Fine Equipment for the G. T. Pacific

Montreal, April 14.--The Grand Trunk Pacific have just given out several big orders for locomotives. The Montreal Locomotive Works, Longue Pointe have received an order for twenty-five eight-wheel engines, to be delivered next July.

An order has also been placed with the Algoma Steel & Iron Co., Ltd., for 22,000 tons of eighty-pound steel rails, intended for railings. This shipment will be moved entirely by boat around Cape Horn from Sydney to Prince Rupert.

The Grand Trunk Pacific are now building for service on the Skeena River B. C., two new steamers similar to the steamer Discobus, built last fall. These steamers will ply between Prince Rupert and the head of navigation on the Skeena River, and will be ready for service in June. The 25 mhp engines ordered by the G. T. P. from the Canadian Locomotive Co. of Kingston, are well under way. Delivery will be complete by July this year.

Flanagan Tells About Indian

Toronto, April 16.--Flanagan gave a decisive answer to a lot of would-be opponents today, when he plainly stated that he had nothing to do with keeping Longboat from fulfilling his 15-mile engagement with Sherbro.

He made it plain that the only reason he turned the red skin over to P. T. Powers was his inability to handle him.

"Longboat won't train, so I've washed my hands of him," he said. "Tom Longboat is not afraid of Sherbro at 15 miles, but no sane man would back him for such a race when he will not train. Sherbro is not unbeatible, but no man can beat him without training."

"Another thing, the Longboat-St. Yves race is off, because no one dare promote it on account of the Indian's erratic temperament. He might train, and he might not--he might face the starter and he might not. You can't handle a runner like that unless he'll put up a substantial forfeit, and Longboat won't do that. One thing more, I would not be surprised if Longboat never ran another race. He tells me his head hurts him to walk even, and any athletic man knows that if the success is in the bone, it is more than likely to permanently disable him."

J. J. McCaffery said this morning that he had signed Longboat and Sherbro for a twenty-mile race on the Island on May 22.

From various quarters there come indications that the financial stringency that afflicted Canada in common with other countries will soon be a thing of the past. The customs receipts are expanding and settlers are pouring into the country. There are signs of splendid times ahead, especially if the coming season is a good one for agriculture.

Changes in Game Laws

Hon. Mr. Grimmer introduced a bill to amend the game laws. It was, he said, to consolidate the various acts of the province referring to the game and forest protection and to introduce a few changes to overcome difficulties which he had experienced under the present law.

Among the changes would be one making any moose a calf until it was three years old and had horns with three points not less than four inches long.

The office of chief game commissioner was abolished and the work vested in chief game wardens.

Muskkrats, which were now unprotected except in a few counties, would be protected throughout the province except from the 10th of March till the 10th of May.

Partridges would not be allowed to be sold in open market during the next three years, although this would not prevent a resident from taking partridges for his own use. The act would also prohibit the keeping of partridges in cold storage. When he stated that the department found a few days ago that 899 partridges were at the present time in cold storage in St. John, and there was no telling how many hundreds had been there during the season, the house would realize how necessary it was to take measures to prevent the complete extinction of this bird.

Authority would be conferred upon game wardens to search camps during the close season for firearms, and to remove the same from the woods if found.

Provision was also made for penalizing express and transportation outside the province heads and carcasses of big game which were not properly tagged, as required by law.

A section was also introduced to prevent the trapping of fur-bearing animals by non-residents, except under license.

Dealers in furs would be required to keep a record of all purchases of furs and persons from whom such purchases were made, and such record would be open at all times to officials of the crown land department.

Dealers in carcasses of game animals would be required to take out license and would not be allowed to have more than two carcasses of game in their possession at one time. They will be required to keep a record of purchases. The same provision will apply to taxidermists, who must register the names of all persons sending their game or fish to be mounted, the idea being that every possible provision be made for the department to trace illegal killing of game.

All provisions of the present game law are compiled and rearranged in the new act, so that the game law of 1909 will be a complete exposition of the game laws of the province for information of sportsmen, guides and residents. He asked the assistance of every member of the house in perfecting a game law that will so meet conditions that this exceedingly valuable asset may be preserved and protected and that every encouragement be lent sportsmen coming to the province under proper restrictions.

Bee Stings For Rheumatism

Dr. Swann comes from Stockbridge, Mass., and when a boy he learned all about the superstitions and legends so dear to the heart of the New Englanders, especially the farmers. Among them was one that a bee sting was a sure cure or a preventative of rheumatism.

Two years ago he was graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and since that time has been attached to Roosevelt Hospital. The number of inmates there suffering from rheumatism led him to remember the story of the bee.

After thinking it over for some time he determined to try an experiment. He wrote to his mother, Mrs. John Swann, of Stockbridge, and asked her to send him 100 choice honey bees each week. The second consignment arrived a day or two ago.

THE TREATMENT EXPLAINED

"How the treatment is given was explained to a New York Times reporter by Dr. Swann. He pointed out that it was merely an experiment, and was based on nothing more solid than the old New England superstition mentioned.

"I have tried the treatment on four or six cases," said Dr. Swann, "and at least it has resulted in a temporary improvement in each case. I had nothing to back my belief up as to its efficacy except the New England belief. However, I think this is based on the fact that the sting causes a counter irritation, or that the peculiar poison of the bee acting acts as an antidote to the uric acid, which causes rheumatism."

"I picked out four of the worst patients--these whose joints and limbs were stiffened by the disease. After washing the afflicted parts with alcohol, so as to insure perfect cleanliness I put two of these bees in a glass and then inverted the glass over the limb, which I covered with a piece of this gauze."

"After a while the bees got busy, and when the patients were stung once or twice they were removed. The patient was watched very closely and the treatment renewed daily, the number of bees being increased until I had seen as many as ten bees under the glass at one time."

"As I said, the results have been most satisfactory, but it is too early yet to say anything about the ultimate result of my experiments. I hope to try it out on some 60 or 70 patients before I come to any definite conclusion, but so far as it has gone, I am well satisfied with the experiment."

It is a well known fact that people keeping bees and those who come in contact with them are seldom afflicted with rheumatism, although there are those who prefer the latter to a good sting from a yellow jacket or wasp.

What Will We Drink?

We are not allowed to drink whiskey, as it ruins us, if liberally applied, both body and soul.

