HAYS IS BACK

Resumes the Management of the Grand Trunk With the Additional Title.

New York, Nov. 22.—A special cable despatch to the Evening Post from London says that Chas. M. Hays has resumed the management of the Grand Trunk Railway with the title of second vice-president.

London, Nov. 22.—Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, President of the Grand Trunk Railway, announced to-day that Charles M. Hays has been re-appointed general manager of that road.

The Government is Guarding Against an Attempt to Invade the Yukon.

No Fear That There Will be any Further Developments in Alleged Conspiracy.

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 22.—To guard against any attempt to invade the Yukon the force of mounted police at White Horse has been increased, and a couple of Maxim guns have been placed at advantageous points.

At Dawson the authorities have a couple of seven pounders ready in case of an emergency. There are four hundred stand of arms and lots of ammunition available for the local militia, and special police if it is found necessary to equip and arm them.

It is not thought, however, that there will be any further developments in the conspiracy to seize the Yukon.

A prominent government official said this morning:—We have known of this conspiracy for three months past, and have been quietly preparing to checkmate it.

The man who disclosed the plot was formerly a grocer in the Western States. The story leaked out when one of our officers went down to Skaguay to consult with the United States authorities.

Unfortunately the ringleader of the whole business escaped with the papers, and is now in Seattle. The plot never had any chance of succeeding, because the individuals behind it were obscure and without any means.

No respectable American lent themselves to the scheme. The bubble has been burst and I do not think there will be any further developments in the conspiracy.

The story about the Yukon conspiracy is given out to-day by the mounted police department. On the 21st of Sept. last, Comptroller Fred White was advised by Supt. Primrose at Dawson, of a report from Seattle that there was a scheme being concocted to seize Canadian territory in the Yukon.

On the 25th Mr. White again received a message from Supt. Primrose, saying he was unable to confirm the report, as the circumstances were suspicious. On the 27th Sept. Supt. Primrose again wired that the previous cipher message referred to was disproved.

On Oct. 7, Mr. White again received from Supt. Primrose the promised letter in which he stated he had been unable to confirm previous reports, which remained in his hands much of some of the threats which were made in early years in the Yukon.

It appears that a man named H. Grebl had told another man at Dawson that he knew of a conspiracy that was going to take place against the Government, that Grebl had been shadowed by the police and it was discovered that he had told several stories about himself and that he had been in Dawson a month, that his conversation was to the effect that he belonged to a secret organization which intended to take possession of the Yukon Territory, their plans being to run White Horse, take the smaller detachments along the river, then it would be an easy matter to capture the barracks at Dawson; that the organization had representatives at both Seattle and Skaguay; that they expected to be assisted by men from Circle City and Eagle City; that Grebl was known by a member of the mounted police as having been in the grocery business at Butte, Mont. Nothing more was heard of the matter until the 4th of Nov., when Comptroller White received the following telegram from Supt. Wood, Dawson:—

"Snyder reports discovered whereabouts in Skaguay papers relating to conspiracy to seize territory. United States refuses to secure unless Snyder makes an affidavit as to conspirators. This, of course, he can't do. Am satisfied such conspiracy exists." The police were also trying to locate a man named "Sporty," who had been mentioned as having had knowledge of the conspiracy, but he was thought to be somewhere crazy.

SUNDAY PAPERS

Editor Tom Groves Replies to the Comments of Mr. Walters.

Chatham, Nov. 22nd, 1901.

Dear Sir,—I don't intend to put on any frills in Sunday papers or misinform any of your readers, but what I do say is to the best of my knowledge, and when I mentioned London, England, as a side issue as follows: If the hub of the world, London, England, can get along without Sunday papers, what's the matter with Chatham, the greatest city on this old London, the greatest city on earth, the centre of gravitation and mouthpiece of the world, by the voice of the people frown down an attempt to continue a Sunday daily.

John Bull, the leader of them all, not the aviator that some ill-bred nations would make him appear, but where freedom reigns, and equal rights for all is the motto.

In reply to my friend Mr. Walters re London papers I would say if Mr. Walters or any other person can name any paper printed in English, that is published on a Sunday in London, I will admit that I am mistaken, in regard to a weekly paper.

I don't know of any weekly paper published on a Sunday.

Mr. Walters does not say anything about a daily paper, but shields himself behind a weekly.

Now, Mr. Editor, things have changed, according to Mr. Walters story, since I left England, there's no doubt about that, but I would like to hear from Mr. Walters if Lord's Weekly and Reynolds's Weekly, both London papers, have changed since I left England, to give force to my argument.

When I was in England we used to get Lord's Weekly and Reynolds's Weekly on Saturday, and was dated Sunday, and I was living about two hundred miles north of London.

In reference to the London papers that I alluded to, that had to quit a Sunday daily or go out of business, was some of the leading dailies of London, and that only happened last year. I forget the name of the papers but I hope by the return of Sunday, and the people that dwell there.

Referring to the Jewish quarter that is understood by all, Saturday is their Sunday, and John Bull never interferes in a man's religion, but trusts to every man to do his duty to himself and stand by the faith.

Now, Sir, the point that I want to get at is this, in mentioning London, if the law of England allows a publisher to issue Sunday daily papers and sell them and the people by their voice say to this great London daily, if you continue issuing a Sunday paper we will drive you out of business. This is an example for the world to copy from the great metropolis, and the people that dwell there.

If the law of Canada prohibits the publishing of a Sunday paper why don't the people of Canada be consistent, and be honest with a conscience, that if we are allowed to publish a paper or buy one on Sunday, let us rise up in our might and follow the example of London. If we have no law to stop this foreign production, let us have one. This comes to a new thing if we are too good to publish a paper, and have to patronize and allow another country to do the work that we are not allowed to do ourselves.

In conclusion, talking about newspapers, perhaps it is not generally known that Elizabeth and Lord Burleigh for the first printed newspaper, which was entitled "The English Mercury," the earliest number is still in the British Museum Library and bears the date of July 23, 1588.

During the civil wars periodical papers, the champions of the two parties were extensively circulated and were edited by such writers as Needham, of Birkenhead, and L'Estrange, all men of considerable ability.

In the reign of Anne there was but one daily paper, the Daily Courant. The first provincial journal in England was the Orange Postman, started in 1706 at the price of a penny "but a half-penny not refused." The earliest Scotch newspaper appeared under the auspices of Cromwell in 1652. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I remain, Yours truly,

TOM GROVES.

ANOTHER VIEW.

"I was born and brought up in England," said Frank Hallman, the North Chatham butcher, "and know a few things about London."

"Thomas Groves in his letter in The Planet mentioned that London, Eng., could do without selling Sunday newspapers. Now in London, I know for a fact, that you can buy almost anything."

"Morally, we Canadians are far ahead of the Old Country and I would far rather have my children brought up in Canada than England."

"If more attention was paid to the stopping of selling intoxicating liquors on Sunday than to selling the Sunday newspapers, which keeps a man in the house, while otherwise probably he would be gambling or boozing, it would be a great deal better for Chatham."

ESSEX GAS

Any Present Settlement Must be Without Reference to the Future.

Toronto, Nov. 22.—This afternoon the conference on the natural gas export question was renewed. It is understood that one of the points raised in the discussion was the possible increase of supply of Essex gas by means of wells now being bored by the company. It was suggested on their behalf that on acceding to the Government's demand at the present time, they might have a further right to export gas about the supply warrant. To this, however, the Government's representatives would not consent, holding that this settlement must be without reference to the future, when the rights would rest in the hands of the residents of Essex who were chiefly concerned.

WHITNEY AND FOY PRESENT

Conservative Leaders Attend Large Meeting of Western Ontario District.

Every one of the Ridings in the District Represented—Plan of Campaign Discussed.

London, Nov. 23.—A meeting of the Western District Committee of the Ontario Conservative Association was held in the Conservative Club rooms yesterday.

The gathering was not only large, but it was of a most enthusiastic character. Every one of the twenty-four constituencies in the district was represented. The attendance included presidents and secretaries of riding associations, a number of members of the Legislature, and not a few who are to carry the Conservative standard in the next Provincial campaign.

Major Beattie, president of the committee, occupied the chair, and Ald. Beattie, of this city, was elected secretary.

The meeting was also favored with the presence of Mr. J. P. Whitney, leader of the Ontario Opposition, who remained in the city for a few hours on his way from Ridgeway to New Hamburg, where he was to address a public meeting last night. The members of the committee were delighted at the visit of their leader, who they accorded a most enthusiastic welcome.

