Getting Acquainted With the Dictionary

BY RUTH CAMERON.

Did you ever try to define a word? I don't simply mean to give a vague idea of its meaning, but to accurately define a word just as the dictionary does. If you never have, make the experiment some day. I think you will get a jolt of surprise when you find how difficult it is. We all think we know the meaning of the common words we use day in and day out, but how many of them could we really define? Not one probably. Knowing a thing and being able to express it accurately are two very different matters. Besides, we don't really know the full meaning of half the words we use.

Some evening when you want something to talk about the open fire, or around the reading lamp, bring up this subject. Someone will be sure to say that he can easily define simple words. Suggest that he begin by defining some very common word like "animal." The chances are a hundred to one that he will not be able to do it correctly.

Remember, a definition may describe the thing to be defined perfectly and yet not be a good definition. For it must not only describe that thing, but it must also exclude all others, and unless it does that it is not a real definition.

Most of us are too apt to think of the dictionary as a very stupid book, to be consulted only when we want to know how to spell a word, and not even then if we can get the information in any other way. That is all wrong. If we want to understand the English language, we ought to consult the dictionary easily and often. If I wanted a child to learn to express himself well in written and spoken English, and I know of no more valuable tool with which to work for success than just that ability, I should give him a small but reliable dictionary as soon as he learned to read, show him how to use it, and insist that he keep it in a convenient place and consult it constantly. I think I should also supply him with a thesaurus which, as you probably know is a book somewhat like a dictionary, but containing synonyms and antonyms for words instead of their definitions. If more people were acquainted with these two books, we should not have so much slovenly English talked and written.

To return to my original theme. Don't forget to try the game of definitions. It will be good mental discipline, and I fancy it will inspire in you a new respect for the men who make the dictionaries, especially for the pioneer Samuel Johnson. I can remember a time when I used to wonder why compiling the dictionary was considered Johnson's greatest achievement. Since trying to define a few words myself, I wonder no longer.

Ruth Cameron

HOW TO PRESERVE YOUTH AND BEAUTY.

One great secret of youth and beauty for the young woman or the mother is the proper understanding of her womanly system and well-being. Every woman, young or old, should know herself and her physical make up. A good way to arrive at this knowledge is to get a good doctor book, such for instance, as "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., which can readily be procured by sending thirty-one cents for cloth-bound copy, addressing Dr. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y.

The womanly system is a delicate machine which can only be compared to the intricate mechanism of a beautiful watch which will keep in good running order only with good care and the proper oiling at the right time, so that the delicate mechanism may not be worn out. Very many times young women get run down before their time through ignorance and the improper handling of this human mechanism. Mental depression, a confused head, headache, or hot flashes and many symptoms of derangement of the womanly system can be avoided by a proper understanding of what to do, in those trying times that come to all women.

Miss G. H. Williams, of Lynchburg, Va., writes: "It is six years since my health gave out. I had female trouble and all the doctors (I employed three) said I would die. I was not able to do my work, and I had to be taken care of in the hospital. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and two of Golden Medical five bottles of Favorite Prescription, and I am now as well as ever. I had not one more trouble until I found it had done me good. I took, in all, 'Discovery,' and now I am able to do all my household work, and have gained sixteen pounds. I advise all women who are in female trouble to try your 'Favorite Prescription.' It's the only medicine on earth."

Fashions and Fads.

Red is extensively used on white costumes. The pleated shirt bosom effect is a new feature of this season's blouse. The result is entirely soft and feminine.

Purple and blue, veiled with gold embroidered chiffon, makes a delightful wide girle for a gray chiffon gown.

One-piece robes are in bolero effects divided at the waist by high draped satin sashes of a contrasting color.

The bordered silks and cotton crepes, voiles and marquisettes are among the loveliest of the spring materials.

The plainer dresses for little girls are made of nainsook, dotted swiss, mull, dimity, cotton crepes and marquisettes.

Black-and-white combinations of chiffon, granadine or voile have waist belts of bright blue, dull red, orange or grass green.

Some of the latest evening toilettes are draped with mousseline scarfs from which hang loose chains of strass and pearls.

Gold and silver thread stockings are one of the Spring novelties. Another is the stocking of open net, which looks like voile.

There are many tailored suits with their short and three-quarter cutaway coats trimmed with white tulle pleating with a pteed edge.

Wedding Bells.

On Sunday, April 6th, a very pretty wedding took place at Cape Broyle, when Mr. J. W. Costello, the genial lighthouse keeper of Ferryland, was united in Hymen's Bonds to Miss Clara Isabella Carew, of Cape Broyle. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. K. Vereker, P.P., of Ferryland, assisted by Rev. J. Rawlins, of Cape Broyle. The bride was neatly attired in a dress of cream voile with veil and orange blossoms, and was assisted by her cousin, Miss Mollie Carew, who was becomingly attired in brown. Mr. John Deversaux, of Ferryland, supported the groom. After the ceremony refreshments were served at the residence of Mrs. M. P. Cashin, and at 4.30 p.m. the young couple left for Ferryland, their future home, where they arrived at 6.30, and were warmly welcomed at the lighthouse by a host of friends who were waiting to receive them. After the usual good wishes and greetings had been extended, all sat down to a sumptuous wedding feast to do justice to the many tempting dishes laid before them. The usual toast to the bride and groom was given by Dr. R. J. Freeland, to which the groom ably responded. This was followed by toasts and short speeches from others, expressing in glowing terms the many good things that characterized the happy young couple, who are general favorites with everyone in both parishes. After supper was over dancing and music were indulged in till the wee sma' hours of the morning, when the happy gathering dispersed and wended their way homeward, bringing with them memories of an event not soon to be forgotten. On Thursday night a grand ball will be given by the T. A. Society in their hall in honor of the event in the life of the Society's worthy President. A pleasant time is anticipated. The presents received were numerous and costly, which goes to show the esteem in which the young couple are held. All join in wishing them long years of wedded bliss.—Com. Ferryland, April 7th, 1913.

Queen Shocked by Lax Society.

London, April 2.—Queen Mary is making her influence and her strong personality felt at court in no uncertain manner, and those who wish to be received and to be held in good repute within its charmed circle must look well to their manner of going.

Never before have there been so many creases from submitted hats and never has the line been so sharply drawn as to the proper qualifications as at the present time. No lady who steps out of her sphere of true womanliness and correct feminine modesty; no one who has a breath of scandal against her or him (for the male sex is also included in the ban) and, above all, no individual who has figured as a principal in the divorce court need seek to find favor with Queen Mary, and such a one applying for a "command" to the royal presence will surely meet with a prompt refusal.

