Would Brand Carranza As Suicide; Autopsy Indicates Assassination

Allegation by Colonel Herrero and Reported Statement by Surgeons—Political Capital and More Trouble from Ex-President's Death.

(Associated Press)

Mexico City, May 25—President Carranza committed suicide rather than be taken prisoner, according to a telegram given out at the headquarters of General Gonzales. It purports to have been sent from Cerro Azul, State of Puebla, on the morning of Thursday, May 20, by Col. Herrero, who, previous reports have stated, was responsible for Carranza's death.

Vera Cruz, May 25—Reports of an autopsy performed on the body of Carranza led to agree with the statement of Herrero that the president committed suicide, so it is asserted in official quarters here.

Surgeons, it is declared, found Carranza had been struck by two rifle bullets, one of which penetrated his breast and the other his abdomen. It is said that the bullet entered from the front, and it was the conclusion of those who witnessed the operation that the president had been assassinated.

The text of Colonel Herrero's report to Mexico City says: "With the object of arresting Carranza, and the principal officials who were with him, I attacked his camp at three o'clock in the morning, having eighty men with me. He had reached Tlaxcalantongo in the district of Huachinango, where there is a pass leading northward to a part of the republic where he had planned to establish his seat of government. The president was under escort of troops commanded by Gen. Murguía."

"When he realized that escape was impossible, Carranza committed suicide by shooting himself in the breast with his pistol, which he always carried. So close was the muzzle of the weapon to his breast that blood was spattered up, and the barrel of the pistol still bears blood stains."

"The body was recovered and taken to Villa Juarez. Three of my men were killed and one wounded." Four commissioners sent into the State of Puebla by Gen. Obregon and Gen. Gonzales to investigate the death of Carranza, reported that in view of the data they have secured and the manner in which the president was killed, they consider it unnecessary to go to Tlaxcalantongo.

More Trouble Possible. Washington, May 25—Official interest in the Mexican situation was intensified yesterday by reports of a widespread reaction resulting from the killing of Carranza. These indications were accompanied by information that the defect government might have to face almost immediately the problem of reducing Villa, rebel leader, to submission if not more important armed opposition.

Reports here were that men prominent in Mexican political affairs are suspected of preparing to take advantage of the indignation caused by Carranza's death of leading an avenging movement which did Carranza himself. Carranza was assassinated in 1918.

General Calles has failed to affect an adjustment between the new government forces and Villa. In a message he said to have left Chihuahua on Saturday with a strong force to co-operate with other troops in the pursuit of Villa. Carranza, these indications were accompanied by information that the defect government might have to face almost immediately the problem of reducing Villa, rebel leader, to submission if not more important armed opposition.

Yesterday Luis N. Marones, a confidential agent sent to the United States by Obregon, called at the White House to leave for President Wilson a message signed by Obregon containing reassuring declarations as to the aims of the revolutionists. He expressed the belief that a strong and unopposed government would be established.

The funeral, Mexico City, May 25—(By the Associated Press)—In accordance with his oft repeated request President Carranza was buried last yesterday afternoon in Dolores cemetery, where, in the shadow of Chapultepec, the poorest of Mexicans have for many years found their last resting place.

As the funeral cortege left the home of the late chief executive, the extraordinary session of congress was being called to choose a president ad interim, to hold office until a new president is elected on September 5, is inaugurated. Adolfo de La Huerta, governor of the state Sonora, was named after congress had been in session for an hour and a half.

The body of the slain president was brought to Mexico City at five thirty o'clock yesterday morning and was taken to the family home, escorted by soldiers and a delegation from the diplomatic corps. Later the body lay in state until the hour of the funeral, thousands passing before the casket to look upon the face of the man who was hurled from power by revolution and whose death occurred under circumstances that await explanation.

Colonel Herrero, who says Carranza committed suicide rather than surrender, has offered to come to Mexico to prove his assertion.

Provisional President Huerta will take the oath of office on June 1, according to present plans.

General Enriquez is leading a strong column of troops into Southern Chihuahua where Francisco Villa, who recently announced his opposition to the new government is operating.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 25—The First National Bank at Finleyville, Pa., near here, was robbed a little after noon yesterday by six men, who escaped, according to word received here by the police.

THE B. C. SALMON FISHERY FEARED

Montreal, May 25—John McMillan of the Cassiar Cannery, on the Skeena River, B.C., who is now in Montreal, says that the catch of salmon on the Fraser River has decreased from an annual product of about a million cases representing from four to eight million dollars, to less than 40,000 cases representing a few hundred thousand dollars yearly.

With the regulations going into effect next June under which unlimited purse seine fishing is to be allowed, Mr. McMillan thinks there is promise of a total destruction of the salmon fisheries of all the other rivers along the British Columbia coast.

To prevent this, a movement in which the influence of Eastern Canada will be enlisted to bring about an organized effort to save the British Columbia fisheries is to be launched and it is said that the matter will require international co-operation and that suggestion is made that some sort of a congress should be convened to which representative men from the United States and Canada should be called.

More Reports Of Cutting Of Prices

Prediction of Cheaper Fruit and Vegetables in New York—Alleged Hoarding of Sugar in Chicago.

New York, May 25—Lower prices for vegetables and fruit in New York were predicted today by Dr. F. H. Porter, state commissioner of foods and markets. He based his prophecy on a sudden drop yesterday in wholesale prices in these commodities. Trains from the west and south brought in record shipments. The commissioner declared some dealers were glad to accept "almost any price" for some vegetables.

Ithaca, N. Y., May 25—Many merchants of this city have joined the lowering movement. A prominent clothier and haberdasher announces a reduction of twenty-five per cent. on the price stock with the statement that the price of men's and boys' clothing must be lowered, and lowered substantially.

FRANCE NEEDS AN ARMY OF WORKMEN

Urgently Required in the Devastated Regions—Programme of Speed Work.

Paris, May 25—Four to five hundred thousand imported laborers are needed urgently in France for the devastated regions, according to the newly created superior council of materials and labor. It is calculated that France's pre-war force of 1,100,000 builders has been reduced by heavy war casualties and the eight hour law to the equivalent of about 600,000, which is inadequate.

The new commission has drawn up a programme to speed work which will be first and then material capable of being manufactured on the spot where it is needed before bringing in products of other regions or importing them. The departure of more than 200,000 Germans and the return home of some Chinese laborers have made the shortage of workers acute. The recent arrival of thousands of Polish laborers brought small relief, and it is considered probable some arrangements will be made soon by which Germany will send unemployed men to France.

It adds that excellent relations existed between the inhabitants of the Rhine-land and the colonial troops.

YOUNG ADAMS CO. COMING.

The Young Adams Company of ever popular players are returning to the Queen Square Theatre for a limited engagement of eight days, commencing on Friday, May 28, after an extended run of several weeks in St. John's (Nfld.), where they met with characteristic success during their stay there. Mr. Armstrong has secured them for a short run before they close for the summer and their opening play will be a splendid Irish comedy drama "Kearney from Killarney," brimful of comedy and thrilling situations from start to finish and a play that everyone, young or old, man, woman or child can appreciate. Don't forget the date, Friday, May 28. "Kearney from Killarney" is the title of the opening play selected by the Young Adams Company as their initial offering of their return engagement to the Queen Square Theatre on Friday, May 28, for a short run of eight days. This company has met with unequalled success all along the line, especially in St. John's (Nfld.), where they played to capacity business for six weeks and Mr. Armstrong has done well to secure this company of favorites for a limited engagement previous to their closing for the summer. The play is replete with comedy and dramatic climaxes. So don't forget the date, Friday, May 28.

A BARREL POST OFFICE.

The "simplest post office in the world" is said to be located on the shore of the Strait of Magellan, where it collects and distributes mail for the benefit of seamen postmaster or postmistress, officials here, nor can one buy a postage stamp or ask intelligent questions about the probable length of time your letter will be delivered. In fact it is without officials, postmen, stamps, scales, postmarks, or any other visible attribute of an ordinary post office. The vessel that makes use of it know where it is, and look for a certain high cliff from whose top a long chain hangs to the bottom, with a barrel attached. This is the post office. The vessel stops, a boat is lowered, and the post office visited. Very likely there will be a number of letters left there by other vessels passing through the strait and addressed to seamen on vessels that were sooner or later likely to pass. The latest cover looks like the mail over, may or may not find a letter that has been left for collection, and "posts" in the barrel any letters that may have been written aboard that particular ship for seamen whose ships are expected to pass that way and stop to see if any mail has been left for them. It seems an odd and casual way to send and receive letters, but the sailing routes of ships that pass through the strait are definitely prescribed, and the "simplest post office in the world" fills a useful purpose where any other kind is out of the question.

THE DREAD PYORRHEA
BEGINS WITH BLEEDING GUMS

Pyorrhea infecting germs cause many ills. Medical science has proven this. Dissolved conditions, which not long ago doctors were unable to trace to a cause, are now known often to be the result of Pyorrhea germs that breed in pockets about the teeth. Rheumatism, anæmia, nervous disorders and other diseases have been traced in many cases to this Pyorrhea infection. Don't let Pyorrhea work its wicked will on your body. Visit your dentist frequently for tooth and gum inspection. And teach your gums yourself. Pyorrhea, which afflicts four out of five people over forty, begins with tender and bleeding gums; then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of poisons generated at their base. Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy—the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has set in, use Forhan's according to directions and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

Attorney for the Estate Explains the Provision Tying Up His Fortune Until Heirs Reach 50.

Chicago, May 25.—Marshall Field's purpose in tying up his immense fortune until his grandsons reach the age of 50 was to protect his descendants from "leading useless lives of luxury and idleness," according to Attorney John P. Wilson, representing the Field estate Trustees in the action brought by Captain Marshall Field, III, to obtain possession of the residuary estate at this time.

Attorneys representing Captain Field have attacked the will of the merchant because as contrary to public policy, because it accumulated a huge fortune, and have cited the examples of Andrew Carnegie and other rich men who have distributed a large part of their wealth. Marshall Field's motive, Mr. Wilson said, was to give his grandsons, Captain Field and the late Henry Field, the "opportunity of becoming men among men despite the handicap of a great wealth."

Under the will Captain Field will receive $600,000 at the age of 30, $1,200,000 at 35, $1,800,000 at 40, and at 45 the accumulated interest, amounting to $900,000. During the next five years the estate will pay him an income of $3,000,000 annually, and on his fiftieth birthday he will receive the entire property. Other relatives who are joining Captain

GOLD PILES UP IN SWITZERLAND Geneva, May 25.—Switzerland is being buried in a golden avalanche, according to President Sarasin of the Swiss Bank. He says the gold stored in banks has no outlet in Europe, that many industries are at a standstill and the situation is becoming worse. The hotel industry is nearly ruined. Mr. Sarasin declares, largely because the adverse exchange is keeping away tourists.

SELLING YOURSELF TO YOUR EMPLOYER Big organizations are gradually learning that it is quite as important to sell themselves to their applicants for positions as it is to select employees. The reason is plain, and in the current issue of "Forbes Magazine," New York, William Marvin Jackson tells the following story: "There's a young man outside who refuses to fill out an application blank," said the employment manager's assistant; "says he wants to talk to you first." "Did you tell him that he had to fill out an application before he could be interviewed?" asked the employment manager impatiently. "Yes, sir, but he says he's not sure that he wants to be considered as an applicant until he's talked to you." To the employment manager this was something new. He had people kick at an application before he had anyone before, but he had never had anyone put the matter up to him in just this way. "Well, send him in," he said. "I have a position," said the young man, "but I have heard some good things about your company and thought I would try to get some first hand information. If I'm convinced that this is a good place for me I would like to file my application. If you don't mind my interviewing you a bit about your company, then, of course, I shall be glad to have you interview me about myself. Unless I want you, you don't want me. About it in this way either now or later, then I'll know already that this is not the kind of connection I'm looking for." The upshot of the matter was that the employment manager first sold the company to the young man, and then the MISSING BRIDE HAS "OUR FATHER" ON BACK Harrisburg, Pa., May 25 A pathetic appeal has come to the police here from Harry Buchanan of Reading, whose bride is missing. The bride is described by the des. d. husband as being a "bleached blonde," twenty-two years old, who wore a "black screen hat" when she disappeared, and who has the Lord's prayer tattooed on her back. "If you find her, notify Mrs. W. M. Kriner, Lykens, Pa., or me, Harry Buchanan, Harry implores. A good looking woman, identity unknown, circulated around Mt. Vernon, N. Y., after dark in an automobile in which she had a pair of paste, a brush, and a plentiful supply of sheets of white paper. Stopping at a billboard, she would jump out of her auto, run to the billboard as if she feared interference, and paste a sheet of paper covering the legs of a pictured actress from her hips to her toes, and then with a lead pencil print "Censored" in large letters across the middle of the sheet. Later in the night rain soaked through the sheets of white paper, making the legs beautiful again in all their natural perfection. Like the Old Rhyms. "When are you going to invest in a new suit of clothes?" "Not till the dogs start barking at me."—Buffalo Express.

CHANGES IN ENGLAND.

The lot of the English farm laborer has been vastly improved since 1914. In that year the men on the King's estate at Sandringham struck for sixteen shillings a week and the King's agent granted their request. In 1917 a bill was passed by parliament fixing a minimum wage of twenty-five shillings a week for laborers. As a result of organization among the men this was increased to thirty and then to thirty-six shillings and sixpence. It is now to be further increased to forty-two shillings, and there is a possibility of fifty shillings at an early date.

Instead of being reduced and that a parliamentary committee has reported in favor of a levy on war fortunes that would make 75,000 profiteers yield up $2,750,000,000. The Canadian budget on the other hand, hits the wage-earners and salaried class, and the excise tax is a tax on the cost of living. Commending the Fielding amendment to the budget the Globe says: "He is preaching in opposition what he practised in office. He found that high protective tariffs did not contribute to the general advantage or to the well-being of the people. He learned that they were not necessary to industrial progress. He realized that their tendency was altogether to enrich the few at the expense of the many—that they resulted in prices unjustifiably high and often cruelly onerous. During his period of fiscal administration he steadily set his face against high protection by judicious lowering of general customs taxation and the establishment of the British preference. Canada, went ahead during this period by leaps and bounds. To consumers the tariff policy of Mr. Fielding naturally proved beneficial and acceptable, while manufacturers recognized that lower tariffs meant lessened cost of raw material and increased facilities for business. The reciprocal trade arrangement with the United States which Mr. Fielding was finally successful in negotiating terminated his noteworthy regime, but he has had the satisfaction since of seeing many of the proposals of that arrangement adopted by the very men who bitterly opposed them at the time. Mr. Fielding's present proposal is in line with his record. It is the one assured and just method of reducing the cost of living and stimulating production."

