THOMAS MALCOLM HAS PASSED AWAY

Well Known Railway Contractor and Promoter Died at Bathurst Tuesday.

Citizens generally learned with deep regret yesterday morning of the death at Bathurst of Mr. Thomas Malcolm. Mr. Malcolm was a native of Campbellton and has had a most interesting career. During the construction of the I. C. R. at this point he joined the construction crew as water boy, working up to timekeeper. When this section was completed he joined the engineering staff of the I. C. R. under the late W. D. Barclay, C. E. and acted as chairman. In this capacity he travelled the line from River du Loup to Halifax.

When he was through with this work he went to the Black Hills, Nevada, where he went into mining contracting. He tired of this and drifted north to Winnipeg, where he met his late partner Duncan Ross. There the firm known as Malcolm and Ross made a contract for timber construction work on the C. P. R. and at the completion of that contract took over for bridge work for the C. P. R. for a section then being constructed by John MacDonald. This latter contract was on the Rat Portage or famous section. B. At the completion of this contract Messrs. Malcolm and Ross removed to Ottawa and later took an extensive contract for railway construction in the Muskoka lakes district.

Later they settled down in Ottawa, when they did city work for some time. About that time they became interested in the "Bib Ditch" at Panama, and decided to go and inspect the work being assured a contract if they deserved it. They made the trip to Panama, but were not favorably impressed.

We next find the firm of Malcolm and Ross hard at work on the Temiscouata railway, of which they built between seventy five and one hundred miles. Then the Bangor and Aroostook took up their attention and they built their sections of that road.

While working in Maine Mr. Malcolm was impressed with the idea of a road across Northern New Brunswick joining the seaboard at Campbellton to the B. and A. Maine. He was so interested that he had soundings taken for an international bridge at St. Leonard and then started the promotion of the Restigouche and Western.

The history of that venture is known to all our citizens. We may only state that after having discouragements that would have turned a less resolute man from the project, Mr. Malcolm succeeded in 1910 in opening the International Railway as it was later called, having built a road that was a credit to the province and himself and a road that has already justified its construction.

This road has been taken over by the Dominion Government and is now a part of the C. G. R.

A year ago last December Mr. Malcolm went to New York to undergo a serious operation but which resulted in no improvement to his health and he gradually became weaker until he passed away Tuesday. Always a man of generous impulses he had many friends throughout Canada who will regret to learn of his passing. He was 62 years of age.

Besides his wife, formerly Miss Babin of Edmundston, N. B., he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Roland Moffatt of Montreal and three sons, Ross at present with an overseas battalion, John with a Forestry Battalion in England and Boswell at home. Boswell also was some months at the front.

Citizens in general extend sympathy to the family in their sad bereavement. The funeral will be held from St. Andrew's church Saturday afternoon after arrival of special train from Bathurst about 2.30 o'clock.

PARTICULARS OF BURIAL OF PTE. KAINE

Letters Received From Chaplain Wilson and Capt. C. F. Archer.

Mrs. Kaine has received the following letters in reference to the death and burial of her husband, Pte. Jas. Kaine.

England, 12-16-1916.

Dear Mrs. Kaine: You will have heard before this reaches you of the passing of your husband. Not being here when he became sick, or when he was removed to the hospital, I did not have the privilege of visiting him as I would have ordinarily; but I have reason to believe he received the sympathetic attentions of other Chaplains, whose ministry was, perhaps, more helpful than mine would have been. As to the Hospital treatment, I can assure you that the physicians concerned were faithful and the nurses were kindly. The beds and in fact all the appointments of the Hospital where he was confined are first-class.

I had a long talk with his principal nurse who were arranging for the funeral service and she told me he was conscious till very near the end, and that he knew that he would not recover. I know these facts would bring a measure of relief to many people and I pass them on to you hoping they may do a little towards lightening your heavy burden.

Your husband was buried on Tuesday, Dec. 12th. He was given a full military funeral. The procession was made up as follows: The firing party, a good brass band, Minister (myself), gun carriage on which his very acceptable casket rested and which was proceeded by three beautiful black horses, Major McKay and Capt. Archer to represent the chief mourners.

Pte. J. A. KAINE

ers, then a large party of N. C. O. S. some of whom acted as pall-bearers, and last the remainder of our officers. The casket was draped with a large Union Jack. Everything was done in an orderly and respectful manner. On reaching the cemetery I read from 1. Cor. 15; offered prayer, the body was lowered, the formal committal was made benediction pronounced. With every good wish in all things.

Sincerely,

Chaplain, J. C. WILSON,
Army Post Office,
London, England.

