CZAR HAS OPENED POLITICAL PRISONS.

Armistie Granted by New Manifesto.

Serious Riots Continue—Report That Kisheneff Has Been Burned—Fins Defeat Russian Troops

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 4.—The text of the imperial manifesto granting amnesty to political prisoners signed by Emperor Nicholas yesterday, declares that by virtue of the intention expressed in the manifesto of October 20, to accord the population inviolable principles of civil liberty, free pardon is granted to political criminals. The pardon extends to those now in prison not yet tried or on whom sentence has not yet been pronounced. Persons convicted of crimes committed over ten years ago are to be released and will be sent to the Siberian colonies. Those who are now convicts there will be allowed after forty years to choose their place of residence but are prohibited from living in the capitals, St. Petersburg and Moscow, for three years. Convicts not falling under these conditions have their sentences reduced by one half and persons condemned to imprisonment for life have theirs reduced to 15 years imprisonment. Persons arrested by imperial or administrative order are released. Those condemned to death or liable thereto have been commuted to 15 years imprisonment at hard labor. The amnesty decree includes political offenses committed up to October 20.

Despatches from Russia are very meagre, owing to the disturbed condition of the country. The situation in St. Petersburg, where order is maintained by a show of armed force, remains critical, though improvement is shown in the resumption of operations by the electric light plants. Communication by railway with the frontier has not yet been re-established. From many of the interior cities come reports of the loss of life and property has been very great. In Theodestia and Saratoff the disorders have been most serious. There is an unconfirmed report that Kisheneff has been totally destroyed by fire.

A London newspaper's correspondent at St. Petersburg estimates that in the leading fifty provincial towns of Russia one thousand persons have been killed and ten thousand seriously wounded in the last twenty-four hours. The revolutionary movement in Finland is unchecked, the Finnish National Guard opposing the advances of Russian troops and compelling them to retire.

In the case of H. R. Barber, Mr. Barber's application for disclosure this morning before Judge Forbes through his attorneys, H. A. McKeown and Scott E. Morrill, A. P. Barnhill, K. C., is acting for Mr. Thompson, of Virginia. The case came up at eleven o'clock.

Richard A. McCurdy, president of the New York Mutual Life Insurance Company, who has been on the rack in the investigating proceedings of the New York legislative committee. It has been calculated that McCurdy and two other members of his family have in their 20 years' association with the company drawn $1,000,000, or $500,000 more than all the presidents of the United States in the last 116 years.

GREAT RAILWAY TO RUN THROUGH ALL ALASKA.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Nov. 4.—The Express says: Alaska will have a railway its entire length from north to the south, and giving communication with the outside world if plans which are being formulated in this city are carried out. Harry White, former mayor of Seattle, is at the head of the enterprise, which includes an application to congress during the coming session for a government subsidy.

If successful the enterprise will involve an expenditure of about $60,000,000. The road will be nearly five thousand miles in length. The body of Capt. A. F. Noble, of the bark Nellie Troop, who died suddenly in Boston, Thursday night, arrived in the city at noon today and were taken to his home, corner of Adelaide road and Main street.

The funeral of the late Martin McGowan took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock. Requiem high mass was sung at St. Peter's church by Rev. Fr. Dorgan and interment was in the new Catholic cemetery. Relatives acted as pallbearers.

CONTRACTORS DECLARE THEY CAN FINISH WORK.

Mooney and McArthur Both Are Confident of Completing Their Sections in Time to Furnish Water This Winter.

The splendid weather has greatly facilitated the work on the Loch Lomond water works extension and matters are being rushed to such an extent that Messrs. Mooney and McArthur are confident that they will complete their end of the job this year. Mr. Mooney said this morning that in a few days they would have the tunnel completed and the water could be turned on from Lake Latimer to Loch Lomond. This is sending the water away from the city but when the dam is completed it will reverse the flow and send the water toward the city.

FITZSIMMONS AND JACK O'BRIEN TO FIGHT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The Sun says it looks now as if the proposed contest between Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack O'Brien, of Philadelphia, will be a fixture. Jimmy Coffroth, who is one of the leading powers in the game in town. It is said that Coffroth came here purposely to bring about a fight between the Corriabans and O'Brien. Coffroth was at the Metropolitan yesterday, where he had several confabs with Lon Friedman, Fitzsimmons's manager. Coffroth made Fitzsimmons an offer of $15,000, or 50 per cent of the gross receipts, to meet O'Brien. It is thought that the basis of percentage will be accepted.

TURBINE STEAMER ON THE JAMAICA ROUTE.

The Fast Boat Turbina May Run From St. John to West Indies This Winter.

Marsh & Marsh, who intend running their line of steamers from Jamaica to this port during the winter, instead of Halifax, as they have been doing in the past, have secured the celebrated turbine steamer Turbina. This vessel is 200 feet in length, 32 feet beam and has engines that develop 3,400 horse power. She has three propellers that make from 500 to 600 revolutions a minute. The Turbina has developed a speed of twenty knots an hour and for two seasons has been running between Toronto and Hamilton. It is not known as yet whether the Turbina will come here or not as no announcement of sailings has been made.

ARTHUR DUFFY DEFENDS HIMSELF AGAINST CHARGES.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Arthur F. Duffy, against whom charges of professionalism were made in the recent statement issued by Bernard MacFadden, yesterday denied in toto the statements made and repudiated them as authorized and incorrect. Bernard MacFadden could not be seen yesterday, but his report was said to have been submitted to Duffy before publication.

Duffy, however, admitted that the practices which he characterizes as evils were practiced by himself. He simply says: "I have done nothing which the letter of the law proscribes." Continuing he declared: "There is no line of distinction between the amateur and the declared professional. Under the guise of 'expense' a statesman can obtain sufficient to make their participation in athletics profitable. I relate my own experience and what I know has been done by others. I have accepted expense money in the manner described, but this does not disqualify me under the rules of the amateur athletic union."

HIGH POSITION FOR W. E. STAVERT.

May Be General Manager of Bank of Montreal.

Report Says He Will Succeed Mr. Clouston—It is Certain He Will Leave the City.

Is W. E. Stavert slated for the position of general manager of the Bank of Montreal? This is the story which has circulated around town this morning. A despatch from the Star yesterday from Montreal announced that Lord Strathcona will retire from the presidency of the Bank of Montreal at the annual meeting on December 4th, to be succeeded by Sir George Drummond present general manager, will become vice-president. His successor as general manager has not been mentioned. E. M. Shadbolt, manager of the Bank of Montreal in this city, was seen this morning and asked whether it was probable that Mr. Clouston would still remain general manager. He replied that it was quite contrary to the practice of the bank that both positions should be held by the one man.

BACKWARD AND DANGEROUS POLICY.

