

BARRIE IS A GROWING TOWN WITH HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER AND MANY OTHER ADVANTAGES

Financially the Town is in Splendid Shape and All Merchants Are Making Money—Good Opportunities There for Manufacturing Plants.

If you are feeling tagged from the months ago would barely bring a few dollars an acre. The main factor in causing the rapid rise in these land values is the fact that a new radial line has been built from Toronto thru all the northern towns, including Barrie and Orillia. The line will tap the shore all the way, and the farmers who own the land thru which the road will pass have not been slow to grasp the fact that such a road is going to add greatly to the value of this land. But the new line coming thru is not the only reason why Kampenfeldt Bay shore property has inflated so in price. A great number of Toronto and other Canadian and American men have been buying property there for the purpose of erecting summer homes. The place is ideal for summer living, and this year in particular there has been more enquiries for land and more sales than in any other year. Land that sold there six months ago for $10 an acre is now held for from $20 to $60 an acre, and sales are being made too. The railway line that is coming thru is called the Mousarrh Railway.

Property at Big Bay Point, one of the projections of Kampenfeldt Bay, is to be boomed, in fact is now booming. Toronto capitalists have bought the land at the point and have placed it on the market. There are a great number of cottages erected there now, and more are in the process of erection. Daily excursions from Barrie to Big Bay Point are being run by the steam-train, and the company expect to acquire more land and to erect a hotel. The project will be a success in every way. Assured. Moonlight excursions will be run. The old Strathallan property has been cut up into small holdings, and is now owned by Frederic Nicholas and his sons. He has been successful in selling a large number of these properties, and the town is growing and in a year or so from now will be a city. There is not a pessimist in the population there will be a goodly number of people sadly disappointed. Here's hoping.—W. A. Nixon.

The biggest industry in the town is the Barrie Gas Producer Engine Company, which has a three-year good business record behind it, and many more better years to look forward to. The company is extending its plant, and is showing a splendid increase in output each year. The carriage works in the town are going ahead slowly. Barrie has not grown as it should in the past, but the future looks rosy. There is not a pessimist in the town. Everyone is boosting. The town is growing, and in a year or so from now will be a city. There is not a pessimist in the population there will be a goodly number of people sadly disappointed. Here's hoping.—W. A. Nixon.

The hydro-electric power plant at Big Bay Point is a splendid asset to the town. It will supply power to the town and to the surrounding area. The plant is owned by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission. The power will be used for domestic purposes, and for the operation of manufacturing plants. The town is growing, and in a year or so from now will be a city. There is not a pessimist in the population there will be a goodly number of people sadly disappointed. Here's hoping.—W. A. Nixon.

Winnipeg Trip. The proposal to send Aid. May to represent the city at the first national town planning convention in Winnipeg July 15, 16 and 17, brought forth a number of protests from aldermen who contended that Commissioner Drayton's should also be sent. Controller Foster should also be sent. Controller Foster's expense, and he strongly opposed sending anyone. It was decided, however, that the commissioner should be sent.

Not a Nuisance. Slaughter-houses in Canada lacked proper inspection, according to Aid. Dunn, who claimed that they were not a nuisance if properly attended to and run on sanitary lines.

Hospital for Insane. In advocating that a building be purchased for the detention of the insane, Controller McCarthy said it was time that the city took definite action

Interviewed by The World yesterday, Engineer James says: "I regard as practicable the introduction of a motor-bus service as the temporary solution of the transportation problem in North Toronto. The purchase of six buses would permit of a 5-cent fare from Bedford Park right down to the C. P. R. track, and the profits should not go to the municipal treasury, but in reduction of fares. The buses would certainly pay for themselves within their lifetime, and a pavement, similar to that laid down in the city at present, would be readily overcome by rolling down the snow, and it does not anticipate any serious difficulty in coping with winter conditions."

Appeal. Toronto-Niagara Power Co. against the decision of the Ontario Court of Appeal, which upheld the action of the North Toronto Council, in forbidding the commissioning of a power house on Eglington-avenue without permission of the council, was concluded on Saturday last in London, Ontario. The privy council reserved judgment.

