longed for their old home. They were taken back to France, and it is pleasant to learn that they were kindly treated.

EXPLORATION.

The French were the earliest explorers and settlers in a large portion of this continent, and they have left their mark permanently upon Nova Scotia. Near Arichat and Canso French fishermen early sought to gather the harvest of the sea. Mention is made of one old mariner who had made forty-two voyages between Canso and his home in France prior to 1605.

It was in 1583 that the chivalrous Sir Humphrey Gilbert visited Sable Island and felt the full power of the storms which so often strew its sands with wreck and ruin. He came across the sea to make a settlement, or at least to pave the way for permanent trade. But no lighthouse rose on Sable Island to warn him of its perilous shoals, and one of his vessels was wrecked there and a hundred men were drowned. How vast the tribute gathered by the fierce Atlantic from those who have explored its deeps and unveiled its mysteries! Two of Sir Humphrey's vessels remained, and they were tossed by a gale and driven eastward, till they were near the Azores. There the storm grew worse, and there the Squirrel, a poor little craft of ten tons, in which Sir Humphrey sailed, was swallowed up by the deep waves. "Courage, my lads! we are as near heaven by sea as by land," was the last message of the brave and undaunted sailor to the captain of the Golden Hind, which happily reached England in spite of torn sail and shattered timbers.

Sable Island is about twenty-five miles in length, and varies from two to three miles in breadth, with a salt water lake thirteen miles long running along its centre. It is now well provided with lighthouses and life-saving apparatus, and though wrecks still occur there, the loss of life is comparatively small. A Spanish fleet sent out to colonize Cape Breton was wrecked on this island; and here, too, poor D'Anville lost a portion of the gallant fleet with which he was to conquer the old British colonies.

In 1604 two famous Frenchmen, DeMonts and Champlain, explored Nova Scotia, isiting all its harbors from Canso to Annapolis Basin. The Bay of Fundy they called Baie Française," a name it retained until the British conquest. They found that the indians spoke of the country as Acadie, "a land of plenty," and well might it be so amed, for it abounded in fish, in fur-bearing animals, in wild fowl and all sorts of tame. The first view of Annapolis Basin is thus described by Poutrincourt:—"It was not us a thing marvellous to see the fair distance and the largeness of it (the Basin) and the mountains and hills that environed it; and I wondered how so fair a place emained desert, being all filled with woods, seeing that so many pine away in this world who could make good of this land if only they had a chief governor to conduct them hither. We found meadows among which brooks do run without number, which come from the hills and mountains adjoining. There is in the passages out to sea a brook which falleth from the high rocks down, and in falling disperseth itself into a small rain, which is very delightful in summer."

EARLY COLONISTS; RAIDS.

Poutrincourt entained a grant of this region from DeMonts, and here was founded "Port Royal," long the capital of Acadia. The little colony and the town they built prospered for a time, and all went pleasantly. The Indians were friendly. There was abundance of fish and game. Champlain founded the Order of the Good Time, and it was hoped that no enemy would arrive to disturb or destroy. Champlain spent three and a half years in Acadia, and then left to explore the vast interior of the continent. Port Royal was attacked by a marauding party of Dutchmen from "New Netherlands," who seized the furs so laboriously collected by the French and their Micmac allies. Port Royal was temporarily abandoned; but in 1618 Poutrincourt returned to it with a band of new colonists, among whom were skilled artizans and Jesuit missionaries. Better dwellings were erected, and defences of considerable strength were provided. The Jesuits converted Memberton, a Micmac chief about a hundred years old, and the Indians generally were speedily brought under the influence of the Christian religion. While Pontrincourt owned Port Royal, DeMonts had a grant of all Acadia besides. Madame Guercheville bought out DeMonts, and the King confirmed to her the whole Province with the exception of Port Royal.

In 1613 Captain Samuel Argall came all the way from Virginia, with authority from the English governor there to claim Acadia, and to take it with the strong arm. He destroyed every French settlement along the Bay of Fundy, and Port Royal he utterly demolished. Twice the fierce invader came to Acadia to molest and destroy, and thus commenced troubles which never ceased for any considerable period till after the permanent conquest and settlement by the British. Poutrincourt returned to France, and in 1615 fell in battle.

"BARONS OF NOVA SCOTIA."

In 1622 an effort was made by Sir William Alexander, Earl of Stirling, to plant a Scotch colony in Nova Scotia, but without success. Charles I. carried out his father's proposal, and in 1625 granted patents to "Barons of Nova Scotia." Up to 1635 there were in Nova Scotia sixteen of these Baronets' estates, thirty-four in New Brunswick, twenty-four in Cape Breton, and thirty-four in Anticosti. Each estate was to be six niles by three in extent, and to be held on condition of being settled.

THE LA TOURS.

Among the French colonists the De la Tours, father and son, figured prominently. They, after many adventures, erected a fort, St. Louis, near Cape Sable, near the outh-west of the Acadian peninsula. The father sailed for France to ask from the ling vessels and men to save Acadia from the English. The King granted the aid sked, and De la Tour, senior, was on his way with a fleet of eighteen vessels, laden ith men, cannon and ammunition, when he and the whole fleet were captured by Sir avid Kertk (or Kirk) and taken to England. The elder De la Tour was kindly eated by the English, taken to court, accepted for himself and his son baronetcies in Nova Scotia and a grant of land extending from the town of Lunenburg to Yarmouth, with a depth of fifteen miles, making in all 4,500 square miles. He was to return to Nova Scotia at the head of a Scotch colony. He married an English lady, and came with two vessels to Fort St. Louis, where his son had possession. The father told his son what he had done and what honors were theirs, and invited him to give up his fort and his allegiance to France; but the son firmly resisted every inducement. The father resorted to threats and violence, but all in vain. He then proceeded to Port Royal, where a small Scotch colony had been founded in 1620. In 1682 King Charles gave up all Acadia to France, and then young De la Tour welcomed his father to the kindly shelter of his home at Cape Sable.

CONFLICTS.

Isaac Razilli was appointed French Governor of Acadia. Under him Charles De la Tour managed the affairs of the peninsula, and Charnisé the wide region of the Bay of Fundy. When Razilli died these two men succeeded to his power. They were rivals. and sought to supplant one another. Fort-la Tour, at the mouth of the St. John. was De la Tour's stronghold. Charnisé besieged it. De la Tour obtained aid from Boston. and drove his enemy away. Shortly afterwards Charnisé renewed the attack in De la Tour's absence. Madame De la Tour bravely defended the feeble fort. After a struggle lasting three days, Charnisé proposed honorable terms of surrender. Madame De la Tour accepted these; but when Charnisé entered the fort and saw the weakness of the place and the feebleness of the garrison, he basely broke his plighted word, and hanged all the men but one. Madame De la Tour died broken-hearted before her husband's return. De la Tour left the country, a ruined man; but his cruel rival fared. He died within three years, and his estate was worthless. De la Tour once more succeeded to the head of affairs in Acadin, being appointed Governor. Coming back to the scene of his old troubles, he married the widow of Charnisè, his old rival and enemy. In 1654 Acadia was conquered by the English under Colonel Sedgewick. De la Tour made his peace with the English Government, he was reinstated in his Acadian territory, and he sold out to Sir Thomas Temple, and closed his stormy career in comparative repose in Fort la Tour, which his brave wife had once defended so gallantly. The quarrels and rivalries among the French had weakened them in the face of their enemies and rendered them a comparatively easy prey to their English foes. But in 1664 Charles II., to please the French King, to whom he was under heavy financial obligations, handed Acadia back to France. In 1690 Sir William Phipps took Port Royal, and tried in vain to take Quebec. War continued for eight years, and when it ended in 1697 Nova Scotia was again given over to France.