We cannot take milk on account of disease germs.

And now a cable from London says that our morning cup of tea may become a deadly poison.

We will soon be frightened to death even if the disease germs never get hold of us.

This latest prohibition from London reads:

The Lancet gives a warning of the danger lurking in the morning cup of tea served in bed. The tea itself is usually made, and a great deal of milk or cream added, can readily be considered harmful, it appears, but septic germs accumulate in the mouth during the night so the most expert argument against the early morning cup of tea is that in many cases the tea is swallowed before the mouth and teeth are cleaned, and a poisoning process in the system might thus easily be begun.

The dietetic and scientific will soon have us "buns de omnia" if they keep on with their experimentation and discoveries, and the few that are left will fall before our latest "buns de omnia" Simplified Spelling.

The Great Crusade Against White Plague

The crusade against consumption was started in St. Stephen on Tuesday evening. Elder Memorial Hall was filled with audience fully representing the citizens of St. Stephen and the surrounding country.

Mr. G. W. Ganong presided and in his introductory remarks spoke of what could be done in the way of cure by placing consumption under proper treatment and instanced some cases which had come under his personal observation in which cures had resulted.

Dr. E. V. Sullivan, in a well considered address, pointed out the mode of invasion by the tubercle bacillus and described its life history. A consumptive patient would spit up many millions of these germs in a single day. These dried and mixed with dust would be inhaled by other people and finding a suitable soil would reproduce the disease. The destruction of the spittal was of primary importance and for the cure rest, fresh air and good food are needed.

Dr. Thomas Walker, of St. John pointed out the great importance of this movement. In Canada according to the best statistics at our disposal, there are sixty thousand cases of consumption, of which 12,000 die annually. In Newfoundland there are 3,000 cases, and of which about 600 die every year. In St. John last year there were 185 deaths, and of these 100 were due to tuberculosis. Consumption is a contagious disease, and therefore can be stamped out. He considered compulsory notification of cases of consumption as of great importance. Only in this way could we know where these cases were and look after them and have the houses properly fumigated and cleaned. He spoke of the value of a properly trained district nurse, who would see the doctor's orders thoroughly carried out. A provincial sanatorium was much to be desired, not only for the care of cases, but also as an object lesson in the plan of treatment. He pointed out how much had been done in other countries towards reducing the death rate by using modern methods. In England and Wales the death rate had been reduced fifty per cent. It had been proved that consumption could be cured in Canada as well as it could in any part of the world, and it was important to keep the people in that climate where their life work lay. In conclusion he brought his audience to take up this fight. Everyone could help and so enjoy the satisfaction that came from working in a cause of such vital importance to our country.

Rev. J. Hunter Boyd spoke very strongly upon the duty which developed upon us of waking up to the problem before us. The disease is really a social as well as a medical one and needs the co-operation of every inhabitant in order to stamp it out.

It was resolved to form a county association. The following officers were elected:

President, G. W. Ganong.

Vice-presidents, F. C. Marchie, Milltown; T. E. Wren, St. Andrews; N. Manning, St. George.

Secretary, Dr. E. V. Sullivan, St. Stephen.

Treasurer, J. S. Lord, St. Stephen.

Executive committee, Rev. J. Hunter Boyd, Irvine Todd, M. N. Cockburn, Mayor Lawrence, W. F. Todd.

No Females in Saloons

Spokane, Wash., April 16.--After June 1st no woman can legally enter any saloon in this state. The new criminal code makes it a misdemeanor for the owner or employ of "any drinking saloon or music hall, where intoxicating liquors are sold" to "knowingly permit to enter such saloon or sell or give any intoxicating liquor to any female person."

The same rule applies to any common drunkard or any person in an intoxicated condition or any felon.

Trout and the Novice

Generally speaking, the open season for trout fishing is from April sixteenth to August thirty-first. Every day of the open season the trout changes his habits, at his habitat, and no man can tell you an unerring way to catch trout. It may be possible, however, to help a beginner prepare for the fishing season.

You will want a thirty-dollar rod; but can do well with one costing five dollars at the start; have it recommended by a reliable dealer or angler. Rods, like camera lenses, are no two the same, but for fine shades of "hang," "speed," "recover," and so forth, you need first to develop the angle sense. Get a ten and one-half foot eight-ounce article, with a simple reel, not "automatic" nor "multiplying." The reel fastens to a seat either below or above the handle grip as you prefer, ordinarily the latter. It should have a drag or brake. Your line should be of braided silk, thirty to forty yards, augmented by several six and nine-foot gut leaders, to which the hooks are attached. A good method of fastening the leader to the line is by a swivel, which also takes the place of split shot used to weigh the business end. For lure or bait you must get local advice. Trout will take a worm dragged along the bottom, and they won't touch a winnow scraped against their sleepy nose; a "gray hackle" fly will get a rise in a frothing current, and only a "white moth" tempts him in a pool--at times. Other times everything said here and elsewhere on the subject of bait fails. There are over one hundred and twenty-five "flies" and many other kinds of artificial lure, so get local advice. I wish to say that by "fishing" for them, nevertheless, once you use a fly and casting-rod you will understand the difference. You should carry your flies and extra leaders in some convenient pocket receptacle that will keep the articles separated, ready for quick selection. A jointed-handle landing-net and a basket or creel complete the outfit.

Once you get in touch with experienced anglers and with the fish you will also get in touch with the many auxiliaries which go to make up the angler's cabinet one of the most delightful "collections" a human being can make. And yet, I must emphasize that a very simple outfit will yield both sport and fish as it, I think, the wisest for the amateur who can fish only a brief part of his time. Why not begin with a cheap rod, two or three flies, and a stream, just as many bring with a Browne camera, and let results develop?--William E. Ashley in the Outdoor Circle, The Circle Magazine for April.

A preacher at the conclusion of one of his sermons said, Let all in the house who are paying their debts stand up. Instantly every man, woman and child to his own exception rose to their feet. The preacher seated them and said, "Now every man not paying his debts stand up." The exception noted, a careless and hungry looking individual, clothed in his last summer suit slowly assumed a perpendicular position. How is it my friend asked the minister, that you are the only man not to meet his obligations? I ran a newspaper, he meekly answered and the brethren here who stood up are my subscribers, and "Let us pray," exclaimed the preacher.--Ex.