Property Inspected. On Friday last the government inspector visited E. Prompt Action of Young Men Prevented Double Drowning at Orchard Beach. The prompt action of Oswald and James Grant, sons of the Rev. A. S. Grant at Orchard Beach on Saturday afternoon saved the lives of two of the best known business men in Toronto. At their own request the names of the men were not published. The two men went out in a boat to fish, and when about a quarter of a mile from shore let out the anchor. It sank quicker than they expected, and pulled the two men over sideways, throwing the two occupants into the water. Their wives were standing on shore and fainting as soon as they saw the boat upset. The men were rescued, and the two men were taken to the hospital.

An amusing little incident happened in the routine of the court of revision yesterday morning. Will The Bitterness of Their Sin Find Them Out Yet?

The Surprising Result of the Scandalous Runaway of the Rev. Jere Cooke and Little Floretta Whaley Which Has Turned Out So Differently from What Everybody Predicted--But Is the Usual Miserable End Still to Come?

NOT in rags, not broken in health, not with the hanging head of a girl eternally disgraced; but well dressed, the strong, healthy mother of two fine boys toddling at her skirts, clear-eyed hopeful—Floretta Whaley has returned to her home village on Long Island, from which she eloped five years ago with the Rev. Jere Cooke, then rector of St. George's Episcopal Church, Hempstead, L. I., of which August Belmont is senior warden.

This unusual situation—so seemingly subversive of the moral law which prescribes bitter compensation in such cases, and generally exacts it—is emphasized by the persistent devotion and the evident prosperity of Floretta Whaley's companion sinner. The former clergyman, pet of a fashionable congregation, has learned the trade of painter and decorator so well that he runs his own shop in San Francisco, and while back in the East with his companion and their children finds profitable work at his trade in New York City.

As though to further outrage and set at naught all precedents in such cases, Mrs. Cooke confesses to a change of heart. She now contemplates divorcing the former clergyman, so that he may make an honest woman of Floretta Whaley and give his little sons a name—in place of the alias of "Balcom," which the little family now bears.

In view of this apparent overturning of accepted social standards, doubtless the question will occur to many: Is it possible that a minister of the Gospel can set an example so pernicious and escape retribution? Because this pair of sinners suffered a few years of disgrace, fugitive existence and material hardships, are they now to be restored to prosperity, social recognition and a life of the same peace and contentment enjoyed by those who are sinless?

Or, are they yet to taste the full bitterness of their sin?

If Floretta Whaley is to escape the prescribed consequences of her act, then why is poor Florence Schenck at the present moment drinking the dregs of her punishment, needy and reckless, cast off by family and friends, in a European capital? This daughter of a fine Southern family did not elope with a clergyman, only with Charles S. Wilson, the trainer of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's racing horses.

Again, if Floretta Whaley is yet to "be happy ever after," how account for the terrible downfall of Mrs. "Jack" Wilmerding, great-granddaughter of Commodore Vanderbilt, belle of the New York "400," who sank to the point of a bigamous marriage with the valet of a millionaire, and now is, who knows where?

Florence Schenck BEFORE Running Away with Alfred Vanderbilt's Horse Trainer, Wilson

"The arm of retribution is long, and even now it may be stretching out to grip Floretta Whaley and her innocent little babies, whose father is Rev. Jere Cooke, the minister who betrayed his vows, his church and his wife to run away with the little Hempstead heiress."

The Newest Picture of Floretta Whaley and Her Second Baby.

Florence Schenck TO-DAY, Abandoned and Penniless in Paris, Paying the Penalty of Her Sin.

And, again, there was Mrs. Antonio Ruiz, wife of a member of the Cuban Legation at Washington, whom he divorced, and who killed herself in her London apartment after Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt had ceased calling upon her. Was Floretta Whaley's act less culpable?

How about the innumerable instances in all parts of the world bearing out the Biblical warning: "Be sure thy sin shall find thee out!" Does not this mean that if Floretta Whaley and her ex-clergyman companion have thus far escaped definite and final disaster it is merely an instance of retribution deferred? That the future holds yet in store for them sorrows or misfortunes that will balance the scales in which their offense is weighed?

