CHAPTER XVII.

"For Heaven's sake, be quiet, sir!" implored Clarence, for the baronet had not lowered his voice. "I am Clarence Clifford, alive and well. I will explain presently when you and Lillian Melville—"

Sir Ralph stopped him with an exclamation of delight that made Clarence regret having named her.

"Come," he said, "I have a moment to be lost. I am afraid we have already alarmed some one."

"But—but," said Sir Ralph, hardly yet convinced that this was not some elaborate contrivance to remove him quietly.

"Oh! for Heaven's sake," said Clarence, whose quick ears had caught the sound of a movement in the next room. "For Heaven's sake, come, Sir Ralph, or I shall have to carry you."

Then, remembering in his excitement that Sir Ralph had not seen his face, he turned the food of light upon it.

"There," he said, "you see I am Clarence Clifford. Lillian awaits us below. Come, there is not a moment to lose."

Sir Ralph, stroking his forehead with his hand, gave vent to an ejaculation of bewildered astonishment, and allowing Clarence to seize him by the arm, was almost dragged from the room.

They had not gotten any farther than the first flight, however, before the door of the room next to Sir Ralph's was swung open, and a man, whose physiognomy bore a family likeness to the two French ruffians, from whom he had but lately escaped, rushed to the balcony, and, pointing a revolver at the two, shouted to them to stop.

Clarence, whose eyes were fixed upon the man's finger, no sooner saw it shake than he drew Sir Ralph on his knees, and the bullet passed over their heads.

The next second the projecting floor of the balcony overhead protected Clarence, lighting the stairs below them, whispered to Sir Ralph to hasten down as quickly as possible, and as he did so, drew back himself against the wall.

Down came the ruffian four steps at a time, pouring out a volley of oaths, and shouting hoarsely to the fugitives to stop.

Clarence waited until he was on a level with him, then, suddenly turning on the lantern, he chose the moment in which the man was staggered by the sudden stream of light, to spring upon him, wrenching the revolver from his hand and clutching him round the waist with a herculean grasp.

The Frenchman struggled and shouted, but Clarence, who was madly excited, seemed possessed of super-human strength, and raising him off the ground he hoisted him onto the balustrade, and with a hoarse cry of triumph hurled him over.

With a single moan he fell upon the balcony below, Clarence ran swiftly down the stairs, where he was nearly felled by Sir Ralph, who had recovered his presence of mind, and taking up his position there, mistook Clarence for one of the gang.

"All right, Sir Ralph," said Clarence. "Don't knock me down yet until we are outside," and in the excitement of success he laughed wildly.

Sir Ralph seized his arm with a cry of delight, and together they rushed into Lillian's room.

There he leaned back against the old wainscoting to wipe the perspiration from his brow and enjoy the luxury of their meeting.

To describe it would be impossible. Locked in each other's arms they cried, laughed and sobbed in a breath. Even their deliverer, Clarence, was forgotten in that sublime moment.

The next, however, Lillian started, and touching her father, whispered, with a crimson flush:

"We have forgotten him, papa."

Sir Ralph started, and turning to Clarence, who saw that tears were running down his stern face, said: "Mr. Clifford, we owe more than our lives to you; by what mysterious ways Providence has restored you to life and our help I cannot imagine, but now is the moment to implore your forgiveness, even before I express my gratitude."

"Not a word more, Sir Ralph," he said, hurriedly. "You have had my forgiveness long, long ago; you may withhold your gratitude forever."

"Never!" interrupted Sir Ralph, devoutly and eagerly.

Clarence, who had been wrapping Lillian in a shawl as he spoke, whispered her to take her father's arm and saying, "Follow me," passed behind the screen. Here he showed Sir Ralph the secret door, insisted upon his wrapping himself in one cloak while he enveloped Lillian in the other, and turning hastily to the chair to untie the old woman, returned and lighted father and daughter down the steps.

Then he followed himself, and, carefully closing the door, led the way through the passage, warning them of the water pools and pouring a stream of light upon their path.

They traversed the damp vaults in silence, Clarence stopping once only to draw the hood over Lillian's head, a piece of service which Sir Ralph noted, but did not remark upon.

At last they came into the gas-lit thoroughfare, and Sir Ralph shrank. His illness had worn him down, his confinement had attacked his nerves. With a thrill almost of pleasure, Clarence Clifford felt him lean heavily upon his arm and press it as if with anxiety.

He glanced at Lillian and saw, mixed with the tender regard for her father's weakness, a delight similar to his own—he, the despised and insulted tutor, was now the prop and stay.

"Where—where are we going?" said Sir Ralph, trying to draw himself up with resolution, but looking up at the grand face over him with a simple and touching reliance. "To—to an hotel, I suppose, Mr. Clifford. I—I am so confused, I only know that I have my darling her safe in my hands. My hands. My head aches terribly."

Clarence lowered his voice to a tone of respectful gentleness: "Will you trust yourself to me, Sir Ralph?"

"Yes, yes, my dear sir," said the old man, eagerly, clutching his arm as he spoke, and adding, with a sigh: "My darling is in your hands, Mr. Clifford."

"And she is sacred there," said Clarence, fervently. "Come along, then, we have not far to go, and it will be safer to walk."

With an arm for each he led them to the quiet street, and soon had them in the apartments he had taken.

Sir Ralph looked around at the comfortable room, with its fire and its well-spread table, and from the young, resolute face of Clarence to the beautiful one of his daughter, and then held his face in his hands and burst into tears.

Clarence, who had expected this, signaled to Lillian to pour out a cup of tea, added some brandy to it from his flask, and, waiting while Sir Ralph drank it, with instinctive delicacy stole from the room, leaving Lillian in her favorite attitude at her father's knee, his arm around her waist, and her tearful eyes uplifted to his.

CHAPTER XX.

Dusk was closing in upon Rivershall and the little sanded parlor of the Rivershall Arms was nearly in darkness—in silence, too, for the few laborers taking their evening draught of home-brewed at the little bar spoke but little, and that little in the curt, low tones of their class.

Occasionally the echo of a gruff guffaw reached the parlor, and one of them, louder than the rest, met with a response in the shape of an impatient movement and a half-muttered curse from the lips of a man sitting by the deal table, and gaining at the fast dying fire.

Roused by the last the solitary figure rose, took up the poker and stirred the embers into a blaze. Then he resumed his seat and his attitude, one of meditation, moodily expressed by the drooped head and listless hand, that hung over the table and seemed bloodless, so white it shone in the firelight.

White, too, was the face, a marvelous one as faces went—large, handsome, and, above all, masterful; but now as the flicker lit up for a moment, then, dying, let it rest in darkness for the next to light it up again and again with each reviving flame, what a story appeared written upon it!

What dark hollows lay beneath the black, piercing eyes! what deeply scored lines across the white forehead! and more noticeable than all, with what a weary, dissatisfied and insatiable droop the thin lips were curved!

A grand face! one to cause a shudder and a sigh, for it was the wreck of a splendid one, the index of a restless heart ever smoldering with hate and revengeful desire.

Who could write down the thoughts that went courting like grim specters through the tolling brain, deepening the lines and hollows and tightening the thin lips?—thoughts that would find utterance, so thickly they thronged, and in the old fashion in which Melchior, the forger and schemer, indulged, this man, twinging the long, lean fingers of the white, overhanging hand, mutters to the fire.

He would fain let the past lie, but he cannot. In that darkened room he must go over it all again, and he does so. He looks back upon the days when he was young, hopeful and ardent, in the pride and glory of youth, with a career, self-planned and steadily resolved.

THE DEFEATED.

VALT MASON

Some fellows are defeated by any woe or care; they think they're hardly treated unless all days are fair; they're given to repining unless the sun is shining and the birds sing everywhere. Their courage never wavered when everything was fine and they were always favored by fortune most benign; but showed, when they were smitten, the courage of a kitten, and wept a lot of brine. Some men who've astor-bilted their way to wealth and fame are down and out and witted, when fates reverse the game; for them the play is finished, and they hide their heads diminished in agony and shame. Behold the village Croesus, who ran the Blue Front store; his business went to pieces and he will rise no more; he was as great as Hector, but now he is a spectre of what he was of yore. When luck was at his shoulder he swelled with princely pride; no merchant's front was bolder, he walked with stately stride; but when his look forsook him, and fortune dodged and shook him, his pep and spirit died. He never thought of facing had luck with lifted head; he lay up like a casing that has a rotten tread; by dark forebodings haunted, depressed, defeated, daunted, he's down and out and dead. Some rise from dark reverses which bravely they've defied; they will not ride in hearses until they know they're dead; in showing they can master all brands of bleak disaster they take a goodly pride.

IN A VESSEL OF EARTH.

In a vessel of earth it came, A spirit with beauty aflame; Her laughter, her song and her mirth, All held in a vessel of earth. A jar which was fragile, but oh, We cherished and loved it so!

But our treasure was not of the clay, For the vessel lies broken to-day And mute is the voice, and the eyes Light not with delight and surprise, And no mortal hand can replace That spirit of beauty and grace.

There are numberless vessels of earth, Still holding life's music and mirth Still aglow with the spirit, and yet There was one we shall never forget, One which held in its beautiful mold Something never another could hold.

Others carry sweet music and mirth, Others come with delights to the earth, But we know now that fragrance we miss, That sound of her voice, and her kiss, That life which we loved was her soul And not the mere clay of the bowl.

And we know what we loved cannot die, Though broken this vessel may lie; And we know why the clay was so fair, 'Twas because she was nestled in there; We have learned 'twas her beautiful soul Which really made lovely the bowl.

THE HOUSE THAT SHOULD HAVE BEEN PHILIP'S.

Last summer for the first time in some years, I went back to the little town by the sea where we used to spend part of our summers. As I drove up the street, I noticed a man standing back to me on the porch of the house next to the one that had been ours. He was a slender man with dark hair. "My word," I thought, "it isn't Philip Dickson?" But even while I thought it, I knew it couldn't be Philip Dickson. And when the slender dark man turned around, I saw that he was one of the foreigners to whom the house had been sold.

Philip had everything. There he stood where Philip should have stood. Philip was an only son, failure in a business way, he is shiftless and extravagant, he drinks, he has gotten one good position after another and then lost them through shiftlessness and unwillingness to work hard.

He lives somewhere in a three apartment house. Rumor even has it that his wife takes in washing. This cottage that would naturally have been his inheritance, was sold when the old folks, their resources drained by Philip's calls upon them, could no longer afford to keep it. Philip's children have never been away for the summer. They play in the street in the near-tenement district where Philip lives.

The Man Who Took Philip's Place. And what of this man who stands in Philip's place? I do not know for sure anything about him. But I know that this is an outline of his probable history. . . . He was born in some small, foreign village; had little schooling and no care, brought himself up and somehow came to this country. Lived on next to nothing, a week working for someone else while he saved the money to go into business for himself. . . . Worked 15 or 18 hours a day getting his business started, lived in a tenement when Philip was living in a comfortable house. He now lives in a nice family house in the city and has eyes on the single house owned by some of Philip's ilk, that is due on the market at a bargain price.

So he stands on the porch of the summer cottage (which by the way was going to wreck and ruin if he bought it and now is neatly repaired and shingled) and surveys the domain and his three neat little children with just pride.

