BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURGH MAGAZINE, (Tory.)

THESE Reprints have been in successful operation in this country for twenty years, and their circulation is constantly on the increase, notwithstanding the competition they encounter from American periodicals of a similar class, and from the numerous Eclectics and Magazines made up of selections from foreign periodicals. This fact shows clearly the high estimation in which they are held by the intelligent reading public, and affords a guarantee that they are established on a firm basis, and will be continued without interruption.

Although these works are distinguished by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political subjects. It is their literary character which gives them their chief value, and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class. Blackwood, still under the masterly guidance of Christopher North, maintains its ancient celebrity, and is, at this time, funsually attractive, from the serial works of Bulwer and other literary notables, written for that magazine, and first appearing in its columns both in Great Betain and in the United States. Such works as "The Caxtons" and "My New Novel," (both by Balwer), "My Peninsular Medal," "The Green Hand," and other serjals, of which numerous rival editions are issued by the leading publishers from the pages of Blackwood, after it has been insued by Messrs, Sgott and Co., so that Subscribers to the Reprint of that Magazine may always rely on having the earliest reading of these fascinating tales.

What are the riches of Mexico's mines, To the wealth that far down in thy deep water shines? The proud navies that cover the conquering west. Thou fling'st them to death with one heave of thy breast.

From the high hills that view thy wreck-making shore, When the bride of the mariner shrieks at thy roar; When, like lambs in the tempest, or move in the blast, O'er thy ridge-broken billows the canvass is cast.

How humbling to one with a heart and a soul, To look on thy greatness and list to thy roll; To think how that heart in cold ashes shall be, While the voice of Eternity rises from thee!

Yes! where are the cities of Thebes and of Tyre? Swept from the nations like sparks from the fire; The glory of Athens, the splendour of Rome, Dissolved and for ever—like dew in thy foam!

Bat thou art still mighty—sternal—sublime— Unweakened—unwasted—twin-brother of time! Fleets, tempests, nor nations, thy glory can bow; As the stars first beheld thee, still changeless art thou!

But behold! when thy surges no longer shall roll, And the firmament's length is driven back like a scroll; Then, then, shall the spirit that sighs by thee now, Be more mighty, more lasting, more changeless than thou!

AVOID THE FULFILMENT OF THIS DREAM.

AVOID THE FULFILMENT OF THIS DREAM.

I dreamed a dream in the midst of my slumbers,
And as fast as I dreamed, it eams into numbers;
My thoughts ran along in such beautiful metre,
I am sure that I never saw poetry sweeter.
It seemed that a law had been recently made,
That a tax on old bachelose' pates should be laid;
And in order to make them all willing to marry,
The tax was as large as a man could well carry.
The bachelors grambled and said 'twas no use—
'Twas horrid injustice and horrid abuse:
And declared, if to eave their hearts'-blood from spilling,
Of such a vile tax they would not pay a shilling.
But the relers determined them still to pursue,
Set all the old bachelors up at vendue;
The orier was sent through the town, to and fro,
To rattle his bell and his trumpet to blow,
And to cry out to all he might meet in his way,
'Ho! ho! Forty old bachelors sold here to-day!'
Immediately all the old maids of the town,
Each in her very best bonnet and gows,
From thirty to sixty, fair, plain, red and pale,
Of every description, flocked to the sale.

The auctioneer then his labour began,
And cried out aloud as he held up his man,
'How much for a bachelor? who wants to buy!'
In a short, at a highly systrawgant price,
And forty old maidens, some younger, some older,
Each lugged an old bachelor home on her shoulder.

