Party Lines Broken in Conclud- sests that the committee on imperial ing Debate in American House on Reciprocity -Two-thirds of the Twentyfour Speakers Were Opposed to the Measure.

WASHINGTON, April 20 .- State and party affiliations were repeatedly oroken in the House of Representatives today in the concluding hours of the fight on the Canadian reciprocity bill. Democrats denounced their fellow Democrats for supporting a Republican protective principle; and Republicans hurled criticism against their fellow Republicans for marching with the Democrats toward the free trade goal. During the seven hours of debate twenty-four men spoke on the reci-procity measure. Two thirds of them made pleas for its defeat, in speeches of from one minute to a half hour in length; and in this number were two Democrats from North Carolina and Republicans from any of the northern HAMILTON April 20.-(Specia!.)-The license commissioners to-night refused to give out the result of their deliberations on the question of hotel license renewals for the coming year. It had been announced that the evening. It had been announced that the fate of the hotelmen would be made public this afternoon or to-night, but at the conclusion of the board's work at 9.30 p.m., the only statement that could be obtained was that the action of the commissioners would be made known Friday morning at 9 o'clock. No member of the board, however, would give any reason for withholding the information until that time.

ation until that time. Speculation as to the number of licenses to be cancelled was rife all day and a strong feeing exists that more than six hotels and possibly one shop will be deprived of their licenses. It is conceded, however, that the Stock lards Hotel, will not be among the unpicky one altha in right. lards riotel, will not be among the unlucky one, altho, in view of the strong protest against the way the hotel was run, it is certain that a radical change will be ordered in the conduct of that place, and it will occasion little surprise if the license is transferred.

Where the Battle Raged.

The feature of the public meet of the commissioners was the streplea put forward by the delegating headed by Rev. J. A. Wison, for cancellation of the license of Stock Yards Hotel, on North We worth-st. It was claimed by other disgraceful acts, and that it was a menace to the entire district where it is located.

J. W. Nesbitt, representing the license older, presented a largely signed petition asking for the continuation of the license, and argued that the proprietor of the hotel should not be held tributed by the conditions, as the district was not properly policed, and that equally had conditions would exist around any other hotel where the restraining hand of the police is not extended.

Application of Irish Club For Liquor License Leads to Bitter Wrangle.

A large deputation of the Methodist Temperance and Moral Reform Association waited on the license commission ers at the Temple Building yesterday

M. J. O'Leary, president of the Irish-Canadian Athletic Association, said that he appeared for the members, who had asked him to do so. He thought no good could come to the Irish Club, which started in a "whiskey joint." He considered that 90 per cent. of the Irish people, especially the Roman Catholics, would consider it nothing but an insult. This roused D'Arcy Hinds, who warmly accused Mr. O'Leary of personal and mosity towards him, which was the reason for his bringing the matter before the notice of the commissioners.

Opening with a group of juvenile poems, Miss Ferris showed herself most appreciative of light and shade, without the whine that is generally attributed to the very young. Her pathos, was quiet and effective, while she manifested at the same time a keen sense of humor. Her rendering of Longfellow's "King Robert of Sicilly," elicited a double recall and the presentation of many elaborate bouquets of flowers.

Asquith Makes Fighting Speech-Constitution Sacrificed, Says. Baltour

LONDON, April 20.—It is reported that the government has decided to accelerate the passage of the veto bill thru the commons so that it may go up to the house of lords by May 16, if necessary, this result will be attained by a recourse to the guillotine measure necessary, this result will be attained by a recourse to the guillouine measure.

Premier Asquith, in a fighting speech declared that the government would accept no amendments which would exclude from the clause any class of levislation. The assumption underlying the bill, he said, was that the house of commons, representing the people, had provided checks on the house of lords. They were not taking away its veto, but were only limiting its duration and scope.

"The veto of the crown is gone," exclaimed the prime minister. "It is as dead as Queen Anne. It has gone by disuse; so ought the veto of the house of lords have gone."

"When the house of lords turned itself into a permanent partisan ally of one particular party," continued Mr. Asquith, it became necessary to deal with it by legislation. The Liberal party had received a mandate from the country for the bill, and would use the machinery created by it in this parliament to carry out the objects the party had at heart."