The Old Order And The New. In contrasting the old and the new, says of a town in Connecticut: "A century ago the two contained three foreigners, all paupers (immigration from an old letter). At present Italian workmen form a large part of the population, and the paupers believe are all of pure native stock." Doubtless the last statement is exaggeration. But the truth it is not. Who is there of us who has at least one Philip in his ancestry?

It is understood that conversations will be renewed to-morrow. An official statement was immediately issued by the Ministry of Labour saying that the Government was prepared to render assistance to the coal industry until Spring, by which time an authoritative enquiry into the economic difficulties of the industry as proposed by Mr. Baldwin will have been completed.

ABD-EL-KRIM TO PLAY HIS LAST CARD.
FEZ, July 30. Abd-el-Krim, directing the plans of the rebellious Rifian tribesmen, is getting ready, according to latest indications, to play his last card, in the shape of a drive on the Holy City of Ouzan, about sixty miles northwest of Fez, his objective. The French command, however is doing everything necessary to deal with the expected drive, speeding reinforcements to vital points, posting heavy artillery around Ouzan, constructing defenses and placing squadrons of tanks and armoured cars in various centres.

FIRE AT GLACE BAY.
GLACE BAY, July 30. The store, warehouse and lumber yard of S. Udovin, New Waterford, were destroyed by fire about midnight last night. The loss is estimated at over $20,000 with no insurance, the policy, it is said, having been allowed to lapse only a few weeks ago. The origin of the fire is unknown. The store had been raided by mobs and cleaned out on the night of June 11.

LADY IN JAIL.
TAMPA, Fla., July 30. Lady Grace MacKenzie, who was held in jail here three days on charges preferred by G. E. Bray, real estate operator, has filed a suit for $50,000 damages against Bray, claiming false imprisonment. Lady Grace was charged with giving Bray a bad cheque. She was held in jail until a heavily veiled woman, whose name is unknown made good the cheque.

STRIKING MINERS MAKE TROUBLE.
AMANFORD, Wales, July 30. Armed with bludgeons, eight bands of striking miners, each about 400 strong, visited the collieries in the anthracite district between midnight and six o'clock this morning, intimidating officials and ordering the safety men to withdraw from the pits, despite the advice of the Miners' Federation that they remain at work.

Quidi Vidi Lake Improvements

Public committees usually fall in for a lot of unmerited criticism of their activities but the Regatta Committee of the present day have certainly merited the congratulations of citizens of all classes for the excellent results obtained in their improvements at the lakeside. These have been patent to everyone who has seen them, and those of the public who will view the improvements on Regatta Day will surely appreciate them also. In this connection, as every available dollar at their disposal has been expended, it is certainly a wise move to adopt the idea of a voluntary offering at the park approaches. Citizens are requested to remember that this offering at the gates is not intended to finance usual regatta expenses but will be specifically earmarked for present and future improvements. The ambition of the Regatta Committee to beautify this property and make it an ideal eastern park is certainly a worthwhile one and should receive the whole hearted support of citizens of all classes.

The annual Party in aid of Toppall Parish will take place on Sunday next, August 2nd, at Pownesscourt, Manuels. This year's event will eclipse all others. Preparations have been made to cater to a large number of visitors from town. Train will leave the station at 2.30 p.m. July 30th.

Supreme Court

RELD, BAKING & TRUST CORP. VS. REID NPLD. CO., AND OTHERS.

MORNING SESSION.

MONDAY, July 13.

MR. EMERSON (Continued)—I remember the thing perfectly clearly, because it was the last question that I asked.

MR. HOWLEY—I submit, my Lord, that that evidence does not amount to a statement that Mr. Conroy said it was in the interests of the Reids.

MR. EMERSON—"It turned out so."

KENT, J.—I think Mr. Emerson's comment is fair, Mr. Howley.

MR. EMERSON—Now, this has been heralded forth, my Lord, as being a transaction under which we had not a profit on those shares. Here, again, are we going to take Mr. Howley's view of it, or Mr. Conroy's? Mr. Conroy says that it was a sale, and he admits that on the Pleadings it should have been pleaded as a sale; that it was not made clear on the Pleadings by the fact that there had been excluded—and we can only assume that it had been deliberately excluded—the other document under which the sale was completed. Mr. Conroy further admitted that the consideration for the sale was a very substantial amount, that is to say, one-third of the personal ten per cent commission which the Trust Directors were to obtain from Mr. Reid. Consequently, they were purchasing for a considerable sum a million and a half of the common stock of the Products Corporation, which would have no voting power for seven or ten years. I have forgotten which—it is the period during which Blakstad is to have control regardless of his shareholdings and these shares would have no voting power. Now, my Lord, who well knows, would have no profit earning value for some years after they had been taken over, because, of course, all these industrial enterprises take years to earn profits, and when they are, as in this case, covered by heavy debenture issues, before profits are paid provision is made yearly for the interest and sinking fund of the debenture issues, which for some years as a rule keeps them from earning any profit. Now, we were paying a substantial sum for these shares, and we were simply taking a chance on their being of value in the years to come, and for the purpose of assisting the Reids to get control of the Company when Blakstad's term of control finished. Now, Mr. Conroy admitted, and it cannot be denied, that Blakstad retained his clerical duties.

Out of the twenty-one millions, they would never have a chance of getting a film ousted from power or outvote him on any question that arose. It does not matter to whom Blakstad parted with his shares, if he parted with them to a crossing-sweeper the Reids' position would be improved. It was bound to be improved because there would be a chance of the holder of those shares voting with the Reids and outvoting Blakstad. How much more, therefore, in view of the relationships of the most friendly nature, not only personal friendship but confidence in the ability of these men—how much more so under these conditions was it to Reids' interests that the Trust shareholders should obtain these shares, and in what way can it be suggested for a moment that there was anything improper in a transaction which was passed upon by Mr. R. M. MacDonald, K.C., who had been brought over from Canada by Mr. H. D. Reid to advise him in connection with the matters which were going through, and it was explained to him even Mr. Reid's own statement of the case is that it was explained to him—in the Carlton Hotel, not by J. A. MacDonald, the Trust's Director, but by E. M. MacDonald, K.C., his own solicitor, and when it was explained he signed the documents.

Then, following things in their consecutive order, we have

The attack again upon Mr. Greenwood for his conduct

while in Newfoundland between April 19th and May 6th, 1921. Now, what are the facts? The facts, as admitted by Mr. Conroy, are as soon as the arrived Greenwood and Mr. Reid most probably handed to Mr. Conroy all the documents connected with the Blakstad deal and the personal commission note and the transfer of shares, and it is from that point that we have to date whatever criticism is to be made of Greenwood's conduct. Greenwood's efforts, combined with those of MacDonald and Thomson, had resulted in a deal satisfactory to the Reids having been put through in connection with the Humber, and he comes here, and inside of twenty-four hours he finds that he is in the frostiest atmosphere that man could conceive. Not one of the Reids, not one of their Directors, not one of their associates, has the slightest connection with Greenwood of either a business nature or of a social nature. Now in view of what usually happens when a stranger comes to this country with whom we are well acquainted, I think one of the most noticeable features in connection with the relationships that existed, or were created, rather, within twenty-four hours of Greenwood's arrival as to the manner in which he was treated, possibly by the Reids is one of the strongest comments upon their feelings Greenwood and the time at the Reids for not less than we know that. Here was a man called one another by their names, a man who worked, and the evidence went, up to the estate, he came here, and naturally expect that the Reids do their best to make not only Greenwood's stay pleasant, but also, so as to carry out the amicable relationships that were stable. They did not even pick up on the telephone, neither them. Mr. H. D. Reid says that and that was the reason for it, he was not too ill to carry out his correspondence. If your Lordship will find that he was written to MacDonal on the 23rd of April writing him at considerable length inviting him out here to his connection with the railway, he was not too ill for that. He was asked to write the Trust in connection with the St. John's Light and Power your Lordship will find in Mr. John's Light & Power Company a long letter containing figures, commenting upon the John's Light & Power and the policy of the Trust in regard to it. He was not too ill for that, he was too ill to give the slightest attention to Mr. Greenwood, his personal and so apparently were all his family. Was it any wonder under these circumstances that Greenwood retired into his shell and display that cordial feeling that would expect to find him displaying that time. The man was proud, told us soon as he arrived that he did not want to have anything to do with him, and he accepted that, and again I cannot help feeling that the first time we heard of it when Mr. Conroy goes into the two years after Mr. Greenwood

And then again, my Lord, I call your attention to a piece of conduct which, in spite of the obvious evidence has been a considerable length by my friend, and that is the plea Greenwood with Blakstad endeavoured to bring pressure bear through the Bank of Montreal on the Reids to force them into a position which would be unsatisfactory to them, we well knowing that at the time the Bank of Montreal was a large creditor of the Reids, and such in a position to bring pressure bear. That is contained in paragraph 23(b). "The Plaintiff Company in or about the month of May, 1921, requested the Bank of Montreal (then to the knowledge of the Plaintiff Company a heavy creditor of the Reids Company) to bring pressure bear upon the Reids Company to enter into an agreement with the Plaintiff Company, and then there are other allegations that the said agreement would be to the detriment of the Reids Company, and that we make a profit from that deal in relation to the profit, which we were entitled to receive from the Reids Company. Now, what are the facts? In the first place, the allegation of the Plaintiff Company is that the Reids made on or about May 11th to 12th, 1921, a special commission to J. Cockburn, the Assistant Manager of the Bank of Montreal, Montreal, Well, what is the evidence on the point? Mr. Blakstad is called us and his evidence is, for all practical purposes, confined to that effect. He denies it absolutely, saying it is nothing in it whatever, and would naturally expect to find that we are going to have a deal between Blakstad and Cockburn, not at all. Mr. Cockburn is called Montreal; a special commission is used to take his evidence on this point, and on this point only, and the cost to both parties he is called to say anything about presentment of a word. As a matter of fact, Mr. Lordship will read his evidence, and any pressure was brought to bear on Montreal on Blakstad to induce him to make an offer; and he was a reluctant offerer; a very reluctant offerer. It was only after Mr. Cockburn and Sir Frederick Williams took and all the big guns in the Bank of Montreal in Montreal persuaded that he was induced to make an offer, and even then they had to join with them Mr. E. M. MacDonald, Reid's solicitor, in order to effect the purpose of this offer from Blakstad, and people who were most interested in it and did not need any suggestion or pressure or anything else was the Bank of Montreal. "We were very anxious," said Mr. Cockburn, "anxious that Blakstad should make another offer." The pressure was quite the other way. Neither Blakstad nor Greenwood, nor anybody else, was to get the Bank to bring any pressure; and, as I say, if any pressure was brought to bear, it was to bear upon Blakstad by the Bank to induce him, in spite of the fact that he had received, to make another offer.

Now, my Lord, my learned friend with a great show of indignation waved another flag marked "conducted." In No. 712, which is marked "W.H.G.68," a letter from Greenwood to Colonel Walker, dated the 23rd July, 1921, and dealing with the

Under the terms of the trust, the money was to be paid to the trust for the purpose of carrying out the wishes of the donor. The trust was to be administered by the trustee, who was to have full power to invest the money in any manner he might think fit. The trust was to be a perpetual trust, and the income was to be paid to the trustee for the life of the donor's widow, and then to the donor's children, and then to the donor's grandchildren, and so on.

