Keep the Potatoes Green and Growing.

(Experimental Farm Note.)
Many are growing potatoes in Canada this year for the first time and, as a result of the greatly increased number of growers, the crop will probably be greatly increased. But to insure a good crop there must be an abundance of moisture in the soil and the tops must be protected from insects and disease.

CULTIVATION.

The soil should be kept cultivated with the cultivator or hoe until the top-most tubers are about 2 inches below the surface. As most of the tubers develop in the three or four inches of soil nearest the surface, and as the tubers will not develop well in dry soil, quite shallow cultivation is desirable at this season of the year. In soil which is dry there may be good development of tops but there will be few tubers. The roots in such cases have gone down deep into the soil to obtain moisture from the tuber-bearing stems, which are quite different from the root system, do not develop well. Where the soil is a loose, sandy loam, hilling is not necessary and may be injurious as the soil dries out more than if left on the level. In heavy soils it is desirable to hill the potatoes as it will loosen the soil and the tubers will be kept cooler when the ground is left level. When there is a threat of rain-fall and moisture in the soil hilling is likely to give bad results in all kinds of soil as the soil will be looser and the tubers can push through it readily. As a great development of tubers takes place during the cooler and usually moister weather of the latter part of summer, it is very important to keep the plants growing well until then. In one experiment it was shown that during the month of September there was an increase of 110 lbs. per acre of potatoes per acre.

PROTECTION OF POTATO TOPS FROM INSECTS.

It is very important to prevent the tops of potatoes from being eaten by insects, particularly by the Colorado Potato Beetle. The old bugs do not do much harm to the foliage as a rule, and usually the plants are not sprayed to destroy these, although the fewer there are to lay eggs the less difficulty there will be in destroying the young ones. These begin to lay eggs 10 to 15 days after hatching, and close watch should be kept so that the vines may be sprayed before much harm is done. Paris green kills more rapidly than arsenate of lead but do not adhere to it well, and in rainy weather it is desirable to have something that will stay on the leaves so that they will be protected until it stops raining and thus prevent the tops being eaten. At the Central Experimental Farm a mixture of Paris green and arsenate of lead is used in the proportion of 8 ounces Paris green, 1 1/2 pounds paste arsenate of lead (or 12 ounces dry arsenate of lead) to 40 gallons of water in order to get the advantage of both poisons. It may be that it is not convenient to get both poisons when either 12 ounces of P. G. in green or 3 pounds paste arsenate of lead (or 1 1/2 pounds dry arsenate of lead) to 40 gallons water could be used, or in smaller quantities, say 1 ounce Paris green to 3 gallons or 1/2 ounce paste arsenate of lead or half that quantity of dry to 3 gallons of water. An experiment conducted for six years at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, showed that, on the average, where the tops were sprayed to kill bugs, the yield was 186 bushels per acre, while when the tops were not sprayed and allowed to be eaten, the yield was only 98 bushels per acre. It is desirable not to stop with one spraying which usually does not kill all the bugs but to spray several times, if necessary, so that a little foliage as possible is eaten.

PROTECTION OF THE POTATO PLANTS FROM LATE BLIGHT AND ROT.

In some years the crop of potatoes is much lessened by the Late Blight disease and when rot follows little of the crop may be left. It is, therefore, very desirable to prevent this disease from spreading. This is done by keeping the plants covered with Bordeaux mixture from about the first week of July, or before there is any sign of the disease, until September. Sometimes the first application of Bordeaux mixture is made before the potato beetles are all killed when the poison for them may be mixed with the Bordeaux. While the disease is not very bad every year it is well to be prepared. There was an average increase per year of 94 bushels of potatoes from spraying with Bordeaux mixture in three years. The formula for Bordeaux mixture for potatoes is 6 pounds copper sulphate or bismutite, 4 pounds freshly slaked lime to 40 gallons of water. While the bismutite will dissolve more quickly in hot water, if it is not convenient to get this, it may be suspended overnight in a cotton bag in a wooden or earthen vessel containing four or five or more gallons of water. The lime should be slaked in another vessel and before mixing with the copper sulphate solution should be strained through coarse sacking or

Cost of Preserving Greatly Exaggerated.

PRESENT PRICE OF SUGAR ADDS ONLY 1 1/2 CENTS TO THE COST OF PUTTING UP A QUART JAR OF PRESERVES.