WHO CAN EXPLAIN IT?

If the C. N. E. authorities desired to avoid business on the Valley Railway between St. John and Fredericton they could not adopt a better course than at present, without letting the rails rust. The trains are seldom or never on time, and often very late. An excursion to Fredericton was advertised for yesterday, with the result that last night the crowd of St. John people who allowed all the steamers to pass because they wished to travel by train had to wait for hours and finally reach the city too late to get a street car from the station. People are asking what the Valley Railway was built for, if not to serve the public and to develop business. The service at this end suits nobody. Farmers who would like to come to town in the morning and go home at night cannot do so. City people who would like to morning cannot do so. It would be possible to develop a line traffic with a proper service. One railway official has said, "Show us the traffic" meaning, apparently, that unless it can be made to pay well from the very start it should not be started. That has not been the policy in the past—or in the west. The Valley Railway is unfortunately in the maritime provinces. It can wait. If this is not the explanation of the failure to put a good suburban service on the line—what is the explanation? Why are railways built for? And why should trains be eternally late? It is not so on well conducted railways at ordinary seasons of the year. With a proper suburban service between this city and Oak Point the Long Reach would be one of the most popular resorts within easy reach of St. John people. The present service is worse than a bad joke on everybody.

LIBERAL CRITICISM.

The Toronto Globe takes no stock in the promised enquiry into tariff matters, which was promised before but was not carried out. It sees in the budget a revival of torpor under the guise of Union government, with no hope of relief for the burdened masses of the people. We quote: "By the simple process of presenting a budget thoroughly in conception, Sir Henry Drayton has relieved the Hon. Robert Rogers of the necessity of formally reorganizing the Conservative party as such. The Union government, as it stands today behind the entrenchments of office and the new taxation already effective, is more true than the Conservative party in its palmer days of the past. No man claiming adherence to the broad principles of Liberalism could remain in the Dominion cabinet as now constituted, or defend the policy to which the budget commits it of relieving Big Business of some of its share in carrying the country's financial burden and adding it to the already overloaded backs of the common people. The old Conservative regime is again entrenched in Ottawa, laying the foundation for a desperate fight to retain power. For that reason the subterfuge of promising a full inquiry into tariff matters with a view to a general revision is once more resorted to, in the vain hope that it may still the clamor of the masses who are the chief sufferers under the continuation of reactionary government." Contrasting the Canadian budget with legislation in Great Britain, the Globe observes that in Britain the excess profits tax has been increased fifty per cent

There's some delight in being old, for one is licensed then to scold and view things with alarm; I hang around the marketplace and let some brine run down my face, and talk of things that harm. I tear my hair and wring my fins and talk of all existing sins as though they modern were; and I denounce the thriftless jays who blow their coin in forty ways, and fill the air with fur. But truly, in the ancient times the giddy lads blew in their dimes just as they blow them now; and people mortgaged their abodes for trotting nags to burn the roads, as graybeards must allow. The poorhouse reared its front of brick and gathered in the thriftless folk, just as it does today; and pauper graves, behind the kirk, were made for those who wouldn't work, but spent their hours in play. I know these facts and many more, but when I'm in the Blue Front store, discussing them, I boost the past as something better. I knock the sawdust from the truth; they wouldn't stand it from a youth, but I am bent and gray; and as I ramble on and on, they merely sit around and yawn until I drift away.

CANADA—EAST AND WEST

Domestic Happenings of Other Days

QUEEN VICTORIA. On May 24, 1819, Alexandrina Victoria, destined to be known and loved as Queen Victoria the Good, was born in Kensington Palace. Her father was Edward, Duke of Kent, the fourth son of King George III.; her mother was Victoria Mary Louise, a daughter of the Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Saalfeld. The parents of the Princess Drina—for it was by that name that the child was known in her earlier years—were determined that their child should be trained in everything that was good and noble. As a result when the princess came to the throne of Great Britain in 1837 she was one of the noblest women in the world. For sixty years she was head of the British people—in an age when the world was making rapid progress and advancement. It was a day of wonderful discoveries in science and shipping, of amazing wealth of literary contributions, and of the brightest lights in the political world shone in her day. The dark places of the world were explored and enlightened while moral reform advanced with a rapidly never known before. Before her death she had seen the world reach a new high level of attainment. When she had been sixty years on the throne the event was marked by one of the greatest jubilees ever held in the world. Rulers and royal representatives from all over the world gathered in London to honor the gracious sovereign of the British nation while the colonies sent their heads there to express their admiration and devotion to the aged monarch. She died in the early months of the century but in all the dominions her memory is honored yearly by services. Her name lives in Canada that date has been made a national memorial to her name.

WAITING FOR ACTION.

On May 24, 1900, the Strathcona Horse, the cavalry force that had been raised in western Canada at his own expense and which had been impatiently training for six weeks at Cape Town as the war seemed drawing to a close, was ready for action. On that date A and C squadrons left the training camp for Durban and three days later B squadron was proceeding northward through the blue ocean towards Kosi Bay, fifty miles from Delagoa Bay. B squadron had been sent to perform the most hazardous deeds of the war. So long as the Lourenço Marques line was intact so long would the enemy be able to get in supplies and even make the Strathconas the moment they attempted to advance into Boer territory. So an invasion of the Transvaal by way of Zululand was out of the question. There was nothing for the troops to do, after a brief rest there, but to return to Durban once more. But from Durban they were hurried to Sand Spring in the Transvaal, where General Buller had 20,000 men in camp.

But when they reached Tonga Land they learned from the natives that the Boers had learned of the plan and had prepared a strong force to meet the expedition. So B squadron was re-embarked on the vessels and taken back to Durban to get ready to proceed to the front to join General Buller's main army. The squadron joins its other troops at the Tugela river and the whole force was pushed forward to Eshobos, the capture of Zululand. There it was discovered that a force of more than 2,000 Boers was on the Swaziland border waiting to annihilate the Strathconas the moment they attempted to advance into Boer territory. So an invasion of the Transvaal by way of Zululand was out of the question. There was nothing for the troops to do, after a brief rest there, but to return to Durban once more. But from Durban they were hurried to Sand Spring in the Transvaal, where General Buller had 20,000 men in camp.

Design of H. M. S. Hood—Surface Ship of Line Chief Fighting Unit.

At the spring meeting of the Institution of Naval Architects in London, the Earl of Durham presiding, Sir Eustace d'Eyncourt, director of naval construction, in the course of a most interesting paper on the design and construction of H. M. S. Hood, said that vessel completed the series of big ships designed and built for the navy down to the present time. The original design of the Hood was approved by the board of admiralty in April, 1916, only a few weeks before the battle of Jutland. That battle, which was the greatest fleet engagement of modern times, naturally led to further consideration of the vessel's design, and in view of the damage which was done to our own battle cruisers, and also to the German ships of similar type, it was deemed advisable to increase the armor protection if possible. RECENT WEDDINGS

German street Baptist church was the scene of a happy event Saturday afternoon, May 22, when Rev. S. S. Poole united in marriage Miss Marion Bell, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Bell, of Sussex, and Oscar S. Colwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Colwell, of 173 Victoria street. The bride was charmingly gowned in a suit of navy blue with georgette and beaded trimmings with hat to match, and a scarf of Hudson seal. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Colwell were driven to the home of the groom where a dainty luncheon was served, the color scheme in the dining room being pink and white, roses and carnations being used for the decorations. After luncheon a small informal reception was held, composed of the immediate relatives of the family. A great array of costly and beautiful gifts were in evidence, testifying to the esteem in which both bride and groom are held. Among the gifts was a substantial cheque from the firm of S. Hayward & Co., with whom the groom is employed, also a chest of silver from the staff of same company, and a beautiful cassette from the orchestra of Queen Square Theatre, of which the groom is a member. Mr. and Mrs. Colwell will reside at 156 Queen street, city.

RECENT DEATHS

After an illness of several months' duration Thomas Robinson passed away at his home, 39 Garden street, on Saturday. The late Mr. Robinson was in his sixty-first year and prior to his illness had been in the milk business in this city, from which he retired at the first of the year. He is survived by one son, T. Allen, at home, and by four brothers, John A., of Danville (Me.); Alexander and David, of British Columbia, and Robert, of Sussex, and also by one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson, also of Sussex.

The death occurred at Pandanus on Sunday of Mrs. Miriam Robinson, widow of the late Samuel Robinson, in her eightieth year. She leaves three sons, John Russell and James Robert Ingh, both of British Columbia, and S. Roy, at home, and one daughter, Mrs. L. G. Hill, also of British Columbia.

Whitfield J. Stackhouse died at his home, 30 City Road, on Sunday after a long illness. Mr. Stackhouse was in his seventieth year. ONT. LEGISLATURE'S YOUNGEST MEMBER

Karl Homuth, of South Waterloo, Was Only 26 Years Old Last December.

EAT SCHOOLMASTER

A Labor Man Who Is an Employer and Never Belonged to a Union.

By F. G. G.

It is often the ambition of a boy to grow up big and strong and to meet his schoolmaster some day and give him "a good licking," but few achieve it. Karl Kenneth Homuth, Farmer-Labor member for South Waterloo, in the Ontario Legislature, is one of the few. But his method just goes to show that he is not a direct actionist; he used constitutional means and "licked" his old teacher by means of the ballot-box.

Z. A. Hall, of Hespeler, the sitting Conservative member, who finished last by some hundreds in the three-cornered fight in his constituency last October, to Karl Homuth's first, was his schoolmaster in the old days not so long ago at Preston Public school. Mr. Homuth is the youngest member of the present Legislature. He was elected before he was 26 years of age, his birthday being on December 12th, nearly two months after the election. The nearest rival he has on the score of youth in the House sits on the other side in a seat practically opposite, Capt. "Jack" Ramsden, Liberal member for South-west Toronto, who was 27 years of age last October. If you talk to Karl Homuth he will tell you that he has had a hum-drum life. Perhaps he has, but it represents a total of achievement for his 26 years attained by few men twice his age. After leaving the Public school in his native town of Preston, he entered Galt high school intending to become a lawyer. But, anxious to get to work, he left and started in to learn plumbing. This is apparently the only thing he ever started that he did not finish. Tiring of the work he took a course in Galt Business College and on January 2nd, 1919, when fifteen years of age, he started to work in the Preston Woolen Mills in the department where his father was in charge. Eighteen months later his father left after 37½ years as foreman, and Karl stepped into his shoes. Thus before he was seventeen years of age he was a boss and had fourteen grown men working under him. He was full-grown then and he is a husky man, to-day. Responsibility piled on him and helped level up his fast. He passed for being much older than he was. Perhaps it was one reason why he shouldered them so successfully.

Never Joined Union

KARL HOMUTH is rather an anomaly. He is a labor man and yet he is an employer. Besides, he never belonged to a union. In June, 1917, he left the Preston Woolen Mills and went into business with his father and two younger brothers, manufacturing wool stock, founding the Otto Homuth Company. Things have gone so well with the young man that he has built a new big shop this year. Two other brothers were to have come into the business last fall but both died during the last few months, one in December and the other in January, from illnesses, the seeds of which were laid during their service overseas.

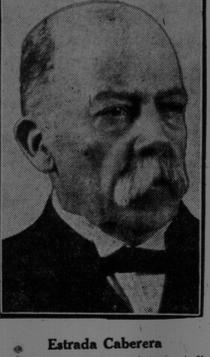

Karl Homuth is of German descent on his father's side and of Ulster stock on his mother's. His father, Otto Homuth, was born in Preston and his mother was the daughter of Thomas McDowell, of Milton. He has inherited public service ideas from both sides of the house. His father, Otto Homuth, has been mayor of Preston three times, was reeve three years and served for seventeen years on the Public School Board, part of the time as chairman. His grandfather, McDowell, sat on the Milton School Board for years and was well-known in the neighborhood for his interest in matters of public welfare. Karl himself, when he was only twenty-three years of age, was elected to the Preston Town Council, being second in the race in a field of thirteen. Last year there were nine candidates and he headed the poll. He was elected to council as a representative of the Independent Labor Party, whose first president he became in Preston when it was formed in 1917. He fought for their ideals hard from the start and they showed their confidence in him, young as he was, by electing him to the Council and then to the Legislature, though his election to the latter was materially helped by the farmers, whose cause he espoused.

Karl Homuth's creed is briefly the elevation of the status of the working man and the securing for him his proper share in the proceeds of production. Yet his first aim is to see that workmen's compensation is increased and that mothers' allowances

After serving uninterruptedly for twenty-two years as President of Guatemala, the Central American Republic, Estrada Cabrera has been deposed by the National Assembly, and it is rumored will be brought to trial for crimes alleged to have been committed by him. As a result he is virtually a prisoner of the new Government.

Premier Drury Lost
One of His Gum Shoes

A Laughable Incident of His High School Days in Barrie.

LADY in Barrie who went to school with the Premier, E. C. Drury, sends this story:
One noon-hour at the old Barrie Collegiate Institute, Alma and I were "digging in" studying the geography lessons we should have got up the evening before. Incidentally the girls ate their luncheon in the fourth form boys' class-room, said luncheon being carried to save the walk down town. Before sitting down Alma indicated a pair of heavy overshoes near my seat remarked: "Don't, young men wear frightfully large rubbers?" (We all spoke in superlatives then). "Whose are they?" I asked without interest. "Drury's—this is his desk," she answered.

A few minutes after we had settled to work, the door opened and in came Ernest Drury, sitting in and came over to where we were sitting. Now, although we were all properly impressed by—as one girl expressed it—his monumental learning, and by the ease with which the affirmatives by Mr. Drury, still the fact remains that none of the girls ever "made eyes" at him.

