LIBERALS ATTACK LOCAL OPTION IN OWEN SOUND, ONT.

Must Buy Barrel of Stout to Get Doctor's Prescription.

LOCAL OPTION FAILS

OWEN SOUND, July 14.—Although there are many Conservatives who will vote for the Liberal candidate in this bye-election to-day, it is understood certain Liberals have likewise forewarned their political allegiance, and will vote Conservative.

Denounce Local Option

The difference is that they have voted from the party on the temperance issue. They do not believe that local option has been a success.

Flat Failure, Says Another

"I would put it stronger than that," said Mr. Joseph Raven. "Local option is a flat failure in Owen Sound."

Must Buy a Barrel

"They won't send up a dozen bottles. The smallest shipment I can get is a barrel. To secure a couple of dozen bottles and carry out the orders, I'll have to buy a barrel."

Died To-Day

LONDON, July 14.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst and Miss Annie Kenney, two of the militant suffragette leaders, defied the government and the courts of law this afternoon by appearing at the weekly meeting of the Women's Social and Political Union.

Mrs. Pankhurst said she had come against her doctor's orders, but that if she was well enough to be returned in prison by Reginald McKenna, the Home Secretary, she was also well enough to attend a meeting of her comrades. Miss Kenney holding aloft two of her licenses under the "eat and mouse act" asked for bids for them and they were sold by auction for $30 each.

HERO'S DEATH RECALLS THAT OF LT. BUILDER

Brantford Hero Shot Where Major Cockburn Received Victoria Cross.

BRAVE MAN IS GONE

Word has been received in Toronto that Major Cockburn, V.C., a native of that city, was accidentally killed by a horse on his ranch in Saskatchewan. In addition to the Victoria Cross, he also held many other rewards for bravery, including the Royal Humane Society's medal for saving the lives of his two brothers from drowning.

A Brave Deed

Philip A. Wailkin's book, "The History of the Victoria Cross," which is an account of the 520 acts of bravery for which the decoration has been awarded, says of Major Hamilton Zane Churchill Cockburn of the Royal Canadian Dragoons.

"On November 7, 1900, at Kotani River, the guns were in great danger of being captured by the Boers, but Lieutenant Cockburn behaved with conspicuous coolness and bravery and with only a few men held off the enemy long enough to enable the guns to be got successfully away to safety, not, however, without severe loss among his gallant followers, all of whom were killed, wounded or taken prisoner, he himself being wounded."

Alongside Cockburn and assisting him was Lieut. Builder, a Brantford boy and member of the 48th Dufferin Rifles. He also, it was officially announced, had he lived, would have likewise been decorated with the highest order for bravery in the world. However, he was fatally wounded and died on the field. He told friends when he embarked at the Brantford depot for the scene of action: "I'll come back with the V. C. or they'll bury me out there."

DONOVAN SOLD TO OTTAWA CLUB

Good Brantford Pitcher is Let Go—He Had Some Faults.

Harry Donovan will no longer wear a Brantford uniform. He has been sold to the Ottawa Baseball Club. Donovan was a pitcher with a wonderful arm and a temperament. It was for temperamental reasons that Brantford decided to part company with him.

FLYING MACHINE WRECKED NEAR OAKVILLE

Victor Carlstrom Flying From Brantford to Toronto Fell 700 Feet When Controlling Rod Snapped—Machine is Wrecked.

Losing control of his airplane while travelling at the rate of an 80-mile an hour clip near Oakville yesterday morning, Victor Carlstrom glided from a height of 700 feet to the ground. His machine struck a tree, and hung there, while he was flung out by the impact. He was uninjured, and came to Toronto by the afternoon train.

Carlstrom was flying to Toronto from Brantford. He left Brantford about 8 o'clock with a heavy wind directly behind him. At 8:30, when he had covered 40 of the 60 miles of the trip, the rod by which he controlled the plane broke off short. He was 200 feet in the air at the time, and could only hold fast to the seat while the machine swerved and dipped and finally careened over on one side, plunging edgewise towards the earth.

Seen at the Palmer House last night the aviator could not account for his escape from injury or death. "Machine is a wreck. "I must have been doing 80 miles an hour or better," he said. "My machine can do 50 miles without aid from the wind, and I had it right behind me this morning. The machine is a wreck."