132nd Can. Inf. Battalion, Bramshott Camp,
December 12th. 1916.

Mrs. J. A. Kaine,
Campbellton, N. B.

Dear Mrs. Kaine:—

It is with the deepest regret and sorrow that I write you this letter and offer to share in your sorrow in the loss of your dear husband, No. 793227 Pte. J. A. Kaine, whose death was recorded in the Bramshott Hospital on December the 8th. I wish to say that Jim was an excellent soldier and always did his work nobly and well in a soldier like him, and was always ready to serve in any capacity that would do any good for the cause

ANOTHER SON JOINS ARTILLERY

Glenford Mowat, Fourth Son of Mr. M. M. Mowat Has Enlisted

Word was received here yesterday that Glenford Mowat, fourth son of Mr. and Mrs. Max M. Mowat, who is attending the U. N. B. had enlisted with the 9th Siege Battery at St. John.

It is only a short time ago that Mr. and Mrs. Mowat received official news of the death of their eldest son Morden of the Royal Flying Corps. Oliver is with the Field Artillery in France, and G. A. is now at home, having been invalided home from the 26th, on account of severe wounds received while attacked in "no man's land". Oliver also has been slightly wounded.

CHRIST CHURCH CHRISTMAS TREE

Christ Church S. S. held its annual Christmas Tree in the church basement on Friday, Dec. 29th. There was a large representative gathering of children and adults. After the programme of carols, recitations, etc. the contents of the large and well-laden tree were distributed by Warden Gilker, Messrs. Travers, Sly, Cook and others. After this Mrs. J. E. Purdie was presented with a silver pudding dish by the teachers and officers of the S. S. The address was read by Miss Mildred O'Donnell and the presentation by Miss Mildred Turner. Refreshments were served to all present and a pleasant and profitable evening was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

POLICE COURT

Not an arrest in a week is a pretty good record for Campbellton. Two liquor cases reported last week, were up for trial and each party was fined $50. and costs.

BREAD PRICE INCREASED

Mr. George Vermette announces an increase of one cent per loaf of 24 ounces. Mr. Vermette has conscientiously kept the price down to the pre-war figures as long as possible and will reduce it just as soon as prices of flour decline.

in which he enlisted. When the call for a draft of three hundred men from the 132nd Battalion, Jim was one of the first to offer his services to proceed to the trenches at once. His name was among the ones chosen, but on advice from the Doctor his name was substituted and Jim was sent to the Hospital with a severe cold which cost him his life.

I will give you an outline of the funeral which was held yesterday afternoon with full Military Honours. He was laid to rest in a very nice oak coffin, with a large enameled name plate upon it which was inscribed, "No. 793227 Pte. J. A. Kaine, Died December 8th, 1916, Bramshott Hospital, Age 35 years."

Upon the coffin was a large wreath of cut flowers from the Officers of the Battalion. The coffin was wrapped in a large Union Jack and placed upon a Gun Carriage drawn by four black horses. The Band played the Dead March, which was very sad and touching. The Pall Bearers were six Sergeants of the 132nd Battalion, three of them being Campbellton boys in the persons of Sergt. Matthews, Sergt. Jardine, and Sergt. Sullivan. Mayor McKay and myself attended the funeral.

SUDDEN DEATH OF RETURNED SOLDIER

Expires While Walking From Barn to House—Was Wounded and Gassed

Provincial Normal School, Fredericton. John Barreault, a returned war hero died suddenly at his home at Richards about two miles below Campbellton on Friday under particularly sad circumstances.

The deceased who was only 25 years of age enlisted with the 6th Mounted Rifles in the spring of 1915 and had fought in the trenches, being wounded and gassed. He was invalided home and arrived here last fall. Since then his health seemed to be rapidly failing him, but none seemed to be prepared for such a sudden end. On Friday morning he started for the barn to get some small cherees and on returning from the barn to the house, dropped dead on the way. The family have the heartfelt sympathy of the community in the loss of such a heroic son and brother. The funeral which was held on Sunday afternoon, Rev. Father Wallace officiating, was largely attended.

TOOK SOLDIER'S HARD EARNED CASH

Promised to Marry Him But Went to St. John With Funds.

A soldier a member of the Quebec Home Guard had his first matrimonial venture rather suddenly terminated.

He fell in love with a pretty maiden of about nineteen summers and after a short but ardent courtship, asked her to become his wife. She was willing, but claimed she had no clothes in which to be married. He gallantly handed over a considerable roll to provide the wardrobe. This was the last the soldier boy saw of her as she had taken the next train for St. John.

The good counsel of Chief Mann was sought and a description of the loss telegraphed to the Chief of Police at St. John with the result that she was arrested and Chief Mann left this morning to bring her to face a rather serious charge.

