The Czar Has Yet To Be Reckoned

With-Attitude of the Powers

Defined.

London, Oct. 12 .- A gloomy impression has been created in Europe by the latest development in the far east.

Both Japan and Russia continue to profess the most peaceful intentions

while pushing forward the most active preparations for war. It is beginning to be believed that they protest too

as inevitable, is maneuvering to place

This is especially true of Russia. It is becoming more evident every day that since M. de Witte, the former finance minister, who is now practical-

It can truly be said in the light of threatened events that the real and greatest cost of the South African war

will be paid by Great Britain in losses in other parts of the world for years to come. Germany, as well as France, there is reason to believe, will render all assistance possible to Russia under the most liberal construction or eva-

expects to realize substantial rewards

by defeating Japan physically and Great Britain morally in that quarter

is for his sake, chiefly, that Russia

The Czar, as is well known, is only technically master of his own dominions. Still, he is sufficiently independattack upon that or any other power; hence, the present Russian maneuvers'

which seem designed to incite Japan

MR. BALFOUR'S ROMANCE

Keeps Troth to Dead Sweetheart For Thirty Years.

New York, Oct. 12. - The World's London correspondent cables: The romantic story of British Prime Minister Balfour's one heart attachment is recalled by the surprising appointment of Alfred Lyttelton to the colonial secretaryship. Thirty years ago Mr. Balfour was in love with the Hon. Mary Lyttleton, Alfred's youngest charming, but delicate, and died in 1875 when only eighteen. Arthur Bal-four was inconsolable, and the story is told that he entered the death chamber, removed his ring and placed it on her wedding finger, pledging him-self forever to his dead love.

It is an open secret that the influential men in the Opposition have grown weary of Gamey and his advisers. For some time it was nothing but "Gamey, Gamey," and to such an extent was this the case, that leader Whitney has had to rush frequently to Toronto to be interviewed so as to keep himself before the public if possible, for Gamey was his rival, and has not the chairman of Mr. Whitney's organization committee, Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, proclaimed. "I stand by Gamey"? This was the first indication that there was a split in the party over the Gamey episode. This outburst of loyalty to a comrade was occasioned by the fact that those who got the money were placing the blame for failure to prove the Gamey charges upon Gamey's trip to Buffalo, but the heroic words (with an oc-casional picnic), "I stand by Gamey," made the man from Manitoulin assert himself. It now remains to be seen what will happen when he swoops into Sault Ste. Marie as the man who holds chief place in the minds of the mass of Conservatives in the Province of On-This will give Mr. Whitney other opportunities to have himself interviewed, for Mr. Whitney must stand by Gamey and those who handled the funds to no purpose except to enrich themselves. The leading Conservative workers in the ridings are asking themselves, "Have the protest and Gamey funds made you rich?"

Preferential Trade and Politics.

The attitude of the two political parties in Canada toward the Chamberlain programme is the subject of much speculation in the old country. Large Gathering at the Kennels On Saturday Afternoon.

High Jump-Leg Broken.

The meeting of the London Hunt Club on Saturday afternon was a most enjoyable affair, and the tea in connection with it was an equally pleasant event. The weather was ideal for both occasions, and but one incident marred the success of the day-an accident to Mr. Jeff Lefroy, who in an attempt to go over a higher fence than his companions had tried, sustained a serious fracture of the leg near the ankle. Mr. Lefroy is doing well, however, at St. Joseph's Hospital.

But for this regrettable occurrence everything was delightful. About 25 riders followed the hounds, including the Misses Gibbons, Messrs. Beck, Clement, Col. Denison, Garvey, Dr. Hogg, Hunt, Lefroy, McNee, Mills, Owens, Dr. Piper, W. T. Strong and Wilson. The hunt was as fine a one as could have been desired, for there never was brighter autumn day. The run started on the fourth concession, opposite Mr. Penn's, continuing down to the Medway flats, and then across the river into the Shaw-Wood estate; from there north to the fifth concession, and south to Hyde Park. After a check, the run was continued until the property of Mr. Magge was reached, where the stop