"The control lever," he explained, "is of light steel piping. I had bent it some days ago, and did not bother heating it when I bent it back, so I guess it was a bit weak. I had to use it a great deal this morning in the heavy wind, and at times there was a big strain on the rod. When an exceptionally heavy gust came along it snapped under my hand. "I stayed with the machine as long as I could. When she hit the tree I left her, and she fell. It's strange I didn't hit a branch and knock myself out, but I had all the luck."

"Will you fly again?" asked The World. "Off for Another."

"Yes I'm off for New York tomorrow morning to get a new biplane. You can expect me back Wednesday, or Tuesday night if the wind acts right."

Victor Carlstrom was to have made extra non flights in the city during the present week. He is from Colorado and was driving a biplane, which is fashioned, something like the Curtiss models, he point where he came to grief is two miles north of Oakville, in a farming district, and no great crowd collected to see the shattered machine. The latter will be shipped back to the United States to-day.

Mr. Smoke Is Leaving

Well Known Brant Co. Lawyer Removes to Toronto.

Mr. Franklin Smoke, who for twenty-two years has enjoyed the leading law practice in Paris, has decided to remove to Toronto. Recently his brother, the distinguished member of a leading legal firm in the city, passed suddenly, away, and Mr. Smoke will now become a partner in his place. He expects to leave for his new sphere of action in about two weeks.

He has during his residence in Paris rightly enjoyed the highest respect, not alone of the residents of that town, but also of many friends in Brantford and the County. Strictly honorable in all his dealings, he has upheld the best traditions of the law in the highest sense of that term, and has rightly enjoyed the esteem of members of the profession and of the public alike. In politics he has been a tower of strength on the Conservative side in North Brant, and as a bowler he has also manifested the same characteristics on the green as in all other walks of life. The Courier heartily wishes him every success in his new and enlarged sphere.

Dufferin Band Engagements. Bandmaster Johnson of the Dufferin Rifles, received contracts this morning for the Canadian National Exhibition for Sept. 4 and 14th. He has also on Aug. 13th and 14th. These are three very fine engagements, and shows that the Duffis have a fine reputation.

WANT AD HOROSCOPE

JULY 14

Persons born on this date are inclined to be fickle and inconstant and unless they conquer this, much unhappiness will be caused if they marry. A person born on this date will be musically inclined, love extravagance in dress and delight in showy surroundings.

It is a remarkable peculiarity of these people that, while they are often fickle, changeable and untrue, they are very exacting of others and very domineering in their demands of constancy from those whom they love. This is especially true of the women of this birthdate. Men of this birthdate are clever mechanics, sometimes inventors and composers.

The present week is favored by all planetary conditions for changes and travel. The Want Ads will be found helpful in locating desirable property, real estate, and exchanges of household articles.

Old Lady Fall. An middle-aged lady who was walking up the east side of South Market street, received a nasty fall at the corner of Colborne street last night. The lady stepped off the "rickety old board walk" and stumbled her toe on the cement walk which is very much higher at this point. She fell heavily on the pavement and was unable to walk for some time, owing to the pain she was suffering. The sidewalk in question is a disgrace to the city, and it is time it was replaced.

Lying under a corner of the hedge, which runs along the road in that vicinity, someone threw a stone weighing probably one pound, striking the frame of the wind shield and breaking the glass. An attempt was made to locate the guilty party, who got away under cover of darkness and the hedge. The matter was reported to the police, but owing to there being no clue the police have failed to locate the party.

With the City Police

Only a few cases came up this morning, but they took the whole morning. Harry Dubray, the bartender at the American Hotel, was charged by J. D. Rowan, a Pinkerton detective, with theft of money and other articles from the hotel. Money amounting to $40.20, five bottles of whiskey, and four boxes of cigars were on exhibition. Mr. O'Reilly, proprietor of the hotel, said he had been missing money regularly and two detectives were sent for to look into the matter. Forty dollars in marked money was changed at the bar and some of the marked money was found on Dubray when arrested. Messrs. Rowan and Mast, the two Sherlock Holmes' in the case, gave evidence to the effect that Dubray would slip the money into his hip pocket.