West Indies Angry at Withdrawal of Troops. Abandonment of Docks and Forts Indicates Carelessness For the Future of These Valuable Islands.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—Forster M. Ailene, member of the legislative council of Barbados, is here, interviewed regarding the withdrawal of troops from the West Indies, he said: "In the middle of November all white troops will be withdrawn from the West Indies. During the last ten months that I have been in England I have been astonished to find how few people are acquainted with this novel departure; but those with whom I have conversed who are acquainted with the West Indies, whether military men or civilians, have without exception condemned the step as a dangerous and retrograde one. For upwards of a century British troops have been quartered in Barbados, St. Lucia and Jamaica, and in other islands at intervals. Up to January last it had been the intention of successive governments to fortify St. Lucia as a coaling station, and to concentrate the force there necessary for the southern portions of the West Indies. To this end during the last ten years vast sums have been spent. Lord Dunsborough stated in answer to Lord Tweedmouth that since 1888 the expenditure by the war office was $3,400,000. If this is the case there must have been many extras; for from my own observations and from statements made to me by men actually engaged in the construction I am convinced that the cost of guns, fortifications, railways, barracks and officers' quarters has not been less than $10,000,000, if indeed it does not exceed that figure. A few months of neglect in the tropics will render these huge works valueless, and a similar result will follow to the fine barracks government land and other works which are already offered for sale. What is the reason of this waste and the sudden reversal of all previous policy? It cannot be economy, for the troops are not to be disbanded, and it will cost just as much to maintain them on home stations. Strategically it would seem to be a mistake, for who can tell what results may follow from the opening of the Panama Canal, which may be looked for in the course of a few years? America, at all events, seems to place value on the West Indies. Cuba and Porto Rico are already under her sway; she is very likely to obtain Santo Domingo and may probably buy the Danish West Indies. England alone seems careless of the fate of these islands, for which so many of her bravest sons fought and died, and sets no value on her possessions in the Caribbean Sea, of which she was once so proud."

SEQUEL OF SCANDAL IN BRITISH HIGH LIFE.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The interesting announcement is made that Earl Cowley is to be married to Lady Harrop at Colombo in a few weeks' time. The divorce taken by Sir Charles Harrop will be remembered as a cause celebre in which many distinguished persons were involved. The second suit was undefended, and the sequel is now about to take place. Earl Cowley was married originally to one of the twin daughters of the Marquis of Abergavenny, who divorced him. He has appeared as co-respondent in another divorce suit in the interval between that and the Harrop case. He has been round the world with the Harrop decree was maturing towards the absolute stage, and after the wedding he will go hunting lions in Abyssinia while the new countess returns to England, accompanied by her sister-in-law, Lady Marjorie Wilson.

(Special to the Star.) MONTREAL, Nov. 4.—Fire destroyed the Major Manufacturing Company's building and stock early this morning. The manufacturing paper boxes and size goods. This loss will be about $75,000.

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—News that the Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, the lately appointed postmaster general in opening his campaign in the bye-election in North York, condemned the government policy of pensioning retired cabinet ministers has caused much interest here. Mr. Aylesworth said he was opposed to the whole principle and said that he would do what he could to have it abolished. It is very probable that at the next session of parliament this law will be repealed.

WILL YOU RENT ANOTHER HOUSE OR BUILD ONE?

Some Facts and Figures Which May Help St. John People Who Are Standing at the Corner of Indecision.

One of the most serious questions which will come up for discussion in many homes during the next couple of months is that of deciding whether or not the family will move next May. Then if the latter is decided upon, there comes the question whether to buy a house or keep on renting. Needless to say that the majority who are now considering the matter and have done so at this time for the last half dozen years will keep on renting. The average man hesitates to invest his hard earned savings in real estate ventures and to tie it up where he cannot get it at readily in emergencies. A study of the relative expense of these two modes of holding property is an interesting one, while to the heads of families whose salaries range from $800 to a $1,000, and who are paying a quarter or more of their total earnings for rent, the study is a vital one. There are a number of side-issues which must always be taken into consideration. Many a man has rented the same house annually for a dozen or so years and found it fairly suitable to his tastes. It would never, however, occur to him to buy it. His ideal, as he says, is to possess some day as really and truly his own, is quite different. There are to be none of the little inconveniences in this home, which he puts up with, in the rented house. It would never occur to him to have a basement kitchen and dining room, as are so common in the houses erected after the fire of 1877. Again it is a hardwood floor, or another bedroom or two which is the necessity, in short, the house which one would consider purchasing is probably worth a thousand or so more than the house which one has been renting. Although there are naturally considerable variations, generally speaking, rent is not unduly high in St. John. After the great fire, a boom was expected. Almost every available piece of land was utilized. On the site of one wooden building, three brick buildings were erected for example. The result is of course pleasing to our civic pride as St. John has the appearance, especially from the harbor, of a city twice its size. The boom however did not materialize. On the contrary there was a decrease in population from which the city has only recovered in the last ten years. The result is that there has not been since any very noticeable scarcity of houses, although it is very seldom indeed that a suitable house cannot be had at a price which is not excessive. The fact, however, stands forth that passing over side issues it is preferable for a man who has laid some savings aside to be the owner of his own dwelling. Ten per cent. is the basis on which rents are collected, the rate being a little lower in the case of brick and somewhat higher on wooden buildings where there is greater deterioration. Now roughly speaking the annual cost of a house to its owner

THEATRICAL CHIT-CHAT.

Theatrical week has been a most successful one, the Australian children giving splendid performances at the York Theatre. The regret of the week has been that the theatre has not been packed at every performance.

For Maude Adams' engagement, which begins next week at the Empire Theatre, the seats will be placed on sale on Thursday morning and the advertisements contain the announcement.

Big as the New York Hippodrome is it isn't big enough to accommodate the vast crowds that surge up to the doors afternoon and night in the hope of gaining access to "A Yankee Circus on Mars" and "The Romance of a Hindoo Princess."

"The White Cat," the latest of the Klaw and Erlanger importations from the Drury Lane Theatre, London, does not reach the public eye until after this writing, but it is described as quite the most imposing spectacle that has ever been brought to New York.

These clever little children with each performance have added to their laurels, their work being distinctly clever. Monday begins the second and last week. The repertoire is as follows: Monday and Tuesday nights, "The Gelsa."

The Hamilton Spectator, of Oct. 20, in speaking of their performance of "The Gelsa" says: "Those extraordinarily clever little folks of the Polard Opera Company are growing on the people."

"Mrs. Warren's Profession," the George Bernard Shaw play, over which Anthony Comstock, Captain Dox and professional purists without number have been in a deadly rivalry for a week or longer, has no redeeming grace.

"The Manila Town Topics says: "The Bandmann Opera Company has taken Manila quite by storm by their cleverness and versatility. Each evening presenting a new opera properly staged and sung is a difficult effort for any organization, but the Bandmann do it with such ease that it seems to be quite second nature."

When Mary Mannering leaves the cast of "The Walls of Jericho" to resume her own starring tour as designed at the time of her special engagement with Mr. Hackett, her place will be taken by one of the best known leading women on the American stage.

The opera presented are all late New York and London successes, so seeing them is keeping in touch with the up-to-date late musical productions of civilization. One in listening to the Bandmanns almost forgets that he is ten thousand miles away from home.