What is the harm in it? There is no harm in it. It is a perfectly valid trust, and it is perfectly legal. The only reason why it is being challenged is because the trustee has not been able to produce the documents which would prove that the trust was properly created and administered.

ample, the famous cable that was produced like a rabbit out of a top hat on the last day, the very last question. What do we find about that? We have had tremendous conduct, scandalous condition of affairs. Here they were, according to Mr. Howley, doubting-crossing the Reids, Mr. Thomson sitting on the Board of the Reid Newfoundland Company and enjoying their confidence and trust, and at the same time cutting their throats behind their backs. Marvellous. Now, what is the truth? Now on April 22nd, 1920—I shall have to refer to this matter again, my Lord, but I think I ought to deal with it from its atmospheric point of view—on April 22nd, 1920, the Reid Company called to the Trust, "Suggest a five per cent. commission on the Gander deal with Rothermere," and on the 24th the Trust replies objecting and saying they want ten per cent. and they say, "Cable sent Thomson on matter." Now, there is a clear intimation to the Reids that we are calling Thomson in connection with this matter; in other words, in effect we say to Reids, "See what is our message to Thomson." There is nothing hidden about that. We could quite easily have sent this message to Thomson on the 25th of April, "H.B.T.69" without telling the Reids anything, without telling them we were sending it, and if Thomson, couple of years, being ousted from their position and the company wound up by Reid's nominees, and then there would be no action. My learned friend suggests that this matter was taken up first by Cousens and Hudson in August, 1921, when they were here in St. John's, by a personal application to the Reid Company for information as to why the relations between the Trust and Reids were not as they should be. Now the first letter starts, "In reply to your confidential enquiry," which Mr. Conroy tells me was verbal. Now did Cousens and Hudson at this time know that the Reid Company has ceased to employ the Trust? In fact, it was not true; they had not ceased to employ the

We would wire to Thomson a secret message which would probably have been destroyed by tearing it up and putting one-half in the waste-paper basket and the other half taken away to be destroyed elsewhere. Instead of that, we wire to tell them we are calling to Thomson, and then Thomson hands them the cable. Again, a matter which we only hear about on the very last day, when my learned friend produced it from his wallet.

Now, my Lord, all these efforts on the part of my learned friend to create an atmosphere of intrigue and dishonesty on the part of the Trust, I submit, completely refuted, not only by the oral testimony, but by the documents themselves; and, in so far

Disturbing Noises

Several complaints have been received lately of the noises in the city from one source or another, and yesterday a correspondent registered a protest against the nerve shattering blasts from ships' sirens which at all hours of the night disturb the silence and awaken people from their sleep.

In Southampton, in the Mersey, or in the Clyde, or any other large seaport, if the same practice were followed by the ships constantly coming and going, the din would be incessant and people would be driven to distraction, but beyond a short blast or the hoot of a tender's whistle the steamers come and go in clear weather in comparative silence.

Another cause of complaint is the motor cyclist, who, in spite of the regulation which forbids it (or at least we believe it is forbidden), accelerates his speed by means of the cut out, and roars his way over the hills of the city regardless of the discomfort he causes to those in the houses that he passes.

One of the chief causes of complaint is the motorist who exercises little judgment in the matter of sounding his horn. Not infrequently he stops his car outside a house, in order to attract the attention of someone inside, and regardless of others who have no interest in his existence, he makes an infernal racket until his wants are attended to.

Of late the midnight hour has been marked by explosions of dynamite in connection with the operations at the dock, and while this noise is unavoidable under the circumstances, we wonder if the shots could not be fired at a time when the noise would be less disturbing. The residents in this section even in ordinary times have their rest broken at all hours by the constant coming and going of the trains, and at present with the working trains employed in the dockyard hard at it day and night, a quiet hour is altogether out of the question. The most disturbing factor is the train whistle, and it has been suggested that it might be used considerably less and without loss of effect, if, instead of the long drawn out blast a warning was given by a short hoot.

Before St. John's becomes known as the city of dreadful night, steps should be taken by the authorities to lessen the evil, but an appeal to the responsible individuals will probably be the most effective way of checking it. We do not believe it is due to so much disregard for the comfort of others as to thoughtlessness, and if they would take the trouble to remember that a night's rest means everything to the hard worker, and that in many homes sick people are trying to find relief in sleep from their suffering, we feel certain that they would exercise every care and consideration.

Star Raceboat Launched

With fitting ceremony the raceboat built for the Star of the Sea Society was launched and christened at Quidi Vidi Lake last evening in the presence of a large number of friends and supporters who assembled early at the Lake Side to witness the event. About 7:30 p.m. a formal presentation of the boat was made at the Curling Rink by Sir Michael Cashin the donor who said that in making the gift to the Star of the Sea Fishermen's Association, he felt a pride in being a fisherman himself. He congratulated Mr. Robert Sexton the builder on his workmanship and wished the Society much success in the coming regatta. The president of the Society being Mr. Peter Cashin, son of Sir Michael, the duty of accepting the gift devolved on the vice-President, Mr. Joseph Murphy, who in a brief speech extended the thanks of the Association to Sir Michael and Lady Cashin for their interest in its affairs.

The boat was then shouldered by some 50 members of the Society and headed by the Star flag, pink, white and green, with the G.C.O. Band in advance, she was born to the Lakoside where she was placed on the water with very little delay. Pres. P. J. Cashin, of the Star of the Sea Society, called on his mother, Lady Cashin, to perform the christening ceremony, which she very graciously did amidst the cheers of those assembled. The new boat was named Star of the Sea. Rev. Fr. O'Callaghan, P.P., of St. Francis Parish, Outer Cove, then blessed and dedicated the boat, after which the hymn "Hail Queen of Heaven," the Ocean Star" was sung, accompanied by the band. Mr. Arthur Hiscock, President of the Regatta Committee, then made a brief speech, congratulating the Society on the new boat and wishing it much success this and following years.

Mr. Peter Cashin President of the Society in a well worded address outlined the history of the organization which was founded by fishermen for fishermen and their sons. Reference was made to its first President, Capt. Wm. Ryan father of Councillor Ryan and the second President, Capt. Wm. Jackman. President Cashin felt that in view of its past history it was only right and proper that the crew to have the first privilege of a spin in the boat should be fishermen and he accordingly called on the Outer Cove crew to row. As the boat hauled away from the wharf and circled round she was greeted by cheers from those on shore and also from those who were at the Blue Peter boat house on the south side of the pond. Robert Sexton the builder received many congratulations on his work from those who watched her glide over the water to the powerful strokes of the fishermen.

Rev. S. M. Stewart Loses All His Effects

SHIP CRUSHED BY ICE IN UNGAVA BAY

The Rev. S. M. Stewart, Ungava Missionary, who left here on June 26, for his mission, has experienced a very hard trip. He left Montreal by the Hudson Bay steamer Bayeskimio. During the voyage through Ungava Bay, the ship was caught in an Arctic ice floe and was crushed to destruction last Thursday. A wireless message to Montreal states that the crew and passengers underwent severe hardships from an Arctic storm and ice, but were fortunately rescued. All of the cargo taken by the ship was a total loss, among which were the Missionary's supplies and personal effects.—Western Star.

(The many friends of the devoted missionary will keenly sympathize with him in his loss, which under such circumstances is nothing short of a very serious disaster and means indescribable hardship and discomfort. Ed.)

Injured Through Fall

It was reported to the police that on Wednesday night a young man was returning to his home, at the North Battery, he was set upon and badly beaten by parties unknown. The investigation by the police discloses that the facts were not as stated and that the young man, who is of a nervous temperament, fell in a fit and slightly bruised himself. Dr. Macpherson, who was called in attendance, could find no marks of the alleged beating.

Music is supplied by a modern Wurlitzer Orchestra Organ which cost about $5,000. Twenty-seven people comprise the Company which is managed by Messrs. B. W. Rodgers and W. Hamilton. FOUNDATION FUND FOR CHARITY.

BUFFALO, July 31.—William J. Connors, Sr., publisher of the Courier and Daily Star, has announced the creation of a $1,000,000 foundation fund for charity. Later he hopes to make it $5,000,000. VIOLENT SCENE IN THE REICHSTAG.

BERLIN, July 31.—The Reichstag during the last few days has been the scene of heated encounters on the question of church taxes. Violent clashes between the Communist and Centreists in which many blows were exchanged by members necessitated the repeated suspension of meetings. Eight or nine fainting spells occurred daily, and one deputy, a physician, is kept busy rendering first aid.

EFFORTS TO AVERT STRIKE.

LONDON, July 31.—Owners of coal mines have withdrawn for a fortnight their notice of the expiration of the present working agreement and thus the strike of miners set for midnight to-night is believed to have been averted. The owners' decision, announced officially this morning, will permit the necessary discussion to discover a way in which temporary assistance offered to the mining industry by the Government can be given. At 11:30 o'clock this morning, however, the Mining Association stated officially that the question of withdrawing the expiration notice was still under consideration and no decision had been reached.

BRITISH COAL STRIKE SETTLED.

LONDON, July 31.—The crisis in the coal industry which threatened a strike of miners beginning at midnight to-night has been settled. The announcement of the settlement was made through the Press Association shortly before four o'clock this afternoon.

PEPYS BEHIND THE SCENES

July 30th.—At the office of the Telegram this morning, the editor told me how he has 6 letters from irate females that do protest against the remark I did make in my Journal yesterday that woman could not swim under water since they are unable to keep their mouths shut. Indeed, he told me how if I am more successful in expressing the truth in the future my life will be in danger. This day in discourse with Belle, who do have some knowledge of Bell Island and do tell me divers things that I did not know before and which do greatly interest me. Among other things, he says how the 6 steamers that I did see in the bay were not the same each day being that 3 are loading every day and another 3 do come to take their place. In all, 20,000 tons of ore is being loaded each day. He do tell me also how the Germans do prefer our ore to the Swedish because its of a lower grade and the by-products do give a quantity of fertilizer which is much valued there. I do learn too how it is like that Mr. Wolvin, the President of Bessemer, a step which is like to end the present strike at Sydney. This afternoon much rayne and indeed I have never seen such heavy showers as there have been these few days past. I do remain in the country all the evening and do play a little at Bridge with poor success.

Last Night's Fracas

About 11 o'clock last night a disturbance took place between four men on Barter's Hill, which attracted a large number of people to the scene. It appears that the men had been drinking rather freely during the evening and several hot words were exchanged, with the result that it ended up in a big row. During the melee house utensils were used as weapons and when 2 had reached a very alarming stage, and shouts of murder could be heard, the police arrived. The constables forced their way through the crowd to the house and put an end to the trouble. Constable Whelan, upon making a search of the premises placed a man under arrest, but the others, including three women, had made their escape by jumping through a rear window. One of the policemen, assisting in the raid, was struck on the head with a bottle, and received a nasty cut. Shortly after the prisoner had been conveyed to the lockup, he was released on the payment of a deposit, to appear when called upon.

In the meantime the detective staff are making an investigation into the cause of the disturbance and several arrests will likely follow.

Trap Berth Case Settled Amicably

A trap berth case between fishermen of Torbay, which was postponed yesterday in the Magistrate's Court, was settled amicably this forenoon. The plaintiffs, whose trap berths were on either side of where the defendant had his trap, claimed that the latter had his trap set nearer than the law allowed and as a result owed them about 100 quintals of fish. The center man, it appears, used two traps with leaders joined in such a way that the inside one had its door further inshore than the traps on either side. The outer trap faced inshore and inclined so that the fish coming along were diverted into it in much greater quantities than in the others.

