

REGISTRARS FOR LONDON CHOSEN

Names Will Be Published When Election Districts Are Assigned.

Announcement of registration officers appointed to conduct the registration of voters for the coming federal elections is expected within the next couple of days according to Gordon H. Tennent, returning officer for London who with Benjamin F. Watterworth, election clerk, is busily engaged at the present time in completing arrangements for the polling of the vote here on Oct. 29.

Registration officers have practically all been decided upon, but the task of assigning them to their several districts is not yet complete. This may be finished by tomorrow or the day following, whereupon the names of those selected will be given out for publication.

TRADES COUNCIL TO DONATE CUPS

Labor Day Committee Appreciates Co-operation of Union Locals.

So pleased were the members of the labor day committee of the Trades and Labor council with the showing of the fire fighters' and the brewery workers' unions in the parade on Monday that it was decided at a special meeting last night to present a cup to each of the locals.

Pointing out that both unions turned out one hundred per cent, Secretary J. F. Thomson said that the labor day committee was eager to show appreciation of the co-operation given and so added an extra cup to the list.

Votes of thanks for the aid given by the chamber of commerce, the women's labor party, Labatt's and the firms and union men who played a part on the program were also passed at the meeting.

HOME BANK CLAIMS ARE ALL BEING MET

Only Delay Is Where Re-assignment From Other Banks Is Necessary.

Formalities surrounding the paying of the 35 per cent (second) dividend on Home Bank deposits are being concluded with little difficulty, according to G. L. Pearson, manager of the market branch of the Bank of Montreal, who is in charge of district disbursements.

While the majority of the claims on deposits under $500 have presented no trouble in the way of settlement, a little delay has been encountered where depositors have presented claims which were assigned to other banks before the extent of the first dividend was announced.

Explaining that the bank must take the procedure of having these claims re-assigned to their original holders before the dividends can be paid, Mr. Pearson gives assurance that this procedure is a necessary formality and is not an indication of a snag in the matter of making payments. "There is not the slightest doubt of all just claims being met," he declares.

BEECHER UNITED CHURCH WILL REOPEN SUNDAY

The renovation of Beecher church (formerly First Congregational) has now been completed and the auditorium is looking its best. Re-opening services are planned for next Sunday, Sept. 12. The new pastor, Rev. C. S. Miller, M.A., B.D., will preside and preach at both services. The morning service will be by Mr. Harold Carter, baritone; in the evening Mr. Russell Stielk will render a violin solo, and Miss Myrtle Jones, contralto, will sing. A strong chorus choir will assist in these services, with Mr. J. J. Fitzgerald presiding at the organ.

HOTEL STOCK CAPTAINS PLANNING FOR DRIVE

Businessmen and Service Club Members Hear Soundness of Proposition.

INFORMAL DINNER

Shareholders May Operate Hotel If Four Dividends Fail, Meeting Told.

A meeting of representative businessmen and members of London's service clubs was held last evening, at which plans for the campaign to raise funds for London's new hotel were gone into. The meeting took the form of an informal dinner in the dining-room of the Smallman & Ingram store.

Following the dinner some excellent talks on the advantages accruing from the erection of the proposed hotel were given. H. Trainor, president of the Lynch Construction Company, gave a short talk on the responsibility and the shareholding shouldered by his company in contracting for the hotel.

Mr. Trainor's remarks, coupled with the fact that a man of financial standing who has offered to invest $200,000 for the privilege of operating the hotel, a proposition which his stock cannot yield a dividend until the preferred shareholders get theirs. A further guarantee is included in the statement of agreement, which states explicitly that should the operator of the hotel let the hotel to any other person, he shall be liable for the full amount of the investment.

Architect Director Speaks. W. A. Lyman, a director of the arm of architects which will be in charge of the planning and supervision of the building, also spoke. He outlined the plan and square measure in which the whole proposition has been put before the public and explained the reasons for the committee on the wholehearted way in which the citizens approved the transfer of properties which will make the hotel possible.

In his discussion, Mr. Lyman was questioned as to why some hotels had been reported as non-paying. In reply to this, Mr. Lyman pointed out that there is a nice balance between the amount of money that can be spent on the revenue-producing parts of a hotel, principally the rooms and the other purely decorative and public galleries of a hotel. He explained further that where a firm of architects such as the firm he represented specialized in the erection of hotels, they are in a position to build a hotel which would not be lost in a structure top-heavy with unproductive decoration.

Will Be Money-Maker.

Using hotel figures gathered from his books of six hotels, which his company had designed, he showed conclusively that the proposed hotel would be a revenue producer, and a producer in which the preferred shareholders will be the first to benefit by any revenue brought in, and one in which their investment is protected absolutely.

The captains for the different stock-selling teams in the forthcoming campaign were instructed in their duties and will meet for the selection of the teams in the chamber of commerce offices at 8 o'clock tonight.

Lantern Starts Gasoline Fire

A light touring car, owned by T. Dey, was damaged about 3 o'clock this morning by flames when a lantern ignited the gas tank. The car was being filled at the Universal garage, when the fumes of the gasoline exploded. A lantern, sitting nearby, was the cause of the explosion. The firemen put the fire out, after considerable damage had been done to the car.

PERMITS $57,000 IN SINGLE WEEK

Construction Figures Show Lull Usually Experienced in Fall.

Construction values in London for the first week of September amount to $57,110, which represents a total of 45 permits. Since the first of the month erection of ten new houses has been authorized and a dozen new garages are going up.

The year's good record of buildings is falling off some now and permits are largely for repair jobs and extensions. This is explained as being the usual autumnal lull and building inspection officials are hopeful that the 1925 total will be as great as that for last year.

"After all it's our job to see that construction is according to requirements," declared Building Inspector T. C. McBride. "It isn't to boost construction at all costs. We aren't interested in statistics, we want good buildings."

LITTLE HOSPITAL FOLK WOULD LIKE MORE JAMS

War Memorial Hospital Committee Will Meet in October.

Jam that is sweet, delicious and sticky, and most of all, homemade, is the plea of the little folk in the War Memorial Children's Hospital. Miss Jones, the supervisor, is calling attention to the fact that the supplies in the larder are diminishing and contributions would be gratefully received especially during fair week. Up until this year friends in the city and country have been most generous and it is hoped that their kindness will continue this year.

It has been announced that a meeting of the executive of the hospital during the last week in September by the chairman, Mrs. Arthur Smith, and on the first Friday in October the general meeting will be held.

While the rainfall during last night's storm was but .016 of an inch, it was more than welcome to district farmers. R. A. Finn of the department of agriculture state.

"The rain wasn't much in itself, but coupled with other recent showers, it has helped make the land receptive for fall wheat," said Mr. Finn.

Locally the lightning was quite severe, but no damage to hydro service was reported by E. W. Buchanan of the public utilities company. Hydro in some parts of Westminister township was off for a short time early this morning, the damage being located by 8 o'clock.

AMUNDSEN TO FLY AIRSHIP OVER POLE

Explorer Buys Semi-Rigid Ship From Italy For Polar Flight.

Oslo, Norway, Sept. 9.—Lieutenant Hjalmar Riiser-Larsen, who piloted one of the two aeroplanes in which Raald Amundsen made his recent attempt to reach the North Pole, tonight gave details of Amundsen's plans for a new attempt next year to fly across the pole. Lieut. Riiser-Larsen made his statement at a meeting of the Norwegian Aero club in the absence of Captain Amundsen, who was indisposed.