Dennis Delany, new in Dublin, served in the 31st regiment as private in India, and has a pension of 9d. a day for wounds. On the night of the first attack upon the Sikhs at Ferozeshah when lying on the ground, two officers with cloaks on came to the spot where he (Delany) was. One of them sat down, and the other went away. After a short time the officer sitting down, asked him if he would let him rest his head upon his body by way of pillow that he might try to steep. Delany willing assented. After sleeping about an hour, the other officer came back and addressed the one who had been sleeping, calling him 'your Excellency.' Delany then felt sure that it was the Governor General, who had been eleoping; the other officer, he thinks, was Colonel Bar, who, on returning, said 'I have brought your Excellency a small jambo of water.' Lord Hardinge drank some of the water, and then gave the pitcher to Delany, saying. 'Here, my good fellow, I have made a pillow of your body; it is only fair that you should have some of the water.' The troops were at this time suffering dreadfully from want of water, all the wells being in possession of the vnemy. After some further conversation about a gan which was annoying the troops the two officers went away to another part of the field, and Delany saw nothing more of them. With reference to the above—Dennis Delany was appointed to the constabulary 22 years ago by Colonel Browne, now Commissioner of the Dublin Metropolitan Police; resigning from that establishment, he enlisted in the 31st, and saw some severe service in India, and was severely wounded. Calling to see his old friend Colonel Browne, he was questioned as to his service, and in course of conversation recounted his having met with Lord Hardings at Ferozeshah as above related. The colonel communicated with Lord Hardinge, now Master-General of the Scretary of the Ordnance has written to the officers of Ordnance in Dublin, directing Delany to be appointed to any small vistuation which might become vac auited. This little narrative requires no comment.

When he went into the oven, he pulse was 72, and rose to 130. At the second experiment it rose to 176, the thermometer indicating 100 of Reaumur. At the third experiment he was stretched on a plank, surrounded by lighted candles, and then put into the oven, the mouth of which was this time closed. He was there five minutes, when the spectators cried "Enough!" Accordingly the door was opened; out he came of this fiery gulph, and with his pulse at 200, jumped into a cold bath, and became as cool as a cucumber immediately after.

LIFE AND CAMPAIGNS OF THE DUKE OF WEL-LINGTON.

LIFE AND CAMPAIGNS OF THE DUKE OF WELLINGTON.

A more painful task has never yet devolved upon us than our present one, of announcing the demise of the most distinguished warrior and stateman that this country has ever produced. But before commenting on the Duke of Wellington's career, we will state the circumstances immediately connected with his death. On Monday evening, the Duke dined with Lord and Lady Charles Wellesley. His Grace was in good spirits during dinner, and was observed to eat rather heartily. His food, as was his wont consisted off the most fragal fare—a little soup and some apple pudding alone constituting his meal. While at the table, the Duke's visuety of manner was such, as to call forth a congratulatory remark from his sea and daughter-in-law.

The Duke retired to rest on Monday night quite well, and in his customary good spirits. It is believed, that he passed a comfortable night, and, at all events, he did not summon his attendant to wait upon him. On Tuesday morning his valet, Kendall, called him, as usal, between six and seven evolution in the sea of the control of the cont

THE DUKE'S MILITARY CAREER.

The Hon. Arthur Wellesley, the third son of the first Earl of Mornington, was bora in Merrion-street, Dublin, on or about the lat of May, 1769. There has been a good deal of dispute, as to whether the Duke was born in Dublin, or at his father's country seat, Dangan Castle, county Meath; but we have before us the file of the Dublin Freeman, for the year 1769, and in the paper of May 6th, we find the following announcement amongst the births:—"BERTS.—In Merrion-street, the Right Hon. the Countess of Mornington, of a son." This piece of evidence, for which we are indebted to Mr. P. P. Colley, of Liverpool, a relation of the Wellesley family, is decisive of the birth-place of the Duke. There is some uncertainty as to the day of his birth. The birthaly of the Duke was always kept on the 1st of May; but the parish register of St. Peter's Church, Dublin, states that "Arthur, son of the Right Hon. Earl and Countess of Mornington," was christened by "Isaac Mann, Archdeacon,

Dublin, states that "Arthur, son of the Right Hon. Earl and Countess of Moraington," was christened by "Isaac Mana, Archdeacon, out the 30th April, 1769."

