PRESBYTERIAN ANNIVERSARY

The services in connection with the anniversary of St Paul's Presbyterian Church, held on Sunday last, were very interesting and profitable. The Baptist and Methodist churches were closed in the evening and a congregation that taxed the capacity of the church assembled in St. Paul's. Rev. S. S. Burns, B. D., of St. John's Church, Brockville, was the preacher for the day, and his evening discourse, based on the latter part of the 8th verse, chap. 5. Rom., held the close attention of all. The theme was presented in such a way as to suggest, on the part of each hearer, a personal consideration of his or her relation to the great atonement.

Excellent music was rendered by the choir, in which the highly trained voice of Miss Crawford of Gananoque was heard with pleasure in the solos.

On Monday evening the anniversary tea was held and it was well attended. Following refreshments, a bright programme was presented, under the chairmanship of the pastor, Rev. W. H. Montgomery. Rev. Messrs Swayne, Westell and Edwards gave short addresses, and high-class vocal music was rendered by Miss Crawford and Mr. Haynes, accompanied by the church organist, Miss Nellie Earl.

CHAMPIONSHIP

At the close of the Athens High School field day several events remained to be decided, which held in abeyance the decision of championship honors in the different forms. Conclusions have since been reached and on Tuesday afternoon the following decisions were handed out:—

Boxing Championship—R. Layng.
Tennis Championship—E. Sexton,
Bicycle Race—S. Livingston, C. Booth, M. Johnston.
Senior Boys' Championship—E. Z. Sexton, 32 points.
Junior Boys' Championship—M. Johnston, 17 points.
Senior Girls' Championship—H. Rockwood, 13 points.
Junior Girls' Championship—D. Hawkins, 18 points.

In the unavoidable absence of Messrs J. Thompson and H. R. Knowlton, the medals were presented by Mr. Haynes and Miss Mackay.

The Reporter has pleasure in congratulating those who won championship honors.

FARM DRAINAGE

About thirty farmers, despite the busy season, assembled on Mr. Parish's farm at the B. W. & N. W. station on Friday last to hear and witness Prof. Spry's demonstration of farm drainage. The event had been arranged by Mr. W. H. Smith, local representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Prof. Spry spoke for upwards of an hour, explaining minutely this important matter, and gave a practical demonstration of how a complete system of drainage could be installed.

A mistake, he pointed out, that many farmers make is in tilling to drain a particular part of their farm without considering future extensions of the system. In the first place, a comprehensive plan should be mapped out, and then each addition made to the original drain will simply form part of a system, the trunk lines of which will be ample to take care of all the water. As the benefits flowing from the initial drainage became apparent, the extension of the system would certainly follow.

Determining the levels is often a puzzling proposition to a farmer, but as explained by Prof. Spry the work is simple, requiring no expert knowledge or expensive apparatus, and the results are certain to prove satisfactory.

The farmers followed closely the Professor's address and practical demonstration and his visit here should result in lasting good to the district. It is probable that Mr. Smith may arrange for the drainage of a farm in this section. The work in progress and the results following would certainly be followed with interest by the farmers of the whole district.

TURKISH GARRISON FLEES FROM BERANA

Montenegrins in Pursuit, Take Prisoners and Guns---Turks Win At Bylopolje

France Thinks War Will Be Short---King of Bulgaria Issues Manifesto.

London, Oct. 21.—The whole of the Turkish garrison of Berana, consisting of 4,000 regulars and 3,000 Bahi-Bazouks (irregulars), took flight in the night before the capture of the town by Montenegrins, according to an official despatch from Cetinje.

The Montenegrins pursued them and took a number of prisoners and three field guns. The pursuit was continued toward Boza.

MONTENEGRINS DEFEATED.

A Constantinople despatch to the Daily Chronicle says the Turks invaded Bulgaria after a two-hour's journey at Kerkilisse, near Adrianople. Fighting began there and was still going on at last accounts, but there are no details.

Reports from Vienna, Sarajevo and Constantinople say the Montenegrins were severely defeated at Bylopolje, but there are no details. The Montenegrin losses in the last few days have been considerable. They include six hundred killed and the loss of eight guns at Krania in the neighborhood of Scutari, on October 15. It is rumored that Gen. Martinovitch is withdrawing his army from that place. There is nothing confirmatory of this reported defeat from Montenegrin sources.

A despatch from Cetinje to the Daily Chronicle says the Montenegrins are bombarding Taraboseh from a neighboring captured Turkish position. There has been an engagement between Montenegrins and Turkish armed steamers on Lake Scutari. The Turkish vessels retreated to Scutari.

From the sanjak of Novi-Bazar comes reports of a lively engagement between Serbian troops and tribesmen, in which the frontier killed two hundred and drove their enemies back. The Constantinople version of this affair is, of course, favorable to Turkey, as usual. It says:

"The Turkish troops on the Bulgarian and Serbian frontiers received orders last night to take the offensive, and, according to official information, large numbers of Pomaks, fanatical tribes of Mussulman Bulgaria, who in past times have massacred Christian Bulgarians wholesale, crossed the frontier at Kirodhal, about forty miles to the west of Mustapha Pacha, penetrating several miles into Bulgarian territory, the Bulgarians retiring. All reports received here indicate that serious fighting is proceeding at various points, including the district north of Gulinje."

No definite word has come from the Montenegrin and Turkish armies facing each other after the long struggle round Scutari.

ASK GERMAN NEUTRALITY.

Berlin, Oct. 21.—German's benevolent neutrality during the Balkan war was requested last evening by the Bulgarian, Serbian and Greek Ministers here, who presented a circular note to Foreign Minister Von Kiderlin-Waechter, announcing that their governments had declared war on Turkey.

THINK WAR WILL BE SHORT.

Paris, Oct. 21.—Now that war in the Balkans has been formally begun, the French press insists upon the necessity of a complete accord among the European powers. The fear is expressed that should covetousness and antagonism develop among the powers of Europe as the result of the opportunities for aggrandizement arising out of the trouble in the Balkan peninsula, the world may see the bloodiest war in history.

France's efforts to bring about a speedy peace should, therefore, it is pointed out, be welcomed by the other countries of Europe. It is believed here that the disposition in favor of peace in Vienna and St. Petersburg is for the moment as satisfactory as possible, but it is argued that it would be a mistake to be over optimistic.

The Pizaro is of opinion that the danger of a European conflict is merely retarded and not suppressed. It believes that the present war will be short, firstly because the financial resources of Turkey and the Balkan states are limited, and secondly because the Balkan frontier is such a short distance from Constantinople. For these reasons the difficulties resulting from the war should be expected to crop up five or six weeks from now, and France's duty, it is argued, is absolute fidelity to its allies and friends, and incidentally to prevent Russia and Great Britain from adopting opposing policies in the serious crisis that has now opened.

KING FERDINAND'S PROCLAMATION.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 21.—A striking proclamation to the Bulgarian nation has been issued by King Ferdinand. In it he recounts the sufferings of the Macedonian Christians and the efforts of the European powers to secure better treatment for them, and finally says that he has called his people to arms only after the patience of the Balkan nations had been exhausted.