ANNOUNCEMENT

dicted by Captain the Rev. J. C. Wilson, the Protestant Chaplain of the 132nd Battalion, and at the conclusion of the service the firing party fired the usual volley Royal Salute of twenty-one guns. A suitable white cross with a circle of wood adjoining the cross was erected, and on the circle his Rank Name, Unit, Age, and Religion was inscribed. I may say that the graves in this Cemetery get annual care and are always kept neat and tidy and ready for inspection any time.

I am enclosing a letter that arrived for Jim, which I presume is from you. I intend getting together any belongings of his and sending same to you. I want to say that the loss of Jim from the Company will be in the minds and be grieved by the Officers and men and all who knew him. As I said before, he was every inch a man and soldier and will be greatly missed.

Now Mrs. Kaine in conclusion, I beg to state that I feel it my duty to write you and give you full details of the funeral, etc., and at the same time offer to share in your sad bereavement in the loss of a kind and loving husband and father, as well as a first class soldier.

Wishing you and your family sincerest wishes and prosperity.

ANOTHER VETERAN C. G. R. LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEER RETIERS For 31 Years, Thousands Rode in Safe- ty Behind John Williamson

A long and in many respects remarkable railroad career closed at midnight Saturday, when Mr. John Williamson, a C. G. R. locomotive engineer, well known here, pulled into Newcastle yard at the throttle of the suburban, and for the last time stepped down from the cab of a locomotive. He finished the day, a round trip from Newcastle to Campbellton, the week, the month, the year, and his career as a railroad man. It was Mr. Williamson's last run as a railroad engineer.

Mr. Williamson home is in Newcastle, but he is almost as well known in Campbellton, and in fact everywhere along the Maritime lines of the C. G. R.

Mr. Williamson entered the service of the Intercolonial railway on Sept. 29, 1879, and after 37 years and 3 months continuous service, he has passed the age limit, and is retiring on pension. The occupation of railroad engineer is looked upon as one of an extra hazardous character, as is undoubtedly, but withstanding that fact, Mr. Williamson drove all sorts of engines, over all sorts of tracks, in all sorts of weather, pulling hundreds of trains, and thousands of cars, and for thirty years and more never had the experience of being mixed up in a wreck.

The only mishap of any kind he had within that time was a personal accident, in which a pipe at a water tank got the best of him when he was watering his engine, and swept him off the tender, and left him unconscious across the pilot of another engine to which he was coupled. He quickly regained his senses, however, and climbed back onto his engine and continued his trip.

Mr. Williamson's only wreck in his railroad career occurred last May at Jacquet River, when on a dark stormy night as a result of poor signalling he ran the engine he was driving broadside into a freight train which was supposed to have been "clear" on the siding but had failed to get in. That accident is the only mark against his record for the nearly thirty-one years he drove railroad engines.

Whether or not, Mr. Williamson's personal habits contributed to his thirty years wreckless record might lead to an argument, and he does not make any claims in that respect. The fact is, however, that he is, and for many years has been, a total abstainer from the use of liquor and tobacco, and was never an habitual user of either product. He says he tried both, but finding they did no suit his tastes nor constitution, abandoned the attempt to acquire an appetite for them.

$24,790 to Be Assessed in New Brunswick.

Fredericton Jan. 4.—New Brunswick cities, towns and municipalities will assess for $24,790.13 for Canadian Patriotic Fund in 1917, this amount having been agreed upon by the Provincial government in session last evening. The final amount is about $25,000 less than the apportionment submitted to the government by Patriotic Fund committee in this province, members of the government decided that a little over $24,700 was sufficient to allow for shrinkage, instead of $50,000 as first suggested.

The order-in-council passed at last evening's meeting compels the various cities, towns and municipalities to make their first payment to the treasurer of the Canadian Patriotic Fund at Ottawa on or before March 1st, 1917. This payment must be three-twelfths of the total amount. Hereafter, monthly payments of one-twelfth must be made. The order-in-council also empowers municipalities to borrow money, either by temporary loan or otherwise, if their assessment is not made in time for payment.

ST. JOHN TELEGRAPH TAKEN TO TASK.

Accused by Recruiting Officer
McDonald of Falsifying Recruiting Figures.

(Crowded out last week)
Restigouche County has frequently been misrepresented as to the number of recruits sent down to St. John, but the statement published in Wednesday's Telegraph is the worst yet. The Telegraph has compiled a statement of recruiting from the different counties for the past year. As is natural St. John heads the list, 1711 recruits.