Mr. Balfour, leader of the opposition said that the claim that the house of commons should be ominpatent in legislation "was a monstrous doctrine." It meant an absolute single chamber of government. He maintained that the electors did not know when, they returned the government that they were votting for home rule, the whole constitution being sacrificed in a scandalous bargain between the government and the Nationalists.

FRIDAY MORNING

How to Play Golf By Ed. Mack.

I had two Gentlemen of Lambton in to see me on Thursday. They were going out to view the links, and while I was showing them some of the new Bannockburns and Homespuns, so popular now for golfing, they very lucidly explained the game to me, making it "as clear as mud." Said the one to me:

"All you have to do is to see that the whole body must turn on the pivot of the right thigh bone working in the cotyloidal cavity of the os innominatum or pelvic bone, the head, right knee and foot remaining fixed, with eyes rivetted on the ball. In the upward swing the vertebral column rotates upon the head of the right femur, the right knee being fixed; and as the club head nears the ball the fulcrum is rapidly changed from the right to the left hip, the spine now rotating on the left thigh bone, the left knee being fixed; and the velocity is accelerated by the arms and wrists in order to add the force of the muscles to the weight of the body, thus gaining the greatest impetus possible.'

There you are! Colonel Bogey can now look to his

MEANS. It is very easy to put up men of straw and knock them down when discussing commissione government, as The Telegram likes to do, but what possible good can come from evading the issue?

No one has suggested a commission of three lawyers at $20,000 each to take the place of Mr. Drayton. No one has suggested a commission of three bankers to take the place of Mr. Coady. And The Telegram is not correct when It makes this statement:

The whole argument for a commission is that it is easier for a commission than it is for the city council to get strong heads of departments and to keep them strong.

ROMAN CATHOLICS AND BIBLE READING.

Editor World: In this morning's (April 20) edition of your paper appears a report of a sermon delivered by Rev Byron Stauffer, giving garbled quotaions of Catholic teaching in regard to the Bible, taken from the Catholic dictionary of Addis and Arnold. The Catholic Church has nothing to fear from truthful and honest representa-tions of her doctrines, but such false teachings as given by the reverend lecturer do her a wrong. In order that all fair-minded people may see and judge for themselves, I give you the judge for themselves, I give you the exact quotation as found in the aforesaid dictionary:

"We now come to the use of the Bible, and the Catholic principles on this head follow from what has already been said. It is not necessary for all Christians to read the Bible, many nations, St. Irenaeus tells us, were converted and received the faith without being able to read. Without knowledge of letters, without a Bible in their own tongue, they received from the course the converted and received the faith without being able to read. These principles are fixed and invariable, but the discipline of the church with regard to the reading of the Bible in the vulgar tongue has varied with varying SIMPLIFIED SPELLING.

Every argument advanced in support of simplified spelling is practical and the fathers constantly encouraged them to do so, altho they also insist on the obscurity of the sacred text. No prohibitions were issued against the reading of the Bible. New dangers reading of the Bible. New dangers came in during the middle ages. When the heresies of the Albigenses arose there was a danger from corrupt translations, and also from the judge the church by their own inter-pretations of the Bible. To meet these evils, the Council of Toulouse (1229), and Tarragona (1234) forbade the laity to read the vernacular translations o Pius IV, required the the Bible. pishops to refuse lay persons ure unless their confessors or parish priests judged that such reading was likely to prove beneficial. During this century, Leo XII., Pius VIII, and Pius IX. have warned Catholics against Protestant Bible Societies, which disribute versions (mostly corrupt versions) of the Bible with the avowed purpose of perverting simple Catholics It is only surprising that any rational being could have thought it possible The case which has disturbed many American Year Book, for 1910, Mr. attitude towards such proceedings. Instead of calling a doctor, who would undoubtedly have put in a number of stitches, I bathed the wound well, and applied Zam-Buk. .The little fellow. although suffering keenly, soon had relief from his pain. In the course of three weeks, by applying Zam-Buk daily, the wound was nicely healed. The chief ambition of a few publishers of the trade paper has been to make money-to get their papers out as cheaply as possible, irrespective of consequences. Few of them have any definite opinion on matters affecting the trade they profess to represent. Their composition is chiefly "reading notices" and "free puffs" to advertisers, very little effort being made to in-orease the circulation, while a full head of steam is put on to boost the advertising end. Advertisers are noting these facts in sonal attention. connection with the less read trade papers and are being influenced ac-

It is true, there are "trade journals" and "trade journals." This is perhaps the redeeming feature of the situation. But the good trade papers must suffer n consequence. When one discovers a trade paper giving its readers some valuable infornation on matters of trade, it will invariably give its advertisers some show for their money.