The proclamation opens with a reference to King Ferdinand's peaceful reign of twenty-five years, and says he had hoped that it would have continued, "but Providence judged otherwise. The moment has come when the Bulgarian race is called upon to renounce the benefits of peace and to have recourse to arms for the solution of the great problem. Beyond the Rilo and Rhodope Mountains our brothers in blood and religion have not been able until this day, thirty-five years after our liberation, to obtain conditions of life that are bearable.

"The tears of the Balkan Slavs and the groaning of millions of Christians could not but stir our hearts and the hearts of our co-religionists.

"Our love of peace is now exhausted. To secure the Christian population of Turkey there remains to us no other means than to turn to arms.

"After the massacres of Istip and Kotschana, instead of according justice and satisfaction, Turkey ordered the mobilization of her military forces. Our long patience has thus been put to a rude test.

"The humanitarian sentiments of Christians, the sacred duty of securing their brothers when menaced with extermination, and the honor and dignity of Bulgaria, have imposed upon us the imperative duty of calling to arms Bulgaria's sons.

"Our work is a just, a great and a sacred one.

"With faith in the protection and support of the Almighty, I bring to the cognizance of the Bulgarian nation that this is a war for human rights.

"I order the brave Bulgarian army to march on to Turkish territory.

"Forward, May God be with you."

To-day special services are being held in all the churches of the Kingdom for the success of the Bulgarian army. The Queen, the Ministers and other dignitaries were among the large congregation at the cathedral, when a "Te Deum" was sung.

The Government has ordered the Bulgarian Minister at Constantinople to communicate the following note to the Ottoman Government:

"The Porte not having replied to the identical note of the Bulgarian, Greek and Serbian Governments of Oct. 13, the situation, which had already become very serious in consequence of the seizure of Serbian ammunition and of Greek international law, has been made even more so, in consequence of Turkish attacks on Bulgarian and Serbian frontier guards in violation of international principles. The relations between Bulgaria and the Ottoman Empire are now broken off."

The Bulgarian Minister at Constantinople has also been ordered to inform the Porte, when he presents the note, that Bulgaria considers herself at war with Turkey, and that his mission is concluded. He is to leave Constantinople at the earliest possible moment.

The Bulgarian Minister at Constantinople who wishes to leave the country may do so, while those remaining will be assured of the protection of the law.

BRITAIN FORMALLY NOTIFIED.

London, Oct. 21.—Notification that Bulgaria, Serbia and Greece had declared war against Turkey was given to the British Foreign Office today by the representatives of those countries. Large numbers of the notes which had been despatched to Constantinople.

All the notes are practically identical. They recount briefly the reasons for the rupture of friendly relations and place the responsibility for the war on Turkey.

The only formality now lacking is the declaration of war by Turkey against Greece, which the Ottoman Government has appeared reluctant to do. Military authorities express the belief that the Montenegrins have been checked both to the north and south of Lake Scutari, or that they have found it necessary to give their men a rest after the hard and continuous fighting in which they have been engaged since the outbreak of hostilities.

AUSTRIA GETTING READY.

Paris, Oct. 21.—All the reserve officers of the first class of the Austrian army residing in France were ordered today to join their regiments, nominally to participate in six weeks' maneuvers. All privates, and non-commissioned officers belonging to the first reserve of the Austrian army, who are now in France, have also been notified by the Austro-Hungarian Embassy to hold themselves at the disposition of the Government. Austro-Hungarian subjects who have been summoned, on inquiring at the Embassy as to the meaning of this action, are told that the military situation is such that the Austrian Government is taking count of every man whose services can be relied upon, whether he is living abroad or not.

TO PROTECT FRENCH CITIZENS.

Toulon, France, Oct. 21.—Five French warships have been ordered to be held in readiness to proceed to the Syrian coast, should their presence there be deemed necessary for the protection of French citizens. Two French warships are already stationed off the Syrian coast.

FAMILY WIPED OUT

Despondent Polish Woman Kills Children and Self.

Medicine Hat, Oct. 21.—The Mounted Police were summoned from this point this morning to investigate a murder and suicide which occurred at Tidlake, 26 miles north of Cardston. Mrs. Julia Polosky, who lost her husband and one child recently through typhoid, and who apparently became somewhat unsettled in her reason through grief and through complications in regard to her possession of the homestead, slew her two remaining children, aged five and three years, with a carving knife and then apparently turned the same weapon upon herself.

The family were Polish immigrants, and the tragedy was discovered by Polish neighbors.

MARCONI LOSES EYE

Surgeons Remove One to Save Other's Sight.

Spezia, Oct. 21.—Giuglielmo Marconi's right eye, which was injured in an automobile accident on Sept. 25 last, was removed this afternoon. A consultation of physicians had resulted in the decision that the removal of the eye was indispensable, as the famous wireless inventor was threatened with total blindness. Prof. Fuchs, the celebrated oculist, of the University of Vienna, was summoned in hot haste, and he performed the operation, which, it is stated, was successful. He was assisted by Prof. Bacardi, of Turin University, and two naval surgeons.

Marconi stood the very painful operation without flinching. His wife, who was very much affected, his sister-in-law and a friend, the Marquis Solari, were present during the operation.

A bulletin issued this evening explains that the operation was necessary as the other eye was threatened with sympathetic ophthalmia and total blindness would result if the injured one were not removed. Eignor Marconi is not depressed, and his general condition is satisfactory to the physicians. He has received many telegrams of sympathy.

FARMERS BANK

Inquiry Reveals Deception in Sale of Stock.

Shareholders Make Fight Against Double Liability.

Toronto despatch: Shareholders of the defunct Farmers Bank who are protesting against the imposition of the double liability provision of the Bank Act in their case, and the demand for the return of dividends paid on their stock, were examined before George Knappe, the official referee, at the office of G. T. Clark, the liquidator, yesterday.

Their testimony showed how they had been induced to invest their money in shares of the Farmers' Bank, and it was added, their counsel, William Laidlaw, K. C., explained, in order to demonstrate that they knew nothing of the internal affairs of the bank, and that the charter not having been properly obtained, they were not bona fide shareholders.

James Rutherford Lindsay, of Georgetown, said he had been visited at his home by W. J. Lindsay and a young man named Morrison, who described the stock as a most attractive investment because of the security afforded by Government restrictions. They had shown him a list of prominent men in Halton County who had subscribed for shares.

He had paid his money, had received the sundry dividend cheques and had had no suspicion that there had been any irregularity in the manner in which the charter was obtained.

Joseph E. Bate, a farmer, of Scotch Block, subscribed in September, 1906, at the solicitation of W. J. Lindsay and a Mr. Linton, for fifty shares. He said that the bank officials had agreed to cancel the subscription when he found he could not carry it. He had paid no money and could not do so now. Subscriptions for $2,000 had been cancelled and a judgment for $2,000 had been given against him.

John Pell of Onondaga, asserted that he had subscribed for one share, and not ten as indicated by the list and agreement, and that he had signed the papers when plowing in the field. He said that he had met Lindsay in a hotel at Milton. He had told the latter that he had no money to invest in bank stock. Lindsay then took him to an upstairs room and asked him if he would take a drink of whisky. "I said I would if he put some water in it," continued the witness. "He put water in one glass, but I guess I must have got the one without the water. At last I told him I would take one share."