But when the figures are examined one can easily understand how this total is made up. During the five months of August to December Restigouche is credited with ten recruits, whereas one recruiting office alone sent 68, or a total for St. John of 58. We had occasion, or several occasions to call attention to this matter, as it has been going on for months. If St. John took as many from other counties is it any wonder it heads the list. The following letter was sent to the Telegraph by Recruiting Officer A. McG. McDonald.

Jan. 4th, 1917.
To the Telegraph Publishing Co., St. John, N. B.

Sirs:—
Last evening I was surprised and considerably annoyed when looking over The Telegraph and on page 3 struck the item headed "Total For Year Just Ended 7000."

Anyone who has taken the slightest interest in the work of Recruiting in this province, to look in that list as to the number credited to Restigouche for the last five months of 1916 would see, at a glance, that it must be entirely wrong.

I can say but little about the number of men got in this county by other Recruiting Officers, but I have a correct list of the men "signed on" with me, all of which I reported to the C. R. O. for N. B. at St. John. In August you have us credited with a big 0 where I got 10, for Sept. you have 10, I got 18, for Oct. you say 0, I got 17, for Nov. you say 0, I got 13, and for Dec. you again say 0, where I got 10. For the whole five months you credit us with 10 men, where I alone got 68.

On Nov. 25th 1916, W. M. Lingley "signed on" with me here; he was born here, was educated here, lived and worked here; he was sworn in by me and I gave him the transportation that took him to St. John, still in your paper you had him credited as belonging to and having enlisted in St. John. (His father, S. H. Lingley, has been our Town Treasurer for years). Again Leonard Foley of Jacquet River, "signed on" with me and your paper put it down as if he enlisted in St. John. I do not know how many other cases may have been credited in this same way, but if each county in this province has been used in this same manner, it is easy to see how St. John is now credited with so many more than any other. Such work as this can only be put down as Rotten Selfishness. Give credit where credit is due.

If you had only looked over your weekly reports of the recruiting done in the different counties during those five months, you would have seen, at once, that such a report was entirely wrong. I am satisfied that you looked out that St. John would be well used.

Hoping that in future you will give the other counties in N. B. something

Kent Flour is Some Flour

KENT FLOUR

QUALITY STANDARD FOR 30 YEARS

From a small beginning thirty years ago, but with a fixed purpose—and that was that the product of the "Kent" mills should be the finest flour that the finest of Canadian wheat could produce—the output of Kent Flour has increased from a few barrels a day by the old millstone process to an output of over two hundred thousand barrels a year by the most improved machinery known to millers to-day.

In a generation the demand for Kent Flour has increased from a most limited local sale to a trade that includes all Canada; from the time when all customers could be supplied in a short haul by the local mill delivery to a sale in 1916 that means train loads east, west, north.

"Quality" has been the keynote to a success and reliability and uniformity that have made Kent Flour a household word.

Kent Flour has always been ground from the finest blends of Canadian wheat—and always will be—and that is why it produces bread, cakes and pastry, that are a delight to the housewife.

The St. John Telegraph has given the following answer to Mr. McDonald's letter:

This correspondent evidently intends to accuse The Telegraph of some sort of favoritism towards St. John. Any such accusations is entirely unfounded. All of The Telegraph's recruiting figures have been received from the recruiting authorities here. If Mr. McDonald has any quarrel it is with the provincial authorities on recruiting who supply official figures.—Editor Telegraph.

SAYS BRITAIN NOW HAS GIANT SUBMARINE

Washington Report Tells of Wonderful Undersea Boat with 35 Knot Speed.

The latest report which has reached government officials here is that the British have evolved a 35-knot submarine of 4,000 tons displacement.

The largest German submarine known to naval officers does not begin to approximate the size or speed of the reported British creation. While the report concerning the 35-knot submersible is without confirmation it is being discussed with keen interest by naval officers.

Another report which has been received by the naval officers through commercial channels is to the effect that out of every 100 guns and every 100 shells manufactured for the allies, Japan lays aside two as a part of her reserve stock. This indicates to army and navy officers that Japan is taking advantage of the existing situation to provide against all eventualities.

TANKS FROLIC ALONG

THE SOMME FRONT

London, Jan. 6.—Philip Gibbs writes the Chronicle: "This (Sunday) afternoon I renewed acquaintance with the tanks. They were in frolicsome mood, doing amazing tricks as though in sheer lightheartedness of spirit, like elderly elephants who had heard the call of spring. These great monsters were sporting in fields pitted with shell holes. The ground beneath them was just a quagmire of mud and slime. I hardly believed Brother Tank could move in it, but he did more than move in it, and came in his curious, stealthy way, nosing forward; hesitated a moment in front of a deep crater and then went down into it, sweeping the moist earth from his flanks, and then crawled up on the other side and made off, very steadily, to some trenches, smashing through their parapets and straddling across in splendid style.