The old fashioned way of doing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription--Dr. Shoop's Restorative--is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments--the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak stomach, Heart or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail, then these organs must surely fail. These vital organs are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow, sold by all druggists.

Women and Meanness

There was a well-known man of an earlier generation who said his ambition was "to be asked everywhere and to go nowhere." He was a poet, but above all he was a philosopher. He knew human nature as well as that past master in the knowledge—he who tempted Eve—for he had realized that there is nothing more craved for than the reputation of generosity; and he knew also that of the genuine commodity there is singularly little.

Most people would as soon be accused of murder as of meanness. It is a characteristic scarcely less objectionable to the average individual than cowardice. Yet to a careful observer it is promiscuously conspicuous, and in quarters wherein it frequently lies unsuspected by the unwitting.

A cutlet for a bone, a cup of tea for a cup of hot water, a ride in a Daimler in return for a penny omnibus fare—this is the order of the day. "What am I going to get out of this?" is the question which is at the back of the many when they give. "Will Mrs. John Jones invite me back to a better dinner than that which I am giving her?" The question is weighed as carefully as if it were an international consideration before even the sprat is thrown to catch the salmon.

The really mean man is a rara avis. It seems to be an unwritten law among men to pay back as generously as they have received. To accept and not to return in some shape or form is unknown in their philosophy. Moreover, do they give spontaneously without ever a thought of return. But the glaring and courageous meanness of women to one another has no parallel as a characteristic on this planet.

If you want to see it in its true colors you have to go to women's clubs to find it. One woman will in the most effusive manner, and with the most brilliant smile, invite another member to tea, and look astounded if she comes unprovided with her own sixpenny ticket for the beverage. The guest, unsophisticated creature, regards the invitation as a genuine one. She has never dreamed of the necessity of paying for herself, and her embarrassment and amazement at discovering her own folly and stupidity can be imagined.

Men are poor things when it comes to lying in order to put off a friend. But a woman who in a wild bout of generosity has asked someone to partake of her hospitality, and then in calmer moments realized her indiscretion, will stop at nothing to save the 18-shilling or the 18-penny lunch, as the case may be. Catch her hesitating to tell her friend not to come! Catch her not finding excuses by the score to justify her action in the other woman's sight! Her mind is as fertile in producing suggestions for amending her folly as is a green valley in the springtime.

For the least among women's splendors is her fancied imagination, her grand self-possession and coolness in such circumstances has to spend their worth over again in fares in the vain endeavor to match them? But to have acquired in the first instance something for half its value is a tall feather in the cap of every woman. The mere male, to be sure, must miss half the joys of life, for he has no genuine appreciation of the meaning of the word bargain—one of the most attractive stimulating words in the woman's lexicon!

To have to abandon one's favorite economies is only one step less trying than to have to abandon one's favorite weaknesses.

Preventives—those Candy Cold Cure Tablets—will safely and quickly check all colds and the Grip. Try them once and see! 48-25c. Sold by all dealers.

Scissors in the Kitchen

If you want to see a pair of scissors put to all sorts of queer uses just watch some young housekeeper getting vegetables ready for dinner or preparing a salad. It is declared that in nine cases out of every ten things can be cut better with the scissors than with a knife.

Especially in the preparing of salads should the kitchen scissors appeal to the house-keeper looking for labor-saving schemes. Dicing apples and celery is a matter of only a moment when done in this way, and a few green peppers may be snipped up in less time than it takes to tell about it, says the New York "Sun."

The easiest way to dice green peppers is to cut off several long slivers the whole length of the pepper. Hold these firmly in one hand and with the scissors slip through the entire bunch. Several stalks of asparagus may be clipped through in the same way.

For hollowing out a tomato previous to stuffing a pair of scissors enables one to remove practically all the pulp without breaking through the skin. For fruit salads scissors are equally useful, as the fine skin which separates the sections of grape fruit and oranges is easily clipped off in this way.

But fruit and vegetable salads are not the only things for which the kitchen scissors may be brought into use. Cold boiled chicken and lobster are easily cut into pieces, and, surprising as it may seem to those who have not tried it, chicken joints and lobster shells are no obstacles when scissors are used.

The hard parts of oysters and clams are neatly removed with a pair of scissors, and slices of cold tongue and ham are often much improved in appearance if, before sending to the table, they are trimmed into shape in the same way.

When it comes to preparing vegetables for reheating in cream sauce, or for the many popular dishes au gratin, the kitchen scissors are again a blessing. Cold boiled potatoes, cauliflower, asparagus, oyster plant, in fact, any and every vegetable may easily be snipped into pieces of the required size. Doing such work with a pair of scissors is not only much quicker and easier, but the saving of one's hands is important. No woman will believe until she tries for herself, how great a labor-saver a pair of scissors may prove in her kitchen.

CROUP stopped in 20 minutes sure with Dr. Snow's Croup Remedy. One got well surely, no distress. A safe and pleasing remedy. Druggists.

A gentleman hands us the following scrap, and we presume that he knows better than we do as to the statement being a truthful one. From the bit of confusion we have noticed in approaching these masculine groups, we rather suspect the words are not wide of the mark. "It is certainly amusing, when one has a little leisure to approach a group of men on the sidewalk, and listen to the conversation just to hear how carelessly profanity mixes in. This man tears off an oath and that one rips off a dozen bad words, in no time. All of a sudden the loud laugh ceases and the most refined language the "group" is capable of uttering takes its place. Goodness what a change—and what caused it? O, nothing, only a lady has approached them, and they have a little more respect for her than themselves. Well, well, a lady is a missionary wherever she may be.

BRONCHITIS
Scientifically Treated
The best authorities agree that bronchitis is treated most scientifically by Catarrhzone, which goes right to the root of the trouble.