Peter Sayers said he had subscribed for stock on the understanding that the branch of the bank should be opened at Guelph. He believed this condition was in the application for stock, but Thomas Cox thought he had only subscribed for 25 shares, but discovered that he was down for fifty. He had come to Toronto and had seen Travers. The latter had refused to release him from any obligation, but later he was able to get out by paying $2,000.

PERISHED IN LAKE

Four Canadians Die When Barges Sink.

Watertown, N.Y., despatch: Four persons lost their lives when two barges went to the bottom of Lake Ontario this morning near Galloup Islands, 20 miles from Sackett's Harbor.

Those drowned were all Canadians, and were J. D. Schamp, Stephen Labuse, Fred Labuse and Albert Derusha, the sixteen-year-old daughter of Captain Derusha.

The boats encountered a heavy wind and storm about midnight, and the tow line between the barges H. B. and Menominee and the Butler parted, permitting the first two to drift.

The drowned were on the H. B. This morning the steamer Niagara sighted the tug Proctor and the Butler and towed them to Cape Vincent, later returning to pick up the Menominee.

A short distance from the barges the crew picked up Capt. Derusha and his son John, who had been floating on a hatchway all night. Just as they were ready to attach lines to the Menominee she, too, went to the bottom.

The one time a woman always keeps her word is when she says she wouldn't marry the best man living.

TO SAVE YOUTH

Charged With Murder in Peculiar Case.

Vancouver, Oct. 21.—Several lawyers and doctors are at work trying to prepare a defence for Harold McNaughton, aged 26, son of well-known parents, who is charged with murder. A week ago young McNaughton was walking with 18-year-old Estelle Spindler, whom he believed to be unmarried, when her handbag crossed the coupe on the street and a fight ensued. McNaughton knocked Spindler, unconscious, was taken to the jail, where he remained a day, and when he was conveyed to a hospital, where he died. Today his body was dissected and a committee of doctors is trying to justify the plea of the defence that neglect in jail caused Spindler's death from a wound not necessarily fatal.

Napoleon left Hull for the shanties six weeks ago, and his parents heard nothing from him until, answering the doorbell to-day, Mr. Poirier was informed by the expressman that he had the body of N. Poirier to deliver.

Accompanying the body was a letter stating that deceased had met with his death by being struck by a falling tree whilst in the woods.

URGES ARABS TO SUBMIT.

Rome, Oct. 21.—The Sultan's firmness in begging the Arabs in Tripoli in the interests of the happiness of themselves and their families to cease hostilities against the Italians probably will be published to-morrow. It is drawn in touching terms, but it would be hazardous to predict its consequences, which depend above all on the loyal attitude of the Turks remaining in the interior of Libya.

Powers are to be conferred on a commission, which will sit side by side with the Turkish representative. The religious rights of the Sultan in Libya were decided upon at a meeting of the Italian Cabinet this evening.

PREFERS CANADA

Why British Salvationists Send Immigrants Here.

London, Oct. 21.—Under the presidency of Hon. George E. Foster, the Dominion's Royal Commission is still hearing evidence regarding emigration. Col. Lamb, of the Salvation Army, said that England had a standing army of half a million or partially unemployed people. Twenty thousand of these could advantageously be emigrated right away.

Questioned as to why the Salvation Army practically confined its emigrants to Canada, witness stated they had no preference for Canada as against Australia or South Africa, but they sent their people where they could get the best return. Emigration to South Africa could only be carried out successfully as a part of the last settlement scheme, and Australia was a long way off. Rightly or wrongly, the impression had existed here that immigrants were not altogether wanted by the Australians in the past.

NO GRAFT EVIDENCE

Justice Goff Excludes It in Becker Trial.

Becker Wants to Testify in His Own Behalf.

New York, Oct. 21.—The State rested its case against Lieut. Becker late this afternoon, after Mr. Justice Goff refused to permit the district attorney to prove that Becker, with no other apparent income than his salary of $2,250 a year as lieutenant of police, deposited upwards of $60,000 in savings banks during the months that Jack Rose acted as his collector.

It was the only important advantage that the defence secured since the trial began on October 7. The testimony had gone steadily against Lieutenant Becker from the first day. The district attorney had hoped to clinch his case by showing the jury a money motive for the murder, and by showing that it was Becker's fear that Rosenthal's earnings would stop the flow of graft and would drive him from the police department, that he prompted the killing; but Mr. Justice Goff held that there was no evidence to show that Rosenthal knew that Becker was depositing large sums secured by blackmailing gamblers. It was true, said Mr. Justice Goff, that the affidavit made by Rosenthal a few days before the murder contained a statement in the opinion of the court, was too inferential to be a legal basis for the introduction of such evidence as Becker's bank account.

Becker and his lawyers, together with Mrs. Becker, were immensely pleased over the decision. They had been afraid of the effect upon the jury of unimpeachable evidence that the lieutenant had been depositing thousands of dollars every month of his association with Jack Rose. Mrs. Becker was obviously relieved. She smiled for about the first time since the case began. Many of the bank accounts were held jointly by her and her husband, and it was the wife who hurried around town with a hand satchel and withdrew most of them after Becker's arrest and indictment.

This victory by the defence brought up an interesting point. Will Becker's lawyers permit him to go on the witness stand and testify in his own defence? John F. Mahoney said to-night that Becker was eager to testify, and that he may be allowed to have his say, but that no definite decision had been reached. The matter was a ticklish one. There was a possibility that with Becker's privilege on cross-examination to go into Becker's whole life, might find some of the bank accounts and to bring out other damaging facts. There was the possibility that Becker might be led to make such admissions as would require Mr. Justice Goff to reverse the decision that the records of bank accounts were inadmissible. There was a general opinion on the part of lawyers who have followed the case that Mr. Mahoney will avoid a situation so fraught with danger.

The defence will open its case to-day. Mr. Mahoney endeavored to make the jury believe that all the gamblers listed Rosenthal; that Rose and Weiser and Vallon had made threats to kill him; and that he was murdered; that some of these threats were overheard, and that in order to save their own lives the informers are now trying to saddle Becker, or honest policeman, whom they feared, with the crime in order to save their own lives.

THE DEFENCE SIDE

Course to be Taken in the 'Dynamite Inquiry.'

Indianapolis, Oct. 21.—Lines which the defence will follow in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial were developed to-day in the examination of Miss Mary C. Dye, Pittsburg, and Miss Nora E. Haley, Chicago, former stenographers for the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers.

Their testimony was devoted entirely to the identification of letters which John J. McNamara, secretary of the union, kept in files, and which the Government charges implicated the 45 men on trial in a conspiracy for the illegal transportation of explosives on passenger trains.

In cross-examination, Senator John W. Kern, counsel for the defence, followed the defence's opening contention that the McNamaras and Ortie R. McManis alone were responsible for the explosion. The witness stated that McNamara kept a special place for private correspondence which no one in the office was allowed to see. Miss Haley testified that Frank M. Ryan, president of the union, visited the Indianapolis headquarters about once a month.

Referring to the vault in the office, in which the Government asserts dynamite and nitro-glycerine were hidden for the "dynamite crew," Mr. Kern asked: "Was that vault open to everyone in the office?"

TO KILL WILD MUSTARD.