The aviator said that Captain Amundsen had purchased the semi-rigid airship N-1 from the Italian government for £15,000. Next year's expedition, Lieut. Riiser-Larsen said, would consist of Captain Amundsen, Lincoln Ellsworth, the co-leader of this year's expedition, who has obtained half the capital necessary for next year's flight in the United States, the Italian, Lieut-Col. Nobile, the builder of the airship N-1; Lieut. Riiser-Larsen, Lieut. Dietrichsen and Oskar Omdal. On the year's expedition, Emil Horgen, a reserve pilot, who accompanied Amundsen as far north as Spitzbergen, and Amundsen's brother, Gustav, will be included.

Besides these, Lieut. Riiser-Larsen said, there will be a staff of mechanical, of whom several will be Italian, and wireless operators also will be included.

Lieut. Riiser-Larsen said that when the airship makes the polar flight she will be named Norway and will fly the Norwegian flag. The airship, he said, is to start from Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, and is to fly across the pole to Nome, Alaska.

Mooring masts will be built at Tromsø, Norway, and at Kings Bay. The airship will be ready about Christmas and trials will begin after New Year's. If the trials are successful, Lieut. Riiser-Larsen asserted, the Norwegian members of the expedition will go to Rome for training. If they are not successful, Amundsen is not bound to purchase the airship, his colleagues said.

ROADS IN GOOD SHAPE FOR WESTERN FAIR

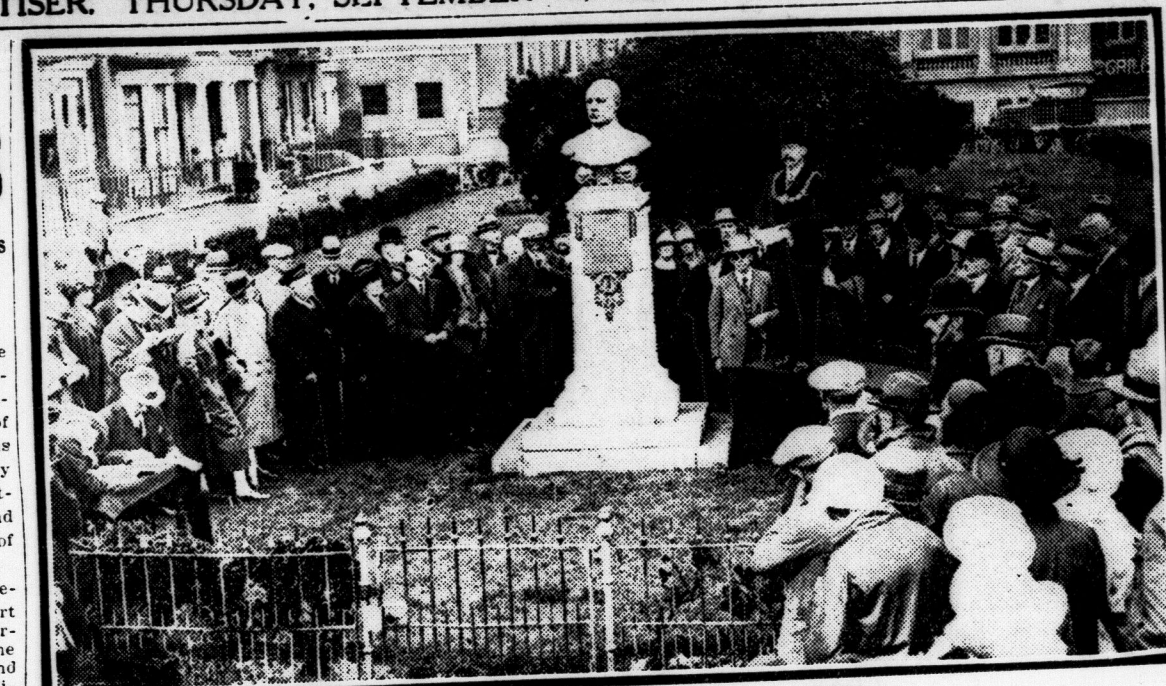

Few Miles of Sarnia Gravel, West of Currie Road, the Only Exception.

Middlesex county roads are in excellent shape for Western Fair traffic with the exception of a 2½-mile stretch on the Sarnia gravel road west of the Currie road, County Engineer Talbot states.

"All the roads are in good condition except this particular strip on the Sarnia road," said Mr. Talbot. "The trouble has been that the farmers have been busy with their crops and haven't had much time to devote to the road work. It looks to me as if the foreman W. J. McChesney was falling down on the job but this will be rectified."

Many Exhibits In Place For Western Fair Opening

Park Takes on Gala Appearance With Arrival of Tents and Booths.

DAIRY DISPLAY LARGE

Preparations for the opening of the Western Fair are moving apace. The grounds at Queen's Park have become a veritable beehive of industry. Not only are the houses exhibits being placed rapidly, but the concessionaires who form the tented population of the fair are moving to the grounds, and the park is taking on a gala appearance.

The huge floodlights introduced this year for the first time will be tested out this evening on the stage before the grand stand. The lights are placed on the upright pillars of the stand immediately under the overhang of the roof. They are of a permanent nature, and the fixtures can be left in place from year to year. Formerly all the stage lighting had to be dismantled, to allow the moving back of the stage after the fair.

Some of the larger live stock exhibitors have reached town, and are making preliminary arrangements for the de-training of their stock and its housing in the allotted space in the rejuvenated horse and cattle barns.

The government displays in agriculture are nearing completion in the process building, and with the installation of the model postoffice the exhibits in this building will be complete. An interesting display by manufacturers of dairy equipment is being set up in the dairy building, and the size of this exhibit, now only half in place, already exceeds that of former years.

Besides these, Lieut. Riiser-Larsen said, there will be a staff of mechanical, of whom several will be Italian, and wireless operators also will be included.

FALL AND PNEUMONIA CAUSE GREEN'S DEATH

Former London Resident Succumbs in Toronto—Funeral To Be Held Here.

Two brothers, John C. Green and Harry E. W. Green, both of Toronto, and one sister, Mrs. W. A. Reid of Montreal, survive him.

Funeral services will be conducted in Toronto tomorrow. His remains will be forwarded to his city of interment, which will take place in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

MINNESOTA CORN BELT SPREADS TO BORDER

Increasing Interest in Growing of Corn in the Northern States.

Recent reports from St. Paul and Minneapolis indicate an increasing interest in the growing of corn in the state of Minnesota. In the past, Americans have been slow to realize that the harder varieties of corn can be grown in the northern states even easier than it can be produced in Canada. It is only during the past ten years that the corn belt of Minnesota has spread northward, and this year's state fair, now in progress, is featuring different varieties of corn which have been found suitable in the northern portion of the state.

The growing of sweet corn for canning purposes is receiving even more attention than the coarser field varieties. The expansion of the corn area in Minnesota is likely to be followed by the attempt to grow the fodder varieties at least in Montana. It is interesting to note that while the corn-growing possibilities of Minnesota are just now becoming felt in the agriculture of the state, an early treatise on American agriculture touches the matter in a reference to the early missionary work there. One missionary who penetrated as far as Lake Calhoun before the advent of the westward drive of settlement speaks of one Indian farmer who annually harvested between 300 and 400 bushels of corn, or maize, which were properly termed at that time.

LIONS TO MEET AT CORN ROAST

Weekly Dinner Abandoned in Favor of Outing at Pond Mills.

Fun will temporarily displace business tonight when members of the local Lions club will forsake their weekly dinner and business meeting for a corn roast at the Pond Mills summer home of Club Dr. H. A. Stevenson.

No speakers are scheduled for the social, but an informal report of the band stand committee's decision to delay the club's project until after the Western Fair, is expected to be given. President J. C. Gillanders pointed out that the prominence of the new hotel question overshadowed for the present the Lions' scheme to erect a modern band stand in Victoria Park, and with the Western Fair also in the offing it was deemed advisable to lay over further campaigning until the late fall or early winter.