Mr. O'Reilly declared that the receipts for June were about $200 short of what they should have been. The defendant, who is only 26 years old has been working in the city for about four months, coming here from Deseronto. When asked how he had obtained the cigars and whiskey the defendant told a story that they were given him by friends and relatives. His story did not satisfy Magistrate Livingston and Dubray was remanded till to-morrow without bail.

Bert Young charged John W. Hartnell with conversion of some money. It appears that Hartnell had sold three sewing machines and in carrying the money around with him, he lost it. As this was his first offence he was allowed to go on paying costs and on suspended sentence. Chas. Benwell charged Vejadi Janos with housebreaking. Mr. Benwell found the man in the cellar. Vejadi explained that he had been at a wedding. His Worship declared it was a case of too much wedding and the case was dismissed on payment of costs. Mrs. Rose Blaken was charged with keeping a disorderly house, and Percy Minsell and John Stewart were charged with frequenting said house. Five witnesses declared that the house a very bad reputation. One man declared that he had been

BULGARIANS OUTRAGE WOMEN

Terrible Fate Befalls Town - Atrocities on Men-- Bulgars Ferocious.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

SALONKI, July 14.—The sack- ing and burning of the town of Serres by the defeated Bulgarian army, and the accompanying outrages on women and atrocities on men, were fully confirmed to-day in a despatch from a well known Greek correspond- ent. The retreating Bulgarian aE7-coldiers, he telegraphs, opened a cannonade with four field guns, doing great damage in the town. At the same time bands of Bulgarian soldiers, led by their officers, scoured the streets, first pillaging the stores and houses and then setting them on fire, until the greater part of the town was blazing.

The soldiers were accompanied by the notorious revolutionary colonel Vankoff, who with other former officers of the Bulgarian army, was very active in Macedonia in 1904.

The foreign consulates in Serres were not spared, according to the correspondent. The Austro-Hungarian consular offices were plundered and burned. Vice-Consul George C. Zlatko being carried off the marauders, but subsequently ransomed. The Italian consulate was also attacked, but no damage was done.

The Bank of Athens, the Oriental Bank, the place of the Metropolitan, the great synagogue, all the schools, the tobacco warehouses of the Austrian, Germany and American com- panies and the hospital were burned after they had been pillaged. The American Tobacco Company alone suffered to the extent of $100,000.

Many people were crucified, hewed to pieces or burned alive by the mad- dened Bulgarians, who committed incredible outrages on women of all ages, many of whom died from the effects of the mishandling.

The condition of those who escap- ed is lamentable. Rich merchants are dying of hunger, while wretched mothers, trembling with cold, are trying to find covering and food for their naked and starving children.

The situation is desperate as all the pharmacies were burned down, and there is a total lack of medicines for the sick and bandages for the injured.

The Greek authorities in Saloniki are rushing food stuffs, clothing and medicines to the stricken town.

GIANTS TRIM REDS INCLUDING AMES

Demaree Gets Better of Argument With Former New York Pitcher.

PIRATES WIN 10 STRAIGHT

Phillies Have Batting Day and Beat Cards - Dodgers Lose Ten Straight.

NEW YORK, July 12—New York defeated Cincinnati before a large crowd here to-day by the score of 3 to 1. Demaree outpitched Ames, the old Giant favorite, who made his first appearance on the Polo grounds in a Cincinnati uniform. Ames pitched a strong game, however, and was given noisy encouragement by a considerable portion of the crowd. Devore and Groh, the other payers recently traded to Cincinnati, also got cordial receptions. Score by innings: Cincinnati.....00000100—5 1 New York.....0100001X—3 7 1

Pirates' Eighth Straight Boston, July 12—By defeating Boston to-day, 6 to 4, Pittsburgh won its eighth victory this week. The locals took the lead by hitting Robinson hard in the second and third innings. Pittsburgh went ahead in the fourth inning, the visitors scoring 3 runs on a base on balls to Komer, errors by Maranville and Sweeney, singles by Miller and McCarthy and an unfielded out. In the last half of the fourth, Boston tied the score on a two-base hit by Rariden and a single by Maranville. Score by Innings: Pittsburgh.....00030030—6 7 1 Boston.....011100001—4 13 5