Toronto, Oct. 21.—Prof. Todd, of the Provincial Secretary's Department, who is superintending the agricultural work at the Guelph and Whitby farms, reports an experiment recently tried to rid the land of wild mustard. A place comprising one hundred acres was selected near Brockville this summer, which was sown in barley and oats. The land was sprayed with a diluted solution of sulphate of copper. After a few weeks had elapsed an examination was made, and Prof. Todd reports that every trace of the wild mustard has disappeared.

"Miss Gwendolin, I have something to say to you." "Yes?" "I hardly know how to say it." She decided to help him a little. "One need have no hesitancy," said she graciously, "in speaking freely to one who feels toward you as I do." "That's what I thought. Well, you have a little too much powder on your nose." —Washington Herald.

THE BAPTISTS

Brantford Convention Hears Addresses on Missions.

Brantford despatch: To-day's session of the Baptist convention was devoted to hearing reports from the Publication Board, Church Edifice Committee, Superannuation Board, and the Canadian Baptist Foreign Mission Board. The evening session was devoted to addresses by Rev. J. A. Stillwell, B. A., and Rev. J. E. Chute, B. Th., on foreign missions.

Both speakers dwelt at some length on the growing need of more workers in India, where Christianity was rapidly increasing among the natives. Rev. J. E. Chute took the educational side of the question in his address, and a scholar fit for work among his native men it required the work and teaching of seven years to form a missionary.

ROOSEVELT BETTER

His Condition Is Much Improved.

His Campaign Must Go On, He Says.

Chicago despatch: Col. Theodore Roosevelt awoke at Mercy Hospital to-day shortly before 7 o'clock, full of vigor. His nurse hastened into the Colonel's room, and was assured he had had a "perfectly bully night." His temperature then was normal.

Campaign activities should not cease because of his attempted assassination, so far as he is concerned, he said last night.

In a statement issued by Col. Roosevelt at Mercy Hospital in answer to what Mr. Bryan said in his speech at Franklin, Indiana, he says:

"I wish to express my cordial agreement with the many and proper statements of Mr. Bryan at Franklin, Indiana, when, in arguing for a continuance of the discussion of the issues at stake in the contest, he said:

"The issues of this campaign should not be determined by the act of an assassin. Neither Col. Roosevelt nor his friends could ask that the discussion should be turned away from the principles involved. If he is elected President it should be because of what he has done in the past, and what he proposes to do hereafter."

"I wish to point out, however, that neither I nor my friends have asked that the discussion be turned away from the principle involved. On the contrary, we emphatically demand that the discussion be carried on, precisely as it had not been shot. I shall be sorry if Mr. Wilson does not keep on the stump, and I feel that he owes it to himself and the American people to continue on the stump.

"I wish to make one more comment on Mr. Bryan's statement. It is, of course, perfectly true that in voting for me or against me consideration must be paid to what I have done in the past and to what I propose to do.

"But it seems to me far more important that consideration should be paid to what the Progressive party proposes to do.

"I cannot too strongly emphasize the fact, upon which we Progressives insist, that the welfare of any one man in this fight wholly is immaterial, compared to the great and fundamental issues involved in the triumph of the principles for which our cause stands. If I had been killed the fight would have gone on exactly the same.

"If my broken ribs heal fast enough to relieve my breathing, I still hope to be able to make one or two speeches yet in this campaign."

The following bulletin was issued by Col. Roosevelt's surgeons at 9:30 a.m. on Oct. 18: "Pain in chest diminishing. Breathing freer. General condition so good that he will be allowed to sit up for an hour to-day. His convalescence is progressing favorably, and unless some latest infection manifests itself his progress should be rapid."

SOWING HIS WILD OATS
REAPING A HARVEST OF SORROW

How many young men can look back on their early life and regret their misdeeds. "Sowing their wild oats" in various ways. Excesses, violation of nature's laws, "wine, women and song"—all have their victims. You have reformed but what about the seed you have sown—what about the harvest? Don't trust to luck. If you are at present within the clutches of any secret habit which is sapping your life by degrees; if you are suffering from the results of past indiscretions; if your blood has been tainted from any private disease and you dare not marry; if you are married and live in dread of symptoms breaking out and exposing your past; if you are suffering as the result of a mispent life—DRS. SWIFT AND THE BROOMSTICK.

Joke Played by Famous Wit and Satirist Upon Lady Berkeley.

The well-known humorist, Jonathan Swift (1745), was dean of St. Patrick's Church in Dublin. As such, he often visited the wife of his church-patron, Lady Berkeley. This lady always requested Swift, before he went away, to read to her a chapter from her favorite book of devotion, Meditations, by Boyle. This was a task entirely incompatible with Swift's indelible humor. He was determined to take revenge on Boyle, whom he disliked very much on account of the tiresome 15 minutes it took to read the chapter from his book. This he did by writing a parody on Boyle's treatment of a popular subject. The title of this parody was Devotional Meditations on a Broomstick, and he had it printed on exactly the same kind of paper, with the same type, and the same size as Boyle's book. These he passed when his patroness had left the room, very adroitly between the pages of the book.

When the time for his departure came, the lady, as usual, requested Swift to read to her a chapter from Boyle. Swift opened the book at the correct page, and read with the greatest seriousness and a solemn face, the title, Devotional Meditations on a Broomstick.

The lady interrupted him. "Please, Mr. Swift," she said, "no bad jokes with me."

"Jokes? I assure you, my lady, I am not joking; I read as it is printed here. You can see for yourself." He handed her the book and she read, Devotional Meditations on a Broomstick.

"Sure enough," said the lady, "there it is. But I can't understand it. I have never seen that chapter. A remarkable subject. I must say. But read it to me. Boyle is so full of deep thoughts, that I think he can make that subject very devotional, even in the title sounds so strange."

And Swift read with great seriousness his original comparison of man with a broomstick. With great eloquence the words came from his lips: "And this broomstick, that stands so despoised in the corner, was once a beautiful green blooming decoration of the forest. Do you recognize the conformity with your own fate?"

"Oh, my great incomparable Boyle!" cried the listener. "How admirably he carries out his point! How he makes, from an insignificant object like a broomstick, such sublime truths! But by this I know my Boyle, whatever he touches he transforms into gold. Oh, he is a great man!"

Swift, with the most serious face possible, acknowledged his approval and went home.

On the following evening, Lord and Lady Berkeley had company. As soon as the guests were all assembled, Lady Berkeley related her experience with the wonderful treatise of Boyle's Meditations on a Broomstick. Some of the guests could not suppress skeptical laughter.

"How can you laugh about such a sublime subject," said Lady Berkeley somewhat offended. "I am surprised that you don't know more about your Boyle. His Meditations on a Broomstick are absolutely worthy of such a great moralist as Boyle." She went out and brought the book.

"Are you now convinced, ladies and gentlemen?" she said triumphantly, opening the book at the Meditations on a Broomstick. "I see you are still surprised and can't comprehend it. But I will admit I was at first equally as skeptical. I too had never seen this wonderful chapter, until our dear Swift read it to me."

"What, Swift discovered it?" cried the guests, laughing heartily. "That explains everything. He has played one of his roguish tricks on you, Lady Berkeley."

"We only need to compare this book with another one of the same kind," said one of the guests, a neighbor. "I will go and bring mine."

