Paris Bandits Set Fire to Papers When They Found Game Was Up

ONE COMMITTED SUICIDE

This is Opinion of Police Doctor After an Autopsy—Garnier an Anarchist Because he Hated Work—Vallet Had Police Picture Gallery

(Canadian Press) Paris, May 25.—That the Garnier, the leader of the automobile bandits, died by his own hand, is the opinion of Doctor Paul of the prefecture of the police, who performed an autopsy. The death wound, according to the medical report, was caused by a bullet fired point blank at very close range, which entered the right temple and passed completely through the head. In addition to this, an ordinary revolver bullet had traversed the lower part of the thorax.

Two note books, belonging to Garnier and Vallet were found. Garnier appeared to be in the habit of making entries in his journal daily. Among other things he explains that he became an anarchist because he hated work, which he writes, "one of the forms of capitalistic exploitation."

DO WELL IN THEIR CANVASS OF BUSINESS MEN OF THE CITY

The canvass of the city to raise funds for the expenses of the Back to New Brunswick week commenced this morning and is reported meeting with very fair success. The subscription committee met at the board of trade rooms, at nine o'clock before starting out on their rounds and met again at Bond's restaurant at nine o'clock for lunch. The afternoon session members of the committee reported subscriptions of about $1,400 when their districts had covered. The afternoon being in a large amount and when the returns are all in it is expected that a satisfactory sum towards the expenses of the campaign will have been subscribed.

He is at present the property of the Chicago Americans, but negotiations for his coming here are about closing.

SEVERAL RECEIVED BURNS IN THE KING SQUARE HOTEL FIRE

One Man Down Rope Fire Escape to Street—Loss and Insurance

It is thought that the damage done by the fire in the Brunswick Hotel in King Square early this morning will amount to more than $1,000. The roof and the rooms on the upper part of the house have been gutted. The room where the fire started was completely destroyed. It was occupied by a man named Hepden, who was sitting by the window smoking a pipe when the fire started. It is thought that a spark from the pipe may have ignited the curtains, in trying to extinguish the fire he had his face and head badly burned. He intended to go to Newcastle last night but had decided to wait until this morning. All his goods in the room were burned.

Kiah Smith, William Thorne and Robert Munford, all boarders in the house, were also burned about the head in escaping from the burning building. They had rooms on the top floor and when they were awakened the fire had gained considerable headway. In escaping down the stairs they were burned. One man escaped by sliding down a rope fire escape, and so doing fell through an awning. He escaped unhurt. Richard Hoy, the young son of Mrs. J. R. Hoy, the proprietress of the house, is suffering from an attack of pneumonia and was in one of the rooms near where the fire started. He was removed to a nearby house for safety. Mrs. Hoy had no insurance on her furniture.

The house is owned by T. L. Bourke, estate and is insured for $4,000. The Atlas Fire Insurance Co., of which White & Galin are the agents, carry $1,000; Northern Insurance Company, of which Peter Clinch is agent, carry $1,000 and W. W. Prink, H. 800.

The alumni oration was delivered by Hon. George E. Foster who spoke with his usual fluency. The valedictory by J. T. Hebert and the national anthem brought the proceedings to a close.

The annual meeting of the University senate was held here this morning. Those present were President Carter, Judge McLeod, Chancellor Jones, Hon. J. D. Hazen, Judge Barry, Doctor Crockett, Doctor Bridges and W. J. S. Miles.

It was decided to establish a course of lectures at the university in connection with arts. It will be the means of shortening the term of Kings College Law School by one year.

It was also decided to recommend Governor Wood and Rev. Mr. Street for the honorary degree of LL. D. Mr. Street is the oldest living graduate of the institution.

The degree of doctor of philosophy in connection with the institution is to be abolished.

LAURIER'S CABINET POLICY APPROVED BY CHECKELL

An Important Announcement By First Lord ENGLAND LOOKS TO DOMINIONS FOR AID

Motherland to Maintain Sea Supremacy Against All Comers at Decisive Points and Over Seas Dominions to Guard and Patrol Rest of Empire

(Canadian Press) London, May 16.—The first lord of the admiralty, Lord Winston Churchill, speaking at a banquet of the Shipwrights Company, last night, referred to the naval development in recent years as a growth in home waters which, combined with the enormous development of foreign navies, had resulted in a sensible restriction of the mobility of the British navy. He appealed to the overseas dominions to remedy this defect.

Mr. Churchill believed that the main naval development in the coming decade would be found in the growth of the colonial navies, so that, while the British navy maintained the sea supremacy against all comers, at decisive points, the dominions should guard and patrol all the rest of the empire.

The admiral, he said, was prepared to give the dominion full control over the movements of their naval forces in times of peace.

"The policy of naval construction which lately has been brought to its final act, has been a real measure of security to the heart of the empire," said Mr. Churchill.

"The fact that the British navy has centralized its strength in European waters creates a ship war, as a new need and a new opportunity for the self governing dominions. It is in a position to overcome the strongest combination of powers. We believe that we are in a position now and for the immediate future, but a war may be protracted or indecisive for some time. Meanwhile, pending decision in critical theatres the general mobility of our fleet is reduced. We do not hesitate to speak of this as a loss which only by general development of our own navies can we hope to maintain a sufficient margin in home waters at any time."

Another guard of honor was drawn up in the train shed, and presented arms to the aid of any of the colonies whose vital interests are menaced or attacked.

"That is the duty which we are able to discharge. It is a duty which we do not hesitate to run risks and prepared to sacrifice for the protection of the self governing dominions. And when we speak of this I mean not only by general development of our own navies, but by the formation of particular squadrons to any part of the empire where special dangers might menace our fellow countrymen."

"That we can do now, next year, and in the years immediately before us. Still, we must recognize that with every new development of the continental navies, with every step in the colossal accumulation of the naval armaments of the world, the problem of the British navy grows more and more acute. It is the problem of the British navy becomes sensibly restricted and here the great opportunity for the overseas dominions, those strong young nations which have grown up under the shelter of the British flag and by the stimulus of its protection."

"They have already begun to seize it. Already we have seen the development in Australia of a strong modern fleet unit. New Zealand has contributed a noble ship to the general service of the British navy and in Canada men of all parties and of both races are deeply stirred over the problem of the share which that great dominion should take, and the means whereby it and all other parts of the empire are to be kept free from harm."

"We shall soon receive representatives of the new Canadian administration who are coming over to consult the government and the admiralty upon the course and the policy which should be adopted for the future. If the main naval development of the next ten years will be the growth of effective naval forces in the great dominions overseas, then we shall be able to make a true division of labor between the mother country and the daughter states, which we that we shall maintain sea supremacy against all comers at decisive points and they shall guard and patrol all the rest of the empire."

