MONEY AND SUPPLIES POURING INTO FERNIE

Appeal for Help Has Met With Wonderful Response --Thirty Bodies Have Been Recovered From the Ruins.

Vancouver, Aug. 4 (Special).—So far there have been found in the vicinity of thirty bodies in and around Fernie. Scores of people declare that they left their homes behind and they have little hope of ever seeing them again. There seems to be little doubt but that the loss of life will reach the 150 mark. The work of relief is being conducted along the most systematic lines under the direction of Mayor Tuttle. Carloads of all kinds of provisions are arriving rapidly and are being dealt out in the most careful manner. There are no scenes of looting, such as characterized the San Francisco disaster and everything is going along quietly and in order. The response to the appeal for help has been something marvelous and it is more than likely that more than sufficient money will be received to rebuild the town. The following bodies have been recovered:

Four unrecognizable bodies found in the old town hall.
Two bodies of lumber jacks, unidentified.
A child unidentified and beside it the body of a small infant.
Two men found on the outskirts of Fernie.
Man burned beyond recognition in the ruins of the Waldorf Hotel.
Engineer Anderson, of Homer Mines.
John Ford, storeman, Mrs. Ford, his wife, and two Ford children.
Lena Bell, a negro.
Mrs. Turner, aged woman.
Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 4 (Special).—Sir Wilfrid Laurier is still without a reply to his telegram Premier McBratton offering the services of the northwest mounted police to assist in the relief of the unfortunate people of Fernie. The minister will meet this afternoon to consider a grant towards the relief fund.

NEWS FROM FREDERICTON

Waverly Hotel Charged With Third Offence Against the Canada Temperance Act.

Fredericton, N. B., Aug. 4 (Special).—John Johnson, of the Waverly Hotel, was before the police court this morning, charged with a third offence under the Canada Temperance Act. The chief witness against him was Holly Stewart, a young man who was arrested on a warrant at White's Cove last week and brought here to give evidence. He swore that he had visited the Waverly Hotel on several occasions during the month of June and purchased liquor. The case is being continued this afternoon. Game Warden Dean, of Musquash, is here today and will probably go to Magalloway to investigate the alleged moose killing case on the Portables stream. Some of the aldermen have made the discovery that the city is paying for too many telephones for the use of civic officials and steps will be taken to reduce the number. It has also been found that the city is paying rental on four post office boxes and the number will be reduced to one. Fishery Inspector Harrison has received a complaint against a local hardware man for fishing salmon with a rod in the pool at Hart's Island on Sunday last. As there is nothing in the Dominion law against fly fishing for salmon on Sundays it is unlikely that the case will be proceeded with. Detective Kilen of St. John is spending a few days in the city. Last evening he visited the police station and had a look at Perry Brown under arrest for robbing a stealer. He says that the prisoner is a total stranger to him. Brown says he belongs to Orlowton, Maine, and has been in the province only three weeks. A number of prominent horsemen from different points have arrived for the racing meeting. Tomorrow's events will be the fifth and twenty-five classes and good sport is promised.

HOME FROM QUEBEC

Hon. R. J. Ritchie and Mrs. Ritchie returned on Monday from Quebec. They were accompanied by their daughter, Miss Ritchie, and also spent a few days in the Dominion before leaving for their homes. Lord Roberts, the judge remarked that the Ritchies were a well known and distinguished family and that the Ritchies were a well known and distinguished family and that the Ritchies were a well known and distinguished family.

COUNT ZEPPELIN STARTS ON ANOTHER AERIAL RUN

He Started This Morning on a Trip Which Will Keep Him Twenty-four Hours in the Air.

Constance, Ger., Aug. 4.—The weather was excellent this morning, when at 6:30 o'clock Count Zeppelin's great air ship emerged from the swimming dock at Friedrichshafen. The airship rose immediately from the waters of the lake for about 100 feet and after describing one magnificent circle over the lake proceeded to a bee line for this city, arriving here at 6:55 o'clock. The ship continued on its way and within one hour had covered 45 kilometres and was over Schaffhausen. From that point it continued along the Rhine to Basel. Count Zeppelin plans to continue to Mayence along the Rhine and from there return to Metz, cross over to Stuttgart and return if the weather continues favorable, to Friedrichshafen at about seven o'clock tomorrow morning. The day and the hour when the ascent was to be made were kept secret until late last night and not even the imperial commissioners nor the special commissioners appointed to accompany Count Zeppelin on the voyage were present. The only official taking part in the flight, Major Grafdruff, who reports the German government.

Basel, August 4.—Count Zeppelin's airship left this morning at 6:30 o'clock on a card dropped from the airship reads: "In the heights over Basel, it's well. Course above the towers of Strasbourg (Stippel) Zeppelin." Mathiasen, Germany, August 4.—Count Zeppelin's airship passed over this city at 7:20 this morning, and is going down the Rhine in the direction of Mayence. Constance, Aug. 4.—Although the day and the hour of the ascent of the airship had been strictly kept secret, long before daylight today the streets of Friedrichshafen presented a lively scene, for long experience had taught the natives that certain signs were evidence of a forthcoming ascension. Count Zeppelin arrived at the swimming dock accompanied by his nephew, Dr. Eckner, a well known sportsman of Hamburg, and Major Grafdruff, the only official representative. Neither the imperial commissioners nor the special commissioners were present. The count's usual official suite with the military motorists who intended to follow the flight had been notified nor invited. It was said that the count intended to make his flight quietly and without interference. At fifteen minutes after six the colossal body of the airship emerged slowly from the floating shed, towed by three launchers. Under the direction of Dr. Eckner the pontoons were towed out from underneath it and the airship hovered low over the still surface of the lake. Then slowly the nose of the ship was raised to a higher level. The noise of the propellers like the beating of giant drums, drowned all other sounds. The count himself, seated in his command "nest" rose horizontally to a height of about 400 feet and then swept away in the direction of Constance. He turned shortly, however, in a graceful circle and came back over the lake. So light and agile were her movements that the count seemed justified in starting his long journey of 24 hours without any previous trial trip and he started in the direction of Schaffhausen. His departure was the signal for prolonged cheering by the spectators who wished him a good voyage and safe return.