Bronchitis can be treated successfully only by a remedy carried direct to the affected parts along with the air breathed. Catarrhzone is a vegetable antiseptic and is inhaled at the mouth and after passing through all the air passages of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs, is exhaled through the nose.
The healing vapor of Catarrhzone goes wherever the air you breathe goes and reaches every part that is affected. No matter how deep-seated the bronchial irritation may be, Catarrhzone is sure to reach it.
Catarrhzone protects and heals the mucous membrane, stops the cough, heals up the sores, and is guaranteed to bring speedy relief and sure cure.
By means of the inhaler Catarrhzone treats the local symptoms of bronchial trouble very effectually. The poisons and impurities in the blood are driven off by Ferrozone, which is a wonderful tonic and stimulant for the entire system.
Ferrozone is a muscle and tissue builder, increases the appetite, aids digestion and makes the body so healthy and strong that bronchitis goes away for good.
A prominent steamboat owner, well-known throughout Eastern Ontario, Captain Dunlop, of Kingston, was perfectly cured of Bronchitis by Catarrhzone. The Captain had suffered for more than 20 years, and says that Catarrhzone is the best cure for Bronchitis on the face of the globe.
Mr. A. J. Calhoun, a prominent citizen of Neepawa, Manitoba, speaks very appreciatively of Catarrhzone as a specific for Bronchitis, and states that his wife could not get along without it.
Everyone that has used Catarrhzone is satisfied that it is superior to all other remedies. It is delightful to inhale, simple and convenient to use, and relieves from the first breath taken through the inhaler.
Better try Catarrhzone. All druggists sell, and recommend it. Complete outfit price $1.00; trial size, 50c. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Showers of Gifts
In sending out the invitations for a linen shower to a girl friend soon to be married, see that the guest of honor has no inkling of what the affair is. Set the hour for her arrival half an hour later than the rest. This will give the hostess and friends a chance to arrange the gifts attractively before she arrives. Have the packages wrapped alike in rose-colored ribbon. It goes without saying that there should be nothing heavy, and that, no matter what the contents of the package—aprons, collars, handkerchiefs, articles of lingerie, table linen, washclothes, holders, towels, dish-cloths—they must be daintily wrapped and accompanied by some appropriate sentiment.
The shower can be accomplished in several ways. One easy and popular one is to have a large Japanese or other umbrella inverted and hung so that the guests-to-be will have to pass under it. Have a ribbon attached to one side so that at the psychological moment some one can give it a pull, allowing the contents to "rain" over the head of the unsuspecting bride.
Another pretty way is to have the packages attached to a large bell made of wire window screening, covered with crepe paper decorated with wild roses. The clapper is simply a rubber ball covered with a ruffle of paper and attached to a broad ribbon. A smart pull at the bottom breaks a hole through the bottom of the bell and its contents tumble down. Still prettier is the southern fancy of making the presentation a "peach blossom" shower. A small leafless tree is brought in from the woods or orchard and festooned with imitation peach blossoms made by doubling little crinkles of pink paper and stringing them in festoons.
When the bare branches are covered with these pink blossoms, the effect is oharmingly real.
Now several of the branches are caught together every little way to form pockets and these are fill-d with the little pink blossoms. The packages are also tied lightly in place around the lower branches so that a smart shaking of the tree suffices to bring a great shower of the peach blossoms as well as the gifts. After the shower dainty refreshments are served.

Dialogue.
George--Say old man you have recovered rapidly. Your ankle was badly sprained. What did you do for it?
Henry--I applied Empire Liniment, does the work quickly, great stuff.

TOWN FATHERS

What is most needed in every town is an intelligent administration of municipal affairs by town officers who know, and are competent to judge and manage its affairs with executive ability and discretion, and who are able to honestly tell the citizens what is best for the interests of the town.

The term "town fathers" should be of literal application, for to whom are the people to look for truth and guidance, if not from the guardians of their public welfare, to whom they give the confidence of their votes to act as their intelligent and discreet agents in municipal affairs?

Really it is a mighty serious question—this choosing of men to act in such responsible capacities, but more often, as results frequently show, public office is regarded merely as a beach in the wall of political intrenchment which the easiest and most available material will suffice to fill.

THE HIGHWAY ACT

The amended road act has been introduced by Hon. Mr. Hazen. The changes in the act are numerous and important and give more control to the highway boards than did the original act.

While not materially changing the principle upon which it was passed, the amendments provide for a highway board of three in each parish of the province, two of whom shall be the councillors of the parish and the third an appointee of the government. The government's representative is to be secretary-treasurer of the board; the chairman is to be elected at their first meeting. In parishes where there are three councillors they are to meet and elect two of their number to serve on the board. The remuneration of councillors on highway boards is to be exemption from road taxes or at a rate to be fixed by the council, payable out of the funds of the board.

The amount to be levied is fixed at $1.50 poll tax on all male residents between 21 and 60, and a property rate of 20 cents.

Statute labor may be performed at the option of individual ratepayers in any district, either by himself or a substitute satisfactory to the surveyor, at a rate to be fixed by the council. If no rate is so fixed, each man shall be paid at the rate of 12-2 cents an hour.

The allowance for a horse, cart and driver is twenty-two and a half cents an hour; for a team of horses, wagon and driver 30 cents an hour. The bill fixes the working day at eight hours.

The amount to be levied in any parish is not to exceed $1.50 poll tax on all residents between the ages of 21 and 60 and one-fifth of one per cent. on the real and personal property and income of the parish.

The property of an unmarried female or widow up to $500 is exempt.

The act contains special provisions for bringing it into operation during the present year. The highway board are to be called to meet on May 10 by the secretary-treasurer. The necessary machinery for making, levying and collecting the highway assessments in the present year is provided in the act.

The election yesterday brought out quite a large vote. Some new faces will be seen at the Council including the Mayor.

There was no contest for Aldermen in any of the wards. Charles Johnson who was nominated in Ward 1, withdrew.

The vote for Mayor stood:
C. Hazen McGee, 103.
Thos. R. Kent, 70.

The Aldermen declared elected were:
Ward 1—H. McKenzie, George Craig.
Ward 2—Jas. Bogue, Wm. Boyd.
Ward 3—E. A. Gresson, H. V. Dewar.
Ward 4—J. Crickard, N. Meating.

BY THE WAY

Vote and show political courage.

Eggs are getting cheap. All crow!

"The birds were singing in the morning."

The hats must be made smaller, or the doors larger.

The mills will come to the spruce if the spruce does not go to the mills.

Never in the history of the commercial world has advertising occupied so dominant a place as it does today.

No sane man can believe that the Canadians will permit the deforestation of their timberlands without let or hindrance in order that certain American newspaper publishers may continue to sell their product below cost.—Boston Herald.