"I am not going to attempt to forecast or prescribe the exact form which these developments should take, although the march of opinion appears to be proceeding along thoroughly practical lines. And this I venture to say, that the admiralty see no reason why arrangements should not be made to give the dominions a full measure of control over the movements, in time of peace, of any naval forces which, with our help, they may bring in of efficient existence. It is we know that our countrymen overseas will have only one wish, namely, to have the enemy wherever the need and danger are most severe. The important thing is that the gaps should be filled so that, while we in the old country guard the decisive centres, our comrades and brothers across the seas shall keep the flag flying on the oceans of the world."

TAFT-ROOSEVELT CONTEST IS DUBBED IN ENGLAND, "DOG FIGHT"

Fall Mall Gazette Says for Own Dignity People May Be Compelled to Defeat Both

London, May 16.—The Fall Mall Gazette says in an editorial article: "Mr. Roosevelt is certainly going to make a race of it with his opponent. His easy victory in California upsets all the calculations of the Taft party, and if his success should be repeated this week in the latter's state, Ohio, the president's chances of nomination will almost have vanished."

The two candidates have covered each other so thickly with mud that the American people may be compelled for their own dignity, to find some other occupant of the White House.

"The 'dog fight,' as it has come to be called, is a spectacle too lamentable to amuse even the distant on-looker.

"Englishmen will not forget the respect due the head of the great friendly nation, but the manners of this contest are not making it easy to remember."

Address to the Women's Canadian Club in Toronto

MARRIAGE BILL CASE WILL NOW GO TO SUPREME COURT

(Special to Times) Ottawa, Ont., May 16.—The decision of the privy council in favor of the contention of the dominion in the companies case will have an important effect on the reference in regard to the marriage act.

It removes all doubt as to whether or not the argument, which was indefinitely postponed on May 7, will be gone on with. The decision establishes beyond all doubt the right of the supreme court to argue the marriage question.

On May 7 a statement was made by Chief Justice Fitzpatrick that the court had decided to await the decision in the companies case and now that decision has been given. The argument will probably take effect this month.

The case which was decided by the privy council was referred to that court as the result of an interprovincial conference held in Ottawa in March 1910, at which the dominion and provincial authorities failed to reach an agreement as to the respective powers in regard to the incorporation of companies. The chief point in dispute was as to whether a company incorporated by a provincial legislature possessed the right to carry on business throughout the dominion.

At the interprovincial conference an amendment to the British North America act was passed, making clear the contention of provinces, but this the dominion government would not agree to until the legal aspect of the case had been cleared up.

CHANGES HIS EVIDENCE AND IS CRITICIZED

Lord Mersey Finds it Hard To Understand Titanic Steward's Course

Survivors on Stand Only Eleven Third Class Stewards Out of Sixty Were Saved—Trouble Saving Women—More About the S.S. Californian

(Canadian Press) London, May 16.—The board of trade commission of inquiry into the Titanic disaster today resumed the taking of testimony of the surviving members of the crew. S. J. Rice, a bathroom steward, who last week said that boat number 15, in which he had escaped from the wreck, took only four women and three children, corrected this today, when he said that women were in the majority in the boat.

He explained that he had been ill and this had affected his memory.

Lord Mersey—"It can understand illness making a man forget things, but I cannot understand it making him remember things which did not happen."

Ed. Hart, a third class steward, explained the steps that were taken for the rescue of the third class passengers. He said that they were called from their berths, and assisted to put on life belts. Many of them refused the life belts, saying there was no danger. The stewards had difficulty in getting the women to go to the lifeboats.

Before the last boat left the stewards called all over the steamer for women and children. When he left the Titanic, many women were on deck, with their husbands. Out of sixty third class stewards carried by the Titanic, only eleven were saved.

DESTROYED "SCRAP LOG"

G. F. Stewart, first officer of the Californian, said he did not believe the vessel which was being rescued was the Titanic. He explained that the "scrap log" written on the bridge, was destroyed day by day, as was the log of the MacInnes Company. The attorney for the White Star line said that so far as the White Star line was concerned the "scrap log" was destroyed.

The attorney for the board of trade was questioned in regard to the change of latitude and position of the Californian according to the log books, which show that she went south between noon on April 13 and April 14, when Lord Mersey interposed.

"Do you suggest that the log has been doctored?"

The attorney did not reply, but the witness said the positions were given in observations taken by all the officers. There was, he said, no reference in the "scrap log" to rockets.

The witness continued, that from the position in which the Californian lay all night long and the position of the wreckage seen in the morning, he calculated that the Californian must have been thirty miles from the Titanic.

Which Was Successful?
By RUTH CAMERON

MOLLY, the little stenographer, was much stirred up. So was the last open fire of the season, before which we were sitting. "That woman had stirred up Molly, and Molly stirred up the fire, a perfectly good fire, too—the waste-to-be-cynic built it."

Molly had been job hunting, not for herself—Molly's employer is still in his right mind—but for another girl. "This girl had only had high school stenography, but she was the kind of a girl who will work her head off if you give her a chance, and she just had to have a position right off, and a friend of mine sent her to me, so, of course, I had to give her a chance. And then I remembered that Miss Ellis had only had high school stenography when she started, and had a terrible time getting a place, so I felt sure she'd understand."

"Well, big sister," Molly drew a long, sighing breath and looked at the looks of her, but I remembered what a time I had getting my first position, so of course I went to her. And what DO you think she said?"

Molly paused dramatically, but no one seemed inclined to hazard a guess.

"Well," continued Molly, "she said, 'I came to this city with no more training than your friend had and in just as tight a place, and no one helped me get my position.' Then, of course, I thought she was going to say how hard it was and how she'd like to make it easier for this girl, but she didn't. Instead she just sat there glaring at me, and finally she said again, 'I guess I had about as hard a time as any girl could have, and nobody ever helped me. And then I realized that she meant that as a reason why she wouldn't help the girl, instead of why she would, and I said, 'Oh!' and got up and came out. And WHAT do you think of that, big sister?"

"Did any one help you to get your position, Molly?" asked the lady-who-always-knows-something.

"Why, no," said Molly. "How could they? I didn't know any one. That's why I knew how it felt and wanted to help her."

"Said the man-who-thinks, 'Did I hear you call Miss Ellis successful?'"

"Oh yes," said Molly, "she's a terribly successful. Why, they say she gets at least thirty dollars a week."

"And still a failure," murmured the man-who-thinks half to himself.

"Why, what do you mean by that?" said Molly.