"Other tanks came out from their lairs, bore down through hedges, climbed up steep banks, and manœuvred for position like land dreadnoughts. But the greatest achievements, at least the most spectacular thing done by these things, was when one climbed over a high breastwork of sand bags. It was a most fearsome and fantastic sight and made me grow cold with sudden tense of terror, as though I were a German suddenly confronted by this monstrous apparition. It approached the breastwork slowly, halted a moment and then began to climb up.

"Its huge form lifted itself higher and higher, bearing forward and over obstacles, as though the body of the beast were craning forward, like a sea elephant challenging a rival. Then suddenly it plunged down on the other side with a sudden swing and a clank of its gun turrets."

LLOYD GEORGE AND HIS CABINET

An illuminative article on the Cabinet reconstruction in England appears in The Canadian Magazine for January from the pen of Lindsay Crawford, a journalist who is well acquainted with Old Country politics. He draws a nice distinction between the aristocracy and the working classes in Great Britain and shows why there is an impossible barrier between a Curzon and a Henderson, while there is no such barrier between a Curzon and an Asquith. There is also an admirable and timely article entitled "The Siege of Germany from the Sea," by Commander Bellairs, besides five good short stories and other articles and sketches.

Too Truthful?—Grocer—"The boy you recommended won't do at all."

Customer—"What has he been up to?"

Grocer—"I gave him a notice to stick up, 'All the Delicacies of the Season Will Be Found Inside,' and he pasted it on the rubbish barrel."

PILES

Are you a sufferer? Know that terrible itching, dragging down pain, that robs you of pleasure, even of rest, and makes life miserable? Don't you believe in the law of averages? If a remedy has cured hundreds of people, don't you think it likely it might at least cure you?

Just give Zam-Buk a fair trial! Mr. J. McIlven, of Dundas, suffered from piles for fifteen years. He says: "I tried pretty nearly everything, but got no permanent relief until I tried Zam-Buk. This balm relieved the pain; continued use completely and permanently cured me."

The rich herbal essences of which Zam-Buk is composed, quickly remove congestion, relieve the dull, gnawing, burning pain, and cure.

All druggists and stores, or post-paid from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price, 50c. box, 3 boxes $1.25.

FOUR INDIANS, ALL BROTHERS

JOIN KILTIES IN CAPITAL

The Fredericton recruiting office has established what is believed to be a record—the enlistment of four brothers in two days. An interesting part of this record is that all four are Indians, who have living on the Reserve at St. Mary's.

Last Thursday, Walter and Arthur Paul were sworn in at the local recruiting office as members of the 236th Battalion. Friday morning two well-built redskins applied at the local office and went before Major C. G. Geggie, medical officer of the Kilties, and successfully passed the examination. They were Francis Paul and Marvin Paul, brothers of the two Indians who joined the Kilties on Thursday.

SOCIAL SERVICE CONGRESS

In St. John, on January 23rd and 24th.

Every reader of this paper is interested in the Social Service Congress to be held in the Knights of Columbus Hall, St. John, on January 23rd and 24th. This is a part of a nation-wide movement in which the people of Canada, regardless of creeds, are asked to unite and to organize for social uplift. Congresses have already been held in Calgary, Regina, and Winnipeg, and others are to be held in Halifax, St. John, Charlottetown and in Quebec and Ontario; they are held under the auspices of the Social Service Council of Canada.

Men of international reputation will deliver addresses at the St. John Congress. They include Raymond Robbins of Chicago, who is one of the finest speakers on the continent; Doctor Moore, Doctor Shearer and Doctor Pidgeon, of Toronto; Canon Tucker of London, and Doctor Bryce of Ottawa. There will also be addresses by prominent New Brunswick men who are especially qualified to speak on different phases of Social Service.

Some of the subjects to be dealt with are: Social Reconstruction after the War; Prohibition; The Home, Its Perils and Safeguards; Women in Industrial Life; Political Life; Social and Religious Life; The Patronage System and Graft; The Care of Dependents; Defectives and Delinquents; Urban and Rural Life; Gambling; Social Application of Christianity; The Nation's Greatest Heritage—its Children; Children's Right and Our Responsibilities.

Religious and other organizations throughout the province should endeavor to send delegates to this Congress which, it is hoped, will result in an effective organization, province-wide, interested in the movement will be cordially welcomed.

Quite Natural—"Old friends are best." "I know. Still, we all like to make new friends. We can chuck a bluff before them for a while. The old friends have your number."