Mr. J. J. Foy, K. C., member of the Legislature for South Toronto, was also present. He was en route to New Hamburg, where he is to speak also, and he, too, received a warm welcome.

Among the many others in attendance were:—W. J. Hanna, Sarnia; J. A. Leitch, Glenora; Ward Stanworth, Chatham; G. Parrott, Glenora; Wm. Ball, Chatham; John Law, Tilsonburg; and M. T. Burns, Tilsonburg.

The principal object of the gathering was to confer with the leader regarding the plan of campaign. The sub-committee, which met on Nov. 9 and prepared a plan, presented a report, which was adopted by the meeting.

Many questions of importance were also discussed, and before adjourning some speech-making was indulged in. Mr. Whitney spoke most encouragingly of the situation throughout the province. He urged the delegates, however to commence as soon as possible anything connected with the campaign, but could be begun. The people of the province are with us, said the leader amid applause. They are with us without a doubt. I do not believe the Government can defeat us, with money and all its other influences. I do not mean that money will not have any effect, but when public opinion begins to move in a body, as I see it moving now, it cannot be stopped. Mr. Whitney told of the failure of the Harcourt-Davies series of meetings in the eastern part of the province, and he said that the Government would be defeated next week if an election was held. He urged that each sub-division in every riding should appoint two or more young men to watch for the coming of such men as Sullivan and the other members of the "gang." "To win," concluded Mr. Whitney, "be industrious from this day out."

Mr. Foy, who was late in arriving, delivered a brief address, in which he referred to the Mabee pamphlet, "The Government," said Mr. Foy, "could not defend themselves, could not justify themselves, could not answer the charges made against them, and they think they may distract the attention of the electors by abuse, by saying nasty, untrue and dirty things. That is what the Mabee pamphlet was designed to do, but instead of hurting Mr. Whitney and his party, it is reacting upon the Government themselves."—Applause.

A number of others were called upon, among them being W. J. Hanna, the candidate in West Lambton; Jas. English, who will oppose the Premier in West Middlesex; Mr. Sutherland, South Oxford's candidate; Dr. Clapp, the nominee in South Bruce; Nelson Monteith, who redeemed South Perth at the last election, and will run again; P. D. McCallum, the candidate in East Lambton, and James Mitchell, of Goderich.

The meeting broke up with the usual cheers.

The rooms presented a very attractive appearance, through the efforts of the steward, who has been faithful in the discharge of his duties.

MR. WHITNEY IN KENT.

The hundreds who had the good fortune to hear the magnificent address of Mr. J. P. Whitney in Ridgeway will be delighted to learn of his intention to visit both Kent constituencies in the near future, as expressed in his statement to The Planet and published yesterday.

Mr. Whitney is a magnetic leader. He is a gentleman of force of character, and splendid accomplishments. Kent will be the better for his visits and we shall look eagerly for them.

THE EAST KENT CONVENTION.

It must have been a source of keen satisfaction on the part of the Liberal-Conservatives of East Kent to witness the unanimity which exists throughout the party, as exemplified at the convention in Ridgeway on Thursday. What a striking contrast it presented to the machine-manipulated gathering which masqueraded as a Liberal convention only a few weeks earlier.

Of the long list of names placed in nomination by the Conservative convention none were unworthy. Of the two names which went to the convention either would have been highly satisfactory. The convention was very evenly divided upon them, but immediately upon learning that Mr. Davidson had secured a meagre majority, Mr. Bowyer was upon his feet moving that the nomination be made unanimous, with the same enthusiasm and zeal he would have exhibited if conducting the campaign on his own behalf. This action was characteristic of Mr. Bowyer, but it furnishes a pleasing sidelight on the feeling which dominates the Conservative party throughout the riding and the province.

Mr. Davidson was chosen and he will go into the campaign with a united and earnest party at his back. And the genuine and whole-souled enthusiasm of the convention should have practical results in the fight to follow.

Mr. Davidson is a strong and popular candidate. He stands upon a proud platform and we have a right, if the work of himself and his colleagues is thorough and systematic, to confidently look for his victory at the election. And we do.

And in sincerely congratulating Mr. Davidson, The Planet may mention that one of the most pleasing and appropriate features of the convention was the thorough appreciation of Mr. Bowyer and his excellent paper, the Dominion and their splendid services, as evidenced in the fitting resolution so enthusiastically adopted.

DOCKING HORSES.

In its report of the Metropolitan Horse Show judging, the New York Sun remarks:

"Mr. Gooch had only one long-tailed horse to pass on, which was unplaced, but this is not a rock that he will split on, for it turns out that the long-tailed horse is quite the fad in England both for the saddle and in many harness traps.

"This will be good news in the South, where it is a sacrifice still to dock a horse's tail."

In Great Britain it was a choice of evils to cut off the tails of horses used for riding to hounds in a country full of hedges. Long tails were likely to catch in the hedge thorns and throw both horses and riders, sometimes with fatal results. Docked tails meant more safety for the hunters, men and horses alike.

In a land where the fox-hounds cut a great figure in fashionable society it was natural that horses used for riding with the hounds should set the custom for other saddle horses, even in tails, as it was an easy step

Salt Rheum

It may become chronic. It may cover the body with large, inflamed, burning, itching, scaling patches and cause intense suffering. It has been known to do so.

Do not delay treatment. Thoroughly cleanse the system of the humors on which this ailment depends and prevent their return.

The medicine taken by Mrs. Ida E. Ward, Cove Point, Md., was Hood's Sarsaparilla. She writes: "I had a disagreeable itching on my arms which I concluded was salt rheum. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and in two days felt better. It was not long before I was cured and I have never had any skin disease since."

from docking saddle horses to doing the same thing with carriage horses. Perhaps economy suggested it in cases where the same animals were made to serve in harness and under saddle. But there was never any sense in the cruel and unsightly practice of cutting off the greater part of the beautiful tails of horses. Our climate makes flies and other insects many times as numerous and troublesome to domestic animals as they are in England, and these animals have greater need of their natural weapon of defence.—London Free Press.

THE CARP NUISANCE.

Ex-Gov. George W. Peck, of Wisconsin, discussing his recent hunting trip, said that he had no doubt that the talk about the carp being a factor in driving ducks away from Wisconsin lakes is true. It is a fish which is a scavenger, and eats up all the things the ducks come for. The fish eat the roots and refuse matter, and the ducks find nothing to feed on when they arrive, and the consequence is the ducks are being driven away from the Wisconsin waters.

Local historical societies throughout Ontario are doing a valuable work in saving and perpetuating many interesting and pathetic stories of the early settlement of the Province. ## Theatrical

On Monday evening, Nov. 25th, patrons of the Chatham Grand will have an opportunity of witnessing one of the best attractions that ever visited this city. The attraction will be the Reeves-Smith Comedy Company, producing the charming comedy made famous by Mr. Reeves-Smith, entitled "A Brace of Partridges." The comedy was first produced in London at the Strand Theatre, where it afterward moved over to the Garrick, where it ran the whole year. Mr. Chas. Frohman, one of the shrewdest theatrical managers in the country, was in London and saw "A Brace of Partridges," and immediately secured the attraction for his theatre in New York. The entire production was brought from England to America, where it was produced at the Madison Square Theatre in New York. The same success attended the comedy in New York that it had in London. The press was unanimous in proclaiming that it was the best company and comedy that had ever visited our shores, and that Mr. Smith was without a doubt the best actor in all England, and had but few, if any, equals in this country. After a long and successful run at the Madison Square Theatre, the company were compelled to go on the road for a short tour, owing to previous bookings at the Madison Square Theatre. Last season Mr. Reeves-Smith was under contract to Mr. Chas. Frohman, and played at the Garrick Theatre, New York, all season, creating the part and playing the title role, "Captain Jinks," one of the greatest successes in New York. The phenomenal success of "Captain Jinks" was undoubtedly due to the acting of Mr. Reeves-Smith. This season he resumes his tour with "A Brace of Partridges." (Supporting Mr. Reeves-Smith is Miss Margaret Robinson, another of Mr. Frohman's company, having been associated with the Frohman's for the past five seasons, playing the leading role. Prior to joining the Frohman's Miss Robinson was a member of such high class companies as Wm. Crane, E. H. Schorn and the Lyceum Theatre Co., New York. Reserve seat sale opened yesterday. This production is well deserving of a very liberal patronage.