"He means," said the waste-to-be-cynic, quite forgetting his proper role—and that was especially nice of him for Molly in the course of her "stirring" story had quite spoiled his perfectly good fire—"He means that we have the really successful stenographer right here with us."

"And no one disputed his interpretation."

La MARQUISE de FONTENOY
Lord Killanin and His Steamship Line From Galway—A Tournament That Failed

(Copyright, 1911, by the Brentwood Club)

Lord Killanin, who is making an effort to bring Ireland nearer to America and Canada, by making the port of Galway a shipping point that will rival Belfast, Glasgow and Liverpool, is the eldest son of the late Baron Killanin, who as "Mickey Morris" was for half a century the reputed author of every good joke that passed current in Ireland. The present Lord Killanin, although still only forty-five, has had considerable experience in politics and public affairs, as well as in literature.

He has the degree of Bachelor of Arts, Trinity College, Dublin, is a member of the Bar, Lincoln's Inn, and the gold medalist of the University Philosophical Society, was private secretary to his father when very important, that is the opinion of the present Lord Killanin, and before his accession to the peerage was elected member of parliament for Galway, on the Unionist ticket, winning his seat in competition with a Nationalist—a feat that the opinion of the present Lord Killanin is that there are many considerations of a patriotic and sentimental nature—imperial, national and local—favoring the development of a great port at Galway. He contends that the commercial aspects of the scheme are of primary importance, that by using Galway as a terminal port, a "through Ireland" route to the United States, Canada and Newfoundland can be established, that will greatly shorten the present route and avoid the dangers of the Irish Sea, which, crowded as it is, and often foggy, is the cause of risks, delays and difficulties. The harbor at Galway is wide, deep and free from obstructions. Lord Killanin pleads for the assistance of all patriotic Irishmen in this work of great national importance.

While wishing Lord Killanin the greatest measure of success in his laudable efforts in behalf of Ireland, and of a closer communication with America, the great republic that he admires so sincerely, we feel that I cannot refer to this subject without reminding my readers of the line of ships that ran between Galway and America in the first half of the nineteenth century. For a time the line was a success, but after the death of its founder, the thirteenth Earl of Eglinton, it became a failure, owing, it is said, to mismanagement. Whether another transatlantic line, with a home port at Galway, will have better luck in these days, is of course more than I can competently argue, as I do not know what merchandise, manufactures or products can be advantageously shipped at Galway in preference to other ports. Anyhow, there is plenty of room for the biggest ships in Galway harbor, and the hills around afford shelter against high winds.

The Tournament That Failed
The thirteenth Earl of Eglinton, who made such a brave effort on the part of the city of Galway, is the same earl who spent an enormous sum of money in the attempt to revive an interest in chivalry, by organizing and financing the famous Eglinton tournament, where knights in armor tilted at each other and broke lances against shields, hence, the studies of a queen of beauty. This never-to-be-forgotten joust was enacted in the neighborhood of Eglinton Castle in Scotland. The early preparations were made, however, near London, in the then rustic suburb of St. John's Wood. The "dress rehearsal" which took place in a large field, afforded no end of fun and amusement to the on-lookers, for the "knights" had the greatest difficulty in mounting their horses, on account of the weight of their armor, and the way they impeded their motions. They had to be hoisted into their saddles, by a sort of derrick arrangement, Lord Eglinton himself being the only one who could vault on his horse unaided.

The lovely granddaughter of Richard Marquis, who was the queen of beauty, she was then Lady Seymour, and afterwards became Duchess of Somerset. Many of the great houses of England supported the affair, and a long list of rules was drawn up, which look as though they were composed thirty years later by the Marquis of Queensbury. Hitting below the belt and "side-swiping" with the lance are penalized as "unladylike acts" and the prize was bestowed upon those who broke the most lances against the shields of the opponents. The contestants, knights were the Earl of Eglinton himself, the Marquis of Waterford, the Earl of Devon, the Earl of Cassilis (pronounced Castle), Lord Alford, the Hon. Captain Gage, Sir Frederick Johnston, Captain Hereford, Captain Parrie and Messrs. Lamb, Boothby, Hopkins, Jennings and Lechmere.

The lists occupied a space of about four acres. There were two galleries for the accommodation of spectators, one for the friends of the earl and of the knights, and the other for strangers who had provided themselves with tickets. No charge was made for these. They were distributed gratuitously to all persons of respectable appearance who applied to a certain tradesman in Bond street, London.

The decorations were magnificent. Some of those used at the coronation of Queen Victoria two years previously were utilized on this occasion. The earl spent an enormous amount of money in the preparation.

But, alas! "the best laid schemes of mice and men gang aft a-gley," as Scotland's great poet sings. He had reckoned without the elements. The rain came down in torrents, and continued throughout the whole of the day. The queen of beauty, instead of prancing in on a palfray arrived in a closed carriage. The tourney began in the midst of a deluge, and the thousands of umbrellas that were raised by the spectators gave an unmistakably modern aspect to the medieval scene. But those brave knights, the Marquis of Waterford and the Earl of Eglinton, tilted at each other and broke a couple of lances, one or two others following suit, the host himself being crowned by the queen of beauty as the "best knight."

Prince Napoleon (afterwards Napoleon III.) attempted to mend matters by giving an assault of arms under cover. The whole affair, however, was conquered by the rain. The principal winners were the railroads which trebled their fares. Their profits must have been large for the total

CURED OF PILES AFTER 20 YEARS

Many people have got the impression that piles can only be cured by a surgical operation, with all the attendant suffering, risk and expense. There is an easier way: by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. No risk, no danger and little expense is attached to this treatment, and results are highly satisfactory.

Mr. John M. Bates, gardener, St. Lambert, Que., writes: "I had piles for twenty years, and tried all kinds of ointments and medicines, but they did me no good. It was getting worse and suffering more from the dreadful itching all the time. I used three boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and today I am perfectly cured. There has not been a sign of the old trouble for six months, and it leaves me in perfect health today, whereas I was in agony for about twenty years. I can highly recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as a positive cure for piles."

COL. SAM HUGHES MAY BE IN THE CITY TODAY

Word received last night by local military officers was to the effect that Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes would be in St. John today. He did not arrive this morning but is expected on the 5:30 express this evening from Halifax. While no formal reception is to be tendered him, the word has been passed around among the local officers, and it is thought that they will be in full strength at the depot tonight. It is expected that while here he will make an inspection of the new armory and the present one in use, and possibly the equipment of the local regiments.