The young Arthur Wellesley entered the army almost a boy. He obtained his commission as ensign and licatenant in the year 1787; as captain, in 1791; as major and licat.-colonel, in 1793; as colonel, in 1796; as major general, in 1802; as licat.-general, in 1808; as general in spain and Portegal, in 1811; and as field-marshal, on the 21st June, 1813. The year in which he received his commission as major and licat.-colonel was the year in which the war with France commenced; and that war continued (with two short intervals, one of a year, the other of a few months) to the final over-throw of the Emperor Napoleon, at Waterloo, in the year 1815.

The first actual service of the great warrior was in the year 1794, in Flanders, under that brave, but incapable commander, his Royal Highness Frederick, Duke of York. In May of that year licut.-colonel Welles'ey embarked at Cork, in command of the 33rd regiment, and in the following month he joined the army in Flanders. Owing to the rapid advance of General Pichegra, the English army was compelled to retreat. On the 14th September, licut.-colonel Welles'ey regiment was engaged in a serious affair with the enemy at Boxtel, between Breda and Bois-le-duc; on the 30th December it took part in the attack on Tayl; and on the 5th January, 1795, in the attacks on Meteren and Geldermalsen. In the subsequent retreat from the Loc to the Ems. Licut.-colonel Wellesley, as senior officer, commanded a brigade, consisting of three battalions, in the rear grand, "evincing a zeal and intelligence which gave promise of future distinction." The British army re-embarked for England, at Bremen, in the paring of 1795.

In April, 1796, the 33rd Regiment sailed for India. Owing to rear guard, "evincing a zeal and intelligence which gave promise of future distinction." The British army re-embarked for England, at Bremen, in the spring of 1795.

In April, 1796, the 33rd Regiment sailed for India. Owing to severe illness, Lieut. Colonel Wellesley was unable to accompany it; but he followed immediately on the recovery of his health, and joined his regiment at the Cape of Good Hope. He proceeded with it to Bengal, and arrived at Calcutta in the beginning of the year 1797. On the 17th May, 1798, his elder brother, the Marquis of Wallosley (then Earl of Mernington), arrived in India, as Governor-General, and his arrival was soon followed by stirring events, in the course of which Lieut. Colonel Wellesley found ample opportunities of distinguishing himself both as a soldier and as the administrator of the conquered kingdom of Tippoo Sahib.

Almost immediately after the arrival of the Marquis of Wellesley in India, a dispute arose, as to the rightful ownership of the districts of Waynand and Souleah and other districts of Southern India. The East India Company and Tippoo. Saltaun of Mysore, both claimed them, and the Sultaun seized upon them with little ceremony, diving out a chief who was under the protection of the Company. The new Governor-General, being sincerely anxious to avoid a war with the Sultaun, wrote a despatch, claiming the disputed territory, but officing to refer the question of right to commissioners appointed by the two Governments. This was agreed to, and the decision having been, in favour of Tippoo Saltaun, the Governor-General at once gave up all claim to the disputed territory.

In the month of June, of the same year, a proclamstics was received at Calcutta, part forth by General Mailaritichte Governor General of the last of Frances, amouncing the arrival of these control of the last of Frances, amouncing the arrival of these control of the party of th

On the 25th of October, 1802, Holkar had defeated the forces of the Peshwah and his allies, near Poonah. In their hour of adversity they applied to the Governor General for assistance; and he, thinking it highly dangerous, that the whole power of the fiscre and warlike race of the Marhattas should pass into the hands of one chief, and be allike able in command and hostile to English influence, entered into a treaty of defence with the Peshwah, and sent an army of 10,617 men to assist him, under the command of Major-General Wellesley.

On the 9th August, 1803, Major-General Wellesley laid siege to the strong fort of Ahmedunggur, which he captured on the the 18th of the same month, after a desperate defence, in which a body of Arghs defended the town and walls, with extraordinary courage and obstinacy.