The Queen—and the King is said to be in cordial agreement—is determined that the court shall, as far as possible, be one of absolute purity. She has been much shocked at the many causes celebres and their unedifying details, as well as by the so-called recreations and amusements of a certain section of society. Moreover, it is reported that the Queen views with great dislike any further laxity in connection with the divorce law. She regards the marriage tie as sacred and binding, and while deploring the lightness with which in many cases the contracts are undertaken, she yet holds that once it has been entered into it should be held inviolate.

THURSDAY, April 10, 1913.

An Unenviable Record.

$7,200,000 DEBT IN FOUR YEARS.

Perhaps the most striking feature of Mr. Kent's slashing attack on the financial policy of the Morris administration was the exposure he made of the additions which the present Government have made to the Public Debt.

The exposure could not have been made if the Government's conduct had not laid the foundations for it by providing the facts for criticism.

These facts show the reckless way which the Government has gone on adding to the Public Debt of the Colony during the four years. The Morris Administration had created a record in piling up the Public Debt—a most unenviable record surely.

After examining the state of the Public Debt to-day, Mr. Kent concluded: "This shows that there was a total increase during the administration of the present Government of about $7,200,000 in round figures."

An increase of seven millions, two hundred thousand dollars in four years. What a record! Almost one quarter of the Public Debt is due to Morris. It took three quarters of a century for the other three quarters to accumulate. There can be no doubt that Morris made progress in tying a millstone of debt round Terra Nova.

In the face of these stupendous facts, is it any wonder that the Minister of Finance proposes to extract Four Million Dollars from the 242,000 people of Newfoundland next year, although 225,000 during the first year of Bond's administration were called upon to pay less than half of this amount.

Is it any wonder that the Morris 1910 Railway Loan, issued at 97½ was quoted at 91 a few months ago?

Is it at all surprising under these circumstances that Sir Edward Morris in his capacity of Prime Minister found it desirable to give the assurance to British investors to find re-published in the Daily News this morning from the Financial Times of February 6th:—

"We have received the following cable from the Right Hon. Sir Edward Morris, Premier of Newfoundland:—
St. John's, Nfld., Feb. 5th.
"I am gratified to be able to state that the prosperity of Newfoundland for the year 1912 was so widespread and complete as to amply justify the confidence of British investors who have from time to time invested in its securities, and to justify the belief that such gratifying conditions will continue in the future, is now better than heretofore. The is now better than heretofore. The Customs revenue shows a greater increase over the previous year than ever before; all forms of industry are flourishing and opportunities for capitalists to develop various dormant resources exist.

Finally, Newfoundland rejoices in the many evidences of inter-Imperial accord lately manifested, and stands ready to assist in cementing the same, wherever possible.

E. P. MORRIS,
Prime Minister.

The Minister Forgot

The Committee on Supply was rising without having made provision for the election expenses of the forthcoming election, and Mr. Clift called the attention of the Minister in charge to this fact, whereupon he explained that it was the intention of the Government to defray the election expenses out of the surplus. Mr. Clift contended that this was improper and that the surplus could not be properly spent without authority from this House. The Minister said he would put it in the Supply Bill. Mr. Clift replied that this was equally improper, that it should have appeared in the original Resolutions in Supply. Yesterday the Public Service Bill (which is really the Supply Bill) was in Committee and Mr. Kent called the attention of the Committee to the fact that the clause in that Bill providing for the distribution of the surplus in the manner indicated by the Minister, viz.—to defray the election expenses and cost of certain public works improperly found its place there. He contended that the clause now introduced into the Bill should have been in the original Resolutions and that it was most irregular for the Government to incorporate in the Public Service Act anything that had not been previously passed in the Committee on Supply. The Prime Minister asked that the matter might be allowed to pass, as it was an omission on the part of the Minister having charge of the Bill, and Mr. Kent said that he would agree to let it go through provided it was not taken as a precedent. He also pointed out that the same thing appeared in connection with the Education Grant, that in this case it was provided for in the Bill which did not originate in a Committee to consider Resolutions to provide for same.

U. S. Tariff.

It will be months before the scaling down of the U. S. Tariff is completed and before the contemplated changes can apply, thus the whole Trade will have notice. In addition to this it is to be noted that in the case of Sugar (the duty on which is slightly under 2c. per lb. in the U. S., against the recent 3c. in Newfoundland, gradual reductions are to take effect at the rate of 25 p. cent. until it comes on the 1st of 1916, thus conserving the principle of safeguarding Commercial Interests as far as possible.

The course set forth by the Minister Cashin in his Budget of 1912, and repudiated in fact in his Budget of 1913 to the trouble and annoyance and loss of importers of sugar.

Rossley's Big Bill.

To-night an entire change of programme when Shadrack and Juliette Talbot will be seen for the first time in a special new act, entitled "Rag Time Melodies." The song bird, as Juliette is named, will appear in superb costumes, very elegant in style and will render some comic opera selections from the Red Widow and the Pink Lady Musical Comedies, while appearing at the Lyvot at Oxford, London, England she made a very great success with those same songs. This act is one that is the craze just now in England and Rag Time Melodies met with great favor, then there are three fine reels from Gaumont, Graphic and Pathe Weeklies, together with the Star Orchestra, Leader, Prof. Ryall, in the very appropriate attire for occasions both of mourning and congratulation. And every election makes a politician feel as if he were going to a funeral or a wedding."—Washington Star.

GRATEFUL-COMFORTING
"Epps's" has been a household word for scores of years. It is a standard for Excellence in the production of Cocoa. Every element that makes cocoa delicious and nourishing is found in "Epps's" in just proportion and form. That is true in every sense. Some cocoas have the cocoa butter removed, and lack the nourishing element.

The Workers The Real Aristocrats

The passion for acquisition is a sign of ignobility. All those consumed with a lust to become rich, to own more than anyone else, are second rate men. No real noblemen could endure excessive wealth.

Genuine nobility accepts no unearned privilege, but insists upon earning its money in a fair field and no favor, and, if it earns more than it can use in simplicity, delights to give it away.

So far from nobility being connected with inheritance, the inheritance of wealth has done more than anything else to destroy true nobleness and corrupt the world.