"Anyhow we felt certain that Mr. Drury came for a book not a chat. He talked shyly for a minute then said, 'I think I left my overshoes here, girls. We're going downtown.' I immediately stood up and moved away to allow him to retrieve his gum shoes. We recovered only one and looking more embarrassed than ever left the room.

Alma, although invariably courteous, had remained seated, and she looked so queer and her face had become so red that I asked hastily, "What's the matter, honey?" She swept her skirt aside and exclaimed tragically: "Look the sort of fool I was! I was thinking of the bigness of them and then forgot I did it."

She had tucked both her small feet into one of Ernest Drury's overshoes. "Do you suppose he knew?" I asked excitedly. "Oh! of course," she answered disgustedly, almost on the verge of tears. "It should teach me a lesson."

ONE FOR LORRAINE

MR. ROBERT LORRAINE, the English actor-singer, was one day expatiating on the delights of flying to a friend, and urging him to give it a trial.

RING W. LARDNER—
YOU KNOW HIM, AL!

He Found the Hall of Fame Adjacent to the Field of Sport.

BASEBALL REPORTER

The Late Charles Van Loan Got Him Started With the Saturday Evening Post.

RING W. LARDNER is an awfully nice chap. Roy L. McCarroll, who claims personal acquaintance with all the American humorists.

His name in full is Ringold Wilmer Lardner, with two g's in Ringgold, because he is named after the famous cavalry leader of the Civil War, General Ringold. McCardell has this to say about Lardner in the New York Telegraph:

He was born in good old Niles, Michigan, during the first administration of Grover Cleveland—so you see he is a young fellow. He is tall, dark and snappy, and looks like a good Indian, and he is. He was writing good stuff as a sporting writer on the Chicago Tribune and other newspapers.

Started Hustling Freight

BUT when Ring was sent to the Armour Institute in Chicago to study mechanical engineering he found that a student was expected to do fairly well in six studies, and they examined him every six months for a while. Ring was on his feet all the time. Ring passed in rhetoric, but passed entirely out on the other five subjects.

It was agreed that the flunked student's place was in the home, and he came back from Chi. to do a job hustling freight at the depot and chivvied Climax Plug and went to the burlesque shows over at South Bend every Saturday night. He might have been a freight super and right in the Loyd Order of Moose and everything, but one fatal day he sent a shipment of butter to Jackson, Mich., instead of to Eastport, N. Y. When they finally got on the scent of the butter and had it traced and chewed Climax Plug and went to the burlesque shows over at South Bend every Saturday night.

After two years as a fiction writer on the gas company's books, young Lardner seriously took up the ink-some trade of scribbling, by becoming the Sporting Editor of the South Bend Times—that is, he was an editor and he was sporting—receiving a weekly stipend of $12.

Got Job in Chicago

HE went to Chicago in 1907 and covered the World's Series between the Cubs and Detroit. Here he met Hugh Fullerton, and they have been friends ever since. Fullerton said right away that Lardner was too good a sport and too good a baseball scribe to dedicate back in a lark town like Niles; he would stay in Chi. So Lardner stayed at the expense of his time, in Chicago and met Charley Van Loan, who was then making a big hit writing baseball and motion picture and golf stories for the Saturday Evening Post.

He advised Ring to fix up some of his best stuff in Saturday Evening Post style, and Van Loan wrote personally to George Horner, owner of Ring's maiden efforts to break into the great world of writing. Well, Al Ring's first effort at big league stuff in writing was the now famous "A Bushy's Letters Home." It was a knockout, and now you know him, Al. For as his Bushy, Jack Keefer, would say, "He sure has knocked them for a goal!"

Lardner lives in Greenwich, Conn., with his nice little wife and four little Ring Lardners, none over seven-count them.

Queer Pulpits That Have Been Occupied by Noted Preachers

Unconventional John McNeil, Formerly of Cooke's Church, Took a Slap at the Dignity of Free St. George's—Rev. T. T. Shields Preaches in a Hotel Rotunda.

By J. L. LOVE
CONVENTIONALISM and the ministry are popularly supposed to be inseparable. If there is any truth in the assertion the cause frequently lies as much with the pew as with the pulpit.

John McNeil, the "Scottish Spurgeon" noted pastor of Cooke's Church, Toronto, years ago, the Edinburgh church made famous by Alexander Whyte, Hugh Black and John Kelman.

Just before going into the pulpit Mr. McNeil was buttonholed by an elderly man, who was dressed as a titled man, was apprehensive that rough and rugged John might give offense in aesthetic quarters. With a very meaningful look his Lordship whispered: "Mr. McNeil—do you won't forget—that you are in—Free St. George's?"

The Bible Misquoted

THE Bible is probably no class of men who can adapt themselves with greater ease and despatch to unusual working conditions than ministers. It is by no means true that they must have the shelter of a pulpit before they can preach.

In the rotunda of an Ontario hotel a number of men were discussing the recently published memoirs of a famous detective.

A NATURAL QUESTION

It was at the zoo.
"Mama," said little Lela, peering through a wire enclosure, "what are those funny little animals in there?"
"Why, my dear," responded the mother, "they are jack rabbits. Lela was thoughtful. "Mama," she said after a long pause. "Well, dear?"
"Do they call the lady rabbits Jill rabbits?"

Many Strange Pulpits

Few men have had more varied preaching stances than Rev. A. B. Winchester, of Knox Church, Toronto, whose pulpits have included bar-rooms in British Columbia and Buddhist temples in China. He has stood on a rock in a mining camp and preached to the prospectors. In different countries of Europe, America and Asia he has found many a pulpit at street corners and one of his most thrilling memories is of Hyde Park, London, where he proclaimed the Gospel from a scow, and in boats on all sides.

Neither by coincidence or design the lesson chosen was the letter to the church at Laodicea. The preacher came to the verse: "Because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth."

Stopping at the words, "I will," Mr. McNeil looked closely at the page and asked in affected dismay, "What's this?"
Adjusting his glasses and carrying the Bible to where the light was strongest, he began the verse again. "I must not forget that I am in Free St. George's," he said. "Let us pray."

While not every preacher carries unconventionally in the pulpit to the extreme that the great Scottish evangelist sometimes does, it is true that, broadly speaking, there is less starch in our pulpits to-day than in any previous generation.

A BROKEN COLLIER

DAUGHTER of Lottie Collins, the brilliant vaudeville artist and creator of "Ta-ra-bum-de-ay," Miss Jose Collins, who, after a record appearance in "The Maid of the Mountains," is the most talked of actress in London.

A short time ago Miss Collins appeared in a film play entitled "Nobody's Child," and it was apropos of this that she tells the following story.

"A youngster sat on the front doorstep crying bitterly. 'What is the matter, little boy?' asked a kind-hearted woman who was passing. 'Ma's gone an' drowned all the kittens,' he sobbed. 'What a pity! I'm awfully sorry. 'An' s-she promised—booooo—' at the bucketful."

MAKING RELIGION
MODERN HIS TASK

Chas. M. Sheldon, Who Wrote
"In His Steps," to Edit
Christian Herald.

30 YEARS IN TOPEKA

Wrote His Most Famous Book a Chapter a Week to Read to His Congregation.

"I DON'T think the main business of a preacher is writing and delivering sermons," addresses. A preacher's business is humanity, and knowing it by personal acquaintance, so he can face men from the pulpit with courage and energy, the result of having faced them six other days in the week. In other words, a preacher ought to get his sermons more out of men and less out of books."

The speaker, a young minister, looked earnestly into the faces of his audience—a small one, in a dingy, poorly lighted room. He was a new man, from a university in the East, in a stay in London, just arrived in Topeka, Kansas, to take charge of the little Congregational church and its flock. He was bringing them a new message, a practical way of applying Christianity.

Thus did Charles M. Sheldon "make good" to the people of that middle Western town, on his first Sunday among them, more than thirty years ago. That was the beginning of a career as author, preacher, lecturer, teacher and reformer. It came to a close three months ago, when Dr. Sheldon resigned his charge of the Central Presbyterian Church and returned to the State of his birth. Recently he accepted the editorship of the Christian Herald.

Dr. Sheldon's book, "In His Steps, or What Would Jesus Do?" was published in 1897. His lectures took him to many countries.
"He and Topeka grew big together," a resident there remarked recently. "When he first came here he beat anyone getting acquainted I ever saw. He divided the city into districts so he would not miss visiting a single person. He obtained a job for a week in railroad shops to get acquainted with men.

Not far from the stone church, built in Topeka, by Dr. Sheldon's congregation to accommodate the membership, which increased from fifty to several hundred in a few years, was a settlement of negroes known as "Tennessee Town."

Had New Religious Message

THIS wretched place became a great field of work for Dr. Sheldon and his church. Suffering was relieved. Many huts were transformed into cosy cottages. Prizes were offered for the neatest yards and gardens, and "Tennessee Town" became inhabitable. In connection with his church, Bowman Memorial Kindergarten, which became an effective agent in furthering Dr. Sheldon's ideas of a practical Christianity, was built.

It was that sort of man and pastor who began writing a chapter each week of a continued story, which he read to his congregation on Sunday nights. Sometimes chapters were written in the study of his church, other times in his modest home nearby, where the author-preacher found contentment with his wife and child after a busy day. He had read his congregation other stories from his pen, seven of which had appeared later in book form, but none that had prevailed as "In His Steps." Little did the author dream while reading it that, within a few months, newboys would be crying its sales on the streets of London, and two continents would be discussing it.

Dr. Sheldon had written several books before the publication of "In His Steps," and he continued to write other novels and stories and to work on his "Everyman's Bible," which is a condensed Bible it took him more than twenty years to compile. But it was not until seventeen years after the appearance of "In His Steps" that its sequel, "Jesus Is Here," followed, and with it many criticisms of the author, whom some condemned for being irreverent and daring, for the Jesus whom he describes as coming to earth was distinctly modern. "Too visionary—too idealistic," have been two criticisms applied to the great preacher by some who did not know the deep sincerity of the man, and that his optimism had been a part of his nature since the time he spent his hardy, vigorous youth on a South Dakota farm, where his father lived with a teacher and missionary to the Indians of the great North-west.

Gen. Bickford Had His Little Joke

With the Canadian Troops Who Went on the Humorous Expedition to Siberia.

Gen. Bickford Had His Little Joke

BIG-GEN. HAROLD CHILDE BICKFORD, C.M.G., retired from military life to the real estate brokerage business, and to demonstrate that he is bona fide real estate broker, Gen. Bickford lives in a chateau amid large quantities of real estate at Ranleigh Park, Scarborough.

There we have Gen. Bickford's outstanding characteristic: never demanding of anyone what he is not prepared to do himself. In his five years' strenuous service as general staff officer (1) of the Military District and as commander of the Canadian brigade to Siberia, the general remained one of the least known of our leading military men. He was very uncommunicative. The newspaper men all their ambitions in Canada while never once caught him unawares or wheedled an interview out of him.

All that is known of him, even in military circles, is that he was one of those Imperial-trained officers who were destined in Ontario, where he was born, to go to the front in France. He was born in Toronto 43 years ago, joined the Governor-General's Bodyguard when a young man, went to England and joined the regular army 6th Dragoon Guards in 1897 as a second lieutenant, saw service in India, served with distinction in South Africa, took the staff college course in 1908, got his majority, returned to Canada, was one of the first to report for service at the outbreak of war, but not till 1918 was he given an opportunity to active service, and then only on the humorous expedition to Siberia.

He wears, in addition to the C.M.G. for distinguished service in organizing the forces raised in Ontario, the Royal Humane Society's medal for life saving. In February, 1901, in South Africa, General Bickford, then a lieutenant, saved the life of a private soldier, in the Scott Grey's, who was swept off his horse in the swollen current of the Assagel River, the rescue and bringing him safe ashore after being borne in the current half a mile.

In Siberia, General Bickford commanded two Canadian battalions, 258th and 260th, and two British battalions, who were never seen by the Canadian members of the brigade.

A very comical story is told about the only battle in which this brigade featured.

The Bolsheviks attacked the town of Skotovo. The allied forces encamped at Vladivostok were ordered to make a counter-attack by way of a demonstration. Great excitement prevailed, as this was the first (and only) action to relieve the monotony of the troops' life.

WAR MEMORIAL CROSS UNVEILED

Impressive Ceremony at Newcastle Yesterday.

Newcastle, May 24.—St. Andrew's churchyard was the scene of an impressive and memorable service yesterday afternoon when the war memorial cross, erected by comrades in loving memory of those of St. Andrew's church, who gave their lives in the service of their king and country in the Boer war and the great war of 1914-1918, was unveiled and dedicated.

The front of the churchyard and the neighboring sidewalks were filled with the great multitude of citizens. The services were conducted by the rector, Rev. W. J. Bate, one of whose own sons was being honored, assisted by Rev. F. T. Bertram, of the Methodist church, who read the scripture lesson. A composite choir from the Anglican, Baptist, Catholic, Methodist and Presbyterian churches took charge of the music. Mrs. Charles Sargeant presiding at the organ. Stirring addresses were delivered by Major D. P. Doyle, Rev. L. H. MacLean (pastor of St. James' Presbyterian church), and Capt. A. L. Barry, who went overseas with the 138th. The last post and reveille were sounded by ex-soldiers. Many returned men witnessed the ceremony. The cross was unveiled by Captain Barry and five young men—Samuel Craig, Frank Craig and Harold Davidson (each a veteran himself), and Hugh Morrell and Redvers Bate—each of whom had a brother among the dead heroes.

The inscriptions on the monument read as follows:
South side—Warren Craig, South African Constabulary, died of enteric fever, Standerton (S. A.), June 24, 1902. Erected in 1920 by comrades in loving memory of those who gave their lives for God, king and country.

East side—Walter Horace Morrell, 24th Field Battery, died of wounds, Amiens, August 8, 1918. George John Mercer Bate, 8th Battery, and D48th Howitzer, 1914-1918; wounded at Amiens, August 14, 1918; died at Rouen, August 16, 1918.

North side—George Frederick Craik, 20th N. B. Battalion, killed in action, Courcellette, September 28, 1916. J. Warren Davidson, 8th N. S. Highlanders, killed in action, Passchendaele, October 30, 1917. Their names live forever.