Phillies' Four Home Runs PHILADELPHIA, July 12—Philadelphia hammered the ball to-day for 17 hits for a total of 35 bases and beat St. Louis by 12 to 1. Becker led with a home run, a triple and a double. Luderus made a home run, a triple and a single. Lobert secured a home run, a double and a single and four other players, including Cravath, who also made a home run, each gathered in a pair of safeties. Ten of the hits were made off Griner, who was succeeded in the fourth inning by Geyer. Brennan kept St. Louis' hits scattered and was given excellent support. Manager Huggins, of St. Louis, was still suffering to-day from the effect of being hit upon the head by Pitcher Tyler, of Boston, yesterday and remained at his hotel. He is not seriously hurt. Score by Innings: St. Louis.....00100000—1 10 3 Philadelphia.....2126001X—12 17 1

Dodgers Lose Ten in a Row BROOKLYN, July 12—Brooklyn and Chicago battled to innings to-day, the locals going down to their tenth straight defeat, 6 to 5. Brooklyn used five pitchers and Chicago two. Chicago got off to a four run lead by hitting Ragan for two doubles on top of an error and a pass in the first and a homer by Leach in the second. Curtis relieved Ragan in the fourth and allowed only three hits and one run in four innings. Allen pitched the eighth and part of the ninth, filling the bases with one out and being saved by a fast double play. Score by Innings: Chicago.....31010000—6 11 3 Brooklyn.....0011001200—5 10 3

Martyr of Worlds Series Shines as Heroes Fall

If there are martyrs as well as heroes in the world series Buck O'Brien was a martyr in the battle for the world's championship in 1912. While "Smoky Joe" Wood lived up to his reputation to a large extent, and Hugh Bedient, a rank outsider in the doping, horned into the spot in the eighth inning, O'Brien, counted on with Wood and Collins as the Boston Red Sox chief reliance, fizzled his chances away. Boston won the first game with Wood pitching, 4 to 3. The second was a tie battle, 6 to 6. O'Brien started the third. The Giants beat him 2 to 4. In the fourth Wood came back and won, 3 to 1, and Bedient did the best pitching furnished by a Boston hurler in the fifth game, winning 2 to 1. That gave Boston three victories and New York one. Another game won the title for Boston. Jake Stahl trusted Buck with the work of grabbing off the fourth victory. O'Brien pitched just one inning—a round of baseball that will live as long as the game. In that chapter of play eight Giants were at the bat against O'Brien. Six of them hit safely and five of them scored. But what made the inning remarkable was a balk that O'Brien pulled. This balk proved the break in the game that enabled New York to win. It put the Giants back into the running and almost landed them the world's championship, as they also won the seventh game, and in the tenth inning of the eighth game, which New York, to all appearances, had the title clinched. Snodgrass made that $20,000 miff of Engle's fly and three players allowed Speaker's easy foul fly to drop safe, the combination of misplay giving Boston the world championship. O'Brien did not pitch after he made that balk in the first inning of the sixth game. Wood and Bedient walked away with the pitching honors. Since Boston edged out winner, O'Brien did not draw the criticism he otherwise would, but no one lauded him. Recently O'Brien was the only reliable pitcher Boston could use. O'Brien was the first of the hurlers to get into shape. Boston's weakness lies in the box. Bedient has won less than half his starts. Wood has only twirled fair ball, and so has Bedient.

Pitcher Scott Holds Bush Hitless for Five Years. Every star ball player has his particular pitching hoodoo, but few have a look-in on the record held by Donnie Bush. Five years ago the wee shortstop of the Detroit Tigers took his first time at bat against "Death Valley" Jim Scott, then a newcomer on the Chicago White Sox curving corps. He failed to get the semblance of a base hit. In fact, Donie is authority for the statement that he never got a blow off the Wyoming hurler. Scottie has twirled against Bush in more than twenty combats. Occasionally the dynamite Detroit has asked a pass from the elk hunting pitcher. Now and then he has been known to hit past the infield to a waiting outpost arrayed in pale hose, but as Bush stated recently, "There's something about Scott's curve ball that always fools me."