What is called the aristocracy of the upper class is as a rule an excellent illustration of what aristocracy is not. For it is marked by pride, over-wealth, display, idleness and exclusiveness; and each one of these qualities is contemptible.

The very poor are also usually ignoble because necessity and want tend to emburthen.

But it is among the honest workmen, among free and earnest professional men, shopkeepers, clerks, artists, and all who work for a living in cheer and idleness that are generally to be found the true aristocrats of soul.—Dr. Frank Crane in Woman's World, for April.

COLOGNE, To-day.
The answer of European Powers to note presented by Balkan States on April 5, regarding terms of mediation, proposed in March by Powers, will be of such a nature according to an inspired telegram to Cologne Gazette from Berlin as to accelerate the conclusion of peace between the Balkan allies and Turkey.

ROME, To-day.
All official reports regarding the condition of the Pope agree that his condition is not grave, that there is no immediate danger. Anxiety however, continues on account of the weakness of the action of the heart which needs constant stimulation. A Rome despatch to the London Chronicle says the Pope's physician has expressed the opinion that he will rally for a time, but that his general condition renders it unlikely he will last out the present night and that the end may come suddenly from heart failure.

Are Worth Their Weight in Gold.

WHAT JAS. FERGUSON SAYS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Jusbec Man Cured of Backache, Rheumatism and Headache Voices General Sentiment in Regard to Greatest of Canadian Remedies.

Sellarville, Bonaventure County, Que., April 9. (Special.)—"I can say Dodd's Kidney Pills are worth their weight in gold." In these enthusiastic words Mr. James Ferguson, a well-known resident of this place, voices the almost universal sentiment in regard to the greatest of Canadian remedies.

"I have taken Dodd's Kidney Pills," Mr. Ferguson continues, "for backache, stiffness of the joints, rheumatism and headache, and found them represented."

"I cannot say too much in praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and give my full permission to have my name published in regard to them."

People who have been sick, and are cured, want to tell of it. They are grateful to the remedy that gave them back their health. They want their friends to know just how their ills can be cured.

That is why, from one end of Canada to the other, people are talking of Dodd's Kidney Pills: They cure kidney disease, and kidney disease is the root of the great majority of diseases to which the Canadian people are heir.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure backache, lumbago, rheumatism, gravel, diabetes, heart disease and Bright's disease, because any and all of these spring from diseased kidneys.

British Navy is Now Efficient.

Speaking at the banquet of the Chamber of Commerce, in London, England, on March 12th, Vice-Admiral Sir Percy Scott said: "At the end of this week I will be out of the navy. There is no reason for me to remain when I only block the path to promotion of those my junior." The Admiral added that the British Navy was never more efficient than at the present time. In the last two months he admirably had made greater strides in gunnery efficiency than in five years previously. Vice-Admiral Sir Percy Scott was for a long time Director of naval gunnery practice. He is the inventor of night signalling apparatus now used in the royal navy, and of various appliances for improving heavy gun shooting. He entered the navy in 1866.

A Marvelous Memory.

Presbyterian Minister Who Knew the Bible By Heart.

Of the many examples of prodigious memories which have been recorded from time to time, none, perhaps, have been so remarkable as the case of Rev. Thomas Threlkeld, who was a Presbyterian minister at Rochdale for twenty-eight years, and died there in April, 1806, at the age of sixty-seven. Threlkeld's memory first attracted attention when he attended the Grammar School at Daventry, where he began to make a close study of the Bible. When a passage was recited to him he could immediately give it chapter and verse, and, on the other hand, if a chapter and verse were given he could at once repeat the passage.

Both at Daventry and Warrington, where he went to finish his education, his fellow students delighted in putting his memory to the test, and never once was it known to be at fault. In later years, says Mr. Frank Hird, in "Lancashire Stories," Threlkeld was looked upon as a living concordance to the Bible in Rochdale and the neighbourhood, and was constantly asked the most puzzling questions by his brother ministers, sometimes actually for information, but generally for mere amusement. He was never known to be wrong.

Threlkeld's powers of memory, however, were not solely concerned with theology. He was also a linguist, and knew nine or ten languages; while dates were a passion with him, no matter how unimportant. His knowledge of historical dates, of chronology, heraldry, and genealogy was encyclopaedic, and one of his favorite amusements was to go through the succession in the Episcopal See and trace the pedigrees of families.

"In only one direction," continues Mr. Hird, "would this wonderful memory seem to have been of direct service." Threlkeld was one of the managers of a fund for the benefit of the widows of Presbyterian ministers, and consequently was frequently appealed to on circumstances connected with the lives of dead ministers, and such was the opinion of his memory that if the books had been consulted, and had reported differently, the error would have been imputed to the secretary and not to Mr. T.'s memory. This was deemed infallible.

OTTAWA, April 9.
 Premier Borden introduced the closure resolutions in the Commons this afternoon. The House is still in session at midnight.

LONDON, April 9.
 The first Chinese Parliament was inaugurated yesterday at Peking, amid general rejoicings, not only in the capital, but throughout the country.

ROME, April 9.
 Pope Pius, for a short time this afternoon, appeared somewhat better, but too weak to take much notice. He smiled, however, when visited by his sisters, who sat quietly in his room for some time, without disturbing him.

LONDON, April 9.
 Suffragettes are again active around Nottingham. A haystack belonging to a widow, was destroyed by fire today. Suffragette literature was left near. In view of recent threats, a close guard is being kept on Nottingham Castle and other public buildings.

NEW YORK, April 9.
 The body of J. Pierpont Morgan will lie in state from the time of its arrival in the s.s. France, until Monday morning, in the Red Room of the Madison Square residence, where the financier met his directors and transacted business during recent years.

LONDON, April 9.
 A Central News despatch from Rome says that the Pope suffered a fainting fit lasting two hours this afternoon. It was rumored in the offices of the Italian Chamber of Deputies that His Holiness was in extremis. Professor Machiava, however, continues to assert that the Pope is no worse, and that there are no grounds for anxiety.

WASHINGTON, April 9.
 Armed with a dirk, and muttering threats that he came here to kill President Wilson, James Mathison, 32 years old, who said he came from Nova Scotia, was arrested here. Mathison appeared at the Washington Navy Yard and told the officials that he wanted to enlist. In conversation he said that his express purpose in coming was to kill the President. He has been placed in the Washington Asylum for observation. The dirk was found on his person.