Social conventions are ruthless. In placing the blame and prescribing the punishment for this sort of sinners they do not discriminate between the two whose conduct was irregular and gave offense. They are equally guilty and are expected to share equally in consequences.

Yet, in the case of Floretta Whaley and the Rev. Jere Cooke, most of the individuals who compose society doubtless would be glad to see the girl spared further punishment. Her extreme youth and probable ignorance at the time of her downfall, and the position of extraordinary trust and moral authority and responsibility occupied by the man in the case, tend to make her appear rather in the light of an innocent victim than as an accomplice.

Who is there that does not remember, almost in detail, that hardly believable scandal of five years ago, that nauseous taint that entwined even the altar of a church?

Floretta Whaley, a mere child at that time, lived in Hempstead, L. I., with her grandmother, Mrs. Keziah Whaley. She was the favorite of two orphaned little girls, and was reputed to be the acknowledged heiress to the grandmother's comfortable fortune.

The Rev. Jere Knodde Cooke, a man of magnetic personality and a social favorite in that rich and fashionable Long Island colony, was further popular and influential as rector of St. George's Episcopal Church—the fashionable church of Hempstead, with August Belmont for its senior warden and a dozen other families of social importance and wealth for its chief supporters. The Rev. Cooke was married to an estimable woman of deep, religious convictions. The husband, of a more expansive nature, a more worldly outlook, than those of his wife, was, perhaps, the more popular of the two. It appeared afterward that they had not agreed with each other very well for some time past.

Now, the father of Floretta Whaley, in dying, had committed his two little girls to the care of the Rev. Cooke, pastor of his church—the man who, above all other men, he trusted, in his capacity of virtual guardian, as well as spiritual advisor, the Rev. Cooke had access at any and all times to the home of Floretta Whaley. It appears that he could not have improved this privilege much more thoroughly if he had been a member of the family.

The Rev. Cooke was so well liked and so respected in Hempstead that no unpleasant construction was placed on his growing companionship with pretty Floretta Whaley. The scandal burst with the force and unexpectedness of a secret infernal machine.

One day the Rev. Cooke was missing. On the previous day Floretta

Whaley, with $50 in her purse, had been permitted to go to New York to "purchase a costume." Late that night her grandmother received her fearful letter explaining that she had eloped with the rector of St. George's.

In the efforts of the church authorities—quite fruitless—to trace the flight of their pastor, it was discovered that for some time past he had been preparing for that flight. He had drawn his savings from the local bank, and, in addition, had obtained in cash an advance of $1,500 on his annual stipend.

As to Floretta Whaley, the grandmother now told how she had grown suspicious of the clergyman's constant visits, and once had forbidden him to come to her house. The broken-hearted grandmother also called recent unaccountable fits of tears and depression of spirits in Floretta. Her letter made all clear: "I know this is a dreadful thing to do, but I cannot help myself. I love you, I love Edna (her sister), I love auntie, but I love Mr. Cooke better than all."

A mysterious letter from the Rev. Cooke to August Belmont, the nature of which can be imagined, put a sudden stop to the strenuous efforts instituted to bring back the recalcitrant pastor and the girl he had betrayed. They were free to make their long flight to the Pacific coast unmolested, and there, while two children came to add to their burdens, to fight their uphill battle for a livelihood. Before any sort of security against starvation was gained they suffered more than two years of the bitterest privation. That they finally succeeded—as above referred to—stands to the credit of the recalcitrant pastor. He was willing and able to work with his hands.

Mrs. Cooke's attitude following her husband's elopement was characteristic, in keeping with her strong religious convictions. She authorized her attorney, Sidney S. Clarke, of Hartford, Conn.—her old home—to say for publication:

"Mrs. Cooke will never seek a divorce herself, nor will she consent to an action for divorce on his part. If he attempts to secure a divorce, he will instantly be arrested and brought back to New York for trial."