Last summer many women did not put up their regular supply of home-made preserves; and bitterly they regretted it. They became aware of what they called the high price of sugar. When sugar reached 7 1/2 cents a pound, they let the strawberries and cherries go by. When sugar sold at 8 cents and 8 1/2 cents, they permitted the luscious peaches, pears, plums and apples to rot on the ground.

But never again. This summer will see a genuine, old-time revival in home-made preserving; because the women of Canada now realize what a foolish extravagance it was to do without preserves, especially when the increased cost of putting them up is infinitesimal.

As a matter of fact, every woman can prove with her first lot of preserves that the increased cost of sugar is surprisingly small. Turning back the files of papers publishing market prices, we find that in 1912, 1913 and 1914, up to the outbreak of war, the average price of granulated sugar was 5 1/2 cents a pound. Today the best granulated sugar retails at 8 1/2 cents. This is an average of 3 cents a pound for the whole of the country.

A quart jar of preserved berries or fruit, requires at half a pound of sugar; so that the increased cost of preserving, due to the increased cost of the sugar, is only 1 1/2 cents a quart compared with the cost of preserving before the war when sugar was unusually cheap.

Now is the time for the women of Canada to come gallantly to the aid of the country, and help to conserve our food supplies. The fruit crop this year promises to be a record one, both in quality and quantity. Foreign markets, being closed because of the shortage in transportation, it rests almost entirely with our home-makers as to whether this crop worth millions is to be a source of profit or a complete loss.

With the home pantries filled with delicious jams, preserves and jellies, it is a matter of course that the women should be prepared to conserve our food supplies. The fruit crop this year promises to be a record one, both in quality and quantity. Foreign markets, being closed because of the shortage in transportation, it rests almost entirely with our home-makers as to whether this crop worth millions is to be a source of profit or a complete loss.

How Is Your Appetite?

Loss of appetite during the summer months is a common trouble, and indicates that the digestive system is out of order. Lacking a healthy appetite many people—especially women—go too long without food, or eat sparingly because food seems to distress them, and it is no wonder that they complain that they are constantly tired and unable to stand the hot weather. This simply means that the digestive system is not doing its proper work, and that the nutriment that should come from the food is not being distributed to the various organs of the body. In other words the blood is growing thin and watery.

You need a summer tonic, and in all the range of medicine there is no tonic so equal as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Take a short treatment with these pills now and notice how promptly your appetite returns and your power to digest food improves. Your food will then do you good, your strength will return and you will no longer complain that the hot weather is the best time to begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the moment you feel the least bit out of sorts. The sooner you do so the sooner you will regain your old-time energy. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or 25 cents a box for 60 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WOMAN HAD NERVOUS TROUBLE

West Danby, N. Y.—"I have had nervous trouble all my life until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for nervous and female troubles and it straightened me out in good shape. I work nearly all the time, as we live on a farm and I have four girls. I do all my sewing and other work with their help, so it shows that I stand it real well. I took the Compound when my ten year old daughter came and it helped me a lot. I have since had my oldest girl take it and it did her lots of good. I keep it in the house all the time and recommend it."—Mrs. DEWEY SINGMASTER, West Danby, N. Y.

Weakness, nervousness, irritability, headache, dizziness, dragging sensations, all point to female derangement which may be overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere have been willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mired's Adjustment for sale everywhere.

The Stalk Borer.

For the past three years corn plants of an injurious insect boring in various farm and garden crops have reached the entomological laboratory of the Agricultural College. Specimens of the insect were received infesting potatoes, corn, rhubarb and, in one case, a sugar beet. A serious attempt to study the pest was made in the summer of 1915 with the result that the identity of the insect was discovered and the manner of its work determined. The great increase in the number of gardens planted this year has resulted in a like increase in the numbers of this insect found in gardens. Consequently a short account of our findings may be of interest.

FOOD PLANTS. In England, from which country this pest was apparently introduced, it is known as the potato stalk borer, but it is also known to attack dock, horse tails and other plants. It has been found boring in corn stalks in Ontario. In addition to these we have, as already stated, found it attacking rhubarb and sugar beet. The rhubarb plantations at the college were severely injured two years in succession and reports of serious injury to potatoes in York-mouth and vicinity have reached us during the past few seasons. This season its depredations, particularly to potatoes and corn, appear to be serious.