CONQUEST.

Early in the eighteenth century the war broke out again. Port Royal was the French headquarters, and LaHave was a safe retreat for wild sea rovers, who preyed on English commerce and raided the colonial towns. Efforts were made to capture Port Royal, but without success till 1710, when Nicholson, with 35 veseels and 3,500 men, sailed into Annapolis Basin and easily got possession of the place and the adjacent country. In honor of Queen Anne the name was changed from Port Royal to Annapolis.

The Acadians were left unmolested on their farms on condition of taking the oath of allegiance; but this oath they refused to take. Incited by Governor Vandreuil, the Governor of Quebec, they would not work for the English or furnish supplies. They at last tried to recapture the fort; and the Indians still more boldly and mercilessly assailed the English whenever opportunity offered.

In 1713 peace was restored. Nova Scotia and Newfoundland were ceded to England. Cape Breton, P. E. Island and Canada were left to France. The French Acadians refused to pay allegiance to the British sovereign, and they and the Indians regarded the English as enemies whose power should be broken as soon as practicable.

Colonel Nicholson was first Governor of Nova Scotia. He was succeeded by Colonel Phillips, who was Governor nominally for thirty-two years, though he never saw the colony! Colonel Armstrong was Lieutenant-Governor for seventeen years, and on his death he was succeeded by Paul Mascarene, a French Protestant, who remained in office till the arrival of Governor Cornwallis.

The Acadians occupied the most fertile districts of the country. When Annapolis was taken they were promised that for two years they would be unmolested on their farms. But when that period elapsed the Government continued to treat them with all kindness and consideration as British subjects. Still, they refused to swear allegiance, and in case of war they claimed to be "neutrals."

LOUISBURG.

"Isle Royal," "Cape Breton," was still French, and the Government of that country built a town, fortified it, gave it the name of Louisburg, and made it the strongest point in all America. Landward it was protected by a stone wall thirty feet high and a deep moat eighty feet wide. The harbor was guarded by powerful forts. It seemed as if no enemy could effectively assail it from any quarter. Acadians from various directions, anxious for the old flag of France, hastened to Louisburg, which speedily dominated the surrounding country far and near.

In 1744 war was renewed, and Du Quesnel sent Du Vivier from Louisburg to conquer Nova Scotia. Du Vivier took Canso, sailed up to Baie Verte, marched overland to Annapolis, tried to take that old town from Paul Mascarine, but though aided by 300 Indians, he at last gave up the struggle and retired to Minas.

D'ANVILLE'S FLEET.

In 1745 a force of 4000 New England militia, with the co-operation of British menof-war under Commodore Warren, besieged Louisburg. After seven weeks of hard fighting, the French surrendered, and Colonel Pepperell took possession of this "Dunkirk of America." Great as was the joy in London, there was hot rage in Paris, and a fierce resolve to regain at all hazards all that had been lost in America. A mighty fleet, the finest since the Armada, sailed up the Bay of Biscay, was prepared and was sent across the Atlantic under Duc D'Anville. The British colonists from Cape Breton to Virginia were in great fear. But the splendid fleet accomplished nothing but its own destruction. Two ships were taken in European waters by the vigilant English cruisers; some were lost on Sable Island; a large number reached Chebucto Bay, (now Halifax); but three months had been consumed in the voyage, and in Chebucto the fleet was still further weakened by an epidemic disease. D'Anville died. His successor in command, disheartened, committed suicide. In October they set sail to take Annapolis; but a mighty storm prevented their entering the Bay of Fundy. Many vessels were wrecked, and the sad remnant were driven across the Atlantic. In the following year another powerful fleet was sent to capture Louisburg, but it was captured by the British fleet, before it had fairly left Europe.—A body of French soldiers had been sent from Quebec to Chignecto, and round Minas Basin to Annapolis, to assist the fleet to take Annapolis, but as the fleet failed to arrive, DeRamezay with his soldiers returned to Chignecto.

A MASSACRE.

Governor Mascarene asked aid from Governor Shirley of Massachusetts, who sent Col. Noble with 500 to take up their station at Grand Pré, in order to intercept any foe that might come overland to attack Annapolis. Noble with his men arrived at Grand Pré about Christmas. They were scattered in small bodies in the houses of the inhabitants. Ramezay hearing of their arrival and their unguarded condition, determined to pounce upon them unawares. He sent Coulon de Villiers with 600 French and Indians on snowshoes with hand-sleds over the country. On January 23rd, they left Chignecto. In 17 days they reached Windsor. Next day they reached the Gaspereaux Valley. No whisper of their approach reached the poor unsuspecting English. After midnight, under cover of a storm, and guided by Acadians, they crept upon their victims. They killed 80. On the morrow the survivors marched off for Annapolis, excepting 70, who were left as prisoners of war. In 1748 peace was restored, and the British Government improvidently restored Louisburg to France, to the deep disgust of the colonial statesmen, who had so eagerly planned and executed its capture.

HALIFAX FOUNDED.

In 1749 Halifax was founded. On the 21st June the Spinx, with Colonel Edward Cornwallis arrived, and he was shortly followed by a considerable fleet with twenty-five hundred colonists, including men, women, and children. Evidently England had made up her mind to take full and definite possession of the country. The newly planted town was made the capital. It was made a place of strength, and its location gave it great stragetic importance. Never again was Acadia to be ceded to any foreign power. Governor Cornwallis called to his aid a council, the leading man being the venerable Paul Mascarene, so long Lieut. Governor. Cornwallis, asked the Acadians to take the oath of allegiance, but they declined, claiming the right to be "neutrals." The Indians were a source of anxiety, for they were lawless, eager for blood, cunning and cruel. They were entirely under French influence. Often they captured victims close to Halifax, killing some, and carrying others captive to Louisburg.

Shortly after the founding of Halifax, a number of Germans were induced to come to Nova Scotia. Some remained in Halifax, but the larger number settled in Lunenburg County, where they have prospered greatly.

In 1754-5, there was a sharp and far-spreading conflict between Great Britain and France for the possession of this Continent. As incidents of that struggle there was trouble along the border line between Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. In 1755 Colonel Monckton captured Fort Beausejour, and called it Fort Cumberland. Other places of strength were subsequently taken.

EXPULSION OF ACADIANS.

In 1755 the "Acadians" were removed from their fertile lands and quiet homes in Nova Scotia. Repeatedly they had refused to take the oath of allegiance. They had shewn unmistakable sympathy with the "enemy." Their produce they sent to Louisburg, instead of Halifax. They encouraged the Indians in lates deeds. France was still strong at Louisburg, in Lower Canada, and she had recently gained a great victory over the English in the Ohio Valley. This was the view the authorities took of the situation when they placed before the Acadians the alternative—" Take the oath, or leave the country,!" The Acadians finally refused to take any oath that would bind them to take up arms against France, and the Halifax authorities then resolved upon their expulsion. 30000 or more were banished from Nova Scotia,—chiefly from Annapolis, Cornwallis, Horton, Windsor, and Chignecto. So bitter was the strife with the Indians that the Government offered a reward for scalps and prisoners!

FINAL CONQUEST.