On the 29th August, he captured the fort of Baroach.

On the 29th August, he captured the fort of Bareach.

On the 23rd September Major-General Wellealey defeated the main army of Scipidiah, at Assays, after a desperate britle, in which he lost about 500 men killed and 1500 wounded. The enemy left ninety guns in the hands of the English army, but several of their corps went off is good order.

On the 28th November Major-General Wellesley gained another battle at Argama, is which he captured thirty-eight pieces of cannon. In this battle the number of the enemy destroyed was very great. If there had been another hour of daylight, not a man would have escaned.

there had been another from the daying, see caped.

The result of these victories was a peace with the Marhatta chiefs, concluded in December, 1803, in which they made large concessions of territory to the East India Company.

In month of February, 1804, Major-General Wellesley defeated and destroyed a predatory band of Marhattans, near Munkaiseer, after an extraordinary forced march. In the course of the same year he was appointed a Companion of the Bath; a service of plate was voted to him, by the officers of his division, embossed with

In 1807 he was appointed Secretary for Ireland, the Duke of Richmond being Lord Lieutenant, and was sworn of the Privy Council. The same year he accompanied the expedition against Copenhagen.

THE IMPENDING FALL 66F THE TURKISH EMPIRE.—We have been favoured by a Liverpool merchant, with the following extract from a letter just received from his correspondent, long reddent in the Levant —

Constantinople has recently been the scene of very many exten-

entrect from a letter just received from his correspondent, long resident in the Levant:

Constantinople has recently been the scene of very many extensive and destructive confingrations—no less than eight in same number of days—by which property to the amount of 400 millions of piasters is said to have been destroyed. The cause of these terrible fires, which entail rain to thousands, is undoubted discontent at the maladministration and extravagance of the government. A change in the ministry is announced, but by no means a satisfactory one, as it consists in men of the same opinious as those set aside; and it seems very questionable, if some more serious means be not zer long resorted to by the suffering people. Surely those hitherto put in force can but tend to increase their misery and ruin. Ottoman rule is fast drawing to a clase in Europe; and united as they are to adopt the new order of things, it is high time they were set aside altogether. The question seem alone to be, whe are to replace them in the possession of their splendid country? but this fear to their removal cannot much longer continue to prevail. The Greeks I fancy, will not be tolerated by eivilized Europe, looking to their incapacity to govern, exemplified by a quarter of a century of flagrant misrule. Who, then, is to come? This is considerated to be of little moment, seeing that a change can but be for the better; still European jealousies will be put in metion. Mous verrons

The Morning Herald is authorised to state, "for the information of the public," that two ships of war have been sent by the Peruvian Government to Labos Alfueto, and a small military force permanently stationed there; that the whole of the Peruvian Islands, Labos included, are formally annexed to the main-land of Peru; and by article 213 of the new law, none but vessels under contract with the Peruvian Government will be allowed to load guano; that all other vessels anchoring in the roadsteads of the Islands shall be confiscated, and if guano be found on board, the captain and crew will be proceeded against for robbery.

The recent high dividend of the Submarine Telegraph Company has given an impotus to telegraphic enterprise. Among the projects it has brought into prominence, is Messrs. Harrison's proposal-to unite Europe and America via Orkney, Shetland and Farco Islands to Iceland and Greenland, (they having obtained exclusive right from the Danish Government, and thence to Labrador and Quebec. Stations are proposed at Kirkwall, (Orkney;) Lewick, (Shetland;) Thorshaven, (Farce;) Reikiavik, (Iceland;) Juliana's Hope, (Greenland;) and at one of the most eligible of the English settlements on Labrador coast. Surveys have shown that the bed of the sea is favorable, and the greatest length of submarino wire would not exceed five hundred miles.