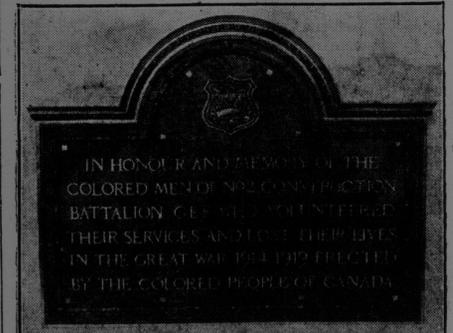

West side—John Hales Sweet, Major, Seaforth Highlanders, killed in action, Vimy Ridge, April 9, 1917. Philip Henry Fursey, 2nd Canadian Pioneers, killed in action, Hill 70, August 15, 1917.

At the unveiling, wreaths were placed by relatives of the deceased and by others, at the foot of the monument, one wreath for each hero.

The monument is a great block of grey granite on a concrete base, and surmounted by a marble cross. It is a costly token and a credit to all concerned. It stands in front of St. Andrew's church facing Pleasant street.

Major Doyle paid an eloquent tribute to the memory of the dead and the laudable example of St. Andrew's church in having the monument erected. Nothing in the way of a memorial could be too good for the boys who died for king and country. Newcastle town had not forgotten the dead. All that delayed a public monument in the town was the fact that it was not yet decided who should build it. The town wanted a county memorial erected here in the shiretown and was prepared to bear a large part of the total expense. There would soon be a monument here either for the whole county, as hoped for, or for the town and district.

Rev. L. H. MacLean was the next speaker, and spoke in parts as follows: The occasion of our gathering is a worthy one, yes, sacred. I pray that the immediately bereaved will find comfort in the realization that their beloved dead did their duty in the world of conflict. We are here to do honor to our heroic dead; here to dedicate a permanent memorial expressive of appreciation and gratitude for the sacrifice they made. They died that we might still remain free and have continued to us the freedom of the most glorious flag. When our national and our individual freedom was most seriously threatened, and when nothing, under God, but human devotion and human sacrifice could have averted the impending calamity, these, in whose memory we are met, offered themselves, with others of our fellow citizens, upon the altar of service.

Captain Barry, a veteran officer of the last great struggle, remarked with great appreciation the frequency of such ceremonies as today's. Of all the men he had seen die at the front none had uttered a word of complaint against their government or superiors who had sent them to their death. All were content to do their duty whatever the result. Colonel McLeod's famous call to take up the task dropped by the dead did not refer solely to the reinforcements needed then, but also to the men at home

FIRST CROP REPORT FOR THIS SEASON

The first crop report of the season of 1920 has been issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. It deals with the winter killing of fall-sown wheat, the condition of fall wheat and of hay and clover meadows and the progress of seeding. The report being compiled from the returns of crop correspondents from all parts of Canada on April 30.

Winter Killing and Condition of Fall Wheat

Notwithstanding the severity of the past winter, the proportion of fall-sown wheat that has been killed is reported to be very small, amounting in fact to not more than four per cent of the area sown. This is the smallest proportion on record, and compares with five per cent last year after an extraordinarily mild winter and with 62 per cent in 1918 after the severe winter of 1917-18. The small proportion this year is due to the depth of the snow and the late springing, as usually fall-sown wheat in Canada is damaged more by alternating frosts and thaws during March and April than by cold in the depth of the winter when the ground is covered with snow. Deducting the areas reported as winter killed, representing four per cent, or 28,000 acres, in Ontario, one per cent, or 400 acres, in Alberta, and four per cent, or 600 acres in British Columbia, the total reduction by winter killing is 29,000 acres, leaving 740,000 acres as the area of fall wheat to be harvested for 1920, as compared with 672,793 acres, the finally estimated harvest area of 1919. The average condition of fall wheat on April 30 last is 98, representing the promise of a yield two per cent below the average of the nine years 1911-1919. Last year at the same date the condition was three per cent above the average of the previous eight years. The condition on April 30 is 98 per cent for both Ontario and Alberta, and 95 per cent for British Columbia.

Hay and Clover Meadows

About five per cent of the area under hay and clover is reported as winter killed, as compared with six per cent last year, and 11 per cent in 1918. The condition of hay and clover meadows on April 30 is reported as 95 per cent, or five below the average of the nine years 1911-1919. By provinces the condition is as follows: Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia 100, New Brunswick 101, Quebec 98, Ontario 92, Manitoba 93, Saskatchewan 88, Alberta 96, and British Columbia 95.

Progress of Spring Seeding

The seeding season this year is later than in any previous year since annual systematic records were begun by the census and statistics office in 1910. In the maritime provinces, where seeding as a rule does not take place until May, work on the land, owing to cold wet weather, will not begin until the second week of May. In Quebec, scarcely any seeding had been accomplished by the end of April and, owing to cold and the absence of sunshine, operations were not expected to begin before the second week in May. The ground was reported as very moist, and several days' sunshine were requisite to get it into good condition. In Ontario, about 28 per cent, or nearly one-quarter of the total seeding of wheat, and 19 per cent, of oats and barley, had been done by April 30; last year the proportions were 68 per cent for wheat, 80 per cent for oats, and 49 per cent for barley. In Manitoba and Saskatchewan snowfalls and frosty nights have prevailed; so that in the prairie provinces very little seeding of wheat had been accomplished in April and practically none of oats and barley. Such a state of backwardness is rare in the prairie provinces, as usually from 40 to 50 per cent of seeding is done in April. At the end of April, 1919, when the spring was also later than the average date, 40 per cent of wheat had been sown in Manitoba, 62 per cent in Saskatchewan and 77 per cent in Alberta. In British Columbia 23 per cent of wheat seeding had been done in April, wheat against 45 per cent in April, 1919. Correspondents report generally an abundance of moisture in the ground, which, if the weather be favorable after seeding, should ensure rapid growth and carry the crops well on into June.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

To the Editor of The Times:
Sir—The opinion is abroad that organized labor is opposed to every movement that does not originate with itself. Particularly has this idea prevailed in relation to Daylight Saving.
Although it will cause much inconvenience to the employees of the street railway, they have decided in their union, wholly on their own initiative, to endorse the action of the mayor. Being employed by a Public Utility, they feel that the interests of the public will be conserved by this move and they have considered wholly the greatest good to the greatest number in advocating the adoption of the new time.
Organized labor, as a body, has not stated that it is in favor of this ruling, and it is not our purpose to coerce any united action to follow our precedent. We have not been influenced by anyone, and we wish it clearly understood that we have not laid down our weapons but are ever alert to fight where a matter of principle is at stake.

Stop Wasting Gasoline

SOME persons think that what they do with their money or what they purchase with their money is not any other person's business. They are mistaken.

A lot of people are buying gasoline to-day and using it wastefully. In so doing they are penalizing all the people.

Those who have studied the subject say that one-half gallon of gasoline per car is wasted a day through carelessness, through over-use of cars and useless mileage. This means 200,000 gallons wasted a day or 7,300,000 gallons per year.

This has to be stopped or the price of gasoline will prevent the use of thousands of cars. Anyone who wastes gasoline is doing an injury to you whether you own a car or do not own one.

There are about 400,000 motor cars and trucks in Canada. The motor car is a great utility. It gives opportunity to many thousands of people—men, women and children—to get out into the country, to have recreation and pleasure that otherwise would be difficult for them to obtain. It is a great agency in the promotion of good roads. It is a great agency, too, in the promotion of good health. Anything that restricts its use is of public concern.

Does the waste of gasoline concern the person who does not own a car, might be asked. Let us see.

THERE are thousands of motor trucks. They do a great work in the transportation of various commodities. If the price of gasoline advances the cost of transporting goods will be increased. You will have to pay it in the higher prices you pay for meat, for vegetables, for milk, for eggs, for moving your household goods, for anything and everything you eat or use. Directly or indirectly it will be in the bill the general public has to pay.

One gallon of gasoline will provide the energy to move a one ton truck 15 miles, or, to put it another way, it will move 15 tons of freight one mile. If the users of automobiles would save the one-half gallon they now waste each day it would equal 109,500,000 ton miles of haulage.

It is estimated that more than 30,000 tractors will be used this year in Canada. All of these require gasoline or other refined oil fuel. Without these tractors, Canada could not plant her crops, let alone harvest and thresh them.

It has been figured that the 7,300,000 gallons of gasoline wasted per year in Canada is sufficient to plant, harvest and thresh 15,500,000 bushels of wheat. Think what it would mean to you, to Canada, and to the world if the production of Canada's food crops were curtailed.

There is a shortage of gasoline. In the last few years the demand for crude petroleum, practically all of which must be imported for the manufacture of gasoline in Canada, has increased more than 650 per cent. In a like period, production has increased only 150 per cent. A shortage of crude and high prices necessarily follow. Pennsylvania crude is to-day costing $6.10 and Oklahoma crude $3.60 per barrel at the wells, and these prices must be paid in American funds which adds another 10 per cent. These things render gasoline scarce and make it very high in cost.

Economy in gasoline means more than the general public appreciates. More gasoline is being used to-day than is being produced. That means that reserve stocks are being drawn upon. Curtailment of waste is imperative. It rests with users of gasoline to do voluntarily what otherwise they inevitably will be forced to do.

Save Gasoline.

A HAPPY HOLIDAY
ALONG THE RIVER

A Great Many City Folk
Spent It on Long Reach

Fishermen's Luck — Potatoes
Above Ground — Train
Late as Usual on the Home
Trip Last Night.

Many hundreds of people from the city spent Sunday and Monday on the Long Reach. Every steamer going up river on Saturday had a large passenger list and the Valley Railway train was crowded. At every wharf and station people got off and scattered along the countryside for a pleasant holiday.

The old reliable Oconee had a real summer week-end crowd when she left Indian town at three o'clock and had also a good freight. A smoky haze prevailed, but the sun was shining, and the rippled surface of Grand Bay was an expanse of flashing diamonds. At Sand Point about thirty people got off on the end of the wharf, some with a portion of their cottage belongings, only to find that because of the extreme high water they could not get ashore. From six inches to a foot of water covered the inner portion of the wharf, and it was a case of wading or taking a small boat. To add a touch of humor to the situation an ancient mariner rowed out in a boat, took one lady as passenger and coolly went ashore again, leaving the rest marooned on the end of the wharf. Two boys—they may have been boy scouts—and they certainly were good samaritans, put out in another boat and came to the rescue as the Oconee steamed away toward Westfield. At Crystal Beach, Purdy's Point and Belyea's the passengers were taken off in boats. At Belyea's a young couple in a canoe, the lady bareheaded, paddled up to the steamer, evidently enjoying the warm air and the calm water. Several motor boats went up from the city during the afternoon. On the Oconee were a number of fishermen, and a group of boy scouts got off at Public Landing, to join others who had gone up earlier in the day. More people left the steamer, there than at any point below.

A week had wrought a wonderful change at the Landing. Leaves were out on the birches and poplars, and the first blossoms were appearing on the Maycherry trees. The bright green of the new foliage contrasted with the darker shade of the evergreens, and with the reddish buds of the maples, not yet in leaf. Young oaks were showing green in some of the fields, and dandelions and strawberry blossoms were out in the meadows. In some places the grass was tall enough to wave in the light breeze, although in many spots the gray of early spring had not yet given way to the new verdure. Swallows were arriving, and in the early evening the clear notes of the robin floated in the quiet air. Over a bit of meadow a small hawk flew low, looking for its prey. Everywhere were the sights and sounds of the country, delightful to the eye and ear accustomed to the dust and noise of the city.

Of course there was a garden to visit, with the thrill of satisfaction in finding that radishes and cucumbers and beets planted a week before were already above ground. But there was a fly in the ointment. A week before, with much toil a large cucumber had been made and planted. During the week a farmer's cows had crossed two farms in order that one of them might make a parade ground of this particular bed before he was advised by the dog to go home.

Then there were adventures in exploration. A little girl wanted violets, blue and white, from a brookside. There were also dog-tooth violets from the meadow, and there were shaded haunts of trilliums, anemones and jack-in-the-pulpit. The boys wanted a tall, slim young fir from a grove to cut and trim and peel for use as a flagstaff. There was another garden bed to be dug up and weeded and made ready for seed, and a row of sweet peas. And at the end of the day there was the crescent moon and a single star, seen from the bedroom window through the branches of a gaunt old pine. This same old pine mourned two great limbs broken by the heavy ice-storm of last winter.

On Sunday morning the river was a perfect mirror, but later a breeze sprang up that ruffled the smooth surface. The sun shone through a faint haze, and the day was altogether delightful. A number of motor boats passed up, and John Frookham's motor canoe to Carter's Point. The first bonfires of the season were seen along the shore late in the evening.

On Monday the first half of the day was overcast, but the afternoon was warm in brilliant sunshine. Crowds of people went up river by steamer and train, and quite a number of motor boats went out. On the hill at the Landing there were potatoes to plant, and beets and onions, and small flower beds to make. In the neighboring groves the robins sang, and from the shore below came the sound of happy voices. Our farmer friend, by the way has potatoes already above ground.

Fishing from the wharf at the Landing has a fascination for many visitors. Many dozens of perch, chub and smelt were taken, with the large trout and a fish which some called a white perch and others a small rock bass. Also there were eels. A gentleman who hails from New York had caught a sample of everything and was glued to the wharf so long that friends had to take him to lunch and finally promise him a fish supper to get him away. The fisherman who whipped the brooks and lakes for trout had good luck in most cases—at least they said so—and nobody would doubt a fisherman's word.

All steamers down river had good passenger lists yesterday afternoon. They would have had many more if anybody had believed the Valley Railway much heralded excursion train would land its passengers in town at one o'clock, to walk home from the depot.

Olson Cut Credit, But Held Trade.

Leaving Kansas City, Mo., to get out of politics made a merchant of A. B. Olson.

Olson had $1,000 when he and his four sons moved on to a Kansas farm. They tilled the soil until they had saved $6,000. Then they established the Olson Mercantile Co. store at Savonburg, Kan. Today the Olson family owns four stores. All the stock in the company, $50,000, is owned by the father and his four sons.

It was in 1907 that they started at Savonburg with $6,000. One competitor with a stock of $25,000 was doing most of the business. But Olson got that business. He adopted a one-price policy and stuck to it. The other merchant would dickler with his customers on prices and before long his best trade had gone to the new merchant.