In 1758 Louisburg was taken for the last time, after a seven weeks' siege by a strong fleet and army. The defences of the town were then-entirely destroyed. St. John's Island (P. E. Island), also was taken. In September, General Wolf with his gallant "Britishers," won a decisive battle on the Plains of Abraham, and captured Quebec. Thus the key of the French dominions in North America passed into the hands of the victors. The gallant Montcalm who commanded the French, was among the slain, and so was the brave Wolfe. When peace was secured, Cape Breton, P. E. Island, and all the islands of the Gulf, except Miquelon and St. Pierre, were ceded to Great Britam.

FIRST ASSEMBLY.

The first Legislative Assembly in Nova Scotia, met in the Court House, Halifax, Oct. 2, 1758. It consisted of twenty-two members. The Indians ceased to be troublesome, and became fast friends of the English. The lands from which the Acadians had been expelled, and which had been desolate for three or four years, were taken up by colonists from New England. The population of the Province in 1758 was about thirteen thousand.

PICTOU.

In 1767, a small colony from Philadelphia arrived at Pictou, in a vessel called the Hop^{ρ} . These pioneers suffered grievous hardships for the first few years. In 1773, there arrived from Scotland the ship Hector, with thirty families. Like their neighbors, from Philadelphia, they suffered terrible privations and hardships. During the first year or two, their dwellings were but huts, that could not screen from the severity of the winter. The men had to proceed to Truro in order to earn food for their families. What they earned they had to drag on their back or on hand-sleds through forty miles of forest.

"UNITED STATES."

Troubles connected with the War of Independence were felt in Nova Scotia, but the great majority of the people continued loyal to the crown. Yarmouth, Lunenburg, Annapolis and Cornwallis were raided upon, and the coast was kept in a state of continual alarm. When the United States had won their independence, many who had continued loyal—"United Empire Loyalists"—came to Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Upper Canada. 'About twenty thousand came to the Maritime Provinces, and nearly as many crossed over to "Canada," chiefly the region now known as Ontario. About twelve thousand settled at Port Razoer, now Shelburne; but the place proved unsuitable for so large a population, and it rapidly declined. The British Government very generously aided the loyalists who, on the other hand had been severely, even cruelly treated by the American authorities.

The "Long Parliament" of Nova Scotia sat from 1770 till 1785. In 1792 an act, was passed limiting parliament to seven years.

A PRINCE.

Prince William Henry, afterwards King William IV., visited Halifax, as a captain in the navy. Prince Edward, Duke of Kent, father of Queen Victoria, for some time commanded the troops at Quebec. In 1794 he removed to Halifax, where he lived two years, as Commander-in-Chief of the forces in British America. He was popular with the citizens, but in the army he was extremely severe.

In 1796, five hundred Maroons were sent to Halifax from Jamaica. They were negroes who had become savage, and who resorted to theft and robbery for a living. They could not make a living here, and were removed to Sierra Leone, Africa.

GOVERNORS.

Governor Parr died in 1791. His successor was Sir John Wentworth, who continued in office 16 years. In his time there was much friction between the House of Assembly and the Governing Council, relative to financial affairs. William C. Long was leader of the popular party, and was elected speaker of the House, but Governor Wentworth declined to receive him. Wentworth died at Halifax in 1820, aged 84 years. "Government House" was built during his tenure of office.—Sir George Provost succeeded Wentworth for a short period. In 1811 Sir John Sherbrooke became Governor of Nova Scotia—Provost having been appointed Governor-General of Canada. The "Province Building," in which the Legislature has met for the last seventy years, was completed in 1819. It was built of Wallace freestone and cost $200,000.

WAR OF 1812.

In 1812 came the "American War." Great Britain was engaged in a deadly struggle with the conqueror of all Europe. Her shores were the only spot where Bonaparte was not supreme. The United States Government had several grievances against Great Britain, and war was proclaimed at Washington, in June, 1812, and in London, in This war continued with varying fortunes, on sea and land, till the close of 1814. The matters which were alleged as causes for war, were not even referred to in the Treaty of Peace. One of the incidents of the war was the capture of the Chesapeake, a first-class U. S. frigate, by the British frigate Shannon, Captain Broke. The latter challenged Captain Lawrence, of the Chesapeake, in Boston Harbor. The naval duel took place outside the harbor. In fifteen minutes the Chesapeake was taken, seventyof her men having been killed, and the captain having been mortally wounded. Shannon brought the Chesapeake into Halifax on Sunday, June 6, 1813. American privateers inflicted much loss on Nova Scotia during the earlier months of the war. For more than sixty years there has been peace between Canada and her neighbor. May it be perpetual!

DEPRESSION.

Commercial depression, as usual, followed the war. This period of depression continued several years, and extended over Europe as well as America. In 1821 Earl Dalhousie used a portion of the "Castine Fund" to found Dalhousie College. This fund had been derived from duties collected at Castine, in Maine, during the war, and amounted to about $40,000. Earl Dalhousie was a public-spirited and popular Governor.

The Earl was succeeded by Sir James Kempt, who took a deep interest in opening roads through the Province. An effort was made in 1827 and succeeding years to construct a canal from the head waters of the Bay of Fundy to Halifax harbor. The distance is short, and there are lakes and streams nearly over the whole route of about forty miles. The "Shubenacadic Canal" was for years regarded as a hopeful project, but at last it proved a total failure.

CAPE BRETON.

In 1820 ('ape Breton was annexed to Nova Scotia, with the privilege of sending two members to the legislature. Up to this time Roman Catholics were not eligible to a scat in the legislature; but Cape Breton having elected Mr. Lawrence Kavanagh, the oath was so changed as to enable Roman Catholics to take it, and in 1827 their disabilities were wholly removed.

GREAT FIRE.

In the autumn of 1825 Halifax, and the Province in general, aided in the relief of the sufferers from the terrible fire which devastated Miramichi. Many lives were lost in the fire, and the property destroyed was immense.

GOVERNMENT AND REFORM.

During the earlier decades of this century the people of Nova Scotia agitated more or less vigorously for changes of government, with a view to secure control of public finances and the other responsibilities of self-government. They demanded that here, as in England, the executive government should be responsible to the representatives of the people. In Nova Scotia government was mainly in the hands of a Council, the members of which, with one exception, resided in Halifax. Eight belonged to the Church of England, and five were partners in the same bank. The Bishop and the Chief Justice were members of the Council. In 1835 Joseph Howe became prominent in connection with efforts to reform affairs in the City of Halifax. In the Nova Scotian newspaper he made certain charges against the magistrates who governed the city. The magistrates prosecuted him for libel, but the jury acquitted him. In 1836 he was elected member of Assembly for Halifax county, and became leader of the Liberal party, which pressed for reform. Associated with Mr. Howe were William Young, fasterwards Chief Justice) L. O'C. Doyle, Herbert Huntingdon, Hugh Bell, James Boyle Uniacke, &c. As a result of the efforts of Mr. Howe and his associates, the deliberations of the Council were conducted in public; then the constitution of the Council was changed. A Legislative Council of fifteen members and an Executive Council of nine were formed. Responsible government was not conceded till after a long conflict. On August 5, 1847, a general election was held which gave the reformers a majority of seven in the Assembly. A change of government took place in January, 1848, Joseph Howe being Provincial Secretary and leader of the administration. John Harvey was Lieutenant-Governor when the change was effected. He died at Halifax in 1852. In 1854 a Reciprocity Treaty with the United States gave an impetus to trade between that country and the British Provinces, in the benefits of which Nova Scotia fully shared. In 1854 an Industrial Exhibition was held in Halifax. Nova Scotia participated in the patriotic feeling evoked by the Crimean war, 1853-1856. this conflict General Williams, Major Welsford and Captain Parker, Nova Scotians, distinguished themselves. Welsford and Parker were killed; Williams survived, and was for a term of years Governor of Nova Scotia.

