

HON. MR. KING IS STILL WILLING

Minister of Labor Would Gladly Do All in His Power to End the G. T. R. Strike.

TEXT OF LAST LETTER

Door for Further Peace Efforts Is Left Invitingly Open—Asks for Reference to Arbitration.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, July 26.—The text of Hon. Mackenzie King's last letter to President Hays, acknowledging the receipt of the latter's telegram declining the Government's proposal for arbitration of the strike differences, was made public by the minister this morning.

No further word has been received from Mr. Hays, although the door for further peace negotiations was left invitingly open by Mr. King.

In his letter to the Grand Trunk president the Minister of Labor says in part:

"As arbitration is only possible upon the mutual consent of the parties, I cannot but regret that your company has not seen its way to an immediate reference of the difference to a board mutually acceptable, as such a course would probably have led to an immediate termination of the dispute.

"It may be that in deference to the public, who more than either of the parties is suffering from the effects of the present dispute, your company may yet indicate its willingness to permit of a reference to arbitration. Should the company so decide, or should either of the parties suggest any means by which the good offices of the Government may further be used towards mediating the present difference, I shall do my utmost to see that such service, as far as it is in the power of the Government to render, is immediately rendered."

WIFE WAS DROWNED; HUSBAND ELECTROCUTED

Misfortune Relentlessly Follows the Bassett Family in Michigan.

Detroit, July 26.—Conductor Frank Bassett, of Algonac, operating a Rapid Railway car coming to Detroit last night, was almost instantly killed by electrocution while trying to fix the trolley on the car a short distance this side of New Baltimore.

It seems that the running gear of the trolley went wrong, and Bassett climbed on top of the car to put on a new pole. It is believed that in doing so the trolley pole came in contact with the high tension feed wire at the side of the track, and that he received a fatal charge of the electric current. He toppled and fell to the ground and was unconscious when he was picked up. He was placed on the car and taken back to New Baltimore, where he died in a short time.

Misfortune has followed the Bassett family rapidly in the last few months. He was an assistant cook on the steamer Frank H. Goodyear which was sunk in a collision with the steamer James B. Wood, 25 miles north of Pointe Aux Barques in Lake Huron, May 23. His wife, who was a waitress on the boat, was drowned, together with their little son, Johnnie, 3 years old. He and his mother, Mrs. Emma Bassett, of Port Huron, were the only ones of the family to escape from one of the most thrilling accidents that has happened on the lakes this season.

There are two little girls, Edna, aged 12, and Frances, aged 8 years, now left fatherless and motherless in Algonac. It was a pitiful scene when they learned that their mother and little brother, Johnnie, would never come home again, and now the tragedy is repeated.

Bassett had been a conductor only a short time. He entered the P. T. R. employ June 6 and passed his examination and went on a regular run only 10 days ago.

MAYOR BEATTIE IS ACTING MAGISTRATE

A Short List Awaited His Worship Today.

Mayor Beattie had a short session at court this morning. Thomas King and Alex. Donaldson, two citizens who got drunk and acted in a disorderly manner on the street, were each fined $5.

Frank Hilbert, of West London, got on a C. P. R. car and was charged with trespass. He was fined $1 and $2 costs. Charles B. Chapman, Peter Phillips, Alex. Southern and James Slater each paid $1 for riding on the sidewalks with bicycles.

Young Man Appears in Court and Is Remanded by Squire Chittick.

A young man who is charged by the mother of Miss Bertha Mathers, with using insulting language Saturday night, as Miss Mathers passed along Oxford street east, appeared before Squire Chittick at the court house this morning and was remanded till next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The defendant asked for the postponement on the ground that he was unable to secure witnesses to appear for him this morning.

It is alleged that a number of youths congregated at the corner of Adelaide and Oxford streets each evening and abuse passersby in the vilest terms.

Killed by Lightning. Mr. Martin, who resides two miles east of Crumlin, had two valuable cows killed by lightning during the storm on Sunday afternoon.

SOME OF THE PROMINENT BOWLERS AT THE W. O. B. A. TOURNEY. Among the number can be recognized Hon. A. G. MacKay, past president and patron of the association; President Jas. S. McDougall, Jimmy Tytler, who for years has been secretary; Dr. J. N. Wood, the new secretary; Andy Taylor, of Toronto; Frank Smoke, Paris, vice-presidents; Billy Jackson, Secretary Mackie, Toronto, of the O. B. A.; Dick Thomson, Paris; Dick Gosnell, Blenheim, and many others. They are all crack bowlers and fine fellows.

THIEL DETECTIVES EMPLOYED BY G. T. R.

Are After a Strike Sympathizer Who Is Said to Have Made Threats.

READY FOR THE FREIGHT

Company Is Preparing Crews to Start Trains at Once—All Is Quiet in the Ambitious City.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Hamilton, July 26.—The fact that Thiel detectives, employed by the Grand Trunk, are anxious to learn the identity of the members of the local executive of the strikers, who made the statement on Saturday that the freight train from Sarnia for Toronto, which passed through the junction, would never have left Hamilton had it entered the yards, is taken as an indication that the company is determined to show no quarter to strike sympathizers who make threats or attempt to interfere with the service. Efforts are also being made to trace anonymous threatening letters sent to some of the old conductors running out of Hamilton. Conductor Stuff, an old employee, in charge of the train to the Falls was so alarmed yesterday afternoon when he reached the Stuart street station, he asked for protection, and two armed detectives accompanied him on the run to the border. Conductor Stuff feared that two suspicious-looking men in one of the coaches, whom he took for strikers, were laying in wait for him.

Getting Ready for Freight. The local officials have been busy getting crews ready to man the freight trains, and it is expected that the company will undertake to resume the freight service out of Hamilton today. All yesterday afternoon the freight yards presented the busiest scene since the strike began. While special constables patrolled the tracks several trains were made up in readiness to be sent out. During the afternoon a freight train came in from the Falls and left again without any sign of a demonstration on the part of the strikers, who watched the operations from the Bay street bridge. The company is shipping ice out in the baggage cars on the passenger trains.

Some of the big manufacturing concerns are beginning to worry about their coal supply, especially those with Grand Trunk sidings. Coal is coming in in large quantities over the P. T. R. and B. but there is considerable difficulty in getting it to where it is needed, as a result of the great scarcity of teams.

Engineers to Protest. The strikers are confident that it will not be long before the engineers all over the system will protest against running trains with incompetent crews.

The busiest man around the Grand Trunk yards is S. M. Trusting, assistant trainmaster for the western division. He acts as brakeman, conductor, baggage man, and looks after a score of other odds and ends in his spare minutes.

Conductor Wilcox, Clyde street, who was badly beaten up in the riot at Brockville, is still under the care of physicians, but his condition is not regarded as dangerous.

CHARGED WITH USING INSULTING LANGUAGE

Young Man Appears in Court and Is Remanded by Squire Chittick.

A young man who is charged by the mother of Miss Bertha Mathers, with using insulting language Saturday night, as Miss Mathers passed along Oxford street east, appeared before Squire Chittick at the court house this morning and was remanded till next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The defendant asked for the postponement on the ground that he was unable to secure witnesses to appear for him this morning.

Canon Dann's Last Words

Members of St. Paul's Cathedral are recalling today the beautifully impressive remarks made to them by the late Canon Dann on the last Sunday evening he preached to them. In the course of his sermon Canon Dann said:

"Now I have a statement to make to you. I am going to leave you for a little while, because of the condition of my health, which has been poor of late. Perhaps I shall never come back. I have been your pastor now for fifteen years. During that time I may not have done all that I might have done as the shepherd of this flock. I have, however, done my best, despite the fact that there has been room for some criticism, which I know has been indulged in. I am going to visit England and my old home in Ireland, and I hope to regain my health. I leave you in the hands of Almighty God, the great shepherd of all."