Charged With Violation of Traffic Act

A motorist appeared before court this morning at the instance of Constable Pitcher, and was charged with failing to obey the traffic officer's signal, at the junction of Parade Street and LeMarchant Road. The accused, in his evidence, swore that he was proceeding south along Freshwater Road. Near the junction, his view was obstructed by a motor car while the traffic officer was standing behind two poles. When the defendant did see the signal the car was brought up in the centre of the road. This statement was positively corroborated by the officer who took action. The Judge was satisfied with the explanation given, and discharged the defendant upon payment of costs.

CONSERVATIVE LEADER ON THE WARPATH.
STONEWALL, Man., July 30. A Conservative leader is justly criticized as by any other method. The Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, opening his campaign before an audience to-day and referring to what he termed the policy of the Government which forced Canadians to cross the States to the United States for employment. Referring to the possible election, he said, "they cannot dissolve Parliament too soon, and they can't get to the people too soon to suit the temper of the Opposition."

NEGOTIATIONS FOR SETTLEMENT OF FRENCH DEBT BREAK DOWN.
LONDON, July 30. The Daily Telegraph says preliminary negotiations for the settlement of the French war debt to Great Britain broke down Friday. The French offer, although better than they made this morning, was deemed so inadequate by the British Treasury as not to warrant serious consideration from the standpoint of the British taxpayers. The Daily Telegraph, Great Britain will probably prefer to wait the outcome of the Franco-United States funding conversations before resuming parleys.

Forty-Six Years in the Service of the Public—The Evening Telegram

Investigation of Salmon Industry Resources

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—Having had Mr. Chambers reveal to us the fact that, taking Salmonier River as a sample, our rivers are the resort of very large schools of salmon, and that this is a natural resource for an exceedingly great industry for Newfoundland, it behooves us to proceed in the proper scientific way to take specific surveys of our salmon rivers, having due regard for their widths, depths and heights of falls, and their general adaptability to the encouragement of the largest possible salmon run. The spawning grounds should be investigated and charted and a fair and proper estimate made by an expert or experts such as Mr. Chambers of the quantities of salmon frequenting all these rivers.

It is the proper time just now to start this working going, and we agree with Mr. W. A. Munn in the principle that the most effective service that Mr. Chambers, a salmon expert, can render to Newfoundland is in the direction of his expert knowledge. Here is a willing helper who we believe would not be attracted by fees and whose sterling qualities and expert knowledge are away above what may be bought in the usual condition of things.

Mr. Munn's idea is that he should be allowed to carry out the work started, that is to visit the salmon canning factories and assist canners by his special knowledge. This would be immensely valuable, but we feel that having discovered the much greater fact of the industrial possibilities of our salmon rivers, Mr. Chambers could render us a much greater service if he could visit as many as possible of our principal rivers and make such report as he can and recommendations for the more exact survey and other points that would seem important to him, so that we would have some definite data on which to base some programme of development.

Here is a definite direction in which it is the bounden duty of the Government to proceed with real development work in collecting definite information and data of which proper records should be made and kept so that they may be available to the general public on demand.

Here is a great industry, as can be seen from the fact that Mr. Chambers estimates (it is reported and we hope truly) that Salmonier River can support an industry of forty thousand cases without depleting the supply. We surely have ten such rivers. Now this is not like road work or rebuilding the dock which is only work for one season and is entirely on capital account for which the taxpayers have to find the money. This salmon industry will go on employing thousands of people for the next half century or more without having cost the taxpayers one cent except the obtaining of sufficient information upon which to base the industry. It will do more, in that it will supply an earning power from which the taxpayers can derive the incomes to pay the high costs of Government.

It is upon the knowledge of our industrial possibilities in a great many other directions that we base our estimate that at this very moment we have employment enough in home manufacturing industries to the extent of at least ten thousand workers more than at present employed.

Yours sincerely,
H. HERMAN ARCHIBALD.

Picnic at the Asylum

A picnic for the patients of the Insane Asylum took place in the grounds yesterday afternoon and proved very enjoyable. A series of games such as football, tug of war, racing were participated in, and watched with keen interest by the patients, more than two hundred of whom were assembled in the grounds. Those whose condition did not permit their being allowed out watched the proceedings from the windows. In addition to the games dancing was indulged in to music furnished by a brass band specially gotten up by W. Ring, the veteran musician. Amongst the guests present were his Lordship the Bishop of Newfoundland and Mrs. W. S. Monroe, wife of the Premier. Matron Field with her nurses, Messrs. Butler and Holden with their assistants left nothing undone for the comfort and enjoyment of those under their care. With good things to eat provided in plenty and the music, which was mostly old familiar tunes, there was evidence on all sides that the patients thoroughly enjoyed the event.

Before buying China or Earthenware look at the stock which Mrs. Butler has, in the store on the corner of Job and Hamilton Streets.—July 31, 1925.

Municipal Matters

Within the borders of every Municipality, and, indeed, wherever a body or group of human beings is collected together within a small congested area, there are various matters which have to be attended to, to provide for the comfort, convenience and health of the community.

It has always been found necessary to choose from amongst the citizens a few representative men (and in some cases women) whose duty it is to see that the various necessary measures are carried out with due regard to economy and necessity.

Chief amongst the long list of matters coming under the head of Public Utilities are: 1. matters appertaining to the health of the community.

(a) We must have efficient means of disposal of sewage and refuse.

(b) We must see that a pure and generous supply of water is provided.

Now these matters are looked after by our Municipal Council, although the methods in use are rather antiquated and not altogether efficient. However, there are other utilities, the operation of which is a source of income to those operating them. Amongst these I mention:

(a) Electric light and power. Gas light and power.

(b) Public Transport.

(c) Telephone system.

These are not looked after and operated by our representatives on our behalf. Why not? It is obvious that a large profit is going into private pockets as a result of private ownership of these privileges. It is equally obvious that the lesser public utilities which have not the same profit-making capabilities must go by the board for want of sufficient funds to keep them going. Where are our Municipal Child Welfare centres, our public amusements, libraries, reading room, gymnasiums, etc.? Where are our educational utilities to help the rising generation in Technical Instruction, in Arts and Crafts, Domestic Science, etc.? Where are our Public Lavatories wash houses, baths, etc., which we see in other cities? Where are our housing schemes to improve our city and make it a better and brighter place in which to live, and where are our markets? Here is where the profits of the obviously money-making utilities would come in.

The St. John's of to-day is a small drab town with an almost total absence of local pride, lack of helpful neighbourliness and no corporate life. In my opinion the owning by the citizens themselves of the utilities essential to up-to-date comfort, would lead to a more wholesome public opinion and more uplifting forms of communal enterprise.

When some great catastrophe occurs such as war, or fire or flood our community can find without undue effort sufficient funds for carrying on.

In many cities the local authorities have seen the folly of allowing dividend-hunting companies to monopolize the centre of the chief arteries of the city in order to secure maximum profits for minimum service, and so electric cars were put on the rails by the public bodies. This has resulted in improved and cheaper service—the public is admirably served and a margin of profit remains. What is true of street cars is practically repeated in the case of gas and electric light, etc. Indeed the wider and surer of public utilities, the greater is the justification for extending them, and the more insistent is the call for the local authorities to be up and doing.

It is high time that our Municipal authorities paid some attention to the insistent demands of the public for improved and more up-to-date methods of milk production and handling, for more modern and efficient methods of disposal of sewage and refuse, for better housing conditions for the working man and his family and the various other details asked for, which will tend to improve our surroundings and give us pride in our city. The citizen of to-morrow depends upon the outlook and vision of to-day.

The citizens of to-day and in the past are to blame for mixing Municipal matters with politics. They should never allow politics (with its accompanying Sectarianism, etc.) to sway them in their choice of suitable men who have the special knowledge and ability to raise our city from its pitiable rut of unprogressiveness and apathy in which it has for so long lain.

Trust, and yet these gentlemen are supposed to have made a confidential enquiry from Mr. Conroy as to why the Reids had ceased to employ the Trust. They heard it here, of course, and they heard it from the Reids.

MR. HOWLEY—There is no evidence.

MR. EMERSON—Quite obviously, MR. HOWLEY—I submit there is not only no evidence to sustain it, but there is nothing to base an inference on.

MR. EMERSON—It is quite clear, and it is quite clear from the tone of this letter of Mr. Conroy's. And then what happens? Mr. Conroy completely misrepresents the situation to them, a leading King's Counsel at our Bar, the general counsel for the Reid Company, a company two of whose Directors were Directors of the Trust, and he says "that in the course of the negotiations conducted with Blakstad through the Trust we learnt that Thomson, Greenwood and MacDonald had induced our President to sign an agreement undertaking to pay them a Personal Commission Note on the transaction over and above the commission which we had agreed with the Trust." Now, what does that mean? It is quite obvious that the suggestion is that we had got H. D. Reid, "Induced him" as Mr. Conroy says, in a manner which was unfair, in a manner which was dishonest, to sign that ten per cent. commission note.

The facts are the reverse, as Mr. Conroy admitted. The matter had been discussed in February; the amount and the terms had been settled by Mr. Reid's brother-in-law, Mr. Paterson, a solicitor of Glasgow; the form of the agreement had been sent out here to the Reid Newfoundland Company, and again we find that this important matter had not been attended to, and not even been read by any of the Directors here, and the Trust are blamed for that. It was signed in April, two months later, after the Reid Board and its individual directors had full notice of it, so far as the Trust was concerned. In what way did we improperly induce Mr. Reid to sign that? The second thing he tells these people is that these gentlemen had also entered into an agreement with Blakstad by which each of them was to receive $500,000 shares in the Newfoundland Products Corporation and they were to give him one-third of their extra commission as above. Well, that transaction has been explained. It has been admitted by Mr. Conroy as being a transaction in the Reid interests. And then the third matter upon which Mr. Conroy comments is that a message was also received from the Trust "requesting me to obtain an option on certain timber lands, which message in parts reads," and then he quotes the message No. 253, "H.B.T.42." Well, that transaction has been explained, and explained, I submit, completely. And then he goes on "Up to this time the Board had reposed implicit confidence in Thomson, Greenwood and MacDonald and he believed they were working in the combined interests of the Trust and the Reid Newfoundland Company," and so on, and then he encloses copies of the telegraph messages referred to. Now, Mr. Conroy, without making any enquiries, without giving any serious thought to the truth, has misrepresented the facts to Couzens and Hudson, and it is from that date that we have the trouble with the Trust preference share-holders. Then we find Mr. Conroy in correspondence with Jackson and meeting him, apparently, over in London, from which of course we have unfortunately not got any evidence as to what he told him, or anything else, and my Lord, the thing drags on until May, 1923, when the meeting of the share-holders of the Trust takes place, and for the meeting MacDonald, Greenwood and Thomson had acquired their control under their option, and they of course protect themselves by the exercise of that control. Now it is a noticeable fact that at that meeting these revolting share-holders held proxies from Mr. H. D. Reid and Mr. R. G. Reid.

MR. HOWLEY—It does not appear. MR. EMERSON—It appears in the Minutes. But where is the correspondence that contains the sending over of these proxies? Why has it not been disclosed. I asked for all correspondence in connection with this meeting, and the correspondence on that point is very noticeably absent.

MR. HOWLEY—Permit me to say, as I think I have already said, that every shred of correspondence or documents of any kind that we had or had knowledge of was disclosed by us; the most private letters, letters that might be the subject of privilege, our accounts and everything else, were disclosed.