The peach basket hats now seen on the public highways are immensely entertaining. Instead of berating their wearers, those who like to be amused during their walks abroad should offer thanks for the freaks of fashion.

Victoria Times:—The earnings of the principal Canadian railways are increasing in a ratio greater than the growth of the Dominion revenue. The short business depression is evidently at an end. The year 1909 promises to be the most prosperous in the history of Canada.

A corps of forest experts from Canada and the United States have so planned the method of cutting trees in the section supplying lumber mills of Newfoundland, that a steady supply of logs is assured with a new "cut" every 40 years. Adopted years ago, this system would have saved short-lived boom towns and many forests. It is scientific lumbering.

Edmund Billings is a fortunate man. He went to Italy to distribute the big relief funds raised for the earthquake victims, drew a very nice salary, had all his expenses paid, and now when getting home receives everybody's enthusiastic greetings and thanks for the way he rounded up the work. The dinner in his honor at the City Club promises to be an enthusiastic time.—Boston Record.

Is the popularity Marathon runs, from the spectator's point of view, in any measure due to the ever-present possibility of seeing a contestant collapse and drop out? Those who have witnessed without personal interest these stragglers, processions of fagged men and boys will not question the statement in American Medicine that they tend to produce heart strain and acute dilation which may materially shorten life. The victor in the original Marathon race had a cause worth running for and dying for. Not so the youths who today seek to emulate the Marathon achievement.

The crocus comes a-titling, With her spear-joints two abreast, Each purple helmet stilling "N'raah a tiny golden crest.

The pussy-willow's purring, Waked, "neath her downy cares, So not a catkin, stirring, Could be stolen unawares.

All nature makes to striving; Not a soul but feels the birth Of mirth and music riving The great heart of Mother of Earth. —Margaret N. Goodnow.

Deacon Jones, the great man of a little village of Massachusetts, whose untarnished piety was of the vociferous order, but whose charity toward his fellow men was not so abounding as it might have been, was dangerously ill, and his brother deacons, impressed with the custom of issuing bulletins from the sick rooms of prominent individuals, decided to follow the fashion with the following results:

"6 p. m. Deacon Jones is in a serious condition."

"7 p. m. Deacon Jones has rallied slightly."

"9 p. m. Deacon Jones has suffered a relapse."

"11 p. m. Deacon Jones has departed for heaven."

Thus the bulletins read at midnight, but early in the morning some unregenerate mortal who did not love the Deacon, evidently passed that way for the light of a new day showed curious townspeople the later report:

"Heaven 7 a. m. Great consternation here. Deacon Jones has not arrived." Woman's Home Companion for March.

CORRESPONDENCE

Mr. Editor:—I notice in your last issue that the "knockers" have opened the season. They are frequently heard around the corners and stores, and when they want to make a great big hit they write a thrilling tale of someones neglect of public interests. Quite a scope was covered in the latest productions, covering the affairs of the alms house to the smell of the mud flats. I presume, Mr. Editor, that every town has its critics, but this little hamlet can furnish more fault finders, growlers and all round trouble makers than any place of its size on the map. Now, if this little coterie of wise-acres will come out squarely and advocate genuine reforms, nominate men to carry out their ideas, go to the polls and vote for them, there may be an element of sincerity in their criticisms, otherwise they will continue to be a detriment to the interests of community. They see no good in anything, they hate themselves and everybody else. Go west and take up a prairie section, or vanish from the town. You will be surprised how well things will go along without the aid of your fault finding and your cheap eloquence.

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

It is expected that the dredging operations will soon be resumed.

Gray & Morin are making a very attractive display of fishing gear.

The first lobsters in town were on sale last week. They sold for good prices.

The Granite Cutters Union met Tuesday evening and transacted regular business.

Schooner Frances Goodnow arrived Saturday in tow of the Calais tug, Wesley Cove.

The sardine factories are all in readiness for the little herring and will start as soon as the fish are secured.

The interest in the Division increases every meeting. New members are coming in and the meetings are well attended.

The members of the Golf Club are preparing for the summer campaign. The social features of the club are a source of much enjoyment to the members.

The streets are not in very good condition, owing chiefly to the sewers not working properly when most needed. Much labor will be required to make necessary repairs.

James S. McKay's motor boat, "Black Prince" will soon be ready for the season's business. Several improvements will be made in the arrangements for carrying passengers.

With a few more finishing touches the public wharf will be completed for this season. About $4,000 remains to be expended, which will be used on the west side. Contracts will be made for the logs and other material to be delivered in the early fall.

The Lumber Co., operating at L'Etang shut their mill down last week. The men have received a small portion of their pay, and have been promised the balance when the lumber is sold. Parties in town, who furnished supplies, will probably lose heavily in the transaction.

Inspector Carter has appointed Friday, May 7th to be observed as Arbor Day.

The attention of teachers is also called to the importance of making preparations for the observance of Empire Day, which falls on the last teaching day preceding the 24th of May. (See Reg. 20, 3, Manual of School Law.)

Negotiations are in progress between Grand Manan Steamboat Co. and the federal government, in which is involved an additional subsidy of $200 per annum to the company in return to give four trips per week during four months in each year and three trips per week during the other eight months. A committee is enquiring as to the probable cost of a new boat, which, if procured, will be built of wood and probably in some Nova Scotia ship yard.---Courier.

The Canadian Order of Foresters held an interesting meeting Wednesday evening, the 10th anniversary of their organization. Mr. D. A. Kennedy, organizer, was present and delivered a pleasing and instructive address. Vocal music, violin selections and other features made the evening pass very pleasantly.

The Court is in a flourishing condition having a membership of one hundred and fifteen, with eight candidates who will make the acquaintance of the goat at next regular meeting.

The Union Pulp and Board Co., organized at Calais, for the purpose of carrying on a general lumber business with $300,000 capital stock, of which nothing is paid in. Officers, President, William P. Todd of St. Stephen, N. B.; treasurer N. Marks Mills, of St. Stephen, N. B. Certificate filed April 12, 1909.---Bangor Commercial.

The ice in Lake Utopia is loosening up. A few warm days will probably cause its disappearance then the trout fishing will be good. A determined effort will be made this year to prevent illegal fishing. Local and Dominion officials will act together, and set lines will not be allowed. Parties, in defiance of the law, who put lines out, can expect the full penalty. No mercy will be shown. Confiscation of the lines, with no hope of recovery, will be followed by a fine, and every effort will be made by the officials to protect the fish and give the rod and reel sport a chance to enjoy a days outing with a prospect of landing a mess of trout.