EXPLOSION IN PUCK OFFICES MAKES PANIC.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—One hundred girls employed in the Puck building, at Elm and Houston streets, were thrown into a panic tonight by an explosion in a storeroom on the seventh floor, where were stored large quantities of benzine used for printing purposes. Much excitement prevailed, and the fire-stricken girls rushed pell mell for the fire escapes, scrambling down to the second floor, where they were unable to lower the heavy ladder to the street. Policemen lowered the ladder finally and helped the girls down before the firemen arrived.

The firemen succeeded in confining the blaze to the storeroom, but the damage to the building and stock by fire and water was estimated at $50,000. What caused the explosion is unknown.

ST. JOHN STAR, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1905.

HO! HO! Hear the Convicts Laugh! Thank God - They say - The Law can't Kill the Humor in a Man's Soul

Thank God, They Say, the Law, Though It Can Imprison a Man, Can't Suppress the Humor in His Soul.

Laugh-Producing Doggerel Pertaining to Prison Life is Ground Out by the Ream of Nights and Sent the Rounds.

By a Former Inmate of Sing Sing.

Thank God, the law can't suppress the humor in a man's soul. I know for a certainty that it can't—I've just come from Sing Sing, where every inmate laughs heartily at least once a day, and as often cracks a joke or gets off a rag or does something to cause his fellows to roar with merriment.

FUN IN VERSE FORM.

Much of the humor of the prison is expressed in verse. Indeed, the solitude of the life seems to give one an inclination for versifying, and brings out the doggerel in many a poor devil's soul to such a degree that he himself is often astonished at his new found gift of rhyming.

aged to get through the day. After dinner, while in my cell—though I was tired all over and my hands blistered from the rope—the humor of the day became apparent, I was seized with an inspiration and turned poet with this result:

Now beyond exaggeration, Was my sudden consternation, When I found I had to relegate sweet hope. Far and ere away beheld me, When he said: 'Now heed and mind me, Take a seat and learn plaiting Five and twenty feet of rope.'

putting it mildly, for every inmate of Sing Sing (the word convict is never heard there) sooner or later finds himself up against the mat room. And how the poor devils would laugh when I'd repeat my lines with relish whenever called upon!

Another set of verses that is exceedingly popular in Sing Sing, and has been since the day its proud creator sprung it on his admiring bench mates, also owes its popularity to the fact that every inmate much sooner than later—in fact, the first night he spends in a cell—meets the condition set forth in the lines, which the author in a happy moment entitled:

THE BEBUG! "Who, should you crush him in your cell, His blood, indeed, aloud will smell, Not up above, but down to—well! The bebug!"

JOKES AND GAGS ABOUT PUGILISM. As the chief topic of conversation among the Sing Sing inmates is always and forever about prize fighters and their doings, past, present and to come, it is but natural that many of the gags got off in prison have to do with pugilism. I had been in the mat room a couple of days when the inmate next to me said when we were at liberty to talk:

THE WIT OF THE GERMAN GARDENER. At the time that Fitzsimmons fought Gardner for the light heavyweight championship the gardener in Sing Sing was an inmate hearing the good German name of Fritz. His assistant in the greenhouse was a German also, and the day following the fight the two men had some words, with the result that the gardener reported his aid to the P. K.

WHAT ST. JOHN WOMEN WEAR, AND ARE LIKELY TO WEAR. A little Commonense Chat, not on New York or Paris Styles, but Home Styles. By POLLY CADABOUT.

NOVEMBER FIRST IS HERE—THE VERGE OF WINTER, so let us wait and see what trend the St. John styles are going to take. A person with half an eye can make a pretty good guess already as to the possibilities in coats, costumes, hats, furs, colors, etc., but the outside styles—Boston, Toronto, Montreal and New York—are so perplexing just now, that it is so unstable, that there's no telling what might happen between now and Christmas. For instance, in New York the women are gaily decked out in real hard felt "Derbies"—which we call "bean-poppers"—with "Cog" feather adornments, and the style has become a veritable fad, the question therefore arises how long will it take this hat to reach St. John? Boston, too, has some funny new notions, which may eventually be felt in this eastern city, all of which influences may upset our ready-made dress as to clothing to be worn when the snow and ice arrive. However, allowing for some new invasions and slight modifications, the feeling is pretty general that this will be a winter of reds, blues and greens; of long loose coats, of fitted skirt coats, of rich fancy flannels, of mannish gloves and sensible shoes, of many furs, of mantel-tailored clothing. The children will wear bearskin coats and bonnets, corduroy velvet and white and grey furs, white indoor and evening clothing will run along the usual dressy lines.

MORE INTEREST IS BEING TAKEN IN THE TAILORED STYLES IN TAFFETA AND PLAIN SILK WAISTS, buyers evidently anticipating the time when many women will desire something of a more practical nature than the lingerie waist. It is amusing to hear manufacturers give their reasons for advocating the lingerie waist for zero weather. One man was heard to say that women should wear it under a golf jacket and a fur coat in mid-winter. It takes a woman buyer to realize the state of the frail lingerie waist after being subjected to such usage. There is some demand for colors in the better-priced silk merchandise in shades of gray and green. The larger part of the silk waist business is being done, however, on those well-loved favorites, black and white, the all-white waist being particularly good this fall, in both silk and cotton.

AS REGARDS MILLINERY, THE PARIS AUTHORITIES ARE DIVIDED. Some favor the smaller, tip-tilted hat, while others show a fondness for the larger picture shape, still other establishments are showing both styles. Feathers, wings, roses, lace and gold trimmings are the prominent favorites, the colors being plum, violet, gray and peacock blue. The melon-shaped toque is preferred for practical purposes, and to give it a new appearance, the long, sweeping plume of bird of paradise or coque is employed in its garniture.

PLAIDS HAVE ENDED THE NECKWEAR FIELD and are now being seen in interesting designs as well as in considerable variety. They are also conspicuous in Windsor. They are designed to be worn with laundered collars. Mercerized material is being used for stocks, to which plaid silk four-in-hand ties are attached. The four-in-hand effect, which is sewed on and fastened at the back, can be easily ripped off and the stock laundered. They come in sets with bolts to match. The four-in-hand ties seen on these collars are quite short, measuring about four or five inches in length after being adjusted. The tailored stocks this season, taken as a whole, are unusually neat in design and show some pretty new ideas which strongly recommend them to the buying public. The vogue of tabs in these styles still prevails. It seems almost an impossibility to get away from this design, which has become so exceedingly popular in every section. In the West tab stocks are selling strongly in embroidered and plain effects, and severely tailored in this section of the country.