In the fifth inning of the morning game last Memorial day, Donie poled a double off Lange, the drive sending the ninth, filling the bases with one out and being saved by a fast double play. In the eighth, and Bush was his opponent. While taking a toe hold at the plate the Tiger star told Ray Schalk he never had been able to solve Jim's pitching system. Immediately after the conversation Berger, Bush is not gronder to Berger. Bush is not the only Tiger who has his troubles when "Death Valley" Jim is on watch. The official statistics show Callahan's flinger to be holder of another unique record in competition of Jennings' crew. Once only during five years of fighting have the Regals trimmed Scott, and that beating was registered April 15, 1911, at Detroit, a snowstorm helping to overthrow the Wyoming chap. Eight innings were played with the rival forces floundering about in snowflakes of the dripping species, and when time was called that the Hise might catch an early train for St. L., his count stood 2 to 1. Four hits, all singles, were made. Dave Lics getting two and Cobb a pair. Both runs followed errors by Amby McConnell. Since that day, Scottie has ruled the Tigers with an iron hand.

The Honesty of an Outcast This was evidenced at Whitechapel, London, a few days ago, when a Thames Embankment wanderer, taken on under the sheltering wing of the Salvation Army, showed his sense of character under peculiar tempting circumstances. The man, one of the Army workers at an "elevator" was sorting his apportioned quantity of wastepaper when he came across a valuable diamond ring. The man might easily have secreted so small an article until he left the elevator, had he so desired, but he returned it immediately to the foreman, and after a deal of trouble the delighted owner was found. The narrative derives an added interest from the fact that the man's record reads, too well. He was deported from Halifax (Nova Scotia) in early part of this year, drifted to a casual ward, and begged of the "Army" officials to find him something to do. He left

Stones of Empire Some time ago Mr. Lloyd George was asked to obtain a slab of Welsh stone to be built into a memorial to be erected at Halifax, Nova Scotia, to commemorate the opening of first Parliament assembly in British America. The Chancellor of the Exchequer laid the matter before Mr. Haydn Jones, M. P., who agreed to supply a slab from his quarry. The slab has now been completed and engraved with the red dragon of Wales. The memorial into which it will be built will contain slabs from all the different portions of the Empire. Signs of Another Revival Incidents similar to those which ushered in the Welsh Revival of 1906 are again being witnessed in the Principality. A fortnight ago there was a series of revival scenes in the quarry village of Lianddulas, and now an exhibition of fervor is reported from Colwyn Bay at a "district meeting" in connection with the Calvinistic Methodist Churches. There were appeals for another great spiritual awakening, the evening's proceedings being so prolonged that prayers were offered and hymns sung in the darkness. Lady Killed in Lift At an inquest at Park Hall, Oswestry, on Mrs. Wynne Corrie, wife of Mr. A. W. SKIFF TRANSFORMED INTO SIDE WHEELER

Then the Labor of Rowing is a Thing of the Past and You Face Bow of Boat

Many people would avail themselves of the healthfulness of boating if it were not for the labor of rowing. This can be done very easily if a person will equip his boat with a set of paddle wheels which can be operated by hand or pedals can be adjusted and the thing operated with the feet.

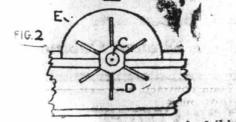

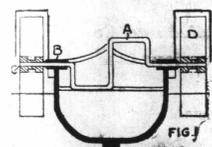

The principle for both is exactly the same. The boat must be steered with a rudder in the usual way.

At the blacksmith shop have a shaft made, as shown at A, Fig. 1. It will be necessary to furnish a sketch giving all the dimensions of the shaft, which should be designed to suit the dimensions of the boat, taking care that sufficient clearance is allowed, so that the cranks in revolving will not strike the operator's knees. If desired, split-wood handles may be placed on the cranks, to prevent them from rubbing the hands.

The bearings, B, may be made of hardwood, but preferably of iron pipe fluted with melted babbit. If babbit is used, either thoroughly smoke or chalk the shaft or wrap paper around it to prevent the babbit sticking. The pieces of pipe may be then fastened to the boat by means of small pipe straps, such as may be obtained at any plumber's at a very small cost.

The hubs, C, should be made of wood, drilled to fit the shaft and mortised out to hold the paddles, D. The covers, E, may be constructed of thin wood or galvanized iron.