LIFE HISTORY. The insect winters as an egg attached to couch grass or other weeds and hatches early in June. The young caterpillar makes its way to the plant it is to attack and bores into it at once continuing boring in the middle of the stem until it reaches full size: about six or eight weeks later. The full grown caterpillar is about one and one-half inches long, strongly segmented, pinkish in color and with a cinnamon-brown head. The larvae enter the ground and transform to pupae, remaining in that state for about three weeks, when the moth emerges. The eggs are then laid in the situation described and the life cycle is complete. The moths appear emergent during the greater part of August and on into September.

CONTROL. It is obvious from the foregoing that nothing can be done to control the insect after it has found its way inside the stalk, for there it is protected from any poison that might be applied. Only preventative measures

Children Cry for FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Happy Anyhow.

(By Walt Mason.)
I know not how the weather man may run his old machine; I'll be as happy as I can, and keep my mind serene. Men cannot change the course of things by looking glum all day, so he is wise who whoops and sings, and says 'Hip, Hip, Hooray!' Where'er I am inclined to whine, I murmur to my soul, 'No fierce, protesting words of mine will lift things from the hole. The weather sharp will not dispel the gray clouds overhead, because I stand around and yell, and wish that I were dead. So let the clouds, all wet and gray, continue to collect; I still shall cry 'Hip, Hip, Hooray!' or words to that effect.' Thus, as I go about my bit, I cheer up other folks; they say, 'Great Scott, how little we'll and how happy forty cents! Some droop and moan because they think out war with Kaiser Bill will put the country on the blink and all fair prospects kill. But moping will not help to slay a single foe, that's flat; far better cry 'Hip, Hip, Hooray!' and let it go at that.

Had Chronic Indigestion Thought She Would Die

After Years of Suffering Attributes Cure to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mating too much or using foods that do not agree are the usual causes of indigestion. In some cases the trouble usually begins not in the stomach, but in the liver, since it devolves on this organ to filter the excess waste matter from the system. Now, since Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are the greatest of liver regulators, it naturally follows that they are unequalled as a cure for chronic indigestion. With the liver, kidneys and bowels active the poisonous waste matter is quickly removed from the system and there is nothing to interfere with the natural and healthful working of the organs of digestion. In this way only can lasting cure be effected. Mrs. Rebecca Elliott, Magnesian, Ont., writes: "I feel it my duty to write you in regard to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I had gastritis of the stomach for three years, and could get nothing to stop it until I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I would have an attack of this trouble with my stomach every three or four weeks, and was so bad at times that my friends thought I would surely die. Thanks to these pills, I have not had an attack for six months, and believe that the cure is thorough. My husband has had very satisfactory experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. He was much run down, and very pale and weak. I persuaded him to use the Nerve Food, and after having taken five boxes he looks and feels real well." It is such experiences as these that have made a place for Dr. Chase's medicine in the great majority of homes. They do not fail, even in the most complicated cases. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills use pill a dose, 25 cents a box. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 4 for $1.50. All dealers, or Edmundson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Editorial Brevities.

A careful reading of the Conscription Bill discussion must convince all who are unprejudiced that reasonable consideration is being accorded suggestions really designed to improve the bill and aid in the all-important purpose of raising men for Canada's army overseas.

The report of the New York Department of Health for the year 1916 shows a lower death rate than in any previous year. More gratifying even than the death record of 13.89 per thousand is the lowering of child mortality from 125 per thousand in 1915 to 93.

Lord Northcliffe, in a speech before the New York Overseas Club, gave some information about Great Britain's war activities. His most interesting statement was that the army in France is maintained at a strength of 2,200,000, apart from the nation's other large armies in Egypt and other parts of Africa, Mesopotamia, Palestine and at Saloniki.

St. Swithin's Day.

Sunday was St. Swithin's Day, and although overcast all the afternoon, yet not a drop of rain fell. St. Swithin (or St. Swithin) died in 262, Bishop of Winchester and patron saint of Winchester Cathedral, England, from the tenth to the sixteenth century.

The origin of the legend is lost in tradition and antiquity. One version has it that St. Swithin wished to be buried where the sweet rain of heaven would fall on his grave, but this desire of his would scarcely explain the prolonged showers which are supposed to follow a rainy St. Swithin's Day.

Gone to Rest.