The present disturbance among city bands also tends to make the time inopportune for the boosting of the band stand.

LONDON DETECTIVES LED TO STOLEN CAR

John Atkinson Taken Back to Hagersville to Answer Theft Charge.

John Atkinson, who was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of stealing a car belonging to A. S. Blinn of Hagersville, was returned to that place today to face trial. Atkinson was arrested on the Hamilton road by Detectives Down and Walsh, after the Hamilton police had wired of the theft.

When caught, Atkinson denied the theft, but later admitted it, and led the police up a sideroad, where he had hidden the stolen car.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1925.

Money at Lower Rates.

Hon. J. A. Robb has announced a new Canadian loan of $70,000,000, on a 15-year basis at 4½ per cent, to be sold at 97½, so that the yield will be about 4.75 per cent to the investor. This loan does not mean that the government is increasing the amount it has borrowed, but it is for the purpose of discharging other maturing loans, among others $42,014,500 issued in 1915 at a rate that cost the government 5½ per cent. The new loan represents a saving in interest on this of the difference between 5½ per cent and 4½ per cent, or three-quarters of one per cent, making $315,000 per annum during the life of the loan. The other amounts maturing will be resold at a similar saving in interest.

Although this loan made its appearance only a day ago bankers and brokers are certain that it will be oversold quickly. There is plenty of money in the country and that accounts for the fact that it is available on good security at 4½ to 5 per cent on an investment that will run for some years. The manner in which Canadian people have absorbed Canadian loans is also evidence of their faith in the security of their own land. True, the loan has the backing of the government, but back of that must stand the stability and thrift of the country itself, otherwise there would be no such thing as government security.

Money on a fairly low level may not be a desirable thing for the man who has great sums of it to loan, and who naturally wants to get a high rate for it, but it is a good thing for business development, for building operations and for financing generally. It encourages the carrying out of plans for extension and for opening new fields of trade. The manner in which money is coming forth at 4½ per cent interest is a distinctly favorable symptom.

Sir Henry Knows He's Wrong.

Sir Henry Drayton explains that no "direct action" of the King government can be credited with the return of the Canadian dollar to par. What does Sir Henry mean by direct action? Does he hold that the government could pass an order-in-council or a resolution stating that the Canadian dollar must henceforth be accepted as worth 100 cents on the New York market?

Sir Henry knows as well as any one else that the Canadian dollar returned to its high standing because the country has reached the stage where it is exporting more than it imports. In 1921 Canada was in the position of a merchant who was trying to do business on the basis of buying $29,000,000 more than he sold. The result was that the Canadian dollar was discounted as much as 17 per cent in New York. At the close of the last fiscal year, March 31, 1925, Canada had a favorable trade balance; she sold $272,000,000 more than she bought, and the dollar came back to par.

If the King government made conditions such that business could expand, if it sent its trade scouts out to open new markets where Canadian goods and produce could be absorbed, if it made it easier for those who are producing natural wealth to do so, then it made a worthy contribution to the restoration of the Canadian dollar.

There has certainly never been anything in all the woe-filled utterances of Sir Henry Drayton to cause the Canadian dollar to bud a fraction from the lowly position it occupied when he was holding cabinet rank at Ottawa.

The Mayor Should Buck Up.

What's gone wrong with the mayor? At times it looks as though he had quit pounding on the pine table and is now given to tapping his finger on a mahogany desk to register annoyance.

At the last council meeting the mayor favored writing a letter to the street railway. He wouldn't have it one of those stand-up-and-deliver documents, but a nice friendly sort of letter such as a favorite nephew might write to a rich bachelor uncle. Here would be the tone of the epistle from the mayor's own remarks: "To ask them to submit a proposition to us, as to whether they want to sell or want a new agreement. . . . Let's find out what kind of an agreement they want, find out what they'll do. . . . We can't get any place by demanding, so let's try it from another angle. We shall get their slant and then go to work on it. . . . Let's get some information from them as to what they want."

A letter like that would never cause Manager Tait of the street railway to call out the troops, because his company has been used to getting heavier missiles from his worship. It wouldn't cause any surprise if Leonard Tait remarked, as he read such a letter, "Well, he's not the bold, rough man he used to be."

It is just possible that the street railway have in their possession clippings from the campaign literature of the year when Mr. Wenige won the mayoralty election. At that time, 1921, he was breathing out mutterings against the street railway company. In one case he advertised:

"The street railway company doesn't like Wenige, and doesn't want to see him elected mayor for 1922. It's good business on their part."

Perhaps there was some truth in that, for was it not Mayor Wenige the crusader who swooped down on their earnings and camped there until the company cried "kamerad" and the scales of justice tipped toward the city's side? No wonder the street railway would vote nay, nay on the ballot that bore his name.

Nor had he hung up the sawed-off musket in 1923, for in his inaugural address that year he said:

"May I suggest here that the 1923 council establish a record for themselves by forcing the street railway company to live up to its agreement as provided in the bylaw 916. I do not believe it advisable to handle this situation any longer with gloves on. I believe the time has arrived when it is up to the council to force the issue."

Mayor Wenige was still the untamed warrior in 1923. There were to be no harvester mitts, automobile gauntlets or kid gloves worn when handling the street railway situation. It was a case of standing in a four-foot ring, bare fists, and may the best man win.

What's caused the change in the mayor? He would be content today to have a letter sent to them asking what requests they would care to make; he admits "we can't get it by demanding, so let's try from another angle." On the letter there would be nothing but a two-cent stamp and the address—no skull and cross-bones painted on the flap, no "P. D. Q." written in the left-hand corner.

Mr. Mayor, beware of this drift toward diplomacy, or some day you'll be wearing spats and putting perfume on your handkerchief.

Genius May Be Only Hard Work.

There are not many families where at some time or other the children do not get some sort of a chance at music. There must be thousands who are working away at the piano, or striving to master the piano, or studying to produce pleasing tones from the violin, yet in how few cases do we produce from these thousands of pupils a finished musician.

Parents have the feeling that their children should "have some music," and therefore they get them started. It makes little difference whether the child is musical or not, there must be a certain time given over to practice each day, the teacher must be paid, and the reason is that the child will find it very nice in after years to be able to play a little.

But nearly all the great musicians continue to come from Europe, and we conclude that they are more musical than we are, that they have a peculiar temperament that we do not possess. That may be true in part, but only a very small part. The truth is that they take their music seriously, whereas we regard it as a sideline. The world's greatest performers invariably started very early in life; they were in a very real sense dedicated to music by their parents.

Instead of an hour a day they spent hours each day at their work; it was not an accomplishment, but the serious aim and purpose of a life; not mere excellence of technique, but complete mastery of compelling interpretation. That is why they became great, and it is the reason why we labelled their years of hard work as genius.

We do produce many very fair musicians, to whom the measure of skill they have attained is a delightful accomplishment, but as things stand today we will not develop many great musicians on this continent, because commerce, industry, business and the careers they offer have a quicker and more definite answer to the serious business of making a living.

The Ryerson Press, Toronto, will shortly publish in book form a number of poems by J. H. McIntyre of London, who is a valued contributor to the columns of The Advertiser under the signature of "Mack." The name chosen for the book is Maple Leaves and Sprigs of Heather, indicative of the contents, which will be in English and also in the Scottish dialect of which "Mack" is past master. The Advertiser hopes that the venture may be entirely successful and that "Mack" finds it necessary to sanction second and third editions with substantial royalties on each.

The Great Season

Begone the croaker with his song about bright days that won't come back, just tilt your nose and smell the whiff of catsup and of apple-jack.

Some person's wrote a letter in to tell us that the fall is near, and quotes a bit about the time when meadows will be brown and sear. He sings a sad lament, he does, and tunes his harp in sobby key, on how the fall and winter blast will smite the spines of you and me.