MR. EMERSON—There are some other messages to which I shall have to refer later on. However, for the moment, whether your files are complete or not—it strikes me that your files must be in a terrible mess, and for a company handling sixty million dollars worth of property to have their files in a mess of this kind is only another reflection upon the manner in which the business is being done.

GERALD S. DOYLE, Sole Agent.

Now, my Lord, what is behind this message of the Reids of June seventh? What is behind this? My learned friend endeavours to excuse the message, which is "C.O.N.C.57" by saying that it was sent on June 7th, several days after the meeting had been held. That may be true. It may be that he disclosed his exact wishes too late for them to be expressed to the meeting, but there is no doubt as to what he intended and what he wanted done, "I wish Trust liquidated and assets distributed forthwith." Now how could the Trust be liquidated and its assets distributed forthwith with this suit pending? Now what is the bribe? The bribe is "Will undertake to return double the original paid up capital if and when the Humber scheme is floated." Now who are the people to receive this munificent gift? They are the Preference share-holders obviously, because there was practically no capital original paid up amongst the common share-holders, a few hundred pounds at the most; and here was Mr. Reid wanting this company liquidated, and its assets distributed forthwith, and if you manage that for me I will give you two pounds for every one pound you put into the company. That this was a conspiracy on the part of the Reid Company to stifle this action I think is quite apparent.

Now, my Lord, I think I have dealt with all those points which my learned friend has raised with a view, as I see, to create an atmosphere of distrust on the part of the Court against my clients; and the only act that the Reids apparently could have been guilty of, and I think it is amply proven, and I think that, speaking in general terms, the tables are turned so far as any suggestion of misconduct on the part of either principal or agent is concerned; and bearing that in mind—and it must be borne in mind where a conflict of evidence arises—I shall now proceed to deal with the first case in which a conflict does arise, and that is in connection with the oral agreement.

Now in dealing with the oral agreement your Lordship will no doubt bear in mind that it is alleged to have been made in Montreal in December of 1919 and January, 1920, and its terms roughly are that the Trust were appointed agents for the Reid interests and were to receive ten per cent. on the realisation of the property. That puts it in general terms, but the formation of the agreement is very intimately associated with other matters which are dealt with both verbally in Montreal and by correspondence with England and verbally in England between MacDonald and R. G. Reid—on the one hand, we have the definite evidence of Thomson that H. D. Reid agreed in Montreal verbally in the presence of Greenwood, I think, although on that point I am speaking from memory; at any rate he agreed with Thomson that the Trust was to be agents in Europe for the Reid Company and that they were to get a commission of ten per cent. In addition to that we have MacDonald's evidence that R. G. Reid told him that this had been settled in Montreal. If that story, or those two stories, are not true, they are rank perjuries; they are manufactured out of the whole cloth. There can be no question about it. It is very unfortunate, as I pointed out before, that when we have this conflict existing Greenwood is dead. Now Thomson's evidence on the point is quite clear. In the first place, on Page 19 of the afternoon evidence of June 15th, Thomson is telling about the numerous talks which were had between the Reids and Greenwood and himself in Montreal during this period, and I think your Lordship will see when you consider this evidence and another reference that I shall give you in a moment, that the very circumstantiality of it supports it. (Reads evidence from "We discussed the situation as regards the railway"). You can almost see these men sitting down in the Reid offices there, not for the purpose of drawing up any hard and binding contract, but settling in general terms the method whereby the Trust was to operate the Reid properties; and your Lordship has to bear in mind that at this time Reid was endeavouring to persuade Thomson to come with him to Newfoundland. It is also clear from the correspondence in the early stages in the fall of 1919—I think in a letter of Greenwood to H. D. Reid—that Thomson was not prepared to be associated with the Reid Company at that time except in a nominal way, and the first intimation that we have that Thomson is going to join the Reids is that message from Greenwood to MacDonald in late December, No. 39, "W.H.G.S." dated the 22nd of December, "Thomson likely join Reid. Does your letter November 18 express your mind." Now that would be one of the things that would be discussed. Then Thomson says they discussed the railway, a most pressing situation and a situation that Reid wanted Thomson to come down here to help him settle. It is idle for Mr. Reid to say they did not discuss the railway. Of course they discussed the railway in all its moods and tenses. It was the most pressing situation that he had to deal with. There was no prospect that the Trust was going to produce any substantial sum of money to relieve their financial distress within a short time, and the matter of the railway was discussed. Mr. Reid says it was not. Of course it was discussed, otherwise how could he persuade Thomson to come down. Then on the same page I asked Thomson "Did you discuss only the railway? (Reads the evidence from "Did you discuss only the railway?" down to "minor details"). Now is not that a very natural position? Reid had, as it were, to start with, appointed Thomson his agent in connection with these properties. Thomson had taken these properties over to London to float. In the process of doing that he had become associated with MacDonald and Greenwood and formed this trust for the purpose of floating these properties. It was evidence, therefore, that these properties should be dealt with by the Trust and by the Trust alone. Now we have had a certain amount of talk about the Trust dealing in options. It is quite true that the Trust could take options, and at this time its only authority apparently was to deal on the basis of Thomson's letter of November 5th in options, but in passing might I point out that Thomson's letter of November 5th is not worth the paper it is written on, in law. An option has to be for consideration or under seal, and it was neither. Now, after discussing it with Mr. Parker, who I presume saw that point, this letter No. 32, of November 18th, in regard to the Trust's agency, was written, and it was in Montreal, the hint to the contrary of my learned friend notwithstanding. Your Lordship will note, I hope, that No. 39, which is dated 22nd December, 1919, is a statement from Greenwood—or rather a question from Greenwood—to MacDonald, "Does your letter November 18 express your mind?" and MacDonald's reply, which is No. 44, W.H.G.10, "My letter November 18th your cable December 22nd. Would like Reid hold "quarter our shares Trust," and so forth. That was sent on the 23rd of December. That letter was in Montreal; it was in the possession of Greenwood and Thomson and it was shown to Reid. Why should it not be shown to Reid? Nonsense. There was no mystery about it. Here they were exchanging cables between one another about a letter. The letter was supposed to form the basis of arrangements between the Reids and the Trust. Why should it not be shown to Reids! If your Lordship can think of any reason why it should not be shown to Reid, then there might be something to be said for the contention that they never saw it; but I say it was there; it was an open communication intended for Reid's perusal, and that Reid saw it. Now on the conclusion of Mr. Thomson's evidence your Lordship called my attention to the fact, not in so many words, but by inference, that I had not elicited from Mr. Thomson specific evidence on what took place in connection with that letter, and I then put one or two specific questions to Mr. Thomson that will be found on Page 9 of the Morning Session of June 13th; "Q.—Going back to that letter, Mr. Thomson, I think you have already told us that that letter was shown to Mr. Reid?" "A.—Yes." "Q.—And formed the basis of discussions on these matters between your arrival and, we will say, the 23rd of December or thereabouts?"

"A.—Yes." "Q.—Now, when you say that letter was in general agreed to, you explain what you mean?" "A.—The principles as set forth in the letter were agreed to, with the exception of the details relating to the payment by Mr. Reid to MacDonald and Greenwood in London, which is in that letter which gave the Reids voting power on an interest in the common stock. "Q.—(5) Payment to W.H.G. to devote the whole of the development of the Trust for two years?" "That was left. The management about that, I am sure, was left for decision after arrival in London. He was Major MacDonald. He did not know the men that were organizing that. That was afterwards." "Q.—(6) Agreement to procure £10,000 for carrying on the work?" "A.—Yes." "Q.—(7) No sales for dealing in any of Reid's properties?" "A.—Yes, that was by the consent of Mr. Reid." "Q.—(8) The share of H.B.T.?" "Now, my Lord, there is a statement from the Reids on these points were the exceptions outlined were agreed to. Now Reid says? Mr. Reid says that letter has to decide between which in itself causes amount of surprise. Mr. Reid did not have to decide between Mr. Reid and the Trust, but that he agreed to most of its terms. ...and I decided, quite apart from the fact that it was better to get the situation co-ordinated a little more, and we proposed we should give them an option on the shares we held and the option we held over ordinary shares in the case of Green's Trust.

Q—Will you take that letter by paragraph, and tell us what occurred in regard to each section there? The letter begins, After consulting Mr. Parker and considering the position of the Trust and Mr. Reid, the most effective method of selling or arranging the development of Mr. Reid's interests in Europe would be as follows: By the way, the Mr. Parker there is Mr. Parker, of Parkers & Hammond, is it not?

A—Yes.

Q—(1) Mr. Reid to appoint the Trust as his agents in Europe to handle all his properties. That was agreed to?

A—Yes.

Q—(2) Mr. Reid to give a Schedule of the properties and the prices which he would sell?

A—Yes.

Q—(3) Ten per cent. to be paid to the Trust on sales.

A—Yes.

Q—(4) Mr. Reid to agree on any additional price the Trust would make on resale?

A—Yes, that would be when options were exercised.

Q—(5) Payment by Mr. Reid to Mr. Reid and W.H.G. for agreeing to devote the whole of their time to the development of his properties for two years?

A—That was left. There was a discussion about that, and the final agreement was that that would be agreed to after Mr. Reid arrived in London. He did not meet Mr. Reid, he did not know the men that were associated with him. He did not know about the organization. That was left until afterwards.

Q—(6) Agreement by the Trust to procure £10,000 for expense of carrying on the work of development?

A—Yes.

Q—(7) No sales or arrangements for dealing in any way with Mr. Reid's properties would be agreed to by the Trust without the previous consent of Mr. H. D. Reid?

A—Yes.

Q—(8) The shares of the Directors, H.B.T., J.M.D. and W.H.G. which control the Company would be put in trust with voting power to H.D.R. on all questions affecting his interests or properties?

A—No, that was changed as I explained.

Now, my Lord, there was an exhibit statement from Thomson that all the points were discussed, and with the exceptions outlined by him they were agreed to. Now, what does Mr. Reid say? Mr. Reid says that he saw that letter, and your Lordship has to decide between a statement which in itself causes a considerable amount of surprise in one's mind that Mr. Reid did not see that letter—you have to decide between that statement by Mr. Reid and the statement by Mr. Thomson that he not only saw the letter, but that he agreed to it, or agreed to most of its terms. Now when your Lordship is deciding that you have to decide whether Thomson is lying or whether Mr. Reid, as upon most matters which are material to this issue, does not remember.