TO HEAR EARLY CLOSING BY MEN

Delegation Before Commissioners—Mr. McLellan Speaks of Criticism

A matter of much general interest to be presented at the first meeting of the new city council, on Monday, is that of early closing. A delegation from the Early Closing Association will ask the commission to put in effect amendments to the act which will exempt from the early closing law the little corner groceries and also allow the fish dealers to keep their stores open on Thursday nights.

The case will be presented by M. E. Grass, James Morgan, S. W. McMackin, A. Payne, W. D. Baskin, L. T. Naeve, P. J. Sheel, W. S. Knowles, James Carle and W. E. Rowley. They will ask that with the amendments proposed, the law be made effective on June 1.

Reports on each department will be submitted by the commissioners. Among the matters which will be taken up will be the proposed extension of the water system to East St. John. The contracts for police and ferry uniforms will also be awarded.

Speaking of the criticism which has been made by certain papers on the private meetings of the commission, Mr. McLellan said this morning that he thought it was only fair to allow the commissioners time to get things running the way they wanted them to get. He said the new system in working order before criticizing them too harshly.

At the first meeting he had taken his stand against unnecessary private meetings, and he thought the people who elected him had confidence enough in him to think he would not submit to any undue secrecy or to the withholding of information which should be made public.

With regard to the council meetings, it was the intention of the commissioners to prepare a synopsis of the business to be brought up at future council meetings for publication before the meeting was held. This would give the citizens opportunity to know what was going on before definite action is taken by the council.

MAKES STATEMENT OF ASTOR PLANS TO KEEP GOSSIP LOVERS QUIET

New York, May 16.—The immediate relatives of Colonel John Jacob Astor have made known to their friends an intention to live in absolute privacy and seclusion during the ensuing six months. This is said to be more than a formal desire to observe a recognized period of mourning. It is said to include an unanimous agreement to observe, as far as possible, that line of conduct which will remove the family name from public discussion.

A friend of Mrs. John Astor had this to say: "Newspaper-journalists surely do not realize the pain which these reports of contemplated marriages give to Mrs. John Astor. Her father-in-law is a man who she has no intention of marrying anyone. She is too deeply engaged in the future of her son and daughter."

"Mrs. John Astor and daughter will leave for her London home this week. It has been considered best for Vincent to remain here pending the arrival of the expected posthumous child at the home of his stepmother."

"Shortly after that event he will join his mother and live in seclusion with her in England. He will take no part in social life abroad. After this visit he will return to America with his mother and sister and set up his permanent home. Mrs. John Astor will not give up her London home, however, and will take a daily drive or walk through Central Park in secret with her mother and sister."

"The young widow who takes a daily drive or walk through Central Park in secret with her mother and sister, receives no financial interest with the all of competent control."

"The young widow, now looking forward to an early motherhood, has not expressed any desire for the visits of old-time friends. The lives secluded in the big mansion in Fifth avenue. Whether Mrs. Astor will remain there or go to the country during the summer is not known."

SAVED FROM SEA BUT TO STARVE

Another Tragic Incident in The Loss of the Titanic Revealed in Finding of Bodies in Boat

New York, May 16.—That some of the passengers of the Titanic starved to death in open boats was made terribly probable this morning with the arrival of the White Star liner Oceanic, from Southampton. In a collapsible life raft which the Oceanic picked up, on Monday last were three bodies, all in such a condition, that they were committed to the sea as soon as the burial service could be read over them.

The bodies were of men. One of them, that of a fireman, was chained by the leg to a thwart in one end of the boat, while the two others were huddled in the other end. In their mouths were small pieces of cork, which Doctor French of the Oceanic believes they chewed in their delirium, to ease the pain of hunger and thirst.

SEARCHLIGHT FOR STEAMERS OF THE C.N.R.

One Outcome of the Titanic Disaster—A Defence of the Northern Trans-Atlantic Route

London, May 16.—One immediate result of the Titanic disaster is that the Canadian Northern Railway will install electric searchlights on their ships. This example is expected to be followed by the other Canadian companies.

It was a relief to turn from the highly colored statements that have been made during the recent enquiry to Mr. Buxton's recent announcement in the House of Commons. Out of more than 6,000,000 passengers carried across the Atlantic in British ships in the last ten years, only nine are reported to have lost their lives other than from natural causes. Too much publicity cannot be given to this matter because it is undoubted that a prophylactic has been created against the northern track necessarily used by Canadian steamers which may seriously affect sailings to Canadian ports. Canadians have not been slow to point out that not even a minor disaster has occurred to a Canadian passenger steamer for more than ten years.

OLD BROOKLYN BRIDGE GETS A LITTLE SHAKY

Good For Some Time, But For Safety Traffic is Restricted

New York, May 16.—That some fears are felt for the safety of the old Brooklyn bridge, which still carries a considerable share of the traffic between Manhattan and Brooklyn, is indicated by orders issued by the City Bridge Department prohibiting heavy teams from using the roadway and directing the elevated railroads to curtail their traffic during the rush hours. Extensive repairs are being made to the structure.

A statement given out by the secretary of the Public Service Board says: "The bridge is rather old, and its construction is not the most modern by any means, but with the repairs that are continually being made, it is safe to believe that it will be many years before it will be necessary to condemn it. Preventive measures are always best."

"The strain on the bridge, when heavily laden with cars, trains and trucks is naturally very great, and for this reason it has been deemed wise to restrict traffic thereon."

Smallpox on Deer Island

The Eastport correspondent of the Bangor Commercial writes: "Great excitement prevails at North Harbor, Deer Island, N. B., over the two cases of smallpox reported from that place. Mr. Farris, a resident of Deer Island, came to this city on Monday to consult one of the local physicians about his wife's condition and on advice of the doctor, took Mrs. Farris to the hospital at St. Stephen, where the attending physicians pronounced her almost a case of smallpox and sent the woman back to her home at Deer Island, where she is now being taken care of by Dr. Murray. There are two cases now on the island and it is thought the disease was brought to this locality by a brother of Mrs. Farris, who recently returned from Florida."

CLOSING SOCIAL

The members of the Lend-a-Hand Circle of the King's Daughters' Guild last night conducted the closing social of their session. The attendance was good. An interesting programme was given. Those taking part were Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney piano and violin duo; Miss Vida Waterbury, Miss Hising and Mr. Armitage, vocal solos; Mrs. H. D. Everett, Miss Vida Waterbury, readings; Miss Christina Wallace, of Dalhousie, harmonica solo. Refreshments were served, and after a happy time spent, the gathering dispersed with the benediction.

MAJORITY FOR GOIN' NOW 45

Montreal, May 16.—(Canadian Press.)—Belated returns made no practical difference in the standing of the parties following yesterday's provincial elections. This morning's tabulations showed the standing to be:

Liberals, 62; Conservatives, 17; elections to be held, two; Liberal majority 45.