As It Is Nowadays—Teacher—"If a man gets four dollars for working eight hours a day, what would he get if he worked ten hours a day?" Johnny—"Ten hours a day? He'd get a call-down from de union."

TERRIBLE MISERY AND #### SUFFERING IN TOWNS OF NORTHWEST GERMANY

"Tell the World we Starve and Have Some Pity," Cry the German Women.

London, Jan. 3.—The Daily Express. Amsterdam correspondent says: "We are starving. Tell everybody outside Germany we are starving. If our soldiers can stand it any longer we cannot. We women of Germany cannot go on seeing our children suffering deprivation and hunger. We cannot and will not. Death is better than such a life. Tell them, ask them to have pity on us if our own Government has not. Tell them we are starving."

This is the pathetic New Year message which a special correspondent whom I sent on a mission of inquiry into western Germany brought back for publication in the Daily Express. My correspondent is a neutral merchant of high standing and character and I can vouch for anything he says. He visited a number of small towns near the Dutch frontier, spent a fortnight in Cologne and several days in Hanover.

MISERY IS TERRIBLE

"The misery in the little towns of northwestern Germany is terrible despite the continual smuggling of foodstuffs from Holland. The people in Cologne had not had milk for four weeks, except the children under six who receive less than a pint daily. There has been no genuine coffee for months, only an undrinkable substitute made from barley and sold at a high price. Beans, rice and dried vegetables are unheard of except in the legendary of pre-war stories, while fresh vegetables are all seized by Batocki for the army's use. The same remarks apply to cheese and tea.

"Every market day rioting takes place between buyers and often between the buyers and the police. On December 12, two women were killed in the open market place of Cologne by revolver shots from the police because they were quarreling about the dearth of food.

REVOLUTIONARY PROGRESS

"According to my correspondent there are plenty of signs of progress of revolutionary ideas. It was merely to stem this threatening tide that peace overtures had been made. Everybody in Germany knows that the Emperor the Government and the military clique are between two abysses—the revolutionary within, and defeat without. The Empires soldiers on furlough discuss openly in the streets the topics of revolution and a German republic without soldiers.

"The spirit of soldiers on furlough whom the correspondent observed was extraordinary and almost incredible. Many refuse to return to the front and have to be brought out of their homes by soldiers with bayonets and sent to the city prison. "As to the future, there is no hope except in the Allies magnanimity in ending the war now. Nobody even hopes for peace.

FAMINE SURE IN SPRING

"My correspondent heard it said among all classes of society, 'in the spring of 1917, famine will surely come. If there is no peace, then revolution will break out in Germany.' "This is not mere rumor. It seems to be the firm intention of the German working classes, who are the greatest sufferers of the war. Revolution is the great topic of conversation. The people are not agreed on the means, but the public belief seems spreading that revolution is the only remedy for Germany's present troubles.

"There is in Hanover also much talk about revolution and suppression of the Hohenzollerns. A leading town councillor said to my correspondent, 'Yes, we shall all starve in April. We know it, but who knows whether a German republic will not be proclaimed before then?'"

To be Accurate—Cholly—"Do you think it would be foolish for me to marry a girl who was my intellectual inferior?" Dolly—"More than foolish—impossible."

Catarrahal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75 cents.

MATAPEDIA, Que.

Jan. 2.—On the evening of December the 29th members of the Matapedia Presbyterian Congregation organized a surprise party at the Mansse. Mr. and Mrs. Miller although taken by surprise rose to the occasion and welcomed the party so heartily that a most pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent. After partaking of refreshments the surprise of the evening came when Mrs. Miller was presented with a piece of gold and Mr. Miller with a valuable fur-lined coat and the following address.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Miller:
The people of your congregation take this opportunity of expressing in a small way their appreciation of your work in the community.

Four years ago you were called by the members and adherents of the Presbyterian church here to become their pastor, at that time the congregation was in an almost hopeless condition having no organization and very little interest in the work of the church.

Our building here in Matapedia in which we worship (built fifty years ago and never completed) was in a most dilapidated condition and the field scattered as it is over a wide area and most difficult to work under most favorable conditions.

You were fully aware of these conditions when you accepted our call and we believe that you done so only through your high sense of duty as you saw it and your love for the Masters work.

Since taking up the work here your efforts have certainly been blessed with success, and today you have a well organized congregation working most satisfactorily, here in the village a new church building has been erected which will stand as a monument to your ability as a leader, energy as an organizer and faithfulness as a worker in the Great Cause.

In no ordinary degree are you both beloved, respected and confidently trusted by the your congregation and the whole community, and the time you have in a very large measure contributed to the social betterment, moral uplifting and spiritual welfare of those you have come in contact with.