He hasn't got the point of view that cheers a fellow on his way, why should he pucker up his face to chant a doleful sort of lay?

Why, we are livin' right just now in times when men should happy be, when they should blow the old trombone and rasp it in a merry key.

For months we have been going along with jaded looks upon the cheek, and livin' in a torrid zone that blistered us each day and week. And we have picked at scanty meals and done the very best we could, but all the same there was no vim when stokin' up our daily food.

But now all this has passed away, we're sniffin' in the air just now, the scent as comes from out the place where they be cannin' down chow-chow.

I walk upon the village street and fragrant sniffs come out to me, and tell me of the catsup plot and happy days that are to be.

And as I turn the corner there from out a humble little shack, I smell a smell that says as how they're bollin' down the apple-jack. Ah, joyous season that it is when loved ones buy great gobs of spice, and plan for days of cold and sleet when whiskers carry cakes of ice.

There's some what rave about the trees and of the glories that they see, but to the hungry soul about these beauties take their wings and flee. Far more abiding in its way, and makin' up for beauty's loss, there waits upon the autumn air the sniff of spiced-up chili sauce.—ARK.

To the Editor

Armageddon Here.

Editor of The Advertiser: Sir,—I think the word "armageddon" is little understood, for the only thing to which we ever heard it applied was to the great war. As a matter of fact we are living in an age of armageddon. It may have applied in the first place to a battlefield in Palestine, but Roosevelt saw the force in the word when he applied it to his Progressive movement.

We see it all around today, things that are big colossal, unprecedented, conveying the idea of immensity. This is the day of great things, great institutions, great structures, all on the line of immensity; great fortunes running into millions, big business combines, and we even see it in some of the activities carried on in the churches. I have before me a paper from Los Angeles telling of the Sunday services in the Angelus temple, where a $100,000 over the top jubilee campaign is scheduled for 10 a.m. At 2:30 a festival of music; every available instrument is to be on hand. The climax will be a concert known will be an illustrated sermon, during which Miss McPherson will recount her narrow escape from death in a plane crash, a thrilling ride on the clouds and her reception in Los Angeles. You see, even the churches have caught the idea. Big, bigger, bigger. Yes, we are in an age of armageddon all through.

STARVED HEARTS

By MILDRED BARBOUR.

CONCERNING THE ACTION AND THE CHARACTERS.

STEPHEN LAINE, wealthy, middle-aged, despotic, rules with a tyrant hand his young wife.

BARBARA, who sold herself into a loveless marriage, and MADELONE, his beautiful orphaned niece, whose father's marriage he had opposed some twenty years before and whose guardianship now devolves upon him. He broke up her boy-and-girl affairs with DUANE FARLEY, Farley turned for sympathy to Barbara, who, unknown to Farley, fell in love with him. Lane, sent abroad, wife business and professional ruin as the only alternative.

JULIAN BARTON, Madelon's real love, whose suit was sponsored by ANN ORDWAY, lifelong family friend, who loved Lane deeply, despite his faults, but whose lack of beauty kept her unnoticed by him. Lane sends Barbara and Madelon to California, where the latter meets

HOWARD CHANDLER, fascinating, and marries him to escape Lane's tyranny.

CHAPTER LXIV.

An Unheralded Guest.

It didn't take Viola Maitland long to show her hand, once she was convinced that Lane did not intend to marry her.

Whether or not she guessed what had caused his disillusionment and his withdrawal from his engagement, she acted with promptness and despatch. Her lawyer was ready to meet Lane's obviously prepared for battle.

There was a curious irony in the workings of Fate which made it necessary for Lane to wait for the docking of the ship, bearing Julian Barton homeward after so many years.

Lane was experiencing many new sensations these days. . . . For the first time in his life, he was dependent on the whim of another and that one, a man who had every reason to hate him and refuse to aid him.

It was a bitter pill for Lane to swallow, this asking Barton for services, but he had been advised by more than one local lawyer to trust the settlement of his difficulties to the brilliant young attorney, who had brought to a triumphant close a series of such cases.

Madelon now nothing of the state of affairs. Ann had been bound to secrecy by Lane himself. So Madelon was left to wonder at the sudden sharp termination of Miss Maitland's visits, at her uncle's reticence with regard to the marriage which she anticipated.

No one told her of Julian Barton's expected return. No psychic strings, expected return. No psychic strings, expected return. No psychic strings, expected return.

She spent the spring days playing in the garden with little Stephen, digging in the fresh earth, pruning bud and blossom in preparation for a summer of flowering.

She took her new-found work out under the trees and dream away long drowsy afternoons, while the little boy played at her feet, and together they were happy.

She dreamed, strangely enough, he uttered no criticism. He had become curiously gentle of late.

"I am starting for New York this afternoon, Madelon," he said. "I shall return at the week-end."

Her eyes widened. "You're not going to be married?"

"Oh," she breathed, "you're not going to be married?"

He smiled grimly. "Hardly. My plans have changed."

She gasped. "Surely Miss Maitland . . ."

"Miss Maitland has nothing to do with it," he said shortly.

He turned and laid his hand on little Stephen's head.

"Be good, son. Do as Aunt Madelon tells you, while I am gone."

Was this Stephen Lane, the ears. Was this Stephen Lane, the ears. Was this Stephen Lane, the ears.

He smiled grimly. "Hardly. My plans have changed."

She gasped. "Surely Miss Maitland . . ."

"Miss Maitland has nothing to do with it," he said shortly.

NEW LOAN MEETS SPLENDID DEMAND

Canadian Investors Eager To Buy 15-Year Bonds of Government.

Special to The Advertiser.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—The first day of public offering of the new Dominion loan points to another immediate success. Offerings of the bonds commenced at 9 o'clock today, and before noon it was stated by members of the syndicate that the demand by those first approached was even stronger than in the case of last year's refunding loan. Banks, institutions and others had apparently been awaiting an official announcement that the government's financial program would result in a Canadian loan, and were prompt to place orders.

Members of the syndicate believe that the loan is being just as eagerly sought as those of previous years. Not only was the institutional demand strong, but the private investor reports gathered in Toronto and from outside points indicate that all classes of investors have been quick to respond to the initial announcement.

Adjustment Commission Appointed To Investigate Employees' Grievances.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—The establishment of a board of adjustment on the Canadian National Railways to deal with grievances or disputes not otherwise adjustable from the application of wages and working conditions schedules, as affecting clerical, station, shop, shed, roundhouse and similar classes of employees, was made public today by representatives of the employees.

The new board is similar in constitution to that of adjustment, No. 1, which has been functioning for a number of years in connection with grievances of conductors, engineers, firemen, trainmen, maintenance of way employees and others.

Under the agreement just signed by representatives of the railways and the employees, the new board will be composed of eight members, four from the railways management and four from the employees.

The board will hold office for six months' term, and will be selected alternately from the new board of adjustment, and the employees' management and the employees' management and the employees' management.

The personnel of the new board of adjustment will likely be announced within a few days, and, according to the agreement, will meet within 15 days after appointment.

BABY USED TO CRY ALL NIGHT

Pimples on Face and Limbs. Cuticura Heals.

"Pimples broke out on the side of my baby's face and later on her limbs. They itched something terrible and she would not stop scratching them. I tried to scrub her with soap and water, but it only made her more irritated. Her clothing aggravated the breaking out on her limbs and she used to cry about all night."

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I purchased more, and after using one and a half boxes of Ointment and one box of Soap she was healed."