G. T. R. WILL NOT TAKE BACK STRIKERS AFTER TOMORROW

So Says a Montreal Dispatch—Company Professes To Be Confident It Has Won and Claims to Have Solved the Labor Problem—Warns Old Employees.

Montreal, July 26.—It is announced that tomorrow (Wednesday) is the last day on which strikers will be taken back into the service of the Grand Trunk.

The company claims that it has now solved the problem of finding labor. It is besieged with applicants who are being instructed in the duties of trainmen and yardmen as fast as the examiners can handle them. So confident do the head officials seem to be that it is given out today that after tomorrow the door will be closed against the old employees.

So far the strikers have not yet weakened as a body, though a few returned to work. It is expected by the company that the prospect of losing their pensions will induce many of the older men to apply to be taken back before it is too late, and that if this happens there will be a stampede.

This is, of course, the company's view of the situation.

MAYOR SENDS A LIST OF THE IMPROVEMENTS

Underwriters Are Informed of What Has Been Done to Fight Fires in This City.

Mayor Beattie has sent to the Underwriters' Association the particulars of the improvements to the fire and water system of the city made since January, 1909.

His worship also made mention of the contemplated changes, and included practically everything that will be done to make the city safe from danger of conflagration.

The opinion is freely expressed that a substantial reduction of the key rate will follow. It is pointed out that reductions are being made elsewhere with less improvements than are contemplated in London, and there is every reason to expect that London will share in the same boon.

"The mutual companies are making the tariff companies sit up and take notice," said a prominent insurance man. "I am confident that London will enjoy a good reduction in its insurance rates."

MUCH MINOR DAMAGE DONE BY BIG STORM

Reports of much minor damage done by the storm Sunday afternoon and evening were brought in by the farmers at the market this morning.

Several small culverts on roads in this vicinity were washed away, and in some places the uncultivated crops were laid flat on the ground.

Two cows were killed by lightning on the farm of a man named Weir, on the Governor's road, a mile east of Crumlin.

Lightning partly unroofed a barn on the Day farm on the Rebecca road, north of the Governor's road. Luckily the building did not catch fire.

ENGINE WENT THROUGH BRIDGE

Wm. Wilson and His Assistant Had a Narrow Escape in London Tp. Today.

MACHINE IN THE CREEK

Accident on Sideroad Running North From Dundas Street to Oxford Street—Both Men Escaped Injury.

While crossing the bridge over Whetters Creek, on the sideroad about a mile east of Pottersburg, this morning, an engine and stone crusher, in charge of Mr. W. Wilson and his assistant, crashed through the bridge into the creek below.

Both men escaped without injury. The machine is standing upright in the creek, with nothing broken except the steering gear.

The machine belongs to the County of Middlesex, and Wilson had been doing some work in Dorchester Township. He started for London Township, and intended doing some road work there.

Bridge Collapsed. When the machine got on to the bridge the latter suddenly collapsed, the whole mass falling ten feet into the creek. Wilson and his assistant were thrown clear of the wreck and escaped without a scratch. The damage done to the machinery will not be heavy.

The bridge is an old timer, probably 25 years of age, and was situated on a road running from Dundas street to Oxford street. A special meeting of the council has been called for Thursday at 2 o'clock in the township clerk's office, this city, to consider replacing the broken structure.

It is the intention, it is understood, to take the bridge at present on the Governor's road (Dundas street), to replace the bridge that collapsed.

A handsome new bridge, with sidewalks for pedestrians, will be erected to replace the one on the Governor's road.

Advice to Strikers. In St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church on Sunday, Rev. Father Tobin gave a word of advice to the striking employees of the G. T. R., many of whom are members of the church.

"Without entering into the merits of the dispute," he said, "I would like to impress upon the men the fact that any act of violence will only prejudice their case in the eyes of the public. Maintain the law and resort to no violence whatever."

ILLEGAL TO PAY FIFTY PER CENT

City Solicitor Further Confuses City Daddies on His Opinion on Cement Walk Bylaws.

MEETING OF CITY COUNCIL

Problems Raised by Ald. Richter Will Be Discussed This Afternoon—A Tangled Skein.

There will be a meeting of the special committee named at a recent meeting of the council to deal with the local improvement bylaws situation this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The opinion of City Solicitor Meredith on this matter will be read and action taken on it. It would appear from the opinion, which is somewhat voluminous, that the city is in rather a peculiar position with relation to this important matter.

As pointed out in The Advertiser some time ago, practically all the by-laws for local improvements passed by the council for many years have been illegal. The stamp of the Legislature, however, has made legal what was illegally done, and so far as law goes, they are all right.

However, there are some petitions already passed, that will have to be repealed. Rather, they are illegal, and it will be necessary to have new petitions issued, and passed by a three-fourths vote of the council before they can be laid. There will be complications arise that bid fair to cause considerable trouble.

Not only that, but it is doubtful that the city can contribute 50 per cent of the cost of these local improvements. According to Mr. Meredith's opinion the city has no right to pay for anything more than the intersections, parkways, allowances, and for walks and other improvements laid before the city property.

The property-owners must bear the whole cost of these improvements. A Loop Hole.

The act, however, affords a loop hole, and provides that the city may pay half the cost of any other improvement of the cost if the street upon which the improvements are to be laid have been designated as business or principal streets. A specific bylaw to that effect must be passed by the council before any grant can be made.

This is not the case with pavements. The city can pay as much of the proportion of the cost of such as they think proper. Curb come under this same rule, provided they form part of the pavement, and are not laid separately.

The result of the opinion will confuse matters considerably at the city hall.

Ald. Richter Will Win. It is the consensus of opinion at the city hall that Ald. Richter, who first called attention to this matter, will have his ideas regarding local improvements adopted. This will mean an additional cost to the propertyholder and less for the city.

The council will confuse matters quite a bit," said Mayor Beattie. "All the bylaws for local improvements that have been passed but not laid, will have to be reconsidered, and it is quite likely that new petitions will have to be issued, and new bylaws passed in accordance with the act."

On the committee are Ald. Richter, Ald. Tancook, Ald. Ashplant, Mayor Beattie and Ald. Eckert.

TWO PRECOCIOUS JUVENILE THIEVES

Canton, Ohio, July 26.—Because they wanted to be "bad men" and also needed money to treat their sweethearts, John Warner and Ray Metcalf, each 11 years old, committed 600 burglaries. After confessing to their misdeeds they led the police to a disused cellar, where they had cached the diamond ring which was recovered, which they had sold for twelve cents, and a gold watch which had been disposed of for 15 cents.

Their operations extended from P. S. Liverpool to Lorain, and, according to their confession, some one by the police reports, in one day they entered as many as 75 houses.

Wagon Case Settled. Hugh Cameron, of London Township, who sued G. E. Fitzgerald for $40, which, he claimed, was due him on wages, has settled out of court with the defendant. The case was to have been heard today before Squire Taylor.

IS DR. CRIPPEN IN CUSTODY?

London Express Prints a Story Telling of Arrest of the Alleged Murderer.

TALKING OVER ESCAPE

It Is Said When He and His "Son" Were Apprehended—Had Been Hiding in Brussels, It Is Said.

London, July 26.—The Daily Express, without indicating the source of its information, says that the suspicions aroused on the steamer Montrose that the boy travelling under the name of Robinson was Miss Ethel Levene, the companion of Dr. Crippen, were confirmed on July 22, when the Rev. Mr. Robinson, otherwise Dr. Crippen, and his ostensible son were overheard discussing their escape from the police.

Captain Kendall thereupon sent several wireless messages, to which replies were received.

Then Captain Kendall and two of his officers arrested the pair on July 23. Crippen on the charge of murder and Miss Levene on the charge of illegally personating a boy. The latter burst into tears when she was arrested.

Crippen was deprived of a revolver and cartridges and a penknife. The two are now in separate cabins and are closely watched.

Crippen declares that he can prove his innocence.

Miss Levene, according to the Express, is in a state of collapse and is eager to make a sworn statement.