LOCAL AND SPECIAL

Send us all the local news and make your home paper interesting.

Jack O'Reilly, Miss Bessie McSorley and Frank Stanton compose a talking picture company now playing in Halifax.

Herring are being taken in the vicinity of Frye's Island. About thirty hogsheads were boated to Eastport Monday.

The members of the dramatic association met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart McAdam on Friday evening and spent a very pleasant evening together.

The commissioners of the Alms house are finding much difficulty in getting a keeper. No applications have been received and present keeper's term has about expired.

No trace of the bodies of the two Pleasant Point Indians, who were drowned Saturday, has been found. Their canoe and part of their belongings were washed up on Deer Island shore.

Ad. of George F. Meating, Merchant Tailor, received too late for this issue will appear next week. He has something interesting to say about Spring suits.

Wardens:--Nicholas Meating, A. C. Toy. Vestrymen:--Henry Meating, George Craig, George McCallum, John A. Crickard, Charles Johnson, L. B. Young, Edward McGillivray, James Jack, Allan Grant, E. D. Harvey, Robert Grey, Vestry Clerk:--Charles Johnson. Delegates to Synod A. C. Toy, N. Meating.

There was a time when shad were common enough in New England rivers and absolutely unknown on the Pacific coast. Now they are more common on the Pacific coast than on the Atlantic. Sheer intention to a real source of natural wealth has in this case as in so many others been followed by a loss which the people are beginning to feel. It is explained that by means of the hatcheries it is believed that the supply of shad can be restored to its former proportions.---Advertiser.

The report spread about town on Saturday evening that "Young's Bridge" was in danger of being carried away by the high run of water, caused a large number of citizens to take the journey up the railroad track on Sunday and see for themselves if there was anything doing. The bridge was safe enough. A bed washout on one of the approaches made it impossible for teams to cross, otherwise there was no damage to the structure. The canal bridge is in a precarious condition and repairs, which mean a new structure, will have to be made.

Owing to dissatisfaction among its membership, according to its officers, the Maine Mercantile Company, a corporation organized three years ago under the Maine laws for handling the output of the sardine canning industry in Maine has been dissolved by mutual consent. This is the corporation whose officers were summoned before the grand jury of the United States District Court at Portland last December, and examined as to whether any of the provisions of the Sherman antitrust law, which prohibits combinations in restraint of trade, had been violated. No bill was returned. At this time the company has practically no goods on hand, as nearly the entire pack has been disposed of. The company was capitalized at $250,000.

The dramatic members of the Division presented "Dot, the Miner's daughter" to a fairly large audience in Curtis' hall on Tuesday evening last.

The different parts were well taken and a thorough knowledge of the lines on the part of the young people, made the play run smoothly. Each scene in every act was followed with interest and the drop of the curtain, for the last time showing the villain foiled and truth triumphant, found the audience well pleased.

Miss Bessie Cavley was a charming Dot; Miss Laura Hibbard a Hapsabah with all the little peculiarities that distinguish the colored mammy, at times convulsing the audience with her quaint and funny sayings in a perfect negro dialect; Mr. Stewart McAdam, as Mr. Mason handled his part in a manner that gave evidence of a careful study of the play and an apt appreciation of the feelings engendered by the position in which he found himself placed.

The other characters in the drama were well taken and the young people will feel proud of their efforts. The proceeds of the two entertainments, amounting to one hundred and ten dollars, were donated to the building fund of St. Mark's church.

Cough Caution

Never, possibly never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold only—you should always be careful, and use the Irrigated Bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupifying poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label. If poisons are in your Cough Mixture. Good! Very good!! Hereafter for this very reason, doctors, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's label—read them in the medicine, else it must be in the bottle. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding

Most Canadians Have Catarrh

Our Changeable Climate is Responsible.

Where the atmosphere is damp, with sudden changes in temperature, almost everybody has Catarrh, in some form or other. The ordinary cold in the head inflames and weakens the membranes lining the nose and throat, and starts a discharge. The next cold is more easily caught, and soon the patient is never quite free of it.

As Catarrh develops the discharge increases—drops into the throat, especially at night—and takes on an offensive odor. Besides being exceedingly disagreeable, there is great danger of the disease extending to the lungs, stomach, or bowels.

Though it is very difficult to cure, Father Morrissy devised a combined internal and external treatment that has cured thousands. The Tablets tone up and invigorate the system, and assist Nature in throwing off the disease, while the saline, applied up the nostrils, cleans out the discharge and heals the membranes. Combined treatment, see at your dealer's, or from Father Morrissy Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N.B.

Etiquette for a Small Home Wedding

For a girl who has few friends, or a limited income a home wedding is prettier than a church ceremony. Incidentally much money is needed to make the latter successful—artistically—unless the building is full of guests. While, on the contrary a home service may be cheery and picturesque, without a large expenditure.

If the room in which the ceremony is to be performed is a long one, it should be so arranged that the couple may stand at one end. If the room is square, a better effect is gained by using one corner.

In order that a special place shall be defined for the bride and bridegroom, one or two large palms are necessary. The plant's height gives a nucleus about which to build; partition as it were. Near the palms a rug just large enough for the clergyman and wedding couple to stand on, must be laid cater-cornered to the room. It must not be jammed against the wall, for space must be left for the minister. Either at the back edge of the rug, or in the centre must be arranged something on which the couple can kneel during a part of the service. When this is put down, a white fur rug laid over it is effective and most practical.

A few flowers should be put about the room in vases and jars, but when money is an object it may be remembered that a few blossoms frequently are quite as pretty as many.

At a home wedding, unless it be a large one, the bride rarely has more than one attendant, and it is not necessary that she shall have any. A best man is rather necessary for the bridegroom for the former is useful as well as ornamental. That is a matter, however, for the individuals to decide.

At such a small wedding congratulations immediately follow the ceremony it being taken for granted that the guests will permit the mother and father to be the first to greet their daughter. The bride then talks to her friends.

Any refreshments served are informally arranged in the dining room, and, after they have eaten, the guests are expected to leave, except those who have been specially asked to stay to see the bride's departure.