Chafing and Itching Skin

Annoying Rashes, Inflammations and Irritations Are Soothed, Healed and Cured by the Great Skin Food.

Dr. Chase's Ointment.

There is always a mystery and doubt about the action of internal remedies. Time is required for the medicine to take effect. It is different with Dr. Chase's Ointment, for it is applied externally, and you are sure to be surprised by the remarkable change it brings about in a few hours. Its cleansing, soothing, healing action allays inflammation and irritation, removes redness and roughness of the skin, and leaves the skin delightfully smooth, soft and velvety. Notwithstanding its powerful action in the severest cases of skin diseases, Dr. Chase's Ointment can be used with perfect safety on the most tender skin, and is especially suited for the chafings, itches and irritations which are so troublesome. Ladies keep it constantly in their toilet, and mothers who have used it in place of powders for their babies would not think of changing. It does not clog the pores of the skin, as do powders, does not stain the linen, and is pleasant to use.

Mrs. E. Clark, 71 Ingham street, Hamilton, Ont., states:—"The relief I experienced from using Dr. Chase's Ointment on my children for various sores have been satisfactory in the extreme, especially so with baby, now two months old. All the sores, scalding and chafes were removed from the little fellow immediately after using Dr. Chase's Ointment on him, which freed him from pain. It came as a blessing. The cuts and bruises my children meet with always disappear before it, and I consider Dr. Chase's Ointment the very best of its kind. I advise mothers to have it in the house always."

Mrs. A. McKnight, Kirkwall, Wellington County, Ont., writes:—"I feel it my duty to let you know what Dr. Chase's Ointment has done in a very bad case of eczema on our baby. We had tried any number of cures without any permanent relief, but from the hour we recommended using Dr. Chase's Ointment, there was great relief, and the improvement continued until there was a complete cure. We think it the greatest of family ointments."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is the standard ointment the world over. It promptly and thoroughly relieves and cures eczema, salt rheum and the most torturing forms of itching skin disease. Sixty cents a box, of all dealers, or Edmonson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

POWER OF ONE WORD

Will Lift Out of Despondency
Into Future Joy.

HOPE AS A STRONG ANCHOR.

As It Was a Great Night for Our Dark World When in Bethlehem the Infant Saviour Was Born, So Will It Be a Great Night When Christian Hope Is Born in the Soul of the Sinner.

Entered according to Act of Parliament of Canada,
in the year 1901, by William Henry, of Toronto, at the Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Washington, Nov. 17.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage would lift people out of despondency and bring something of future joy into earthly depression. The text is Hebrews vi, 19, "Which hope."

There is an Atlantic ocean of depth and fullness in the verse from which my text is taken, and I only wade into the wave at the beach and take two words. We all have favorite words expressive of delight and words expressive of grief. I find their way from brain to lip, words that have in them mornings
and midnights, laughter and tears, thunderbolts and dewdrops. In all the lexicons and vocabularies there are few words that have for me the attractions of the last word of my text, "Which hope."

There have in the course of our life been many angels of God that have looked over our shoulders, or met us on the road or chanted the darkness away, or lifted the curtains of the great future, or pulled us back from the precipices, or rolled down upon us the rapturous music of the heavens, but there is one of those angels who has done so much for us that we wish throughout all time and eternity to celebrate it—the angel of Hope. St.
Paul makes it the centre of a group of virtues, saying, "Now abideth faith, hope, charity." And though he says that charity is the greatest of the three, he does not take one plume from the wing, or one ray of lustre from the brow, or one rose from the cheek, or one melody from the voice of the angel of my
text, "Which hope."

That was a great night for our world, when in a Bethlehem caravansary the infant Ruler was born, and that will be a great night in the darkness when Christian hope is born. There will be chanting in the skies and a star pointing to the Nativity. I will not bother you with the hush and silence and tell you what hope is. When we sit down hungry at a table, we do not want an analytical discourse as to what bread is. "Hand it on; pass it round; give us a slice of it." "Pure hope," "pure hope," "pure hope," Peter calls it a "lively hope"; Paul styles it a "good hope," a "sure hope," a "rejoicing hope." And all up and down the Bible it is spoken of as an anchor, as a harbor,
as a helmet, as a door.

No better medicine did a man ever take than hope. It is a stimulant.
Thousands of people long ago departed this life would have been living to-day but for the reason they let hope slip their grasp. I have known people to live on hope after one lung was gone and disease had seemed to lay hold of every nerve and muscle and artery and bone.
Alexander the Great, starting for the wars in Persia, divided his property among the Macedonians. He gave a village to one, a port to another, a field to another and all his estate to his friends. Then Perdiccas asked, "What have you kept for yourself?" He answered triumphantly, "Hope." And, whatever else you and I give away, we must keep for ourselves a hope—all comforting and cheering hope. In the heart of every man, woman and child that hears or reads this sermon may God implant this principle right now!

Many have full assurance that all is right with the soul. They are as sure of heaven as if they had passed in pearly panels of the gate, as though they were already seated in the temple of God undir-ling the libration of the heavenly candelabrum. I congratulate all such.
I wish I had it too—full assurance —but with me it is hope. "Which hope." Sinful, it expects forgiveness; troubled, it expects relief; bereft, it expects comfort; shipwrecked, it expects lifeboat; bankrupt, it expects eternal riches; a prodigal, it expects the wide open door of the father's farmhouse. It does not wait itself out by looking backward; it always looks forward. What is the use of giving so much time to the rehearsal of the past? Your mistakes are not corrected by a review. Your losses cannot, by brooding over them, be turned into gains. It is the future that has the most for us, and hope cheers us on.
We have all committed blunders; but does the calling of the roll of them make them any less blunders? Look ahead in all matters of usefulness. However much you may have accomplished for God and the world's betterment your greatest usefulness is to come. "No," says some one, "my heart is gone."
"No," says some one, "my money is gone." "No," says some one:
"the most of my years are gone and therefore my usefulness." Why, you talk like an infidel. Do you suppose that all your capacity to do good is fenced in by this life? Are you going to be a lounge and a do-nothing after you have quit this world? It is my business to tell you that your faculties are to be engaged and intensified and your qualifications for usefulness multiplied tenfold, a hundredfold, a thousandfold.

Is your health gone? Then that is a sign that you are to enjoy a celestial health compared with which the most joyous and blarney vitality of earth is invalidism. Are your fortunes spent? Remember, you are to be kings and queens unto
God. And how much more wealth

WOMAN'S WEIGH

Does not always keep pace with woman's will. There are energetic, home-loving women who by sheer force of will keep themselves going, and fancy that strength of will can take the place of strength of body. But it can't. Every day will see a loss of strength, and that loss will be indicated by a loss of weight. When the weight begins to fall below the normal it is time to ask, Why? Inflammation in general, ill health in women may be traced to those womanly diseases which sap the strength and undermine the vitality. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription dries enfeebled drains, heals internal inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. Where the disease is marked by loss of flesh, there is a steady regaining of weight coincident with the cure which proves the renewal of health to be thorough and permanent.

"Three years ago," writes Mrs. John Graham, of 2011 Plum Street (Frankford), Philadelphia, Penn., "I had a very bad attack of dropsy which left me with heart trouble, and also a very weak back. At times I was so bad that I did not know what to do with myself. I came to Philadelphia two years ago, and picking up one of your little books one day I read of your wonderful 'Favorite Prescription' and decided to try it. I determined to try it myself. I took seven bottles and today I am a strong, well woman, weighing 125 pounds. Have gained 25 pounds since I started to use your 'Favorite Prescription.'"

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the sluggish liver.

you will have when you re-ign fore-ever and ever! I want to see you when you get your heavenly work dress on. This little bit of a speck of a world we call the earth is only the place where we get ready to work. We are only journeymen here, but will be master workmen there. Heaven will have no loafers hanging around. The book says of the inhabitants, "They rest not day nor night." Why rest when they work without fatigue? Why seek a pillow when there is no night there? I want to see you after the pedestrianism of earth has been exchanged for power of light and velocities infinite and enterprises interstellar, interworld.