In Hiding in Brussels. Inquiries have been established that Crippen and the Levene woman spent all the time from July 10 to July 20 in Brussels, staying at an obscure hotel. Thence they went to Antwerp. They have not been in France at all.

Scotland Yard deprecates the certain assumption that the couple on the Montrose are Crippen and Miss Levene. The detectives say that nothing can be deduced so far as is known by the officials of Scotland Yard today. They absolutely discredit the published stories to the contrary.

PRISON FOR PERJURER

Secretary of Insurance Company Sent to Penitentiary for Fraud.

Syracuse, N. Y., July 26.—Willard H. Peck, secretary of the People's Mutual Life Insurance Association, was today convicted of perjury, was today sentenced by Justice De Angelis to serve not less than two nor more than five years in Auburn state prison.

The court granted a certificate of reasonable doubt after appeal was made by Peck's attorney, and bail of $7500 was set.

The charge upon which Peck was convicted was based upon the variance of his testimony before Superintendent Hotchkiss in relation to the sale of the company to John Tavis, of Louisville, Ky., and the reports he swore to as secretary of the company.

REV. CANON DANN DIED IN ENGLAND

Rector of St. Paul's Cathedral Passed Away at Bournemouth on Sunday Night

ON A TRIP FOR HEALTH

Had Been Ailing for Some Time—News Comes as a Great Shock to Very Many Londoners.

A cablegram received last night announces that Rev. Canon Dann, rector of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, died on Sunday at Bournemouth, England. The dispatch reads as follows: "London, July 26.—Rev. A. G. Dann, of London, Ont., died yesterday at Bournemouth."

Canon Dann, accompanied by Mrs. Dann and their son, had sailed a week ago Saturday from Montreal on the Allan Line Canada, and intended spending some months in England and Ireland.

For some time past the canon's health had been such as to cause alarm to his friends, and it was in the hope of recuperating that he undertook the trip. He was, it is supposed, on his way to visit his brother in Bristol, England. Bournemouth is about forty miles from Bristol, and it is thought that Canon Dann would land on Saturday, and being in a very serious state was hurried at once to Bournemouth, which is a famous health resort.

Profound Sorrow in London. The news of his death was most unexpected, and brings sorrow not only to a host of friends in London, but throughout Western Ontario. Clergymen and citizens alike expressed the deepest regret at the removal of one whom all had learned to love and esteem for his genial and kindly ways.

Next month Canon Dann would have celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his coming to London from the city of Limerick, Ireland. At that time he was appointed assistant to the Rev. Canon Innes. In Limerick, Canon Dann had been Continued on Page Eight.

FORMER TORONTO PASTOR INJURED

Rev. W. J. McCaughan and Wife Jumped From a Burning Hotel in Belfast, Ireland.

KELVIN HOTEL BURNED

Couple Threw Themselves From Upper Window to the Pavement Below—Three Employees Met Death.

[Associated Press Dispatch.] Belfast, Ireland, July 26.—The swift though the Kelvin Hotel today burning to death three employees, while several guests received frightful injuries. Five of the guests were dangerously burned and others are in a serious condition.

Among those surviving who suffered most were the Rev. Wm. John McCaughan, for several years pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, Ont., and his wife. The McCaughans were caught on an upper floor and attempting to make an exit through the hall were terribly burned.

Their escape through the usual exits being cut off by the flames the minister and his wife finally threw themselves from an upper window. Both struck the pavement with great force, and when they were removed to a hospital it was found that the skulls of both had been fractured. The condition of the two is critical.

Mr. McCaughan resigned his pastorate in Chicago in May, 1899, to become pastor of the May street congregation in this city.

PITCHER KILLS BABY

Hits Little One on the Head When Throwing Ball to the Catcher.

Indianapolis, July 26.—Alvin Mattingly, an amateur baseball player, was fined in jail today in default of $5000 bail, charged with killing flex Stephenson, a child of two years.

Mattingly threw the ball, and passing the catcher, it struck the child on the head and it died at once.

KILLED IN DETROIT

Breeze Dana Was Run Over by Auto—Had Wealthy Sister in Toronto.

Detroit, July 26.—The police here are trying to locate the relatives of Breeze Dana, aged 64, who was run over and killed by an automobile here.

Dana is said to have a sister residing in Toronto, who is very wealthy, but nothing has yet been heard from the Canadian city. Dana was at one time a prominent and wealthy resident of this city, but lost his fortune in speculation.

LONDON, TUESDAY, JULY 26.

AN IRISHMAN WHO WAS AN IRISHMAN.

Canon Dann's sudden death in England on Sunday was more poignant because he did not live to reach his beloved Ireland. He had not been in good health; perhaps a premonition of death or decline filled him with a desire to see his native country while he still felt equal to the journey. The wish was not to be gratified. He died a day or two after the arrival of his steamer at an English port.

Canon Dann was a fervent Irishman, proud of his country, and confident of her future. No Celt could have taken a more patriotic interest in the Celtic traditions of the Emerald Isle, and in her ancient lore and literature. If all Irishmen of Saxon descent were as truly Irish in sympathy as Canon Dann, Ireland would be a happier country. Too many descendants of the Sassenach colonists are still alien in feeling. They regard themselves as a people apart from the native stock, a ruling caste, and they cherish too strongly the memory of the feuds and battles of two centuries ago. Happily in late years the breach between the races is being filled by a common pride of country. Even home rulers and anti-home rulers are joining hands in movements for the material well-being of the country. A national spirit will some day combine Saxon and Celt in Ireland, just as they have become fused in Scotland by Scottish sentiment. When that day comes Ireland will take her rightful place among the nations.

ELECTION DISCREPANCIES.

It is pointed out that a change of less than 150 votes would have defeated the Roblin Government in the recent provincial election.

In twelve constituencies the majorities were less than sixty votes. In seven of these the Government candidate won by less than forty votes. A loss of seven seats would have wiped out the Government's lead in the Legislature.

Every system of representation by constituencies produces such anomalies. Neither the Laurier Government nor the Whitney Government would have so large a majority if the seats were distributed in the ratio of the popular vote. The proportional representation society of Great Britain recently showed that only once in the last 40 years—in the "kharki" election of 1900—had the Conservative party polled a greater aggregate vote than the Liberal party. Even in the election of 1886 on the home rule issue, when the Unionists and Liberal Unionists combined had a majority of 110 over the Gladstonian Liberals and the Nationalists combined, the latter combination would have had 19 majority on the basis of the popular vote. In England, Scotland and Wales, the Gladstonians were in a minority of only 76,000 in a total vote of 2,782,000.

Proportional representation would bring an elective chamber into closer conformity with the electoral vote. Theoretically such a system would be the fair and just one, but in practice it would present serious difficulties. It is doubtful whether, under such a plan, any party would have had a working majority at Ottawa since 1878.

BRITAIN AND GERMANY.
Mr. Asquith took occasion in the House of Commons the other day to show that there is absolutely no ground for associating Britain's increased naval expenditures with hostility to Germany, or mistrust of that nation's intentions. Nothing, he said, could be further from the truth, and that such an idea should exist is to be regretted in the interests of international amity and confidence.

The Premier declared that Great Britain's relations with Germany had been and still were of the most cordial character, and he looked forward to increasing warmth and fervor and intimacy in those relations year by year. He welcomed all the various agencies and movements by which the two peoples were getting more and more to understand each other, and he refused to believe that the German Government would in the least endorse the view which has been imputed to the German nation, that Britain's naval preparations were directed against them, any more than he subscribed to the view that the German naval preparations were directed against Great Britain. Germany has her own policy to pursue, her own interests to safeguard. She is a great world power, she has outlying dependencies; she is constantly sending her sons and daughters to the uttermost parts of the earth, and her trade is increasing everywhere. The German statesmen and people honestly and legitimately believe they cannot maintain their position as a great world power, with the numerous and constantly increasing interests they are bound to defend in every quarter of the globe, unless they increase their navy.