ANGLIN TO BE STEWARD OF PROVINCIAL HOSPITAL

COMMISSIONERS DECIDE Important Changes in Management of the Institution Decided Upon This Morning—Dr. Anglin Will Receive $5,000 Per Year and Combine His Own and W. A. Quinton's Duties.

Important changes in the management of the Provincial Hospital for the treatment of nervous diseases were made this morning by the members of the local government sitting as commissioners of the hospital. Chief among these was the removal of William A. Quinton from the office of steward of the hospital which he now holds and the making of an arrangement by which Dr. Anglin the present superintendent of the hospital will perform Mr. Quinton's duties in connection with his own and receive a salary of $5,000. The salary at present paid to Dr. Anglin as superintendent is $4,000 and in addition to this he has free house rent and an allowance for servants' salaries bringing his total remuneration up to about $5,300. The commissioners decided that after November 1 Dr. Anglin shall be paid $5,000 and he shall surrender all his perquisites formerly allowed. In addition he shall perform the duties of steward now performed by Mr. Quinton without extra pay and, under the instructions of the commission will purchase all supplies for the institution. The salary now paid to Mr. Quinton is $1,700 per year and this sum is practically saved by the change as the only extra payment entailed will be a small amount to the former steward at the farm. Hon. J. D. Hazen, Hon. John Morrissey and Hon. Robert Maxwell have been appointed a committee to carry out the details of the change. Another important matter considered this morning was the purchase of supplies for the institution. The contracts under which these are purchased expire on Oct. 31st, and much of the time at this morning's meeting was taken up with the preparation of new schedules for tenders. It was decided to considerably increase the list of goods for which tenders will be called and many articles formerly purchased at private sale will in future be bought under contract. Tenders will be advertised about the middle of September. The commissioners will meet again this afternoon and tomorrow morning will visit the hospital. The local government will also meet this afternoon. Among other matters they will hear an application for a subsidy from the Grand Manan S. S. Co. proprietors of the steamer Aurora. A sub-committee composed of Messrs Gummer, Fleming and McLeod this afternoon at the Royal Hotel at 2:30 heard Thomas Bell representing the Perth Lumber Co. Under the former administration the company conducted lumbering operations on the Grand Manan in Victoria county without competition. Mr. Bell seeks to have the arrangement continued.

A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION RESULTED FROM A MATCH

Workman Lighted a Match to Find Leak in Gas Tank and Building Was Wrecked.

Winona, Minn., Aug. 4.—Anton Pelowski last night struck a match in hunting a leak in a gas tank in the purifying building of the Winona Gas Company and a terrific explosion followed, setting fire to the building and causing heavy damage. The city was left without gas light and it may be some days before the service is again resumed. The four walls of the building were blown out and the roof shattered. The fire was extinguished after a hard fight in offensive fumes. Several men were injured, one of whom may die.

A WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

About thirty-five of Mr. and Mrs. John Akery's friends assembled at their home, Watson street, West End, last evening, to bring their fifteenth wedding anniversary. Soon after those present gathered at the home of Mrs. Akery and Mrs. Akery forward, and after referring briefly to the high esteem in which they were held by their friends, presented them on behalf of those present with a handsome dinner set. Mr. and Mrs. Akery both replied, thanking their devotees most heartily for their remembrance. After refreshments had been served and ample justice done the same, the happy gathering broke up about midnight.

OUT OF THE HEAT

The Eastern Steamship Company's steamer Calvin Austin arrived at 9 o'clock this morning and landed 338 passengers. This almost equal the banner trip of the season. Toronto, Ont., Aug. 4 (Special).—Among other things a new temperance policy will be proposed at the fifth session of the Anglican general synod which opens at Ottawa next month. The committee on temperance recommends the uncutting of the bars, making it illegal for miners to enter bars, the shortening of hours of sale by local option and that full advantage be taken of the adoption of local option under the present license system. The committee opines that under government ownership, places should be opened to a limited extent where intoxicants could be obtained but where non-intoxicating drinks should be made a feature and a commission on their sale given to the salesman.

MR. BORDEN MAY RUN IN HALIFAX

Halifax, August 4.—The Conservatives have practically completed arrangements to hold a convention within a few days. Mr. R. E. Borden has definitely decided to be one of the candidates. His Majesty was refused admission to one of the coast forts here just before his departure for Sweden. The Emperor, accompanied by several officers, the entire party being in civilian dress, approached the entrance to the west battery where the sentry on duty prevented their further progress. His Majesty was much amused at the occurrence and again vainly tried to pass. Then he said to the sentry, "You must let me enter. Don't you know me? I am the Emperor." The sentry then looked more closely at the Emperor, not quite reassured, but eventually recognized His Majesty's features as he presented arms and allowed him to pass. The Emperor reported the occurrence to the officer of the guard at St. Fort, praising the soldier's sense of duty and recommending his promotion.

Warship's Achievement a Distinct Triumph for the Parsons Turbine Engine.