The Commission appointed by Government to enquire and report on the capabilities of the merchantile steam marine for war purposes, have proceeded to the Clyde to make enquiries, and will next visit Liverpool.

FRANCE.

Louis Napoleon left Paris, on Tuesday, on his promised tour through the South and West. The papers contain little else than accounts of his receptions, which have all the semblance, at least, of being enthusiastic.—Along the whole route he was received with cries of Vive P Emperor, with which, it is stated, he appeared much pleased. In Paris a petition to the Senate is circulating among the poorer classes, purporting to be the memorial of "fathers of families and laboreas," for the re-establishment of the Empire in the person and family of Buonaparte. And in reply to an Adress of the Council General of Nevers, in favor of a new Imperial regime, Louis made the significant answer—when the general interest is at stake I will try and anticipate the public, but I follow it in the case of an interest which may appear personal."

The 'Constitutionel' has an article on the present state of the French steam navy, in which it assumes the possibility of a successful invasion of England.

As a matter of curiosity it is worthy of note that the Paris Patrie and Presse, in announcing the death of the Duke of Wellington, indulges in remarks depreciatory of the deceased. The Debate gives his biography without comment—the Constitutionel praises him—the Pays takes a middle course—the Union, the Assembles National, and other journals, morely announce his demise.

On Monday and Tuesday, fifty men principally riggors, painters and joiners, were received orders, but the unsjority of the crew, which will number about one hundred and seventy-five men, have been shipped.

The British Insericor is the came of a new weekly paper just established in this city by Robert Winton, designed particularly for circulation in the British Provinces. The first number appeared on Saturday; it is a nearly printed sheet, and contains articles upon a variety of subjects. It will not fail to attract the attention of advertisers who are desirous of being known in the region where it is expected to be most read.

Appairs at the Navy Yard.—The Decastur will be ready for see in about two weeks; 120 men have been shipped for the crew, and of this number, the greater part are of the crew of the Albany who were discharged.

Fatal Ratianab Accident.—A collision occurred on the 15th inst., on the Eric Railroad between Dunkirk and Horrinellsville, between the passenger train which left New York on Tuesday, and a freight train. Nine passengers and one brakeman were killed instantly, and about thirty wounded. It was not the up-train that was run into by the down accommodation train. The former was behind time, and the latter fearing to meet it, had stopped at Almona, but neglected to send a signal back to the freight train, and the freight train fan into it while it stood still at the station. Five persons are now dead, and four severely, if not fatally, injured. The rest were but slightly hurt.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

Horrible Myrder.—On yesterday (Friday) morning, about 8 o'clock, the body of a man was found at Fisher's wharf, Lower Cove, between two rafts of logs, and it was at once seen, that a foul and deliberate murder had been perpetrated. A wide gash made with an axe or other keen strong instrument, extends from the back of the neck under the right jaw to the throat, severing arteries, muscles, and tendons, completely. The face is horribly mutilated, evidently for the purpose of preventing the identification of the deceased. One gash extends down the face across the eye, another almost cut away the nose and the chin, lips, cheeks, and forehead, are all hacked in a shocking manner; there is also the mark of a blow on the temple. There is no mark on the rest of the body, nor are the hands even scratched. When found, he had only a check shirt and brownish striped trousers. The trousers were loose, and strange to say, there was no blood on them. The feet were tied together by a rope. It is probable the man was murdered somewhere in the neighbourhood, stripped of his clothes, and mutilated to prevent identification, and then conveyed to the place where he was found. The Coroner's Jury sat all day, but no clue was obtained that scenfs to promise a discovery of the mirderers, nor could it be ascertained who the man was. He was middle-aged, and had lost some of his teeth, and from these facts, and the colour of his hair, his want of whiskers, &c., some witnesses were of opinion, that he was a man named Paddy Sullivan, a drover, who was known to have money always in his possession, and who has not been seen since Wednesday.— A relation of Sullivan's, a shoemaker, applied his size-stick to the foot of the deceased, and says the measure is precisely the same as that of Sullivan.