Am I not right in saying that eternity can do more for us than can time? What will we not be able to do when we are no longer of this world? We are quickened into the immortal spirit's speed? Why should a bird have a swiftness of wing when it is of no importance how long it shall take to make its aerial way from forest to forest and we, who have so much more important errand in the world, get on so slowly?
The roebuck outruns us, the hounds are quicker in the chase, but wait till you are released from all limitations and hindrances. Then we will fairly begin. The starting post will be the tombstone. Leaving the world will be graduation day before the chief work of our mental and spiritual career. Hope sees the door opening, the victor's foot in strut for the mounting. The day breaks—first flush of the horizon.
The mission of hope will be an everlasting mission, as much of it in the heavenly hereafter as in the earthly now.

Shall we have gained all as soon as we enter realms celestial—nothing more to learn, no other heights to climb, no new anthems to raise, a monotony of existence, the same thing over and over again for endless years? No! More progress in that world than we ever made in this. Hope will stand on the hills of heaven and look for ever brightening landscapes, other transfigurations of color, new glories rolling over the scene, new celebrations of victories in other worlds, heaven rising into grander heavens, seas of glass mingled with fire, a new
glass mingled with fire, a new more brilliant glass mingling with a more flaming fire. "Which hope."
Now, let me introduce this feeling
into the lives of some who are at times hopeless. There is a family whose son has gone to the front. Father
and mother have not given him
up, he seems so headstrong, so un-

gratuitous, so dissipated, and the folks do not know half the story of moral precipitation. He has considered writing home, but they hear of him through people who like to carry bad news and every time the report is more deplorable. He swears, he gambles, he drinks, he goes into all the shambles of sin.
His former employer says there is no hope for him, and all outside the family agree in thinking he will never reform. The father and mother total to not quite given him up, and these words are going to come back. That boy is going to come back. You have a hold on him that you must not relax. Through prayer you may win the eternal God for your side of the struggle. You must enlist all the heavenly dominions, cherubim and seraphim and archangel, in the movement to save your son. Some day or some night he will call a halt to his infamous practices. Something will happen to him, as happened in a New York hotel to a son of one of the most distinguished clergymen in Scotland and one of the queen's chaplains.
"When can I see you?" said a distinguished-looking young man in Brookline, Mass., to a man in a dark cloak. "I said, 'You can see me now.'" He said: "No; I want a private conversation with you at your own house. When can I come?" "I said, 'To-morrow night.'"
He gave me his name, the exact name of his father, whose name was known and is known through the Christian world; though, years ago he departed this life. Returning home, I took up the book I found that the young man had marked, and I found the father's name. I was sure there was no deception.

On the following evening he came.
He said that he was the black sheep of the family flock. He had wandered the world over and been in all kinds of wickedness, but a few nights before, after reading a letter from his mother in Scotland, he had retired for sleep, but in the adjoining room he heard some young men in such horrible conversation that he could not sleep. He was shocked as he had never before been by the talk of bad men. He arose, struck a light, took out the letter from his mother and knelt down by his bedside and said, "O Lord God of my father, have mercy on me!" He said that since that prayer he was entirely changed and loved what he before hated, and hated what he before loved, and asked what I thought of all meant. I replied, "You have become a Christian." He said he could be called at any time to leave the city. I never saw him again, but it seemed to me that he had turned on his back upon his wicked past and had started in the right direction.
And it may be often, tell him how you are all thinking of him at home,
and it may be, your letter in hand, he may call upon his mother's God to help and save him. Hope, you have gray hair and wrinkled skin, its thousands of souls who were once as thoroughly wrong as your boy is. They repented, and they are with the old folks in the healthy air of the eternal hills, where they have become young again.

To another class of persons I introduce the angel of hope, and they are the invalids. I cannot take the diagnosis of your disorder, but let hope cheer you with one of two thoughts. Such marvelous cures are being wrought in our day through meditation and surgery that your invalidism may yet be mastered. Persons as ill as you have got well.

Cancer and tuberculosis will yet give way before some new discovery.
I see every day people stronger and wiser and not long ago I saw pallid
and leaning heavily on a staff and hardly able to climb stairs.

But if you will not take the hand of hope for earthly convalescence let me point you to the perfect body you are yet to have if you love and serve the Lord. Death will put a prolonged anaesthetic upon your present body, and you will never again feel an ache or pain, and then you will see every day people stronger and
wiser and not long ago I saw pallid
and leaning heavily on a staff and hardly able to climb stairs.

Now, let me introduce this feeling
into the lives of some who are at
times hopeless. There is a family
whose son has gone to the front. Father
and mother have not given him
up, he seems so headstrong, so un-

Again, let me introduce the element of hope to those good people who are in despair about the world's moral condition. They have gathered up appalling statistics. They tell of the number of divorces, but do not take into consideration that there are a thousand happy homes where there is one of marital discord. They tell you of the large number in our land who are living profligate lives, but forget to mention that there are many millions of people who are doing the best they can. They tell you of the number of drunkard in this country, but fail to mention the thousands of glorious churches with two will enter for pardon and consolation and the other door opening into the heavens for the ascent of souls prepared for translation.

Let Hope say to the foreboding:
"Do all you can with Bible and spelling book and philosophic apparatus, but toil with the sunlight in your faces or your efforts will be a failure. The pallor in the sky is not another phase of the night, but the
is as sure to come as to-night will be followed with to-morrow. Things are not going to ruin. The Lord's hosts are not going to be drowned in the Red sea of trouble. Miriam's timbre will play on the high banks of 'Israel Delivered.' High hope for the home! High hope for the church!
High hope for the world!"

I introduce the angel of Hope to those who through disease have lost Christian friends. "How could I find them," says a bereft soul, "up there in the land of the multitudinous?"
You may find them by inquiry, by heavenly escort and by unfailing memory of the guard at the gate.
"And he carried me away in the spirit to a great and high mountain and showed me that great city, the holy Jerusalem, descending out of heaven from God, having the glory of God, and her light was like unto a stone most precious, even like a jasper stone, clear as crystal, and had a wall great and high and had twelve gates and at the gates twelve angels." So you see there will be an angel guarding each gate. As you go in ask the armed guard. He saw your loved one pass through and will know the direction to take and by what fountain or in what street of gold is the mansion prepared. The blessed Christ knows where your departed loved one is and he will tell you if no one else will. Fifty ways of finding out the whereabouts of your ascended one. "But will I surely know him when I get there, for he will be so changed?" Yes, for you will be just as changed, and your spirit will be as changed, and your soul will be as easily distinguished by soul there as on earth the body is distinguished by the body.

Then cultivate hope in regard to your own health. Your own financial prosperity, your own longevity, by seeing how in other people God mercifully reverses things and brings to pass the unexpected, remembering that Washington lost more battles than he gained, but triumphed in the last, and further, by making sure of eternal safety through Jesus Christ, understand that you are on the way to palaces and thrones. This life is a span long, ending in durations of bliss that neither human nor angelic faculties can measure or estimate—a redolence of a springtime that never ends and fountains tossing in the light of a sun that never sets. May God thrill us with anticipations of this immortal glee!

"Which hope?"
I said in the opening of this subject that my text was only the wave on the beach, while the whole verse from which it is taken is an ocean.
But the ocean tides are coming in, and the sea is getting so deep I must be wading out as I waded in, for what mortal can stand before the mighty surges of the full tide of eternal gladness? "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard; neither hath it entered into the heart of man the things which God hath prepared for them
that love him."

Quality

Quality is what we are continually looking out for. No matter how cheap an article is it must be good before it finds a place in our stock. Those figs we are selling at 5c a lb. are good. Some cheap figs we have seen this year are poor, the skin is tough and a number have black seeds, but the ones we sell are fresh and tender, and we have yet to find one black one among them.

We have another shipment of last year's finest selected raisins. We are offering them at 5c a lb.

A great many people are using them for pies instead of apples.

To-day we expect to have in some more fine dates at 5c a lb. The last we had could scarcely be told from the new ones.

Detective Skirving Blames the Kingsville Chief of Police for Escape of Alleged Thief.

For some time back considerable thieving has been going on in and around Kingsville, but no trace of the thief could be found. A few days ago a box of biscuits disappeared from the railway station platform, and the matter was placed in the hands of Detective Skirving, of Chatham. That gentleman came here this morning and went to the house of Frank Gerst, who lives near the railroad, south of John D. Wigle's, and who had been suspected. Gerst was at home, and was left in charge of Chief of Police Rollo, who had been questioned by the detective. The following is a description of the man: He is about 33 years of age, five feet seven inches high; weighs 150 pounds; small, dark moustache, clean shaven otherwise; brown eyes, black hair; wore dark pea coat, dark clothes and ten shoes. Unless captured before this is in print he is wanted for burglary and other thefts here.—Kingsville Reporter.