LIBERALS DEFEATED.

In 1858 the Liberals were defeated in the Legislature of Nova Scotia, and a Government was formed with Hen. J. W. Johnston and Dr. Charles Tupper as leading members. A long-standing dispute between the Province and the "Mining Association" was settled in 1858-9, the company relinquishing all mines and minerals, except in certain defined areas.

RAILWAYS.

In 1836 a few miles of railway were constructed in Pictou county, between Albion Mines and the "Loading Ground" on the harbor of Pictou. A railway from Halifax to Windsor, forty-five miles, was completed in 1857. The road was extended to Truro in 1860, and to Pictou in 1864. There was no communication by rail with the neighbouring Provinces till 1876, when the Intercolonial Railway was opened.

ATLANTIC CABLE.

In 1858 the first Atlantic cable was laid, from the coast of Ireland to Newfoundland, and thence to Nova Scotia. Only one message passed through it. In 1866 effective communication was renewed, and has continued in increasing efficiency ever since.

CHANGES.

A change of government took place in Nova Scotia in 1860, the Conservative government having been defeated in the general elections of 1859. In 1860 the Prince of Wales visited Nova Scotia. In 1861 gold was discovered in Nova Scotia, and mining operations were commenced, which have since assumed important proportions. The general election of 1863 resulted in the overthrow of the Liberal Government. Dr. Tupper became Premier, and in 1864 introduced a measure for the establishment of Free Public Schools throughout the Province.

CONFEDERATION.

In 1864 there was a proposal to unite the Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and P. E. Island under one Government, and a Conference met at Charlottetown to arrange terms. At this Conference delegates from the Canadian Government appeared with proposals for a union of all the Provinces. The larger proposal was cordially received, and in the same year delegates met at Quebec and formulated the "Quebec Scheme." This scheme was approved by the Legislature of Canada, but it was rejected in P E. Island, Newfoundland and New Brunswick, and it was not thought necessary to submit the scheme to the Legislature of Nova Scotia until New Brunswick should be prepared for union. A change came over New Brunswick; the principle of union was adopted there and in Nova Scotia, and it was agreed that a new basis of union should be drawn up in London by the British Government, aided by delegates from the Provinces. Sixteen delegates-four each from Upper Canada, Lower Canada, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia-proceeded to London, and after long and patient conference a basis of union, a constitution for the "Dominion of Canada," was agreed upon, and the British Parliament embodied the resolutions of the Conference in "The British North America Act." Strong opposition to Confederation was developed in Nova Scotia, and delegates were sent to London to prevent, if possible, the consummation of the Union, but without success. The Act was passed in February, 1867, and the union actually took place July 1 of the same year. General Sir Fenwick Williams was appointed Governor of Nova Scotia about the time of the Union, and he used his best endeavors to quell the agitation which prevailed. . At the general election held in September Dr. Tupper was the only Unionist of the twenty-one members elected to represent Nova Scotia in the Dominion Parliament, and only two of the thirty-six local members were Unionists. An effort was made to obtain a repeal of the Union so far as Nova Scotia was concerned. The Local Government, led by Hon. William Annand, sent delegates to England for this purpose, but the effort failed. "Better Terms" were secured by Mr. Howe and Mr. McLelan in 1868-9. In 1866 "Fenians" from the United States threatened Nova Scotia and other Provinces with invasion. They made a raid on Ontario, and in one engagement killed seven of our volunteers. They were defeated and driven out of the country. Numbers were killed, and some who were captured were condemned to death, but their sentences were ultimately commuted. The Fenian raids and threats helped to evoke Canadian loyalty and promote union.

"RECIPROCITY" ABROGATED.

Our trade was injuriously affected in 1866 by the abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty with the United States. In 1878 the Fisheries' Commission met at Halifax and awarded to Canada $5,500,000 as compensation from the United States for the privileges enjoyed by American fisherman on our coasts. The award was denounced by the Americans as unfair, but the amount was honorably paid.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNORS.

In 1873 Hon. Joseph Howe was appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, an honor he richly deserved. Unfortunately his health was shattered, and he lived in Government House only about a month. His death occurred after a very brief illness, June 1, 1873. The position rendered vacant by the death of Mr. Howe was offered to his old antagonist and rival, Hon. Judge J. W. Johnston, then in England, but his health was so frail that he had to decline the honor. Mr. Johnston died shortly after. Hon. Adams G. Archibald (now Sir Adams) was then appointed to be Lieutenant-Governor of his native Province, a post which he filled with distinction for two terms of five years each.

LEGISLATORS.

Since Confederation Nova Scotia has a House of Assembly of thirty-eight members, a Legislative Council of seventeen members, an Executive Council of five. She sends twenty-one members to the House of Commons: two each for Halifax, Pictou and Cape Breton counties, and one each for the other fifteen counties.

RAILWAYS.

Nova Scotia has fully shared in the railway progress of the times Halifax is now connected by rail with Yarmouth, Lunenburg, Bridgewater, Parrsboro, Sydney, Cape Breton,—with the towns and villages along the North shore of the Province. New lines are projected which no doubt will be constructed and will prove useful. The I. C. R. connects the Capital of Nova Scotia with St. John and Moncton, and all the "regions beyond." Halifax is also the eastern terminus of the C. P. R. Besides the I. C. R. we have the Windsor and Annapolis, the Annapolis and Yarmouth, the Nictaux and Atlantic, the Spring Hill and Parrsboro, the Oxford and New Glasgow, the Eastern Extension, the Cape Breton Railway. No doubt hundreds of additional miles will come by and by.

LEGISLATURES AND GOYERNORS.

As has been said, our Local Legislature consists of thirty-eight members of General Assembly and seventeen of the Legislative Council. Halifax and Pictou returns three members each to the Assembly, and the other counties two each.

SCENERY.

Nova Scotiacis a peninsula or the eastern coast of North America. It is about 300 miles in length, and no part of it is more than 25 miles from the waters of the sea. is bounded on the east and south by the Atlantic ocean. The coast seaward is rugged and rocky in the extreme; but happily it is broken by many beautiful and well-sheltered bays, harbors and havens, some of which run far inland, and are useful for purposes of commerce. The coast is also protected and rendered picturesque in many places by Islands, large and small—resorts of sea fowl, and frequently favourite resorts of summer pleasure-seekers. No spots could be healthier in the hot summer time, for the breezes are ever cool and bracing, and the coves and creeks, sandy and sheltered, invite to frequent ablutions and to exercise in swimming. From islet to islet, from cove to cove, from headland to shining pebbly beach-how lovely either in the early morning or the demy eve. How refreshing the landscape, the sea view, the pure air, to the weary seeker after rest and health? Yarmouth, Shelburne, Liverpool, the long beaches of Petite Riviere, LaHave, Lunenburg, Mahone Bay, Chester, Margaret's Bay, to the south-west of Halifax; Cow Bay, Lawrencetown, Sheet Harbor, Guysboro, Port Mulgrave, and many a lovely spot in Cape Breton, to the east of Halifax, furnish every attraction that natural beauty and amenity of situation can impart. It is safe to predict that these and other places yet unmarked in our Guide Books will attract the inhabitants of the interior in the heated season of each successive year. The other sille of the Province is certainly not less attractive, though it is wifely different. Digly, Annapolis, the shores of the Minas Basin, the whole westerly coast of the Bay of Fundy, is remarkably picturesque in the collocation of sea and land. The tides of the bay come and go at times with bewildering swiftness and volume-with a rush and a roar scarcely less wonderful than Niagara itself. Long stretches of reddish flats, leagues and leagues in extent, may at this moment extend bare and dry under the scorching sun. Before the lapse of four or five hours a billowy sea covers all-boiling, foaming, hurrying as if time pressed for some great end to be accomplished. reverse process goes on with equal swiftness; the swelling sea becomes a sandy plain. The most surprising thing to strangers is to see at one time of day large vessels riding in buoyant pride on the turbid waters, and at another hour the same vessels high and dry on a forsaken bank of sand!