It was almost tragic to hear those two men, respectively President and Vice-President of an organization, as I said a moment ago involving sixty million dollars, and to hear them under cross-examination on matters involving hundreds of thousands of dollars to themselves personally and millions of dollars to their shareholders, and the whole formula was, "I do not remember. I suppose so; I do not think so," and it was matters which there could be no dispute and there was no dispute in the action, but matters of vital interest to themselves personally and to their companies; and they do not remember. They do not remember so well that Mr. H. D. Reid says, "I remember I did not see this letter." It is about the only letter that he does not remember, letters which were drafted for him by Mr. Conroy and signed by him, apparently without reading; letters drafted by members of the Trust for him to sign, signed apparently without reading; on these his memory is quite fertile. "I remember that letter, I remember sending it, I remember receiving it" or as the case may be; but about this letter which must have been shown to him, which obviously was shown to him, quite apart from whether he agreed to the points or not, he remembers that he did not see it. Now, my Lord, was the question of agency agreed to in Montreal? We have, as I say, in the first place, this letter No. 32, which brought up the question of agency. This Trust, while it was in fact the creation of MacDonald's mind and had been created by him as a method of carrying on this partnership with Thomson and Greenwood, was, so far as H. D. Reid is concerned, the creature of Thomson in this sense, that Thomson in the exercise of the powers which Reid had given him over these properties had consented to the formation of the Trust, whose principal business was to handle these properties. In other words, this was the answer of H. B. Thomson to the question as to what he had done. What have you done? "I have made arrangements under which a Trust has been formed in London by Hector MacDonald, which will handle your properties." That would be the answer of H. B. Thomson as to what he had done. And that would be the knowledge which H. D. Reid would have of the position? Now H. D. Reid says, "That is all very well, but Thomson gave options." Where is the evidence that H. D. Reid knew that Thomson gave options? He has not shown that he remembers seeing the letter of November 5, 1919, under which the options were given. There is no evidence that at this time he knew of the existence of this letter. He has not stated that Thomson told him he had given options, and neither has R. G. Reid, so that their knowledge at this time was that Thomson had created a Trust in London to handle the properties, and we got the thing gloriously defined by Mr. R. G. Reid, who said that they held options, which means that properties were handed over to them to sell. Now, if there is one thing that an option is not it is that a property is handed over to a man to sell. An option is an opportunity given to a person to buy, and R. G. Reid thought they were operating under options, which gave them the right to sell and to sell only; and he follows that up by saying in regard to the Little Bay Mine that they were operating on a ten per cent. option. Now, what could be clearer? Mr. R. G. Reid thought, according to his own definition of an option, that these properties had been handed over to the Trust for the Trust to sell for Reid on a ten per cent. option; that is, on a ten per cent. commission, and nothing else. Then look at No. 40, which is "H.B.T." and we have Thomson saying in so many words to Reid that the Trust should be agents in Europe. Mr. R. G. Reid says, in view of that letter, and only because that letter is before him, my Lord, that the question of agency was discussed but not agreed to. He cannot say that it was shelved; he cannot say that it was discussed and that it was not agreed to. All he says is that it was not agreed to, but he remembers that it was discussed, but he does not remember that it was discussed that the Trust was to undertake to procure £10,000 by the sale of preferred shares.

KENT, J.—I thought Mr. Reid was referring to sole agency when he answered that question. That is my recollection.

MR. EMERSON—Perhaps your Lordship is right. It is quite immaterial to my point. I will accept the correction, my Lord.

KENT, J.—I may be wrong, but that is my recollection.

MR. EMERSON—But if that is the position, my Lord, he only recollects it as a result of this letter. I am, as it were, testing his memory as to matters which were discussed. Now he does not remember any discussion on the question of the Trust and the procuring of £10,000 by the sale of preferred shares, a matter of considerable importance, because surely the Reid would want the Trust to provide some money for the running of this concern, especially as they apparently were going to be called upon to pay some themselves. Now he does not remember that until I call it to his attention at the bottom of the letter. He has been concentrating his recollection on the question of agency, or sole agency. Well now, my Lord, I hope that your Lordship's suggestion is correct and that Mr. Reid was talking of sole agency, because there is not a single word in the correspondence from the Trust suggesting the words "sole agents," or in the correspondence to the Trust, and it would be a remarkable thing if that matter should have been discussed and recollecting by Mr. Reid in those terms and for Mr. Thomson not to remember it and for it not to appear in the letter No. 40 which Mr. Thomson says was written and received by Mr. H. D. Reid on the 23rd, of December.

MR. HUNT—Is it not in the Pleadings?

MR. EMERSON—Yes, but surely he does not recollect it from the Pleadings.

MR. HUNT—I was wondering on what your claim for sole agency is based.

MR. EMERSON—I do not see that there is any question of sole agents or agents. It is not as if we were agents to whom a property might be given to sell. We are, if not the creature of Reid in formation, if we are not their creation, we are at least their child by adoption, and we were taken over by them and practically told to do nothing else but Reid's business; "Be our agents," and under these circumstances it must mean sole agents.

Now the question of the credibility of the witnesses—I use the term in its best sense, the reliability of the witnesses—depends upon their conduct in a large measure. What was the position at this time in regard to MacDonald? MacDonald had written this letter of November 18th, No. 32, and in that letter had laid it down that MacDonald was to be the sole agent for the whole of the properties which were to be made to Greenwood.

of their time to the development of Reid's properties for two years. There is no question about that. That is a cold statement or demand which MacDonald insisted upon as part of the agreement before he would work. Now apparently that proposition is still unsettled when on the 22nd of December Greenwood wires MacDonald and says "Thomson likely join Reids. Does your letter November 18th express your mind?" Now here is a change apparently in the plan that was contemplated in London. Thomson is going to join Reid. That means to say that he is going down to Newfoundland to become associated with the Reid enterprises. "Does your letter express your mind?" And in No. 44 he says, "Yes. My letter November 18th expressed my mind. I have not changed my mind." "Would like Reid hold quarter our shares, Trust and have letter 18th used as basis of arrangements with modifications considered mutually agreeable." Now in the meantime, on the 23rd December, these letters No. 40 and 42, "H.B.T.27" and "H.B.T.28" were written, and on the 6th of January MacDonald, having received Thomson's letter enclosing No. 40 and 42, sends a wire, "Terms you offer Reid regarding Trust in letter 22nd not as understood between us," and he is asked by Thomson to cable his ideas, and on the 7th of January he wires, "Consider fair agreement Reids pay MacDonald Greenwood one thousand pounds each yearly for two years terminable six months notice by Reid." Now Reid saw that message and defines the term "Management Expenses." Now in this cable, which is "H.B.T.32" No. 48, MacDonald deals with two things: (1) that Reid must pay MacDonald and Greenwood one thousand pounds per year for two years. That is one thing. The other is "if agreement terminate. The other is "we have option repurchase quarter interest if Reid had exercised his option otherwise option to lapse." Now these are the two things, and this is the way Mr. Reid describes them in his letter on the 8th January: "This was sent you after Mr. Thomson and Mr. Greenwood had had a conference with my brother and myself on the message you sent to Mr. Thomson of January seventh relative to your objection to Mr. Thomson's letter and my letter of December 23rd pertaining to the option to purchase ordinary shares in the Home & Overseas Trading Trust Ltd. and to the remit of £1,000 to apply on Management Expenses for four months." "Management Expenses." Your objection? Now, what is his objection? His objection is, "I want £1,000 a year and Greenwood wants £1,000 a year," and that is what he is objecting to, that these letters of December 23rd do not make it clear that he is going to get £1,000 a year, and he is objecting, and Mr. Reid says, "I have seen your objection in connection with your remittance to apply on Management Expenses." "Management Expenses" meaning MacDonald and Thomson personally. And then, bearing out what Mr. Thomson says, he goes on, "As my brother is going down to London soon we feel it would be much more satisfactory to you to make the arrangement you desire after a personal talk with you and Mr. Greenwood who will be on the ground. I appreciate highly what you have been doing on behalf of my brother and myself in London, and desire to signify my approval in a manner that will make for the permanency of the London office." "The London office"; now can you imagine a London office being only a purchaser of Reid's property. Can you imagine Reid calling an office, calling a Trust, a corporation "My London Office" when they are to be purchasers of their properties under options, and can you imagine him providing £2,000 a year, £3,000 a year, for the upkeep of that office, towards the Management Expenses, if they were to be purchasers of the properties and only purchasers? It is quite clear that the relationship was defined beyond all doubt in Reid's mind at this time, and if we want any further evidence of it we have only got to look at No. 49, "J.A.McD.3," sent on the ninth of January: "Congratulations closing Greenwood wood very satisfactory. Referring your cable Thomson relative option purchase shares according letter December twenty-third we agree alter this and make arrangement satisfactory to you upon my brother's arrival London beginning February. If number of shares put negotiated here will protect Trust for commission." Mr. Reid says, "These fellows were going to do some work and I thought if we sold in New York I would see they got some kind of commission." These people were not going to do any work for him in London, according to his own evidence; they were going to buy a property under option. What work were they going to do for him? They were not going to do any work. Why should they have their commission protected when they were to be purchasers of the property. It is perfect nonsense. They were getting £3,000 yearly anyhow. Was Mr. Reid going to hand out money of this kind in this way to these strangers about whom he knew nothing? Now that is not only in the line, good quality, but not a complete size range. Formerly sold at prices above $4.50. Special Price the Pair $1.90

GUARDS ATHLETES RETURN FROM GRAND FALLS.

The M.G.C.A. athletes, supporters and friends, numbering one hundred and seven, returned to the city from Grand Falls, by freight train, with special cars attached, at 6:15 last evening, after an enjoyable holiday trip of four days. While at the island city, the M.G.C.A. athletes, sixty-five strong, competed in athletic competition against the members of the Grand Falls Athletic Club, and as already mentioned in the press despatches, which were sent forward, success crowned their efforts in the majority of events. Seventy-nine prizes were competed for, forty-four of which went to the Guards, including a handsome cup, presented by Trades Union Council for club competition. The programme occupied three days and, thanks to the fine weather which prevailed, everything as planned was carried out successfully. A pleasing feature of the whole meet was the pleasing sportsmanship which prevailed between all competitors, and there were feelings of regret on all sides when the programme did come to a close. The athletes in Grand Falls showed up splendidly, and although the Guards won the laurels by 22 points, their opponents have nothing to be ashamed of, and with a little more experience in the running and jumping events, they are bound to be heard from in the future. Probably the biggest surprise of the whole meet was the outcome of the tug-of-war. The Guards sent forward a strong team, with a splendid reputation behind them and after a strenuous pull, the Grand Falls aggregation of stalwarts, including Mike Shallow, of boxing fame, defeated the champions by two straight pulls. Then again Grand Falls proved superior in Cricket, Billiards and Wrestling, with honors even in Football, Boxing and Tennis. The people of the island town were all agog with excitement during the three day period, and the success which followed it through will long be remembered by those who had the pleasure of taking it in.

Labor Day Parade.
Monday, being a Labor Day, (a whole holiday), the day was fittingly observed by the holding of a joint parade, 300 strong, in charge of President Shapleigh, and Mr. Wm. Bradbury, of the local 88th. Amongst the Unions represented were the 88th, Paper Makers' Union, Pulp Sulphite and Electricians. The citizens of the town turned out en masse, and headed by the Methodist Guards Band, the parade moved off from the Town Hall at 9 p.m., and marched along High Street, by way of 1st Avenue, to the sports ground, when they were dismissed. The opening game of the Inter Town sports programme commenced at 11 a.m., when three games of football were competed for. Both Grand Falls and the Guards were represented with two teams, and in the final play-off, Guards A. defeated Guards B. by 3 goals to nil. The winning team was as follows:—Charlie Quick, N. Ellis, W. Hallyard, R. Macklin, M. Coultas and Meadue.