Soon he returned with the book, and when it was examined, the Devotional Meditations on a Broomstick could not be found. The company went wild with laughter. Lady Berkeley was the only one that did not join in the laughter. She never forgave Swift the joke he played on her. She did not say this to him, but she never again requested him to read her a chapter from Boyle. And that was just the thing Swift wanted.

Ready To Take Up the Role.

Mr. F. R. Benson, the well-known English Shakespearean actor, has always been passionately addicted to outdoor sports. In his "Variety" days he achieved fame as a runner, and when touring with his companies he makes a practice of organizing athletic contests.

The actor's fondness for athletics once led to a humorous misunderstanding. Mr. Benson desired to ascertain if a certain young actor could take up a part in "The Merry Wives of Windsor" at Rugby, so he wired, "Can you play Rugby? If so come at once." Back came the reply: "Arrive at 4 p.m. Played half-back for Stratford."

War Experiments.

Near Okehampton the other day a dump-village that had been especially built for the purpose was blown to pieces by shell fire from a battery of heavy guns placed some distance away. The object of the curious and costly experiment being, of course, to find out exactly what would happen to a real village in similar circumstances. Says a serious Weekly: "The idea, which is not exactly a new one, was borrowed originally from Germany, where some very elaborate experiments on similar lines have been conducted."

First Steam Trawler.

The death took place recently at South Shields of Mr. David Allan, who was seventy-two years of age. The deceased, a native of Leith, was credited with being the designer, builder, and sailer of the first successful steam fishing vessel ever put into the water. After much experimenting he launched at Leith, in 1871, a vessel which he named Onward. This is claimed as the first steam drifter and the only one afloat at the time.

DAYTOWN

Very fine weather prevails and it is very much appreciated by the people of Ontario, as work was very backward.

A. E. Randolph and wife and E. Moore and wife of Rome, N.Y., have been recent visitors at J. H. Woods.

The potato crop, which is quite heavy in this section, has been greatly depleted by the dry rot, which only shows after being dug and stored. The root crop is good in this section some parties having some 15 hundred bushels.

Geo Irwin has leased the old John Withrill place and takes possession next March. We are sorry to lose them from this neighborhood.

The Good Roads are coming this way slowly. It is hopeful that people will draw their surplus stone this winter and pile them where they will be handy for the crusher, for we all appreciate good roads.

A desperate attempt is to be made by the liquor interests to put the town of Almonte back in the wet column. There, as well as in other local option towns, the "dusted" "wets" have been knocking the town over since the by-law carried and now think they have a sufficient number of malefactors to reverse the verdict. There is probably a good surprise awaiting the optimistic boozers.

About Zutoo Tablets

"I have been a sufferer from headache since childhood and have used all, or nearly all, of the so-called 'cures' on the market. Some months since my attention was called to your Zutoo Tablets and I have been using them ever since with the most gratifying results. I find they cure a 'sick' or 'nervous' headache in a few minutes and leave no bad effect. My family use them whenever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from headache and they never failed to give quick relief. I find them a good remedy for 'stomach' as well as headache. I always carry them in my grip on the road and would not be without them at any cost."

WEIGHING CHEESE

For many years there have been complaints of the weight of cheese recorded at Montreal. It has been pointed out significantly that where a difference exists the Montreal weights always register lower than the factory. It has been hinted that there was a "nigger in the wood-pile" somewhere, and with a view to discovering this African and uncovering what he was doing, the government appointed a royal commission to go through the country and take evidence from all sundry as to defects in the present methods of weighing. The evidence offered so far has not been of a very illuminating or convincing nature. The testimony offered at Brockville last week did not differ materially from that given at other dairy centres. Among those examined was Mr Lemieux, the official weigher of the commission. From his examination it was shown that the scales in cheese factories should be officially tested more frequently and that rust accumulating was a cause for irregularity in weight. Again a leading cause for discrepancy in weights was the fact that cheese were shipped out in a green state, thus causing a large shrinkage. Between the factory and at Montreal the difference was largely due to shrinkage. In one factory a big difference was noticed and it was discovered that the cheese was shipped from the hoops. There seems, however, a general desire that there should be an officer appointed to investigate complaints and to supervise the weighing at Montreal, and it is probable that such an appointment will be made.

We notice in this week's issue of The Family Herald and Weekly Star, that the publisher's have secured, as a premium picture for subscribers, another beautiful subject, entitled, "Mother's Treasures" a companion to the beautiful picture "Home Again" which they gave last year. Family Herald pictures are always good and it is said that "Mother's Treasures" is the best yet. It is truly wonderful what great value one receives for one dollar a year in The Family Herald and Weekly Star. It is a paper no home in Canada should be without. Every member of a family will find some part of it interesting, and alone well worth the year's subscription. The premium picture "Mother's Treasures" is 23 x 29 inches, all ready for framing, and alone would sell in any art store at two dollars. The Family Herald should do bigger than ever this season.

LOCAL OPTION CONTESTS

Another big Local Option Campaign will be fought out at the time of the next Municipal Elections, in January 1913. Voting is likely to take place in over 70 municipalities, comprising 1 city, 16 towns, 20 villages, and 34 townships.

For the most part, the contestants are in Western Ontario. Huron leading with nine contests. Among the larger places to vote are Peterboro, Lindsay, Carleton Place, Clinton, Oshawa, Pembroke, Petrolia, and Sarnia. Most of these places have voted before, but in a considerable number the question is now before the electors for the first time. The striking feature of the fight, is the fowness of repeal contests. Last year of 178 places where repeal contests were possible, voting only took place in 15, and in none of these the attempt to repeal was successful.

This year there are 240 possible repeal contests, but it is not likely that in 10 per cent of those, will the issue be brought before the electors. Repeal contests, however, will be brought on in a number of places. Amongst being the towns of Galt, Orangeville, and Strathroy. The contest will likely be a hot one, and profiting by experience gained in former contests, the forces on either side will be better organized than ever before.

License Reduction Campaigns will also be brought on in Windsor, and some other places. From the Dominion Alliance office of Toronto, the following list of places has been handed out, where contests are definitely in progress. This list may be supplemented, as municipalities have up to November 1st, to present petitions.

Cities—Peterboro.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON IV.—OCT. 27, 1912.

Wanderings in Decapolis.—Mark 7: 31-35.

COMMENTARY.—I. The Deaf Man Cured (vs. 31-37). 31. coasts—Borders. The word coasts formerly had the same meaning as borders, but is now used to denote regions bordering upon bodies of water. came into the sea of Galilee.—The direction of the journey appears to have been northward toward Lebanon, then from the foot of Lebanon through the deep gorge of the Leontes to the sources of the Jordan, and thence along its eastern bank into the regions of Decapolis, which extended as far north as Damascus and as far south as the river Jabbock.—Cam. Bib. Decapolis—the name means ten cities, and was given to a large region lying around ten cities, to which were granted special privileges by the Romans after the conquest of Syria.

32. All these, with a single exception, lay to the north and east of the Sea of Galilee.—Hanna. 32. they bring.—The friends of the afflicted man brought him to Jesus. deaf, and had an impediment in his speech.—It is not said that he was mute, but with his deafness there was inability to speak distinctly. 33. took him aside.—The man was deaf, and could be communicated with only by signs, and, in order that he might be free from distraction or interruption, Jesus, "took him aside."