At noon on Tuesday, July 17th, Nettie Cohoon, youngest daughter of Dr. A. Cohoon, of Wolfville, entered into rest after a lingering illness patiently borne with Christian fortitude.

Decided leaves a sorrowing father and two sisters, Mrs. James Floyd, of Roxbury, Mass., and Mrs. Crosby, of Ottawa, to mourn their loss.

Our Ottawa Letter.

Ottawa, July 14th. Now that the froth and fury of the debate on the Conscription Service Bill is over, the members of Parliament have settled down to rational consideration of its details.

When we look back over the speeches that were delivered on the motion or second reading and the Laurier amendment for referendum we are amazed at the poor quality of the arguments made against the Bill.

The violent attacks that were made on the Bill during the debate on second reading suggested that in the committee stage it would be torn limb from limb. But here we get another surprise.

There will be some amendments to meet the views of members on both sides of the House. The Government is showing a willingness to adopt reasonable suggestions; and even the fire-eaters behind Laurier find themselves overcome by the sympathetic consideration the Government gives to those suggestions.

The Government is stiffening up the Bill. It is being amended so that the agitator against obedience to law can be dealt with quickly and effectively. Sir Robert Borden effected this.

The Liberal partizan papers that were crying out for 'leadership' are getting all the leadership they could want. There are now four divisions in the House of Commons: the Conservative stalwarts who stand with Borden for victory; the Liberal stalwarts who are also with Borden for victory; the Quebec anti-victory men who stand with Laurier for referendum and any other scheme that will delay Canada in her duty; and the through thick and thin partizan crowd—Oliver, Pugsley, McDonald & Co.—who are now busily engaged in looking around to find out where they fit.

Western Liberals are calling a convention to be held next month to try and straighten out their affairs. No doubt Sir Wilfrid will be allowed to drop down as easily as possible; but he will be dropped. Meantime there is a very interesting race for leadership in which several hard-shelled Liberals, apparently good friends, are quietly knitting one another.

We heard a great deal about the 'leadership' Sir Wilfrid Laurier would give Canada. Many a time we read about the 'truly national government' he could organize. He has now given us a view of his 'leadership' in actual life. Patriotic Canadians will be glad that they escaped from it and that the trusted and trusty leader, Sir Robert Borden, is still in command.

Save the Children.

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel sure that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly.

'If it is a question of getting men for the trenches, or of a coalition government or winning the war, or of keeping the people united, and if possible avoiding an election during the acute stages of the war—it does not matter what the question is—my right, hon. friend takes a road opposite to the government. I want to be quite candid; I do not believe it will be possible to persuade a number of our fellow citizens that those who are responsible for such a policy are thinking more of winning the war than of winning the election.'

The German Harvest. Reports from apparently reliable sources are to the effect that the prospect for the German harvest is very gloomy. In Germany this year the condition of cultivation was said to be such that only the most favorable weather would serve to bring the crops to maturity, and the weather was far from favorable. Germany has had a huge crop production in the past but that a taintment marks the climax of a long period of agricultural development. Her agriculture was distinctively intensive as she had virtually no means of expanding her acreage or adding to her production and every natural interference meant a decreased rather than an increased crop. Great Britain is at precisely the opposite extreme. There is no interference whether by men or nature that could mean any large diminution of her agricultural produce short of some natural catastrophe. There are on the contrary a great many methods by which it could be materially increased even in time or war. The same thing is true of the distribution of food. Every device that has ever been heard of, and some that have never hitherto been dreamt of, has been used by Germany to apply the food resources of the country to the scientific maintenance of its energies without waste. There is no margin left. In Great Britain on the contrary, there is a large margin still existent. If that is true of Great Britain how much more is it true of North America. The Allies generally are only at the beginning of a process of food conservation of which Germany is at the end. Hence any diminution in the German crop from natural causes must have an effect in Germany far more serious than such a diminution would have for the Allies. This year there is greater food stringency in Germany just before harvest than there was last year. Next year it will be still worse, and a bad harvest might easily make it undesirable even to anticipate it. It will be difficult to make a man fight in October who is certain of starvation in May, if he is able to hold out till then.