Buster Bear Misses the Mushrooms That Were Hidden By Chatterer

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

It was two or three days after Buster Bear's discovery of the mushroom tree of Chatterer the Red Squirrel before he thought of it again. The mushroom tree was, you know, a tree in which Chatterer the Red Squirrel was storing up mushrooms to dry that he might have them in the winter. Buster had discovered that tree quite by accident, and he had made up his mind that he would have one grand feast of mushrooms the last thing before he went to sleep for the winter. He felt quite sure that he would find those mushrooms right there when he went back to get them. He knew that Chatterer would not eat them until winter. They were to be a part of Chatterer's winter food supply.

The first time that Buster happened to be over near where that tree was growing, he, of course, thought of it. "I may as well have a look at it," said he. "By this time Chatterer ought to have many more mushrooms hung up to dry. I hope he has. They certainly will taste good. And when I have a thing that tastes good, I want a lot of it. My, it makes me hungry just to think of those mushrooms. It will be hard to wait until that last meal."

Buster shuffled along through the Green Forest toward that tree. When he came to it, he sat up and looked up into it, all the time licking his lips. Then he stopped licking his lips. He blinked his little eyes. You know, Buster has little eyes for such a big fellow. Then he rubbed his little eyes. He rubbed them two or three times. Something was wrong; either something was wrong with his eyes or he was looking up in the wrong tree. Not a mushroom was to be seen. No, sir, not a mushroom was to be seen. He walked all around the tree. It certainly looked like the right tree. Still, perhaps he was mistaken. He would look at the other trees. He did. He looked at one after another. In not one was there so much as a piece of a mushroom.

"This is queer," muttered Buster. "That noisy little rascal has taken all those mushrooms away and hid-rooms? Now that they are gone I want them more than ever."

Then an idea popped into Buster's head. He remembered that Chatterer had seen him looking up at those mushrooms. In fact, Chatterer had called him bad names—the very worst names he could think of. He guessed now what had happened.

"That noisy little rascal has taken all those mushrooms away and hidden them," muttered Buster. "He must have guessed that I was planning to get them. That is what he must have done. My, I must have those mushrooms. He thinks he's smart, but I'll show him that he can't fool Buster Bear. No, sir, he can't fool Buster Bear. I guess he can't find them. He has got to put them up where they'll dry. That means that he can't hide them away in a hollow tree as he would acorns or nuts. They would spoil hidden away have put them up in another tree somewhere, and all I have to do is look around until I find that tree. That ought not to be a very difficult thing to do."

So Buster started off, looking up in all the trees for mushrooms. By and by his neck began to ache. You see that it made his neck ache. And he discovered that the Green Forest had a great many trees. He hadn't realized how many trees there were in the Green Forest. There were big trees and little trees, and middle-sized trees. Buster began to doubt that it would be so easy to find those mushrooms.

FIELD DAY HELD AT WESTMINSTER

Psychopathic Hospital Is Scene
Yesterday of Many Interesting Events.

FLOWER SHOW HELD

Flag-bedecked buildings flanking borders of flowers yesterday formed a colorful setting for the fourth annual field day sports of the Westminster Psychopathic Hospital. It was a day long to be remembered by the members of the staff, the patients and those who attended from London and the vicinity. The 29 events were run off without delay to the delight of the crowd.

Field day at Westminster is something more than a fine card of athletic events, for out of that first sports day held four years ago have come other things. Officials and patients have formed a horticultural association of their own. They take great pride in surrounding their buildings with beautiful blooms, and yesterday they held their annual show.

Then, again, it was a day for receptions to visitors. Many who came to see the games found the hospitable staff ready to show the friends of Westminster through the buildings.

Tea was served in the administration building of the hospital under the supervision of Miss C. H. Ross, matron. Miss M. Harley, dietitian, the nurses and ward aids.

In the occupational therapy department there was a display of work done by the patients.

These and many other attractions showed the broadening influences which had arisen out of the co-operation of the staff and patients and the many friends of the hospital.

Among those who were present was Col. Gartshore, who, though scarcely recovered from his recent illness, made it a point to attend, and took his place among the crowds that lined the course.

Generous donations from citizens and firms in and about London insured splendid prizes for all of the 29 events and added greatly to the success of the day.

DR. RANKIN WINS PLACE IN SENATE

Popular Member Rewarded by Premier For Long Service To Country.

Special to The Advertiser
by a Staff Correspondent.

Stratford, Sept. 9.—Announcement was made at the North Perth Liberal convention in Milverton this afternoon, that Dr. J. P. Rankin, M.P., North Perth, had been appointed to the senate, filling the third Ontario vacancy. The message came in a telegram from Premier MacKenzie King, and the news was reached by the delegates with enthusiasm.

The telegram came to Dr. P. F.
Quinlan, president of the Liberal association, and read as follows:
"You are authorized to announce to the Liberal convention this afternoon that the intention of the government to appoint Dr. Rankin to the senate is being carried out. Official announcement will be forthcoming from Ottawa immediately. On behalf of my colleagues, the government, myself, and the members of the Liberal Party, please extend to Dr. Rankin hearty congratulations on this well-merited recognition of long and faithful service in the public life of the country. (Signed)— MacKenzie King."

Honorable Career.

Dr. Rankin has had a long and honorable career in politics, and is withal one of the most popular members of the present government party. He first accepted the Liberal nomination in 1905, and was successfully defeating J. P. Maybee. The government went to the country in 1911 on the reciprocity issue and Dr.
Rankin, gallantly fought a losing fight as a Liberal candidate in this riding, being defeated by Hugh Morphy, K.C.

Again in 1917, when the Union
government came to the country, Dr.
Rankin was the Liberal candidate,
and was again defeated by Mr.
Morphy. When the Meighen government went to the country in 1921, Dr. Rankin again led the Liberal forces in North Perth and overwhelmingly defeated the Conservative member, H. B. Morphy. He has since that election been a faithful member of the government forces, and has been a regular attendant in the house.

For some time his name has been mentioned as a possible senate appointee, and announcement of his appointment was confidently expected on Saturday. No word came until this morning, when he received private word that he had been appointed, and notice that official notice would come to the convention.

Born in Oxford.

Dr. Rankin was born in the township of East Zorra, Oxford county, in 1855. He attended school in Tavistock, and later, university and medical school. He took postgraduate work in Edinburgh, obtaining a degree there. For some time after returning to Canada, he practiced in Tavistock and in Toronto, but for the past 30 years he has been a practising physician in Stratford.

Dr. Rankin holds the rank of lieutenant-colonel in the Canadian Army medical corps, and was medical officer of the Perth regiment for 20 years.

TWO MORE VACANCIES.

Ottawa, Sept. 9.—The appointment to the senate of Dr. J. P. Rankin, who represented the constituency of North Perth in the house of commons during the last parliament, was officially confirmed tonight. Dr.
Rankin was first elected to parliament in 1905, defeated in 1911 and 1917, but re-elected in 1921.

Dr. Rankin's appointment makes the n. th senatorial appointment made by the government within the past few days. Two more vacancies in the senate remain to be filled, one for New Brunswick, to succeed the late Senator George Fowler, and the other in Manitoba, to succeed the late Senator George Bradbury, who died here on Sunday last.

Several names are mentioned for the New Brunswick vacancy, including that of Hon. Walter Foster, former premier of that province, while Dr. J. P. Molloy, former Liberal member for Provencher, Man., is rumored as the likely appointee for Manitoba.

SEES NO INDICATION
OF EUROPEAN WARHal O'Flaherty Finds Progress
in All Countries of Old World.

One of the London Advertiser's best known foreign correspondents is Hal O'Flaherty, who writes for The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News. The following interview with Mr. O'Flaherty, appearing in Editor and Publisher, indicates something of the breadth of view, ability and sense of humor found in the men who represent Advertiser readers in Europe.