Cowes, Aug. 4.—The Indomitable, which brought the Prince of Wales from Quebec, during four hours in the early part of the voyage, made 28.5 knots an hour. Although for the 2,000 miles from land to land, she beat the record of the Cunard Line ships, the vessel was not stripped to exhaustion and her crew, who carried her heavy guns, her magazines full of ammunition and all the equipment of a modern warship, were not fatigued. The Indomitable passed more than fifty icebergs, but encountered little fog after leaving Belle Isle. No hitch occurred from the start to the finish of the voyage. The Prince of Wales took the keepest interest in the speed trial.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

INTERESTING VISITOR.

Constantinople, Aug. 4 (Special).—The Young Turkish party is sending a duly accredited representative to Canada to study the system of take-offs and vote-buying under responsible government. They are much interested in what is known as the graft system, and believe from what they have been able to learn that there is more in it for a patriot than in the methods in vogue in Turkey. Their representative will spend some time in Canada. He thought of taking his own grub with him, but, owing to some doubt whether he would be able to get away with them from Ottawa, the idea was abandoned.

The KING OF DIAMONDS

By LOUIS TRACY

Author of: "The Wings of the Morning," "The Pillar of Light," Etc. Copyrighted by McLeod & Allen, Toronto.

No one thought of connecting the great storm with the "Diamond Mystery." Meteors usually fall from a clear sky and are in no way affected by atmospheric disturbances, their normal habit being far beyond the influence of the earth's envelope of air.

And so the "hunt for the meteor" commenced, and was kept up with zest for many days. "Have you found it?" became the stock question of the hour, and might be addressed with impunity to any stranger, particularly if the stranger were a nice-looking girl. No one answered "What?" because of the weird replies that were forthcoming.

The police failed utterly in their efforts to discover Philip's identity or residence. Johnson's Mews, Mile End Road, might as well be in Timbuctoo for all the relation it bore to Ludgate Hill or Hatton Garden. All East End policemen might have recognized Philip had he seen him, but the official description of his clothing and personal appearance applied to thousands of hobnobbers in every district of London.

Two persons among the six millions of the metropolis have possessed the knowledge that would have led the inquiry along the right track. The doctor who attended Mrs. Anson in her last illness, had read the newspaper comments on the boy's speech and mannerisms, might have seen the coincidence supplied by the Christian name, and thus been led to make some further investigation. But his hands were full of trouble on his own account. A dispenser mixed a prescription wrongly, and dosed a patient with half an ounce of arsenic instead of half an ounce of cream of tartar. The subsequent inquest gave the doctor enough to pursue contained a rare reference to the "Diamond Mystery," as revealing no further developments. He passed the paragraph unread.

The remaining uncertain element centered in old O'Brien, the pensioner. Now it chanced that the treasury had discovered that by a clerical mistake in a warrant, the old man had been drawing two pence a day in excess of his rightful pension for thirty-three years. Some humorist in Whitehall thereupon sent him a demand for one hundred and three pounds and fifteen shillings, and the member of the Whitechapel Division was compelled to adopt stern tactics in the House before the matter was adjusted, and O'Brien was allowed to receive the reduced quarterly stipend then due. During that arduous crisis the poor, old fellow hardly ate or slept. Even when he lay in bed, the notion remained firmly fixed in his mind that the "murderer" government had robbed him of a hundred guineas sovereigns, an more.

As for newspapers, the only item he read during many days was the question addressed by his "niece" to the Chancellor of the Exchequer and the brief reply thereto, both of which were fixed before hand by mutual arrangement. In one instance the name given and afterward repudiated by the boy did attract some attention. On the Monday following the remand, a lady sat at breakfast in a select West End Hotel, and languidly perused the record of the case until her eye caught the words "Philip Moreland." Then her air of delicate haughtiness vanished, and she left her breakfast untouched until, with hawlike curving of neck and nervous clutching of hands, she had read every line of the police court romance. She was a tall, thin, aristocratic-looking woman, with eyes set too closely together, a curved nose, like the beak of a bird, and her hands covered with a leathery skin suggesting talons. Her attire and pose were elegant, but she did not seem to be a pleasant sort of person. Her lips parted in a vinegary smile as she read. She evidently did not believe one word of the newspaper report in so far as the diamonds were concerned.

"A vulgar swindle!" she murmured to herself. "How is it possible for a policeman to be taken in in such a manner? I suppose the Jew person knows more about it than appears on the surface. But how came the boy to give that name? It is sufficiently uncommon to be remarkable. How stupid it was of Julie to misty my dressing case. It would be interesting to know what has become of those people, and now I may have to leave town before I can find out. How much further her disjunct comments might have gone, it is impossible to say, but at that moment a French maid entered the room and gazed inquiringly around the various small tables with which it was filled. At her sound the lady, who was breakfasting alone, and sped swiftly toward her.

"If an old girl, milady," she said, speaking in French. "The bag has found itself at the police station. The cabman brought it there, and, if you please, milady, as the value was given as eight pounds, he claimed a reward of one pound."

"Which you will pay yourself. You lost the bag," was the curt reply. "Where is it?" "The maid's voice was somewhat tearful as she answered: "In milady's room. I paid the sovereign."

Her ladyship rose and glided gracefully toward the door, followed by the maid, who whispered to a French water-bearer most deferentially to the guest as he held the door open—that her mistress was a lady. He confided his own opinion that her ladyship was a holy pig, and the passed along a corridor. Lady Moreland hastily tore open the recovered dressing case, and consulted an

LITTLE GIRLS ARE SWEET EST IN LINGERIE GARB.