34. Some think it was to avoid all show and ostentation; others, to prevent publicity which might bring together the Gentiles in crowds; others, far more probably, that apart from the interruptions of the crowd the man might be more recipient of deep and lasting impressions.—Maclear. 35. his fingers into his ears.—Frequently Jesus touched those whom he healed, perhaps to strengthen their faith and to show that power came to them through himself. He touched the ear of the deaf man since his affliction was there, and he touched the tongue that it might be made to perform its proper function. 36. looking up to heaven.—Thus far there had no virtue reached the afflicted man. Jesus looked up to heaven to show that from God alone came healing power. he sighed.—Groaned. Jesus sympathized with the man suffering from the effects of sin and disease. 37. he said.—The actual Aramaic word used by our Lord. Jesus thus gave the command with authority and the cure was accomplished. 38. straightway.—Immediately. he spake plain.—The cure was perfect. 39. should tell man.—Jesus forbade the people to tell anyone that he had cured him, not to null the cure, probably because he did not wish to have his work of teaching interrupted by him out of curiosity, so much the more they published.—Observe.—The more he charged them, so much the more a great deal they published; and were beyond measure astonished.—The original word of "beyond measure" occurs nowhere else in the New Testament.—Cam. Bib. 37. he said.—The people were convinced that Jesus was a true teacher and wrought through divine power.

II. The four thousand fed (vs. 1-10). 1. In those days.—During the time when Jesus was in Decapolis, probably soon after the healing of the deaf man. The multitude being very great.—Notwithstanding the strong opposition of the Jewish leaders to Jesus, the people continued to listen to him and to receive the mercies which he was so generously bestowing. 2. I have compassion.—The Lord's compassion was called out by their physical want, which, however, resulted from their desire to be near him.—Schaff. His compassion had been shown by healing the bodies of the diseased, now it was to be shown in providing sustenance for the bodies of all. Three days.—Nothing to eat.—Their earnestness had prompted them to neglect their physical needs. 3. If I send them away fasting.—His tenderness toward them would not admit of his allowing them to go away hungry. Faint by the way.—The multitude had followed him from the mountains. Such scanty provision as they had brought with them was consumed. There was no possibility of either going into the neighboring towns, or quickly returning across the lake. They could only retire to their mountain homes through the passes by which they had followed him. They might, therefore, faint by the way. 4. Whence can a man satisfy.—with bread.—They could not have forgotten the former occasion upon which a larger number had been miraculously fed. They knew that Jesus could do now as he did then, but they did not know that he would think best to do so, and simply asked, "Whence?"

5. How many loaves have ye.—Jesus is answering their question. They are not staggered by the purpose of Jesus as on the former occasion, for there was no possibility of either going into the neighboring towns, or quickly returning across the lake. They could only retire to their mountain homes through the passes by which they had followed him. They might, therefore, faint by the way. 4. They knew that Jesus could do now as he did then, but they did not know that he would think best to do so, and simply asked, "Whence?"

6. Commanded the people to sit down.—Probably with the same orderly precision as before, by hundreds and fifties, the women and the children being in this instance also grouped together apart from the men. Eliott. Took the seven loaves.—Jesus made use of the food that

Eczema 25 Years Cured by "Cuncura"

Leg Like Raw Flesh from Kneec Down

"I have been treated by doctors for twenty-five years for a bad case of eczema on my leg. They did their best, but failed to cure it. My own doctor had me to have my leg cut off, but I said I would try the Cuncura Remedies first. He said, 'Try them if you like but I do not think they will do any good.' At this time my leg was peeling from the knee down, my foot was like a piece of raw flesh and I had to walk on crutches. "I bought a cake of Cuncura Soap, a box of Cuncura Ointment and a bottle of Cuncura Resolvent. After the first two treatments the swelling went down and in two months' use of the Cuncura Remedies my leg was cured and the new skin grown on. The doctor could not believe his own eyes when he saw that Cuncura had cured me and that he would use Cuncura for his own patients. But for the Cuncura Remedies I might have lost my life. I am truly grateful for the wonderful cure that Cuncura wrought and I always recommend it most highly as a pure and successful cure for skin troubles." (Signed) Mrs. J. B. Renaud, 277 Mettans St., Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

was available, and by his power applied what was lacking. The loaves were small, flat cakes. Gave thanks.—Recognizing the Father as the giver. We should never eat without first thanking God for our food and asking his blessing upon it. Gave to his disciples, etc.—It required faith and obedience on the part of the disciples to eat about distributing food to such a multitude from such a meager supply. However, as they gave it out there was constantly more to give until the last man, woman and child had been satisfied. 7. A few small fishes.—These were prepared by being called or picked.

8. Eliott.—Here is one miracle of our man, probably eight thousand persons. No one need ever leave Christ's table hungry. He is able to satisfy every need of soul and body. He is the bread of life. Whether we demand "little or much" it is an easy matter for Christ to fill us. There is a fullness in His mercy and love that only those who partake can understand. Broken meat.—According to John, Jesus directed them to gather up the fragments, "that nothing be lost." Seven baskets.—The word translated "baskets" means pockets of wallets. Jesus evidently intended that He and the apostles should eat the pieces as their needs demanded. 9. Four thousand.—There must have been eight thousand to feed, Matthew adds, "Beside women and children" (vs. 38). Sent them away.—But not until He had provided them with necessary food. He led to the parts of Dalmanutha.—"Into the coasts of Magdala" (Matt. 15, 39).

Questions.—To what place did Jesus go from the region of Tyre and Sidon? Who was brought to Jesus? What request was made? What did Jesus do? What was the effect upon the afflicted man? What was the effect of this miracle upon the people? What was the reason why the multitude about Jesus was hungry? What did Jesus and the disciples have to give to the people? What did Jesus do before he began to distribute the food?

PRACTICAL SURVEY.

Topic.—The compassion of Christ. I. Proclaimed by the people. II. Exerciised for the people. 1. Proclaimed by the people. "He hath done all things well." The opposition of Christ's enemies could not prevent the discovery of His glory and grace. Jesus had visited this region before, and the people knew His power to heal. The cure wrought in this instance is recorded by Mark only. The treatment of the deaf man is an illustration of how Jesus treats those who are led to Him by friend or acquaintance. When the man and his Saviour were alone together, there was as much care bestowed on him as though he were the only afflicted man needing help. Jesus' method was intended to remove from the man any trust he might have had in those who stood by and also to lead him to believe in God. Superstition and ignorance must give way. Jesus looked up into heaven as He performed the miracle, to teach the afflicted man that every good gift comes from above. The man could not converse. By his motions Jesus gave the man a true idea of what his disorder was, and of the power that must restore him. Thus he was impressively taught to glorify God. Jesus spoke with authority, and power went with His word. The upward look, the sigh and the word were significant. It is impossible to enter fully into the profound depths of the "Agh" which Jesus uttered on this occasion. It was charged with the power of God. Our Lord's feelings of sadness were all for others. His sighs and tears were followed by some benevolent word or work. This cure was a proof of Christ's Messiahship, according to the prophet Isaiah (55, 5, 6). It was a specimen of the operations of the gospel upon the hearts and lives of men. It was a double sickness and a double cure. Jesus spoke with divine authority, and He opened the understanding and the lips to show forth His praise. All His miracles were wrought in harmony with the Father.