THE TENDENCY OF THE SEASON ALL IN ONE DIRECTION, it seems strange that a hat which departs from the traditional should ever make a big hit. This year everything at first ran so smooth, felt, then, suddenly, a derby shape in scratch felt was introduced and has become a great fad, and it is safe to predict that there are more blue scratch felt der-bies trimmed with coq plumes now being worn than any other one style of hat. This applies to New York and vicinity only, but it will doubtless work down this way. ARTISTIC DESIGNS IN FANCY EFFECTS OF TURN-OVER COLLAR AND CUFF SETS are being well displayed in prominent department stores. These are almost indispensable for the dark shirt-waist suit, as they are considered a necessary accessory to brighten up the rather sombre aspect of such a costume. They come in various lengths of cuffs and turn-overs, some showing small, neat designs, hand or machine embroidered in self or contrasting colors. Others have the plain hem-stitched effect or trimmed with Val. lace and insertion. These are made of sheer organdie, lawn or linen. Baby Irish crochet seems to be a favorite design in broad cuffs and wide turn-overs on silk shirt-waist suits. This style of lace plays such an important part in all dress accessories that it is especially adapted to collar and cuff sets. Genuine Irish crochet is a rather high-priced article, but there are some good imitations on the market which command a good price, retailing at a considerable profit. Not many people can judge the value of lace, particularly clever imitations. It is easy to make a good profit on the latter, provided they be artistic copies of any style which happens to be the vogue of the moment. A NOVEL NOTE IN THE GENERAL ASPECT OF TOILETTES HIS YEAR is given by the fact that military will match in color the garment rather than the dress. Thus in all the new and somewhat vivid colors adopted at present for wraps, the same color is to be seen in the hat itself, and also in its trimming. These brilliant colors, which were first started for hats last spring, were, it must be owned, not at first at all satisfactory in gray, whereas the same colors now presented for felt, velvet or plush, look extremely rich, especially when trimmed in self-color. This is almost always the case when such garnitures consist of feathers, though the same rule does not extend to floral trimmings, where a variety of colors is often mingled.

HERE'S ANOTHER BATCH OF NOVELTIES SEEN IN HIG STORES AND ON SWELL DRESSERS: Walking suit of black broadcloth, made in conventional fashion, but with skirted coat, showing semi-fitted back, and the long vest being in a neat black and white pin check. Dressy street costume of purple velvet with skirted coat, the upper part simulating the bolero. Drapery veils for fall wear, of chiffon, with heavy chenille dots—chiffy black, brown, and navy. French, clan-plaid dress goods in a wide choice of styles. Light-weight embroidered broadcloth (eyelot embroidery) intended primarily for home wear, and in such modish tints as rose, helio, etc. Jersey and gun-metal silks advertised as the latest Parisian craze. Dressy petticoats of taffeta in all the popular colors, embroidered in silk in eyelot embroidery. Women's sweaters for early fall wear in a variety of colors and also in white, many of the latest models opening in front and fastening with brass buttons or clasps. Silk separable medallion balloon trimmings in a riot of beautiful colorings. Ready-to-wear sailor and Continental hats of black patent leather. School clothing of every description, including dresses and hats for the girls, suits, caps and furnishings for the boys.

room, which was then, and still is, in charge of Captain Flarity, as fine a prison keeper as ever walked in shoe leather. One afternoon one of the inmates reported to the captain that his coat was lost, and just before musing us up, preparatory to taking us back to our cells for the night, the captain directed a thorough search for the missing garment. It was without result, and the captain was fretting and fuming, when the coatless man beckoned him to one side and announced solemnly in a stage whisper: "Excuse me, captain, but you've got thieves in your company."

The captain laughed as heartily as the rest of us.

BANDYING JOKES WITH THE CHAPLAIN. In the two prisons I've served nearly all the officials, from the P. K. down, tacitly encourage humor among the inmates; they recognize its value in keeping the men more amenable to discipline and in a philosophical frame of mind. In Sing Sing, Chaplain Herjak is a moving spirit in the fun, and especially so around holiday time, such as Thanksgiving and Christmas. Not even the most timid inmate would hesitate to crack a joke with him, and he usually gives as good as he receives. And this calls to mind a little incident that occurred between the Chaplain and an Irishman set up for twenty years for killing a man.

This Irishman is a great reader of books that some folks call heavy, and one day when the chaplain was making his rounds, he asked that he be sent a copy of Carlyle's "History of the French Revolution." But the next day he found instead on his shelf a copy of "Robin Hood and His Merry Men," and a slip in it from the librarian, stating that the history was out.

The inmate had asked for bread and got a stone; nevertheless he saw the humorous side of the situation, as the letter he wrote that night to the chaplain shows. Here it is, word for word: "Dear Parson Herriek (he always calls him Hear-ache): I told you, when speaking to you, to send me the first volume of the "History of the French Revolution." Instead of that I found, when coming in from my daily labor, "Robin Hood and His Merry Men." But perhaps when Sunday school excursions get to be the order of the day on the Panama Canal, the book I want may return to the home shelf. In the meantime, I should like to ask your librarian for Sir Walter Scott's "Ivanhoe," but I am fearful lest my eccentric friend might leave me the "History of Auldin and his Wonderful Lamp."

STREET RAILWAY AND LANCASTER STILL FIGHTING.

No settlement has been reached in the negotiations between the St. John Street Railway Company and the Lancaster highway board. Some time ago the highway board agreed not to press that section of the new act, but would allow snow to accumulate to a depth of ten or twelve inches. This proposal has been rejected. Col. McLean says he would not consider it as long as the $500 penalty clause remains in the way.

DEEPENING BELLEISLE CHANNEL.

The government dredge New Brunswick is still working on the river, but will be finished in a few days. It is engaged in deepening the channel in Jenkins' Cove, Belleisle, which has been a dangerous place for sailing and steam craft for a long time back. The water here is being deepened almost double the former depth, and instead of cutting a narrow path, the dredge has made a wide sweep in its operations, practically making a new cove. This will be a boon to the people in that locality.

Besides Jenkins' Cove work the New Brunswick made a good job of the Glenwood wharf, almost opposite the Cedars, at the rear of Vincent's Island. All last summer the steamers that called there ran the risk of losing propellers and otherwise damaging themselves because of the shallow channel. The river was unusually low, and added to this a swift current had carried a large deposit of sand, etc., against the mooring place, having a filling-up effect.

However, the wharf-stap is now free from these dangers and next summer there will be no recurrence of the accidents which befall several boats this year. When next the New Brunswick starts out digging on the river it will be at the Cedars, John O. Vanwart's, Gorham's and other well-known and important stopping places.

BLACK BASS FOR LOCKER LAKE

(Special to the Star.)

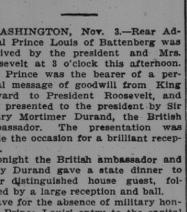

MONCTON, N. B., Nov. 4.—Capt. Halkett of the Marine and Fisheries Department, arrived this week with a consignment of thirteen small mouthed black bass from the Bay of Quinte, Ontario, for the purpose of stocking the Locker Lake, the property of the Albert Fishing Club in Albert county. The fish arrived in good condition, notwithstanding the long distance traveled and when deposited took to the water readily. Capt. Halkett says the Locker Lake is one of the best he has seen for black bass, both as to breeding and spawning conditions and he has no doubt of the success of the attempt to stock it.

Black bass are said to be even more gamey than salmon and grow to be four or five pounds in weight. The members of the fishing club are anticipating some rare sport in the near future. It had at first been the intention to stock the lake with several hundred spawn but Capt. Halkett thought the spawn would not survive the long journey by rail and consequently brought the parent fish.