COLLEGIATE CORRIDORS

Echoes From the Maple City Halls of Learning.

Excellent Meeting of the C. C. I. Literary and Musical Society.

The fifth regular meeting of this Society was held in the Assembly Hall at three o'clock yesterday afternoon. There was an attendance of about 300 Rev. Mr. Knowles, students from the Model School and Business College, and many ladies, honored the Society by their presence.

Letters of thanks and good wishes were read by Secretary Roy Benson from the following honorary members: Barristers Thos. Scullard and O. L. Lewis, Drs. T. K. Holmes and Geo. Musson, Rev. T. Beverley-Smith, and Editor H. Anderson, of The Planet.

During the afternoon the Glee Club sang "Swiss Waa Hae" and "Dollie Gray." Joseph Robert singing the solo of the latter song. Mr. Robert has a sweet tenor voice, which with cultivation will yet charm Chatham's best musical circles. Miss Annie Clements also sang a solo very pleasingly.

Ten pupils of Form 3B recited with good effect, "Horatius at the Bridge," by Lord Macaulay, each taking a section of his spirited poem. The names of the reciters are: R. M. Campbell, W. McGrail, Fred. Adams, F. C. White, Stuart Forbes, Olive Birch, Vida Adams, Nettie Leak, Mildred Broadbent, and Victoria McPherson.

The subject of debate was—"Resolved, that the Negro has received more injustice from the white man than the Indian." Affirmative: W. R. Wheeler and R. M. Campbell, C. C. I.; negative: W. Walsh and Simpson. Model School.

The discussion was quite spirited, and held the attention of the large audience to the very close. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative.

Charles Heath recited in good style a temperance poem entitled, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?"

A very successful meeting was closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

Life Often Made a Burden Through Nursing a Cross and Fretful Baby.

All babies should be good natured; well babies, if there is no outward reason for discomfort, are always good natured, and yet how many mothers permit themselves to be thoroughly worn out caring day and night for a sick, cross and fretful baby, when a little care and foresight would remove all the trouble, and make both mother and baby happy. The little one's suffering and crossness may be caused by any one of the numerous ills that make baby lives a misery to themselves and a constant source of worry and discomfort to the mother, such as colic, worms, indigestion, constipation, the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth, etc. When baby is cross do not, if you value your child's future, give it any of the so-called "soothing" medicines, as they only stupefy and deaden without removing the cause of the trouble. What is needed is a simple, vegetable compound, which reach the root of all the minor ailments of little ones, making them well and happy. The best proof of this is the high praise all mothers have used this medicine award it. Mrs. W. S. Beaverstock, Church street, Brockville, says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets in my house for several years, and know of no medicine for the little ones that can equal them. When my baby was teething she was restless, cross and peevish, and I could do very little with her. I gave her the tablets and they quieted her when other medicines did no good. When baby was troubled with constipation the tablets always gave prompt relief, but above all things I think they are most excellent in indigestion; she vomited a great deal, was very cross, and would scream with pain, and I had to get up with her many times during the night. No matter how much she ate, she kept growing thinner. It was then I began the use of the tablets, and she grew plump and fat, and I had no further trouble with her at night. I can recommend the tablets to any mother who has a sickly, cross or fretful baby, and I am sure she will never be without them again."

Baby's Own Tablets are easily administered (and dissolved in water, can be safely given to the youngest infant. If your druggist does not keep them, send 25c to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and a box will be sent you by mail, post paid.

He is richest who is content with the least; for content is the wealth of Nature.

IONE: A BROKEN LOVE DREAM

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

Author of "A Broken Betrothal," "Parted by Fate," "Parted at the Altar," "Heiress of Cameron Hall," "Miss Middleton's Lover," Etc., Etc.

How could she meet Arthur and hand him back his ring, with the pitiful words on her lips that the betrothal must be broken? She could imagine how the light would die out of his bonny face and the gladness from his eyes. In the midst of her woe the lines came to her:

"How strange it seems that law of Heaven's ordaining,
That not a rose should bloom without a thorn;
And when the cup of joy we would be draining Then from our lips so oft 'tis rudely torn!"

In thy dear eyes long since I did discover
The beacon-light of loving constancy;
Yet we must part; our happy dream is over;
Farewell, farewell, dear love! 'twas not to be!

"Low moans the wind; the heavens threatening lower;
O'er moor and mountain swift the storm-wreck flies;
Sad Nature's tears fall fast, a pitying shower,
And dark as night the path before me lies;

Yet an ill lead to winter or fair weather,
Of thee, dear love, I still shall think-of thee!
Heaven's will be done! Our happy dream is over!
Farewell, farewell, dear love! 'twas not to be!"

"I cannot see Arthur again!" she sobbed. "I will write him a letter, and enclose his ring. He will be home to-morrow."

Alas! how eagerly she had looked forward to his home-coming only forty-eight hours before! Now the very thought brought the bitterness of death to her heart.

That same afternoon Frank Lyons called on the colonel again. "Everything is perfectly satisfactory," he said at parting. "except that Arthur Rochester—Ione's lover—is still in your employ. As the first step in the new direction he must be discharged from your employ as soon as he returns."

And, although greatly against his conscience, the colonel was forced to acquiesce in this.

CHAPTER XVII.

It so happened that business connected with the iron mills took Arthur Rochester to New York for a day, which was quite contrary to his expectations; and the first person he met coming down the steps of the Stock Exchange was his father!

John Rochester would have passed his handsome, noble son by in silence and without recognition, but Arthur suddenly stopped short.

"Father," he said, eagerly extending his hand, "have you not one kind thought left in your heart for me?"

Mr. Rochester's fine old face turned a shade paler. He bowed stiffly as his eyes rested for one brief instant on the fair, debonair face and the happy expression on it.

No one knew, save himself, how he had yearned for his son; but he was too proud to relent and recall him. And, although he received Arthur's overtures with coldness and lowering brow, that would have daunted any one less brave, at heart he was well pleased.

If you have anything to say to me you may come to the house," said Mr. Rochester, ungraciously, and only too pleased at the scant courtesy extended, Arthur took his place beside his father in the car.

How the old butler's face lighted up when he saw his genial young master. He hurried down to the servants' hall all in a flutter, exclaiming, thankfully:

"The good Lord praised! The old gentleman and Master Arthur are reconciled at last. He brought young master home with him in his carriage. They are in his study."

Miss Rochester was almost overcome by the joyful intelligence, and Elaine Granger, the heiress, old Mr. Rochester's ward, was to use her own expression, "beside herself with delight."

She rang her bell hastily for her maid.

"Patrice," she said, excitedly, "I want you to bring my prettiest dress at once, and help me on with it quickly. Mr. Arthur Rochester is here."

Patrice was becoming quite used to hearing her pretty young mistress bemoan Arthur's absence with every day that had passed.

Aunt Hilda went down to the drawing-room at once and she was most agreeably surprised to hear the father and son talking upon the most amicable terms as she opened the door.

Arthur had made a clean breast of it, telling his father all, and how Ione was now not a poor working-girl, but Colonel Whitney's heiress; yes, heiress to the three millions of money which would be left her by the wealthy iron merchant of Pittsburgh, who was her uncle, and whose only living relative she was.

Arthur Rochester would have liked his proud old father rather better if he had not said, eagerly:

"As the case now stands, I am willing, of course, to withdraw my objections to the young lady. The heiress of Colonel Whitney of Pittsburgh, who is well and favorably known to me by reputation, is quite a different personage from a girl who earned her bread in the mill."

Arthur Rochester flushed to the roots of his fair, curly hair.

"My determination has never wavered," he said, spiritedly. "I would have won her had it laid in my power to do so when she was only a working-girl. She refused me then—yes, that is the truth—she refused the millionaire's son, only to accept me when fate brought us together again, and I hadn't a dollar, but was making my own way in the world. She knew that you had disinherited me, but she never knew why. God bless her!"

He had repented of that, and have made a new will," said John Rochester, huskily. "You are still my heir, Arthur, worth quite as much as the young lady herself."

"I'm quite as much obliged, father, but I shall not accept it," said Arthur, decisively. "I have learned that I can make my own way in the world, and life seems more acceptable to a man when he earns his own livelihood."

The entrance of Aunt Hilda Rochester cut short any further conversation, and a few moments later, Miss Granger, the heiress, joined them. All the old family servants gathered round the door, eager for one glimpse of "Master Arthur."