The tea held subsequently was the opening one of the season, and the number attending it was large. There were upwards of 75 ladies present, making a brilliant gathering. The hostesses were Mesdames Beck, Denison, J. I. A. Hunt, Niven and Smallman. The tea was given by the older members of the club to the newer ones. The decorations of the room in which the refreshments were served were of autumn leaves, which were most effectvely arranged. Among other things he said to the point was: "I want Christ more on Monday than on Sunday, for the devil is busier then." The fishermen eame in for praise. Mr. Pearse, in his easy manner, told more than one story, amusing and at the same time illustrative. Characteristic of his way of putting things was his claim that Christ knew more about the businesses of the people than they did themselves. "He knows more than you do," he said, "and the best thing for you to do when you go down to the office in the morning is to make him head of the firm—and see he gets his share of the prolits when they're

In one portion of his sermon when telling something about children, he said to the fathers present "You wouldn't be a father if it weren't for a child." This and many other similar remarks stamped his individuality, while throughout his sermon from beginning to end there was the appeal to have Christ "on board the ship," Mr. Pearse expressed It.

SISTER MAGDALENE TALKS

Tells Why She Kidnapped the Fort Erie Child.

Wanted to Have It Properly Educated-New Phase of Case.

The Buffalo Express says: In a narow cell in the Welland county jail at Welland, Magdalene Keefer, alias Margaret Keefer, alias Sister Magdalene is spending a week awaiting sentence by Police Magistrate Cruikshank of Niagara Falls, for the stealing of the child of Mary Bowen, of Fort Erie. The woman gave herself up to the police at Strathroy, and Chief Mains, captured the child, went up and prought her to Niagara Falls on Thursday afternoon. On Friday morning she was arraigned before Magistrate Cruikshank, and pleaded guilty to stealing the child, He remanded her for a

Her costume was much the same as that of a sister of Loretto, but the white front of the bonnet was wanting. A white 'kerchief round the shoulders, the ends hanging in front, was the only touch of white, save the large silver cross suspended from a neckchain of black beadwork on her breast.

SISTER MAGDALEN'S REASON.

She began her story by giving her reason for her theft of the child. She stated that she did it for the purpose of taking it to some secluded place and bringing it up in a proper manner and in the faith of the Church of England. She had tried to adopt it, but the mother would not consent. She considered the mother unfit to rear the child, and that it would not get proper training with her. Both mother and child are her godchildren, having been baptized at Saint Paul's Church in Fort Erie. She disclaimed any knowledge of doing wrong. She knew that the mother would do everything possible to recover her child, but did not think the law would interfere. She had lived apart from the world and did not know

CHICAGO.

H. C. Becher, broker, Bank of Commerce building, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Fratier & Carington, vesterday:
Chicago, Oct. 10.—Wheat—The original bulls realized yesterday, and that pressure being off the market prices resumed their upward course today. Cables were higher on war rumors, and were responsible for the strong opening. The North-western markets were up with us. The Duluth market is on an exporting basis, and reports a quarter of a million bushels worked. Sales here of No. 2 red winter late yesterday and today foot up to a good total. The Michigan state estimate is 4,000,000 bushels less than last year. The weather today is clear and cool, but the promise is for more rain in the spring wheat belt tomorrow or Monday. Liverpool was %d higher. Estimated for Monday, 100 cars.

Corn was firm and the cash situation is coming to the front, as in the other grains and the futures will deubtlessly.

coming to the front, as in the other grains, and the futures will doubtlessly get their advance in due time. Country offerings show no tendency to increase. Receipts are moderate and shipments large. Local and shipping demand is good. No. 4 corn is selling here today at December price, and No. 3 corn at 1½c over. Coupling the above with country reports, showing prospects are not so good as expected, and a lot of the new corn of undesirable quality, the present values do not seem high. The Liverpool market was 3d higher for the nearby rutures, and 4d higher for the distant ones. Estimated for Monday, 330 cars. Oats continue the strongest commodity on the floor. Their position is very strong and likely to get stronger, as receipts are light. The demand is increasing, and in general local stocks are small and decreasing rapidly. Local operators have been converted to the bull side, and there are some long lines in the market that were not disturbed by the recent break. Estimated cars on Monday, 10. Provisions opened firm. The higher prices at the yards and the light run of hogs caused moderate covering by shorts. The selling was scattered. Pork was sold by Milwaukee packers, but there was a line of January ribs bought, supposed to be for the same people. Estimated for Monday, 21,000 hogs, and for next week, 105,000.