The Chief Attraction.
At 2 p.m. large crowds flocked to the field and witnessed what proved to be an exciting afternoon's sport, programme. In all eighteen events were crowded. The field arrangements were looked after by G. V. Evans with a very energetic committee behind him, and it is very pleasing to be able to say that the programme was well conducted, and that the Grand Falls people have a knack of doing things right. The M. G. C. A. track team was well represented, and carried off most of the events, although the sprinters found in Danphy, of Grand Falls, a hard contender. In the weight events, viz., Hammer Throw and Shot Put, Wm. Coesfield (G.), won out by a narrow margin over his nearest opponent, Ken Goodyear. Mr. Goodyear was the winner of these two events at the A.A.A. Sports last year, but he was greatly handicapped in the present meet as the result of an injury to his ankle while training. He received a fine ovation from the gathering when he decided to enter at the last minute. Goodyear, however, won the Discus Throw, whilst his teammate, J. Hanlan, was the winner of the Javelin Throw. In the latter event J. Hanlan put the javelin a distance of 112 feet 2-3 inches, which can be constituted as a Newfoundland record. One other record went by the boards when G. Baker Long (G.), leaped 19 feet 6 inches in the Broad Jump, defeating Sam Parsons' record of 18 feet 9 inches, made last year. A place was found for an Old Veterans' Race on the programme, and in this Mr. C. H. Hayward, of Grand Falls, proved the winner. Other events of interest was the walking of Ted Percy, Fraser's exhibition in the Pole Vault after winning the event and the running of Johnston, Parsons and Perry, all of the Guards. The ladies' 50 yard dash, had seven competitors, six of whom competed for Grand Falls against Miss Estlin, of St. John's, for the Guards. The dash was won by Miss Estlin (G.F.), in 9 seconds, with

WHAT IS

SAN-O-SPRAY

Certain filthy and pestiferous insects have for many years been the bane of households, hotels, and institutions. While most of us have become accustomed to them because of their general prevalence and the difficulty of destroying them, there is now no need of tolerating them any longer. Since the discovery of SAN-O-SPRAY, it is very easy to rid the premises of Cock-Roaches (water bugs), Bed-Bugs, Moths, Flies, Mosquitoes, Ants, Fleas, Weevils, etc., by applying SAN-O-SPRAY to the retreats of these pests.

From Fruit to Jam or Jelly in 15 Minutes

Luscious ripe fruits! Do them down the Certo way—one minute boiling, no waste of delicious flavor and juice. Easy, economical—and all in 15 minutes.

The old, long-boiling process—so uncertain and wasteful—has been supplanted by the Certo way in over 3,000,000 homes. Certo is the concentrated pectin that makes jams and jellies "jell." The Certo one-minute boiling saves 50 per cent. of your fruit which, under the old, expensive, long-boiling method, evaporated and was lost.

Do it the Certo way and make success certain. Remember—you have exactly the same proportion of sugar in a jar of jam or jelly done the Certo way as in a jar done the old way—and you get 50 per cent. more jam and jelly.

Follow exactly the complete, simple directions in the Certo Booklet which goes with every bottle.

In the Realms of Sport

Goodyear, who refereed the bout, awarded the decision to Shallow on points, he having taken into consideration the boxing of Shallow, round by round. "Bill" Shallow is a son of Mr. Mike Shallow, and judging by his performance there is every indication that he will follow in his father's footsteps.

Mr. Shallow, who refereed the previous bouts, showed true sportsmanship when he decided not to act in this capacity when his son entered the ring. Young Shallow's victory was a popular one. The last event of this part of the programme, was a wrestling match between Hatt (G.F.) vs. W. Anle (G.). After 9 minutes and 10 seconds of wrestling Hatt earned a fall with a half head-lock, and was awarded the decision. Before the close A. E. Harris, General Manager of the A.N.D. Company, gave a short address, in which he congratulated the athletes on their sportsmanship and pluck.

The Smoker.

Upwards of 300 attended the Smokers' Concert, which took place in the Town Hall, on Saturday night. The M.G.C.A. were invited as guests of the Grand Falls Athletic Association, and the evening was one of thorough enjoyment for all. Mr. Ken Goodyear made an ideal Chairman. Songs and speeches were the order of the evening and the event did not conclude until 1 a.m. The toast list was as follows:—

THE KING—Prop., the Chairman; Resp., "The National Anthem."
Recreation—W. Coefield.
Comic Song—F. Shapleigh.
THE GAME—Prop., M. J. Nugent; Resp., H. J. Wyatt, Pres., M.G.C.A.

Song—H. Chaplin.
"GOD SAVE THE KING."
Mr. Max Colton acted as accompanist during the evening.

Cricket.
The cricket cup, kindly donated by C. H. Hayward, was won by Grand Falls, in two straight games. The first match proved rather one-sided, Grand Falls winning easily by a margin of ninety runs. The Grand Falls team put up a splendid exhibition, both at bat and in the field, while the bowling of Macey and Cooper helped largely in their win. The scores of the first game are as follows:—

The Guards were then sent in, and before the last man was retired, 78 runs had been accounted for. The game ended in a win for Grand Falls with two wickets and 43 runs to spare. A feature of this game was the splendid batting of Lake and Laycock, for Grand Falls, and Maddick and Ellis for the Guards. The scores were as follows:—

Cooper, Jones, McPherson, Lockyer, Guards—E. Taylor, K. Trenchard, H. Young, R. Macklin.

It had been arranged to play a third game on Wednesday afternoon, but owing to a heavy downpour of rain during the early morning, the field was found to be in no condition to play on, consequently the game had to be called off. Mr. V. S. Jones, who had the highest individual batting average having scored 47 runs, was presented with a gold medal.

Billiards.

The second billiard game was played between J. McFarlane (G.F.) and G. Fresham (G.), and resulted in a win for the former by 27 points. This win entitled Grand Falls to the Cup for one year, which was kindly donated by Hon. S. Miller. In the play-off, to decide the highest break for the medal, Brown (G.F.) won out with a pretty 34.

The Dance.

An impromptu dance was held in the Town Hall on Tuesday night, and was attended by over 150 couples. The music was supplied by the Methodist Guards Band and an enjoyable time was spent by all. During an interval the winning boxers and Wrestlers were presented with their prizes by H. J. Wyatt, President of the M.G.C.A.

Football.

As already mentioned the Football Cup went to Grand Falls. Two games were played, Grand Falls winning by 2 goals to 1 and 4 to 0, respectively. The brand of football displayed, particularly by the paper town play, was high-perfect. The combination play of the forwards was a special feature and they richly deserved the win. In the final game the Guards were obliged to use three substitutes, three of their regular players having met with slight injuries in the previous game. The Grand Falls teams was as follows:—Goal, A. Hay; Backs, J. Griffin, J. Hannaford; Halves, H. Legge, A. Crawley, N. Simpson; Forwards, Goodison, J. Nugent, A. Carter, G. Pitcher.

Excellent Accommodation.

The visitors on arrival at Grand Falls were accommodated at the Cabot and Erin Houses, while many private homes were placed at their disposal. Nothing was left undone for their comfort, and all speak in glowing terms of the welcome accorded and the kindness shown on every hand. During their stay, fishing trips and an inspection of the mills added greatly to the pleasure of all. Numerous requests were made to extend the visit but to these regret of all could not be acceded to, though undoubtedly another trip will be made next year. As an outcome of the meet it is likely a wrestling and boxing team from Grand Falls will visit St. John's in the Fall.

Secret of Happiness

The greatest menace on earth to happiness is the ill health with which so many women are afflicted. The young woman is subject to pain and irregularities, the mother to the tortures of displacements with consequent pains, aches and nervousness—the middle aged woman to the unfortunate conditions caused by this critical age. The one remedy to control these conditions and restore the system to a normal healthy condition is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for fifty years has been restoring sick and ailing women to health.

Lord Beaverbrook Scored by Truth

LONDON EXPRESS PUBLISHES ANALYTICAL SKETCH OF PUBLISHER.

LONDON, July 23.—(B. U. P.)—Lord Beaverbrook has recently cultivated a habit of publishing in his Daily Express all attacks made upon him by other newspapers or periodicals. Today he reprints in his own paper an analytical sketch of himself from "Truth" in which the writer says ironically:

"It is a great mistake Mr. Baldwin makes that he does not consult Lord Beaverbrook about a policy before he adopts it. If he did, he would stand a good chance of being buried in Westminster Abbey."
It is left for the Morning Post, however, to publish today, the Edmonton Journal's article questioning whether Beaverbrook, in his attacks upon the proposed security pact, really represents the views of Canada. Certainly Beaverbrook has arrogated to himself the right to speak as a representative citizen of the Empire and has insisted so much upon this right that the popular impression has been created that Canada's views are adequately presented in England only by him.
The Edmonton Journal criticism is reproduced in the Morning Post without comment, but prominently.

Harry Carey's Best

Fans at the Majestic Theatre last night were handed a real novelty. They saw Harry Carey, famous captor of the snows, on skis plunging under the snowy wastes of a landscape of unrelieved winter.

Carey for the first time forsakes the plains and the desert in "The Miracle Baby." That snow is as "ineffectual" in cooling his valor as the hot sun of the desert falls in sapping his chivalry is readily apparent even before the first reel has been unrolled. Carey, with characteristic directness, plunges into the middle of the fray and, to the great satisfaction of his admirers, emerges the victor in spite of the overwhelming volume of villainy concocted by such a trio of trouble makers as Edward Hearn, Heddla Nova and Edmund Cobb.

"The Miracle Baby" can more properly be called a drama of the Northwest rather than the Western melodrama for which Carey has achieved a niche in Screendom. Skis and dog teams take the place of boots and saddles, and instead of the lightly knotted bandana one sees Carey and his cohorts in plawis.

Carey's leading lady in "The Miracle Baby" is Margaret Leard, and she was immediately voted a dear by the feminine proportions of the first day's audiences. The work of Charles J. Lemoyne as an old prospector whose greatest find in the hills has nothing to do with ore was also a treat. Alfred Allen and Bert Spotts complete an unusually well balanced cast. See the feature to-night or to-morrow afternoon and night.

UNION PACIFIC'S BUSINESS GOOD.

President Gray Expects Increase in Traffic During Second Half of Year.

NEW YORK, July 23.—Optimism of Union Pacific management in earlier months was borne out by operating performance last month, which showed the highest gross and net for any month since last November and the lowest ratio of expenses to revenue with the highest net for any June since 1916.

The keystone of income—freight revenues—showed the first increase over preceding year since February, 1924, and would have carried gross over a year ago but for a decline in passenger receipts. As it was, passenger receipts showed the smallest decline for any month since April, 1924.

Prediction of President Gray that the second half of this year in West and Northwest might be expected to develop more traffic and higher railroad earnings than the first half in comparison with last year began to be fulfilled before close of the first half-year.

Whereas May showed a 4 per cent. decline and the preceding three

Municipal Council

WEEKLY MEETING.
 The regular weekly meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Cook presided and Messrs. Martin, Outerbridge, Collins, Ryan and Dowden were present. After the Minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed the following matters were considered:
 The Deputy Colonial Secretary informed the Board that the Loan of $100,000 for civic improvements is available at the Royal Bank of Canada.
 The Deputy Minister of Agriculture informed the Board that application had been made for lease of the quarry, Waldegrave Battery. This was referred to the City Engineer.
 The Newfoundland Tourist and Publicity Association solicited the cooperation of the Council in furthering their work by advertisement in their publications. This was considered and approved.
 The Newfoundland Butter Company applied for water service to their factory, Cornwall Avenue. The request will be granted, conditional upon their paying costs for installation and supply.
 J. J. Hickey, Clifford Street, F. H. Beaumont Street and John Stear, Duckworth Street, petitioned the necessity of attention being given to the drains in these localities.