Bigger, better, brighter and busier than ever is the promise of the big show of 1917. The Provincial Exhibition opens in Halifax September 12th and will continue until September 29th. With the exception of the Fair in Charlottetown, it will be the only exhibition in the Maritime Provinces this fall, and Manager Hall is right now planning every effort to make it a maritime show that will be worthy of the provinces it will represent. He recently returned from a tour of the larger shows of the United States, and has contracted for the best that money and careful selection can provide. There promises to be a swing and gladsome frolic and novelty to the midway year that will leave all previous shows far in the rear. With the entrance of the United States into the war, transportation facilities have become almost unobtainable, but Manager Hall is laying out his plans like a wise general, and he promises to hitch in the bringing of a banner midway show. Absolutely no get-into-quick schemes will be tolerated. Live stock enthusiasts are going to have the biggest competition ever furnished by the big show. Just to make things doubly interesting, the management has increased the prize list in this department a cool twenty per cent. The best financiers all over the province are grooming their pets for the judging. Interest has never been so keen and never have live-stock enthusiasts been so eager to match their best against their competitors. It will be one of the biggest features of the show. And the racing, too, promises to be the most exciting yet, according to the experts. Astonishing reports are coming in of the times being made in training and the indications are that it will be a gala burst of speed from September 12th to 20th. Bigger, better, brighter and busier than ever is the promise of the big show of 1917.

LET US CONSIDER Our Resources. We all know it, doctors and athletes and everyone else, we must put back into our bodies as much as we take out of them or we are going to break down. Yet we all know those who have tried to take out more than they put back. Over and over again we have seen it in the case of business men, professional men, athletes and students. And never yet has nature failed to demand her toll. But woman, on whom have been placed the greatest burdens in this life of struggle and work, she above all others, must realize the fatality of drawing week in and week out on her energies without any thought of conservation. For the great bulk of women life is a round of toils, great and small. It begins from the minute she rises in the morning until she lays her tired body down to rest again, far on in the night. For man there is the variety of life, the wonderful vistas of success, to lead him on and on, the thrill of fighting and winning. But for woman there is none of these things. It is the dull monotony of the household duties that drags a woman down and down. Marriage and children mean to her the highest expression of her love but they also mean a sacrifice that no man will ever realize for it is the very nature of things that he could not realize it. But while one instinctively admires the woman who devotes her life to others and reckons not in the spending of her energy, one must feel how much greater is the need and her duty to conserve her strength. Far better that she should not keep sapping that strength which one day will be no more, but that she should shift some of the burdens off onto others, watch her health carefully, put back as much life blood as she takes out of it. Women of Nova Scotia, you who have spared yourselves not in the service of your families and your country, you must realize this truth. You who in addition to all your household duties still have had time to mother the thousands of Canadian boys at the front, you must realize the truth. And since you do realize it, you can also see that your province is in exactly the same position as one of its women, that its strength too must be conserved. Money is the life blood that flows through the veins of a country bringing life and strength. Keep drawing out that money and the province will languish and die.

Women of Nova Scotia, can't you see that by buying your goods outside the province you are sapping its strength, drawing off its very life-blood. Conserve that strength. Keep the money in your own province, make your province strong, lusty and even advancing to newer and grander heights of prosperity. BUY AT HOME. Buy from the howe town merchants. This is the great "Buy-At-Home" campaign—a crusade to bring to our people a consciousness of impending commercial disaster. BUY AT HOME.

Black River. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rile spent the week end with Mrs. Rile's sister, Mrs. James Baker, in Falmouth. Mrs. Rachel Atwell, of Wolfville, is visiting relatives here. Mr. Edward Buckley met with a serious accident last week. While painting the Black River church, he fell from a high staging striking his face on the back of a seat and cutting it quite badly. We are glad to hear that he is recovering. Master Lorna Baker, of Falmouth, is spending the summer with his grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Long. The trustees of the School Lands will sell at public auction at Grand Pre Station, on Saturday, July 21st, the grass on 60 acres of the Grand Pre Dyke. Sale at 1 o'clock.

DEAR EDITOR--Should 'Anti-Humb' find it quite necessary to again relieve his mind in the columns of THE ACADIAN, we beg leave to humbly suggest that he should be more consistent in his choice of a signature. Possibly 'Anti-British,' 'Anti-Canadian,' 'Anti-Conscription,' 'Anti-Christian,' or 'Anti any old thing,' except 'Humb' would do. Sincerely yours, LOYAL CANADIAN.