SHIP RAILWAY.

A narrow neck of land—16 miles wide—connects Nova Scotia with New Brunswick. This isthmus is to be traversed by the first ship railway in the world. At the time of writing this great enterprise is not completed, but it is to be in working trim in another year, and then the testing experiment will be made which will prove whether science has mastered the difficult problem of transporting laden ships by steam power on a railway.

NORTH SHORE.

The north coast of Nova Scotia is washed by Northumberland Straits, which separate P. E. Island from the mainland. There are many long, level beaches, favorite resorts of those who are fond of safe sea bathing. There are several harbors, such as Pugwash, Wallace, Tatamagouche, Pictou and Antigonish. The Strait of Canso separates Cape Breton from the Nova Scotia proper. This Strait is over 20 miles long, and furnishes a safe passage for vessels of all sizes. It is a favorite resort in stormy weather for fishing vessels that cannot safely stand the rough buffetings of the Gulf or of the Atlantic. Cape Breton is almost divided into two by the beautiful and picturesque Bras d'Or Lake—a large sheet of salt water, surrounded by bold, varied, lovely scenery, a favorite resort of summer tourists.

SHIPPING.

Nova Scotia, thus almost surrounded by the sea, and being favoured with numerous harbors, its people are naturally fond of the sea. In large numbers they look to its stormy waters for their sustenance. There is scarcely a sea that is not plowed by our adventurous keels—scarcely a shore but has been visited by our people wooing the rewards of commerce. Our hills and vales abounded in noble forests of pine, spruce, hemlock, hacmatack, birch, maple, beach and elm. Hence shipbuilding and the exportation of lumber have become very important enterprises. As wooden ships became less able to compete with steel-built steamers, the shipbuilding of this Province has become more uncertain and less profitable. The forests, too, have been sadly thinned by the lumberer's axe and (far worse) by raging fires in time of summer or autumnal drought.

BEAUTIFUL SCENES.

With regard to the scenery of Nova Scotia much might be written, but space will not allow us to enter upon the subject very minutely. We have rich and noble valleys like those of the Gaspereaux, Cornwallis and Annapolis in the west; like the central valleys of Shubenacadie, Musquodoboit, Stewiacke, Truro; like the northern valleys of River Philip, Wallace River, East River and Margaree. We have long ranges of hills like the Cobequid range running through Cumberland, Colchester, Pictou and Antigonish; like the North and South Mountains of Cornwallis, and like the round, well-wooded hills of Mabou. Salmon rivers abound, and nowhere need the angler look for finer sport. The country abounds in lakes, some of which may be measured in miles, but most of which are small, the gleaming blue eyes of the landscape giving it hife and character, and ever bringing heaven down to earth. These lakes and lakelets are usually well stocked with trout. Along the Atlantic coast the soil is thin, the slate rock being usually very near the surface and marked by old glacial action. There are frequent and extensive moss bogs. But some districts contain a good deal of fertile land and are well cultivated. The coast waters abound in fish, -and herring, haddock, hake, mackerel, alewives, halibut, salmon, smelts and lobsters. Many of our enterprising people reap rich harvests yearly from the unwilling sea.

NATURAL WEALTH.

The soil in the interior of the country is as rich as could be wished; it is in many cases inexhaustibly fertile, and a source of perennial wealth to the farmer who is happy enough to be proprietor. Along the northern coast, too, the soil is usually rich and good. On the flanks of the Cobequid hills the soil is usually thin and requires more manure than is easily available; but in the "intervals" of those hills, the quiet spaces where the brooks and rivers begin, there is fertility as well as beauty, and it often happens that prosperous farms lie nestled and hid away in the bosom of the hills.

AREA AND POPULATION.

Nova Scotia covers an area of 21,731 square miles. Its population is about 525,000. Its largest city is Halifax, with a population of say 40,000. Its shire towns are Yamouth, Shelburne, Liverpool, Lunenburg, Digby, Annapolis, Kentville, Windsor, Tiuro, Amherst, Pictou, Antigonish, Guysboro, Port Hood, Arichat, Baddeck, Sydney. Its largest and most thriving towns are Truro, New Glasgow, Amherst, Yarmouth and Lunenburg.

COMMUNICATION.

Steamship communication between Halifax and Liverpool, England, commenced in 1840 and continued with regularity till now, when we have ocean steamers calling in our polts almost every day in the year. For a time the steamers arrived fortnightly, and there was no other way of obtaining news from Europe. But even the slowest service by steamers was an immense gain in regularity, speed and safety upon the old-time sailing packets. Now-a-days any item of news or business of importance crosses under the sea by cable and outstrips the fleeting hours in swiftness.

The country is now well served with lines of railway and with steamers plying along the coast between Halifax and the outports, and between the Province and Boston and New York on the one hand, and on the other Newfoundland, P. E. Island, New Brunswick and Quebec. We have the I. C. R., the C. P. R and the Windsor and Annapolis Railways. We have the Allan, the Dominion, and a number of other steamers communicating with the old world, and several competing lines in other directions. Halifax is growing, but growth more signal, is made by such towns as Truro and New Glasgow. New lines of railway are projected, some are under construction. The comfort and prosperity of the people will be greatly promoted by the increased railway facilities.

MINES AND MINERALS.

While Nova Scotia is rich in soil for the farmer, and while the fisherman wins his living from the deep, much of the country's wealth lies hidden within the rock or down deep in the soil.

Gold was discovered in considerable quantities in 1862, and became then a recognized industry of the province. It developed rapidly till 1867 when the quantity won from the rock amounted to more than 27,000 ounces. There was then for several years a gradual decrease till 1874 when the amount discovered was but a little over 9000 ounces. Since that date the growth has been steady, the last year (1889) being the best since 1867

Last year the total of 26,155 ounces was extracted from 39,161 tons of crushed rock (or quartz) yielding per ton 17 penny weights 22 grains; requiring 211,548 days' labor, thus making wages of $2.22 cents per day, or $666 a year of 300 working days. These figures show that gold mining in Nova Scotia pays. It is an industry which is likely to extend. The total number of ounces extracted since 1862 was 482,236, 16 dwt, 21 grs. Up to date about Ten Million dollars worth of gold has been extracted from the rocks of Nova Scotia.

The principal Gold Districts are Brookfield, Caribou and Moose River, Eifteen Mile Stream, Lake Catcha, Malaga Barrens, Montague, Oldham, Rawdon, Renfrew, Salmon River, Sherbrooke, Stormont, Tangier, Mooseland, Uniacke, Whitburn, Wine Harbor.

Coal mining on a very small scale commenced in Nova Scotia more than a century ago. New England vessels picked up cargoes in Cape Breton early in the 18th century.