The finest of laces and batistes are employed for the afternoon frocks and hats of the little girls who are passing the summer at fashionable resorts. No matter how simply made these frocks are, there is usually about them an air of daintiness. This effect is due to its appearing in the form of wide or narrow flappings and ruffles, combined with the tiniest of Valenciennes or Chantilly lace headings. The lingerie hats are somewhat on the Cordouan order, made over wire frames from which the embroidery sections—crown and brim ruffles—may be detached and conveniently laundered.

address book. "Oh! here it is," she cried, triumphant. "Number three, Johnson's Mews, Mile End Road, E. What a horrid-smelling place. However, Messrs. Sharpe & Smith will now be able to obtain some definite intelligence for me. Julie! My carriage in ten minutes."

Thus it happened that during the afternoon, a dapper little clerk descended from an omnibus in the neighborhood of Johnson's Mews, and began his inquiries as all Londoners do, by consulting a policeman. Certain facts were forthcoming.

"A Mrs. Anson, a widow, who lived in Johnson's Mews? Yes, I think a woman of that name died a few weeks ago. I remember seeing a funeral leave the house. I don't know anything about the matter. As it was, they only saw a man. Sometimes when I pass through there at night, I have a light in the house. However, here it is. Let's have a look at it."

The pair entered the mews and approached the deserted house. The solicitor's clerk knocked and then tried the door; it was locked. They both went to the window and looked in. Had Philip been there, he would have been surprised by the spectacle that would have met their eyes. As it was, there lay a small room of utmost wretchedness, with a mattress lying on the floor in front of the window and a bundle of old letters resting on a rickety chair, and a piece of sack was thrust through two broken panes in the small window opposite.

"Not much there, eh?" laughed the policeman. "The floor is all covered with dirt, and if it were not for the bed, one might be tempted to think the house was entirely deserted. Are you sure Mrs. Anson is dead?"

"Oh, quite sure. Here was rather a hard case. I was the undertaker. He lives near here."

"I don't know. I haven't seen him lately."

Each of these men had read all the reports concerning Philip and his diamonds. Large number of tiny white pebbles were lying on the floor beneath their eyes, but the window was not clean, and the light was far from good, as the sky was cloudy.

"I will just ask the undertaker to give me a letter, stating the facts about Mrs. Anson's death. I suppose the boy is in the workhouse?"

"Who knows! It often befalls me to tell what's become of the kids who are left alone in London. Poor little devil, they mostly go to the pad. They should be sent to the workhouse."

Thus did Philip, bravely sustaining his heart in the solitude of a prison, escape the greatest danger that threatened the preservation of his secret, and all because a scheming woman was too clever to tell her solicitors the exact reason for her anxiety concerning the whereabouts of Mrs. Anson and her son.

The boy passed a dolorous Saturday night and Sunday. Nevertheless, the order, the cleanliness, the comparative comfort of a prison, were not wholly ungrateful to him. His meals, though crude, were wholesome, luxurious, even, compared with the privations he had endured during the previous fortnight. The enforced rest, too, did him good, and being under remand, he had nothing to do but eat, take exercise, read a few books provided for him, and sleep.

Lewis Harrison, who has been here for several days in the interest of the translation of the Old Testament into Yiddish, in which he is engaged, will leave today for Montreal. He said yesterday that he had received little financial support here.

In the probate court yesterday, in the estate of Geo. Doherty, licensed tavern keeper, it was announced that the seven children have agreed upon a division in conformity with the terms of the will, and the division was confirmed. The only outstanding bill at the time of the death was one for medical attendance. The accounts were passed. The two executors, Messrs. Egan and Hugh Doherty, on being asked as to commissions, replied that the settlement of the estate was so easily accomplished that they considered they had not earned five per cent. and that one per cent. to each was ample. This was ordered accordingly, the court commending the executors. The estate was: real estate, $2,700; personal estate about $10,000; Daniel Mullin, proctor.

MUCH BUSINESS DONE BY THE COUNCIL YESTERDAY

Resolution Telling Board of Trade to Mind Its Own Business is Thrown Out After Much Discussion --Move to Protect King Square.

At the monthly meeting of the Common Council yesterday a by-law was proposed imposing a fine of $4 or ten days imprisonment for walking on the grass or injuring the flower beds in King Square. The resolution was taken in view of the early commencing of the hot season. An investigation was held under oath with regard to the recent accident to the Lullow was ordered. The report of the board of trade being $12,000 St. John Railway Company to pay $12,000 a year in lieu of repairing the streets was adopted. The sum of $500 was voted for street signs. An animated discussion arose on a resolution in the board of works report recommending that the board of trade be informed the council was competent to appoint its own officials. The resolution was finally struck out. The mayor occupied the chair and with the exception of Ald. Rickert and Christie, all the aldermen were present with the common clerk. The report of the treasury board was adopted without discussion. The report of the board of works being taken up, on motion to appropriate $500 for general revenue for the purpose of putting up street signs, Ald. Rowan asked what course should be adopted by the board of works which wished to change the name of a street. Ald. Baxter said it had been the custom to make a motion to change the name and allow the matter to stand until the next meeting of the council to receive objections. Ald. McGowan said he hoped the committee would have charge of placing the signs would not be done on enameled letters. Such were suitable only in inland cities. The enamel would not stand the damp. He recommended painting the signs.