Besides, Olson pulled something new in rural merchandising. He extended credit to farmers, but after a few months he told them that if their accounts were not paid up within sixty days he would charge them 10 per cent interest on what they owed. Within eight months Olson cut down his credit accounts from $2,400 to $800, and he lost only two customers, intimate friends who objected when he refused to discriminate in their favor.

Olson has printed statements on which it is stated that if accounts run over sixty days interest must be paid. They work. Farmers ask and get credit, but they pay up. It is cheaper for them to go to the bank if necessary and borrow the money and they can't blame Olson for wanting what is coming to him or interest on it if he is loaning it out.

"Don't talk business to your customers when you meet them outside your store," advises Olson. "Don't get too intimate with them."

"I am courteous and friendly to all, but I am careful not to get on too intimate a basis with anybody. You can't do business with your intimate friends. They are the first ones to take advantage of you."

Why the Sudden Demand for Wash Boilers?

Maybe a ouija board could establish some connection between the present dearth of washboilers, tubs and similar receptacles in many stores and the well-known eighteenth amendment. Maybe the spirits couldn't. But the fact remains that hardware and house furnishing stores are facing an unusual demand for metal tanks of various shapes and sizes.

One dealer says the run on washbaths and boilers started more than a month ago, and that now it is almost impossible to buy these articles from the wholesalers or jobbing houses.

"I managed to buy five washboilers from my wholesaler the other day," he declared. "I had customers for two of these. The other three were sold the day I got them in my store. Tubs are out of the question. I haven't been able to purchase a tub in a month."

A tinsmith declared he had never made so many metal tanks in the history of his business as he had during the last ten weeks.

"Everybody has a particular type of tank he wants constructed," the tinsmith said. "All are particular, however, in having a faucet in the bottom. The demand for these tanks has recently become so great that I have hired all the extra men I could, and it is frequently necessary for them to work overtime to turn out the orders."

Make War Profiteer Pay,
The Cry In Great Britain
Movement to Make New Rich Disgorge Led House of Commons to Inquire Into Taxation Proposal
—Strenuous Objections Encountered.

Foreign Correspondence of New York Evening Post)
London, April 15.—When the popular demands in the needs of the national exchequer there should be little doubt, one would think, in getting a substantial result. The state just now especially in need of money and the means of its finances have to look for some source of income hitherto untapped. "Make the profiteer pay" was the favorite slogan of the tariff reformers before the war. "Make Germany pay" was one of the winning cries of the last general election. The collection of the expectations of a huge increase of the war-time period into the peacetime period is today the anxiety of the man in the street, if you ask how the state is to meet the obligations of the war debt and at the same time to carry out the schemes of reconstruction that have been promised by government.

Revenue were followed into the witness box by a long procession of representatives of commercial and financial interests. The Institute of Bankers, the Federation of British Industries, the Stock Exchange General Purpose Committee, the Association of British Chambers of Commerce and the Council of the London Chamber of Commerce were among those who sent spokesmen—all of them breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the whole scheme. Similar hostility was shown at meetings of business men held in London and Manchester. Many of the arguments used in opposition were those that have become familiar in discussions of proposals for a general capital levy; that it would embarrass and dislocate industry; that it would drive capital out of the country; that valuation and assessment would be difficult and collection impossible, and that evasion could not be prevented.

The greatest objections.
But the objections that seem to have made the greatest impression upon the committee were those arising from the special nature of a levy upon accretions of wealth during the war period. A minor point was the double work that would be thrown upon the officials through the necessity of a two-fold valuation as a basis of comparison. Notice was also taken of the injustice that would be done if the decrease in purchasing power of money since 1914 were forgotten, especially in the case of increased values which had not been re-valued. The erosion of a cotton mill full of machinery, for instance, would cost three times as much as in 1914. The main objection to the proposal was the impossibility, as admitted by the Board of Inland Revenue itself, of making any satisfactory discrimination between increases acquired in different ways.

WALKOUT WEEK FOR BARBERS
AND WHISKERS "ROMP AT RANDOM"

Report of Executive to Meeting in Toronto
General Secretary Thomas Howell Gives Details of Movement, Its Meaning, Plans and Some of Its Successes.

The annual meeting of the Canadian Brotherhood Federation was held in Toronto last week, beginning Wednesday, May 12. Delegates were present from every province in Canada, and from several states in the United States. New Brunswick was represented by G. E. Knight, the representative of the federation for New Brunswick and P. E. Island. The annual report of the executive follows:
We have been making history since our report was presented at the last annual meeting. The peace treaty has been signed and the League of Nations has come into being. The real work of the brotherhood commenced with these two momentous happenings and during the last twelve months we have been able to appraise the value of the magnificent spade work done by the pioneers of this movement who had vision to see the immense possibilities before it and courage enough to fight on in the face of difficulties which many times seemed insurmountable.

In the graphic phrase of Commissioner William Ward, whom we are delighted to have with us today, "the organization has gone forward by leaps and bounds."
"Leap" suggests the lustiness of youth and "bounds" the enormous ground covered during the period since we met last annual meeting.

The direct activities of the organization in forming and federating brother-hoods in our own country has very greatly increased. It has been necessary to do a great deal of educational work.
Prejudices have had to be awakened and interests have had to be awakened and quickened. But the tide in brotherhood affairs is now in full flood and big things are impending.

In many towns and cities brotherhood days have been held with splendid results. In every case the members of the local ministerial association have been interviewed before the brotherhood gathering has been put on, and while this has entailed a lot of detail work, it has been worth well worth while as the ministers and leading laymen are the key of the situation. Some of these brotherhood days have followed close on the heels of our own movement. When the "aims and objects" of brotherhood have been fully explained, ministers and laymen alike have at once seized the idea that a brotherhood in a church will conserve and increase the energy and enthusiasm engendered by this splendid achievement of what we mean by "brotherhood" and "federation" has been our greatest feat. But when the men who have been working well worth while as the general welfare of the people, it is only fair to say that they are keenly alive to its possibilities.

To beautify the teeth
All statements approved by high dental authorities Millions of people now employ a new teeth cleaning method. Millions of white teeth show the results of it. This is to urge a ten-day test, to show what it means to you.
They fight the film
This new way combats film—that viscous film you feel. That is what clouds teeth and what wrecks them. Most tooth troubles are now traced to film.
Film clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. If not removed it hardens. Then month after month, between your dental cleanings, it may do a ceaseless damage.
It is the film-coat that discolors—not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.
Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.
The ordinary tooth paste does not dissolve film, the tooth brush leaves much of it intact. Thus very few people escape tooth troubles, despite the daily brushing.
Now dental science has evolved a film combatant. Five years of tests have amply proved its efficiency. Leading dentists now everywhere advise it. And it is embodied for your daily use in a dentifrice called Pepsodent—an ideal modern tooth paste.
Sent on request
A ten-day test of this new method is supplied to all who ask. Thus millions have seen the results of it.
Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter.
The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to dry by day combat it.
Pepsin must be activated, and the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. So this method long seemed barred. But science has discovered a harmless activating method, so active pepsin can be every day applied.
Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coat disappears.
See the results and let our book explain them. Then judge for yourself what is best for you and yours. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

CAN TRAVEL FULLY TEN MILES AN HOUR

Wonderful Results Achieved by Canadian Government on St. John Valley Railway.

A weary and dejected army of men, women and children with much equipment, marched through the city streets between one and two o'clock this morning. They had been waiting at stations along the Valley Railway, and it was so late that there were no street cars on when they reached St. John, except a few rushing to the barns for the night.

All these people could have come down river on the steamers during the afternoon, but they wanted to stay as long as possible along the Reach, expecting the holiday excursion train to bring them home before bed-time. They will not expect any such result or take any such chance again, unless the C. N. R. wakes up.

Forty or fifty people waited at Public Landing. When it was clear the train would be late they began to make enquiries by telephone. The first report said the train should arrive by ten o'clock. She tarried by the way, and then Westfield reported her four hours late. The evening was cool. There was no light in the little station. A stove was there and the people made a fire, but only a few women with children could be accommodated in the small waiting room. Then a bonfire was started on the wharf. A later message said the train should arrive by half past-ten. Somewhat cheered, those who had about decided to spend the night at the Landing changed their minds. Mr. Holman kindly kept his store open, and some food warmth there. In order, no doubt, that there might be some entertainment the northern lights danced in the sky; but what the people wanted was of the earth and not the sky. They wanted to see the headlight of a locomotive turning the curve at the Devil's Back. They did see it at last, but that was at nearly half-past eleven, and some of the children by this time were asleep. But the train came at last, and the crowd packed themselves into a colonial car and moved with measured pace and slow toward the city, taking a long rest at Westfield en route.

The train explains the measured tramp of feet along the city streets after one o'clock this morning. The train must have travelled as much as ten miles an hour—a government railway train—that had advertised a special excursion for the holiday.

"Anything," said a heavy-eyed passenger, seems to be good enough for poor old St. John."

"BOSTON BOAT" IS WELCOMED

Dingley, Now an Oil Burner, Here on First Trip of Resumed Service.

The Eastern Steamship liner Governor Dingley arrived in port shortly after 12 o'clock today from Boston on her first trip of the season. She had a large freight and fifty-seven passengers.

Since the steamer was here last year she has been thoroughly renovated and has had oil burners installed and is now one of the best equipped steamers in the service. Captain L. C. Ingalls is in command and upon his arrival in port was warmly welcomed by friends.

The other officers on the steamer are B. Dyer, chief engineer; W. M. Ingalls, chief officer; J. D. Townsend, steward; J. Joyce, purser.

Captain Ingalls, in conversation with a representative of The Times, said that they had a very good trip from Boston and that the oil burners seemed to give entire satisfaction. Included in the freight were thirteen race horses, five of which were consigned to Thomas Hayes of this city. The others were for horses in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

ACCIDENT ON C. P. R. SATURDAY NEAR ROOTH

On the C. P. R. on Saturday morning about one-half mile this side of Rooth, N. B., a train, which left here at 6:45 for Boston was passing a siding on which a freight was being loaded. The baggage car and first class smoker failed to pass the switch jumped the rail and side swiped the engine attached to the freight, which was bound for this city. The engine was quite badly damaged and was thrown off the track. Both the baggage car and smoker were also quite badly damaged.

When the accident happened there was quite a little excitement among the passengers, some of whom sustained slight bruises, but fortunately no one was seriously injured. The passengers were transferred to one car and taken to McAdam where they made through connection for Boston and destinations. They were delayed about two hours. There was very little damage done to the road bed and the line was soon cleared for traffic. There were a few passengers from this city on the train.

A REVIVAL OF P. R. A. ACTIVITIES

At the semi-annual meeting of the Council of the N. B. Provincial Rifle Association, it was decided to send a team to Halifax to compete in the inter-maritime rifle match, provided that it can be arranged to have it shot under the same conditions as before this year. This provision was considered necessary owing to the difficulty of procuring an issue of the new short Lee-Enfield rifle, which has been adopted as the arm for the Canadian militia.

It was also decided to hold a prize meeting at Sussex, opening on Tuesday, August 10th, if a supply of rifles can be procured. These, if procured, will be issued at Sussex, and an opportunity will be provided for competitors to have some practice and learn the elevations and shooting qualities of their rifle.

Owing to conditions that develop during the war, many radical changes in conditions have been effected upon by the officials of the National Rifle Association. Long range shooting (800 to 1,000 yards) has been done away with. The rifle must be used with the sights issued, that is "open sights." Wind gauges will not be used. All allowances for deflection of the bullet, owing to effect of wind, must be provided for by "allowance on the target." Slings, as attached to rifle, may be used to steady the rifle during shooting.

In other words, we are going back to conditions that existed twenty or twenty-five years ago, when a score of "Magpies" was good; and one of sixty-five points out of a possible 105 at 200, 500 and 600 yards was considered phenomenal.

However, there will be one advantage, and that is that the "tyro," under these conditions, will be placed on the same footing as the expert rifeman; as the latter, under above conditions, has been reduced to the ranks and must start out anew from the common level.

It is fully expected that a majority of the old competitors of the P. R. A. will welcome the return to Sussex for a reunion after five years of inactivity of the association; and that a large number of C. E. F. men, who have become familiar with the use of the new weapon, will also be in attendance.

THE CADETS

It was announced at local military headquarters this morning by Lieut. Colonel A. B. Snow, organizer and inspector of cadet corps, that the annual inspection of the corps in this province will be made during June. Several competitions in physical drill and training are being carried on at the Strathcona trust, which is a trust distributed to each province for the encouragement of military training and physical drill among the school children. In the city the following corps will be inspected: St. John High School, King Edward, Winter Street, St. Malachi's, St. Peter's, King George, Alexandra, St. Andrew's and St. Stephen. The inspection will be held out of doors at the army and on King George school grounds and the parents of the children are asked to be present. The corps in Moncton are very enthusiastic. It is also expected that during the summer there will be a six days' cadet corps camp but no definite arrangements have yet been made. The thirty days' school teachers' camp is also mentioned.

More Mileage Means Less Cost Per Tire

Look below the surface when you buy a tire. Most tires are cured but once on an iron core.

GOODYEAR TIRES
are the only tires receiving a second cure on bags of air that are shaped like inner tubes. Under heat, this air expands and smooths out any wrinkles the fabric may contain. This saves many blow-outs—caused in rival tires by wrinkled fabric.

ALL-WEATHER TREAD
Note these rows of rugged deep-cut blocks. They are sharp edged so they grip where common "non-skids" slip. They are tough and extra thick so they minimize punctures and give extra mileage. This famous tread enhances the matchless beauty of Goodyear Tires. Yet the blocks are flat, and so the tire runs smoothly. We offer you Goodyears in both Fabric and Cord Tires.

Again Comes Up The Question of A Phonograph For The Country House

Long evenings in the country call for some lively music in which all may enjoy the dance, and the phonograph makes this possible because none has to preside at a piano.

We are showing an excellent range of the famous McLACAN PHONOGRAPH just now in anticipation of this summer home demand.

The McLACAN, you know, plays all disc records, thereby opening up to you the world's great artists which would be impossible in the case of a machine playing only one line of records.

BRITISH EMPIRE STEEL CHARTER COMMENTED ON

News of Incorporation of Half Billion Concern in Nova Scotia Leads to Considerable Curiosity at Ottawa.