PARIS, April 9.
 Mail advices from French Guiana give details of a horrible story of cannibalism. Four inmates of the Penitentiary Colony, named Moulaid, Bacheureau, Fossey and Machivel, three were re-captured in a boat at the mouth of the Mana river. They said that they wandered in the forest for eight days. Their scanty provisions were soon finished. Machivel dropped from exhaustion, and they decided to kill and eat him. He made a feeble effort to run, but was struck down. The men then struggled on as far as the river, where they found a boat. They intended to make for the open sea, but were driven ashore.

LONDON, April 9.
 Hundreds of Turkish soldiers, who survived the siege of Adrianople, are dying of exhaustion and cholera in the Concentration Camp, outside the city, according to a correspondent of the Telegraph, who says that the tents there should be hospitals, but the men go there to die. The Camp is a monstrous morgue, the ground all around being covered with corpses and hundreds of human forms in horrifying disorder, dying and dead. The Bulgarian officer in charge of the burials, said that in some cases men, still breathing, were brought across the bridge only to be drawn aside to be allowed to die. Some of them die of cholera, others of cold and hunger. "Did you see the trees?" he asked. "Some of the men have eaten the bark."

LONDON, April 9.
 King Nicholas, of Montenegro, has definitely arranged the plans of his abdication as the force employed by the European Powers prevents his little Kingdom from obtaining the territory, which he considers necessary for its independence, according to information obtained from official Montenegro circles in London. Today, arrangements for this action have been made by King Nicholas in consultation with King Peter of Serbia, the agreement being that he should abdicate and with his family quit the country. Montenegro would then effect a union with Serbia, while King Nicholas and his family would be given appropriate provision from the civil list, and would reserve the right of succession to the Servo-Montenegro throne.

LONDON, April 9.
 "Luck will be all with us this time. The challenger is the four-leaved Shamrock, while the New York Yacht Club will be defending America's Cup for the thirteenth time," said Charles E. Nicholson, the yacht designer of Gosport, England, today. This will not be Nicholson's first connection with the contest, his yards having been used to dock the original American when under repair. He said: "I wish to correct the unfortunate impression that prevails in the States that I am afraid of a 90-foot yacht. I believe I could build one which would cross the Atlantic ocean safely; but a 75-footer, which under the present conditions is as large and expensive as a 90-footer, twenty years ago. It is the boat which prudence and reason dictates. I have the greatest admiration for the genius and cleverness of the American designers. These, coupled with the fact that all the conditions are in favor of the Defender, make the task of designing the challenging yacht one of keenest interest, calling for every ounce of the ability I may possess. I hope Herreshoff will be given the chance to design a Defender. If so the preliminary races will be as interesting as the final cup contest. I have already erected a shed in the Gosport yards for the challenger, and have the plans under way. I expect to launch her about April, 1914. If the Cup returns here, I hope the result will be the formation of a code governing all international yacht racing."

Cable News.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, To-Day.

The great Powers will make certain concessions to the Balkan allies in the endeavour to bring about peace. They have agreed on the reply that is to be made to the objection which the allies offered on the basis for mediation proposed by the Powers. The concessions to Bulgaria include the acceptance of her proposal that the frontier of the Ottoman Empire shall be a straight line between Enos and Midia instead of following the course of the Ergen and Moriza Rivers, as the Powers first suggested. While reserving the status of the Aegean Islands for future determination by the Powers, they seek to placate Greece by giving assurance that the majority of them be ceded her. The Powers also reserve the question of war indemnity for settlement by financial commission to meet in Paris. They insist upon fixing themselves the boundaries of Albania.

The despatch adds when the Turkish commander caused the destruction of the provisions remaining in the garrison and blew up the bridge across Arda, thus cutting the road along which supply trains came, he did not think he was condemning to death the weakest, most helpless and most exhausted part of his army. The Bulgarians distributed some bread, but were unable to do more until the bridge had been repaired. A few days after capitulation cholera broke out among the prisoners and spread, threatening many Bulgarian soldiers. The Bulgarians moved to Tchatalja and the healthy prisoners were sent away in swarms. Doctors were summoned, but in the primitive camp there still remains thousands of men who fall day by day under the invisible heel of death. The camp presents a monstrous promiscuity of living, dying and dead. Soldiers belonging to Adrianople, says correspondent, have been provided with food by families, but others, wrapped in rags and huddled in wretched dens, plaintively demanded water which, although muddy, they drink greedily. This is a crowd of men who have suffered too much, says correspondent, who can march no more, whom nothing can save, and whom death has seized while they are still living. At one end of the encampment a line of bier carriers passes and repasses, bearing corpses from the field of horror to the other side of the bridge, where healthy prisoners are digging enormous trenches. Their tents should be hospitals, but men go there to die. It is a monstrous morgue. The ground all round is covered with corpses; hundreds of human forms lie in horrifying disorder of dying and dead.

Scotland and Wales Draw.

LONDON, March 3.—The International Association football match between Scotland and Wales at Wrexham to-day ended in a scoreless draw.

The game was played under somewhat unfavorable conditions. Thompson, the Scottish centre half, did splendid work, although not at his best. Orrock and J. Walker were also good, the latter frequently ostentatiously kicking the Welsh. Vizard was splendid. On the whole there was more combination method among the Welsh forwards who showed, however, lack of ability to press their attacks successfully.

The Average Man.

LONDON, To-Day.

He is straight and tall and broad and strong. And he is clean and neat. He fares him forth with cheery song. A figure good to meet. He makes no pose of pride or wealth. He does what he can. So here is a toast and here is health To the great average man! He has a true and loving wife Who greets him with a kiss. His home is free from jar and strife. A breathing place of bliss; And so because of steadfast trust In the Creator's plan He makes this human life august—The splendid average man. He loves the tender common things, The pine against the sky; The happy bird that sings and sings Upon the treetop high. The gorgeous race of flowers he loves. He loves the rainbow's span; The greenwood and the painted delight the average man. He fights for honor and for truth. He strives for aye to be Examples for the eyes of youth. A force for honesty, A cheer for all his soul; His thought is clean to scan; Good luck attends him to his goal. All hail the average man! —Edward Wilbur Mason in National Magazine for March.

Man Named by Children

As Murderer of Their Parents Released by Jury.

Montreal, March 31.—That Francois Vantour and his wife came to their deaths at the hands of parties unknown, and that Fred Michaud, although directly named by the children of the butchered couple as having murdered their parents, be no longer detained, was the verdict returned this morning by the coroner's jury.

A Scientific Sailor.