It is impossible for us to express our appreciation of the good work done in this community by you so nobly assisted by your estimable wife and we pray that you both will be long spared and remain amongst us to carry on the work begun in the Masters service.

We now take great pleasure in presenting you with a piece of gold and this coat and feel sure that you will long treasure them, not for their intrinsic value alone but for the high esteem, warmth and feeling that has prompted the presentation.

In replying, both Mr. and Mrs. Miller referred in feeling terms to the time spent in the congregation, their remarks showing that while they appreciated the gift, the good will and appreciation of their work in the congregation was a greater pleasure.

Mr. John A. Robertson who is representing Elder in the congregation was also present and was given a pleasant surprise, being presented with a beautiful set of military brushes in recognition of the work done by him and the keen interest taken in the affairs of the church.

A pleasant evening came to an end by the singing of the National Anthem and Auld Lang Syne.

A SITUATION

There is nothing new under the sun," Sarah Carroll, who was spending the summer with her friend, Mildred Carlton, said with something like asperity. "I know. Don't I write for my daily bread and the sweets that should go with it? I edgel my brain for plots for inspiration and evolve—a situation. A situation is not a story, yet it seems to me that situations are the only things in life."

"Where is your imagination?" Mildred asked.

"Imaginations!" Sarah exclaimed in scorn. "Imagination was left out of my make-up."

The other leaned a little forward, looking toward the gate. "I think," she said slowly, "there is a beginning of a story that will not require imagination to carry it to a conclusion."

Sarah turned her head curiously.
The gate was open. Standing just without, but in full view, was a little child, a black kitten closely clasped in her arms. She had been watching the two on the porch and, when she thought herself unobserved, stretched out a hand and softly touched a cluster of half-blown roses that had pushed them selves through the paling.

For some minutes the two watched her in silence, and then Mildred called to her. "Won't you come here and talk to us, little girl?"

The child, startled, came to the foot of the steps. "I didn't hurt them," she said under her breath. "I was just petting them and talking to them and wishing mother could see them."

"Where is mother?" Sarah asked.
The child's eyes filled with tears.
She's sick down there, nodding her head in an uncertain direction, "and daddy's sick too."

"Poor little piece of forlornity, tell me all about it, and then we will go and see mother, and you shall have all the reass you can carry."

But the child could tell very little.
They had come to the village a short time before, and were living down by the creek, and "a nice man came to see mother and daddy and made them feel better. He brought me my good luck pussy," she added, holding the kitten close, "and I love him." Yet the little she did tell roused the sympathy of the two girls.

Under the huge tree on the edge of the bank above Rock Creek stood a covered wagon, something like the order of the old-time prairie schooner, but not so large. Still it was large enough for the family of three that made it their home. Two horses grazed nearby and between the trees hung two hammocks. A cot under a slight shelter in the densest tree shadow held a man whose face showed suffering. On the strip of sand close to the water a tiny fire burned, and stooping over it were three figures, two women and a child. Further away another woman was busying herself about some household task.

Sarah and Mildred were having a picnic to cover an act of friendliness, for they had discovered upon their first visit that the child's parents were above charity, although the stress was great. The woman was far from well, and anxiety about her husband about sapped her strength. They had lived in one of the large cities, where he held a good position until an attack of pneumonia left him too weak and wretched to resume it. Health and strength he must regain and they took their savings, bought food and outfit, and started for somewhere.

"Just somewhere," the woman told Mildred, "where we could have God's sunshine and pure air. He improved at once, but a week ago he slipped and broke his leg. Since then life would be grey indeed if it was not for Dr.
Winthrop."

"Dr. Winthrop?" Sarah exclaimed sharply. "Is he here?" She turned to Mildred, who had bent rather hastily over the creek and was washing her hands.

"You did not tell me he was here."
The woman interposed. "I think he has been away, Miss Carroll. When he found my John he was passing in his car and it was pretty well filled with luggage. I remember, for I helped take it out so that we could put John inside."

Sarah was not satisfied and cast a suspicious glance toward her friend, whose face held a trifle more color than was usual. She said nothing further, however, until that evening, when they were alone upon the porch.
Then she said:

"When did he come?"
"You mean Doctor Winthrop?" Mildred's voice held a note unusual to its softness. "He has been in practice here for a year past."

"I have often wondered what became of him," Sarah said. "He disappeared suddenly, as suddenly as if he had been swallowed up in some catastrophe you never mentioned that he was here, which seems a little odd, but your letters were never letters, just mere notes I don't know why I should give a thought to him, for he passed entirely from my life after our last quarrel."