Ottawa, May 24.—The news that the British Empire Steel Corporation was incorporated under the joint stock company act of Nova Scotia, with a capital of half a billion dollars, has led to considerable curiosity being evinced here as to why a dominion charter was not secured. The report from Nova Scotia states that the dominion application was withdrawn by the corporation. Inquiry fails to verify this, but equally fails to get information as to whether the application was refused or not. It is believed that the government in view of the fact that the matter had been made the subject of debate in the house of commons and was certain to be raised again, asked for so many details as to capitalization and assets that some of the companies in the merger objected. The question now arises as to the validity of a Nova Scotia incorporation for a company doing business all over the dominion. If the British Empire Steel Corporation is to be regarded simply as a holding company with no assets except the shares in other companies, the other companies holding their assets, the provincial incorporation may be just as effective, as the company might claim it was not in business throughout the dominion. If it is to be regarded as a company doing business throughout the dominion, then there is some doubt as to whether a provincial incorporation is enough for business conducted beyond the borders of the province in which incorporation was granted. There have been conflicting judgments on the point by Canadian courts, and it is thought here that the privy council would find it a perplexing question to decide.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. James, of 104 Wright street, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Villah Marion, to Lloyd Addington Drew, of this city. The wedding is to take place early in June.

EAST END GROUNDS OPENED YESTERDAY

The East End Improvement League grounds had a grand and auspicious opening yesterday morning when Mayor Schofield raised the flag on the new flagpole and declared the grounds open for a good season of sport and games. Since last year much new apparatus has been acquired, the grand stand has been put in thorough order and full equipment for games of young and old have been provided. After the formal opening some 100 or 150 children competed in a series of field sports and were watched with interest by their parents and friends. Men were working on the grounds all morning getting ready for the game in the afternoon.

In spite of the chilliness of the morning a good crowd assembled for the flag raising and the formal opening. Among those present were Commissioner Jones and F. L. Potts, M.P.P., who made short speeches following Mayor Schofield's opening address. A. W. Covey, Mrs. W. C. Good, F. J. Pougnet and Roy Handren represented the playgrounds association and David Ramsay, the president of the east end league was the master of ceremonies. The children's races were directed by Harry Scott.

The raising of the flag by Mayor Schofield was a pretty ceremony. The National Anthem, O Canada and an appropriate hymn were sung as part of the programme and Mrs. Good very kindly consented to lead the music in which all joined and which was doubly impressive heard out-of-doors. The children who competed in the sport events were from five to twelve years of age and showed themselves

CONFERENCE ON FREIGHT JAM

Boston, May 24.—Relief from New England's transportation troubles was the object of a conference here today by representatives of the principal railroad operating in this section and of the American Railroad Association. The Boston and Albany and the Boston and Maine roads, it is said, have been able to relieve conditions at their freight gateways somewhat in the past few days. The New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad has increased its percentage of operating efficiency, but is still handicapped by conditions at its Harlem River and Maybrook yards.

A special service commemorating the landing of the Loyalists in St. John was held in Trinity, the Loyalist church, on Sunday evening when the rector, Rev. Canon R. A. The music, which was specially arranged, added greatly to the impressiveness of the service. Members of the Loyalist Society attended, and there was a large congregation.

Digby, N. S., May 24.—Mrs. Joseph Saulnier is dead at her home in Saulnierville as a result of a shooting accident yesterday. Her husband was showing a gun to a friend when he let it fall. CORNER STONE OF DALHOUSIE LAID 100 YEARS AGO

Today Is the Centenary of the Event

Lord Dalhousie's Speech at the Ceremony — The Story of the University Intertwined With That of Eastern Canada.

One hundred years ago today (May 22, 1820) the corner stone of the first Dalhousie College, located on the Grand Parade, where the Halifax city hall now stands, was laid by Lord George Bunsby, ninth Earl of Dalhousie, a hero of Waterloo, and then lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia. The laying of the corner stone was an occasion of much military splendor and ceremony and the day will stand always as one of great achievement in the advancement of education in Canada.

A whole century has passed since then, and now standing squarely on its accomplishments Dalhousie turns with confidence to her alumni, her former students and to the friends of education in Canada, believing that they will make it possible for her to maintain her standard, live up to her traditions, and pursue with even greater effectiveness than ever her great task of translating into reality the "Vision of Dalhousie."

Two years prior to the corner stone laying Lord Dalhousie had brought the university into being, using for that purpose some $45,000 which a British expeditionary force had collected in customs duties during the occupation of the American port of Castine, then a part of the province of Massachusetts, during the unpleasantness of 1812.

It was some time before the site for the new institution of learning was decided upon, but this having been done and building operations commenced, all was in readiness for the laying of the corner stone just two years after the university was founded.

The day upon which the ceremony was performed broke clear and bright and a great concourse of citizens gathered to participate in the ceremony. It was indeed a gay cavalcade which marched up George street that day 100 years ago. The soldiers, resplendent in their scarlet coats, formed in long lines on the parade and through these Lord Dalhousie and his brilliant staff rode to the scene.

When the military and the citizenship had gathered in great squares in front of the building, Lord Dalhousie with much solemnity began the ceremony. That the founder of Dalhousie felt that the institution he had brought into being would grow, and growing take an eminent place in the history of Nova Scotia and Canada, was evidenced by his address of dedication. "I am here to perform an act," he said, "which appears to me to promise incalculable advantage to this country and if my name as governor of this province can be associated with your future well-being it is upon the foundation of this college I desire to rest it."

The corner stone itself still kept inviolate in the new buildings at Studley tell us that Lord Dalhousie and his staff were accompanied by "Rear Admiral Griffin and the captains of his majesty's squadron on the station, Colonel George Mackie, commandant of the garrison, Lieut-Colonel Gauntlett, commanding the 62nd Regiment, and the field officers of his majesty's forces in this garrison etc., also John George Pyles, Esq., grand master, the grand wardens, officers and brethren of the respective lodges of Freemasons in Halifax.

In addition to laying the corner stone Lord Dalhousie deposited in a cavity a bottle hermetically sealed containing the various coins of His Majesty King George the Third, in gold and silver. Lord Dalhousie's address of dedication was brief and in it he asked that the university be handed down from generation to generation. In full it was as follows:

"Before I proceed in this ceremony I think it necessary to state to you gentlemen, the object and intention of this important work. I think it necessary to do this because I have never yet made a public declaration of the nature of the institution I am here planting among you, and because I know that some part of the public imagine that it is intended

MRS. ALICE GRESHAM DODD, mother of the first American soldier killed in France, who gives entire credit for recovery of her health to the well-known medicine Tanlac.

The following remarkable endorsement of Tanlac was given recently by Mrs. Alice Gresham Dodd, at the Gresham Memorial Home, Gavin Park, Evansville, Ind., which home was presented to her by the patriotic people of Indiana, as evidence of the appreciation of the services rendered to his country by her son, Corporal James B. Gresham, the first American soldier killed in France. Expressions of sympathy were received by Mrs. Dodd from all parts of the United States, and the newspapers of the country carried the story of the first war mother.

"The shock of her son's death resulted in the serious breakdown of Mrs. Dodd's health, but everyone will learn with interest and pleasure that she is now in splendid health again. When seen at her home recently she made the following statement, giving the entire credit for her recovery to the well-known medicine, Tanlac.

"After my dear boy's death, I had a general breakdown in health," said Mrs. Dodd. "At first it was just indigestion. My food used to upset me and I had to diet myself very carefully, which wasn't much hardship as I lost all desire to eat. Then I had an attack of rheumatism, with severe pains in my shoulders, back and arms. Sometimes I used to suffer a great deal, and my joints would get all swollen up and stiff. I was able to do very little about the house, and at times couldn't even cook a meal. I got very nervous and restless, and at night would lay awake for hours, and lost many nights' sleep as a consequence.

"A friend of mine had received a great deal of help from Tanlac, and it was she who advised me to try it. I am so glad I did for it proved the best medicine I have ever taken. It soon gave me a good appetite and seemed to settle my stomach so that I was no longer troubled with indigestion. I don't know what it is to have rheumatic pains now, the swelling and stiffness has all gone out of my joints and I am able to do the work of the house with the greatest ease. My nerves are now steady and strong. I sleep fine at night, and I feel better in health than ever before in my life. I shall always be grateful for what Tanlac has done for me, and shall recommend it every chance I get."

to oppose the college already established at Windsor.

"This College of Halifax is founded for the instruction of youth in the higher classics and in all philosophical studies. It is formed in imitation of the University of Edinburgh; its doors will be open to all who profess the Christian religion; to the youth of his majesty's North American colonies, to strangers residing here, to gentlemen of the military as well as of the learned professions, to all in short who may be disposed to devote a small part of their time to study. It does not oppose the King's College at Windsor because it is well known that college will not admit any students unless they subscribe to the tests required by the Established Church of England; and this test excludes the great proportion of the youth of this province. It is therefore particularly intended for those who are now excluded from Windsor. It is founded upon the principles of religious toleration secured to you by the laws, and upon that paternal protection which the King of England extends to all his subjects.

It is under his majesty's most gracious approbation of this institution that I meet you here today; and as his humble representative I lay this corner stone of the building, and I perform and act which appears to me to promise incalculable advantages to this country; and if my name as governor of the province can be associated with your future well being, it is upon the foundation of this college that I could desire to rest it. From this college every blessing may flow over your country; in a few months hence it may dispense those blessings to you, whom I now address; may it continue to dispense them to the latest ages—let no jealousy disturb its peace, let no lukewarm indifference check its growth. Protect it in its first years and it will abundantly repay your care.

The story of Dalhousie University is so closely intertwined with that of eastern Canada that one could not be written without the other.

The funds that went into its establishment were contributed by the citizens of the neighboring republic, although they were not aware at the time of the worthy object to which their contributions were to be directed.

In the second decade of the last century a desperate attempt was being made to secure the world domination, and the attention of Britain was pretty well occupied with trying to curb the vaulting ambition of Napoleon of France. During the war with Napoleon, just as at the beginning of the war with Germany, the Americans complained of British interference with their shipping. In 1812, however, this was made a pretext for the declaration of war and an attempt to seize the British colonies in America. "During the course of this war while the Americans were engaged in making fruitless attacks upon the upper provinces, a small force setting out from Halifax, in the summer of 1814, succeeded in seizing that part of Maine which lies between the Penobscot river and the province of New Brunswick. They made the little town of Castine, which is now in the state of Maine, the sole port of entry for the district, and on their return to Halifax at the close of the war they

On Head, Cross and Fretful. Hair Fell Out.

"When my baby was three months old her head broke out in little red pimples and then in a week it broke out in ringworms. The ringworms were very large and there were several on her head, and her scalp would bleed. She was very cross and fretful at times, and her hair was falling out.

"I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after I had used one case of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Lelah Sargent, Nampa, Idaho, Feb. 24, 1919.

which it may be deemed expedient to undertake in the province." How this fund was to be used was a problem with which Sir John Sherbrooke, then lieutenant-governor of Nova Scotia, wrestled with for a year, and then turned over to his successor, Lord Dalhousie, who arrived to assume the governorship towards the close of 1816. Lord Dalhousie made a careful study of

SICK HEADACHES For Last 10 Years

Headaches affect all ages and both sexes alike, but in all cases the treatment should be directed to remove the cause, for with the cause removed the headaches vanish for all time.

What is necessary for a permanent cure is something that will go right to the seat of the trouble. For this purpose it is impossible to find a better remedy for headaches of all description than Burdock Blood Bitters, acting as it does on every organ of the body to strengthen, purify and regulate the whole system.

Mrs. Flora Hall, Dominion, N. S., writes:—"I have been troubled with sick headaches for the last ten years. I had lost faith in all remedies until recently a friend of mine advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters. This I did, and found relief in a very short time. I would now recommend B. B. B. to anyone who is suffering as I did. I only took 8 bottles, and am never troubled with sick headaches any more."

the situation and then decided to spend it in the cause of education, and thus was born Dalhousie. Immediately after laying the corner stone of the first Dalhousie, its founder left Halifax for Quebec to take over the duties of governor-general of Canada. Despite the earnest expressed hope of Lord Dalhousie that the university prove its worth at once to the people of the maritime provinces, its first years were not progressive. It was three years after the corner stone was laid that the building was completed and it was not until a few weeks after the death of its founder in 1838 that it really began to function. The Rev. Dr. Thomas McCulloch was the first president of the university and under his guidance the college retained life and being until 1868 when the Rev. James Ross was made second president of the university.

For a period the career of the college was filled with vicissitudes but each time was rescued by its loyal friends. Dalhousie, under the leadership of Dr. John Forrest, third president, made wonderful advances, and now, under its fourth and brilliant young president, Dr. A. S. Mackenzie, it stands in the front rank of educational institutions in the whole of Canada.

Its present campaign for additional endowment is meeting with a wonderful response, not only from its "old boys" and graduates but from friends of education in the United States and Canada. Dalhousie has done much for the maritime provinces and they are standing behind it now, in its appeal for more endowment to continue its career of giving to Canada the highest type of men and women to carry on in all things of our civic, industrial and social life.

HEART SO BAD WAS NOT SAFE TO LEAVE HER ALONE

Miss Eva P. Yateman, Krugersdorf, Ont., writes: "I feel that I must write and tell you of the great benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. About four years ago I was taken terribly bad with my heart, nerves and fainting spells, and was down in for about six months. I doctored two different doctors and seemed to get better, although the fainting spells would not leave me. I would take such terrible falls, wherever I was, that I was not safe to leave me alone at any time. At last I decided to resort to proprietary medicines and took several different kinds, but seemed to receive but little benefit from them. One day noticing the advertisement of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I decided to try them, and before I had taken more than two boxes I could see they were helping me. I have taken about ten boxes, and am almost cured of those terrible spells. I sincerely feel that your medicine has proved a blessing to me, and I advise any one troubled with their heart to try them, as I am confident they will find relief."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

LADIES COLLEGE IS TO BE ENLARGED

At a meeting of the board of regents of Mount Allison it was decided to proceed immediately with an addition to the Ladies' College. The plan is to erect a stone building about forty feet square near Hart Hall. It will be four stories and a basement and will, it is estimated, cost in the neighborhood of $40,000. The work will be proceeded with as rapidly as possible, so as to be ready for the next term.