Agonies of Authors' Wives

The domestic life of many famous authors of the past points to the fact that married happiness and literary work do not always go hand in hand. Jane Welsh, for instance, who married Carlyle scarcely knew the meaning of matrimonial felicity. Her heart had been given before her marriage to Edward Irving; but the gifted orator was engaged to a Miss Martin and was held to his vow. Jane Welsh therefore married Carlyle, and three lives were thus irreparably injured. And when the famous author lived the life of a recluse for six years in Ecclefechan, his wife confessed that to her it was the "bitterness of death." In fact, the hardships of those six years permanently injured her health, and her misery was further increased by reason of Carlyle's irritability and bad temper.

THE BYRON BILLY-UNION

One of the most unfortunate unions in the annals of literature was that of Lord Byron, who married Miss Millbank, only daughter and heiress of Sir Ralph Millbank, a wealthy baronet. They lived together just twelve months, and then after the birth of a child, Lady Byron visited her father and refused to return to her husband. Next month a formal deed of separation was signed. The true causes will never be known, although it is certain that there was extreme incompatibility of temper with distressing waywardness and violence on his side, and on her side a hopeless inability, or rather a haughty and perverse disinclination, to understand or sympathize with him.

Alexandre Dumas made an unhappy union, too, with Ida Ferrer, an actress, while Charles Dickens and his wife agreed to live apart some years after their marriage.

POE'S CHILD-WIFE

On the other hand, of course, the lives of famous authors of the past contain some beautiful stories of domestic felicity. Perhaps the most notable is that of Robert Browning, who, sixty-two years ago, married Elizabeth Barrett, perhaps the greatest poetess the world has ever seen. The frail health of Mrs. Browning necessitated residence abroad, and they settled at Florence where for fifteen years they lived in perfect and happy union. Browning herself tended her frail health with untiring and loving care.

There does not seem to be much doubt either, that the death of his wife led Poe to indulge in excesses which he otherwise might not have done, although Mrs. Poe ended her life in misery and chagrin.

Poe married Lis bousin, Virginia Clem in 1835, when he was twenty-six and she but fourteen years of age. She was a girl of matchless beauty and loveliness, and, according to one biographer, possessed a temper and disposition of surpassing sweetness. Poe was passionately devoted to her, but he could not rid himself of the drink demon, and ultimately his child-wife died twelve years after the marriage.

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

Malignant Mummy of a Woman

London is greatly excited by the story of a haunted mummy in the British Museum.

It is certainly an astonishing fact that everybody who has handled this mummy or been closely associated with it in any way has immediately afterward met death or some grave misfortune.

Properly speaking this object is a mummy case and not a mummy. The case, as is customary, is carved with a likeness of the deceased person contained in it, while that part which represents the body is covered with inscriptions of religious significance.

The person represented in this case is the Princess Amen-Ra, who died in Egypt some 3,500 years ago. The number of the case in the Museum Catalogue of 22,452. What had been done to the Princess or to her body after death to cause her to pursue this poisonous vengefulness, nobody can tell.

First of all the mummy's case was made by an Arab in the year 1864. The man who purchased it from the Arab lost a handsome fortune within a few weeks and died shortly afterward, of a broken heart. Two of his servants who had handled the mummy's case, died within a year. A third servant, who never touched the case, but made derisive remarks about it, lost his arm by a gun-shot accident. Upon its removal to London the case continued to bring mishaps and misery to those who were connected with it.

A photographer had a remarkably eerie experience with the mummy's case as a subject. On the case, of course, there are the usual face and form, purporting to be a replica of the dead. When the photographer attempted to take a picture of this face on the case he got a negative that started him. What the camera produced was not the face on the case, but the face of an apparently living Egyptian woman whose features were an aspect of repulsive malignity. Very shortly afterward the photographer died.

It was no longer possible to find a buyer for the mummy's case, with the result that it passed into the possession of the British Museum. The curter who removed it thither died a few weeks afterward, and one of the men who helped him to put it into its place broke his leg next day.

A man interested in Egyptology desired a photograph of the mummy's case, and commissioned W. A. Mansell, the well-known London photographer, to take one for him. As the case stands in an angle of the room, Mr. Mansell's son and his photographer visited the museum together to confer as to the best means of taking the photograph.

On the way home in the tram Mr. Mansell, jr., smashed his thumb so badly that he was not able to use his right hand for a considerable time afterward. The photographer got home safely, but it was nevertheless a sad coming-home for him, for he found that one of his children had fallen through a glass frame and sustained dangerous injuries. Not being superstitious, the photographer returned to the museum next day, and photographed the figure on the case. Lifting his head suddenly as he took the picture he struck against the glass case and cut his nose to the bone. At the same time he dropped a valuable screen, which was rendered useless by the fall. With all these pains and penalties he got his photograph, which may be seen to-day, resting beside the case.

So widespread is the mummy's evil reputation that many visitors to the museum steer clear of it in terror. On one occasion a visitor, unaware of the full history of the mummy case, spent several minutes comparing the face on the case with the face on the picture. He then stepped up to a stranger and marked how much the camera has improved and elvined the still features. "Do you know," said the stranger, "but that is the 'unlucky mummy' you have been looking at? Terrible stories of suicides and the like are told about people who have had to do with it, though the officials of the museum do not take any notice of the stories."

This assurance brought very little comfort to the visitor, who hastened away from the room, but on descending to the entrance he fell down a flight of stone steps and injured himself severely. Frequently people approaching funny Room No. 1, on learning that the haunted case stands in there, beat a hasty retreat. Women are particularly afraid of it, though in quite a number of cases men, too, betray the same credulous tam.

Will Please Irishmen

More than half of Ireland has passed into the absolute ownership of those who till it, and this one-half is owned by 225,000 former tenant farmers, 15,000 of whom have become owners within the past four years.

During the last decade 50,000 laborers' cottages have been erected, each with its four rooms, slated roof, comfortable and sanitary, with its plot of ground, and rented at the nominal rate of a shilling a week.

There was won last year that which O'Connell sought and Irish people have clamored for generations—a national university. The title for this new university was settled by the letters of patent recently issued, constituting it the "National University of Ireland," a name which gives great satisfaction to all.