Ald. McGoldrick said the committee would be pleased to have the advantage of the alderman's experience when they met. The session was adopted. A resolution relating to the communication from the board of trade on the question of appointing a director of public works caused considerable discussion. The recommendation sent up by the board of works was as follows: Your board have also had before them a communication from the secretary of the board of trade stating that the board has appointed a committee to act with a committee from the common council regarding improvement to streets and the appointment of a competent man to take charge of the public works department and they recommend that the common clerk inform the board that the city council is fully competent to appoint its own officials. On motion to adopt the section, Ald. McGowan (interjecting)—"We know we're bad," (laughter).

Ald. Frink—"Yes, we know we're bad, and no doubt if we can't do better we ought to resign. I'm not disposed to modify the section of the report, but I think the board of trade should mind its own business."

Ald. McGoldrick remarked that he was a member of the board of trade and had as much respect for that body as anyone, but he thought that the seventeen men at the council had brains enough to manage their own affairs. After some further discussion, an amendment to strike the section out was declared lost.

Ald. Frink called the mayor's attention to the fact that Ald. Lewis had not voted. Ald. Kelley and Ald. Elkin said they had not voted either as they came in late. Ald. Willet (pointing at the clock)—"It's thirty-five minutes past the hour."

Ald. Kelley (sharply)—"The nose of your business if I'm an hour late." The amendment was then put again and carried.

On the section to accept the offer of the St. John Railway Company to pay $12,000 a year for ten years in lieu of repairing the streets, Ald. Baskin pointed out that certain streets on the west side were not mentioned in the list attached. If these were not included he said the amount to be paid would be too small. The common clerk said he thought possibly the wrong list had been copied. It was pointed out by several aldermen that the case was met by the wording of the resolution, which read: "care and repair of the streets upon which present tracks now run."

Ald. Baskin thought there were several streets not mentioned which were less than 60 feet wide and which the company should repair from curb to curb. He moved an amendment to refer the matter back. The amendment was lost. Ald. Baskin, Scully, Willet, Vanwart and Kelley voted aye; Ald. Hamm, Elkin, Lewis, McGowan, Holder, McGoldrick, Frink, Baxter, Rowan and Sprout voted nay. The report was then adopted. On motion of Ald. McGoldrick it was decided to pay $100 to the estate of the late harbor master and $75 to Frank D. Alward, for his services. The report of the safety board was taken up. On motion of Ald. Rowan, a section renewing a lease to the Faversham committee to remove any material be considered on properties at Greenhead was referred back for further consideration. Ald. Elkin objected to the section recommending that the bills and by-laws committee be instructed to amend the fire by-law so as to provide that no hay or straw shall be placed or kept on any wharf or in any warehouse on any wharf in the city. It was ridiculous, he said, to suppose that hay could not be landed. After some discussion the section was changed, and the bills and by-laws committee were instructed to draw up a by-law for the regulation of placing or keeping hay or straw on any wharf or in any warehouse. Ald. Elkin wanted the next section, giving the chief of the fire department authority to remove any material be considered dangerous, struck out. After some discussion, during which it was pointed out that the matter would again have to come before the council, the section was carried and the report adopted.

On motion of Ald. Baxter, the order of business was suspended to introduce a resolution relating to the preservation of King Square. Ald. Baxter said the chief of police had called his attention to the fact that there was no by-law in force for the regulation of the grass in King Square. It was probable that the new band stand would be opened on Thursday and some work on the grass was necessary. He then moved the adoption of a by-law imposing a fine of $4 or imprisonment for ten days on persons, other than employees in the execution of their duties, for walking on the grass or flowers or for injuring the seats in King Square. The by-law was unanimously adopted on motion of Ald. Baskin. An investigation under oath with regard to the recent accident to the Lullow at the east side flats was ordered. On motion of Ald. Hamm, the bills and by-laws committee were instructed to modify the by-law relating to blacksmiths being liable for obstructing the roadway while horses were being shod. On motion of Ald. Frink it was decided to notify Messrs. McArthur & McVey that the reinforced concrete pipe on section 2 of the water extension was not water-tight and to require the contractors to make the necessary repairs before September 1. The report of the water and sewerage board as submitted was adopted. On motion of Ald. Rowan the board was requested to bring in an estimate of the cost of extending the water and sewer main in Douglas avenue, and a report on the cost of extending a main in Adelaide road. A recommendation from the director that fifty feet of sewer be laid to the mountains, doctors now presenting "Cataractose." It relieves quickly and permanently cures Hay Fever. All druggists sell Cataractose. 15c to cure Hay Fever for $1.00.

ALL CAN HELP IN GOOD WORK

Manager Arnold Tells How Business Men Can Help to Boom the Coming Exhibition.

"How can I help the exhibition," asked a merchant Saturday after he had read the "Plain Talk" that appeared in the daily papers. "I'm willing to help, for I think the exhibition will do us a lot of good—we will be disappointed if it is not a great success—so just give me an idea how I can lend a hand."

"That is the substance of a conversation a prominent business man had with Manager Arnold on Saturday, and the answers given him and later, to representatives of the press, will give others some idea of how the big show can be assisted."

"These hardly a man in business," said Mr. Arnold, who cannot make an interesting exhibit if he sets his mind to the task in the least a manufacturer or who could not hold the attention of thousands with one of the machines of his trade in working order in machinery hall."

"Day after day business men try to draw the attention of the people to their goods, and they do it by every means in their power. They send their travellers all over the country with samples and prices, and yet they are willing to let a great opportunity to do some things pass by. They seem to forget that in an exhibition they can show to a tremendous number of people, and if they are wide awake, can, by having bright representatives in their booths, explain the nature, the quality, the excellence of their products."