By PHILIP SCHUYLER.
Europe is progressing on pacific wings.

Thus, in figurative language, Hal O'Flaherty, European manager of the Chicago Daily News foreign service, this week described his view of the current continental situation.

In an interview in New York, prior to returning to his London post after a leave of absence in this country, he discounted jingo news despatches from the European capitals; made light of the so-called communist menace, and expressed his opinion that commercial progress towards prosperity was the present dominant tone in countries across the sea.

European nations are not now walking with the war chip on their shoulders, was the impression O'Flaherty gave. Military preparations described in news despatches are defensive and no more aggressive than the summer training camps.

"There is no cause for fearing that Europe is heading towards a new war," O'Flaherty said. "True, France is building mammoth aerodromes and improving fortifications along the northern boundary. On the face of it, this fact looks threatening. It could be interpreted as preparation for another war."

No Fear of War.
"France, however, feels it is a perfectly normal procedure to build these aerodromes. The French government is seeking to assist the evolution of commercial aviation, just as is the United States government."

"The British take the same viewpoint. Statesmen to my knowledge, have not expressed themselves as particularly frightened by such normal development of air forces."

"Of course the view is possible, and has been expressed, that all this activity in commercial aeroplane development is merely a cloak hiding militaristic preparations for future wars, but, in my belief, it is an opinion prone to over-emphasis."

"As a matter of fact, all Europe, but particularly Great Britain, wants trade more than anything else. The dominant tone abroad is pacific and commercial."

"British leaders want to see Germany brought back to a state of normalcy. They want to see trade routes, closed by the war, put into shape again."

"As for the propaganda which emanates on occasion from Paris to the effect that Germany is secreting arms and is building up a large army, this is grossly exaggerated. Any dinky factory, equipped to turn out munitions, is made to look as if it were a threat to the French. Germany is totally unprepared to wage war."

Mr. O'Flaherty's opinion was sought regarding the "red terror," frequent and convenient headline words in a section of the world press, which has adopted a policy of playing up the so-called "communist menace."

The analogy he drew in reply was to the methods used by certain labor agitators in a strike town any violation of law-breaking is liable to be laid to the door of strikers by one of the reporter class, whether or not the occurrence has any connection with the walkout.

Meets Difficulties.
"Thus in Europe," he said, "the tendency is to cry 'holocaust' at any violent labor, political, or social disturbance. It is better nine times out of ten to discount the importance of sinister qualities of the so-called communist influence."

For eight years O'Flaherty's job has been to get behind old world news, interpret it, explain it, and give historical and personal background for American and Canadian consumption. He is well acquainted with the history-making players and the checkerboard changes of European conditions of the past decade, which to many on this side are mere names and words. Yet he says:

"The romance and excitement have been taken out of newspaper work abroad. A correspondent's position has reached a point where it is largely a matter of routine. He stays at one post more than was the case a few years ago."

"But, even with the declining interest, the work still attracts and grips one. I would rather be a foreign correspondent than to hold any other position on a newspaper."

Countless difficulties stand in the way of correct news reporting in the Chicago Daily News man. The danger of propaganda was easily faced and overcome by the men trained in new methods, he said, and declared news methods for exact writing was by far the most important factor.

TRANSFERRED TO KINGSTON.
Windsor, Sept. 9.—Word reached Windsor today of the appointment of R. G. H. Travers, manager of the branch of the Royal Bank of Canada at Walkerville, as manager of the branch of that bank at Kingston.

As Officer Away On Fishing Trip

Canadian Press Despatch.
Windsor, Sept. 9.—Because motor-cycle officer Reginald O'Neil was absent from the city on a fishing trip, the preliminary hearing of the murder charge against Arthur Janisse of Lasalle, accused of slaying Clayton McMullin, Windsor businessman, was again adjourned for eight days.

DETROIT RACE WAR
SEES ONE KILLED,Several Narrowly Escape Death
As Negroes Fire On Whites.

Special to The Advertiser.
Detroit, Mich., Sept. 9.—One white man was shot and instantly killed, and another wounded so seriously that his recovery is considered doubtful as the result of renewal tonight of the trouble between whites and negroes, that began several weeks ago when negroes insisted on moving into a white residential neighborhood on Garland avenue.

Leon Briener, 2960 Garland Ave., was shot and instantly killed by one of the negroes' bullets.

Erik Holberg, 2918 Garland avenue, 22, who ran from his home when shooting started, was hit by a stray bullet in his right side. He was rushed to Receiving Hospital, where he was placed upon the operating table.

The packed at 2905 Garland avenue was housed with negroes. More than a dozen of arrests were made, most of them occupants of negroes' homes.

It was at first thought the clash was the result of an attack by whites upon negro households. Investigation, according to police, revealed that the shooting was unprovoked.

Hundreds of rounds of ammunition, a dozen of revolvers, several shotguns and two rifles were found in a house, which had been recently purchased by Dr. Ossian H. Sweet, an interne at Dunbar Hospital, a negro institution.

More than 5,000 persons gathered soon after the shooting began. Two hundred regular policemen, the reserves, and all the detectives available were rushed to the scene. They forced the mob back half a block from the house.

Police inspectors, fearing further trouble, called the police armored car, the same apparatus used in previous outbreaks, and succeeded in restoring peace.

Placing Sarnia and London in Separate Grid Groups Seen As Boon To Game

Rearrangement of Clubs Makes Shakeup Necessary

O. R. F. U. Meeting Saturday Provides Big Field For Speculation.

FAVORED HERE

No O. R. F. U. meeting in years has offered the field of speculation which is the 1925 season, scheduled for 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Parkdale canoe club, Toronto.

A stage has been reached where a shake-up in groupings appears desirable and almost necessary from the rearrangement of clubs in the way of additions and omissions. The rearranged groupings, it is carried through, are liable to call forth some lengthy discussion at Saturday's meeting, and make a few heartburnings.

London and Sarnia offer an odd situation in the western end of the province. Both teams have strengthened up to a point where they must be considered favorably with senior teams. They have been in the same group since they've been playing rugby with oval balls. Rivalry between the two towns has not been less ardent, but a stage would be reached if each would take on separate teams. The London Millionaires, Youngs, and Argonauts, who have been in the same group, are likely to be advanced in that respect. It is being advanced in that respect. It is being advanced in that respect.

Petrolia Returning.

Thus it is suggested that Sarnia be sent into a group with Chatham and St. Thomas. The latter two teams have been separated if it is possible, but if it isn't, they will welcome the Sarnians with open arms and hearty chunks of mud.

London, under this plan, would go into a group composed of Chatham, Parkdale, Hamilton and St. Kitts would form a Lake Shore group.

Whether this can be worked out or not remains to be seen. Newer clubs are apt to think that they have merely been partially true for a while. It would be for the best in the long run.

Welcome.

The local club members have no special grouping to ask for. They believe that Sarnia and London should be separated if it is possible, but if it isn't, they will welcome the Sarnians with open arms and hearty chunks of mud.

Meantime the local club is preparing for its big day, which will be Saturday night. Indications are that it will be the biggest and best yet. The local club has ever received in London.

Mrs. Ross of Royal Ottawa, Unexpected Win Over Miss McBride.

Joe Hamel's First of Two Homers Wins Initial Game.

Special to The Advertiser.

Bay City, Sept. 9.—Flint took a double-header, coping the opening game 5 to 4, and the second 7 to 4. In the first, Joe Hamel hit for the circuit to break a 4 to 4 tie and win the game in the ninth. He hit his second homer of the day in the first inning of the second game, which Flint took easily. The locals' only offensive spurt was in the sixth, when Hughes' triple aided matters greatly.