A Card of Thanks.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ACADIAN: DEAR SIR,--I take this opportunity of thanking those for the kindness towards me and mine in the loss of our oldest son who was drowned at Halifax by the upsetting of a canoe. He belonged to the 63 Halifax R.F.s stationed at McNab's Island. I thank Councillor W. E. Anderson and Frank Tresholt for their timely help in supplying teams; also Rev. Mr. Miller, Miss Annie Stuart and Mrs. Ralph Watson for flowers. Wilfrid intended going overseas in August, but his hopes were not realized and now his body rests in the old churchyard at Grand Pre. Yours truly, THOS. A. KENNEDY.

Next Week's Attractions at The Opera House.

One of the foreign celebrities who will visit this town on July 23rd will be Miss Catherine Dupont-Joyce, the Belgian English actress who supported Sir Charles Wyndham and Mrs. Patrick Campbell on recent tours. Miss Joyce is accompanied by Anne Randolph, a noted pianist from the Damrosch Musical College of New York, who gives a distinct program of her own, besides playing all the original incidental musical scores which are part of the plays and dramatic recitals given by Miss Joyce. Miss Joyce's hobby is giving poetical works of China and Persia and those of Tagore. She opened her Canadian tour at the Academy of Music on Thursday, July 19th. Popular programs will be interspersed by works of Robert Service, Rudyard Kipling, Lord Dunsany and Walter Whitman.

On Tuesday that much abused term, 'All-star cast,' may really be applied to the Butterfly picture, 'The Circus of Life,' which comes to the Opera House on July 24th. Z. E. Rex, who has been acclaimed on two continents as one of the cleverest child actors on the screen, is the featured player. Eula Jane Wilson, who in private life is Mrs. Rupert Julian, the wife of the producer of the photoplay and an actress of high rank, has the leading woman's part. Miss Wilson has appeared as the star of several Bluebird photoplays, including 'The Bell Woman Do,' and she created the 'heavy' role with Geraldine Ferrar in 'Temptation.' Harry Carter, known to fame as a polished villain of the screen, who will soon be starred in the Universal serial, 'The Gray Ghost,' and has been the leading man in many Red Feather photoplays, has the part of a young man who is just saved from ruin. Mignon Anderson, star of the Butterfly, 'The Phantom's Secret,' and exceedingly popular as a screen player, is the girl who saves him. With five actors of distinction in the five principal roles, the cast of 'The Circus of Life' may be truly called 'all star.'

The Devil's Pay Day or His Just Deserts will be the Bluebird feature for Wednesday and Thursday, July 25th and 26th. There is an old saying: 'What you do, you do unto yourself.' Had Gregory Van Houten considered this he might have adopted different measures. Soon tiring of his country wife, Gregory heartlessly divorced her, and that love which she had given willingly and generously turned to hatred. The days passed for Jean as only one more, nearer the payment day and Gregory having cast his bread upon the waters, soon forgot. The gods were good to him, so good that when retribution came it might be two fold. It was the hand of fate that guided the footsteps of Gregory and his former wife into the same path one day. Jean played her part well and exacted her own vengeance. The final outcome of this situation will hold you until the end. Bluebird is the embodiment of the very best of that which goes to make a good photoplay. Franklin Farabee, formerly portrays the character of Gregory Van Houten, in 'The Devil's Pay Day,' and Leah Bird will lead a capable supporting company.

The Hero List. The following names of young men of Wolfville and vicinity appear in the casualty list this week: KILLED IN ACTION--Robert Spicer, Wolfville. WOUNDED--Dean Shaw, Brenton Eagles, Wolfville; J. W. Williams, Annapolis Royal; A. E. Lockwood, B. Harper, Port Williams; W. E. Hard, Melanson; H. C. Walsh, Garperet Mountain.

Just now is the best time to have children's photos made. Graham will make any style of picture you wish--large or small.

Leave It With Him.

Yes, leave it with Him, The lilies all do, and they grow;

They grow in the rain, And they grow in the dew—

Yes, they grow; They grow in the darkness, all hid in the night;

They grow in the sunshine, revealed by the light—

Still they grow; They ask not your planting, They need not your care;

As they grow; Dropped down in the valley, The field anywhere—

There they grow; They grow in their beauty arrayed in pure white,

They grow, clothed in glory, by Heaven's own light—

Sweetly grow. The grasses are clothed

And the ravens are fed From His store;

But you, who are loved, And guarded and fed

How much more! Will he clothe you, and feed you, and give you His care!