It brought tears to John Rochester's eyes when he saw and realized how dearly his son was beloved.

"I hope you have come to stay, Arthur," said Miss Granger, fluttering down into the velvet easy-chair opposite him, wondering while if he did not hear how her heart was throbbing, and if he noticed how the color came and went in her cheeks.

"Only for a day, Elaine," he said, lightly. "I must return to Pittsburgh once."

He must have been blind not to see how the color faded from her face, and her lips trembled; but the fact is, when a young man is in love with one woman, he seldom observes the emotions of another.

"In that case it was cruel kindness to come near us at all," pouted the little heiress, striving to keep back her tears of vexation. "I have missed you so much, Arthur," she went on, plaintively. "You know I always depended upon you as my cavalier on my rides and drives."

"I should have imagined you would have found many only too glad to fill my place at your side," he said, lightly.

"Do you wish I had?" she asked, and again he might have noticed the sudden whiteness of the girl's drooping face, and the quick, spasmodic quiver of her lips.

"Certainly," he responded, "you should have done so, Elaine. I am surprised that you did not."

"He has not missed my society as I have missed his," thought the girl, bitterly, for he could not say that.

It had been a strict secret with Mr. Rochester and his sister as to why Arthur had left home so suddenly, and Elaine never thought of connecting pretty Ione Lawrence with the cause of it.

It had been a dear wish of Mr. Rochester's that his lovely ward would one day be Arthur's wife, but he had long since abandoned all hope of it, having been brought to a full realization of the old adage that

"Love goes where it is sent."

As the evening wore on Arthur pondered long and earnestly as to whether he should speak to the family of his betrothal to Ione, and of their approaching marriage, or whether he had best leave that piece of news for his father to break to them. He concluded upon the latter course.

"I shall have something important to write to you very soon, Elaine," he said at parting, and those words dwelt for many a day in the girl's heart.

But the letter she looked for so long and so eagerly never came.

Arthur Rochester was all impatience to catch the western bound express the next morning.

It seemed to him the train fairly crept past the little village of the green sloping hills and vales, yet he comforted himself by the thought that every step brought him nearer to his darling.

"If an one day late, but she will be all the more anxious to see me," he told himself, with a smile on his lips.

A SERIES OF SIDELIGHTS

EDITED BY HELEN HALL.

SOME NEW BOOKS.

The book that is all the rage in London just now is "Lucas, Mait's." "Sir Richard Calmady." It is a psychological romance, and some critics think its popularity presages the revival of works treating of psychology.

Max O'Rell has a new book out entitled, "Her Royal Highness—Woman, and Her Majesty—Cupid." Max is liked for his humor, but that is all. He seems to have no very exalted opinion of either man or woman, and so persists in imposing undesirable peculiarities, without any desirable ones, that he leaves a bad taste in one's mouth. Evidently this new book is no exception to the rule, because one critic in speaking of it, says "Mait's is one of those fellows that think the joy out of life comes from the joy of the environment, and render it an unwearying garden, and of things rank and gross in nature, in his new book in which he treats of such subjects as coquetry and dress, her flirtations, and makes five classes for "Her Royal Highness—mamma, grannie, mother-in-law, widow and old maid. Max might find a more inspiring subject than the petty frivolities of some classes of women. Suppose he try "His Royal Nibs, man," by way of a change.

"The Man from Glengarry" is out in book form. After all the unfavorable criticisms, it ought to meet with a ready sale. If these unfavorable criticisms help the author as much as Gladstone helped the author as a ready-made, this book is said to be a much more finished book from a literary standpoint than the other two books of Ralph Connor.

DICKENS'S HAUNTS.

Do you remember how Mr. Tullingshorn went down the great staircase of the Docklands London house after his last interview with Lady Dedlock? Do you remember how she stopped upon the landing to consult the magnificent timepiece there, that would show a famous clock for ever if it had only need to tick into the old man's ear, "Don't go home!" Do you remember how he passed into the streets and walked on, with his head behind his back, and the shadows of the left hand of many of whose mysteries, difficulties, mortgages, delicate affairs of all kinds, were treasured up within his old black satin waistcoat.

A Teamster's Story.

SUFFERED GREATLY FROM ASTHMA AND KIDNEY TROUBLES.

Spent Some Time in a Hospital and Almost Impoverished Himself Buying Medicines Without Benefit—Again Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cure After Other Medicines Fail.

From the Recorder, Halifax, N. S.
Mr. William Cochran, a well known teamster, who lives near the Halifax Polo Grounds, is one of those who willingly bear testimony to the curative powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A reporter of the Acadian Recorder who had heard of Mr. Cochran's sufferings and subsequent cure, called at his home, when he gave an account of his experience, and said as follows:—
"He had for many years been a constant sufferer from asthma, accompanied by an aggravated form of kidney trouble. The latter trouble caused severe pains in the back and joints, and at times his sufferings were very acute. He said he had almost impoverished himself in buying medicines of all kinds, but to no purpose; the trouble continued and seemed to grow worse as the years passed. Mrs. Cochran said that she had frequently seen her husband choke up and fall to the floor as though dead, and he would have to be worked with and rolled around before he would revive. A few years ago he spent ten years in the Victoria General Hospital. The doctors then thought that the kidneys in the back were due to over exertion of his business as a teamster, but gave him no material help. After leaving the hospital, he used bottles and bottles of medicine, but failed to find a cure. A neighbor of his, Mr. Lowe, whose wife had been made a well woman after years of sickness, by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, advised him to try them. He used it for a couple of boxes without apparent result, and felt somewhat discouraged, but Mr. Lowe advised him to continue the use of the pills, and before the third box was finished, he began to improve. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been a Godsend to me," said Mr. Cochran; "they are the only medicine I have taken which seemed to do me any good. I had one prescription from a doctor which cost me $1.75 a bottle, which, like many other medicines I took, was just so much money wasted. I have tried eight or ten boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and can say that before I began their use life was an intolerable burden. I have reason to be thankful that I followed the friendly advice that urged me to use this medicine."

Most diseases have their origin in poor blood or weak nerves, and it is because Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make rich, red blood and strengthen the nerves that they have met with such success in curing kidney trouble, rheumatism, paralysis, St. Vitus dance, anæmia, nervous prostration and kindred troubles. See that the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" is on the wrapper around each box. If in doubt, send direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and the pills will be mailed post paid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

yet not a house of them all whispered in his hour of need, "Don't go home!" You remember how he came to the common streets with their blazing shop-lights and their pressing crowds, pitilessly urged upon his way by a fate that permitted nothing to meet him that should murmur "Don't go home!" Do you remember how at last "the dingy old London bird" arrives at his own dull room in Lincoln's Inn Fields, "those pastures where the sheep are all made into parchment, and the goats into wigs," that dingy chamber beyond the dusky hall where Mr. Samsby and his kind reigned supreme, that chamber whose only ornament is the decorative allegory overhead, with its clouds, and its flowers, and its pillars, and its big-legged boys, and its impudent Roman, who is forever tripping over the environment, and pointing, pointing like any Roman, or even Briton, with a single eye, pointing persistently, yet unavailingly, through dusty days and starlit nights. Do you remember how the moon shone upon that fatal evening, and what a multitude of stars there were in the heavens! Do you remember what a quiet night that was, quiet not only on dusty roads and on hill summits, but in forest, and garden, and on the wandering stream, quiet even in London where steeples and towers and domes drew ethereal in the pale effulgence, quiet "in those fields of Mr. Tullingshorn's habitation, where the shepherds play on Chancery pipes that have no stop, and keep their sheep in the fold by hook and by crook until they have shorn them exceedingly close?" Do you remember how a pistol shot disturbed that quietude, so that the few foot passengers stopped and stared about them; how windows and doors were opened in alarm; how a dog howled, and then how the clock struck ten! Moonlight, darkness, dawn, sunrise, day, and then do you remember how those who came to clean Mr. Tullingshorn's chambers either "the Roman has some new meaning in him not expected before, or the foremost of them goes wild, for on looking at his outstretched hand, and looking down at what is below it that person shrank and fled! Do you remember that day's soft trading and whispering, and the carrying out of something heavy, and the strict search of every corner, the careful tracing of steps and nothing of furniture, and how all eyes look up at the Roman as he enters, and all voices murmur, "If he could tell what he saw!"—for he, "pertinacious Roman" that he is, is pointing at a table with a bottle (nearly full) of water, and a glass, and two candles that were blown out suddenly soon after being lighted! He is pointing at an empty chair, and at a stain upon the ground before it, a stain that could be covered by a hand, a stain so easy to cover, so hard to get out, for Mr. Tullingshorn's time is over for evermore, and the Roman pointed, and the murderous hand up-lifted against his life, and pointed helplessly at the light from right to morning, lying face downward on the floor, shot through the heart.