The results were a set-back to the labor party, none of their candidates being elected, and several being elected by acclamation.

An interesting return was that of Godfrey Brien, a Conservative, who was elected in Montreal. Opposed by the church, and with a brother of Archbishop Bourne as one of his opponents, he sold out his huge plurality.

TUBERCULOSIS DEATH RATE IS DECLINING

Means 27,000 Lives Saved—Consumption Rate Falls Twice as Fast as General

New York, May 16.—In the decade from 1901 to 1910, the death rate from tuberculosis in the United States declined from 196.3, a decrease of 187 per cent, while the general death rate, including all causes of death, declined only 100 per cent, but at the rate of 97 per cent, from 1933.0 to 145.3.

These figures were given out in a statement issued today by the National Association of Tuberculosis. They are based on data abstracted from the reports of the United States Bureau of Census and cover the registration area in this country. According to the statement, the tuberculosis charge rate has declined steadily since 1904, when it was 201.8. On the other hand, the general death rate shows a fluctuation downward in general trends but not as steady as the tuberculosis rate. The decline in the tuberculosis death rate in the last ten years means a saving of 27,000 lives at the present time.

In certain cities, such as New York, Boston, Cleveland and Chicago, the rate is higher than in other parts of the country. In Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut the decline in the tuberculosis death rate is more marked than in the rest of the country.

The National Association says that there are many factors working together to cause the decline in the tuberculosis death rate, such factors as the change in the character of our urban population, increased sanitation, and better housing, but probably as potent a factor as any has been the nation-wide anti-tuberculosis campaign. "It may be foretold with considerable certainty," the statement concludes, "that when the effects of the present rapidly increasing provision for the care of tuberculosis patients shall have become evident the decline in the death rate will be even more marked than that in the last ten years."

WALKING BOOTS

Walking is not only the best exercise in the world, as any physician will tell you, but it is one of the most delightful. A ramble along country lanes and through woodland shadows is one of the favorite pastimes of our English countrymen, and it might be made one of our greatest pleasures. One can never see the beauties of nature from a car window, and the automobile merely unravels the landscape in one indefinite blur. Even the more leisurely horse permits much to escape us. The call of the spring to the open air is here. The warm sunshine, the dry roads not yet grown dusty, the chatter of the birds, all call us to the great outdoors. Health, exhilaration and the sweet weariness begets sound sleep await us there. Instead of bemoaning your fate that you have no automobile to carry you to the country, take a good long ramble on foot. You will feel vastly better for it, and you will learn things worth knowing.

BISHOP'S VIEWS ON UNREST IN ENGLAND

Says Blame Is At Door Of Modern Society

DISEASE AND IMMUNITY

Result of Studies by Belfast Professor of Medicine—London Youths Losing at the Gaming Table—Criminals Who Are Experts in Art

(Times Special Correspondence)
London, May 6.—In an address to the Salisbury Diocesan Synod the Bishop of Salisbury, Doctor Ridgeway, speaking of industrial unrest, said:—
"The real blame lies at the door of most of us, certainly at the door of modern society. The idleness of money and luxury for which it is conspicuous, the reckless extravagance, the demand, not confined to one section of society, for a more and more soft and self-indulgent life, the absurdly high standard of entertaining, the impression given to the masses from highly colored descriptions of fashionable society that this is the normal life of prosperous people, and inevitable comparison and contrast with their own circumstances, all this has done its deadly work."

"It has not only created discontent. It has raised passions which cannot be easily quelled. It has led the poor to despise the rich, and yet with curious inconsistency to try to imitate them."

Professor Lindsay, professor of medicine in Belfast, read a paper before the Eugenic Education Society on the "Problem of Immunity from Disease, in its Relation to Eugenics." The lecturer suggested four questions for the consideration of the society:—
How was it that one individual became affected by a certain disease, such as scarlatina, while another, in spite of repeated exposure, escaped infection?
What was the mechanism of immunity, when an individual, having safely surmounted an attack of infectious disease, was subsequently protected for life against further attacks?
How did it happen that certain races were either specially liable to or enjoyed a relative immunity from certain diseases? Were the facts of immunity capable of any evolutionary explanation or any application to the field of Eugenics?
Professor Lindsay, by means of a number of medical instances, illustrated the difficulty of making any generalization as to the evolution of an immunity against disease. The incidence of tuberculosis had decreased during the last fifty years by a half. We still, he asked, to be attributed to evolution or the improved hygiene? Since 1899 diphtheria and pneumonia had increased in frequency; measles was as virulent as ever, while scarlatina had been virtually eliminated.

The question of tuberculosis was particularly difficult. It had decreased enormously in England, but had remained practically stationary in Ireland. The law of evolution probably operated in the aggregate, but it operated very slowly. After analyzing the situation as regards tuberculosis he laid down desirable lines of action. The suffering from active tuberculosis should be allowed to marry; that persons who had been cured of tuberculosis should be encouraged from marrying unless their circumstances were such that they and their offspring could be carefully tended. The marriages between persons, both of whom came of tuberculous stock, should be discouraged.

In reference to such diseases as plague and its long periods of quiescence, he suggested that the outbreaks were due to some alteration in the strength of the virus of the disease. This, he thought, might be due to some return of the pheretic cause at present not understood. In conclusion, Professor Lindsay argued that tuberculosis, cancer, insanity, and other conditions could in some degree be controlled by the adoption of eugenic principles. Diseases must be combated not only by medical science, hygiene, and social reform, but by inquiring into the conditions which conferred immunity upon individuals and upon races, and by giving such conditions adequate scope.

Gambling Gripes Youth.
"Losses due to gambling," has been the explanation given in twenty-six instances since last September by young men at their public examinations in bankruptcy court. This fact alone is more than sufficient justification for the suppression of the secret gambling houses in the West End which have been exposed during the last few days.

Recent losses and claims for money lent at high interest to pay those gambling debts have figured largely in the long lists of liabilities—running in the aggregate to hundreds of thousands of pounds—which these debtors of good position have incurred. Many of these youthful bankrupts are men in the early twenties—some of them the sons of eminent financiers and sound business men, who have been obliged in the end to refuse to pay any further gambling debts for their sons. City men have patronized the bacarat houses in the west end in such numbers that an enterprising individual has now opened a "club" in the Throgmorton street area, conveniently close to the bank and to the Stock Exchange. Here, in an office once rented by a stock-broking firm, a brisk game has been played in the early afternoons and after the four o'clock rush is over.