Pet dogs in sunbonnets and blue glass spectacles are to be seen following their owners through the streets of Berlin in hot weather.

PRINCE LOUIS AT WASHINGTON

Was Received by President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg was received by the president and Mrs. Roosevelt at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The Prince was the bearer of a personal message of goodwill from King Edward to President Roosevelt, and was presented to the president by Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, the British ambassador. The presentation was made the occasion for a brilliant reception.

Tonight the British ambassador and Lady Durand gave a state dinner to their distinguished guests, followed by a large reception and ball.

Save for the absence of military honors, Prince Louis' entry to the capital today has been invested with as much ceremony as that which made memorable the greeting to Prince Henry of Prussia several years ago. This has been the busiest day he has spent since he arrived at Annapolis Wednesday.

Shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon Prince Louis and Sir Mortimer Durand arrived at the White House. The party was met at the main entrance by the president's military and naval aides and escorted to the Blue Room, where a distinguished company awaited their arrival. In a few moments the carved wood doors swung open and the President and Mrs. Roosevelt entered. The Prince was presented by Sir Mortimer Durand, and the former immediately delivered the royal message to the president. The Prince then presented the members of his staff and the commanding officers of his squadron.

Both the President and Mrs. Roosevelt were markedly cordial and hearty in their welcome, the president expressing the hope that every moment of the visit of the British squadron in American waters would prove enjoyable to them. The president and the Prince then entered into an earnest talk about the various problems of a modern navy.

The reception lasted about an hour. Thirty-six guests made up the company at the dinner given in honor of the prince by the ambassador and Lady Durand, which included besides the prince and officers of his party and the embassy staff, the secretary of state and Mrs. Root, the admiral of the navy and Mrs. Dewey, the lieutenant general of the army and Mrs. Chaffee, the commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic fleet and Mrs. Evans, Rear Admiral and Mrs. Davis, Rear Admiral Brownson, the assistant secretary of state and Mrs. Bacon and assistant secretary of war and Mrs. Olive.

Three hundred additional guests were invited at half-past ten o'clock for the reception and ball. The spacious state apartments of the embassy were elaborately decorated with American beauty, violet and blue.

Later in the evening the prince led the way to the splendid ball room of the embassy and opened the ball with Miss Durand. The brilliant scene in the ball room has seldom been equalled in Washington.

STUDENTS' JOKE NEARLY CAUSED TRAGEDY.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 3.—The lives of a score of trolley car passengers were placed in great peril last night by a prank played, it is alleged, by several students. The street car ralls, at a curve on a dangerous grade a short distance above the deep Cascadilla gorge, at the edge of the Cornell campus, were greased with soap. As a car approached the curve, several young men jumped from behind trees, and grabbing the rope at the rear of the car, pulled the trolley pole off of the track. The motorman and conductor managed to replace the pole in time to reverse the car, but the passengers were thrown as it passed over the slippery rails. Manager Post of the Street Railway Company said today that had a less experienced motorman been in charge the car might have left the rails at the curve and been precipitated into the deep gorge.

The police are investigating the matter.

A CLERGYMAN'S BELIEF.

The problem of the clergyman who is forced by recent theological discoveries and arguments into religious convictions at variance with members of his congregation and perhaps with the recognized dogmas of his church, is occupying large attention in the religious world today. Should he conceal his beliefs and confine his discourses within limits where there is no probability of disagreement or misunderstanding; or should he voice his honest convictions and endeavor to lead his people to the truth as he sees it? Should he attempt to broaden the accepted doctrines of his denomination or should he instead withdraw himself from the church or at least from the pulpit of the church, to which by association and spiritual affinity he is devotedly attached but whose time worn grooves he finds too narrow? There are few clergymen who follow the religious literature and theological discussion of the day who are not at some time in their career bluntly confronted by these questions.

And the position of a man so confronted is a difficult one. A man's beliefs—a studious man whose mind is receptive and flexible—are not under the control of the will. Precious as the old dogmas may be to him, good to live by and die by as he knows them to be, once their basis in historical fact and in logic is shattered for him he may no more hold them and be sincere. And having moved past them to what he believes to be higher and more tenable ground, these questions confront him.

There are so many reasons why he should conceal his change of position. Announcement, he knows, will be misunderstood and misconstrued. Old friends will be alienated and smouldering enmity rekindled. Disruption in his church may follow, forcing him to resign. Worst of all the faith of some of his people may be shattered; for all cannot see as he sees and what only serves to make his faith in the essentials of Christianity the stronger may bring down the whole fabric in ruin for some differently constituted souls. It is so much easier and perhaps so much better for the present good of the church to hold his tongue, to keep his new theology within his study walls and let his people see nothing in him that does not find an echo in themselves. But there is his own conscience to consider. If following such a course he would be false to himself. It would involve a certain degree of deception, harmless in motive perhaps, but false to the rock entrusted to his care.

Having chosen the courageous, straightforward course, should he carry it to the extreme and separate himself from the communion whose dogmas he has outgrown? The obvious result of such action—considering the great and growing numbers of those who are facing this dilemma—would be a great weakening of the older and inflexible denominations and the establishment either of a multiplicity of new denominations or of one catholic enough to contain all who unite in belief in and love for the Founder and Sustainer of the church and in a determination to make the world more as He would have it. The first alternative—all will admit—not desirable and the other can be better attained another way. The recent church union consummated in this city and the more extensive amalgamation which is occupying the consideration of three other leading religious bodies in Canada signify that way.

A typical instance of this problem and one which has aroused active discussion is the case of Rev. Dr. A. S. Craspey, of St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal church of Rochester, N. Y., who by some radical sermons upon the truth of the Virgin Birth and other doctrines of his church has aroused a demand from many of his denomination that he withdraw himself from their communion. Defending his action in retaining his membership and his clerical status, Dr. Craspey declares that for a man in his position, silence is dishonest and withdrawal reasonable. He has but spoken the truth as it appears to him and as he thinks it should appear to all. If his church does not agree with him it is for them to act, not for him. "A prophet," he says, "is not called upon to kill himself or expiate himself or scourge himself or communicate himself. He must leave that to others. He, for his part, has but to take care of himself. If the Word is not of God, it will come to naught; if it is of God, nothing that happens to the prophet will harm it. And the Word is the thing."

Commenting on this well-known religious weekly, The Outlook, of New York, voices the opinion of the broader Christianity when it says:—
"If a minister finds himself differing on important points from the church in which he is an ordained teacher, it is his duty neither to withdraw nor to be silent. It is his duty, with real, unassumed respect for the opinions which he no longer entertains and for those who entertain them, to preach the truth as he sees it, and to leave those who differ with him to determine whether the difference is so great that they are no longer willing that he should remain a recognized teacher in their fellowship. This was the method of Wesley, of Luther, of Paul, of Jesus Christ."