In 1785 the sales of coal, brought from Cape Breton to Halifax, amounted to 1668 tons. The output and sales advanced little by little, some years 4,000 tons, other-years 8,000 being disposed, and so on. In 1801 the quantity was 5,775; ten years afterwards, 8,516; in another ten, 11,388. When we come to 1831 the sales reach 37,170. In 1836 the product of the previous year was doubled,—owing to increased facilities at Albion Mines, Pictou. The sales in that year reached 107,593 tons. In 1841 the sales reached 148,298 tons. An open market in the United States helped the development of the mines so that in 1865 the sales reached 635,586 tons. Ten years later—1876—the sales were but 634,000. But since that date the sales have more than doubled, the figure reached in 1889 being 1,555,000 tons. The following summary indicates the steady development of this important industry:

1801 to 1810	 . 70,452 1851 to 186	30	,399,310
		70
1821 to 1830	 .140,820 1871 to 188	30	,317,439

The principal Coal Mines are Springhill in Cumberland County; Acadia, Intercolonial and Black Diamond in Pictou County; Sydney, International, Reserve, Caledonia, Victoria, Gowrie, Glace Bay, and Bridgeport in Cape Breton. Our export of coal to the United States reached 465,000 tons in 1865. In 1889 it amounted to but 29,986 tons. At present our largest market is the Province of Quebec, (631,796); next in importance outside of Nova Scotia comes New Brunswick (195,174 tons). The home consumption amounts to 550,425.

Over 5000 men are employed in our coal mines. New mines are being discovered and developed; and the probability is that the growth of this industry will be more lapid in coming years than it has ever been hitherto.

Iron mining is prosecuted with vigor at Londonderry, Colchester County, and at East River, near New Glasgow. Powerful companies are engaged in prosecuting this industry. The following is a statement of the mineral productions of Nova Scotia in 1889

Gold	Ounces	26,155
Iron Ore	Tons	45,907
Manganese Ore	11	67
Coal raised
Coke made	. 11	35,565
Gypsum	. 11	147,344
Grindstones, &c
Moulding Sand
Antimony Ore
Limestone
Copper Ore	11	500

It will be seen that Nova Scotia is blessed with abundant mineral wealth. Its coal beds are mexhaustible. Exploration has proved that iron ores are abundant. The whole Atlantic coast is seamed with gold-bearing quartz. Marble "mountains" of good quality have been discovered. Copper mines, granite quarries, freestone quarries, enormous deposits of gypsum and lime abound. Capital and skill, with enterprise, are what the country requires to develop its immense resources.

The number of sailing vessels owned in Canada is 5,805; steamers 1348. Nova Scotia owns 2,764 sailing vessels and 91 steamers. Tonnage of steamers 9,009. Net tonnage 464,431. Until the great lapse in the call for wooden ships, Nova Scotia used to own at least one ton for every individual of the population—a larger tonnage than any other country could show. Of the total tonnage of Canada—1,040,481—Nova Scotia owns not very far from one half. The value of shipping varies. Let us call it $30 a ton. In that case the value of Nova Scotia shipping is about $14,000,000. In 1889 there were 126 vessels built in the province with a tonnage of 19,645. This is considerably more than double the tonnage added by all the other provinces. No doubt ere long Nova Scotia will build iron and steel vessels.

FISHERIES,

The total value of the fisheries of Canada in 1889 was $17,655,256. Nova Scotia yielded $6,346,722, an amount much below the average,—and $1,470,000 below 1888. Oddly enough the increased value of British Columbian fish in 1889 was almost precisely the same as the decrease in our Province. Our fisheries in all Canada employ 68,000 men. Nova Scotia fisheries employ 27,334. Vessels and boats in Nova Scotia 14,773. Value $1,754,668. Fathoms of net, 3,131,080. Value $706,076.

There are in Nova Scotia two Fish Hatcheries, one at Bedford; the other at Sydney.

Since Confederation this Province has produced 48 per cent. of the total yield of fish in Canada. Next in value are the fisheries of New Brnnswick—19 per cent.; and third in order comes Quebec, 14 per cent. In 1869 Nova Scotia yielded $2,501,507. In 1889 the figure reached was $6,346,722, In the 21 years from 1869 to 1889 inclusive the total value of fish raised in Canada was $282,000,000. Nova Scotia's share was $135,000,000.

RAILWAYS.

Nova Scotia has Railway communication with the other Provinces by the I. C. R. Besides this there are lines of railway from Halifax to Yarmouth; from Annapolis to Luneaburg; from Oxford to New Glasgow; from Springhill Station to Parrsboro, and from Truro to Sydney. There are about 500 miles of railway within the Province.

SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

Since 1864 Nova Scotia has had a Free School system, under the control of the Council of Public Instruction, which is composed of the members of the Executive Council. The Superintendent of Education acts under the authority of this Council. There are also Inspectors of Schools, who visit all the schools once or twice a year, and report their condition to the Superintendent. The Government, the county and the section contribute proportionate shares. Last year the Government grant was $211,000, the county assessment $118,000, and the sectional assessment $346,000, making in all about $675,000. There are enrolled as pupils 1 of every 5½ of the population. We have about 2,200 schools, taught by 2,200 teachers, and attended by say 87,000. We have a Normal School for the training of teachers, which has been in operation since 1856. The County Academies prepare pupils for the Colleges. In Halifax there is an institution for the instruction of the Deaf and Dumb, attended by over 60 pupils, and one for the Blind, attended by about 30.

Over one million Canadians are attending schools and colleges year by year. The expenditure on education amounts to probably $10,000,000 a year.

King's College, Windsor, is the o'dest college of British origin in Canada. Founded in 1789, it received a Royal Charter in 1802. It has a yearly income of about $9,000, and has 18 students. It confers degrees in Arts, Divinity, Civil Law and Engineering.

DALHOUSIE COLLEGE AND UNIVERSITY was founded in 1821. It was reorganized in 1863, since which time it has steadily advanced, until it is now far stronger than any college in the Maritime Provinces. It has eight professors and two tutors in Arts, and it has a strong and brilliant law faculty. Its annual income, if we include scholarships, exceeds $35 000. It grants degrees in arts, literature, law and medicine, and is attended by nearly 200 students.

The PRESETTERIAN COLLEGE, Halifax, is an exclusively Theological institution, attended by about 30 students.

ACADIA COLLEGE, Wolfville, was founded in 1838 by the Baptists of Nova Scotia. It is a prosperous and useful institution. The students last year numbered 120. It has an endowment of $100,000. The Board of Governors are appointed by the Baptist Convention, which also have under their control Horton Academy and Wolfville Semmary.

Mount Allison College, though located in New Brunswick, is the College of the Methodists of Nova Scotia. It was founded say about 1845. Including the Academy, it was attended last year by 275 students.

The Halifax Ladies' College was founded in 1887. It has proved remarkably successful, and is attended by about 300 pupils.

St. Francis Xavier's College, at Antigonish, is under the control and patronage of the Roman Catholic Church. So is the Convent School, Halifax, and the large institution of Mount St. Vincent, near Halifax. A Provincial School of Agriculture has been established at Truro.

RELIGIOUS STATISTICS.

The Church of England has in all Canada 19 Bishops and nearly 1,000 clergy. The first Colonial Bishop was appointed over Nova Scotia in 1787. The Church of England was for some time treated as the established Church of the Colonies. Changes came with years, and for a long time we have had religious equality. In Nova Scotia the different denominations numbered as follows, according to the ce: sus of 1881:—Roman Catholics, 117,487; Church of England, 60,255; Presbyterians, 112,488; Methodists, 50,811; Baptists, 83,761. In 1881 the total number of Protestants in the homemon was 2,439,188, and of Roman Catholics 1,791,982. Of the leading Protestant Churches the numbers were as follows: Episcopalians, 590,537; Presbyterians, 697,460; Wethodists, 758,608; Baptists, 291,131. In the North-West the census was taken in 1885 and 1886.