Miss Olga Miller Meets Miss Nina McFarlane In Finals For Title Today

Fours Reached In All Events of City Tennis Championships

Stellar Play Expected When Two Former Ladies' Champions Meet.

BIG GALLERY SEEN

Fours were reached in all the events of the city tennis championships yesterday, and Miss Olga Miller and Miss Nina McFarlane emerged into the finals of the ladies' singles.

This will be a battle of the champions, as Miss McFarlane won the city championship last year and Miss Miller in 1923 won not only the city championship, but the district title as well. Both are playing at top form at present, and the first real highlight of the tournament thus far will be reached when these two face each other across the net this afternoon. Both have an exceptionally fast service, and the match should fairly bristle with dazzling exchanges. A large gallery is expected out to see the match, which will feature the day's play, despite the fact that finalists in both men's doubles and mixed doubles will be declared in the other two matches set down for this afternoon.

The men's singles produced no upsets. E. Reznitzer defeated Pearl, 6-0, 6-1, and B. L. Williams won his match in two sets.

Miss Miller graduated to the finals following defeating Miss Kirkpatrick in two sets, and Miss McFarlane won all twelve games in her two sets with Miss B. Reid. The two finalists of today were playing opponents with a slightly different style yesterday, but there seemed little to indicate in the form shown by both victors that a hard-fought match, full of thrills and good tennis from beginning to end.

The results and today's draw:

Men's Singles.

E. Reznitzer defeated Pearl, 6-0, 6-1.

B. L. Williams defeated Mitchell, 6-0, 6-1.

Men's Doubles.

Shepherd and Bartram defeated Puddephatt and R. Williams, 4-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Millman and Reid defeated Mitchell and Ford, 6-4, 6-2.

Ladies' Singles.

Miss Miller defeated Miss Kirkpatrick, 6-0, 6-1.

Miss McFarlane defeated Miss B. Reid, 6-0, 6-1.

Ladies' Doubles.

Mrs. Bate and Miss Miller defeated Miss Wilson and Miss McFarlane, 6-1, 6-2.

Miss McFarlane and Miss McKenzie defeated Miss Spence and Miss Reid, 6-1, 6-2.

Mixed Doubles.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid defeated Miss Martin and E. Reznitzer, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE.

Ryan Comes Here To Back Up His Manager's Hunch

Pilot of McKeesport Boy Thinks London Should Be Fight Town.

MCDONALD COMING

A firm conviction that London should be a good fight town has prompted Hugh Shannon, pilot of Tommy Ryan, to back up his manager's hunch.

Shannon, who is a local club, wanted to select London as the first city in the dominion to have seen Ryan in action, as the Toronto clubs could not get his eyes off the Goldstein trail last year.

Clements comes well recommended. He's a hard, rugged boy with a walrus mustache and a keen eye. He's apparently as clever as Ryan. He apparently is asking no favors, as when told that it was Ryan he was wanted to meet he didn't raise a protest.

The Unexpected. London fans have seen the unexpected just about happen. When they saw Ryan in London, they saw Bobby Ebor's crown badly tilted by a tough old customer named Green. Ebor display a one night, and he, the referee, was asked by Green to do so, he would have had to send Ebor out of the ring. Ebor, who had been back after he had been butted half dizzy by Green's head, and the $5 ringeriders in Toronto and Montreal just at that time, did the rest of the bout.

London fans saw Phil O'Dowd nearly knock Mayberry's week-old crown off his head, but the champ came strong on end to win a draw. O'Dowd had no chance to lift the headgear, but he had to have done Mayberry any good.

Yesterday it was announced that Tommy Ryan of Hamilton had been found an opponent. Chip Wallace of Buffalo has consented to meet Ryan, and the match is being promoted by the miniature problems between Germany and Germany's eastern neighbors.

Harry Greb, Wallace is a hard-hitting, light-loving youngster, who should make McDonald show every thing to gain a verdict over the six-round route.

A welterweight bout and a lightweight bout are being negotiated. This will give the card variety, as the flyweight poundage.

Maple Shows Unusual Bloom

Special to The Advertiser.

Ingersoll, Sept. 9.—The unusual growth of a sunflower is to be seen from a small hole in a maple tree on the premises of Dr. J. G. Murray, Oxford street. The seed lodged in a small aperture in the bark, not larger than a pencil, and a plant of fair proportions has developed, which is in bloom at the present time.

SECURITY PARLEY WILL BE DELAYED

Embarrassing Situation Is Created by Czech and Polish Claims.

Associated Press Despatch. Geneva, Sept. 9.—The despatching of an invitation to Germany to send her foreign minister to meet the allied representatives in a first conference to discuss the proposed security pact is being delayed, largely due to embarrassment among the allies as to how to treat Poland and Czechoslovakia, both of whom ardently desire to be represented.

France is particularly embarrassed because she is in alliance with both these countries and neither wishes to abandon them nor seem to be ignoring their interests. England seems to be determined to restrict the conversations with the German foreign minister to France, Belgium, Italy and herself, feeling strongly that the proposed Rhineland pact should be handled as a separate concrete issue and not tied up with or complicated by any attempts to settle the security problems between Germany and Germany's eastern neighbors.

Poland and Czechoslovakia, however, fear that they may be left in the lurch if the main German security pact is negotiated without their participation. They are therefore insisting that the pact be concluded later between them and Germany.

French spokesmen said tonight that if Poland and Czechoslovakia are not actual participants in the first meeting with Germany's representatives they would be not far removed from the meeting place, which means that France will confer constantly with her allies during the conference.

HURON PRESBYTERIAL HEARS YEAR'S REPORTS

Bracefield, Sept. 9.—The annual conference of the Huron Presbytery was held in Bracefield on Tuesday, Sept. 8. The representation from the 24 auxiliaries, five young women's societies and four men's mission bands comprising Huron Presbytery was a splendid one. The record of progress for the year thus far was very encouraging. Mrs. Hogg of Clinton presided at the sessions. The hospitality of the Bracefield people was much appreciated by the delegates.

The allocation for the year is $9,418.80. At the present time the state of the treasury is $20 less than at the same date last year.

Mrs. Jamieson of Toronto and Mrs. McEvoy of London were very interesting speakers. Mrs. Jamieson gave a very vivid and convincing talk on our work amongst the Indians. Mrs. McEvoy brought great inspiration to her audience in her address on the Washington missionary conference.

DEFECTIVE AUTO CAUSE OF MISHAP

Motor Dealer May Face Negligence Charge For Selling Machine.

Special to The Advertiser. St. Thomas, Sept. 9.—Investigation has shown that the automobile in which Jack Moore of Tecumseh, Michigan, was seriously injured near Shedden Thursday, is a show machine, and should never have been allowed on the road, it was reported today.

The steering wheel, which parted from the steering column, throwing the car into the ditch, is declared by a Shedden garage man to be faulty.

The car was bought in Detroit, and there is likely to be a negligence charge laid against the dealer, Mr. Moore is suffering from concussion of the brain, and was reported tonight to be suffering intense pain in a critical condition.

STRATHROY FAIR RECORDS BROKEN

Greatest Number of Exhibits in History Seen by Large Throng.

Associated Press Despatch. Strathroy, Sept. 9.—The fall fair which opened here today, proved up to all advance notices and surpassed every expectation. When the gates were closed tonight, over 8,000 had been admitted, establishing a record for first day attendance.

This is the 67th annual fair held by the Strathroy Agricultural society. All previous records for entries were smashed, there being nearly 3,000. The display in the Crystal Palace was exceptionally fine, and every exhibitor was enthusiastic about the business done and the prospects lined up. Mention must be made of the attractive settings of the Wright Piano Co., Artistic Ladies' Outfitters, W. H. Cuddy Hardware Co., W. H. Tanton, house furnishings, Eupley & Balfour, interior decorations, P. O. Parker & Co., hardware, Wm. Geddes Co., ladies' wear, and Heintzman & Co., pianos.