If foot power is to be used the same equipment will do with the addition of two wooden treads and iron bars to connect with the cranks. The bars are attached to one end of each tread. The treads or pedals are boards about 2 feet long and 4 inches wide. The other ends of the treads are hinged to the floor of the boat. The bars are hooked over the cranks and after a start is given the wheels with the hands the crank can be worked easily with the feet.

TWINE HOLDER

Hollow Spring Can be Hung on Hook Within Easy Reach

A convenient form of twineholder has been designed. A helicon tension spring, which is hollow, fits into a cup at one end. Above this cup is a trigger, which will slip over a hook at any point along the ceiling or counter that it may be wanted. The spring leads from the source of supply to the cup and down through the trigger, issuing from the lower end of the latter. When the shopkeeper

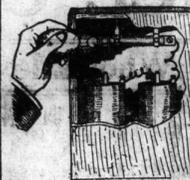

SPRING GIVES NEEDED TENSION. When to tie up a bundle he uses the twine just as if he was unrolling it from a ball, but the spring provides just the tension necessary to facilitate the work. If you will stop to think you will recall that it is much easier to tie a package when the cord is fed out from its source of supply with some tension and not with too much freedom.

My son, behold the wise man who useth the Want Ads shall be recompensed speedily, but the sluttish and disregarding the Want Columns shall be reduced to the last extremity. p-101

ELECTRIC EGG TESTER

For a person who does not care to depend upon a candle or lamp for testing eggs, a handy contrivance has been invented, utilizing electric light. The current is generated by dry batteries and the tester is easily carried in the hands. It has an opening on one side that is partly closed by a spring. The egg to be tested is pressed hard against this opening. The spring slips aside and permits the egg to be forced into the hole where it can be examined through the light.

A SMART FISHERMAN

He Baited His Line With Scientific Knowledge

Baiting one's hook with science and catching fish by the wholesale is a fairly good occupation, provided the game warden does not find it out. A fisherman of this character got himself into trouble with the authorities of a western town. He was seen peddling large quantities of fish through the streets and the game warden could not understand how he got them, unless by using nets of any kind was forbidden. He didn't have them shipped to him, either, they learned. He was known to go fishing every day or two, but when observed from a distance he didn't seem to be doing any thing out of the ordinary. A clever officer solved the mystery, however.

He came upon the fisherman seated comfortably on an embankment beside the river along which a trolley line ran. The man appeared to be doing nothing at the time he was found. His fish pole was held out behind him, straight up in the air, and the line seemed to be wrapped around the pole.

Closer investigation showed that the end of the pole touched the trolley wire, and an examination of what appeared to be the line brought out the fact that this was in reality stopt copper wire. The trolley wire was charged with 500 volts of electricity. The fisherman simply connected the line with the river and electrocuted all the fish in his vicinity. It was a much easier way of getting them than by setting and it brought him plenty of fish. The discovery of his secret cut off his business immediately.

A Trick of the Trade.
 "Tricks of the trade" is a common phrase, and the "tricks" are often used to an advantage. A street urchin selling matches accosted a gentleman, says The Liverpool Post, and at the same time hiding his goods behind his back, said: "Have you got a match, sir?" The gentleman to get away replied: "No, my boy, I have not got one." The urchin, whose plot had so far succeeded, then produced his matches, and exclaimed: "Well, go on, sir, buy a box." He did.

Scotch Blood Would Out.
 The favorite story in London military circles at the present time concerns a movement which was started a short while ago to have the kills of one of the British "Highland" regiments discarded in favor of trousers. A ballot was taken, and the sergeant reported the result to the colonel. "All of the men with the exception of three are in favor of the change, sir," he said. "Hatched" the colonel said. "Tell me the names of these three true clansmen; they should be promoted." The sergeant read from his list. "They are, sir," he said, "Patrick Doonan, Hans Steinbrenner and Moses Ikenstein."

ANOTHER WOMAN JOINS THE ARMY

Of Western Women Who Have Found Relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

After Three Years of Suffering Madame Dufault of St. Boniface is Telling Her Neighbors of Her Wonderful Cure.