In 1889 the total revenue of Canada was $38,782,870; éxpenditure, $36,917,835. Number of post offices, 7,838; letters 92,668,000; newspapers, 70,259,856. Vessels built, 258 (23,839 tons). Shipping inwards, 14,155 vessels, with 4,611,392 tons; outwards, 14,389 vessels, with 4,685,209 tons. Imports, $109,683; exports, $89,189,000. Public debt, $237,500,000. Miles of railway in operation, 12,800.

In Nova Scotia there are seven chartered banks, besides branches of banks, all doing a prosperous business.

CLIMATE.

The mean temperature of Halifax summer is 62½ degrees; of winter, 30 degrees. At Pictou the mean summer heat is about the same as at Halifax, but the winter temperature is lower, nearly 21 degrees. At Antigonish the summer temperature is 59, and that of winter 18 degrees. The maximum heat in Nova Scotia rarely exceeds 80 degrees, and the mercury rarely drops beyond 12 below zero. Our mean annual temperature is about 44 degrees.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

The clitrate is remarkably salubrious for all classes and conditions of men and women, and the rate of mortality is accordingly very low, except when some epidemic sweeps through the country. In some sections pulmonary diseases have been troublesome. This is the case, for the most part, in low-lying districts that are far from the sea. But a change from the interior to the seaside is usually found beneficial, and often proves a cure. So too, those for whom the strong east winds along the coast in spring prove too severe, receive great benefit from a change to the sheltered and lovely valleys of the interior.

ASIATIC CHOLERA.

This dreadful disease invaded Halifax once, nearly sixty years ago. Its victims were numerous, and many traditions still survive of its sudden and terrible work among the citizens. About twenty years ago a steamer with cholera on board arrived in the harbor. It was quarantined, and no case occurred in the city or in any part of the Province. Two Halifax physicians who exerted themselves to help the patients in the fated ship, caught the dreadful contagion and died,—namely, Dr. Slayter, Sr., and Dr. John B. Garvie. Since that time Asiatic cholera has not touched our shores.

DIPHTHERIA.

The epidemic which has smitten down the largest number of victims among our young people is diphtheria. Its ravages are hard to check, and its victims have often been found among the rich as well as the poor. It is found by universal experience that the best preventive of this disease, and in fact of all epidemic diseases, is scrupulous cleanliness in our homes and their surroundings. Pure water, pure air, sound food, regular habits of life, have been found in all parts of this country to be not only preventive but remedial.

OTHER DISEASES.

Other diseases frequently visit our people, such as measles, scarlatina, whooping-cough and influenza. Occasionally a case of small-pox appears, but that once terrible scourge has not been epidemic in this country within the memory of the present generation. Vaccination is general and efficacious. Taken all in all, no country is freer from dangerous epidemics, and none is better adapted to develop stalwart men and stately women. An unusually large proportion of the population reach old age—not a few have passed four score and ten, and even five score years.

RACES

The country was originally settled by Indians; at least the Indians had full and exclusive possession when Europeans first came this way. The Micmacs and Maleceets are the two tribes best known here. The Micmacs even here lived in terror of the Mohawks, their ancient and cruel foes. Indian wars raged in the eastern part of the Province as late as the beginning of the 18th century. Next to arrive were the French, at whose early settlement and brave struggles to retain the country we have already glanced. At present our French population is found chiefly in the counties of Digby and Yarmouth, Antigonish and Richmond. There is also a considerable body of them in the county of Halifax. They are a sober, industrious and religious race. Some French people came to Nova Scotia as a place of escape from oppression in the old world. Next in order came English, Scotch and Irish, and a small colony of Germans. It will thus be seen that the country is occupied by sections of the foremost and noblest races of mankind. Not the least valuable element in our population are the descendants of the Loyalists who came here from the United States in order to be under the grand old British flag.

MORALS.

The Province may justly be described as sober and law-abiding. Heinous crimes are rare. Murder has seldom darkened the calendar. During the past twenty years there were seventy-eight persons executed in all Canada. Fifty-five of these were natives of the country. The murders have not numbered one per million per annum. We may add that in the United States there are at least ten times as many murders in proportion to population as in Canada. Comparing the Provinces of the Dominion, we find Nova Scotia presenting an exceptionally favorable character with regard to crimes of all sorts. In 1888 the total convictions for indictable offences in the Dominion were 3,747. Of these Ontario claimed 2,144; Quebec, 1201; Nova Scotia, 80; New Brunswick, 71; Manitoba, 76; British Columbia, 122; P. E. Island, 13; Territories, 49. In regard to summary convictions, the figures are still more surprising. Total in Canada, 37,649. Of these Ontario had 23,017; Quebec, 9,190; Nova Scotia, 1,203; New Brunswick, 2,070; Manitoba. 748; British Columbia, 799; P. E. Island, 469; Territories, 151. Prince Edward Island alone presents a more formidable report than Nova Scotia.

DRUNKENNESS.

Nova Scotia is the most sober Province in the Dominion. In 1888 the total number of convictions for drunkenness in the Dominion was 12,827,—nearly 3 in every 1,000 inhabitants. The Provinces stand as follows:—Manitoba had I conviction in every 284 persons; New Brunswick I in every 303; Ontario I in every 326; British Columbia I in every 368; P. E. Island I in every 420; Quebec I in every 441; Nova Scotia I in every 967.

CHARITIES.

Nova Scotia has gradually established a noble array of charitable institutions. She has provision for the due care of persons of unsound mind. The Lunatic Asylum at Dartmouth was established in 1855. A large and efficient institution for the Deaf and Dumb has been established, and a School for the Blind has won the confidence and support of the public. Reformatories, Infants' Homes, Sailors' Homes, Infirmaries, Home for the Aged, a General Hospital, a General Dispensary, and other useful organizations abundantly indicate the charity and liberality of the people.

BANKS AND MONEY.

For many years Nova Scotia counted its money in pounds, shillings and pence; but the pound sterling—the British sovereign, for example, was here counted as £1.5s.. and the British shilling as 15 pence. When we adopted the decimal currency in 1859, we regarded the sterling pound as $5 and the shilling as 25 cents.—But after the union of 1867 the currency was superseded, and our gold standard was made identical with that of the United States. The British sovereign is $4.86\frac{2}{3}$. Silver coin—our own coinage—is now legal tender to the amount of $10, and copper coin to the extent of 25 cents.

FAILURES.

Last year the number of failures in the Dominion was 1,747, with liabilities amounting to 14½ million dollars. Nova Scotia had but 78, with liabilities of $469,000. From 1868 to 1887 three Nova Scotia banks failed—the Bank of Acadia, the Bank of Liverpool, and the Pictou Bank. These failures caused serious loss to the stockholders. There has been a large increase in the deposits of the people in the Savings' Banks. Notwithstanding occasional reverses, the progress of the country has been constant and marked.

THE BRITISH NORTH AMERICA ACT.

We give some provisions of this Act, which is the basis of our union as a Dominion:—

Executive Power.

The Executive Government and authority of and over Canada is hereby declared to continue and be vested in the Queen.

The Provisions of this Act referring to the Governor General extend and apply to the Governor General for the time being of Canada, or other the Chief Executive Officer or Administrator for the time being carrying on the Government of Canada and on behalf and in the name of the Queen, by whatever title he is designated.