A NEW RIVAL.
A growing rival of Canada and all other wheat raising countries is the Argentine Republic whose possibilities have recently so attracted the Japanese that they propose establishing a line of steamships for the purpose of connecting these South American wheat fields with their country. As yet Canada has nothing to fear from this competition for the British market will take all our surplus product for years to come but the American wheat growers who have been working up a good trade with the Orient are already alarmed at the prospect of such serious rivalry in the new field.

A brief consideration of Argentina as an agricultural country indicates within limits where there is no probability of disagreement or misunderstanding; or should he voice his honest convictions and endeavor to lead his people to the truth as he sees it? Should he attempt to broaden the accepted doctrines of his denomination or should he instead withdraw himself from the church or at least from the pulpit of the church, to which by association and spiritual affinity he is devotedly attached but whose time worn grooves he finds too narrow? There are few clergymen who follow the religious literature and theological discussion of the day who are not at some time in their career bluntly confronted by these questions.

There are so many reasons why he should conceal his change of position. Announcement, he knows, will be misunderstood and misconstrued. Old friends will be alienated and smouldering enmity rekindled. THE LILIES.
There's a path I know where lilies grow
Golden and white,
And a flower red droops its head
In sunset light.
Fades now the day; from the sainted way
The sun has set;
Yet through the night a shining light
Is o'er me shed.

The lily of gold is the wealth untold
Which the Father gave;
The lily of red is the blood Christ shed
Man's life to save;
And the pure white flower is the
Spirit's dower,
Cleaning and power.

The path is the way of life I walk
Closely shut in;
The lily drooping upon its stalk
Is the price of sin;
While I walk in hope which shines
Above my head,
Till the dawning light breaks golden
And white

DIAMOND ADVICE.

PUT YOUR MONEY INTO DIAMONDS. Diamonds in your possession represent money—more money than you pay for them after you have worn them a while, for the advance in price is very marked and there is positively no danger of diamonds depreciating in value in our time. Of course it is always necessary to choose wisely and pay the right price when you make your selection; therefore it is essential that you should choose the gems at a responsible house and I have a record and a reputation I think enviable; and my very large stock of set and unset gems allows for the best selection in this city or province.
Respectfully yours

YOU WILL BE PLEASED WITH OUR NEW FOOTWEAR.

We Can't Do It!

It's almost useless for us to try to itemize what we are doing in abundance this season. We are showing more styles and better goods for less money than you ever saw before. We have worked and planned for the past four months looking over different lines of goods, designing and adding new ideas that we think will suit you. Our makes are positively of the very highest character. We never sold you shoddy shoes. We never would tolerate them in our store. We don't pretend to sell shoes for less than cost, but high quality and low prices predominate here, all backed up with our guarantee.
Everything that's new and good in Ladies', Men's, Boys', Misses', Children's and Infants' Shoes are here. All prices, to fit pocket-books of large and small dimensions. No, we can't tell you the half of what we have (it's too big a task), but we can tell you what we have not—and that's poor shoes. There's not a pair in the house.

NEWS OF SPORT.

Dalhousie Defeated St. Francis Xavier College at Football Dan Patch Goes Another Fast Mile—Apollo Won Wrestling Match at Montreal.

FOOTBALL. TODAY'S LOCAL GAME. The last game in the intermediate football league will be played on the Victoria grounds this afternoon at 3 o'clock between the following teams: Neptunes. Fairville. Ellis (Capt). Cougle Halves. Thomson. M. Campbell Fullback. Fairweather. Howard Quarterback. Townsend. Mason (Capt). Miller. Patterson. Carter Linebackers. Ledingham. Baker Forwards. Markham. Campbell. Sippell. Murray. Campbell. Harris. Stewart. Harrison. Palmer. Masters. Compton. Dog. Reid. Côté. Baird. Phillips. Curran. McCafferty. spare. H. F. S. Palsey, referee.

DALHOUSIE AGAIN WINS. HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 3.—Dalhousie College and St. Francis Xavier football teams played in Halifax today. It was a good game and the score at the end stood 11 to 9 in favor of Dalhousie. The game was snappy and swift from start to finish, but the Xaviers evidently lacked the skill in making the proper disposition of the pig-skin that was necessary to meet the superior combination of the home players. Several times fine opportunities for gain by Xaviers were missed, which might otherwise have brought a different ending to the game. Their failure to make good when the advantage was clearly theirs caused St. Francis Xavier to win an otherwise almost faultless game. The visitors did excellent work in the scrum kicking and in dropping on the ball. The score consisted of a goal in the first half and two tries in the second.

HIS FATHER OBJECTED. NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—A letter, addressed to President Butler of Columbia University, from H. Duden, the father of one of Columbia's football men, was made public last night at the university. The letter says: "My son, Fred H. Duden, a senior in the school of mines, has to finish his studies and be graduated this year. He has lost one year at the university by being unable to pass his examination because of playing football, and had to take the same course over again. He passed his examinations last June, and now in the last year of the school of mines. I have now a telegram addressed by Coach Murphy to my son: 'Report at Columbia Oval, at 8 a. m. for football practice.' How can my son study when he has to be out at nine in the morning at football practice, and again at practice after 6 o'clock in the afternoon until late? I certainly did not send my boy to the university to learn to play football, and I find that it ruins his constitution besides the bodily harm he risks every day. I have now told him that he must either quit football or leave the university, and still he is forced to play by Murphy, who seems to have him under his control. I appeal to you to find some ways and means to get him off the football team, so that he may have the necessary time to study, attend lectures, and by so doing graduate in his final examinations. To this letter the university authorities replied: 'When the standing of a scholar is uniformly good, it is impossible for the university to take action in such cases. If a parent desires that his son shall not pursue football, he must persuade him through other means. Just so long as his scholarship is maintained at the proper standing, the faculty has no control over the student's action in athletics.' It was said at the Columbia headquarters that Duden would continue to play throughout the season.

THE TURF. DAN PATCH'S FAST MILE. MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 3.—Dan Patch equaled the world's pacing record this afternoon, going the mile in 1:14, equalling Star Pointer's time. The mile was made with a runner at his side. No regular meeting is being held here, and it is not thought the record will stand. NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 3.—Good racing was the order at the Nashua track this afternoon. Hal Patron, the favorite in the 213 pace, did not show up well, and after Melponne had taken the first and third heats, Cox was put up behind the favorite in place of Tracy. Cox, however, could not bring Hal Patron in the lead under the wire.

ANOTHER ARREST IN SUIT CASE Dr. McLeod of Back Bay District Held.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—A brief conversation by long-distance telephone and the developments in the famous suit case mystery shifted from New York back to Boston. As a result of the brief talk between Chief Inspector William B. Watts of the Boston bureau of criminal investigation, who is now in New York, and Detective Captain Joseph Dugan, at police headquarters here, Dr. Percy D. McLeod, a reputable physician of the Back Bay district, was arrested on the charge of performing an illegal operation on Susan Geary, the Cambridge girl whose dismembered body was found in two suit cases in the waters of Boston harbor.