Then leave it with Him; He has everywhere Ample store.

Yes, leave it with Him; 'Tis more dear to His heart,

You will know; Than the lilies that bloom,

Or the flowers that start 'Neath the snow.

Whatever you need, if you ask it in prayer,

You can leave it with Him; for you are His care.

You, you know.

Bad for Business.

According to O. B. Marden, editor of "Success," the three chief elements of success are: 1. Health; 2. A clear brain; 3. Will power.

The value of either of the last two elements fluctuates with the state of the first, so that we may say the primary condition of success is health. Hence we must study the physical effects of moderate drinking in order to get at the value of its effect on business.

Expert medical opinion, formed from extended observation in many lands, over many thousands of cases shows that the use of alcohol is quora, like beer and light wines, in the minutest quantities—that is, moderate drinking—causes sudden death by heart disease, shrivelled kidneys, paralysis and hardening of the brain and nerve tissues. Are men thus affected the most fit for the strenuous life and heavy demands of modern business? Certainly not.

Life insurance companies consider a moderate drinker of from 20 to 22 years of age as dead at 45, while the total abstainer at the same age has a lease of life at least until 61. Who will be the safer business man at 40—the moderate drinker already old and with but five years more of life, or the total abstainer who has a 90 per cent. show for 21 years more, all in his prime as a business man?

Finally, drinking is not an individual matter, the same as sugar and coffee or cream on berries. A man's body is not a good judge of what is good for it by taste alone. To that faculty must be added knowledge as to the powers of reason and judgement as to the matter of self-interest.

It is not an individual matter, on a man, in full possession of the facts later commit the crime of putting poison into his system against the dictates of nature and reason. The worst feature of moderate drinking is not its effect upon the immediate drinker, but its effect upon the regeneration in the production of degenerate children. By this, children with criminal instincts are at meat, but merely those who are weaker physically and mentally, and more prone to become victims of appetite than their parents. Here medicine is of little avail.

again shows remarkable figures, eighty-two per cent. of children of alcoholics whose parents are wine drinkers, whereas but 17 per cent. of the children of moderate drinkers come up to the required physical standard—Robert P. Palmer, in "American Issue."

MOUNT CAYELL HAS ITS UNIQUE FEATURES

Glacier Upon It Resembles Woman Fed in Spotted White—Was It Selected By Inspiration?

The mountain in Jasper National Park that perpetuates the memory of Edith Cavell, the English nurse who suffered martyrdom at the hands of the Germans in Belgium, is a striking pile, whose summit reaches to a height of over 11,000 feet above sea level, and is about 12 miles south of Jasper, from where it can be clearly seen at any time when not obscured by clouds. The northern face is covered by snows and glaciers, and when lit up by the rays of the sun or moon presents a splendid spectacle, and is regarded as being a most appropriate monument for the unfortunate victim of Hunnish hate.

Strange Figure Lying between Mount Cavell and a high, sombre, verdurous mountain, as yet unnamed adjoining at right angles there is a most remarkable glacier of immense size, which, at close range resembles the prostrate form of a woman stretched in robes of white, with outstretched arms, extending to the side of each mountain and the feet reaching down to the great level of the foot. The figure is so striking in the minds of those who see it, impressions associated with the supernatural, and it lends an additional interest to the memorial mount.

In Mourful Attitude On the nameless mountain, which is proposed to call Mount, Rowell, there lies a most remarkable glacier, which nature has carved from the rock with wonderful fidelity. It is into a woman in an attitude of mourning, standing over a faintly visible figure. Except at the feet, there is no cleavage between the figure and the mountain, and from the point from where it can be seen best it is strikingly realistic, even to the garments, which look like buckskin, and being stained a brownish yellow. The figure appears to be lying in a very real and tragic attitude, and it will doubtless conclude that it was by no mere chance that the mountain named in memory of the murdered nurse was chosen, but by an inspiration.

Climate Less Severe What Study of Larger Glaciers in B.C. Has Revealed

Dr. Charles D. Walcott, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, and Mr. Walcott recently returned to Washington after several months' work in Canada. Accompanied by only a packer and cook, they spent most of their time on the continental divide, which forms the boundary between Alberta and British Columbia, south of the Canadian Pacific Railway, studying the conditions under which the fossil remains of the earliest animals.