This was after the pair had been located in California, and after the birth of their first child. The broken, but still loving grandmother said:

"I have begged Mrs. Cooke to divorce her husband for Floretta's sake, but she has said to me: 'No. Let them live on in their shame.' Now that there is a child, it seems to me that this step is almost imperative. But I do not think even this will cause Mrs. Cooke to relent. I have little faith in the man who wronged my child. I have kept her room and her money for her against the time when he will have discarded her and she has nowhere to turn."

Little Edna Whaley, though only fourteen years old, crystallized a whole homily in her passionate utterance:

"If Floretta returns with her baby I would not go back to school. I should feel so disgraced. I could not bear to face my schoolmates."

And now Floretta Whaley is back in Hempstead with her two little boys—not in rags and despair, but prosperous and hopeful, welcome at the home of her grandmother, who a legacy of some few thousand dollars due to her. And—most unexpected of all in this reversal of the usual conditions in such cases—Mrs. Cooke, the abandoned wife, has experienced a change of heart in the girl's favor. Being interviewed at the home of her parents in Hartford, Conn., she said:

"When my husband first brought this disgrace upon us, I firmly resolved that he should never be free to marry that girl, so long as I lived. Since that time I have been daily counselling with God, and by Him I have been advised that my marriage to Cooke was merely a 'man-made' marriage, and not a 'God-made' marriage.

"Therefore, in the near future I will institute a divorce action in the courts here and release myself from that man and permit him and the girl to do whatever they please."

Probably it was the receipt of a hint of this good news that encouraged Floretta and the father of her boys to return and face those whom they had so cruelly disgraced. The prospect of reopening, so far as is possible, the humiliating errors of five years ago seems to have enabled Floretta Whaley to bear with equanimity the raised eyebrows and the sidelong glances of recognition which greeted her reappearance in the streets of Hempstead.

She knew that her grandmother's arms would be open to her. That was a pathetic scene, her arrival in her old home. Grandmother and grandchild threw themselves into each other's arms. Both wept, but neither spoke about the cause of Floretta's long absence.

Will Floretta and her companion remain in the East until he has secured his promised freedom to make her his wife? Will they have in the scene of their disgrace a wedding five years delayed? Will this ceremony reconcile Edna Whaley to the presence of Floretta and her babies, enable her to face again, unshamed, her old schoolmates?

Or, are Floretta Whaley and her companion still to taste the fullest bitterness of their sin, in accordance with the inscrutable destiny that seems to rule in most affairs of this kind?

STEADY MARKET ON THE OPENING

Quotations About Like Those at the Close, With Quality Better—Heat Makes Sticky Buying.

Monday's opening of the live stock market at the Union Yards did not vary materially in quotations from the figures given at the close on Friday with weak spots in the buying characterizing the dealings of the day.

The supply was good, with the quality of cattle above that of last week. More exporters and fewer cows were offered. The small live stock offered some, but in comparison with the offerings of last week, and the attendant weaknesses, the buyers were contented more to the smaller stuff, and butchers were not creating a hearty demand.

Exporters were fairly strong at the opening and the buying was brisk for the day. As the good grades were picked up, trading became more dull, with slight offers on rough stock. Hogs had a steady, and the prices went down 15 cents a hundred. Fat sheep were quoted at $12.00, and the offerings of wild calves and lambs were easy at close quotations, as the quality was not as good as last week's offerings.

The extreme heat had a bad effect on the dealing and several of the wholesale butchers, as well as sellers, did not appear at their offices.

Coughlin & Co. sold at the Union Yards yesterday: Exporters—1, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 2, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 3, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 4, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 5, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 6, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 7, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 8, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 9, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 10, 1200 lbs., at $1.15.

Representative Deals. T. Crawford & Co. sold two loads of butchers at 1100 lbs. each, at $1.15; 1200 lbs. each, at $1.15; 1300 lbs. each, at $1.15; 1400 lbs. each, at $1.15; 1500 lbs. each, at $1.15; 1600 lbs. each, at $1.15; 1700 lbs. each, at $1.15; 1800 lbs. each, at $1.15; 1900 lbs. each, at $1.15; 2000 lbs. each, at $1.15.