There shall be a Council to aid and advise in the Government of Canada, to be styled the Queen's Privy Council for Canada; and the persons who are to be members of that Council shall be from time to time chosen and summoned by the Governor General and sworn in as Privy Councillors, and members thereof may be from time to time removed by the Governor General.

All powers, authorities and functions which under any Act of the Parliament of Great Britain, or of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or of the Legislature of Upper Canada, Lower Canada, Canada, Nova Scotia, or New Brunswick, are at the Union vested in or exerciseable by the respective Governors, or Lieutenant-Governors of those Provinces, with the advice, or with the advice and consent of the respective Executive Councils thereof, or in conjunction with those councils, or with any number of members thereof, or by those Governors or Lieutenant Governors individually, shall, as far as the same continue in existence and capable of being exercised after the Union in relation to the Government of Canada.

On the completion of the census in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, and of each subsequent decennial census, the representation of the four Provinces shall be readjusted by such authority, in such manner, and from such time as the Parliament of Canada from time to time provides, subject and according to the following rule:—

Quebec shall have the fixed number of sixty-five members.

There shall be assigned to each of the other Provinces such a number of members as will bear the same proportion to the number of its population (as ascertained at such census) as the number sixty-five bears to the number of the population of Quebec (so ascertained):

In the computation for a number of members for a Province a fractional part not exceeding one-half of the whole number requisite for entitling the Province to a member shall be disregarded; but a fractional part exceeding one-half of that number shall be equivalent to the whole number:

On any such re-adjustment the number of members for a Province shall not be reduced unless the proportion which the number of the population of the Province bore to the number of the aggregate population of Canada at the then last preceding re-adjustment of the number of members for the Province is ascertained as the then latest census to be diminished by one twentieth part or upward:

Such re-adjustment shall not take effect until the termination of the then existing Parliament.

The number of members of the House of Commons may be from time to time increased by the Parliament of Canada, provided the proportionate representation of the Province prescribed by this Act is not thereby disturbed.

Money Votes-Royal Assent.

Bills for appropriating any part of the public revenue or for imposing any tax of impost shall originate in the House of Commons.

It shall not be lawful for the House of Commons to adopt or pass any vote, resolution, address, or bill for the appropriation of any part of the public revenue, or of any tax or impost, to any purpose that has not been first recommended to that house by message of the Governor-General in the session in which such vote, resolution, address, or bill is proposed.

Where a Bill passed by the Houses of the Parliament is presented to the Governor General for the Queen's assent, he shall declare, according to his discretion, but subject to the provisions of this Act and to Her Majesty's instructions, either that he assents thereto in the Queen's name, or that he withholds the Queen's assent, or that he reserves the Bill for the signification of the Queen's pleasure.

Where the Governor-General assents to a Bill in the Queen's name, he shall by the first convenient opportunity send an authentic copy of the Act to one of Her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State, and if the Queen in council within two years after receipt thereof by the Secretary of State thinks fit to disallow the Act, such disallowance (with a certificate of the Secretary of State of the day on which the Act was received by him), being signified by, the Governor General by speech or message to each of the Houses of the Parliament or by proclamation, shall annul the Act from and after the day of such signification.

A Bill reserved for the signification of the Queen's pleasure shall not have any force unless and until within two years from the day on which it was presented to the Governor-General for the Queen's assent, the Governor-General signifies by speech or message to each of the Houses of the Parliament or by proclamation, that it has received the assent of the Queen in council.

An entry of every such speech, message or proclamation shall be made in the journals of each House, and duplicate thereof duly attested, shall be delivered to the proper officer to be kept among the Records of Canada.

THE ERSITY OF COLLEGE.

SACKVILLE, N.

JAMES R. INCH, LL.D., PRESIDENT.

THE University of Mount Allison College, with its associate Institutions, the Ladies' College and the Mount Allison Academy, constitute one of the most extensive, complete and thorough educational establishments in the Dominion of Canada. Students may enter either as regular Matriculants or as specials who wish to follow chosen lines Women are admitted to College Courses and Degrees on the same conditions as Students of the other sex. The domestic and social arrangements are pleasant, and the expenses moderate.

The first term of the Collegiate year 1890-1 begins on the 4th September next, and the 2nd term on the 8th of January. 1891.

For further particulars address the President for a Calendar.

SACKVILLE, June 5th. 1890.

Allison Ladies' College. Mount

SACKVILLE. N.

Principal: REV. B. C. BORDEN, A. M.

Over Thirty-Four-years of Successful Educational work has given this Institution an unrivalled posi-tion in the public confidence. Courses of study are provided, extending through the whole University Curriculum. Teachers eminent in their profession are employed in the different departments. THE MUSICAL CONSERVATORY is under the direction of an accomplished graduate of

THE INCOCKIE CONSTRUCTION TO THE INCOCKIE THE INCOCKIE THE INCOCKIE COLLINATION OF THE PROGRAM OF THE PROGRAM OF THE VIOLENSET received his musical education under JOACHIM, the greatest living violin artist.

In order to meet the increasing demand of business offices for Stenographers a department of Shorthand and Type-writing has been recently established. The FINE ARTS department is maintained in a high state of efficiency. Special attention is given to the development of Christian character, as well as to the cultivation of refined taste and lady-like manners. The location is exceedingly healthful, and the teams are moderate.

Apply for Catalogue to Principal. Students are admitted at any time.

Wesleyan Academy. Mount Allison

C. W. HARRISON, B. A., PRINCIPAL,

No Institution of Learning in the country has had a more successful history and none is more worthy of patronage for the future. Many of the most prominent men now in professional, commercial and political life in Canada, and in other lands, had their training at Mount Allison Academy. The arrangements for the future are such as will guarantee a continuation and extension of the efficiency of the Institution. A thorough English and Commercial Education is imparted, and Students are prepared for College Matriculation and for Civil Service examinations. Instructions can be obtained in Short Hand and Type writing, also in music, both vocal and instrumental. If desirable, Students can take, in addition to their work in the Academy, one or more classes and lectures in College. Every care is given to the private interests of the boys, so as to ensure their comfort and happiness.

The building is commodious, well heated throughout by the hot water system, and comfortably furnished.

EXPENSES VERY MODERATE. TO

The Liverpool London Globe INSURANCE COMPANY

Assets 1st January, 1890, upwards of Forty Millions of Dollars.

The Assets of the Company in Canada alone, exceed Eight Hundred Thousand Dollars.

By careful selection of Fire Rules, a low loss ratio is maintained: and this, coupled with an extensive business, enables this Company to offer the lowest permissable rates to the insured.

A liberal form of policy ensures the most complete protection The Company's business is world-wide; and so also is its reputation for undoubted security, fair dealing and prompt settlement of claims.

DRUGGISTS,

NEWCASTLE, - - NEW BRUNSWICK,

HAVE YOU CORNS?

ARE YOU A SUFFERER?

Listen to what Chatham's popular Cigar Dealer says in fayor of

ALLEN'S CORN KILLER,

CHATHAM, June 14.

I found "Allen's Corn Killer" to be an excellent preparation; my Corns were so bad that I could not get my shoes on It completely eradicated the Corns, and I can confidently recommend it.

TRURO LAST A PEG FACTORY.

IMPORTANT.

Owing to the increase in our business, we are erecting a new building, into which we will move our LAST works, to which we are adding more improved machinery, including an improved Hartford Pattern Grader. Our change will be completed about August 10th, 1890, when we will have better facilities than any factory in Canada. We have also engaged one of the best last makers on the continent as foreman.