SUMMER SCHOOL FOR VOCATIONAL TEACHERS IN AUG.

The New Brunswick vocational board has issued the prospectus of the second annual summer school for intending vocational directors and teachers and in it announcement is made that the school will be held in these Vocational schools at Woodstock from July 6 to August 5.

The home economics classes inaugurated last year will be continued and extended this year and in addition courses in the history and organization of vocational education, methods of teaching and outlining courses, motor mechanics, electricity and its industrial uses; trade dressmaking and trade millinery will be arranged for and it is possible that commercial work and costume design classes may also be included in the curriculum.

The aims of the school are two fold: to spread the knowledge of the scope and possibilities of vocational training in the province, looking towards an intelligent and enthusiastic local leadership through the province and also to give short intensive, technical and professional courses to student teachers.

The executive of the school will consist of Fletcher Peacock, director; Miss H. Helena Good, secretary; Miss Bernice L. Mallory, supervisor of home economics and Miss Sadie L. Barne, supervisor of cafeteria. Other instructors already appointed are Miss Mary H. Brown, Miss Carolyn Currie, Miss Genevieve A. Hagman, Margaret A. Stewart and A. H. Whitman.

The prospectus announces that the tuition will be free, but students must be responsible persons, the vocational board reserving the right to reject any application. Free tuition will be provided at the school and returned to their homes to Woodstock will be refunded to students who complete the course of twenty-four days of six hours each. The general understanding is that the students pledge themselves to teach vocational work in New Brunswick during the school year 1920 to 1921 unless prevented by sickness.

Should less than ten pupils enroll for any one class it is possible that that class may not be organized and other classes than those announced may be organized if sufficient students express a desire for them.

ST. JOHN GIVES WELCOME TO WEST INDIA DELEGATES

The official Canadian welcome of the West India delegates to the Ottawa trade conference was given at this port yesterday, and it is hoped that the visitors will carry to the Canadian capital, and to their homes, a very vivid impression of the beauty of St. John and the need for closer trade relationship between this country and theirs.

Four of the delegates, Captain J. N. Reid, of Demerara; H. A. Ferguson, of Grenada; W. L. Phillips, of Barbados, and Donald MacDonald, of Antigua, arrived yesterday morning on the R. M. S. P. Chaudiere and were met at the Pettingill wharf by Mayor Schofield, who welcomed them to Canada on behalf of Sir George E. Foster, acting premier of Canada, and to the port, on behalf of the citizens. Others present were R. B. Emerson, G. E. Barbour and R. E. Armstrong, of the St. John Board of Trade; E. A. Sanders of the Halifax Board of Trade; J. M. Allison, manager of the Halifax office of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, and D. W. Ledingham, St. John manager for the company.

After receiving the freedom of the Union Club, the visitors were the guests of honor at a luncheon, given in the Royal Hotel by Mayor Schofield. Besides those on the reception committee there were present Commissioners Jones and Frink of the city department; F. L. Potts, M.P., and C. B. Allan, of the Tourist Association.

An address of welcome was given by Mayor Schofield to which each of the visitors responded. It was the general opinion of the West India delegation that full opportunity is not taken for trade expansion between Canada and the West Indies. There is a great market in these southern islands for Canadian flour, fish, hay, potatoes, and other produce, while in return the islands offer fruits, sugar, molasses, cocoa and other tropical productions. Both countries are under the same flag and should be brought closer together for an increased industrial and commercial prosperity.

J. M. Allison, manager of the Royal Mail Steam Packet lines spoke strongly in favor of a better steamship service between the Indies and Canada. The present service of his company, he said, is not sufficient to meet the largely increased needs for freight and passenger traffic. His company, however, is making a proposal to the federal government which, if accepted, will mean more packets, of greater tonnage, in future use under contract with the Canadian government for a period of years.

After luncheon, the party motored through the city and west side, crossed the highway bridge, visited the East End playgrounds, and Rockwood park and then went on to Rothesay. The visitors were highly impressed with the beauty of the scenery en route and the apparent prosperity of the people.

Mr. Ferguson, the Grenada representative, said the scenery of St. John harbor and suburbs was the closest approach to Perthshire he had ever seen and naively remarked that Perthshire was the most beautiful part of Great Britain.

It was regretted that all the West India delegates did not come to this port, two from Bermuda and three from Jamaica having taken the passage via New York. Trinidad is not sending any representative to the conference.

CAN SHELL CITY 100 MILES AWAY

U. S. Navy Ordnance Department Has Just Completed Weapon — Details Not Made Public.

Washington, May 22.—The signing of the armistice robbed America of an opportunity to shell a German city at a distance of more than 100 miles.

This was revealed by navy department officials in letting it become known that the navy ordnance bureau has completed a weapon capable of such a performance.

When reports first reached Washington that Paris was being shelled at a distance of seventy-four miles, many believed that the German gun was a myth and that the shells were being dropped from camouflaged airplanes. The navy ordnance bureau took it seriously, however, and immediately set to work on the piece which has just been completed.

Details of the gun were not made public. But tests, conducted by a method otherwise than firing it at its ultimate range, indicated it would carry almost 110 miles.

FRENCH PRESIDENT FALLS FROM TRAIN

M. Deschanel Cut About Face and Hands But Not Seriously Injured.

(Canadian Press Despatch.) Montargis, France, May 23.—Paul Deschanel, president of the French Republic, fell from the window of his train when it was a short distance from here last night. The train was moving at the time, but after his fall M. Deschanel walked a mile and a quarter in the darkness until he met a nearby worker.

The workman accompanied the president to a signal station nearby and telephoned to this city for an automobile, which arrived within half an hour.

PEACE TREATY AND LEAGUE OF NATIONS TO BE PROMINENT

Platforms of Presidential Candidates Being Built

Split in Democratic Party Over Both Issues—Prohibition Law Also Featured—Outline of the Party Platforms.

(Canadian Press.)
New York, May 21.—With the great national and definite platforms will be decided upon only at the June conventions in Chicago and San Francisco, but in the meantime all possible planks have been arranged by state party conventions and the finished structure can easily be visualized.
The chief difference existing between Republican and Democratic platforms this year is found in the attitudes of the parties towards the Peace Treaty and the League of Nations. After twice failing of ratification when a Democratic president presented it to a Republican senate, the treaty was projected into the political campaign, and forms the pivot of resistance of both party pronouncements. As a party, the Democrats following President Wilson, are for ratification "without destructive reservations," of there is a rift in the late, and Senator David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, Democrat, has openly announced that he exists a weighty group of younger members of the party who are irreconcilably opposed to the Peace Treaty and League of Nations as they now stand. This split in the party is not expected to make for harmony at the San Francisco convention, and there is even some doubt expressed as to the final wording of the Democratic national plank on the treaty.

Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican, of California, who has been making a grand sweep in the state primaries in the race for the Republican nomination, is one of the "irreconcilable" foes of the treaty. Many both of his own party and the Democratic side point to his light in the primaries as evidence that there is a serious Democratic sentiment against the peace treaty in its present form, and claim that disgruntled Democrats have been invading the Republican primaries and voting for Johnson.

The "Bone-dry" Law.
In their preliminary announcements of record and programs both Republican and Democratic parties claim the credit of the part played by the United States in the war, the latter because there was

From a Child Was Constipated

According to the best medical authorities, fully three-fourths of the people of the civilized world suffer in some form from costiveness or irregular action of the bowels. There is no doubt that many distressing diseases are caused by constipation. It gives rise to sick and bilious headaches, if undec, heartburn, floating specks before the eyes, catarrh of the stomach, biliousness and the painful, troublesome piles. Therefore, it is of supreme importance to health that the bowels be kept regular. Simple food, fruit, etc., should be used, and rich food and stimulants of all kinds avoided. This, with the use of Milburn's Laxative Liver Pills to regulate and establish healthy action of the bowels cannot fail to give permanent relief in the most obstinate cases.
Mrs. Letitia Wahnman, Orillia, Ont., writes:—"From a child I was always very badly constipated, and I can well remember when quite young, my mother giving me senna tea nearly every morning, and I got to dread it. After taking Milburn's Laxative Liver Pills for a while I am not troubled with constipation any more."

A Democratic president and administration in the saddle at Washington when the United States entered the conflict, and the former because since 1918 the Republicans commanded majorities in both houses of congress. A Republican congress passed the "bone-dry" prohibition law, so there is evidence of a tendency among Democrats to demand the repeal of the Volstead Act. This wing of the party does not, however, include William Jennings Bryan. The New York Democrats in state convention declared themselves "unalterably" opposed to prohibition by federal amendment. Other political platforms are being prepared and issued by minor parties, including the Socialist, National, Labor and Prohibition organizations.

A general idea of what the Democratic national platform as adopted at the San Francisco convention next month will be may be gleaned from the platform announced by the Democratic party of the State of New York, as adopted at the state convention in Albany recently.

"We stand," said the proclamation, in part, "for the immediate ratification of the peace treaty and a League of Nations without destructive reservations, to the end that normal business relations in the country and in the world may be resumed, and future wars prevented. We deplore the refusal of the Republican United States Senate to act on this all-important question, and the consequent tremendous loss of national prestige."
"America must not relinquish her world leadership for the solitude of the western hemisphere. She must ever maintain her position as a friend of all peoples struggling for liberty."
On the subject of woman's suffrage both parties agree in their platforms. The Democrats at Albany said:

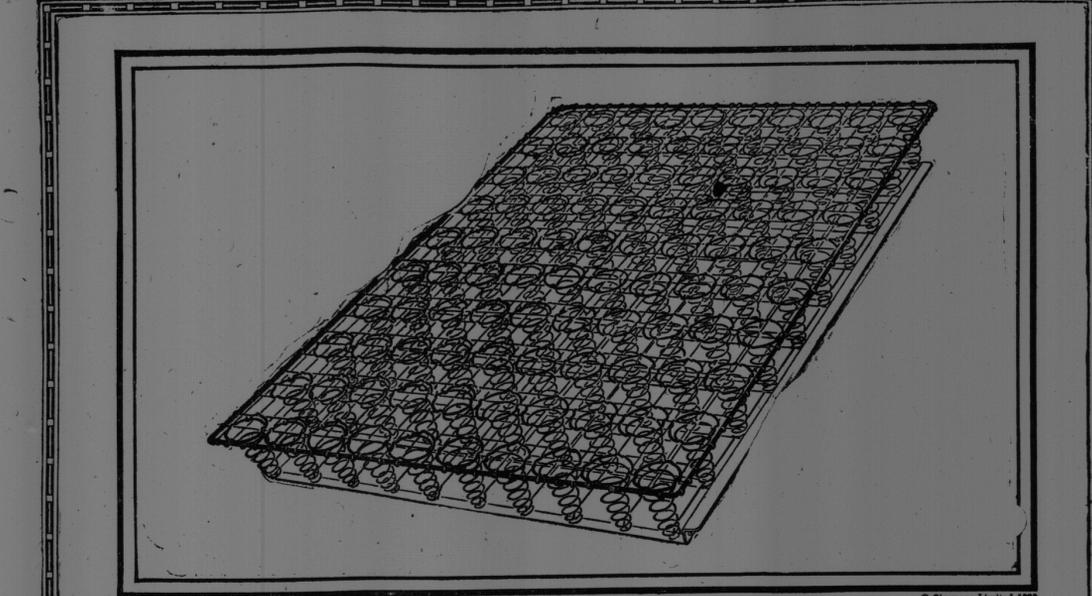

"The complete enfranchisement of women should speedily become a part of the basic law of the land, and women, in the exercise of their political rights, should be given full and equal representation in party affairs and not half-hearted subordinate representation."
Coming to the vexed question of prohibition the New York Democrats voiced this view:

"We are unalterably opposed to prohibition by federal amendment. We believe it to be an unreasonable interference with the rights of the states as guaranteed by the constitution. We feel that the recent enactment was the imposition of the ideas of an active minority against the wishes of the great majority of the American people. We, therefore, declare for its speedy repeal. We favor an amendment to the national constitution whereby all amendments to the Constitution of the United States hereafter shall be ratified by a referendum of the whole people."
The matter of policy with regard to meeting the radical menace was also taken up, in these terms:

"Declaring our allegiance to the political faith of our forefathers, we oppose any restrictions upon free assemblage or free speech. We have no quarrel with any citizen, or group of citizens, who by peaceful and lawful means seek changes in the structure of the government. But we denounce with all the energy we can command any group who, understanding our government, would by appeal to popular passion or prejudice hold up to criticism or ridicule the constitution of our country, the guarantee of our liberties during all our national life. Democratic party principles are the best safeguard against the Bourbon and the Bolshevik, the reactionary and the 'red'."
The Republicans.

The Republican platform, as adopted at the New York state convention February 20, and following the lines of other state pronouncements, sets out the following policy on the Peace Treaty:

"We favor the immediate ratification of the pending treaty of peace, with such distinct reservations and declarations as shall make it clear to all the world that the United States retains its unconditional rights to withdraw from the League of Nations on proper notice; that the United States assumes no obligation, either moral or legal, to send American soldiers or sailors for service abroad unless the congress, in the exercise of its constitutional power, shall so authorize and direct; that the Monroe Doctrine is protected both in letter and in spirit; that no foreign power or council of foreign powers shall have any control whatever over the domestic policies of the United States; and that the government and people of the United States shall not be drawn, by the operation of part XIII of the treaty, the so-called labor clauses, into the net spread by international socialism. Article X of the covenant for a League of Nations, in its original form, cannot and should not be ratified by the senate or accepted by the people of the United States. To do so would not only contract away control by the American people of their own policies and acts, but would certainly embroil the country in an endless succession of wars, great and small."
"We believe that the proposed covenant for a League of Nations is gravely defective in that it attempts to substitute discussion, instead of the rule of law, for force in the settlement of international differences. We declare it to be the policy of the Republican party, when the treaty of war is ratified, promptly to take steps for the institution of an international high court of justice to hear and decide, in accordance with the principles of law and equity, disputes that are justifiable in character arising between nations, and for an international conference, meeting at stated intervals, to declare and to revise the rules of international law and conduct; and to urge upon the civilized nations, as a long step forward in promoting permanent peace, their assent to such a code of law defining the rights and duties of nations."