On the other hand, the position of the British Government is that it is responsible not so much in looking after an increasing and newly-developing empire as it is responsible for the defence and security of an empire which already exists. "We should be false," said the Prime Minister, "to the trust which the nation and empire have reposed in this House and in the Government of the day, unless we maintained that ample margin of security against all probable or even possible risks, which is the only insurance a nation such as ours can pursue—an insular country with forty millions of people dependent on foreign supplies of food and raw material, and responsible for the protection and defence of dependencies and dominions in every quarter of the globe." Mr. Asquith added that it would be exactly the same thing if this increase of naval development, which has taken place during the last few years in Germany, had occurred in France, between which country and Britain "most intimate ties of friendship and even affection exist." What the British Government must do, if it is to discharge the trust reposed in it, is to look at the shipbuilding programmes of the world, take into account the possible risks, and never sacrifice that margin of safety by which alone the security of the empire and its trade can be assured. It is in no sense from hostility to Germany that the British Government has had to look at German shipbuilding as being to some extent, to a very large extent of late years, the governing factor in the problem of the margin which has to be secured.

Mr. Asquith's statements have created a favorable impression in Germany, and are taken as a sign that the tension between the two countries has greatly relaxed. As the German shipbuilding programme will be cut in half in 1917, there is hope that the British programme may be safely slackened at the same time, with relief to the overburdened taxpayers.

THE LAWN BOWLERS.

Welcome once more to the lawn bowlers! They have been annual visitors for so long that they are old friends. The freedom of the city is theirs; they have the privileges of citizenship, without the taxes. They could not be more pleasantly or profitably occupied in vacation. The game promotes good health, good spirits, and good fellowship. It is amateur sport in the real sense of the word. It leaves no room for professionalism or trickery, and defeat carries no sting. It appeals to youth, middle age, and old age. It has been a special providence to many a man who is past the baseball age, but needs some open-air exercise to keep his liver in tone.

Sir Wilfrid is confronted at every stage of his journey by the Grain Growers' Associations. The western farmers know what they want; they ask for what they want; and they are organized for an effort to get what they want.

The story of the theft of the Mona Lisa from the Louvre has not been confirmed. Baedeker speaks of it as the "most famous female portrait in the world." The lady is believed to be the original wearer of "the smile that won't come off."

Mr. Frank Bullen, the noted writer of sea stories, who has been touring Canada, rightly says that Canada needs no educating in loyalty to the British flag, but he thinks "she becomes impatiently bewildered now and then at the vagaries of what used to be the great Liberal party in the British parliament." Mr. Bullen has not been observant if he imagines that Canadians are as worried as the Unionists over the success of the British Liberals. They think the empire is safe in the hands of either party, and they know more about British politics than some British partisans give them credit for.

1,000-FOOT SHIPS.
[New York Sun.]
Liverpool intends to keep up with the improvement of transatlantic liners by building new docks and extending old ones so that the longest liners can be safely and expeditiously berthed along the Mersey. Liverpool doesn't propose to permit Southampton to take away its laurels as the premier port of debarkation for the New York-England passenger traffic, and it has approved plans and appropriated the money for the construction of two docks that will berth the biggest ships to be built within the next ten years, and which will be the biggest docks in the world.

Twenty-three years ago the biggest vessel leaving Liverpool was 500 feet long. Ten years later the biggest liner was 625 feet long. Three years ago came the Lusitania, 702 feet long. Now she

HOW MANY REALIZE THE MARVELLOUS VALUE OF FRUIT IN CURING MANY DISEASES?

Wonderful Success of "Fruit-a-lives"
—The Famous Fruit Medicine.

Fruit juice consists of about 91 per cent water, 8 per cent of sweet matter, and only 1 per cent of an intensely bitter substance. Careful experiments show that it is this bitter principle, which is the active or medicinal material of fruit juice.

Under certain conditions the bitter principle can be made to replace or transform some of the sweet atoms in the juice, thus making a new compound which is much more active medicinally than the ordinary juice.

Many fruits were analyzed, and it was found that the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes gave the best results. These fruit juices, having been made more active by the secret process of changing the bitter principle into the bitter, are combined with tonics and antiseptics and made into tablets. These tablets are the famous fruit medicine — "Fruit-a-lives" — known in every part of the world for their wonderful curative qualities in diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and Skin.

"Fruit-a-lives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit juice. Fifty cents a box, six for $2.50, or trial size 25 cents.

White Star Line is building two liners that are 800 feet long, and the Cunard Line has announced plans for a new ship of 50,000 tons that probably will be 1,000 feet long.

to meet the demands of these new leviathans the Liverpool Dock Board will spend $15,000,000 for adequate new docks. Depth of water and dock accommodations are the only limitations upon the length of liners, so builders say.

$2,000,000 FOR CHILDREN'S TEETH.

[The Christian Herald.]
A singular benevolence was lately promised to the city of Boston, Thomas A. Forsythe, a wealthy resident, proposed to give $2,000,000 to care for the teeth of the children. He plans to give every child, from the time of its first tooth until it shall arrive at the age of 18, the best dental service possible, without any charge. His purpose is to construct a building, equipped with every appliance known to modern dentistry, and manned by a corps of dentists, who will render the best professional service to be found in the country.

CAN HE COME BACK?

[Hamilton Times.]
"I-fries laments that he was unable to 'come back.' Hon. George Balmer is sadly studying the 'come back' question, and wondering whether he should make the attempt or not.

WHISTLING ARROWS.

[London Globe.]
A curious weapon has arrived at the office of the Festival of Empire. The weapon, which was sent as a sample by the pageant's armorer, is an arrow of Henry VIII's time, to which cunningly knod is a small whistle which sounds shrill and clear if the arrow is only just thrown across the room.

It is on record that the archers who formed King Henry's bodyguard tipped their arrows with such accuracy that they "sang through the air."

BRIDESMAIDS.

[Puck.]
Three times a bridesmaid, never a bride, is an old saying, but there is not much to it. Like "thrice armed" is he who hath his quarrel just; it is true in theory but not in business. If a girl wears a bridesmaid's dress, it makes very little difference how many times she has been a bridesmaid. Bridesmaids are not a distinct species. Except that they wear bigger hats, they are much like other girls.

LITERARY RIDDLES.

[Exchange.]
Why is Browning more prolific than Tennyson? Because he wrote One Word More.
Which is the greater, Dickens or Thackeray? Dickens, because Thackeray wrote well, Dickens wrote better.
Why is the author of "Maud Muller" more amusing than Thomas Hood? Because he is Whittier.

Why was Dumas cleverer than Victor Hugo? Because Hugo wrote till he died; Dumas wrote till he was asked to stop.
Why was Beck Sharp a reformed character after her divorce? Because she was thenceforth Steinbock.

If a lion and a lamb met in a book-seller's shop, what authors would they be likely respectively to choose? The lion would probably select a Dryden, and the lamb would take his Hook.

Why was the author of the "Beggar's Opera" never in despair? Because he was always Gay.

What writer's name follows his book's title as a law of nature? Raine: On the Wings of the Wind.

If two untidy heads of hair could speak — "Comus."

When did a literary lady become a beast? When Mr. Birrell found Hannah More a bore (bear).

What is the difference between the living Hamlet and the dead Lamb? Hamlet living cut off; the dead Lamb dead was cut off.

A SUFFRAGETTE JOKE.

[London Daily News.]

In all the Underground Railway passages on Saturday two placards were prominent. One was the bill of an ultra-popular weekly journal announcing an article on "Why do men despise women?" and the other was the Anti-Suffrage Society's "Women do not want the vote." In one case the former was above the latter, and someone had connected them with the word "Because."

A MISMANAGEMENT DEPARTMENT.