"When wide awake merchants 1,000 miles away send exhibits to St. John at a great expense, one wonders why any local man should be at all backward. There is a lot of space in the big exhibition buildings. Much of it is taken already. Some of it is vacant yet, and the first enterprising, wide awake business men who apply are going to get that space."

"This is one way to help the show—by encouraging it. Another way is to help increase the attendance. A word from a friend to a friend is the best of advertising. Thousands of men in the country are still asleep. Some of them are in the city, and yet in how many of them is there a word about the exhibition?"

"Ask your customers in the country to come and see the show—tell them to pass the word along—it is only another line to your letter and it means something."

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the hearing restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sent free on request.

THE ALL-RED LINE Commercial interests in Canada are by no means of one opinion concerning the All-Red route and the character of the service which should be required. The Montreal Shareholder takes a conservative view of the matter, and a careful weighing of consequences rather than a swift rush into an experiment based on immature plans. We quote: "From recent discussions upon what is called the All-Red Route, we have come to the conclusion there are many (if not the majority) who have failed to grasp the full scope and meaning of the term. If its object be that, starting at the fountain head, Great Britain, one can travel to and through colony to colony round the world under one flag, then Sir William Van Horne was right in stating that such route was already in existence, but if it is intended that the steamships employed on the route should all have a capacity of 25 knots an hour speed, we join hands with the other Canadian Pacific Railway magnate, Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, in his warning for less sentiment and more commerce. It is one thing to subsidize steamers like the Lusitania and Mauretania, the cost of which to build and run will be three or four times as great as for the Empresses on the Liverpool and Quebec route, and quite another thing to make those steamers a paying investment. The subsidies are but a small help in such an undertaking and should Canada's share be put down at one or two millions, for which, of course, our people will have to be taxed, we have an undoubted right to ask what return we are to receive for such taxation. Is intercolonial trade to make a sudden upward bound in consequence of those steamers being built, so as to give the investors in the stock a satisfactory dividend? If this cannot be clearly shown upon purely business principles, we do not believe commercial men will be found willing to risk their money. There are some who shout a vast deal of kindly interest between them and the old home, and they may prefer an interchange of trade together, to purchasing or buying from an outsider, but neither the parent nor the offspring desire anything but a profitable exchange. Now Canada has made great strides of late years, as have other countries, and the must guard against that terrible malady of a swollen head. Her population is only some six millions, and that of Australia about four, so that we doubt whether both combined can furnish sufficient numbers of first class passengers to warrant the establishment of a regular service from 25 knots an hour steamers, while as for freight, the bulk of that, for which great speed is not essential, will always be shipped by the cheapest lines entailing the least amount of transshipment. John Bull is quite ready to take our wheat and other produce laid down at market value, but he would not be willing to have that value enhanced by Black Sod or other charges for the sake of receiving it a week or so sooner. So as regards Australian wool, which would continue to be shipped by steamers from Melbourne or Sydney to London, in spite of ocean greyhounds and fast C. P. R. or G. T. P. trains. All things considered, we think it would be well to pause and, putting sentiment aside, weigh thoroughly the pros. and cons. before rushing into an experiment the failure of which might give us a setback it would take years to retrieve."

LIBERTY AND THE TURK The wonder excited by the announcement that Turkey is to have constitutional government is universal. The following very interesting comment is from the New York American: "It seems almost too strange and extraordinary to be true that Abdul Hamid II, Sultan of Turkey, has proclaimed a constitution and granted amnesty to the political fugitives of his historic and varied empire. If really true, it is the most splendid and epoch-making news in recent decades. It is at once startling and sublime to realize that the Turk—the most formidable relic of barbaric autocracy—has yielded to the universal pressure of world-wide republicanism. It is wonderful—almost beyond belief. The story of the Turkish Empire is one of the receding chapters of history. Originally a tribe of Mongol rough riders, the Turks conquered and assimilated other peoples until, by sheer warlike energy, they laid siege to the brilliant remnant of the Eastern Roman Empire at Byzantium, now called Constantinople. The most splendid capital of remaining Roman and Greek civilization on the Mediterranean Sea at last fell into the bloody hands of the conquering Mongol. When Byzantine power was destroyed, civilization groaned. Only the immortal victory of the tempestuous Polish chieftain—a victory at last, but almost at the portals of Vienna—saved Europe from the tide of Asiatic and Mohammedan conquest. The Turks fell back to their seat of power at the Dardanelles, but in all the succeeding centuries they ruled ruthlessly by brute power over the territory that gave birth to white civilization. The descendants of the glorious Greeks, and the hot-headed Armenians, and the death-defying Albanians, and the Macedonians, and the peoples of the lands of Syria and Palestine and Asia Minor—where the stories of Nippur and Babylon and Nineveh and Jerusalem challenge the grandeur of our Western capitals—and the rude peoples of the rugged Balkans—the most motley millions ever ruled by one flag—became subjects of the Turk. Perhaps it is the chief disgrace of Europe that Europe did not drive him out. But there can be no question of the valor of the Turk. Deficient in enlightenment, he was magnificent on the field of battle. Formidable in his defiance of death, the Turk stayed in Europe and became the barbaric bugaboo of the modern world. His name became the synonym for cruelty, massacre and torture. But now behold the Young Turk Party, made up of descendants of the terrible warriors who stormed the walls of Byzantium, agitating for free government and getting it! With recognition of free government in Turkey at last, surely the friends of human freedom may throw pessimism aside and press forward, all over this blessed world, to the ultimate victory which will break every shackle and crush every artificial obstacle opposing liberty and equality."