A wonderful building housed a horticultural showing of bloom, in which the outstanding collections were those of Mrs. Thomas Bonstead and Mrs. James Payne, both of Strathroy.

Reed Work Admirable. In the vegetable building the exhibit of reed work and other vocational manufactures of the military patients at Westminster Hospital attracted continued attention, and a large quantity of the exhibit was sold.

In the same building an exhibit showing graphically the ravages of the corn borer and its various phases of existence was surrounded by an interested group. The display was in charge of Dominion Entomologist H. H. Hudson, who lectured throughout the afternoon.

The poultry show was the largest ever held, so that a portion of it had to remain outside the poultry building.

Strathroy district well sustained its reputation of having the finest stock in Ontario by the quality of the stock shown today. In the horse and cattle classes the entry was large and the competition keen.

The midday conference was twice as many attractions as ever before. Ferris wheel, merry-go-round, a jungle land and innumerable games were readily patronized throughout the day.

A crowd, so great that the sale of tickets was stopped at 8:15 o'clock tonight, filled the Crystal Palace, the grandstand at Exhibition Park, and the spectacular historical pageant, which is the evening entertainment offered at Strathroy fair.

The production of this gorgeous spectacle has been a tremendous task, but everyone, both the fair directors and the 300 people taking part, felt amply repaid by the huge success it proved, and by the untold applause which poured forth as the gorgeous panorama, depicting the pioneer life of this district, appeared on the beautiful grass stage.

A sod-covered slope in front of the stand was enclosed with a beautifully decorated canvas screen. The lighting effects achieved were little short of marvellous, while the costumes and work of the huge cast were exceptionally fine.

The pageant opened with an address of welcome, followed by a scene representing chaos.

Then Father Evans, slowly came on the stage and made his announcement, followed by Miss Canada, taken by Miss Janet Douglas, Miss Strathroy, Miss Grant Johnston and Miss Jean Thompson ladies representing the provinces.

The following scene, Dance of the Nymphs of Creation, led by Miss Teresa Fisher, was perhaps the most exquisitely beautiful of the evening.

Indians made their appearance with Charles Cole as chief, the pioneer woman, Mrs. R. H. Huxtable, and a pioneer woman, Miss McKenzie, built the first house.

Then a school, taught by L. P. McVie, a wedding, in which Mr. Grant Johnston and Miss Jean Thompson played the principals, with Clarke Wright officiating as minister, followed.

The second scene, part of the pageant, was a masque of Canada, representing the various contributing races to the dominion's settlement and growth, concluding with a gorgeous ensemble, in which the whole company of 300 was massed on the stage.

Suitable music for each scene was furnished by the band of the 26th Regiment.

The pageant will be repeated tomorrow evening and Friday evening.

TOWN BAND DAYS NEVER FORGOTTEN

Men Confide to Sousa, Great Leader, They Once Were Bandmen.

"A man will forget many details of his youth, but he never forgets that he once played in the silver cornet band," says Lieut. Com. John Philip Sousa, who comes to London soon in the course of a 20,000-mile tour at the head of his famous organization.
"A generation ago the town band occupied a position in the average community comparable to that now occupied by the Rotary club, the chamber of commerce and the country club," says Sousa. "In the smaller towns, a man belonged to the brass band for recreation and for business reasons. He placed advertisements in the papers offering to hire plumbers, carpenters or blacksmiths upon condition that they were good trombone-ists, clarinetists and bass drummers, and he let these workmen off for brass band duty because the town band was the great means of overtising a city, and the average small town was known by the quality of its band.
"So the man who has played in a small town brass band never forgets his day as a bandman. After every concert several men confide to me that they once were bandmen, and not a few also admit that they have preserved at home their band uniforms. The brass band was an integral factor in our life until a few years ago. As a matter of fact the great majority of my men came from the small-town brass bands until a few years ago."

Return of Escutcheon Marks Anniversary of Capitulation of Quebec

Historic Coat-of-Arms, Long Held by British, Is Restored.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Quebec, Sept. 9.—With the 166th anniversary of the battle of the Plains of Abraham only four days away, this battle and the subsequent capitulation of Quebec to the British troops were revived today when the escutcheon presented to the historic city by a king of France, taken from the walls of Quebec by General Murray after the capitulation of the city, and afterwards handed to the town of Hastings for safe keeping, was officially returned to the city of Quebec as a goodwill offering from England to French Canada.
The opening event of the ceremony was the unveiling of the shield by the lieutenant-governor, Hon. Narcisse Pérodeau. At the invitation of Mayor Samson the lieutenant-governor stepped forward, pulled the silken cords which held the draperies of the shield, and the historic escutcheon stood revealed for the first time.
In making the presentation, Hon.
Peter Larkin spoke as follows:
"Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen of the Council of Quebec:
I bear to you from the ancient and historic town of Hastings a message of friendship and this escutcheon, which was taken from the gates of your city 166 years ago, and

Borrows Smoke, Is Shot To Death

Associated Press Despatch.
Passaic, N.J., Sept. 9.—James Pasino plucked a cigar from the pocket of a companion at an Italian festival at Garfield last night and was shot and killed as a result. Joseph Spotto, said to be the owner of the cigar, is held on a charge of murder.

which I hope will hereafter prove a talisman to perpetuate friendship.
At the great gathering at which I was entrusted with this emblem of the kings of France I was charged to say to you that the town of Hastings gave you back this shield with feelings of friendship and real affection; that they gave it back as an earnest of their intense desire to see unity and brotherhood throughout the empire, and they sent it to you as a symbol of lasting friendship between France and England, of which Quebec should be for all time the binding link.
I could not but be deeply moved when in that old town, the premier cinque port, and standing close to the spot where William the Conqueror descended upon the shores of England nearly 1,000 years ago, and with his Norman and Breton followers defeated the English and overthrew the government of Harold, that on this historic spot I should be presented with this symbol of a long line of kings and a dynasty that has passed away. My mission is fulfilled when I deliver this emblem to you, conscious as I am that it will be received and treasured by you with the same feelings of sympathy and brotherhood which inspired its return by the citizens of Hastings.

A. E. HOOKWAY MAY RUN AS LABORITE IN ELGIN

Progressives, However, Feel Third Candidate Would Only Help Conservatives.

Special to The Advertiser.
St. Thomas, Sept. 9.—A. E. Hook-way, M. C. R. conductor, a candidate for the last federal election, will accept the Progressive nomination again this year, it is reported. There is known to be considerable difference of opinion between local labor men and the farmers, however, and it is understood that the farmers do not favor a city man. In the past the farmers have chosen the candidate for the provincial house while the federal nomination has always been in the hands of the laborites.
Whether a convention will be called at all is in some doubt. Many Progressives feel that a third candidate in the field would merely assure the Conservative candidate a victory, and Mayor George Sloggett, the Liberal nominee, is known to be very popular among railroadmen and laborites in general.

charged with being drunk, disclosed that he had been lodged in a cell in which seized liquor had been stored.
"I hated to see it lying around,"
William explained.

HUNT COMPANY DENIES REMOVAL FROM LONDON

President Gives Lie To Report
Concerning Land
Options.

Officials of the Hunt Milling Company deny having secured options on land at Iderton and Thorndale with the intention of building a mill on one of them. The industry was to be lost to London, according to rumors which have been circulating around the city.
"We are putting our plant into shape as rapidly as possible. We hope to commence installation of machinery within several weeks," stated President Charles Hunt last evening.
"The installation of milling machinery, though, requires an infinite amount of care, and it will be nearly a year before we will again be making flour," said Mr. Hunt.