[Hamilton Times.]
The wretched mismanagement which has marred the Ontario Department of Education since it fell under Whitney's control is disgusting even the most slavish of its supporters. The Toronto Telegram, which was one of the greatest touts for Whitney, and which was exceedingly unjust to Hon. George W. Ross, has apparently concluded that nothing is to be made by blinking the situation. A careful survey of the situation leads it to declare that Ontario never saw the day when there was less common sense displayed in the management of her public school system than there has been since Hon. R. A. Pyne took the helm in the Education Department.

THE MYSTERY OF MRS. CRIPPEN

Greatly Excites the Interest of Friends in English Theatrical Circles.

ABOUT MISS LENEVE

A Scotland Yard Pen Picture of the Fugitive Husband—Forged Death Notice.

London, July 25.—That Dr. Hawley H. Crippen and his former stenographer, Elsie Crippen, are aboard the Canadian Pacific steamer Montrose, now on the high seas bound for Montreal, in Scotland Yard's firm conviction. Of the many clues followed to the final ending, that which led to the docks at Antwerp and to pursuit across the ocean seems to hold out the best prospects for the capture of the two.

Inspector Dew is now aboard the steamer Laurentic, which is due to arrive at Montreal on July 30. That is the date also of the arrival of the Montrose, but the Scotland Yard officials hope the inspector will reach Antwerp in time to arrest the fugitives. Inspector Dew knows both Crippen and the Leneve woman personally.

According to one dispatch received here from Montreal, the Canadian Pacific Railway officials were in receipt of a wireless message from the Montrose, stating that the Leneve woman had been found and confessed. Another dispatch from Montreal stated that the company had not been able to establish communication with the steamer.

The Disappearance.

Towards the end of January last, Mrs. Crippen mysteriously disappeared, and a report was circulated by Hawley Crippen to the effect that his wife had left for America to transact business there. Later he gave out that he had received intelligence from the States that the lady was seriously ill with pneumonia, and this was followed by the announcement of her death and cremation near San Francisco.

Mrs. Crippen had a large circle of acquaintances in the theatrical world owing to her association with the Music Hall Ladies' Guild as honorary secretary, and were apparently much mystified by the lady's disappearance. It was not until the end of June, however, that they mentioned their suspicions to the police. A lady and gentleman visited Scotland Yard, and related the facts to Superintendent Froest and Chief Detective Inspector Dew, of the criminal investigation department. Inquiry was immediately set on foot. Crippen, questioned by the detectives, admitted that all his former stories were incorrect, and stated that he had a quarrel with his wife, who had gone away, saying she would never see him again. He believed she had journeyed to America.

The Other Woman. In the meantime, a new arrival appeared at the Hilldrop Crescent house. Crippen took to his home a young lady typist, Miss Le Neve, who was acting as his assistant at his place of business in Oxford street. Miss Le Neve was introduced by Crippen as his wife. On Saturday, July 9, the two disappeared together at midday, and it is in relation to this couple that the following official notice was issued by the police:

"Wanted, for murder and mutilation of a woman, HAWLEY HARVEY CRIPPEN, alias PETER CRIPPEN, alias FRANKEL, an American doctor; age 50; height, 5 feet 3 inches; complexion fresh, hair light brown, inclined sandy, scanty and bald on top; long sandy moustache, rather straggly; may be clean shaven or wearing beard; eyes grey, flat on bridge of nose; false teeth; wears gold-rimmed spectacles; may be dressed in dark brown jacket suit, marked 'Baker & Sons,' and grey round felt hat, 'Horne Bros.' inside; rather slovenly appearance; throws his feet out when walking, speaks with a slight American accent; wears hat at back of head; very plausible and quiet spoken; speaks French; carries fire-arms; shows his teeth much when talking. AND ETHEL CLARA LE NEVE; will go as Crippen's wife; age 27, height 5 feet 5 inches; complexion pale, hair light brown, large grey eyes; good teeth; good-looking; medium build, pleasant appearance, quiet, subdued manner; looks intently when in conversation; walks slowly, reticent; probably dressed blue serge skirt and blue serge three-quarter jacket; large hat; or may be dressed as a boy in dark brown suit, grey, hard felt hat; native of London; shorthand writer and typist; absconded with her husband; may be leaving the country. Observation to be kept at railway stations and docks, and outgoing ships searched by experienced C.T.D. officers. Early special inquiry to be made at shipping offices, railway stations, hotels, etc."

Do you know the life insurance feature of the Williams piano club

You haven't overlooked the fact that the Williams piano club has a life insurance feature connected with it, have you?

It has. It's like this:

We realized before organizing this club, that in event we did organize the club, the majority of the members would be those who would appreciate a protective feature like this. We thought that the members would feel a security about such a feature. We therefore figured it out, with this result:

That, in the event of the death of a club member before his piano is paid for, the remaining payments will be cancelled forthwith and a receipt in full will be turned over to his family.

There is nothing more to be said concerning this invaluable feature. It affords the club member absolute protection. The thought of losing the instrument through inability to make the remaining payments should the club member happen to die before the instrument is fully paid for, can be put entirely out of mind.

The agreement is made with the club member, in writing—and the beauty of the feature is that the piano does not cost more than the club price ($257.50) for its being there, neither is the club member obligated to pay more than 1 dollar and 25 cents a week on account of it.

The life insurance feature of the Williams piano club does not cost the club member one cent extra.

Other Features of the Williams Piano Club in detail

1. The club is to be composed of 200 members.
2. Over one-half of the membership has been taken.
3. The value of the Williams Club Piano is $350.
4. The price to the Williams Club members is $257.50.
5. The terms are $5.00 cash when you join, then $1.25 per week for 202 weeks.
6. The Piano will be delivered when you join, or later, as you wish.
7. The weekly payments of $1.25 begin when the Piano is delivered.
8. Every instrument is guaranteed without reserve—for 5 years—in a guarantee as strong as we know how to make it in writing.
9. If, after 30 days' trial, the Piano is not satisfactory we will give you your money back.
10. If the Piano is satisfactory after 30 days' use, the club member has eleven more months in which to satisfy himself as to the character of the Piano. If it does not then prove to be everything that he expects, he has the privilege of exchanging it without one penny's loss for any other instrument of equal or greater value that we sell (and we sell over five different representative makes).
11. If a club member dies during the life of his contract, we will immediately send a receipt in full to his family for the instrument.
12. A beautiful stool to match the Piano is included without extra cost.
13. The Piano will be tuned twice without charge.

made at shipping offices, railway stations, hotels, etc."

When the facts of the disappearance of the couple came to the knowledge of the authorities, renewed investigation was made. Detectives made a thorough search of the Hilldrop house and garden, with the terrible discovery in the darkened cellar on Wednesday, July 13. In making close examination of the brick floor, several stones were found loosened. This decided the detectives to dig up the whole cellar floor. Working in the weird light cast by lanterns and candles, Inspector Dew came across what was evidently a portion of a human body, and further down additional remains, mutilated, were discovered.

Friends' Suspicions.

It may seem rather curious that the offices of the Music Hall Ladies' Guild—the benevolent institution in which the murdered lady was treasurer—should be on the same floor, and only two doors from the office of the Munyon's Remedies Company, of which Crippen was agent. But Miss Melinde May, the secretary, accounted for this by telling the Daily News' representative that it was when Mrs. Crippen became treasurer that the headquarters were moved from York street. Miss May, who is among those who set inquiries on foot, was in great distress on account of the terrible discovery, though, of course, she had feared foul play.

"In Mrs. Crippen," she said tearfully, "I have lost my best friend. She was a sweet, beautiful woman, charitable and kind-hearted, a woman whom I should have thought nobody could help loving. A portrait, with her name and inscription on the back, is one of the treasures I would not part with for anything now. She was a vaudeville artist, fairly well known under her stage name of Belle Elmore, but I do not know that she had appeared much in recent years. "It was in this very room that I con- doled with the man when he told me she had gone to California on account of her bad health. But the more we thought of that, the more strange did it appear to the members of the committee and myself that she should have gone away without letting us know. Such a thing would have been quite foreign to her disposition. I am sure she could not have resisted sending us at least a line."