One can easily "size up" the value of the trade paper by the character of its editorial and news matter. If deficient in either particular one should hesitate before placing business with it.

2. Avoid food from consumptive animals.
3. Avoid dusty places.
4. Avoid human "jams."

On several occasions the alarm has failed to come up to the specifications, and the blame and responsibility ought to be saddled on someone. Some day there will be a big fire and thousands of dollars' damage done if there is not a change. The firemen are all right, but the alarm is all wrong.

UPWARD MOVEMENTS RESTRICTED.

Thursday Evening, April 20. Consumers' Gas and the Maple Leaf Milling preferred shares occupied most of the attention of the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. Each of these is being bought solely on the ground that, as investments, higher prices are warranted, and in the case of Maple Leaf preferred it is thought the shares should reasonably sell at 110. Traders contributed a large part of the other business, and turns of an eighth or a quarter were accepted, thus giving moderate activity with minor fluctuations. While the market is in a sound position, the upward movements are likely to be restricted to a few stocks.

From Hungary, too, came disquieting statements concerning the outlook for the growing grain in that country, and telling of a squeeze in prices at Budapest. Excitement at Liverpool, due in part to scanty arrivals reported by nos Ayres had a parallel in the pit.
The whirl upward began at the the day, reactions not at any time taking the market under the opening level to any extent. Word that Winnipeg has sold 25 boatloads for export added to the bull flurry, during last hour of the session. High and low itmits for May proved to be 90% to Corn—The general opinion among con-servative traders is that there will be no corn surplus available for export, the crop being practically a failure. Minneapolis Flour Output.

Northwest flour output at Minneapolis last week increased 26,600 barrels, being 33,000 barrels. This week the same number of mills are in operation and output should be the same.

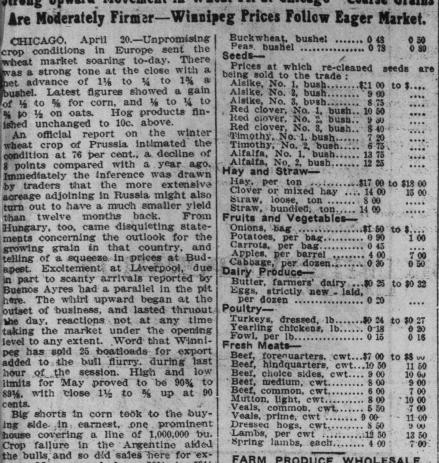

Liverpool Wheat Market. LIVERPOOL, April 20.—Wheat—The waker cables yesterday were offset by active covering by shorts and values at the opening were %d to %d higher and during the morning the market was highly excited with a further advance of %d to %d with the principal strength in May and July. Buying was prompted by the firmness in spot, for which there was a better demand and the firmness of cargoes in all positions. Cooling strength in Buencs Ayres was the leading feature, and this, together with firm Plata offerings and a tightening up of Australian offerings caused freer covering and in-speculative efferings were light. Northwestern markets were no stronger than our own, with the new crop futures lagging, owing to very favorable progress in seeding operations. The foreign news was the built motive to-day and saved the situation as otherwise the perfect home conditions must have been the prevailing influence. Should Europe assume the attitude of buyer of our wheats, it would put a different aspect on prospective prices. At the moment, however, such a probability dies not seem at hand. Outside of this factor and as long as prospects for the growing crop remains so flattering, we see no reason to change our opinion regarding the market.

Receipts of farm produce were 500 bushels of farm produce were 500 bushels of grain, 15 loads of hay, 1 load of straw and a few lots of dressed bogs.

Corn—The undertone continues firm, prices undoubtedly gaining some strength from the advance in wheat. Receipts continue moderate, but weather conditions are improving and should be conducive to freer country offerings.

Oats—Prices ruled within a very narrow range and the market is entirely without feature.