Sir Henry Jackson, new chief of the British Admiralty war staff, is an officer who is distinguished for his scientific attainments. During the past two years he has commanded the Naval War College at Portsmouth. He is a noted torpedo expert, and has taken charge of both the Portsmouth and Devonport torpedo schools. He was the first man in Great Britain to make use of Hertzian waves for wireless, and in recognition of his valuable researches in electrical physics he was elected F. R. S. As Assistant Director of Torpedoes he did excellent work, and from March, 1905, to October, 1908, he was Third Sea Lord and Controller.

Persecuted by Success

To be persecuted by an early success is occasionally the fate of an author. Mr. A. Percival Graves, the author of that most popular of songs, "Father O'Flynn," is a case in point. When a clerk at the Home Office, Mr. Graves was one day strolling through a London park when the words of the song occurred to him. He wrote them out and they were published in a weekly journal. Ten years later they were set to music, and Sir Chas. Santley made the song one of the most popular ever written.

Washington, March 20.—A new world's record for indoor rifle shooting of 988 out of a possible 1,000, was made by the Park Club of Bridgeport, Conn. THEY KNOW WHICH IS BEST.

A little while ago we drew your attention to a clipping, showing that out of 13 Motor Cars in a Garage at Harrogate, 10 Cars were using

MICHELIN TYRES.

Would you infer from this that the owners of these ten cars are fools, or in other words that 77 per cent. of these motorists are devoid of sense while the other 23 per cent. are full of reason?

Of course you would not—such a verdict would be absurd.

It simply means that 77 per cent. know MICHELIN TYRES are the BEST TYRES. The others will soon get to know.

Capt. Munden's Famous Trip.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—In your issue of Saturday, 5th inst., appeared a letter from Mr. Shortis, giving a very good description of some of the incidents in the career of Capt. A. Munden, of Brigus, and especially his record trip in the 'Commodore' in the year 1871; but Mr. Shortis is in error on the green bough incident. It is true that the Old Viking sent men on a long tramp toward Cape John, and repeated his order the following day, with the additional instructions to bring the green boughs before he would give up his firm belief that the main patch of seals were between the ship and the shore, but the men returned without either boughs or seals, as we were too far from the shore for any man to reach it in one day.

We would not have admired our captain's judgment and determination so much if they had brought a tow of seals, as we did when without the least sign of seals apparent to any other person on board except himself, he forced the 'Commodore' in the same direction as the men were sent, and where we all thought we were going to be jammed for the remainder of the spring, which proved an hour's case. We well remember some of the strong language used by some of those who were then the veteran sealers, such as "the d— old mad-man" and "the cursed old fool," but before 12 hours from our getting clear their opinion of the old mad-man was very much altered, for about an hour before sun set that evening, we were in the white coats as thick as they ever have been since, and by dark we had the deck piled to the rail with whoppers averaging 52 lbs. The next day we panned about 9,000, but it was almost impossible to work for it was a day which will be remembered by many as the Sheelah Blizzard, and the most awful blizzard for many years. Several people in this country lost their lives. We started from Harbor Grace that year on February 27th, and steamed north nearly to the Groa Islands, where we got jammed after several days' progress. It was our goal, but with no sign of anything encouraging.

From St. Patrick's Day, when we first started the slaughter, we were 27 days in succession on the ice without a break, not even Sunday for rest. This was caused by the ship not moving during that time, so we had to haul all our seals from the pans. We finished loading about three miles off King's Cove, Bonnavia Bay, and in the afternoon previous to the day we got clear, three women came alongside. The old captain gave them a tow of seals each and sent them on their way rejoicing.

They appeared to be quite capable of taking care of themselves and were able to get along over the rough ice fairly well, as that was before the invention of the hobble skirt.

We got clear and bore up for home on April 13th, with 1,500 seals in tow, but when getting near home we got them on board also, which put the 'Commodore' when upright, first deck on a level with the surface of the sea. The water being very smooth we arrived at Harbor Grace at 8 a.m. on April 15th. We then commenced discharging our cargo and made a bill of $160 or $240 it was at that time.

The getting ready for the second trip was rushed with all speed, and we left on the 21st, a very foggy morning, and ran ashore at Bear's Cove. The ship being so much damaged that it was impossible for us to proceed on the voyage, with causes of great rejoicing, as we did not want to go out so late in the season, but the man who refused to go the second trip need not apply for a berth the next spring.

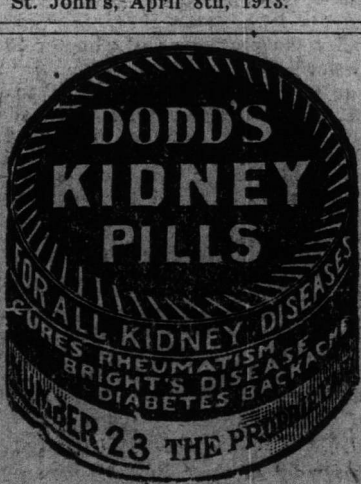

We got off the rocks about sunset and lay in the stream at Harbor Grace that night, but even then our troubles were not all over, for a very serious difficulty arose which was to devise some means of disposing of the surplus stock of saws, for the jars were full to the stopper, but even this was not too much for the inventive minds on board the 'Commodore,' for one bunk's crew got over the difficulty by boiling pea soup using rum instead of water, and when all was ready invited their friends to the banquet, so during that night and next morning one had to be very careful in getting around to avoid falling over dead men.

Next day we got to Capt. Stevenson's wharf at Ship's Head, and discharged our sealing gear. So ended one of the most eventful sealing voyages on record, and may we all who take an interest in the sealfishery, never forget the Old Vikings who, although in many cases being illiterate men, through their pluck, determination, endurance, good judgment and common sense did so much to help build up the many commercial enterprises which were started in their day.

We never heard what bill the King's Cove women made, but as seals were seven dollars and fifty cents per cwt. that spring, they must have done nearly as well as the people of Green Bay did the spring when it was said the seals were so plentiful and so near the shore that "women and dogs made fourteen pound a man."

Yours truly,

A. H. St. John's, April 8th, 1913.

AMAZING MONK.

A Russian correspondent sends a moving description of the sufferings of Moldavian peasants, who in mid-winter followed the Monk Innocentius more than 100 miles to the place of his banishment. Ragged, starving and frost-bitten, the band of more than 1,000 followed him, and to confirm their belief in his divinity, they recounted that when the rural guards came to arrest him the rifle of one of the guards mis-fired three times and that when a police officer insulted him and advanced threateningly, Innocentius looked straight into his eyes and said "Neither thy hand nor thy foot shall stir," and the policeman stopped dead, as though paralyzed.