Dr. McLeod, in an effort to conceal the crime, dismembered the body. These dismembered parts were placed in two suit cases and a small bag, and, according to the confessions of Crawford and Howard, dropped by them into the harbor. So far the head, which was placed in a small bag, weighted with shot, has not been found, but inasmuch as the police have been told approximately where it was dropped, it is expected that it will soon be recovered, thereby establishing beyond question the identity of the victim.

Dr. McLeod will be arraigned in court tomorrow morning. No man had been set tonight as the amount of his bail bond, but District Attorney Suggs stated that owing to the gravity of the charge a large bond would be necessary. Morris Nathan, the lover of the dead girl, who was arrested in Pittsburg last Sunday night and brought to this city in a state of collapse, is brought recovering at the amount of his bail bond, but District Attorney Suggs stated that Nathan will probably be arraigned on Monday.

PEOPLE DRANK SEWERAGE FOR SPRING WATER

Result of Examination by Dr. Adby Around Black Tom's Well Shows That it is No Wonder Typhoid Fever Exists.

There is practically no doubt but that the cases of typhoid fever now existing on Douglas avenue are directly due to the use of water from what is known as Black Tom's well, and that they can be traced back to one case brought here from Moncton. This is the report which was made yesterday afternoon to Dr. Daniel of the board of health by Dr. G. A. R. Adby, who was commissioned to test the water from that well.

Dr. Adby, accompanied by Inspector Howard, went out yesterday to get samples of the water and to secure information as to the prevailing conditions. The result is that while a bacteriological test of the water will be made, Dr. Adby does not consider it necessary, as he has found enough evidence to show him where the fever comes from.

This Black Tom's well is situated on the west side of Douglas avenue, just back of the residence of Miss Harriet Cowan. From Douglas avenue to Marble Cove the land slopes down, the well being in the line of drainage. From the northern side the land also slopes towards this spring, which is in direct line for all drainage. It has always been believed that this is a boiling spring, but such is not the case. It may be a spring, but the boiling effect seen in it is caused by drainage water bubbling up under a rock as the side of the spring. So these people who have all along believed that they have been drinking from a boiling spring have in reality been using surface drainage. This water continues in its flow down towards the river and runs through a second spring, which, however, is not used by many people.

The British Columbia canneries, like those on the sound, are under the necessity of throwing away fish. It is impossible so to regulate the catch as not to have salmon accumulate and spoil when the heavier runs are on.

A big gold stampede, in which are included ministers, merchants, women and Chinese, is on at Sitka. All are rushing to Chicago Island, near Cape Edwards, where rich discoveries are said to have been made.

NOTED PAINTER DEAD IN NEW YORK

Was a St. John Man Who Left Here 30 Years Ago

J. Staples Rowe, a portrait painter well known in this city, Boston and Philadelphia, died yesterday at his apartment in the Hotel Collingwood, in West Thirty-fifth street, from liver complaint. He was forty-nine years of age.

Mr. Rowe pursued his art studies in Boston and came to this city eighteen years ago. For several years he devoted most of his time to small portraits on porcelain and ivory, and had considerable success. In recent years his work has consisted almost entirely of life-size portraits. Many persons of prominence have sat for Mr. Rowe. One of the best examples of his work was a miniature on ivory of Miss Helen Gould, which he painted a few years ago and for which he received $1,500.

Other portraits which he has painted are those of former President McKinley, J. Pierpont Morgan, Mrs. Hobart, Dean Hoffman, the Countess De Casillane and other members of the social family.

Mr. Rowe was an accomplished musician. He was a member of the Boston Art Club, the Philadelphia Art Club and the Orpheus Club. He is survived by a widow.

The subject of the above sketch, which is reproduced from the New York Herald, was born in St. John, and left here when about seventeen years of age, going to Massachusetts with his parents, who returned to their native state after the fire of '71. Previous to the fire his father, the late John S. Rowe, carried on business in this city as a watchmaker and jeweller.

John S. Rowe, the father of the deceased, died at Lawrence, Mass., about five years ago. Since that time Mrs. Rowe, mother of the celebrated artist, has resided with her daughter, Mrs. Walter R. Miles, of 283 Charlotte street. The other surviving members of the family are: Mrs. J. M. Hay, St. John; Mrs. T. W. Bell, Moncton; Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Livetts of Lawrence, Mass.

The news of Mr. Rowe's death came as a great shock to his mother and sisters. They had been apprised of his illness, but had no idea that he was not expected to recover. The funeral took place yesterday, the remains being interred at Mohawk, New York, the native place of the deceased's widow.

NAIL WORKS CO. REORGANIZED

St. John Men Back in It as Directors.

A reorganization meeting of the Maritime Nail Works Co. was held yesterday afternoon, at which an entirely new board of directors was re-elected. It appears that after all, a lot of St. John capital remains in the business. During and since the time of the purchase of a controlling interest by the Capewell Horseshoe Co., Hartford, there has been a lot of shuffling of the stock. The end in view in this is not stated, but many of the St. John shareholders who sold out, have re-purchased shares, and are back on the list. Several, however, who were prominent in the company are now completely out of it.

At yesterday's meeting the directors elected were D. J. Purdy, Charles Marvin, R. C. Ekin, A. W. C. Williams and J. K. Capewell, of Hartford; E. C. Ekin and Stanley Ekin. At a subsequent meeting of the directors, E. C. Ekin was chosen president.

Although many of the St. John men have gone back into the company, the Capewell concern still retains control, as it holds two hundred and sixty shares out of the total of five hundred.

It was stated at the meeting that the Capewell Co. would bring the business, make the plant thoroughly up-to-date and probably extend the works. The company will not, however, rush into these matters, but will see how business is before spending any large sums of money.

There is some talk around the streets of another nail works being started next year by several of those who are no longer shareholders in the Maritime Co.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD BOY DROWNED AT HARTLAND

HARTLAND, N. B., Nov. 3.—Howard Aiton, five years of age, the youngest son of Trackmaster Aiton, of the C. P. R., was drowned in the flume at Sayer's mill at noon today. His hat was found floating on the water, and suspecting that the lad had fallen in, the workmen dragged the pond with grappling iron and found his body. It is not known just how long he had been in the water, but he had left his home shortly after 11 o'clock. It is presumed he was playing on the logs and fell in.

TROUBLE PILING UP FOR MANAGER BROWN.

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 3.—T. Hillhouse Brown, of East Hamilton, the bank manager arrested yesterday, charged with embezzlement, is in the city jail, where he will remain till next Thursday, before preliminary hearing in the police court. The Bank of Hamilton has secured from Brown life insurance securities to the amount of $47,000, all of which he carried in his own name on a salary of $2,000 a year. Three specific charges have been laid against Brown—falsifying the bank's books for $3,100, securing for his inspectors' initials on accounts as though passed by the inspector. The defalcations are now said to amount to $130,000. The accused defrauded the bank out of this large sum by working it through the general ledger and savings bank ledger, changing from one account to the other and fixing so the inspector could not detect anything wrong without a very searching examination of the books, which is never done unless suspicion rests on the bank manager.