George Robinson bought for the Harris Abattoir at the Union Yards 600 cattle, at $2.00; 1200 lbs. each, at $1.15; 1800 lbs. each, at $1.15; 2400 lbs. each, at $1.15; 3000 lbs. each, at $1.15; 3600 lbs. each, at $1.15; 4200 lbs. each, at $1.15; 4800 lbs. each, at $1.15; 5400 lbs. each, at $1.15; 6000 lbs. each, at $1.15.

Receipts on the C. P. R. for Monday were: Cattle, 1, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 2, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 3, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 4, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 5, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 6, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 7, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 8, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 9, 1200 lbs., at $1.15; 10, 1200 lbs., at $1.15.

Dr. J. M. MacKay, the celebrated specialist on alcoholism, who has recently returned from Europe, will be in Toronto during the month of July for the purpose of giving consultations free to any serious cases of alcoholism or drunkards. He can be seen at any time after July 1, at his residence, No. 144 Roxborough-street, corner Avenue-road.

Dr. J. M. MacKay discovered the treatment bearing his name, and which was adopted by the government of the Province of Quebec a number of years ago, and which is now in constant use, giving marvelous results. He is not connected with any institution, as his treatment and cure of alcoholism requires only home care and attention.

Sudden Break in New York

SPECIALS GO TO FRONT Long-Anticipated Move in Toronto Ralls—New Rumor on Company — Brazilians in the Background

With Rio and Sao Paulo, the erstwhile speculative leaders in the market, relegated to the time being to the background, more attention is being paid to some of the specialties in the Toronto Stock Exchange. Such an occurrence is, of course, only natural if we are to judge from the movement in the Toronto market.

Toronto Ralls moved into the limelight in the market on Monday and the long-anticipated bulge finally came to pass. The shares moved up to 14 1/2 points from the previous day.

MONTEAL, July 6.—The week opened with more activity in local stocks than in any previous week. The Toronto Ralls, which had been quiet for some days last week, but new features were again lacking and price changes for the most part were small and unimportant.

BIG GAINS IN EARNINGS OF OUR RAILWAYS Losses earnings of all Canadian railroads reported to date for the four months ending June show an increase of 13.1 per cent.

CLEWS-SCENTS GOOD TIMES AHEAD Harry Clews, member N.Y. stock-exchange, sounds an optimistic note in his weekly market letter. He says in part:

BUSINESS MORTALITY IN CANADA Business failures in Canada and Newfoundland for first half of 1912 and 1911. Assets and liabilities, were as follows:

TORONTO IS 9TH IN BANK CLEARINGS Toronto dropped back into ninth place in the standing of the cities of this continent in bank clearings last week.

MORE LIFE TO SPECULATION IN MONTREAL MONTREAL, July 6.—The week opened with more activity in local stocks than in any previous week.

ANOTHER DROP IN BRITISH CONSOLS LONDON, July 6.—Money dearer. Discounted for fear of a stringency.

COPPERS ARE WEAK Charles Hepp and Co., to J. E. Osborne: Market opened heavy, being affected possibly by the bad character of the bank statement, which showed a contraction of reserves.

SHARP DECLINE IN STOCK LIST Renewal of Liquidating Movement Brought Sudden Setback in New York Market — News Favored Bears

NEW YORK, July 8.—Last week's poor bank statement, which uncovered an actual deficit in the reserves and a much larger loss of cash than was expected, and the chances of an unfavorable showing in the monthly statement of the Copper Producers' Association and the government crop report, both of which are to be issued to-morrow, combined to produce a weak and feverish stock market today.

Worry Over Crops Ground for apprehension regarding crops was furnished by the July report of the middle western states, none of which was of an optimistic character.

BANK RECORD IN CANADA AND ACROSS LINE Bank exchanges throughout Canada last week made a very satisfactory showing. The total of all cities cleared $1,245,000,000.

SOUTHERN ISSUES IN LONDON Messrs. Bailie, Wood & Croft report the following statement for London (Canadian equivalents):

COTTON MARKETS A continuation of Saturday's buying movement carried new crop options up around the 12-cent level before the urgent demand was filled. Heavy realizing, estimated as fully 150,000 bales for the account of strong local interests, took the steam of the advance, and prices weakened during the last session.