Financiers, stockbrokers, and business men of all sorts have taken part in this game, which they have found a welcome relaxation after the storm and stress of the higher finance. This "club" has, however, kept many men in the city long after their ordinary business hours, and there has already been sensational play there, one man losing $10,000 in two afternoons.

At Maidenhead, in one of the well-known riverside houses, there have been lately week-end bacarat parties where play has been unusually high. Motor cars have brought the guests from London, and in the evening the hostess has presided at a game which has been as exciting as anything that the night houses of Mayfair afford.

Even unknown or forgotten art treasures were often first brought to light by some successful exploit of this famous thief. The expert knowledge of such criminals is almost incredible. We have grown accustomed to thieves who make use of the most recent scientific apparatus and discoveries in the actual execution of their "job," but it is far more difficult to realize that a considerable number of this modern gang of thieves possess a considerable discrimination denied to many professional dealers in art. It would, indeed, be no easy matter to find an expert who could make the same claim as Ferrand.

There will be many new features at the naval and military tournament at Olympia next month, one in particular being an historical episode. The call to arms deals with the story of the Armada, and for this a huge model of a ship of the Tudor period will be used. The episode will be in two scenes, the first representing the famous game of bowls on Plymouth Hoe, the second Queen Elizabeth's inspection of her troops at Tilbury. The part of the queen is to be taken by Mrs. Heanick or Heaton. Another new feature will be a special jumping display by night by the 18th Hussars, whose horses will leap over blazing fires.

WASTED TALENT
The vicar was paying a parochial visit to Mrs. Higgins, and presently inquired about each member of her family.
"And your second son—William," he asked—"the musical one, you know—how is he getting on in London?"
"Thank'ee, sir," said the dame, "seems to me 'e be don' all right. 'E do write an' say as 'e's a conductor now."
"Really, Mrs. Higgins?" beamed the good man. "That's excellent news! And what band is he conducting?"
"Sure, an' 'e didn't say that, sir," said Mrs. Higgins. "But 'e wrote as 'e was conductin' from Ammerneath to White-chappell!"—Answers.

"Every present should be appropriate," said an after-dinner speaker recently. "We should note of us bestow our presents as foolishly as did the rich widow of Chamberlain, who sent 10,000 alarm clocks to Uganda to help the poor sufferers from sleeping sickness."

HEARTBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS Made Her Strong and Healthy.

Many women get run down, and are unable to look after their household duties, owing to their nervous system becoming unstrung, and when this happens, the heart starts to work in sympathy with the nerves. In Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills is combined a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders, as well as on the heart itself. Mrs. F. McAvity, Brookside, Sask., writes:—"It is with the greatest pleasure I write you stating the benefit I have received from using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. This spring I was so run down, and a neighbor advised me to try your pills. I told her that I thought nothing could cure me, as I was too far gone. But she told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, which I did, and before I had finished them, I began to improve, and when I had finished the one box I was as strong and healthy as any woman. Anyone who is suffering from heart or nerve troubles should take your Heart and Nerve Pills, and they will soon discover their worth."

MOTHERHOOD SUGGESTIONS
Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once children there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

"Got My Sore Foot in it Right!—TIZ"

"A TIZ Bath, My Boy, a TIZ Bath—You Can't Beat It for Sore Feet, Corns and Bunions!"

Is this man a tender-foot? No. He is a joy-walker—one who uses TIZ and gets from the feet a happiness one never felt before.

In fact our hands and feet seem to have come in for more attention this year from Dame Fashion than the rest of ourselves. At the "Tales of Hoffman" in the London Opera House here the other night, it was hard to realize that it was not daytime. Every woman had on her head a covering that amounted to a hat in its elaboration. The twist of chiffon or the jeweled tulle is no longer to be seen. The coiffure's art is hardly needed at all, for nothing of the hair is visible except a few locks about the temples, and the little curls that dangle over one's ears.

People are beginning to say here that Mrs. Asquith, who, as I expect you have often heard, is credited with the sharpest tongue in society, is finding a rival in Lady Diana Manners, the youngest and by many people considered the prettiest, of the Duchess of Rutland's daughters. Her unkind critics are saying also that it is the reason why she has not yet found a husband, for in other ways, she is without doubt the liveliest and one of the prettiest of the English girls here. She is extraordinarily original, extremely attractive, accomplished, and a brilliant conversationist, but herein lies her danger. Her tongue is apt to run away with her, and in the sharp things she says, more often than not, there lies a painful sting.

It was she who started the idea of black wall-papers and cushions for drawing rooms, a fashion that had an immense vogue for a time. She designed most of the color schemes for the new house of her sister, Lady Violet, who she married the Hon. Hugh Chichester, Lord Esher, last year, her first effort being the drawing-room which is called the "blush-room." The paper, which had to be made especially, begins by being palest pink at the floor, and increasing its blush at its

LIBERALS WIN GREAT VICTORY; SWEEP QUEBEC

Carry Sixty-Two of the Eighty Seats Contested Yesterday—An Indication of Next Dominion Results

Montreal, May 15.—The Quebec provincial elections today resulted in the return of the Gouin government by an increased majority over that which it had in the last session.

By the redistribution of seats at the last session of the legislature seven new seats were added and while the opposition captured three of these, it lost two others, thus making the net gain in the Liberal majority in the new house six.

All of the members of the cabinet were re-elected, the only one to suffer defeat being the Hon. Chas. Devlin, in Temiskamingue. Mr. Devlin was, however, successful in Nicolet county.

Premier Gouin was elected by large majorities in both Portneuf and St. Lawrence. Mr. Feller, the opposition leader, was re-elected in Joliette, but two of his leading lieutenants, Armand Lavigne and Jules Prevost, both of whom ran in two counties, suffered defeat in one. Mr. Lavigne was winning in Montargis and losing in Montmorency, and Mr. Prevost suffering defeat in L'Assomption and winning in Terrebonne.

The Liberals won sixty-two seats, the Conservatives sixteen and the labor party five. Two elections were defeated.

Won on Its Record.

The opposition appealed to the people on its good record, while the opposition charged it with extravagance, citing the erection of a $3,000,000 jail and a $600,000 technical school in Montreal as examples, and contending that the money could have been better spent in advancing the interests of primary education in the rural districts of the province.

Good roads also figured, the government relying upon its programme and the opposition contending that the money could be spent to better advantage, alleging that the government's policy tended to favor those roads which would be largely used by automobiles to the neglect of those which were of greater value to the farmer.

Ottawa, May 15.—The sweeping victory of the Liberals in Quebec is taken at Ottawa as a clear indication of what the province will do for the Liberal when Sir Wilfrid Laurier leads them in the next federal fight.