If you remember all these things, and remember with what excited pulse he went to bed, and with what fluttering breath, you encountered them when for the first time you read "Black House," then you will, no doubt, be interested, though concerned to learn that despite the fact that they are reviving Dickens in portrait editions, in family editions, in cheap editions, in edition-de-luxe, they are still hard at it demolishing every trace of his old haunts and houses of last year. The Black House of Mrs. Gamp fame. Yesterday it was Little Nell's Old Curiosity Shop. To-day it is John Chester's house in Lincoln's Inn, and with it the dingy chamber and "the ceiling of the pertinacious Roman."

WHAT'S WORN.

Every fashion note you pick up says the pompadour must go but the pompadour remains that it has gone. Word comes from Paris that the ladies there have burnt their hair so much trying to have a wavy pompadour that they have to wear false hair. However, as soon as their hair grows again they promise us the bang or fringe so it might be well for us to be getting ready for it.

A mode of trimming which is very much used this season is done with round pieces of silk like the waist, prettily embroidered with an opening across a little below the centre of each circle. Velvet ribbon or stitched bands may be threaded through these silks and used in various ways for finishing edges or stripping a bodice up and down. The circles are arranged several inches apart and very flat.

Malt Breakfast Food

Far Ahead of Liquid Malt Extracts for Imparting Health and Strength

When it is possible, judge for yourself, more especially in matters concerning health. A large number of worthy people in order to gain flesh and strength, use malt extract. It should be well known that the liquids are spoiled by the admixture of fermented liquors, and are injurious to indigestion.

For the gaining of health, strength and vigor, eat malt; do not drink it. Malt Breakfast gives to all who are seeking for strength and robustness the pure Malt in its simple and fresh condition. This malt renders the starch of the wheat soluble, giving a food in which digestion has commenced, therefore easily digested by the human digestive organs.

It is an established fact, one worthy of note—that one package of Malt Breakfast Food contains more nourishment and strengthening qualities than can be found in one dozen bottles of liquid extract costing from fifteen to twenty times more money. See your grocer.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

The municipal elections in Nova Scotia were run on party lines, and the Liberals carried 16 out of 18 counties. In late years men have made fortunes out of the tailoring of gold mines. The mills in which the ore formerly was crushed and the crude processes then in use allowed a large percentage of the precious metal to escape, and that loss amounted in some cases to a fortune. The loss of the mill is just like a stamp mill in this respect, that when it is not in perfect order it allows the escape and waste of much of the precious nutrient contained in the food. That loss when continuous means the loss of the greatest fortune—health. Science offers a remedy for this condition in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It corrects the "weakness" of the stomach, prevents waste and loss of nourishment, and restores the heart, and organs of digestion and nutrition into a condition of health which enables them to save and assimilate all the nutrient contained in the food which is eaten. In all the preparation the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will speedily and permanently cure the disease.

Ferrozone Tablets make blood; not blue blood, but the fluid that strengthens the whole body. ## Speaker's Sore Throat

Public speakers and singers know how useless and sickening are cough mixtures, sprays, lozenges, etc., for irritable sore throat, and state that the most satisfactory remedy is Catarrhose, the advantage of which is that it acts quickly and is convenient to use in public places. Catarrhose relieves congestion, allays inflammation, and is a protection to the membrane. As a safe guard against colds and Catarrh it has no equal. Rev. Dr. McKay, Goderich, says,—"Catarrhose is an excellent remedy for throat irritation arising from throat irritation." Physicians, ministers and singers recommend Catarrhose; druggists sell it for $1. ## The Household

Cocoa Nut Biscuit.—Grate a cocoanut and let it dry on paper before a fire; beat to a stiff froth the whites of two eggs, add to them five ounces of powdered loaf sugar, six ounces of the grated cocoanut and one ounce of corn flour; beat all well together, and if found to be too moist, add a teaspoonful more of corn flour. Drop the mixture in spoonfuls on a sheet of buttered paper; bake in a slow oven.

Nut Patties.—These are much relished by children, and are much frowned upon by the adults. They are simply and easily made. Take one egg, one cup each of butter, sugar, flour and finely chopped nuts, together with a pinch of salt. Beat the egg until very light, add the sugar and beat once more; then stir in the flour and nuts until smoothly mixed. Drop in spoonfuls on a greased tin and bake in a moderately quick oven to a beautiful brown.

Rice Buns.—Put one-quarter pound finely ground rice into a basin with one-fourth pound powdered loaf sugar, one tablespoonful flour; one-half teaspoonful baking powder, a little grated lemon peel and two ounces butter; mix thoroughly with a small wooden spoon; add two well-beaten eggs, and beat all lightly together for five minutes. Butter some small patty pans, put a tablespoonful of the mixture in each, and bake for about one-quarter of an hour in a moderately hot oven.

Soft Gingerbread.—One cup sugar, one cup butter, one cup of sour milk, buttermilk or clabber, one cup sorghum molasses, four cups sifted flour, two teaspoons of soda in one tablespoonful of water. Stir the butter and sugar well, then add the molasses, eggs, then add the molasses. When well mixed strain the soda and water, then spices, cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg, one tablespoonful of each; add the fruit, but not well; bake in layers. You can use icing, or if preferred, fruit filling.

Scalloped Apples.—Put a layer of pared apples cut in eighths or sliced in a buttered pudding dish. Add a tablespoonful of sugar, a little cinnamon or nutmeg, and dot with bits of butter, then put a thin layer of fine crackers or stale bread crumbs. Alternate these layers until the dish is nearly full, finishing with the crumbs and putting in at the last about half a cup of hot water or more, according to the juiciness of the apples. Cover and bake an hour, being careful it does not burn on the bottom, then uncover and brown the top. Serve with cream, or with butter and sugar stirred to a cream and flavored. Good either hot or cold.

Durham Cutlets.—Take six ounces cold minced meat, six ounces bread crumbs, one-third pint of stock or gravy, a teaspoonful of mushroom ketchup, one and one-half ounces of flour, one-half teaspoonful curry powder, a tablespoonful of butter, and a frying pan, and the flour, and when dissolved add stock, curry, salt, pepper and ketchup; let this boil three or four minutes, then add meat and half a cup of crumbs; stir thoroughly, then spread on a large dish and cool; divide the mixture and form in shape of mutton cutlets; beat an egg slightly and with it paint over each fry; roll in remaining crumbs and cutlet a light brown, smoking hot fat.

A good cement for rubber or leather is made by dissolving an ounce of gutta percha in half a pound of chloroform. Then warm each part in the flame of a candle and press them firmly together until dry.

To clean a zinc-lined bath-tub, mix to a smooth paste of ammonia and whiting. Apply it to the zinc and let it dry. Then rub off until no dust remains.

FALL PLANTING OF TREES.

Young trees that are brought from the nursery should be planted in the fall. Over 95 per cent. of the nursery trees die in the winter without sufficient moisture to keep the trees in perfect condition. These trees should be delivered in the fall and set out in the orchard before January. The roots of the trees are set in the orchard after being dug the better. The trees should be well planted and the moist soil pressed firmly about the roots. The top of the tree gives off moisture in the winter through the bark, and the roots must be well packed in moist soil to supply this moisture, a condition which seldom exists when the trees are in temporary quarters. If the trees are set in the fall, the soil settles around the roots in the winter and will be full of moisture, and the trees are ready to start into full and rapid growth in the spring. November and December are usually the best months for transplanting trees and shrubs. Trees set in the spring will usually grow and do well, but the results are not so uniformly satisfactory. The trees are seldom in as good condition for spring setting as for fall.

A SUCCESS

School Concert at Chatham Centre to Raise Money for Library—Proceeds $50.

The Darrell public school pupils and their friends gave an excellent concert in the Town Hall, Chatham Centre, last evening. The concert had for its object the securing of funds for the purchase of a school library, and about $50 was realized. The hall was crowded to the doors with people standing in the aisles and all over the building. The excellence of the program can be judged when, although it lasted till 10 o'clock, none of the audience, not even those standing, became impatient.