NO MORE SEASICKNESS.

The latest arrangement is by a Belgian engineer, and consists of tanks fitted on both sides of the ship and communicating with each other. This water does not run at once from one side to the other, but 'lags' so to speak and counterbalances the rolling of the ship. The results obtained are remarkable.

Lady Dorothy Nevill died March 24th in her 87 year. Born in the reign of George IV, she knew in her time most of the notable men and women to be met with in London. Her reminiscences are published as "My Recollections," "Under Five Reigns," and "My Own Times," the latter only issued in September last.

Cure that Rivals Dr. Friedman's.

Sardinian Professes Success With Serum Composed of Two Elements—Both Secret.

Rome, March 3.—A Sardinian chemist of the name of Guiseppi Nurgis claims to have discovered a cure for tuberculosis which is destined to eclipse that of Dr. Friedman. It consists of a sub-cutaneous injection of a secret serum composed of two elements, the nature of which has not been divulged. It is said experiments on animals with the serum have achieved wonderful results.

Mr. Nurgis is now treating seven patients, all of whom are in the last stages of consumption. He refuses to divulge the secret of his treatment and will not allow it to be tried at the hospitals. The doctor who attended the present patients admits that a decided improvement followed the first injection of the serum, and the most alarming symptoms completely disappeared.

Mr. Nurgis has secured medical certificates to the effect that his unknown remedy certainly has a beneficial effect. He hopes to effect several cures before patenting the serum and announcing his discovery.

The Motorcycle.

BY H. L. RANN.

The motorcycle is a portable gasoline engine with a stuttering form of speech and the disposition of a coyote. It is used to carry people from one point to another at the rate of one mile every fifteen seconds and incidentally to discourage pedestrians from crossing the street without having to duck under a dray.

Motorcycles are so constructed that they never kill anybody except the innocent bystander. Nobody ever heard of a motorcycle blowing up and kicking a speed maniac into the future state. The motorcycle always picks out somebody who is in perfect health and shuffles him into the great beyond before he has time to straighten out an overcharge at the butcher shop. On this account, motorcycle victims should be regulated by law, and nobody should be allowed to be killed by one unless his life insurance will wipe out his outstanding debts.

Motorcycle riders always wear green goggles so that they cannot see anybody who gets in the way. This gives them a comfortable sense of security and enables them to run down people who ought to be on the sidewalk or up a tree without being annoyed by their conscience. As the owner of a motorcycle aims to ride with his head down, he never knows when he passes over a lady victim, unless he punctures his rear tire on her hatpin.

The motorcycle has a deep-toned exhaust which warns pedestrians that the most successful form of sudden death ever invented is about to perform in their midst. Many a pedestrian has heard this exhaust coming down the road two miles away and tried to get across the street in two frenzied jumps, only to be overtaken in the second leap and scattered in four directions from his last transfer. It is more dangerous to attempt to pass in front of an intoxicated motorcycle than it is to mount a trolley car backward. Some motorcyclists slow up on passing through a crowd, but they make up for it by burning large holes in suburban pavements.

He Had a Way of Getting There.

He had a way of getting there. Not a very brilliant chap. Lots of men had far more snap. Never seemed to make a fuss. Quite likely he buckled in. An' what most astonished us. Somehow always seemed to win.

He had a way of getting there. Never quit if things went wrong. Didn't give way to despair. Jes' went pluggin' right along. Others got far more applause. An' attention in the game. No one seemed to know he was in it, till on top he came.

He had a way of getting there. Jes' persistent, ploddin' on. Never knew him to declare. Hope was absolutely gone. Doing something every day. Bverlastin' diggin' in. Havin' not a word to say. That's the way he used to win.

The Craze For "A Good Time."

The typical Australian craze for "a good time," says the Sydney Catholic Press, "destroys many a home." Normal amusements are neglected. Women are not content with comfort. They are not satisfied to live a home life, with normal variations by way of outside amusement. They crave the nightly after-theatre supper, the glare of the lights, the music, the excitement, the crowd. Men likewise fall victims to the perverted idea of "a good time." Faithful wives mope at home, while gay husbands flutter in the midnight glare. The era of extravagance, with its false conception of "a good time," is the progenitor of the empty church, the empty cradle, and the home in which love is a mockery.

The greatest service people can perform for the nation is not so much to encourage the military spirit as to unite the restoration of normal ideas, and the normal life, which means national strength, and the absence of which means national decay.

Brigade Dinners.

C. L. B.

The Warrant and Non-Commissioned Officers of the C. L. B. held their annual dinner at Southville, last night, and a pleasant time was spent, by all who attended. Sergt. N. Rice, who leaves for Calgary shortly, was presented with a ten years' service pendant and a set of gold sleeve links. After an excellent menu had been discussed, a comprehensive toast list was taken up. The speeches made were interspersed by songs. The singing of the National Anthem brought the event to a close.

The Casino.

At the Casino Theatre, to-night, the Casino players will present "In Slavery Days." This is an excellent domestic comedy-drama of the social life during that most picturesque of American periods, "Before the War" in the Southern States. The atmosphere of those days is faithfully reproduced, with its gentle women, its chivalrous men, its cruel negroes, drivers and its legal old slaves. There is a pretty love story, and a great abundance of ocelan, lively comedy.

S. U. F Celebrates.

The annual soiree of the S. U. F. was held in the British Hall last night and it surpassed all successes yet held by that organization. Over three hundred people participated in the dance which commenced at 9 o'clock, but was discontinued while supper, provided by the lady friends of the S. U. F., was going on. The ballroom was prettily adorned. Myron's orchestra supplied the music. At 9 o'clock this morning the affair terminated.

At The Nickel.

There were many other attractions last night, but the Nickel was crowded throughout the evening. There was as usual a Gaumont graphic which was followed by "At the end of the Trail," a story of the Klondike. "A timely Rescue" is an interesting drama which had the attention of all. "The Great Diamond Robbery" is a comedy which provided much mirth. Misses Gardner and Geurin won new honors. To-night there will be new songs.

RAMEA VIA BRUGEO. Last Evening.

Not at Port au Port.