The City Engineer was instructed to see what can be done to remedy the conditions complained of.
 Messrs. Herbert Carnell, T. Peddle and other residents of Bambrick St. and vicinity requested that a fountain be placed in this street. The City Engineer will make enquiries, and if connections are available, the application will be granted.
 William Ash, Gear Street, and N. B. Power, Quidi Vidi Road, asked if the Council would have proper drains constructed on these thoroughfares, to carry off the surface water. Their request will be granted, subject to the direction of the City Engineer.
 The City Engineer's report for the week, on the work of the Water, Sewerage and Roads Departments, was tabled. He particularly referred to the break in the main at Long Pond River which occurred on Monday, the 27th instant. He stated that as a result the water supply had to be diverted for a short time, but the employees of the Department had made the necessary repairs with all despatch.
 With regard to the Swimming Pools at Long Pond and Quidi Vidi he reported that everything possible is being done for the benefit of the many people who frequent these popular resorts, and that bathing houses, floating stages, etc., had been constructed. The caretakers at both places are very efficient and are paying every attention to their work.

The Council are anxious to do all possible to allay the fears and anxieties entertained by parents as to the safety of their children.
 During the past week, the Mayor and Council, with Mr. E. A. Bowring, the City Clerk, Engineer and City Solicitor, made their annual visit of inspection to Bowring Park. They found conditions there highly satisfactory and complimented Superintendent Canning on the splendid results apparent under his efficient management. It may be pointed out that this Park means a considerable annual outlay from the City's funds, but the Council feels that such moneys are not misapplied when taking into consideration the pleasure and beneficial enjoyment which it affords the children of the City.
 The attention of the Council was called to editorial comment in the Evening Telegram of the 24th instant, referring to the "Municipal Basin" and also the manner of washing fish in the Public Coves.
 In connection with the former matter, the Council had had no control over what is known as the Municipal Basin since the adoption of the Railway Contract. Any filling in that is being done at the place is not by the Council, nor has it any power to prevent same.
 As regards the latter, it might be well to point out that the Council has no control over the Harbour of St. John's beyond high water mark, except in the case of erections upon wharves. The washing of fish in the suggested polluted waters of the Cove is not a matter for the Council, but comes within the Jurisdiction of the Board of Health.
 The City has annually allocated certain amounts for fish markets, and there are at the present time erections in Gill's, Bowring's and Steer's Coves for the purpose, which are connected with the water and sewer mains, are hygienic and well looked after. They were intended and are used to ensure safety and cleanliness in the handling of fresh fish.
 When the revenues of the City justify such an expenditure, the Council intends extending the markets, which are ample to meet present requirements.
 Complaint was made of the destruction of trees in Mullaly Park, Queen's Road. A reward is to be offered for information concerning the persons guilty of such vandalism.
 Requisition for five tons of half inch lead pipe for the Water Department was granted, and tenders are to be called for same.
 With the reading of reports of several departments, passing of weekly accounts, etc., the meeting adjourned.

Great Variety at the Nickel

UNUSUAL FEATURE TO BE SHOWN NEXT WEEK.
 A great variety programme was enjoyed at the Nickel Theatre last night. The feature bill was well balanced with interesting subjects. Miss Marjorie Hutchings, L.T.C.M., rendered those popular numbers "Because" and "Good-bye." Her renditions were delightfully sung with an exquisitely rich and full tone. Miss Hutchings has excellent enunciation and beautiful voice shadings.
 Next week's feature attraction is somewhat out of the ordinary. The picture is entitled "The King of Wild Horses." It is a story that stirs the emotions to the very depths that thrills the heart to the core—that scars the brain with a memory. Its central figure is a wild stallion that is the most magnificent creature that ever enacted a drama of love and hate—of loyalty and devotion.
 A wild stallion, monarch of the plains and leader of a band of mares, is pursued by man, whom he hates. It is a wild, thrilling, enthralling chase—horse cunning vs. man's skill! Then a forest fire traps the horse and his greater fear of the fire enables the cowboy to capture the beautiful creature—or rather to save him from destruction. At last the man-hating, man-killing beast learns of the kindness of man. To the man he owes devotion and loyalty, and gives it with all the passion of his wild nature.
 Leon Barry, as the cowboy who captures the wild horses, has a strenuous role and one that calls for the performance of daring riding and stunts, as well as acting, and on the latter score Barry acquitted himself as any leading man of Barnhardt's should. Edna Murphy is charming as the heroine and the remainder of the cast acts in character.

The following fishery reports have been received from the various sections covering the week ending July 25th:

Next time you see a woman buying soap take care to note which soap she is buying.

Women who use SUNLIGHT SOAP make good wives

They know that clothing costs more than soap, and that inferior soap will damage clothing, therefore they buy Sunlight Soap, which, being entirely pure soap, is most economical for washing clothes, scrubbing floors and for other household purposes. They know that a bar of Sunlight Soap is better than two bars of inferior stuff, which may be only half soap. They know the best is always cheapest.

The New, Easy Way to Have Beautiful Waxed Floors and Linoleum

Four Johnson's Liquid Wax on this Mop and apply to your floors.

THE new, easy way to wax floors and linoleum is with Johnson's Liquid Wax, applied with a Johnson Wax Mop and polished with a Johnson Weighted Brush. This new method means that every one can now have beautiful waxed floors with very little effort—just a few minutes' time—and without stooping.

JOHNSON'S LIQUID WAX

Your linoleum will look more beautiful—clean much easier—and last years longer if you polish it occasionally with Johnson's Liquid Wax. It brings out the pattern and color—protects linoleum from wear and imparts a beautiful, dry, dirt-repellent surface which washes off like a piece of glass. Johnson's Liquid Wax is recommended by all the leading manufacturers of linoleum.

Waxed floors, besides being most beautiful and distinctive, have many practical advantages. They are, by far, the most economical—they do not show heel prints—are not slippery—and traffic spots can be easily re-waxed without going over the entire floor. Johnson's Liquid Wax is a complete finish and polish for floors of all kinds—wood, linoleum, rubber, tile, marble, etc.

Dodge Brothers
 Set New Record

Deliveries and Production Exceed Best Previous Week in History.

Dodge Brothers have been establishing new high records continuously for several months, as compared with similar periods for previous years, but the record of the week ending April 11 is the best in the company's history. With retail deliveries aggregating more than 7,000, an average of more than 1,300 each production day, the best previous week was surpassed by several hundred cars. New retail orders exceeded the corresponding week of 1924 by 1,000, or approximately 13.7 per cent.

Although Dodge Brothers Motor Cars are now being built at the rate of 1,100 a day, both deliveries and new orders are some 200 a day in excess of production.

"Had dealers' stocks permitted, the number of deliveries for the record week would have been even greater," said John A. Nichol, Jr., Vice-President in Charge of Sales. "It is not a spur, but a steady, healthful climb."

Little Jack Rabbit

by David Cory

"No, I won't bother you," went on Timmie Meadowmouse, looking helplessly at Granddaddy Bullfrog, as I mentioned in the last story.

"What are you doing in the water?" asked the old gentleman frog, again opening his big mouth—opening it so wide that he could have swallowed the little mouse without a bit of trouble had they both been in the water. But luckily for Timmie Meadowmouse, they weren't. Yes, sir, it was mighty lucky for Timmie that they were both on dry land.

"I'm looking for a new home," explained the little mouse. "The mowing machine is cutting all the grass in the Sunny Meadow. All my secret tunnels are uncovered and my nice, comfortable nest is most likely by this time cut to pieces. Dear, Oh dear," and with a frightened squeak away ran Timmie Meadowmouse up the Old Cow Path toward the Farmyard. He hardly knew where he was going. The uppermost thought in his frightened little head was to get away from Peter Pickeral and Granddaddy Bullfrog.

"Get off the Old Cow Path. Run through the grass," suddenly twittered Bobbie Redvest, that kindly little bird.

"Dear, Oh dear," gasped poor little Timmie Meadowmouse, "what's going to happen now," and he darted into a thick clump of weeds.

"Don't worry," twittered Bobbie Redvest, lighting on a nearby bush. "I thought Black Cat was coming this way. But he has turned off towards the Shady Forest."

"What shall I do," asked Timmie

Meadowmouse, peeking out anxiously. "I almost wish I'd stayed at home. Maybe the Kind Farmer would have left the corner of the Sunny Meadow for another year. There's hardly room to turn a team there."

"Why don't you make your home in the woodpile," suggested Bobbie Redvest. "The wood won't be used till winter. By that time you can go back to the Sunny Meadow."

"The very thing," cried Timmie Meadowmouse. "Thank you, Bobbie Redvest," and away he scampered.

It didn't take him long to make a nice nest under the logs. There were plenty of dried leaves and grass near at hand with which to make a comfortable home, and the chinks between the logs were too small to allow any one to squeeze through. "Safe at last," he sighed, as the mowing machine rattled by, the Kind Farmer under his old straw hat guiding the team down the grassy slope. "Gid-up!" he shouted, clicking his tongue against his teeth. "Must finish my mowing to-day."

"What will become of Tiny Miss Cricket and the Three Merry Grass-hoppers," thought Timmie Meadowmouse. "Maybe they will hop back to the dear Old Bramble Patch until after the hay is raked into piles. Lady Love, the little rabbit's mother, will be only too glad to let them live in the woodbox behind the kitchen stove."

Then, looking about to make sure that Hungry Hawk was not near, he hunted for a supper of grass seeds.

"You may be homesick for a while. But you'll forget if you just smile. Yes, wear a happy, smiling face And you won't miss the dear old place."

sang Bobbie Redvest from the apple-tree.

And in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

Blaze in Barber's Shop

About 10.15 last night whilst E. Hopkins and J. Barry were passing along Water Street they noticed smoke issuing from the tonorial parlor owned by T. Bennett, and making an entry by breaking the door they found the place on fire. An alarm was sent in from Box 35 at the junction of Springdale and Water Streets, and on the arrival of the firemen the blaze was quickly subdued. Considerable damage was done by fire and water. How the blaze originated is not known as at 9.50 when two of Mr. Bennett's employees left the store everything was apparently alright.

Drive Out the Flies
WITH SANIFLOR!

It is unnecessary to have flies in the home. Insects hate the delightful odor of Saniflor and give it a wide berth. Moths, water bugs and other insect pests move out when Saniflor moves in. Protects woolens from moths. Destroys all odors of cooking, etc., replacing them with the delightful and delicate fragrance of fresh flowers.

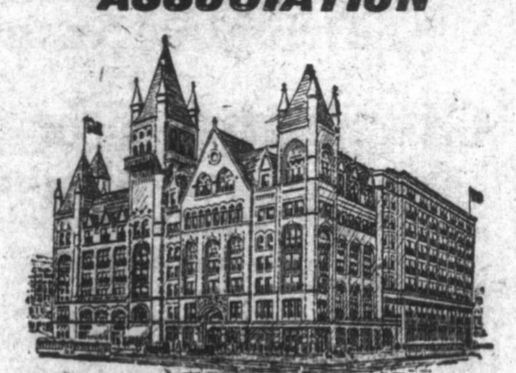

No spraying. Just open the bottle, insert the flower wick and the Saniflor does the rest.

Operates night and day. Lasts two to three months. Costs $1.00 at drug, hardware and general stores.

Manufactured by RENAUD & CO., PARIS.