Was This Forged Letter? One of the last letters the girl received, as coming from Mrs. Crippen, was as follows:

39 Hilldrop Crescent, London, N. To the Committee of the Music Hall Ladies' Guild:

Dear Friends—Please forgive me a hasty letter and any inconvenience I may cause you, but I have just had news of the illness of a near relative, and at only a few hours' notice I am obliged to go to America. Under the circumstances, I cannot return for several months, and I therefore beg you to accept this as a formal resigning from this date of the honorary treasurership of the Music Hall Ladies' Guild.

Forged Death Notice.

There can be little doubt now that this letter was a forgery. Mrs. Crippen always spelled her stage name with one "l," but at the time it was supposed that, being indisposed, she might have dictated the letter.

On March 26 there appeared this advertisement in a theatrical paper: "Elmore—March 23, in California, U. S. A., Miss Belle Elmore (Mrs. H. Crippen)."

So deep was the distress occasioned among the officials and committee of the guild, and so unsatisfactory did the circumstances appear, that the step-son of Mrs. Crippen, at Los Angeles, was communicated with. His statement that he knew nothing of the death led to more stringent inquiries, and ultimately the police were called in.

In the neighborhood of Hilldrop Crescent considerable comment seems to have been aroused by the young lady typist, Clara Le Neve. She was apparently an attractive young woman, and one of her most striking characteristics was the amount of jewelry she wore. Mrs. Crippen, the murdered woman, was said to have been anxious that the typist should be dismissed, but her husband refused, saying she had been with him for ten years. After Mrs. Crippen's disappearance, the couple appeared to have visited music halls and entertainments together, the girl wearing it was noticed, jewelry formerly the property of Mrs. Crippen.

The police suggestion that this girl "may be dressed as a boy," is traceable to the story that Crippen had recently been accompanied by a "youth," who was of somewhat foreign appearance. The manager of a dairy business who supplied No. 39 Hilldrop Crescent with milk stated that she remembers Crippen visiting the shop, whom the manager described as being "very nice-looking," and about 15 years of age. He was well dressed in an Eton suit, and had dark hair.

The proprietor of the Camden Library, York road, who knew the Crippens, said that Mrs. Crippen was a plump, rather flashily-dressed woman, with a mass of golden hair. "They were frequent customers at my shop," he added, "and the lady took in a number of theatrical and fashion papers. They seemed on good terms, and gave me the impression of being well off. I have not seen Mrs. Crippen for some months, and about the end of February Mr. Crippen came and told me not to send his wife any more papers, as she was going abroad on a theatrical tour. About a fortnight ago he came and paid his bill, and after that I missed him. A week or two ago my boy said, 'I think there is another Mrs. Crippen living there. She is a very showy woman.' But I set all this down as gossip."

"They always seemed to be as happy as sandboys," declared another tradesman. "She was a chatty, handsome woman. He was generally dressed in grey. On Sunday morning I noticed them going to church. Last February he told me she had gone away for a month, and shortly after that I saw him in Holborn with a strange lady, whom I have since seen at the house."

UNREST IN HONDURAS

Ex-President Bonilla Threatens to Begin a Revolution. New Orleans, July 25.—Further confirmation of disturbed conditions recently at Ceiba, Honduras, was brought by passengers arriving here on the steamer Olenia yesterday. The Olenia sailed for Ceiba Thursday, at which time, it is said, many soldiers were patrolling the town under the direction of the governor of Ceiba. The feeling of alarm and somewhat turbulent situation were apparently the outcome of rumors that former President Bonilla was threatening to begin a revolution. There has been no actual uprising.

CORRESPONDENCE

Open Letter to Mr. Sanders, Humane Society Inspector.

Dear Sir,—Do you not think it would be a good idea to have the police instructed to take charge of all dogs with muzzles on which are evidently lost, and make an effort to restore them to their owners? I think it a piece of most devilish cruelty to permit dogs to possibly starve to death because of their inability to help themselves. I think if there is one thing more than another calculated to set a dog mad it is to have his head placed in a wire cage, and when desperately hungry, be unable to satisfy his hunger because of the cruel contrivance with which his head is encased. I suggest, also, that London, and every town and city in Canada, imitate Chicago, and place a number of drinking contrivances in a number of places. Chicago is said to have placed a thousand for the dogs' comfort and health. It is an old saying, but nevertheless a true one, that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and if citizens in general be asked to co-operate in the carrying out of the above suggestions, a vast amount of good will result, and the poor dogs be saved a vast amount of suffering. I am, sir, yours sincerely, JAS. CONNOR.

Weeding Out Process Well Under Way at Bowling Tourney

BOWLING LEAGUES FALL IN OPENING ROUND OF TROPHY

Thompson, Jackson, Allen, Charlie Abbott, Brown, Andy Scott, Karn, Riches and Others Defeated in First Day's Play at Big Tourney of W. O. B. A.

Half the links in the great Labatt Trophy contest have been eliminated as a result of yesterday afternoon's play, and the weeding-out process will continue today. By tonight some sort of an idea of the possible trophy contestants will be known. The tournament was one of the first.

The entry list included over 100 links selected from the best in Western Ontario and Toronto. The majority of them have been here before on a trophy quest, but the lure of the prize has lured them back again, and they were ready to once more try for the blue ribbon honors for bowlers.

It was the largest in point of attendance ever held in Canada, and will be hard to equal anywhere.

The Dominion contest in the fall is the nearest approach to it, but even that tourney has to grow a trifle to equal the big W. O. B. A. event.

From 2 o'clock until dusk the play continued. All the available links at the London Bowling Club were utilized, and a large number of games were played on the Thistle Club greens. This facilitated the weeding-out process considerably, and when the last boy was hustled towards the kiddy last night great progress had been made—more, perhaps, than in any other year.

The bowling was not of the highest quality, being somewhat more ragged than was the custom. However, there were many clever contests.

AN INTERESTING CONTEST

Andy Scott and Brier Willison had a beautiful game, and it pleased the very large gallery that followed it.

There were other contests that evoked so much interest as this one. A number of well-known skips went down to defeat, among them being Charlie Abbott's winners of last year, Dick Thompson, Billy Jackson, Fred Allen, Norman Brown, Dr. Riches, Dr. W. K. Allen, and many others.

A number of large scores were made during the day, and there also seemed to be a run on six ends. More than a dozen of these were recorded, and five ends were as common as a head of pins.

However, there was a marked improvement in the play late in the afternoon, and today will see as fine an exemplification of the royal game of bowls as could be wished for.

GREENS IN FINE SHAPE

The sight on the London Club greens is always inspiring under such circumstances, and the grounds never looked as pretty as yesterday. Visitors commented most favorably upon the ideal location of the greens, and not a little charm was added to the tourney by the pleasant surroundings.

The scores for the preliminary and first round are as follows:

THE TIGERS DROP YANKS TO THIRD

Champions Take Third Contest From Highlanders by Score of 8 to 4.

BOSTON GOES TO SECOND

While Detroit Still Occupies Fourth Place, 139 Points Below Athletics.

New York, July 25.—The Tigers are coming back. This is the New York fans feel after seeing the champions take the third game from the Highlanders this afternoon by a score of 8 to 4, and gain an edge on the local team in the series 2 to 1. The sting of the Tigers' victory is felt all the more here owing to the fact that it pulled the Highlanders from second position. The score:

NATIONALS AND SOX BREAK EVEN

Chicago and Washington Repeat Saturday's Programme, With Same Result.

Washington, July 25.—Washington and Chicago again broke even today, double-header, Walsh pitching the visitors to victory in the first contest, 4 to 2, while Groom made it easy for the home team in the second, 5 to 1. Dougherty was put out of the first game by umpire Perrine for throwing his bat. The score:

SOME OF THE OLD TIMERS are missing at this year's tournament, and there was much regret expressed at their absence. Fred is a good fellow, a fine bowler, and has a legion of friends. Billy Barley and Dave McKeand are missing, as are also Crawford, of Wingham.