The Dominion government gave all the aid it was able to the Conservative-Nationalist opposition led by Toller and Lavigne.

The three French ministers Messrs. Monod, Vanier and Pelletier appeared upon the platform against Premier Gouin and through patronage did all they could to subvert the result.

The campaign against Gouin was liberally financed from Ottawa and the decisive defeat was a great disappointment to the government. It is taken as an indication that the voters are still with the Liberals and will go so when the Dominion election is held.

At Ottawa the Liberals are jubilant over the result in Quebec and the government correspondingly depressed.

Quebec Gouin received the news of the election at his office in the parliament buildings this evening. Messrs. Devlin and Kaine were with him. When the first returns came in, Sir Lomer received them smilingly. "We have won our election," said the premier, "and I am not disappointed. It seems as if I had given the opposition too generous a division and the opposition will not get the twenty seats which I allowed."

"I am pleased to see," said the premier, "that the election of this province is able to vote with intelligence, and I am gratified by the large majorities which have supported my followers. The only disappointment is the defeat of Hon. Mr. Carter in L'Islet, but this will soon be remedied."

Ottawa, May 15.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier returned to Ottawa tonight from the banks, where he had recorded his vote, and on the way-up heard some of the returns in the provincial elections in Quebec. On his arrival in the capital he learned the full result and was elated. The victory seemed to make him even more young and he was as cheerful as a boy.

The Paris Queen of Fashion Meets Her London Society Customers

LATE FADS IN SOCIETY

St. John People Find Place To The Times—Wedding of Miss Hendry of Vancouver This Month

(Times' Special Correspondence)

London, May 4.—This has been a busy and anxious week for several of the more prominent women in England who have reputations as leaders of fashion to uphold. Unseen lies the head that wears a crown, but how much more disturbed is the state of mind of the woman who is always to be dressed in the fashions of the day alike tomorrow.

Madame Paquin has been in London for a few days. Can you realize what that means? The arbiter of fashions, the queen of the Rue de la Paix, who has it in her power, merely by her refusal to accept them as customers, to bring the latest fashions to a standstill.

Madame Paquin is one of the most important women now walking this earth. And she has been in London in person to consult with her chosen and fortunate clients who are falling over themselves in their efforts to secure from the French woman "creations" for the coming season that will cause the much coveted coronas of "Aha" and the buzz of conversation that are so dear to these social butterflies.

How She Deals

A friend gives me a vivid and interesting account of the methods of Madame Paquin.

"Madame shows her customers a number of new drawings in color of the styles they desire," she said. "Finally several are selected as embodying the features that the customer wishes. An engagement is made for the following day, when Madame works on the client very small pieces of material, such as veils, blouses, tucks and wraps until she has evolved a model like nothing else in all the world. The half-hour conversation by mirrors so that a client can see all sides of her frock from every angle. It is a bit tiring, but it is necessary. All of which will be news to many who know the great French woman only by reputation. There is a great deal of precision that she exercises only a percentage supervision over the establishments that she directs in Paris. Her own hands are busy with the orders of many of her customers. A client must please her, however, before she will accept her on his or her terms. That is to say, the woman, by her looks and ability to 'carry' her clothes, must be worthy of the best efforts of the autocrat."

Late Fad

Smart woman in her unending search for something new and costly wherein to display her money has had a great success in dog's collar and lead shall match her shoes, and the latest fabric for these three is the new material called "Tulle." "You can get it any color you like," said a friend to me the other day, "and it can match your dog if you like. And the beauty of it is that it is so frightfully expensive that madame of the suburbs will not ever be able to copy us in this anyhow."

One of the votaries of this latest whim is Dorothy Smith-Barry, Lady Berrymore's debutante daughter, who was looking the picture of smartness in the park the other morning, taking her dog for a run. It was a warm and sunny morning, such as this smoky city is very occasionally favored with, and Miss Smith-Barry was wearing a beautifully cut grey skirt, and equally well cut short blouse to match. Her belt and shoes were of grey python's skin, and her simple straw hat was bound with a band of the same material. Her canine friends were smartly "attired" as to collar and leads, and many heads were turned to watch them and their mistress as they went down the street.

For the evening it is decreed that the heels of one's shoes shall be jeweled,—one result of the fashion is that very pretty they look as they are worn. One's feet twinkle in and out in the steps of the dancer. The shoes themselves are of the finest suede, dark in color, and are set with jewel chosen matches or harmonies with it.

In fact our hands and feet seem to have come in for more attention this year from Dame Fashion than the rest of ourselves. At the "Tales of Hoffman" in the London Opera House here the other night, it was hard to realize that it was not daytime. Every woman had on her head a covering that amounted to a hat in its elaboration. The twist of chiffon or the jeweled tulle is no longer to be seen. The coiffure's art is hardly needed at all, for nothing of the hair is visible except a few locks about the temples, and the little curls that dangle over one's ears.

People are beginning to say here that Mrs. Asquith, who, as I expect you have often heard, is credited with the sharpest tongue in society, is finding a rival in Lady Diana Manners, the youngest and by many people considered the prettiest, of the Duchess of Rutland's daughters. Her unkind critics are saying also that it is the reason why she has not yet found a husband, for in other ways, she is without doubt the liveliest and one of the prettiest of the English girls here. She is extraordinarily original, extremely attractive, accomplished, and a brilliant conversationist, but herein lies her danger. Her tongue is apt to run away with her, and in the sharp things she says, more often than not, there lies a painful sting.

It was she who started the idea of black wall-papers and cushions for drawing rooms, a fashion that had an immense vogue for a time. She designed most of the color schemes for the new house of her sister, Lady Violet, who she married the Hon. Hugh Chichester, Lord Esher, last year, her first effort being the drawing-room which is called the "blush-room." The paper, which had to be made especially, begins by being palest pink at the floor, and increasing its blush at its

ONE MAN TRIALS THE 500 MOB

An Incident of Nerve and Decision in the Coal Troubles in Pennsylvania

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 15.—When 500 men, women and children, marching under the Stars and Stripes, and heavily armed with clubs and stones, surrounded the coal mine, the trial of a man was the result. Joseph Star, an independent operator at Hudson, and threatened violence to the mob at work, Stark defied them. He stood up to the mob, and a single-handed drove them from the place. The mob, after marching the streets of Hudson, turned to the mine, and Stark, the coal collier, the owner was there to meet them, and as they marched up to the entrance of the mine, Stark ordered the 500 to halt. When his voice could be heard he said: "I am here to meet you, but I will not let you march into my mine. I intend to haul what coal I want and sell wherever I please. You know me and you get 500 men to come and arm them all with clubs. I am fully aware that you do not want me to work in my mine, but I know I don't, but if you persist in interfering with my work I shall call for the state police, and if necessary station them everywhere along the roadway. If you then want to work, you can have it. Go on back home and be law-abiding citizens. I am through now, and those of you who are aware that I am a man of my word."