ST. BONIFACE, Man., July 7th.—(Special)—Cured of a complication of diseases, each a direct result of disordered kidneys, Madame Oct. Dufault, of 84 Victoria street, this city, has joined the grand army of the women of the west who are telling their neighbors that Dodd's Kidney Pills are suffering women's best friend. "I suffered for three years," Madame Dufault states; "and I may say I had pains in my head, I was nervous and tired all the time; there were dark circles around my eyes, and they were puffed and swollen. Heart fluttering added to my fears."

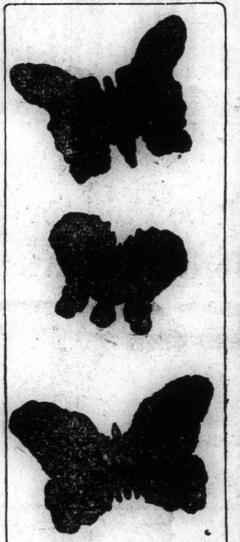

"But when I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills I soon began to get better. I took thirteen boxes in all, but now I am a well woman again. I think Dodd's Kidney Pills are a grand remedy."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure women's ailments because nine-tenths of these ailments come from sick kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure sick kidneys.

SILHOUETTE BUTTERFLIES

A Drop of Ink on White Paper Does the Trick

This is to show you how you can make silhouette pictures of butterflies even if you have no artistic ability. Secure several sheets of writing paper and some good black ink. Drop a large blot of ink on the center of a sheet of paper, fold the paper over so the blot comes about the center of the crease and rub gently, using just enough pressure to spread the ink between the folds. Now unfold the paper and see what you get. If you want to make real fancy butterflies you might try using colored inks. Those shown in the cut were made as described.

Keeps Thread Straight

A very simple metal clip can be used on spools to keep the thread from becoming tangled while in the work basket or lying on the table. The clip has a hole in the center for the thread to pass through. It is attached to the spool by ends that fit into the holes on their side. A portion of one edge of the clip, which is made of sheet iron or tin, can be sharpened so that it can be used to cut the thread.

Assault Charge Dismissed—Before a full Bench of the Machynilth (Montgomeryshire) magistrates on Tuesday Horace Evans, of Gwerntabiau, Llanwrin, was charged with assaulting Elsie Whittington, twenty, a blacksmith's daughter, on the banks of the River Dovey. The magistrates by a majority dismissed the case.

THE MYSTERY OF AGATHA WEBB

By Anna Katharine Green, Author of "The Leavenworth Case," "Lost Man's Lane," "Hand and Ring," Etc., Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY ANNA KATHARINE GREEN.

It was more, infinitely more, than any one there had expected. It was not only an acknowledgment, but a confession, and the surprise, the alarm even, which it occasioned even to those who had never had much confidence in this young man's virtue, was almost appalling in its intensity. Had it not been for the consciousness of Mr. Sutherland's near presence the feeling would have risen to outbreak, and many voices were held in subjection by the remembrance of this venerated man's last look, that otherwise would have made themselves heard in spite of the restrictions of the place and the authority of the police.

To Freddy, who at a moment of immeasurable grief and humiliation. On every face, in every shrinking form, in subdued murmurs and open cries he read instant and complete condemnation, and yet in all his life from boyhood up to this hour, never had he been so worthy of their esteem and consideration. But, though he felt the iron enter his soul, he did not lose his determined attitude. He had observed a change in Amabel and a change in Agnes, and if only to disappoint the triumph of the one and raise again the drooping courage of the other he withstood the clamor and began speaking again before the coroner had been able to fully restore quiet.

"I know," said he, "what this acknowledgment must convey to the minds of the jury and people here assembled, but if any one who listens to me thinks me guilty of the death I was so unfortunate as to have witnessed, he will be doing me a wrong which Agatha Webb would be the first to condemn. Dr. Talbot and you, gentlemen of the jury, in the face of God and man, I here declare that Mrs. Webb is my presence and before my eyes gave to herself the blow which has robbed us all of a most valuable life. She was not murdered."