INSPECTOR EDWARDS is playing third to Charlie Graham. They fell with Billy Barley's Berlin last year, and the Germans did not do a thing to the four. It had something on the side of Paris casualties.

THE TOURNAMENT is a great place to renew old acquaintances. Inspector Edwards, of London, and Mr. C. H. Davis, of Hamilton, who has not seen in 28 years. Both were students at the Ottawa Normal together. Inspector Davis, of Hamilton, who has not seen in 28 years. Both were students at the Ottawa Normal together.

THAMESFORD.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
Thamesford, July 26.—Miss Allister, of the Children's Hospital, Detroit, spent last week with Miss Scellian, leaving for London on Saturday evening, Miss Scellian going on the train to visit Miss Munroe, of Embro.
The meeting of the Women's Institute is to be held at the home of Mrs. W. W. McLeod on Thursday afternoon of this week, when an invitation is extended to all the ladies of the village and surrounding country.
Mrs. Cawthorne accompanied her daughter, Mrs. (Rev. Dr.) Smith, to her home at St. Catharines on Friday for a short holiday.
We are sorry to state that Miss Hazel Judge, of the Bell Telephone Company, is very ill with typhoid fever, but under the care of Dr. McGowan and Miss Birchard, nurse, it is hoped she will be speedily restored. Her sister Anna is supplying for her in the office.
Raspberries are more plentiful than were anticipated, the showers of last week greatly benefiting them.

Mrs. Spettigue and little daughter, and also her friend, is visiting with Mrs. Shewan and other relatives this week.

COAL SHORTAGE.
Hamilton, July 26.—With only a few days' coal supply on hand the city officials are alarmed over the possibility of the waterworks system being tied up as a result of the Grand Trunk strike.

Mayor McLaren says that if he has to arm the whole police force for protection he will see that coal is delivered at the pumping station before the supply gives out.

THE SITUATION IS IMPROVING

Grand Trunk Freight Trains Are Moving—Carshops at Various Points Resume.

MR. BROWNLEE OPTIMISTIC

Says Situation "Looks Good"—All the Shops Reopened—Number of Old Men Coming Back.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Stratford, July 25.—Instructions were received yesterday afternoon by Master Mechanic Robert Patterson to resume work at the local shops. As a result some 800 men returned to work. The remainder, some of them, were either away holidaying, or some few of them had taken positions on the road. The first freight train moved out of Stratford since the strike left at 5:30 this morning for Toronto. The train consisted of 30 cars, mostly merchandise and dead freight. Another freight train, consisting of 12 cars, left for Goderich at 6:45 this morning, a number of plain clothes constables going along for protection. A full passenger service has been reorganized to Port Rowley and Port Stanley. Master Wilson reports a number of oldtimers are coming back. The passenger service has now been thoroughly reorganized, and everything is running well at present. Several of the local factories continue to cart their goods to St. Marys to be shipped from that point via C. P. R.

Not Strikebreakers.
Ottawa, July 25.—With regard to the allegation that the relaxation of immigration regulations allows strikebreakers to come in more easily, the department of immigration says this is not correct. The new rule refers to laborers to be engaged in railway "construction."

Freights Moving.
St. Thomas, July 25.—Freight has been moving on the Canadian division of the Wabash since Saturday noon without any trouble. There is no change in the situation on the G. T. R. here, other than a possibility of the shop and repair men returning to work within a few days. An agent of a firm in New York is in the city hiring men as strikebreakers for points on the G. T. R.

Toronto, July 25.—Several freight trains were moved today by the Grand Trunk, mostly with coal, and the passenger trains appear all to be running on schedule time.

Situation at Sarnia.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
Sarnia, July 25.—Grand Trunk strike is being keenly felt by all classes of business here. The ore trains cannot be moved, nor cars secured for unloading the boats, which are thus delayed. The shells of the Northern Navigation Company at Point Edward are filling up with flour and other eastbound freight, and every shipper along the river is more or less affected, though the boat service and the Pere Marquette line are doing their best to ease the situation. Another matter causing anxiety is the fact that the train crews are all being made up at Port Huron, and it is suggested that this change may be made permanent, involving the removal of the crews and their families to Port Huron.

Cheery Report.
Toronto, July 25.—A cheery report was given by Mr. W. H. Purcell, superintendent of transportation, at noon today. "All our shops are reopened," he said, "and with full staffs in every case. The Toronto shops employ 150 men and the Mimico shops considerably more."

"The Grand Trunk freight shed, too, is a busy scene today. If you want to find out what is doing, take a look at the freight sheds."

"Our promise in regard to moving the freight is being carried out."

Mr. W. G. Brownlee, general manager of transportation, had the same optimistic story to tell.

"We're in fine shape this morning," said he. "Yesterday we maintained a full service on all our main passenger lines."

"Lots of the old men are coming back. Three conductors on strike made application this morning for reinstatement. Yardmen and brakemen are applying to get back to work at several points. Besides our old men, others in large numbers are applying to our officers for employment."

Trouble at Grand Bend, Indiana.
South Bend, Ind., July 25.—Rioting took place at 8:30 o'clock tonight, when from 800 to 2,000 men and boys, which had been switched into a crossing west of Oliver's Station. After the car had been burning for 20 minutes the fire department extinguished the flames. As the crowd increased in size it moved west from Oliver's station, and when a freight train of seven cars and a caboose appeared an hour later it was greeted with a shower of stones, spikes and coupling pins. As soon as the train was stopped at the west end of the yards the engine crew were attacked, but the arrival of Assistant Police Chief Chapel and a squad of policemen routed the rioters.

COWANS ARE CHAMPIONS
Defeat McClary in Deciding Game of Commercial League Post Series.

Cowans defeated McClary in the Commercial League at Springbank on Monday evening, 15 to 6, and won the championship of this league.
Cowans hit the ball hard from start to finish, and won out easily. Cummer held McClary to four scattered hits, Sage getting three of the four. The features of the game were Eyres' running catch, and Georges' three-bagger. Sage worked hard for McClary all the time, and Walsh, of Cowans, deserves credit for his work behind the bat. He has been a big factor in the winning of the championship. Cowans have played a steady game all season, and have won the championship on their merits. Nick Smith upped in a manner most satisfactory to both teams.

NEW ONTARIO BOOMING
Provincial Treasurer Sees Signs of Progress Everywhere.

Toronto, July 26.—Col. Matheson, provincial treasurer, has returned from a trip over parts of New Ontario, and expresses himself delighted with the signs of progress everywhere.
Col. Matheson concurs in proposals of the commissioner of the T. and N. O. Railway that a number of curves on the road shall be straightened, so as to make travel quicker and safer.

REV. CANON DANN

one of the canons of the Limerick Cathedral, and had made for himself a splendid name as a pulpit orator and worker. During his career in London he had fully maintained this, and had been known as one of the most untiring workers in the Anglican Church.

Rector of St. Paul's.
When Dean Innes died in 1903, Canon Dann was appointed rector of St. Paul's, and in 1908 was named precentor by Bishop Williams. He always took the deepest interest in all the departments of church work, and was especially interested in the work among young people. He was responsible for the organization of many of the flourishing young people's societies that St. Paul's and other Anglican churches now have, and was a great force in the Sunday school. He was a firm believer in instilling religion into the young.

The church choir and the organist, Mr. G. B. Sippel, always found him their warm friend, and he co-operated with them fully in making the musical services the best. He introduced the old English custom of holding carol services at Christmas time.

At the meetings of the Synod Canon Dann was a familiar figure, and his wide and practical grasp of affairs throughout the Diocese of Huron always made his views on any question he spoke of of great value.

In the Synod.
During the last meeting of the Synod he spoke on a number of the leading questions that were up for discussion, and on many occasions his remarks were greeted with great applause.