These words of Stark startled the rioters. They had lost their nerve, and in a very short time were on their way singing their songs and planning other moves. Mrs. A. M. Simard, Quebec, J. B. PLENTY OF TROUBLE IN MASSACHUSETTS K. C.'S

Things are not looking bright for the local government as regards the city members, as it is believed only one of the four representatives in the present house will be in the field again. Hon. Robert Maxwell announced his retirement from provincial politics at the Fleming banquet and last evening W. F. Hatheway said positively that he would not be in the running. It is known that Mr. Hatheway has not been in accord with the government's policy as it affected labor interests and the granting of huge concessions to corporations without adequately safeguarding the province.

The Conservatives are also finding plenty of trouble over the Catholic representation on the ticket in St. John city. All along it has been the belief that D. Mullin, K. C., Philip Grattan or Florence McCarthy would be nominated as one of the four men in the city. It was said there was no give away to any one of them as the fringe of each were determined that his name should go before the convention and there was promise of all three being before the delegates.

Mr. McCarthy, however, is said to have agreed to withdraw, thus leaving the place for choice between Messrs. Mullin and Grattan. It was said yesterday that the latter had finally expressed willingness to retire but that his supporters were not content with this and that things were proceeding at rather a lively gallop over the whole situation.

Representatives of the New Brunswick Temperance Federation waited on Messrs. Maxwell, Wilson and Hatheway the local M. P.'s last evening and presented a request for the appointment of Rev. R. Robinson as the next chairman of the Liquor License Commission and of George F. Menzies as the next inspector. Unlucky a favorable reply is given by May 29 they intimate that they will endeavor to pledge their candidates and failing that, to place candidates of their own in the field.

Hon. Mr. Maxwell informed the delegation that he had another petition, signed by several of the clergymen present, asking for the appointment of W. J. Forbes as chairman. The clergymen present indicated such petition and J. W. Smith suggested that it might be one which was not paid for several years ago.

Mr. Maxwell said he was a member of the federation but perhaps his dues were not paid. He was told they were not. The meeting adjourned until May 28.

The marriage will be celebrated on May 14 in St. Columba's, Post street, Belgrave Square, a West End church which numbers among its congregation many society leaders, including several notable Scottish families. An eminent divine, Rev. Archibald Fleming, is pastor. The bride-elect was among the most charming of Canadian debutantes, was presented to Their Majesties at one of the coronation courts last May.

Mr. Hamberg came to London about eighteen months ago to open the newly established branch of the Dominion Bank in Great Britain. He is receiving many congratulations from the friends he has made on this side and from Canada. He will be remembered in the dominion as prominent in athletics, having stroked more than one winning crew, and is still frequently to be seen at Prince's and other places where lacrosse, ice skating, hockey and other Canadian sports can be indulged in. The honeymoon will be spent on the continent. Miss Hendry is staying with her parents at Brown's Hotel, Abchurch-lane street.

Mrs. Henshaw of Vancouver has become wonderfully popular during her visit here and her lectures in various parts of Great Britain have attracted great attention. Undoubtedly her fascinating way of presenting the attractions of the Alps to the thousands of British mountaineers from the European Alps to those much grander mountains of the Alps, has been the cause of her popularity. ### ADVENT OF 'LONGSHOREMEN FROM ST. JOHN RESENTED IN MONTREAL

Nearly Free Fight Over Men From This City Because of Tax on Outside Laborers Here—Finally Find Work in Non-union Ranks

A Maritime dispatch says— "A body of St. John, N. B., longshoremen stirred up turmoil in local labor ranks yesterday, and a free fight nearly ensued on the water front. The easterners had come to Montreal to work. There is a tax of $7.88 a head on Montreal men going to St. John, to work, and thus there was some ill feeling on the part of several of the Montreal longshoremen, when they found St. John men coming to work here, unimpeded by any restriction. The difficulty was finally settled however by the St. John men leaving the gang with which they had been working, and finding employment with non-union workers. This they had no difficulty in doing, as there is a scarcity of labor in the port at present."

ROUGH ON O. B. PRICE.

Moncton Transcript—It was an unkind cut the St. John Standard gave O. B. Price, the Conservative nominee for the city. The Moncton Times refuses to mention his name or to endorse any candidate for the St. John Standard follows the example set by the local Tory organ and, though giving the names of some distinguished Conservative leaders for Moncton as Ezra P. Hoar as being present at the Flemming banquet to eat of the "rib of western beef," served up with cold gray, instead of the nice luscious New Brunswick beef which ought to have been there to encourage the native industry, omits to mention that of O. B. Price, who was present.

The opening of the Inter-Society Baseball League will take place this evening on St. Peter's grounds, North End, which have been thoroughly renovated and put in shape for the playing during the season. ### ST. JOHN PEOPLE AT FUNERAL OF MRS. COHOE

Bereaved Minister and Children Have Gone to Ontario With Body of Wife and Mother

H. W. Belding returned this morning from Halifax, where he went to attend the funeral of Mrs. A. B. Cohoe. Among others present were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Vail, formerly of St. John, who went down from Wolfville, and Rev. F. E. Bishop and Rev. Mr. Nicholson, former St. John friends of Rev. Mr. Cohoe.

The funeral took place on yesterday afternoon, the service being held on the veranda of the spacious cottage occupied by the family at Princess Lodge. A special train ran out from Halifax, and many people went out in motor cars. The choir of Mr. Cohoe's church was present. A short but very impressive service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Kempton, after which the funeral party proceeded to the station, where by special arrangement the Maritime express stopped and they entered for Toronto. Messrs. Vail and Belding, formerly associated with Mr. Cohoe in Brussels street church, walked with him in the procession from the cottage. Mrs. Belding and Miss Belding, mother and sister of Mrs. Cohoe, were present and accompanied Mr. Cohoe and his two little children on the last journey to Toronto, where they go to the home of Mr. Cohoe's uncle, John Pugsley.

Mr. Cohoe was in receipt of telegrams and letters in great number from many places in Canada and the United States including many from St. John. He desired, when they go to the home of Mr. Cohoe's uncle, John Pugsley.

Mr. Belding to express for him his deep sense of the sympathy of friends in St. John. He will remain in Ontario for about two months before resuming his work in Halifax, and while there letters addressed to 20 King street, east, Toronto, will find him.