During the past two years the alms bill has been repealed, so that it is the legal right of any Irishman now to own a gun and become skilled in its use should he so desire.

Two years ago the tenants in towns and cities were given the right by law to compensation for good will and betterments as a condition precedent to ejection—a privilege not enjoyed anywhere else in the world.

Beginning with this new year there goes into effect in Ireland the old age pension bill, and it is estimated that at least 70,000 men and women there will be relieved of the horrors and the shame of the possibility of the poorhouse.

What Causes "Nerves"?

From a Woman's Point of View

"No one who listens to court trials in which domestic troubles are involved can doubt that great oaks of trouble come from tiny acorns of discord," said a well-known lawyer. In nearly all the divorce cases, and separate support cases, and civil suits in which members of families are ranged on opposite sides, in which I had ever been retained, I have noticed that the trouble has been started by the most trivial of things.

One of the cases I have in mind was one I heard in the divorce court recently, although I was not personally interested in the case. A young couple in moderate circumstances were the parties in a divorce libel, and would you believe it, on of the quarrels that set the ball rolling was over the question of whose duty it should be to bring in the milk for breakfast!

"When the young husband came down stairs to breakfast he found it ready, but for the milk. His wife asked him to bring in the milk, saying that she had forgotten to do so. He insisted that she should have remembered. There were angry words, which finally resulted in the young man's going out and carrying in just enough milk for his own oatmeal and coffee.

"The wife was piqued, so she re-vengeed herself by pouring out a cup of coffee for herself and throwing away what was left."

"While her husband was sullenly making himself another cup of coffee, she threw away his milk."

"Such disagreements were very childish, but nevertheless they are very aggravating to the participants and as in this case the quarrel proved cumulative. These things seem funny to any one else, but to the people most concerned appear of vital importance.

"Those same young people who lacked a sense of humor in their own quarrels would laugh as heartily as anyone if they were told of some of the trivial disagreements that eventually lead to serious domestic troubles in other cases."

"My Sunday school teacher made each girl write on a little piece of paper her favorite book in the Bible, a little maiden declared at the dinner table last Sunday. Her father inquired with interest: "Well, what did you write?" and the youngster answered proudly: "I wrote that I could not tell which I liked the most, palms (Psalms) or recreations (Revelations)."

Rheumatic poisons are quickly and surely driven out of the blood with Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy—liquid or tablet form. Dr. Shoop's booklet on Rheumatism plainly and interestingly tells just how this is done. Tell some sufferer of this book, or better still, write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. for the book and free test samples. Send no money. Just join with Dr. Shoop and give some sufferers a pleasant surprise.

Saw Wood

Bill Wood is cutting wood for Hiram Quimby. Bill Wood would like to cut wood all winter if he could get wood to cut.—Cutting from the Bingville Bugle. Hi Quimby engaged old Bill Wood To cut up his wood if he could!

So Bill said to Hiram, That if he would hire 'im To saw up his wood, then he would.

Then the wood in the shed where it stood Was sawed up and split by Bill Wood; But when Bill sent his bill,

It made Hiram ill, And to pay, he'd "be hanged if he would, Then Hiram next time he saw Wood, Said that Bill Wood, to saw was no good, "By your wood bill," said Hi,

"I see sawing comes high," And for Bill to collect if he could. Amos Hill, 'er, the bright legal light, Took a hand and saw Wood thro' the fight. He sent Bill's bill to Hi,

But Hi said 'twas too high, And he'd only cough up what was right. When the bill of Bill Wood went to court Then Hi tried Bill Wood's wood bill to thwart!

But the knowing old judge Saw that Wood wouldn't budge, So he made Wood a cutting retort: "Bill Wood, your wood bill is a shorter! And you've charged Hi here more than you'd oughter."

So when Bill Wood saw Hi Proved his wood bill too high, He cut it and chopped off a quarter. Carol Voaz

Free from Alcohol

Since May, 1908, Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been entirely free from alcohol. If you are in poor health, weak, pale, nervous, ask your doctor about taking this non-alcoholic tonic and alternative. If he has a better medicine, take his. Get the best always. This is our advice.

Ayer's
We banish alcohol from our medicine. We urge you to consult your doctor.

A sluggish liver means a coated tongue, a bad breath, and constipated bowels. The question is, "What is the best thing to do under such circumstances?" Ask your doctor if this is not a good answer: "Take laxative doses of Ayer's Pills."

Obituary

MRS. SOPHIA FLIHRER

Mrs. Sophia Fisher widow of the late Capt. Angus Fisher, St. George, passed peacefully to her rest on Thursday, April 15th., at the home of her daughter Mrs. Bell, Bonabec Ridge, after a lingering illness of over two years which she bore with patience and Christian fortitude. Mrs. Fisher was a woman of an industrious energetic nature, benevolent, and of friendly disposition and her friends and neighbors among whom she was held in high esteem regarded her with peculiar affection for her worth, and the kindness and sympathy of her nature. Two daughters Mrs. Holt and Mrs. Bell, and three sons Herbert, Clarence and Ernest are left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother. Her funeral took place on Sunday April 18th, at the church of the Transfiguration where the beautiful church of England burial service was read by the rector Rev. D. V. Blackall and the hymns "Art thou weary," "Art thou languid," "Forever with the Lord" and "On the Resurrection Morning" were beautifully rendered.

O softly smooth the sleepers cheek, And press that quiet brow, The crown of peace is resting there, A fitting gift 'tis now.

Fold reverently those weary hands, That toiled so long and well; And while your tears of sorrow fall, Let sweet thanksgiving swell.

That life wore & reaching o'er long years A varied one has been, With silver strands by sorrow wrought And sunny gleams between.

Those silver hairs stole softly on, Like leaves of falling snow, That wrap the green earth lovingly Where autumn winds doth blow.

Each silver hair, each wrinkle there, Records some good deed done. Some flower she cast along the way, Some spark from loves bright sun.

And in the latter years, her word Has been a blessed thing;

For kindness had its birth in her Like flowers in the spring.

Her widowed life has happy been, With brightness born of heaven's love; So pearl and gold in drapery told, The sunset couch at even.

O, gently fold those weary hands, That toiled so long and well, The spirit rose to angel bands, When off earth's mantle fell.

She's safe within her Father's house, Where many mansions be; O pray that hers such rest may come, Dear hearts, to thee and me.