The Queen has given her assent to the New Brunswick Liquor Bill passed last session.

HASZARD'S GAZETTE TUESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1852.

We received the English Mail on Friday last, which brings the melancholy news of the death of the Dake of Wellington, who expired at Walmer Castle, on Tuesday the 14th September, at 3 o'cleck, 'after a succession of fits,' aged 83 years, four months and 13 days. The day previous, his Grace took his customary walk in the grounds attached to the Castle. A telegraphic despatch states, that by his will, which has been opened, he has expressed a wish, that his remains may be disposed of as the Sovereign may direct. The funeral will be a public cereinonial.

We are happy to announce that the Senate of Amherst College, Mass., has conferred the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity, upon the Rev. John Keir, Princetown of this Island. Dr. Keir has exercised the office of the Ministry in Malpeque, for upwards of Ferty years, and is now surrounded by a large and most respectable congregation, who venerate his Person, and appreciate his labora, as an affectionate and devoted Pastor. The Fresbyterian Church of Nova Scotia, selected him as their Professor of Divinity, on the decease of the late Dr. Mr Callech, and in this, the highest office which the church could confer, Dr. K. has homerably continued to this day. His Brethren in the Ministry and all who enjoy the honor of his acquaintance, will regard the distinguished mark of respect, by which he will be henceforth designated, as well merited.

CHARLOTTETOWN HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

The Astumnal Exhibition of Fruits, Vegetables and Flowers by this Institution, took place on Saturday last, in the Temperance Hall; and was more successful, than the most sanguine of its members could-have anticipated. The shew of Grapes, Melons, Green Gages, Pears, Magnum Bonum, and Plems of different sorts, and Apples in every variety, as well as of Vegetables and Flowers, was not only highly creditable to the Exhibitors and to the Island, but far surpassing any thing that could have been expected. As it is, we understand, the intention of the Secretary to give a more floatiled. account of the prigodings, on his return from Saint Eleanor's, we will merely observed that the spectators were numerous, and appeared highly gratified. His Escellency the Lieutenant Governor and Lady Bannerman, honoured the Exhibition with their presence, and expressed themselves greatly pleased with this demonstration of the capability of the Island to furnish the delicacien and luxuries, in equal profusion with the necessaries and comforts of vegetable origin.

The Charlottetown Fair and Cattle Show, under the direction of the Royal Agricultural Society, took place on the Market Square on Wednesday last, the 29th Sept. The first part of the day was very wet and unpleasant, but about one o'clock, the sky began to clear up. Notwithstanding, there were a large number of persons assembled. The show of Cattle was much superior to any of the kind ever witnessed in Charlottetown. There were also some veryfine young Horses to be seen. The Pigs, too, were very good—but the Sheep were inferior to what has been exhibited on former occasions. This may be ntiributed to the weather being so very wet. We have not as yet been able to get the list of Prizes awarded, &c. Having been promised the return of King's and Frince County Cattle Show, we will bring the whole under the public natice at the same time.

SALE OF HORKS.—We learn that upwards of 400 Horses have crossed from Bedeque to Shediac, since the opening of the Navigation, and a considerable number, recently purchased at the Pair, are now on their way to Bedeque for New Brauswick. Some of these horses have realized £40, and we understand none less than £20. This will have circulated, in Cash, amongst our Farmers and others, something like the handsome sum of near £10,000.—

PATIENT ARTHPHOTAL SLATE, And Unchangeable Metallic Paints: PROOF AGAINST FIRE & WATRIE

And Unchangeable Metallic Paints:

PROOF AGAINST FIRE & WATRIE

Manufactured by the Patentee, in Colchester, Nova Scotia
THE ARTIFICIAL SLATE is the product of a mixture of mineral substances known to be the best non-conductors of heat as well as the most indestructible; the Chemical affinity of which conducts well as the most indestructible; the Chemical affinity of which conducts well as the most indestructible; the Chemical affinity of which conducts which we will as the most indestructible; the Chemical affinity of which conducts which we will also be recomplish results as surprising as they are useful, by rendering Wooden fabrics as durable as brick or Stone, and less pervious to moisture, and consequently preventing decay and destruction from corroding influences hitherto supposed unattainable.