A New York paper says:—"New York banks have sent $750,000 in gold to Canada, making nearly $4,000,000 dispatched to that country within the past two weeks. Canada is now busy harvesting the greatest wheat yield in her history, and she must have money with which to move the crop to elevators and to the seaboard."

Only the immortal victory of the tempestuous Polish chieftain—a victory at last, but almost at the portals of Vienna—saved Europe from the tide of Asiatic and Mohammedan conquest. The Turks fell back to their seat of power at the Dardanelles, but in all the succeeding centuries they ruled ruthlessly by brute power over the territory that gave birth to white civilization. The descendants of the glorious Greeks, and the hot-headed Armenians, and the death-defying Albanians, and the Macedonians, and the peoples of the lands of Syria and Palestine and Asia Minor—where the stories of Nippur and Babylon and Nineveh and Jerusalem challenge the grandeur of our Western capitals—and the rude peoples of the rugged Balkans—the most motley millions ever ruled by one flag—became subjects of the Turk. Perhaps it is the chief disgrace of Europe that Europe did not drive him out. But there can be no question of the valor of the Turk. Deficient in enlightenment, he was magnificent on the field of battle. Formidable in his defiance of death, the Turk stayed in Europe and became the barbaric bugaboo of the modern world. His name became the synonym for cruelty, massacre and torture. But now behold the Young Turk Party, made up of descendants of the terrible warriors who stormed the walls of Byzantium, agitating for free government and getting it! With recognition of free government in Turkey at last, surely the friends of human freedom may throw pessimism aside and press forward, all over this blessed world, to the ultimate victory which will break every shackle and crush every artificial obstacle opposing liberty and equality."

The New York Evening Post is somewhat vigorous in its criticism of the independence party candidates. We quote: "The independence party at Chicago has nominated for President Thomas L. Higon of Massachusetts; for Vice-President, John Temple Graves of Georgia. Mr. Higon, who has been a leader of the Hearst forces in New England, ran for Governor last year, as the candidate for the Independence League, when the League ticket received more votes than the regular Democratic. Beyond this, Mr. Higon is but little known to fame. John Temple Graves is a fire-eater of the Hearst type. As a journalist in Florida and Georgia—particularly as editor of the Atlanta Daily Georgian—he has been extremely bitter in his denunciation of the negro and his defence of lynching; and last year he came to New York to edit Hearst's American. It is too much to say that Mr. Graves is a demagogue of the cheapest type. The Independence platform fits the candidates. It advocates radicalism of every kind: it would exempt the farmer and wage-earner from the operation of the Sherman Anti-Trust law; it voices the other extreme demands of labor; and appeals to the worst passions of the mob. Higon and Graves stand no chance of election. It remains to be seen how far their presence in the field may damage Bryan. One thing is sure: they will help to keep Hearst in the public eye and increase the sale of his newspapers."

A New York paper says:—"New York banks have sent $750,000 in gold to Canada, making nearly $4,000,000 dispatched to that country within the past two weeks. Canada is now busy harvesting the greatest wheat yield in her history, and she must have money with which to move the crop to elevators and to the seaboard."

THE ENGLISHMAN'S JOKE. An American on a visit to London, took 'bus to the city every morning where he had a number of business deals. He always sat behind the driver. One day he noticed that on arriving at a certain corner, the driver turned his head, glanced to a and for a few times, and winked joyfully at an individual who stood at the door of a store. "Why do you do that?" the American asked. "Well," said the driver, taking his pipe from his mouth, "that's a little joke we have between us, but as we are old friends, you see, his father was asked."

PUBLIC PLAYGROUNDS

(Toronto News). "The eagerness with which the children in the various cities we visited took advantage of the public playgrounds provided for them was one of my principal impressions," said Parks Commissioner Wilson, who, with Ald. Vaughan, returned yesterday from visiting a number of United States cities to study the playgrounds question. "Another thing that I feel very strongly now," he added, "is that Toronto is woefully behind in this matter." In Chicago, he observed, the parks department, and have done a great deal. Boston has lately changed the public playgrounds from the Parks Department to the Education Department. In Chicago all the public playgrounds had a swimming pool which Mr. Wilson considered a splendid idea. All had sand courts, swings and teeters and other apparatus. There was great activity and zeal in all the cities visited in the matter of the playground.

HONEY TO BE CHEAPER

(Toronto News). Honey is likely to be a little lower in price this year. The Honey Crop Exporters' Association of the Ontario Beekeepers' Association are meeting to fix the schedule of prices for the ensuing year. They state that, while the bees are greatly reduced in number owing to two successive cold, wet springs, the clover crop this year is better than last, which will result in a slightly larger production of honey. Light extracted honey last year was twelve and one-half cents wholesale. This year it will probably be from ten to twelve cents.

A short time ago a surgeon had three leg amputations in a week. The unusual number caused talk in the surgeon's household, and his little daughter, Dorothy, was greatly interested. A few days after the last operation the surgeon's wife and little Dorothy were rummaging in the attic. In a trunk was found a Mrs. Talker-Diamonds are becoming rarer of age. The portrait, through a peculiarity of pose, showed only one leg of the subject, the other being doubled under her. "Whose picture is that, mamma?" asked Dorothy. "Mine. It was taken when I was a child not much older than you are now." "Did you know papa then?" "No, dear. Why do you ask?" "I thought maybe you did, 'cause you've got only one leg."—The Delineator.

COTTON LETTER.