On several occasions during the last three months, the Telegram has referred to the disappearance of one James McDonald, a habitue of the West End, who was homeless but who had many friends there. The police asserted when we made inquiries that the man had gone to work at the lime stone quarries at Port au Port, but this we doubted, as his age (up for 70 years) and the condition of his health must certainly preclude his engaging in such strenuous labor. Young men, residents of the West End, who had McDonald sell him, who returned from Port au Port yesterday say that the man is not there nor has he been there, and those who knew him well remembered his habit of boarding the Allan Line and other steamers to get a meal, are convinced that it was McDonald's body which was found incinerated in the engine room of the Carthaginian on her arrival at Glasgow. The finding of the Newfoundland coins near the body and the $5 boots worn by the Newfoundland fisherman, were significant facts in the premises, and all who knew McDonald believe he was hurried to death on the Carthaginian. He was a harmless, genial dispositioned man, and for several years past had no home of his own, but boarded with friends in different parts of the West End at various times.

Big Meeting Up to Mrs. Tucker's.

Delaney, Tucker, The Cate Man, Tim and Mrs. Tucker on Deck.

Big meeting up to Tucker's last night, all the party being present. Mrs. Tucker shone in all her ancient glory and produced the goods in the shape of a square blow out of flippers. The Cate Man who always turns up at the right moment hove along in time, and though we hate him for his cuteness still we can't help admiring him for his 'knowledgable' abilities. There are lots of people like him whom you meet in life, you hate them to a certain extent but you admire them inwardly even though 'tis almost against your will.

During the demolishing of the flippers all the boys were in a very talkative mood, and as usual on such occasions, said just what they meant. Tucker read Mr. Stick's letter on the water supply, and while we all gave the keenest attention to its contents, still we must admit that our party is not brilliant enough to grasp what Mr. Stick is driving at. Delaney read it out loud after Tucker got the cramps but we could see the disease in the water supply all right, but we couldn't find any remedy in Mr. Stick's epistle. Resolved at the meeting that if Mr. Stick is yet over ground that we humbly ask him to give us a second opinion, in which we hope to clear our befogged brains and get us out of the mud in which Mr. Stick has stuck us.

THE UPPER TEN.

Mrs. Tucker is delighted that we are having a Masked Ball and she hopes 'twill be up to the old-time carnival that we used to have around here before she was burnt out in the big July fire. Mrs. Tucker was sorry to read a notice in one of the papers about this affair, which said that if common people danced with the Upper Ten that that was no reason that the Common People should expect that the Upper Ten would make equals of 'em every day socially. Mrs. Tucker says that kind of rot gives her the tired feeling, and the paper that would publish it must be intended to go out of business, or able to get on splendidly without the aid of the common folk. But little mistakes happen in every walk of life, and Mrs. Tucker who is keen as a rat allows no such slips to go unnoticed. 'Tis easier to say nothing, 'tis much easier, and perhaps you'll be called a real nice person if you do so, but Mrs. Tucker is a crank from the word go, she was born so, and after all an odd crank in a community can be tolerated.

FREE ADVICE TO GOVERNOR.
Our conversation drifted to the new Governor. Delaney who has a first cousin in the Hospital said he was delighted the other day when he was down there to find our new Governor going through the wards, inspecting the buildings and enquiring into the way things are being conducted. He says the new Governor is beginning his reign fine, and he hopes that he will continue on, and he will find in Newfoundland people who will stand up for him on all occasions, loyal and true to the core. But there are many shrews, Delaney says, in this country, and 'tis no trouble for a Governor to get stranded on one of 'em. Delaney advises him to keep the straight course which means in touch with the people, and if he wants to find the people, then, he will hold them out of the outside of Government House, never inside the grounds except when he is making a speech; then they are there, and if he lives in their hearts, which Delaney hopes he will, he will hear their whole-souled cheers and he will see in their honest faces the expression of love, respect and trust. Delaney says he'll charge the Governor nothing for this piece of advice, but later on he hopes to meet him and when he does he will tell the Governor to take a trip about the end of or to take a trip about the end of June, for by so doing he will lengthen on his days. The summer time is not a "good old time" for Governors and St. John's for they generally get weak from watching tied-leg races at College Sports or attending Garden Parties three times a week.

THE POLICEMAN'S LOT.

The Cate Man, says he, met a policeman the other day and got in chat with him. After talking all kinds of things, from getting loaf sugar three times a day, down to the value of dogfish, the policeman admitted to the Cate Man that he didn't know where the King's Wharf was. I'm only here two days, says he, and holding a job in the Force is about the best way I know of striking a soft job. Don't you catch on, says he, giving the Cate Man a tug on the sleeve, and as soon as I strike it away I heck, no waiting fifteen years for a rise of ten cents for me, not on your life, old man. Strange things you'll meet in this town, says the Cate Man, when you haven't got a gun.

TIM SHANAHAN.

An Excellent Concert.

A very pleasing and excellently conducted concert was held in the Lecture Room of the Congregational Church, last night and was largely attended. The principal items—and they were exceptionally interesting and well rendered—were: "The Canzetta," "Band of Hope Queen," the soloists, "Who's Who" in which all acquitted themselves well, including Misses Mabel Dwyer and Nellie Barnes. The concert was taken part in by Messrs. Field, Stowe, Oakley, Thomas, Russell, Langmead, Cowan and Rev. H. Thomas. These were all in excellent form, and the close Mr. H. E. Cowan, Supt. of Sunday School, gave an interesting address. The singing of the National Anthem brought matters to a close.

The Taft Cow.

There's nothing sadder than the way great public characters drop out; they're cutting lots of grass to-day, to-morrow they're gone up the spout. We still hear much of William Taft, who lives in a chaste retirement now; of laurel wreaths he wears a raft—but what's become of William's cow? Aunt Delia in the public prints still figures largely, bless her eyes! And we encounter frequent hints that she's compounding scrumptious pies; long may the good Aunt Delia wave, and give her loved ones pies enow; but Pauline, beautiful and brave—O, where's the stately Pauline now? But yesterday she browsed and grazed upon the verdant White House lawn; and satesman bowed to her, amazed, so graceful she, and like a fawn. And men who wished to represent this country at the court of Greece, befere Pauline their hinges bent—with her they had to make their peace. She was the arbiter of fate, she was the power behind the throne;—why has she got her horns on straight—why is her destiny unknown? Let William Howard teach the youth of Yale how best to delve and plow among the fertile fields of truth—but where is William Howard's cow?