It was a solemn assertion, but it failed to convince the crowd before him. As by some impulse men and women broke into tumult. "Mr. Sutherland was forgotten, and cries of "Never! She was too good! It's all calumny! A wretched lie!" broke in unrestrained excitement from every part of the large room. In vain the coroner smote with his gavel, in vain the local police endeavored to restore order; the tide was up and overswept everything for an instant till silence was suddenly restored by the sight of Amabel smoothing out the folds of her crisp white frock with an incredulous, almost insulting, smile that at once drew attention on her. Frederick. He seized the occasion and spoke up in a tone of great resolve.

"I have made an assertion," said he, "before God and before this jury. To make it seem a credible one I shall have to tell my story from the beginning. Am I allowed to do so, Mr. Coroner?"

"You are," was the firm response. "Then, gentlemen," continued Frederick, still without looking at Amabel, whose smile had acquired a mockery that drew the eyes of the jury toward her more than once during the following recital, "you know, and the public generally now know, that Mrs. Webb has left me the greater portion of the money of which she died possessed. I have never before acknowledged to any one, not even to the good man who awaits this jury's verdict on the other side of the dock, any had reasons for this, good reasons, reasons which up to the very evening of her death I was myself ignorant of, as I was ignorant of her intentions in my regard or that I was the special object of her attention, or that we were under any mutual obligations in any way. Why, then, I should have thought of going to her in the great strait in which I found myself on that day I can hardly say. I knew she had money in her house. This I had unhappily been made acquainted with in an accidental way, and I knew she was of kindly disposition and quite capable of doing a very unselfish act. Still this would not seem to be reason enough for me to intrude upon her late at night with a plea for a large loan of money had it not been in a desperate condition of mind, which made any attempt seem reasonable that promised relief from the unendurable burden of a pressing and disreputable debt."

"I was obliged to have money—a great deal of money—and I had to have it at once, and, while I know this will not serve to lighten the suspicion I have brought upon myself by my late admissions, it is the only explanation I can give you for leaving the ball at my father's house and hurrying down secretly and alone into town to the little cottage where, as I had been told early in the evening, a small entertainment was being given which would insure its being open even at so late an hour as midnight. Miss Page, who will, I am sure, pardon the introduction of her name into this narrative, has taken pains to declare to you that in the expedition she herself made into town that evening she followed some person's steps down hill. This is very likely true, and those steps were probably mine, for after leaving the house by the garden door I came directly down the main road to the corner of the lane running past Mrs. Webb's cottage. Having already seen from the hillside the light burning in her upper windows, I felt encouraged to proceed, and so hastened on till I came to the gate on High street. Here I had a moment of hesitation, and thoughts bitter enough for me to recall them at this moment came into my mind, making that instant perhaps the very worst in my life. But they passed, thank God, and with nothing more desperate in mind than a sullen intention of having my own way about this money I lifted the latch of the front door and stepped in. "I had expected to find a jovial group of friends in her little ground parlor or at least hear the sound of merry voices and laughter in the rooms above, but no sounds of any sort awaited me. Indeed the house seemed strangely silent for one so fully lighted, and, astonished at this, I pushed the door ajar at my left and looked in. An unexpected and pitiful sight awaited me. Seated at a table set with abundance of untasted food, I saw the master of the house, with his head sunk forward on his arms, asleep. The expected guests had failed to arrive, and he, tired out with waiting, had fallen into a doze at the board.

"This was a condition of things for which I was not prepared. Mrs. Webb, whom I wished to see, was probably up stairs, and while I might summon her by a sturdy rap on the door, beside which I stood, I had so little desire to wake her husband, of whose mental condition I was well aware, that I could not bring myself to make any loud noise within his hearing. Yet I had not the courage to retreat. All my hope of relief from the many difficulties that menaced me lay in the generosity of this great hearted woman, and if out of pusillanimity I let this hour go by without making my appeal, nothing but shame and disaster awaited me. Yet how could I hope to lure her down stairs without noise? I could not, and so yielding to the impulse of the moment, without any realization, I here swear, of the effect which my unexpected presence would have on the noble woman overhead, I slipped up the narrow staircase and, catching at that moment the sound of her voice calling out to Betsy, I stepped up to the door I saw standing open before me and confronted her before she could move from the table before which she was sitting, counting over a large roll of money.

"If you want my life, I will give it to you with my own hand."