The principal ingredients are Alumina, Silica and the Oxides of Iron. The adhesive quality of the latter not only binds and attracts the particles together, but the substance covered also. The longer exposed to the weather the more powerful the attraction, and consequently the harder the State. As various shades of colour are obtained, Brick buildings may be made impervious to moisture, and the fashionable colours of either Free Stone or Granite. The oil must be evaporated by the action of the weather before it is Fire proof, which will take from nine to twelve months.

The METALLIC PAINTS, Purple and Red, are offered as Weather and Water Proof solely. Their base being Iron, secures them from Galvanic action so fatal to lead and other Paints on Iron work—and their chemical combination makes it impossible, that any change should take place from atmospheric influence or the action of Salt Water and Sulphureted hydrogen so prevalent in Sea Ports and Tidal Harbours. They surpass all Paints yet discovered in Cheapness and Durability, which render them pre-eminently datapted to the covering of all kinds of Iron work, such as Skipping, Mila, Bridges, Steam Machinery, Railway Care, and Iron Railing. The METALLIC PAINTS

Dear Sir,—Please send us two more barrels of your Artificial Slate. We have seen some of the good effects of it at the last fire. Some of the Roofs covered with it did not catch at all, and when the walls were burnt some of the roofs came down in one piece, and others were the means of saving the building, especially one roof alongside of the Bank B. N. A., which also was one means of saving the Bank.

Please see that it is on board of the first boat, as it might be neglected and stored.

Paint.

Sir.—I have just painted a new Ship with your Metallic Iron Paint, and I have much pleasure in stating that I never painted a Ship with so small a quantity of Paint and Oil, and look so well. From its adhesive qualities and the manner it covers the wood, I have no doubt but it will be more durable and much cheaper than any other paint used for such purposes, and would rec to the public generally.

Yours, &c. ROBERT G. MORAN.

Ross' METALLIC PAINTS.—We have already called public attention to the high estimation in which the Metallic Paints, manufactured by John Ross, Esq., Truro, are held by those who have had occasion to use them. Certificates of a highly satisfactory character in praise of these articles of Provincial manufacture appear elsewhere, in this issue, and from information afforded by parties who have similarly applied them, we can safely endorse the opinions therein contained.—Halifax Sun.

The METALLIC PAINTS are mixed and put on like in ordinary paint.

WE LIVE IN A VERY STRANGE WORLD. BY CHARLES SWAIN.

How often our hopes have been given
To things that but mockeries be,
As the kills that seem touching on heaven
Are just as far off it as we!
The idols we worship are these
Which Fashion and Fortane can mould;
Other idols are shaped but of snows;
The world thinks of nothing but gold!
Once Truth her bright bannet unfurled—
But we live in a very strange world.

We live in a very strange world—
Stranga things are occurring each day:
But they pass without comment or word,
And to-morrow goes just the same way:
I seed to imagine that hearts
Were the fountain of honour and worth,
And of all that a blessing imparts!
But they learn—who live long upon earth,
Lice Truth her bright banner unfurled—
But we live in a very strange world.

Once the laurel was Friendship's own leaf,
As constant—as free from decay;
Now its emblem, ala, is more brief—
Tis the flower that but lives for a day!
Like a honeycomb, tich and replete,
Is Society—some people tell;
But if it be equally sweet,
It is equally solutous as well!
Once Truth her bright banner unfurled—
But we live in a very strange world!

"WHAT ARE WOMAN'S RIGHTS?"