The C. B. Captains.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I notice in your issue of yesterday, a note stating that the s.s. Othar was fitted up and would resume her route in Conception Bay again, commanded by Capt. Sedgeman, who is spoken of as the most popular man who ever travelled on Conception Bay. Now, while I have not the least desire to rich from Capt. Sedgeman, any of the encomiums which his friends and the Euphrates S. S. Co. wishes to shower on him, still I am constrained to believe from experience that if the travelling public were to play the part of jury, that that verdict would be somewhat modified, without in the least depriving the man from any merit justly due him. I have noticed from time to time, Capt. Sedgeman has been referred to in the press as the best and most popular captain on the Bay, and I would be inclined to allow him to exclusively enjoy that reputation, if it did not impinge inferiority to others; but as I happened to have travelled as passenger and shipmate with another man, who commanded one of these boats, and prompted by a desire to give a meed of praise to him, who is equally deserving of it, I unhesitatingly assert that a more obliging, trustworthy and consequently popular man than Capt. W. J. Dawe has never commanded on Conception Bay, even if he has the misfortune of being born in Newfoundland. However, the fact seems clear that the genial Captain Sedgeman is more proficient in pleasing and popularizing himself with the people, than some of the directors of the company. But then, if that was not so, I presume, there would be no Euphrates S. S. Company with fat subsidies and no defeated candidates to please and accommodate with useless wharves built out of the grant for the Harbor Main District.

I am yours truly,
W. J. DAWE.

There was a short session yesterday afternoon. A deal of petitions were presented by Messrs. Watson, Squires, Blanford, LeFevre, Parsons and others for different services and utilities for their several constituencies. Hon. D. Morison presented one from Hon. Jas. Ryan, P. Templeman, Dr. Forbes and others of Bonavista, for incorporation as a Company to run certain electrical systems there. The following Select Committee were appointed to deal with the matter: Hon. Col. Secy. Min. of Agriculture and Mines, and Messrs. Downey, Clift and Earle. The Dental and Revenue Bills received their third reading and the Public Service and Intercolonial Development Bill went through the Committee. The House adjourned at 4:15 to meet at the usual hour this afternoon.

The Police Court.

A deserter from the S. S. Adventure was convicted, but was released on suspended sentence, as the owners did not press for punishment. Two men were charged with being drunk and disorderly and fighting on the public street; they were convicted and fined $2 each, and a third, drunk and disorderly, was ordered to pay the same fine. A drunk was remanded for 8 days.

Supreme Court.

(Before the Chief Justice.)
On motion of Furlong, K.C., Mr. J. G. Higgins was admitted as a Solicitor of the Supreme Court, and took the oath of allegiance and office. Tessler & Co. vs. J. W. Coombe. This is a claim for damages for breach of warranty of authority or alternatively for wharfage and storage fees supplied by the plaintiffs to the defendant. Mr. McNelly stated the plaintiffs case. On motion of Mr. McNelly and by consent of Morison, K.C., for the defendant, the further hearing of the case was postponed sine die.

Sealing Notes.

Eagle:—"On board to-day, 10,000, 3,000 old and 13,000 young; spoke Ranger on Saturday, hailed for 2,000 old; saw Kite and Erik on Wednesday; weather bad." A message was received to-day from Capt. Kean, of the S. S. Florizel, which was reported jammed off Groasis Islands, stating that the ship this morning was two hundred yards from the wharf in open water. It also said that the ice was terrific. The Nascopie has landed 20,000 seals so far; the young harps are averaging 42 lbs.

"Perhaps the Limit!"

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Speaking in the House of Assembly on the application of the bounty to schooners built in the Colony, in reply to Mr. Kent's comments on the amendment to the Shipbuilding Act, the Minister of Marine and Fisheries stated that they (meaning the Government), had since their return to power, appointed an official known as the Deputy General Surveyor, whose business it is to visit all shipyards, all over the country where vessels may be building, and survey them for bounty. It is well known that the Morris Government has appointed men to every conceivable and inconceivable office since their election, but among their many extravagances, the appointment referred to, is perhaps the limit! While we have nothing against the holder of this office, his chief recommendation for which might possibly have been his relationship to a member of the Executive, another instance of the "family grant," yet voters are of opinion that eight hundred dollars per year, and travelling expenses, are rather high for the services rendered. This money is a tax on all fishermen for the direct benefit of the few who are in a position to build their own boats and schooners. Now why should this be? Would it not be infinitely better and less expensive for a Deputy Surveyor to be appointed in each port for the purpose of surveying for bounty, and his fee paid by the owner of the boat or vessel so surveyed, same as in measuring for tonnage? Of course this would mean that the present holder would lose his job, and incidentally his huge salary, and neither of these things would be to his liking. Where party services have to be rewarded, neither Morris nor Morison suffer from any lapse of memory. They safeguard the heblers' interests all right, and at the public expense. For these and other reasons, MORRIS MUST GO in November next. Yours truly,
FISHERMAN.

Losses on Hay.

A number of speculators of rather restricted means, in most cases, went in largely for the purchase of hay last winter and fall, believing that by this time famine prices would have been reached and that there would be big profit margins for them. But "the best laid plans of mice and men," as the Scotch poet says, seems to be just as applicable to-day as at any time, and the thousands of tons of hay stored here are selling now at a loss of 42 per cent. Mention the one word "hay" to most of these votaries of commerce, and you must take cover hurriedly. Tidy sums have been lost as a result of this speculation.

RILLINGTON STATESMAN, Registered No. 1717.

Examined and warranted sound and free from all hereditary diseases and defects by Erwin Murray, M.R.C.V.S., to His Majesty the King, June 12th, 1912.

The Cleveland Bay, a hardy, powerful, yet fairly light and swift animal, originated through a blending of the powerful charger of the middle ages, with the more active Barb and Arabian. The Cleveland Bay has lots of quality and substance with well defined sinews, large, clean, flat bones of a density equalled only in the Arab and thoroughbred. His long lineage gives him prepotence in impressing his splendid characteristics and soundness of constitution.

Rillington Statesman, registered in England, was bred among his native hills in the Cleveland Valley of Yorkshire. He is an excellent specimen; color, deep, rich bay; height 16½ hands, weight about 1400 pounds. His action is high, free and open, his stride long, temper perfect; he is in all respects a perfect general utility horse, a free cheerful roadster, sure-footed, fearless of all objects and with marvellous endurance. He needs only to be seen to be admired—used to be appreciated.