Just before the close last night the bears made quite a strong raid on the market, but their offerings were well taken by the bulls and the result of the day must be further encouragement to those who had been rather friendly to the market, but inclined to hold off owing to the good weather, while smaller shorts are showing signs of uneasiness. It is improbable that the wet weather reported in the South has really caused any damage of consequence. Nevertheless, the complaints of much damage are having some effect on sentiment and the readiness with which the bulls are maintaining their position suggests that they sooner or later run into a spell of bad weather and crop news, in which event the upward movement would probably be sensational. Even with continued good weather, any material decline in price is questionable as so much progress has already been made toward discounting a bumper crop, this discount being very evident in the difference between the quotation for local cotton and the quotation for spot cotton. Until the near months here are selling somewhat near a figure that would make shipment from the South seem possible, the bulls have certainly the advantage of position over their opponents in addition to the fact that the long lines are concentrated in very strong hands and that the only part of the short interest is of a very strong character.

E. & C. RANDOLPH.

DETAILED STOCK GOSSIP.

After temporary irregularity some of the best information appears to expect improvement today in U. Pac. and Reading. M. K. & T. information continues to be bought on soft spots, also Loco. St. Paul is being sold on rallies by professional with stop order protection. The same may be said of Steel. For turn Smelters may be bought on recessions. We find a number of stocks refusing to accept offerings at upper limits, recently named, including Atchison, B. R. T. N. P., Penna., R. I. Pfd. and So. Pac. and until they are removed higher prices are not likely just now. Lead is tipped to cross 80. Those who bought option on the purchase below 30 should not neglect the good profits presented. The big fire is causing selling of C. P. R., but it may be bought on heavy activity as yet the pool has not yet distributed. The old pools are working again in C. O. and O. W. Best sugar, distillers are still tipped among the low priced specialties. As before, we would not neglect fair returns referring to buy on recessions and not holding specialties too long, for they may come dead and in case of a setback would be relieved of support temporarily.

N. Y. FINANCIAL BUREAU.

Generally speaking, purchases of standard stocks should be made on recessions for turns with stop order protection. We would not climb for stocks. Neither would we neglect reasonable profits on bulges for the present. The market is still largely in the trading area. There is no pressure of stocks, for what distribution goes on is found only on advances. Re-accumulation appears to occur on little declines. Daily operators therefore should be satisfied for the moment with moderate profits and be guided by the technical position of specific stocks, a difference being noticeable in this respect. Lawson's advt. this morning, bulging the market, will probably be followed by professional selling, for the professional element has been inclined to "corner" Lawson later. The crop scare has dwindled down to practically nothing. There may be a little damage, but it is of small amount. It will be noted that call money continues easy, in spite of crop demands that commence this month. In some quarters of the street a decision on the Hepburn case seems to be expected today or tomorrow. The resumption of business by London today should stimulate activity. London seems more favorable to Americans. Market literature is still divided and caution is the rule. The outside interest is of moderate dimensions. Outside confidence in Harriman is growing and his interview is being read with interest according to our observations. The fact that it is still a Harriman market shows the dominance of that financier.

SUMMARY

Americans in London weak 1 1/2 to 1 per cent. below parity. Harriman says that railroads should be treated fairly. He will reserve discussion of the rail and bank note deposits for campaign speeches rather than use them in his letter of acceptance. Call money quoted at 3 1/4 per cent. lower since 1904. Chicago.—It was the consensus of opinion among wheat traders generally that a bull market is on and although wheat has advanced 5 cents from the lowest point of Friday and is up nearly ten cents from the recent low figure, many shrewd judges of market conditions think that while the advance has been rapid, it was justified by conditions and although some setbacks will occur from time to time, the bull side is the side to work on, as the public is being interested by the damage reports in the North West and there are more reasons why wheat should advance than decline.

FORMER ST. JOHN MAN INVENTS GAS BUOY

J. Horace Crosby Has Invented a Gas Buoy That Will Light Itself at Sunset and Extinguish Itself at Sunrise.

J. Horace Crosby, a former St. John boy, has solved the problem of producing an acetylene gas buoy that will light itself at sunset and extinguish itself at sunrise, thereby saving fifty per cent. of carbide and at the same time giving as good, if not better results as regards light than those already in use. Mr. Crosby, who is a son of the late Horace B. Crosby of the firm—now long out of existence—of Crosby and Small—is spending a few days in the city, having arrived about a week ago from his home, Somerville, Mass., and is completing several other devices which, when ready for the market, will prove to be revelations in their various lines.

Before coming to St. John, Mr. Crosby subjected his new gas buoy to several severe tests and in every instance it came fully up to his most sanguine expectations. The J. H. Crosby Automatic Self-Lighting and Self-Extinguishing Buoy differs little, if any, from other buoys in point of general outline. The new, and indeed the striking feature of this device over all others, is the great economy of gas which is fully fifty per cent. whereas all other gas buoys hitherto constructed have been a source of annoyance. This device I have introduced in the United States, and have already received orders for quite a number, which are now being set up in some of the largest buildings in American cities.

"I have visited St. John several times during the past thirty years," Mr. Crosby continued, "and on each occasion could not but be struck by the improvements I noticed throughout the city and vicinity, especially Rockwood Park, which is in my opinion, one of the finest I have ever seen, particularly as it has been so richly endowed by nature, which has done more for it than money could ever have done, a fact which I have frequently mentioned to many of my American friends. The Carnegie Public Library here certainly compares favorably with similar institutions I have seen in the United States. The public playgrounds and the new gas buoys, which are undoubtedly a great acquisition to your city. Mr. Crosby is at present the guest of his sister, Mrs. John B. Taylor.