The right to wake when others sleep;
The right to watch, the right to weep;
The right to comfort in distress;
The right to scothe, the right to bless;
The right to soothe, the right to bless;
The right to dry the orphan's tear;
The right to feed and clothe the poor,
The right to teach them to endure.

The right when other friends have flows, And left the sufferer all alone.
To kneel that dying couch beside, And meekly point to Him who died; The right a happy home to make, In any clime, for Jesus' sake; Rights such as these are all we crave, Until our last—a quiet grave.

A STORY WITH A MORAL.

Mr. Bones of the firm of Fossil, Bones & Co., was one of those remarkable money-making men, whose uninterrupted success in trade had been the wonder and afforded the material for the gossip of the town for seven years. Being of a familiar turn of mind, he was frequently interrogated on the subject, and invariably gave as the secret of his success that he minded his own husiness.

atleman met Mr. Bones on the Assanpink bridge. He national met air. Bones on the Assaulting or toge.

Attently on the dashing, foaming waters as they fell
He was evidently in a brown study. Our friend wentured to disturb his cogitations.

"Mr. Bones. tell me how to make a thousand dollars?"

Mr.Bones continued looking intently at the water. At last

e ventured to reply:

6 Do you see that dam, my friend?"

6 I certainly do."

"I certainly do."

Well, here you may learn the secret of making money. That water would waste away and be of no practical use to anybody, but for the dam. That dam turns it to good account makes it perform some useful purposes, and then suffers it to pass along. That large paper mill is kept in constant motion by this economy. Many mouths are fed in the manufacture of this article, paper, and intelligence is scattered breadcast over the land on the sheets that are daily turned out; and in the different processes through which it passes, money is made. the land on the sheets that are daily turned out; and in the different processes through which it passes, money is made. So it is in the living of hundreds of people. They get enough discovery the passes through their hands every day, and at the year's end they are no better off. What's the reason? They want a dam. Their expenditures are increasing, and no practical good is attained. They want them dammed up, so that nothing will pass through their hands without bringing someothing back, or accomplishing some useful purpose. Dam up your expenses, and you'll soon have enough occasionally to spare a little, just like that dam.—Look at it, my friend."

the past month. We copy the tentowing from the London Times, July 2, which speaks for itself:

A singular circumstance has recently taken place at this port. The barque Pollux, Captain Everson, having arrived here last week from Beenos Ayres, consigned to Meisra. Tuynham & Co., cargo groensisted of equal portions of calcined bones and animal guane, the former composing the lower tier of the cargo. On Thursday last the hatches were opened, and it was at ônce ascertained, that the ship and cargo were on fire, spontaneous combustion having taken place just about the centre of the vessel. How long the fire was in progress, it was impossible to ascertain. Application was at once made to Mr. Stabbing, the Agent for Phillips's fire annihilator; who proceeded to experiment upon the burning mass. After repeated applications of this invention, the fire was entirely extinguished, but not before considerable damage was done to the vessel, the beams attwart ship being destroyed, &c. Not more than 10 or 15 tons of the cargo have been damaged, and the expense of the annihilators used in subdaing the conflagration, or rather the smoothering of the cargo, is estimated at not more than £12 to £15.

A MURDERER's Remorae.—Nathan Crist, who was executed at Mobile on the 3d inst., for the murder of Theodore Nye, made a confession, in which he fully acknowledge his guilt, and concluded with the following warning to the tempted:

I have nothing more to say but to warn all others to fly from temptation. The first thought of crime, if not resisted, may lead to the destruction of bedy and soul. I can scarcally realize move that I have committed anything so sawful as to stain my hands in my brother's blood. Satus seems, when I first yielded to the thought, to have bound me with chains, and blunted my feelings, and blinded my eyes; so that, although I tried again and sain to get loose, I was dragged to the commission of my fool offence. Oh: may God have mercy on mo—as I hope he has,—and save my soul from heil.

A bundance is a trouble, want a misory, honor a burden, and advancement dangerous, but competency is happiness.