The platform urged the adoption by all states of the women's suffrage amendment, the establishment of commissions on industrial relations to avert trade disputes; revision of the system of taxation and business regulation so as to promote rather than prevent enterprise and production; inauguration of a national budget; and continuance of the policy of tariff protection.

"We are absolutely opposed," continued the platform, to government ownership of railroads and the so-called Plumb plan for their management. The transportation of the country should be privately-owned and privately managed under strict government regulations that will ensure the lowest possible rates to passengers and shippers, while affording the owners of the railways a fair return on their investment."

The Republicans declare for "a merchant marine manned by American seamen, owned by private capital and operated by private energy." The federal trade commission, they charged, has "prostituted its proper functions, persecuting instead of promoting trade." The platform asks for a small standing army, with a trained citizen reserve, subject to call for service only in case of declaration of war by congress. The training of citizen soldiers, it holds, should be under national supervision. Enforcement of immigration laws is demanded.

The platform expresses satisfaction with the conduct and achievements of the Republican party during the war. It calls attention to the election of a Republican congress in 1918 over the president's appeal for the election of men of his own party.

"Still the president persisted in his conduct of the peace negotiations abroad and in his advocacy at home of ratification by the senate of his own individual work, he has assumed a purely personal and partisan attitude. He has forced the Republican party to take an attitude of sharp opposition to his recommendations in order to protect the independence and to promote the highest interests of the people of the United States, as well as to open the way to the adoption of a real, instead of an illusory, plan for securing the peace of the world."

"We shall appeal to the people to support a policy of liberal and constructive progress both at home and abroad, one which will secure international co-operation for the preventing of war and the reduction of armaments without sacrificing love of country and American ideals to a false and harmful form of internationalism."

The Socialists.
The Socialist national convention held in New York this month included in its campaign manifesto demands for recognition of Soviet Russia, the independence of Ireland, and "self-determination for small nationalities whose will is now being defeated by imperialist powers." Other features of the manifesto were:

A RICH FIND.

A London omnibus conductor picked up a packet of jewels inside his 'bus' estimated to be worth £10,000 during a journey between Liverpool street and Victoria. The owner was subsequently discovered and according to practice the lucky finder of the jewels will be entitled to three shillings in the pound on their value—in this case about £1,500. Photo shows J. A. Phillips, the conductor, who found the packet of jewels, photographed on duty.

Pope Exalts Shepherd Girl to Sainthood — Impressive Ceremonies at Rome.

Rome, May 17—Joan of Arc, the shepherd girl, who in 1420 was called from the peaceful fields of Domremy to lead the armies of France to victory against the English and Burgundians, today was exalted to sainthood.

Mgr. Celli replied for the Pope, saying he must first invoke divine blessing on the event. Then chaplains intoned the Litany of the Saints. Then Pope Benedict, again seated on the throne, listened to a second request on the part of the officials of the canonization.

The impressive procession that marked the beginning of the ceremonies was then reformed and slowly wound its way back to the Vatican, passing through reverent, weeping throngs which again received the Apostolic benediction.

MUTT AND JEFF—FIFTEEN MINUTES IN THE GYM. AND ALL'S WELL

Seldom has Rome, accustomed as it is to pageantry, seen a more brilliant spectacle than that witnessed when the Pontiff entered St. Peter's today. Priests and monks in black and brown and white robes headed the procession, and after them came ecclesiastics intoning special prayers and hymns composed for the solemn occasion.

Another interesting group was formed by archbishops and patriarchs wearing their mitres, jeweled crosses and rich brocades. They were attended by knights of religious orders. Then came cardinals, the figure of Cardinal O'Connell of Boston, Mass., towering above the rest.

All these led up to the appearance of the Pontiff, who, with his upraised hand, bestowed the Apostolic blessing on the multitude. Following the Chair of St. Peter, which was borne by two men, were the soldiers of the Swiss Guard in their picturesque parti-colored uniforms.

BEATIFICATION OF OLIVER PLUNKETT

Oliver Plunkett, the Irish divine, who was made first Archbishop of Armagh in 1699 by Pope Clement IX, and who was executed for treason at Tyburn, July 1, 1681, was elevated to the Galaxy of Saints at Rome on Sunday.

Harry Sellen, the five-year-old son of Charles E. Sellen, 141 Simonds street, while playing alone on a scow moored to the wharf near the Union Depot, fell into the harbor and was drowned on Saturday afternoon. Rev. E. W. MacKay conducted the service.

TRAP SHOOTING. O. J. Killam Leads. As a result of his shooting on Saturday last, O. J. Killam of the local Trap Shooting Club, led all Canada in competition for a place on the Olympic team which will shoot in Antwerp, July 22 to 31. Another who will probably make up the team is J. A. McLaughlin of Halifax, who has a mark of 275 for the three trials. Mr. Killam made a run of 92 on Saturday, missing the ninety-third bird, and finished with a mark of 99, giving him a grand total of 296 for the trials. Mr. Payne and Berry, who competed in the first two trials, withdrew from the contest on Saturday. The local men will keep practicing and go to local men for the Eastern Canada championships, which will take place June 15, 16 and 17. It is probable that at this event those who qualified for the Canadian Olympic team will have a shoot-off. The best man in this event, with the best in the Western championships, will take place at Moose Jaw, July 22, 23 and 24, will represent Canada at the Grand American Handicap at Cleveland, August 23 to 28.

Snapton suffers from the general complaint—shortage of houses. Every hole and corner of the village is full; even hen-houses are denied their miserable tenants and cleaned up to serve as sleeping accommodation. The one and only policeman was observed the other day soundly cursing a miserable looking small boy. A kindly old gentleman went up to the brass-but-toned official and said: "Come, come, aren't you treating that boy rather roughly? What has he done?" "I caught him picking pockets," replied the policeman. "And if I see him at it again I'll give him a real beating." "But aren't you exceeding your duty?"

Students at the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh installed a radio transmitter in Central Hall to send out the music of an orchestra playing in the hall to scores of radio students in the district listening in. Prof. Rath, hearing the music in the experiment station of the university, half a mile away, succeeded by the use of a magnavox—an instrument to increase the sound from a radio receiver—and two strings of electric wire, in passing it on a half-mile to the Heins House, where students danced to it.

"Awful racket!" the officer observed. "Fierce!" the citizen agreed. "Want to make a complaint?" the officer suggested zealously. "Why—not until I am sure," the citizen responded. "Sure of what?" "Why, whether that is my dog or Brown's. If that is my dog—O, well, we have to put up with a few little annoyances in this life, you know; but if it is Brown's, why, by George, I don't propose to have my life made miserable by a nuisance like that!"

When Clemenceau Said "I Make War"

(From Victor Giraud's "Histoire de la Grande Guerre.")

Clemenceau, then seventy-six years old, was alert, vigorous, industrious and full of light as a man of twenty. He had already been in public life for nearly half a century. He had had a stormy, troubled career in which error, injustice, inconsistency and contradiction had abounded. Indeed, had his career terminated in October, 1917, impartial history would have been quite severe in its appreciation of it. He has all the faults and almost all the characteristics of French temperament. He is nervous, impulsive, gruff, authoritative, thoroughly disrespectful and quite distraught with individualism and the critical spirit. He is utterly incapable of holding back those vivacious, intellectual and at times cruel sallies that spring forth from his inexhaustible and invincible fancy. He is more of an orator than a writer and more of a conversationalist than an orator. But he is first, last and always a master of polemics and a man of action. He has been familiarly called "The Tiger." Well, his brusque and unapproachable air, his indescribable and unforgettable moustache, his bushy eyebrows, his fiery black eyes, his great square jaws ready to murder at a moment's instigation; in short, his entire external appearance, bespeaking as it does the veteran grouch, hardly places us in a position to claim that the appellation is unhappy. He is a Jacobin, but a Jacobin who is a patriot. He is the sole survivor of that group of men who protested in the national assembly with Victor Hugo against the giving up of Alsace-Lorraine. He hates Germany by instinct and experience, and his hatred is old, robust, vigilant and tenacious. He has belonged to the opposition for more than forty years because it is in his nature to criticize and to fight. He is a born demolisher. It is no longer possible to count the ministers he has overthrown. There is no doubt that he went into training without knowing it, to overthrow the German and Austrian empires. As soon as Austria and Germany declared war on us all his activity as a journalist and a politician had but one, though a double, end in view. He wanted to discover the best means of defeating Germany and rise to power so that he himself could preside at the execution of vengeance. And in this indispensable work of justice and reparation, for which his very nature and his eventful past especially fitted him, he manifested at all times a youthful ardor, an unselfishness and a vigor of will power which will in themselves constitute forever his moral justification.

HAWKER'S NERVE & STOMACH TONIC has no equal as a nerve food, blood maker and invigorator. It is an excellent remedy for depression and despondency. Read what Rev. Wm. MORE MOTORISTS ARE SUMMONED

Robert Crawford, provincial constable, has spent a busy week-end rounding up speeding automobiles and automobiles with faulty lights or without lights at night. On the Westfield road on Sunday three cars were held up for speeding, military car, 221; and cars 8,027 and 8,219. These cases will come before Magistrate Dalton in the course of the next few days. On Monday the constable reported cars 1,989 and 4,794 for speeding in Kings county between the St. John county line and Rotheray on the Rotheray road. Last night he reported car 8,600 for speeding, also on county limits and car 9,569 for being without a light while running along Rotheray avenue at 10 o'clock. These two cases will come before Magistrate Adams. The constable said that there were several cars with tail lights in a poor condition and that if the owners did not put them in order he would be obliged to take action.

CLAIMS DANDRUFF WILL CAUSE BALDNESS

If you have dandruff you must get rid of it quick—it's positively dangerous and will surely ruin your hair if you don't. Dandruff heads mean faded, brittle, scraggly hair that finally dies—new hair will not grow—then you are hairless and nothing can help you. The sure way to abolish dandruff for good is to destroy the germ that causes it. To do this quickly, safely, and without risking a penny get from your druggist some Parian sage (liquid form). This is guaranteed to banish all dandruff stop itching scalp, check falling hair, and promote a new rich growth, or the cost, small as it is, will be refunded. Parian sage is a scientific preparation that supplies hair needs—an antiseptic liquid neither sticky or greasy, easy to apply and delicately perfumed. If you want beautiful, soft, thick, lustrous hair, and lots of it, by all means use Parian sage. Don't delay—begin tonight—a little attention now helps insure abundant hair for years to come.

at Sackville who was passing through the city on his way to his home in Birmingham (N. Y.), and was visiting Rev. George F. Dawson and Mrs. Dawson at the Exmouth street parsonage. Professor Chadwick played several very beautiful organ selections. Richard Dawson, who has been studying vocal music at the Sackville conservatory, also delighted the congregation by singing two solos with much sympathy. Mr. Dawson's songs were "The Ninety and Nine" and a selection from "Elijah."

ONE WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Toronto, Ontario.—"I suffered for a long time from a female weakness, inflammation, and a terrible backache caused by that condition. One day one of your booklets was left at my door, and I read how other women with troubles like mine had been made well, so I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and a package of Sanative Wash, and it helped me wonderfully, and I now have the finest little baby boy that any mother could want. I want to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who has female troubles."—Mrs. JOSEPH LA BELLA, 778 Shaw Street, Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong, and this good old-fashioned root and herb remedy contains no narcotics or harmful drugs.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

Judging from the countless preparations and treatments which are continually being advertised for the purpose of making thin people fleshy, developing arms, neck and bust, and replacing ugly hollows and angles by the soft curved lines of health and beauty, there are evidently thousands of men and women who keenly feel their excessive thinness. Thinness and weakness are often due to starved nerves. Our bodies need more phosphate than is contained in modern foods. Physicians claim there is nothing that will supply this deficiency so well as the organic phosphate known among druggists as bitro-phosphate, which is inexpensive and is sold by most all druggists under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. By feeding the nerves directly and by supplying the body cells with the necessary phosphoric food elements, bitro-phosphate should produce a welcome transformation in the appearance; the increase in weight frequently being astonishing. Increase in weight also carries with it a general improvement in the health. Nervousness, sleeplessness and lack of energy, which nearly always accompany excessive thinness, should soon disappear, dull eyes brighten and pale cheeks glow with the bloom of perfect health.

CAUTION.—While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

All This Extra For You

Many a bright, shiny-looking bicycle is a gay deceiver. It is merely built to sell.

In a few short months it becomes a chipped, rusty-looking object that runs as hard as it looks.

Don't be "persuaded" to buy a bicycle merely on its looks.

Extra Satisfaction

Buy one of the well-known C.C.M. bicycles—made in Canada for more than twenty years.

The C.C.M. trade mark on the frame is an assurance to you of extra quality and satisfaction.

The beauty of the C.C.M. is more than surface deep. There are three coats of rich, brilliant, waterproof enamel over a coat of anti-rust. That means a tough, elastic enamel that will stand wear and weather.

Two Hour Nickel Bath

The smooth, highly-polished nickelling is over rust-proof copper. The parts to be nickelled are left in the nickel baths in a double-strength solution for two hours. Cheap nickelling is given only twenty minutes or so. You see now why C.C.M. nickelling keeps its bright appearance and wears so long.

You don't always spin along smooth pavements. Sometimes you have to bump over ruts and cobble stones. So the C.C.M. is built with a large margin of safety.

The C.C.M. frame has the long, strong, "Fish-mouth" reinforcement at the joints. This makes a rigid, powerful frame. It is a safeguard against "buckling".

Extra Strength

The wheels will stand the jars and jolts, too. The selected hard maple rims have no knots or weak spots. The spokes are of special toughened piano wire.

The C.C.M. is a safer-than-ordinary bicycle.

It is also easier-riding.

The special construction of the driving parts gives the direct line drive that makes the C.C.M. run with the least effort. It steers more easily, too. It's a joy to ride a C.C.M.

New Hercules Brake

And the new Hercules Positive Drive Brake—the Coaster Brake without a side arm—is included as regular equipment without extra charge.

There are C.C.M. dealers in almost every locality in Canada. Look for the C.C.M. sign. Then drop in and see the new models.

This trade mark is on the frame of every C.C.M. Bicycle.