Canon Dann was always interested in any movements for the general good of the city, and was ready at all times to give his services. He had served on many committees for public good, and always did his work faithfully and well. His natural eloquence and wit made him much sought after at various functions, and many who have attended graduation exercises and affairs of a similar nature will remember his splendid addresses.

As chaplain of the troops which year he became widely known and loved among the men. His influence was very great among them, and by his example and words he always urged them to be true Christian soldiers.

Only those in close contact with him knew the amount of quiet, unostentatious work that he did among the poor of the city, all of whom found in him a friend, with an open, kindly, honest heart.

Born in Ireland.
Canon Dann was about 64 years old, and was born in the southern part of Ireland. He was educated at the college at Fermoy, where Dr. Robinson, a well-known scholar, was principal.

Later he attended the Royal University at Dublin, Ireland, and in 1885 graduated with the degree of B. A. In 1889 he obtained his B. D. He was ordained as deacon and commenced his work as curate in St. Nicholas Church, Cork, of which Rev. George Webster, chancellor of the diocese, was in charge.

Later he wrote a memoir of this widely known cleric, which was greatly appreciated.

In 1872 Canon Dann was ordained a priest, and the same year was awarded the bronze medal of the Royal Humane Society for saving a woman from death by drowning in the River Lee.

In 1874 he was appointed curate of St. Michael's Church, Limerick, and in 1875 was appointed rector of Kilkenny, in the Diocese of Limerick. His splendid work here soon brought him into prominence, and he received many honors, among others that of being chosen by the bishop as permanent examiner of Sunday schools, and in 1880 he was appointed a rural dean of Croom. In 1885 he was made chaplain of the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, and representative to the General Synod. In 1890 he was appointed canon of Tullybrachy, St. Mary's Cathedral, Cork, and held this appointment until he accepted the position of rector of St. Paul's, London, in 1898. He was made precentor of St. Paul's, and a rural dean of East Middlessex.

The Family.
Besides his wife, Canon Dann leaves four sons and two daughters, Hugh, Eyre, who is with a survey party in Saskatchewan, and a daughter, Miss Elizabeth, who is with a survey party in the Bank of British North America. St. John, N. B.; Captain William Dann in Zanzibar; Mrs. Duncan, of Olds, Alberta; and Mrs. Patten, of Ballinasloe, Ireland, is his sister, and a brother who resides near Bristol, and who is a clergyman, also survives.

So far the only news of Canon Dann's death is the cablegram received in the news service. The cablegram stated to The Advertiser this morning that he had received no notification so far, and relatives here have not yet been notified.

Bishop Pays Tribute.
Bishop Williams spoke of the late canon in the highest terms. "The news of his death is a very great shock to us," he said. "The church loses a most faithful and devoted clergyman, a man of wide sympathies, large-hearted charity and goodwill. London loses a good citizen who took the keenest interest in all that concerned the honor of the city and the well-being of the citizens. In the synod and diocese his loss will be felt particularly just now, as he was the leading spirit in the new movement in regard to Sunday schools. Besides losing a splendid priest and the rector of the leading church in the diocese, I feel that I have lost a devoted, personal friend."

Only a short time ago, on the occasion of the special Sunday service held in Victoria Park for the men in camp, Canon Dann preached for more than twenty minutes in the most intense heat. The strain that he underwent that day told heavily upon him.

The Bible and Its Critics.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I have read with some interest a long and, as I think, thoroughly bound article, in a recent issue of The Advertiser, under the caption "Catholics and the Bible," from the pen of Thomas J. M. Dougherty, of London.

I have not at hand the other letters contributed to this sectarian controversy and have no desire to take any part in what seems to be the main question at issue, namely, the charge that certain priests of the Roman Catholic Church have been burning the Bibles found in Catholic homes in Quebec, and the counter charge that Protestant missionaries and societies virtually "buy" their converts, and from among the poorest of the poor.

Whatever may be said relative to the main charge, and as I have no knowledge of it, I am not defending it. The counter charge appears in the very face of it as a mere retort used recently by the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church against the Methodist propaganda in Rome. It is quite legitimate to criticize methods, if these are considered objectionable, but to impugn Christian motives and Christian sincerity by way of "getting even," can hardly be said to enhance the Christian spirit we would naturally look for in this "one church universal."

I am pleased to learn that Mr. Dougherty has read the authorized version of the Bible through twice, and to him I would like to say that through it once to find out how many times wine and strong drink are mentioned therein. If, as is quite probable, Mr. Dougherty read our version through on the other occasion with some similar object in view, I leave the unbiased reader to judge how much of the literary beauty of that noble version, with all its twenty-five thousand mistranslations," Mr. Dougherty would discern. This gratuitous reference to the supposed inaccuracies of the authorized version must either betray a wanton desire on the part of the above writer to misrepresent, or a dense ignorance of the literary processes involved in the intricate task of faithfully rendering the original into English. Mr. Dougherty, of all writers, should have guarded himself against making such a sweeping statement on his own authority, as he never tired of asking his opponents for evidence and proof in support of their assertions.

The statement may be partially true, and Mr. Dougherty may have read it somewhere, but I ask him to cite his authority, and just what he means by "mistranslations." In what connection did his authority make the statement, and were there any qualifications added in any measure explanatory of these "mistranslations"? Of course, there are minute errors and faulty renderings all through King James' version, or there would have been no need of incurring the immense labor and expense of preparing the revised version. Many of these so-called "mistranslations" merely represent obsolete forms of expression and of grammatical construction perfectly legitimate in King James' time. Besides, these are not a few, but are now universally regarded as indelicate and needlessly offend modern readers. Then again, King James' version has always been regarded as a classic in English literature, and it is well known that stately diction and exquisite literary rhythm are incongruous with slavish literality. Further, the delicate shades of meaning in the original, especially the Hebrew, is often the despair of the translator, and hence we sometimes have a number of variant readings of the same passage, any one of which would be a good rendering, though not always what is called a "happy" one. Some translations choose one reading and some another, and, surely, he would be an ignorant critic who would refer to one rendering as genuine Scripture, while he thoughtlessly dubbed another rendering as a "mistranslation." I would respectfully ask Mr. Dougherty, seeing that he has got the authorized version down pat, how many mistranslations there are in the Douay Bible, as used by Catholics? He cannot plead ignorance of his own Bible when he has ours down so very fine.

Very wise indeed to make I submit, as used by Catholics? He cannot plead ignorance of his own Bible when he has ours down so very fine.

Whole literatures of contemporary peoples, older than the religious literature of the Hebrews, have been unearthed and deciphered since the Douay and King James' Bibles first appeared, and have thrown new light upon the Hebrew text. Valuable manuscripts of the original text of the Bible not accessible before have laid their rich treasures at the feet of the committee of learned and godly men, who undertook the preparation of the revised version. Now, while I entirely agree with you, Mr. Editor, that the differences between the Douay and King James' editions of the Bible are trifling so far as essential truth is concerned, yet the revised version is unquestionably superior to either, and if the betty of its diction has slightly suffered, its clearness and faithfulness to the original has been enhanced.

Mr. Dougherty tries to score the professors of our Protestant colleges for teaching heresy. He also says that "hundreds of thousands have lost faith in all divine revelations through reading the Bible." I do not think this is very wise inference to make. I submit that it is not merely reading the Bible that leads to lack of faith in divine revelation. It is reading the Bible critically in the light of the arrogant claims regarding its infallibility and inerrancy still made in some of our pulpits that makes the Protestant uneasy regarding the essential stability of his faith. The Catholic, too, who has had the doctrines of the infallibility and solidarity of the church thundered in his ears since childhood, is often disillusioned when reads history. He finds that the church, both Catholic and Protestant, favored the most cruel superstitions, such as witchcraft, and for centuries tried to suppress every scientific discovery that heresy regarding its infallibility and inerrancy still made in some of our pulpits that makes the Protestant uneasy regarding the essential stability of his faith.