Owing to the heavy snowfall of the previous winter, and the fact that most of the geological formations which they wished to examine were in the deep snow about the time of their progress was made ill the latter part of the summer of 1915. Sections were examined and measured in the Mount Asiniboin region, and from there southwest to the celebrated Kicking Horse pass, where the Canadian Pacific Railway has bored a double line through the mountain in order to obtain a feasible grade on the western side of the pass.

Some years ago Dr. Walcott found a remarkable fossil fauna in boulders which had been carried to the Kicking Horse canyon by glaciers that have long since disappeared. This fact led him to look up the mountain range, where a portion of what must have been a great hanging glacier is still active.

Mrs. Walcott, who has studied glaciers for several years, and is well known as an Alpine climber, visited British Columbia, where she measured the position of two large glaciers, and determined that the front line of each case had retreated the rate of 100 feet a year during two preceding years. Mrs. Walcott's studies prove that the rate of retreat has been increasing during the past few years. Her measurements agree with observations made in Alaska, and indicate that the climate is not so severe on the Pacific side of the continent as it was a decade ago.

Protecting Miners Canada's Death Rate High—Belgium's Low—Why?

The accident death rate among miners is greater in Canada than any other civilized country. This is due largely to the lack of protection of the work and to the class of labor available for employment. The fatality rate in coal mines in Belgium has been the lowest in the world since 1890. The decrease in the rate of the combined efforts of the mine owners, the workers, and the administration of Mines, and it is due to a great extent, to diffusion of technical and professional education. In view of its importance, the government should direct more attention to the education of the workman, so that he may not be a danger to himself or others and that he may become better educated, more skillful, and thus have the opportunity to better his position.

Dry Battery Trouble Lamp Dry batteries, testing eight amperes, or less, will operate a 100-ohm light bulb and a double battery.

Four cells wired in series to any desired length of cotton drop cord, terminating in a miniature plug socket, that is equipped with a six-volt lamp, will provide a good trouble light for a considerable period.

Many accidents may be prevented by the provision of municipal skating rinks and coasting slides.

SAND MARTINS BUILD QUEER, SAFE NESTS

World's Most Industrious Bird—Small Boys Meet Clever Opposition in These "Swallows"

A writer from Western Canada says: The sand martin or bank swallow, as it is sometimes called, is possibly the most industrious of its feathered brethren, as it persistently rebuilds its nest in the face of the sternest opposition. It is not a large bird, being about five inches long and of a dull grayish brown color, with white on throat and breast; but is extremely graceful as it appears on a calm evening skimming in beautiful curves along to the ground, then gracefully rising above one's head into the blue.

In Strange Places They usually build their nests beneath the eaves of vacant huts, in caves of old stables or in steep cut banks of the rivers, and are particularly partial to a district where limestone abounds. In these banks they have been known to excavate two or three feet into the earth, and to make a hole just about big enough for a man's hand at the entrance and widening gradually to the nest.

These holes are usually about ten feet from the crest of the bank and are made up of dry roots of grasses and feathers. On these downy cushions are laid the five little white eggs with spots of reddish brown, which another bird may hatch her young.

Grows Are Enemies The moisture necessary for making the mud of the nest is obtained from the river, and the birds take care to know the hatching season and are on the alert to devour the young swallows as they emerge from the hole.

The investigation was made a short time ago by a party of sporting writers and editors from the United States. Maximilian Foster, a salmon fisherman of twenty years standing, who knows New Brunswick and Newfoundland like a book, and took the "Saturday Evening Post" Magpie Fullerton, of the Chicago and day towards the movie man was busy. Twice he had to choose between two fishermen who had hooked their salmon at the same time. Maximilian Foster had a basket of this sort, ranging from seven to eighteen pounds. The largest measured forty-two-and-a-half inches, which means that if it had been taken in the fall it would have weighed forty-two-and-a-half pounds. Every member of the party had what he came for, thanks to Foster's expert, right handy fishing. He took seven beautiful, weighing between them sixty-eight pounds, and was out in two hours, and it was only dark and lack of time that closed the sport. Foster, eight happy fishermen, one happy movie man, and one supremely proud Harry Atlin, who saw that his claims were justified, the best started out near the head of the Cains River, fishing the pools as they went down.