Prizes amounting to $8,000, offered by the King of Italy to exhibitors at the Milan exhibition next year, include one of $2,000 for the best type of popular dwelling-house adapted to the climate of northern Italy, and one of $1,000 for motor boats.

BROUGHT DEATH ON HERSELF

Woman Missionary Interfered Too Persistently With Native Worshipers.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—A despatch to the Daily Express from Hong Kong says that the Lienchau massacre was due to the unhappy action of Mrs. Machie, who on the refusal of some of the members of a native procession to desist from worshipping the idols they carried, seized the idols and declined to restore them to the owners. Thereupon the infuriated processionists surrounded and destroyed the mission and assaulted the inmates. They then murdered them and threw their bodies into the river. The mob did not interfere with six French priests who reside in the neighborhood.

AT THE THEATRES.

Every evening sees an increase in the number of people at the York Theatre. Last night there was scarcely a vacant seat in the main hall. The Ball of New York was perfectly produced, the costumes were gorgeous, the stage settings, especially in the last act, something far out of the ordinary, and the acting and singing beyond criticism. Daphne Pollard as the Queen of Comie

Opera, looked for all the world like a beautiful wax doll, and Olive Moore, when she appeared as the candy girl, was as pretty as a picture. Every one in the cast won favor, and too much praise cannot be given this organization. This afternoon The Lady Slavey will be presented in matinee, and this evening the Belle of New York will be repeated. Next week the company will produce The Getha, Gaiety Girl, and The Lady Slavey.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES WANTS MORE POWER.

Authority to Correct Social Evils Would Increase Its Usefulness—Coming Winter a Hard One.

Mrs. C. H. Hall, secretary of the Associated Charities, was seen yesterday by the Star in reference to the work which will be done during the winter.

The first meeting to arrange definitely the work for the winter will be held on the second Wednesday in this month. Then weekly meetings will be held to discuss the different cases as they come up.

Mrs. Hall is of the opinion that this winter will not be a very hard one on the poor. Last winter there was an exceptionally large number of cases of sickness, some of which are still on the poverty's list.

Work, however, was not very scarce.

This winter the prospects for work are even better. Mrs. Hall thinks that any man or woman having a trade or occupation will have no difficulty in finding employment. The handicapped cases which the Associated Charities have to deal are immigrants, who have no particular occupation, but must be engaged as unskilled labor.

The emigrants who come to her are Irish, Scotch, English, and Germans. Speaking of the Scotch, Mrs. Hall said that given half a chance they generally manage to pull along all right.

Another plan which she has in mind now prevails among all denominations, who now all, without exception, work together through the Associated Charities. When this society first began seven years ago it met with considerable resistance and at first it was decidedly up-hill work.

The work which is being done is shown by the fact that 1,200 cases were attended last year as against 300 in the first year. This does not mean that there is more poverty, but that their work is better understood.

Mrs. Hall is very much in favor of compulsory education and thinks it probable that the matter will be agitated this winter. If we are not to have compulsory education, Mrs. Hall thinks we should at least have a transit officer.

The work among children she thinks is worthy of special attention.

Another plan which she is likely to be discussed during the winter is that of widening the scope of the society, as has been done everywhere throughout the United States, to take in the power of correction. To give the society that now exists a wider scope would have to be passed by the provincial house, as was done by the different state governments. This would give the society power to cause investigations into public institutions, such as hospitals, almshouses, which they do not consider properly managed, or it would give them the power to prosecute a husband who has deserted his family. It would give them power to remove children from unwholesome environments and send them to orphanages and in fact give them power to remove children if this should be done, said Mrs. Hall, the good work would be greatly increased.

The Neptune Club's plans for winter's amusement.

Annual Ball Nov. 18th.—Lecture by Dr. Lindsay Parker—May Open Gymnasium—Whist Tournament.

The whist tournament in the Neptune rooms came to a conclusion on Thursday evening when the trophy was won by Roy Crawford and W. H. C. McKay. The prize, which was a painting of a yacht race, was presented by Frank Kinneer with a few suitable remarks. The winners returned the trophy to the club, to be hung with other similar trophies on the walls of the club room. The tournament, which consisted of seven tables, was greatly enjoyed. At the conclusion of the meeting on Thursday a social evening was spent at which a large number were present. Coffee and refreshments were served.

The Neptune have arranged for their annual dance, which is to take place on the 18th of this month. Invitations will be issued early next week.

The club have arranged with Rev. Lindsay Parker, of New York, that he shall lecture in January at the Opera House. The subject, which is left to Dr. Parker, has not yet been announced.

The billiard and pool tournaments being held in the Neptune rooms are arousing considerable interest. Sixteen have entered for the former and about 20 for the latter.

The idea of having a gymnasium during the winter months has met with general approval. There have been 15 applicants for membership in the club within the last few days. The shower bath will be installed immediately.

A DISGRACE TO THE CITY.

James Lawlor, better known as "Jumbo," was the only prisoner on the police court bench this morning. He pleaded guilty to being drunk, and then Mrs. Ada McKay made a charge against him for trying to force his way into her house on Westmorland road on Thursday, also with using bad language to her.

Policeman Semple, who made the arrest, said that Lawlor had no visible means of support, that he has been drunk and hanging about the Marsh road for over a year, excepting a short time he had been working. He sleeps in bars and the other night he slept in the grave yard.

The magistrate said he had been trying to get hold of Lawlor for the past 15 months, and told Policeman Semple it was one of the best pieces of work that he had done in bringing the poor fellow to court and saving him. Lawlor begged to be given a chance and that he had done it twice in two hours. The magistrate told the prisoner he had come down to the life of a dog, all through run, and had not only disgraced himself but his family and the city. He was remanded.

ST. JOHN GIRL TO WED WOODSTOCK DENTIST

On Wednesday morning the marriage of Dr. Robert G. Thomson, of Woodstock, and Miss May Josephine Sharkey, of St. John, will take place in the Cathedral. Rev. A. W. Meahan, an old schoolfellow of the groom, will tie the nuptial knot. Owing to a recent bereavement in the groom's family the marriage will be of a very quiet nature. After the wedding the couple will enjoy a brief honeymoon trip and then take up their residence in the fine Thompson homestead recently acquired by the doctor. Doctor Thomson is one of the best known young professional men in Carleton County. Miss Sharkey is no stranger in Woodstock, as she spent the greater portion of last winter here, a guest at the home of her uncle and aunt, Hon. John L. and Mrs. Carleton. While here she was a social favorite, and it is with pleasure that Woodstock people have learned of her likelihood of becoming a permanent resident—Carleton Star.

WINTER PORT FREIGHT IS ALREADY ARRIVING.

Everything about the wharves at Sand Point is in readiness for the winter port traffic. The city dredge is making excellent progress clearing away the material along the front of the wharves, and this work will be completed in a few days.

Over 100 cars of grain and package freight have arrived, and there are advices of many other cars of freight along the line to be shipped from Sand Point on winter port steamers. It is expected that the elevator at Sand Point will commence working next week.

The dredge beaver for the past few days has been at work on the northern slope for the new wharf and is making quite a hole in Rodney slip.