James Clancy, M. P., occupied the chair. After explaining the objects of the concert, he said that the rural districts were to-day infinitely ahead of what cities were only a few years ago. There were two elements that laid the foundation of good citizenship—the churches and the schools. He congratulated Miss Wilson, the teacher of the Darrell school, on the excellent attendance.

Mr. Lanning had a seat on the platform with Mr. Clancy. At the conclusion of the meeting three rousing cheers were given for East Kent's representative in the Dominion House.

CAUSE OF DEAFNESS

The Most Common Cause Only Recently Discovered.

It has been stated on good medical authority, that nine-tenths of cases of deafness are caused from Catarrh or from sore throat trouble.

The little tube which leads to the ear from the throat is lined with a sort of velvety structure called the mucous membrane. This membrane is simply a continuation of the mucous membrane lining of the throat. When disease of any sort attacks the mucous membrane of the throat it is very liable to extend into the eustachian tube and up into the ear.

The history of nearly all cases of deafness is like this: a cold is contracted and neglected, other colds are taken, the throat becomes sore and inflamed, which is aggravated by particles of dust and germs from the air. This condition causes the disease to spread into the tube that leads to the ear.

It seems a little far fetched to say that most cases of deafness are caused from catarrh, but it is certainly true, and anyone who has had a severe catarrhal cold must have noticed how the hearing was affected while the cold lasted.

With catarrh sufferers this impairment of hearing becomes chronic and grows worse the longer the catarrh is neglected.

You can cure catarrh and deafness by the regular use of an excellent new preparation called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, composed of antiseptic remedies which act both on the mucous membranes, but principally and most effectively on the blood, eliminating the catarrhal poison from the system.

People whose hearing is defective may think it a little remarkable that a simple and harmless tablet would very often remove all traces of deafness, but when it is remembered that the catarrh is easily cured by the regular use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets there is no mystery about it.

If you are subject to nasal catarrh or catarrh of throat, bronchial tubes or catarrh of stomach and liver, the safest and most effective treatment is the new catarrh specific, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, sold by all druggists at 50c for full sized package.

JUDGE BELL'S DECISION VARIED.

The following judgment in Middleton vs. Scott, shows something more than sale costs involved, that there was no tender of principal and interest the last year, and completely exonerates Mr. White against all charges.

In Single Court, before Street, J.—Middleton vs. Scott.—Judgment (L.) on appeal by defendant from report of Master at Chatham in an action for redemption. The Master found that as the defendant had always insisted on payment of certain costs for proceedings to sell under a power of sale a tender of principal and interest in October, 1898, alone would have been useless, and since that date, the sum of $398.48 the proper amount then due, had been set apart and kept for paying the amount properly due, and that plaintiff was aware of the amount and fact, held, that under the circumstances the proceedings were abandoned, and the costs for the purposes of this action must be paid by the defendant.

The action was brought by the plaintiff to recover the sum of $398.48, and there had not been a tender of the sum of $398.48, and the sum of $398.48, with interest at 6 per cent, on $300 from October 25, 1898, and on $24 with interest at 8 per cent from that date. No costs of appeal were paid, and the plaintiff was ordered to pay the costs of the appeal.

The usual time for redemption and calculating interest to date so fixed. Further directions are not reserved because under judgment, and in the result of the inquiry the party is ordered to pay the costs of the appeal.

Middleton, for defendant, M. Wilson, K. C., and J. B. O'Flynn (Chatham) for plaintiff.

HELP AT HAND

The Terrors of Dyspepsia Have at Last been Overcome—No One Need Suffer a Moment Longer.

Since man began to eat, his stomach has been a source of trouble.

Often he eats what he should not, and how he should not, and then Nature protests in Heartburn, Sour Stomach, Dyspepsia, or Indigestion.

For many years laxatives were the only treatment thought of for such troubles.

Now, however, man has become wiser, and has at last found a better medicine; one that cures.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have never failed to cure stomach weakness.

They are composed of the very best digestive and curative agents known to medical science.

The proof that they are right is found in the fact that they always relieve, and when used persistently, never fail to cure.

And still, many suffer the tortures of Dyspepsia, because they have not heard of this wonderful medicine, or because having heard, they confuse it with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets with the thousand and one so-called dyspepsia cures.

There is only one sure cure, and the name is Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

They are 50c a box. All druggists sell them. If you are a sufferer, do not hesitate a moment. If you are not, but know of one who is, let him hear the good news.

Think of the relief from which you are exempt, and it will aid you to bear patiently those which you may now suffer.

Golden Text—"Woe unto them that are mighty to drink wine."

Although the lesson is given to singing Israel 700 years before Christ, it is as applicable 1900 years after to religious people and Christian nations. Fermented wine is a type of worldly joy, folly, wrath and sin, while the pure juice of the grape—like the unleavened bread—is a type of the pure life blood of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Death in one cup, life in the other. There are never voices in one lesson pronounced by God—verse 8th, on monopolizing; verse 11th, on drunkenness; verse 18th, on presumption; verse 20th, on false teachers; verse 21st, woe on pride and egotism; verse 22nd, on brave drinkers who are bribed to prevent justice; verse 25th, national woe, destruction and captivity as the climax. "The wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God."

Men's and Boys' Caps

To see the caps we've purveyed for this winter, a stranger would think Canadian men and boys wore no other headgear.

We'll sell them all too. Nothing in the store sells faster. If you are out in all weathers or do any driving you want one of course. The hat isn't made that properly protects a man's head for winter driving.

These first snow-furries suggest that you come and pick your cap. We have shapes enough to make choosing easy. Falkirks, college caps, tie-tops, deep, comfortable fur fellows.

Men's fur caps, selected by an expert in furs, and guaranteed to be the equal of any that can be bought in Ontario at the prices. Felt caps include cone Persian lamb, beaver opossum, astrachan and Baltic seal, prices range from a thickly fur-lined black cone at $1.50 to $10. Men's caps in positively all the correct shapes, with or without visor, including some with double bands, checks, plain blue, black or gray cloth and a line of salette.....25c, 50c, 75c Boys' wedge shaped gray lamb, caps, extra fine fur and well lined $2.50 and....$3

A Message To Torture And Racked Sufferers

A LADY TELLS OF HER CURE BY Paine's Celery Compound

Her Condition Before Using The Great Medicine Was So Bad She Could Not Raise Her Hand To Her Head and could not Walk.

In the majority of cases, the prime cause of rheumatism is a lack of nerve force. When the nervous system is weakened, the joints usually throb, the knees, elbows and wrists, and there is severe inflammation and suffering. Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that can banish the gathering symptoms and permanently cure the most terrible cases of the disease. Thousands of strong testimonials from the people of Canada—many from your near friends and neighbors—prove conclusively that no other medicine possesses such marvelous powers for the cure of rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago. An Orilla, Ont. lady, Mrs. S. W. Sullivan, writes thus:

"Early last autumn I was badly afflicted with rheumatism so badly I could not raise my hands to my head and often could not walk owing to pains and stiffness of joints. At night I rarely slept owing to nervousness and feelings of exhaustion. I commenced to use Paine's Celery Compound, and soon found myself greatly relieved, (and after use of first bottle, my pains and nervous feelings were banished. In order to make the cure complete, I used the second bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and now I am as strong as ever before, I sleep well, appetite is always good, and my digestive vigor all that I could wish for."

Nov. 23.—Mrs. Dusty is quite ill. The proceeds of the supper given by the ladies of the Presbyterian church on Thursday evening amounted to $12.

Mrs. Scarff and sister, Mrs. Morrison, spent yesterday in Detroit.

Rev. J. B. Keenly will preach special Thanksgiving services to-morrow.

Mrs. Kersey, of Toronto, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Coutts, a few days this week.

There will be service in the Presbyterian church on Thanksgiving day, when there will be a special collection for the Home Mission Fund.

Time is like a creditor who allows an ample space of time to make up accounts but is inexorable at last. There are some people who always discover a mistake when it is too late to rectify it.

Paine's Celery Compound is the medicine you should use when you lack nerve energy, when the body is poorly nourished, when you are weak, run-down, dependent or sleepless.

Paine's Celery Compound breaks the nerves, strengthens the liver and kidneys, and cleanses the blood.

—Hood's Sarsaparilla cures radically—that is, it removes the roots of disease. That's better than lopping the branches.