II. Exerciised for the people. "I have compassion on the multitude." On the occasion of feeding the five thousand and on this occasion, Jesus took upon himself, forgetting his own sorrow, the needs of the people. His tenderness here suggests all the pitiableness of their situation. He thought for them before they expressed their need. The desire to grant this blessing originated with Jesus himself. His compassion was the origin

MOTHERS NEED CONSTANT STRENGTH

To Care for the Growing Family and Her Household Cares.

When there is a growing family to care for and the mother falls ill, it is a serious matter. Many mothers who are on the go from morning to night whose work, apparently, is never done, heroically try to disguise their sufferings and keep an appearance of cheerfulness before their family. Only themselves know how they are distressed by headaches and backaches, dragging down pains and nervous weakness; and their nights are often sleepless, and they arise to a new day's work, tired, depressed and unrefreshed. Such mothers should know that these sufferings are usually due to a lack of good nourishing food. They should know that the thing above all others they need to give them new health and strength, is rich, red blood, and that among all medicines there is none can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for their blood-making, health, restoring qualities. Every suffering woman, every woman with a home and family to care for should give these pills a fair trial, for they will keep her in health and strength, and make her work easy. Here is strong proof that these Pills do what is claimed for them. Mrs. Henry Thomas, Dryden, Ont., says: "When my husband and child were born I was so weak and run down that I could scarcely walk across a room. My baby was small and weak also, and cried and worried night and day until I discovered that the child was starving, as my nurse had turned almost to water. My husband got me a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I began taking them. The first beneficial effects were noticed in that my child began to thrive, as my nurse began to improve, and baby slept better and naturally. It was not long before I began to feel the improvement myself, and I daily gained new strength, and baby was growing very rosy and fat. I continued using the pills while I was nursing him and found myself with all the vigor of good health, and able to easily do my household work, which had been so great a drag on me before. I am now never without Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house, and take an occasional dose when I feel tired. I can strongly recommend these Pills to all nursing women, especially if weak and run-down."

NEVER USE YOUNG BULL FOR SIRE (Wm. Welsh, Kincardine, in Canadian Farmer.)

In your synopsis of reasons advanced by your correspondents, one subject is brought to our attention, viz., "Eliminate the Scrub." This is a good advice, and applicable to all domestic animals. How to do this is the question. It takes very little observation to know the best, from certain standpoints, and yet the process of elimination is slow. The ideal may not bring the expected results, and this may lead to conditions that can be remedied. Thoroughbred and registered stock will certainly bring better results than will a scrub. The best formed animal has not always that progeny desired, although a long pedigree is a very fair index of what is expected, conditions exist at times that make us doubt what the results may be. We see a bull or heifer fed or finished fit for the shambles, and in a general way these animals get the prize. This to me is one of the worst features of the showing ring. A good growing, healthy condition is what we want. It is from such a condition the full vigor of the animal comes, and not from the over-lord of fat we often see. By the process of piling on fat, weakness results, the generative forces are impeded, and there is lack of virility. This condition we often find in young animals, over fed, and often attributed to too much service. Heifers, too, under like conditions, may become perfectly barren, and the expectations of beautiful stock from the hands of the improver are disappointed. We see a bull or heifer fed in the same way, but probably the worst practice is to breed from a too young bull. From one of this sort I would not expect much better than from a poor grade. Some may differ, but my experience is that a well-cared bull that has not been over fed, in good healthy condition, leaves better stock than young bulls, no matter what the pedigree may be. And I would never have a cow served by such, if a mature bull of the same breed could be got. This is no idle fancy.

Among sheep breeders, it has been known for a century that mature rams beget the strongest lambs. A great fault amongst breeders of short-horns here is parting with the bull in the prime, and getting a bull calf to fill its place. Whether in a bull, stallion, boar or ram, I would put very great weight upon the stock they left and retain a bull, from the best animal from which springs the best; and I would advise the selling as soon as possible to the butcher all animals whose progeny is defective in any of the requirements of a pure breed, no matter what the pedigree may be.

FARMING REQUIRES BRAINS.

Success in dry farming is not for the shiftless or the indolent. All farming requires brains to make it profitable. It involves hard work and plenty of it. Dry-farming is largely a matter of conserving the moisture from year to year. But this does not present insuperable difficulties. By proper management a tiled field can be made a reservoir through the accumulation of moisture beneath the surface. The moisture which falls as rain or snow must be made to penetrate its surface, and when once imprisoned its escape by evaporation is prevented. Tillage is the means by which both these objects may be attained—breaking up the soil in the first place by deep plowing in order that the water may sink into it, and stirring the surface so that a mulch of loose powdered earth may keep the channels of evaporation closed.

HISTORICAL SCENES OF TWO HUNDRED YEARS AGO

The stirring times which occurred between the early French settlers on the island of Montreal and the warlike Iroquois were vividly rehearsed at Johnson's Point this week by a Canadian Film Company, which has taken up camping quarters on this ancient Indian reserve, for the purpose of reproducing the historical scenes of two hundred years ago, when Montreal was but a little village defended by a few Frenchmen against the constant onslaught of the Iroquois tribe, who looked upon the French settlers as usurpers, and were determined to wipe them out, if it were at all possible. It was the story of the gallant defence of Dollard des Armeaux and his sixteen heroes retold in realistic form at Johnson's Point, only a short distance from the actual spot where this thrilling episode took place in 1629. The hundreds of real Indians, relics of the Iroquois tribe, were present in full war paint, armed with ancient weapons of various kinds, particularly the arrows, some poisoned. The announcement of the approach of the Indians in the thousands was quietly taken up by Dollard, who asked for volunteers to set forth on their death journey to intercept the attacking tribe and depulsing them until each one of them was dead. Sixteen volunteered and the signing of the register was a pathetic scene before the little church at Montreal, demonstrating that they were ready to sacrifice their lives to save the village. Thus they set out, and twenty miles from Montreal erected a small stockade, awaiting the coming of the Indians. They were joined by forty-three Algonquins, who were a friendly tribe to the Frenchmen, and together they defended the stockade to the death. The approach of the Indians was realistic and made spectators feel creepy, but were happy to know that it was a civilized country. The war cry of the attackers sounded and resounded like a death knell on the little defending band. Once, nay, twice, were the Indians gallantly repulsed, with little loss to the defenders, but the friendly Indians lost courage and deserted their comrades and joined the attacking force. Flaming arrows and spears and poisoned arrows were flying in many directions towards the stockade, and it was a real wonder how everybody escaped injury in such a realistic performance. The last stand was great, but disastrous to the heroes. The defenders prepared a gun for discharging of the attackers, and the flames of light with powder. When hoisting it to the top of the stockade it fell back and exploded with terrific force, killing most of the little band. In the meantime the stockade caught fire, and it was a most thrilling sight. The burning of the stockade, the falling of the gate, and the great onrush of hundreds of Indians to finish those surviving was a repetition almost lifelike to what actually occurred, and the scolding was heart-rending, but fine from stage point of view. The Indians danced round in great jubilation at the destruction of the French. But this is only one of the stirring incidents that will be depicted for the moving picture patrons by this company. The pictures will be unloaded very shortly, and theatregoers will have an opportunity of realizing in the defence of the early settlers of Canada and the stand they made against the bloodthirsty Indians.

RAIN HURT CROPS

Government Report Gives Rather Lower Estimates.

Ottawa, Oct. 21.—A bulletin issued today by the Census and Statistics Office covers the crop conditions in Canada for the month ended September 30. It states that during this month disastrously wet weather continued to prevail over most parts of Canada, especially over the Provinces of Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba. At September 30 large areas of grain, both in the east and West, were still either uncut or were exposed to the west in stock. Much damage has been caused by sprouting, and in the Northwest Provinces second growth has in numerous instances caused uneven ripening and consequent lowering of grade. Frost during September in these Provinces did some damage, but as a rule only late-sown crops, including fax, were seriously affected. In parts of Southern Ontario the ground is so wet that many farmers have abandoned the sowing of Fall wheat for next year.

The estimates of yield published a month ago could only be regarded as of preliminary value, because in consequence of the bad weather and late season harvesting operations had made so little progress.

The new estimates of yield obtained from correspondents at the end of September confirm generally the previous estimates for most of the crops, but inasmuch as very little threshing had been accomplished and large areas of grain were still unharvested, it is found that the final estimates after completion of the threshing may turn out lower than the figures now given.

are a positive help and a permanent pleasure. The hand of Time cannot be stayed. The eyes grow weak with advancing years. To preserve the sight means to help the eyes do their work. To help the eyes means to wear glasses. SCIENTIFICALLY FITTED GLASSES We know we are fully qualified to properly test eyes and would appreciate your patronage.

On account of Thanksgiving Day the Women's Institute meeting will be held on the first Saturday in November instead of next Saturday.

Live hens and chickens bought Wednesday afternoon at Willson's Meat Market. Birds must be fasted 24 hours.

Next Monday, Thanksgiving Day. The popular way of returning thanks with many in this district is to go to the woods and kill something.

Mr Charles Wing returned to Athens last week from a pleasant and successful season in charge of a cheese factory among the hills of Lennox and Addington. He likes the district and may return next season.

The death occurred on Sunday night in the St Vincent de Paul Hospital of Roy S. Horton, son of Mr and Mrs B. J. Horton, 48 Church Street, formerly of New Dublin.

We are informed that the Rev W. S. McAlpine of Delta has declined the call to the Perth Baptist Church, which was recently extended to him. Athens people will have another opportunity on Sunday, of hearing Mr McAlpine preach.

Miss Caroline LaRose, who has just completed a post-graduate course at nursing in New York, has been spending a few days with friends in Athens. Miss LaRose left on Tuesday for Regina where she will practice her profession.

An accousticon, an instrument by which it is possible for persons who are stone deaf to sit in their pews and hear distinctly ever word uttered from the pulpit and the singing of the choir, has been installed in the Dominion Methodist Church, Ottawa.

On Thursday, Oct. 31, the household furniture of the late Mrs Joseph Kerr will be offered for sale by auction at her late residence, Wiltse street, Athens. Lafayette Washburne, Administrator. E. Taylor, auctioneer.

On Thursday last, J. Mackenzie, a contractor on the C. N. R., was on the morning train going to Brockville when he took a tablet, by mistake, containing 7½ gr. of bi-chloride of mercury. At Athens he left the train and was treated by Dr. Hamilton. In the evening he was able to continue his journey and no serious results are anticipated, though he had an exceedingly close call, as the tablet was a most deadly poison.

Institute Officers

Interesting and profitable sessions were held by the East Leeds Teachers' Institute in Victoria Hall on Friday last. Many subjects were presented in a practical way, including the much neglected matter of penmanship, which was presented by Mr W. T. Rogers of Brockville Business College. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mr A. S. Hittman.
Secretary-Treasurer—W. A. Remer.

Executive Committee—Misses L. Robertson and I. M. Ross, Messrs M. Robertson, G. Johnston and E. Kerr.
Delegates to O. E. A.—Misses Graham and Wells.

Auditors—Misses Millar and Kinney.
Reporters—Misses Dales and Cook-eran.

Mrs A. Kendrick has returned home after spending three months with friends in Portland and Smith's Falls.

Mrs W. H. Daniels of Ottawa is visiting at the home of Mr and Mrs G. E. Judson.

Miss Kathleen Cato of Brockville spent the week end in Athens, a guest of Mrs A. E. McLean.

For next ten days Charles Wing will sell by private offer all his household goods.

There will be a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary at the home of Mrs Malvena on Thursday, at 2 p.m., to sew.

Partridge may now be lawfully shot. Sportsmen should note the fact that black squirrels are protected until Nov. 15th.

At the sale of the real and personal property of the estate of the late W. H. Moulton on Monday, Mr Abel Kavanagh purchased the residence.

A fine of $50 was imposed on Robert Scott of Portland who pleaded guilty to supplying liquor to a man on the prohibited list.

On Sunday next anniversary services will be conducted in the Baptist church. The preacher at both morning and evening and evening services will be Rev W. S. McAlpine, B.A., B. Th., of Delta. Mrs McAlpine and Mr T. Horsfield will assist in the choral service. All welcome.

The time for setting out fires has arrived and residents should exercise due care in locating them. The by-law requires that fires be at least 40 feet from any building. Loss occasioned by such a fire might well be disputed by an insurance company, or the destruction of your neighbor's property might place you in a very untenable position.

On Tuesday evening Mr and Mrs E. Taylor celebrated the tenth anniversary of their wedding day by entertaining a large number of their young married friends at their pleasant home on Wiltse street. A feast befitting the occasion was spread and thoroughly enjoyed. With the "good boy" the "bad boy" and music the hours passed merrily and in parting the guests wished their host and hostess many happy returns of this decadal anniversary.

A rapid transfer of real estate took place on Monday. Arden Lillie learned the price Mr Charles Wing put on his home here, inspected the property, bought and paid for it all within one hour. While pleased to regard Mr Lillie as a permanent resident, Athenians will view with regret this evidence that Mr Wing intends to make his future home elsewhere. Mr Wing has added his full share to the social sunshine of Athens and his departure will be a distinct loss to the village.

The fine weather has been very favorable for sidewalk building and the work is proceeding rapidly. Mill street has been completed, Reid street will be finished Thursday and then the work on Church street will be taken up. It is probable that a very desirable change in the width of the walk on Church street will be made, increasing the width to 5 or 5½ feet from the Baptist church to the easterly limit of the High School grounds.

Athens bids fair to work up a reputation for being decidedly gamey. On Friday morning last Mr W. Greenham was proceeding along Main street east when he noticed three little animals dodging around in a corn field near Mr Wm. Johnston's residence. With the aid of his dog, he succeeded in killing all three, which proved on near approach to be young coons. Mr Johnson was in at the death of the last coon. The animals had travelled at least half a mile to this patch of corn.

The best way to meet the needs of the exceptionally large number of pupils in attendance at the Athens High School this term has engaged the serious attention of the trustee board, and at length a solution has been found in securing a lease of the Methodist Sunday-school room and engaging a fifth teacher, Miss Patterson of Toronto. The room has good blackboards, is well lighted, has been comfortably seated, and should serve well, temporarily, the present purpose.