"Why did you quarrel?" Mildred leaned forward but did not look at her friend.

"Can you always account for happenings?" The other shrugged her shoulders. "Incompatibility. Jealousy. Fortunately we discovered it in time. He did not want me to look at another man, to accept an invitation. I cannot bear coercion. That was what it amounted to." She turned suddenly. "I think Mildred, you would suit him you, are so gentle and so self-effacing."

"Nonsense." A sudden, sobbing cry caught and held their attention. Another, then the sound of a man's voice.
Together they ran to the gate into the road. A short distance away a car was standing. Near it a man with a child in his arms. He was speaking quietly, but with authority.

"Nannie, you must be quiet, must listen. Your mother is in no danger.
She will be better tomorrow and you can help her by being good. Now, run in to Miss Mildred and tell her I sent you in to wait for me."

He put the child on her feet as the two girls stopped beside him. "What is it?" Sarah asked, drawing Nannie toward her. "Can we help?"

"If you will be so good." He spoke to Mildred. "Mrs. McCallum has had a rather severe heart attack and I have brought her to you I was sure you would take her in. She needs care.
That wagon, good enough to camp in,
is no place for her in her present condition, and there seems to be no place else for mother and child except with you. I will take John to my rooms."

Sarah's eyes twinkled. There was no asking if it would be convenient, on expressed regret at the added burden to an already full life, just a taking for granted that his wishes would be carried out without question. Sarah was familiar with that attitude of his mind, and looked at Mildred to see how she would accept this disposition of her self and home and found that young woman accepting the situation as a matter of course.

A week later the two girls were in their usual lounging place, Sarah on the steps, Mildred in a steamer chair.
Nannie was with her mother, who was better. The two upon the porch had been silent for some time, when Sarah at last accused herself from her thoughts, yawned, stretched her arms above her head, and said with a trace of amusement in her voice:

"I did get a story, Mildred, but not the one you thought. There were a good many ends to be gathered together, yet they merely led to a situation." She paused for a moment, looking out into the dusk, then continued slowly: "One of the ends was held by a little child. Another was in the weak hands of a man and a woman.
Still another led from a broken engagement to a self-contained man whose sole thought, save in one instance, is absorbed in his profession."
"And that instance?" Mildred asked with a show of interest. Sarah turned her head lazily and laughed.

"My dear, I saw him kiss you last night."

Ruined the Ruin—An English nobleman was about to set out for India, and, fearing that in his absence vandals might destroy a picturesque ruin on his estate, he said to his steward:
"I want you to build a wall here."

He drew a tiny furrow with his stick around the ruin—"A stone wall five feet high."

On his return home the nobleman started for the spot. When he reached it rubbed his eyes in amazement.
There was the new stone wall, but he could see nothing towering up inside of it. He turned excitedly to his steward:

"Look here, where's the ruin, man?"
"The ruin, my lord?" replied the steward. "Oh, that old thing! Sure, I used it to build the wall with."

This, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.
There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots

PRAYER

Sunday, December 31st being set aside as a day of special prayer for the Empire, the Army and Navy and for the success of the cause of the Allies it is fitting that the Women's Christian Temperance Union should hold a prayer meeting.

This meeting was held in the Hall of St. Andrew's Church and was ably presided over by our evangelistic superintendent, Mrs. Bruce.

Although a few in number yet those that were present must have felt that they received a blessing and that it was good for these to have been there.
The prayers were but the outpouring of the eager and anxious desire of the hearts of those who uttered them.

Following is part of the address:
We have twenty thousand members in our organization, suppose these members should determine to bring their wishes down from the skies of thought to the ground of our streets and fields, to the floors of our homes, and shops.

What do we need most as a means of transforming these wishes into facts; would not the best medium for our organization be a strict obedience to the Divine injunction, Love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and thy neighbor as thyself. Or a realization of the fact that the things seen are temporal while the things unseen are eternal. Have we a full understanding of our national dependence upon the Supreme power? Are we making an effort to be worthy, as a people of divine blessing in these perilous times?
Some may wish the best kind of physical and mental prosperity to our people as a nation, a chance to work, the practise of kindness, cure of deadly ills, leisure for culture and other high gifts and above all peace. These are all wishes that may be turned into facts. How? If the twenty thousand members should pray, pray as they never have prayed before for the genuine revival of religion, a profound spiritual awakening.

Should ask God to smite, or scare us or shout to us, or whisper to us, or make some mighty sign to us which should turn hearts everywhere to Him.
If we should pray that his spirit would come down fiery omnipotent, into our hearts and into the hearts of our neighbors. If we should mean it, such changes would be wrought in our thinking and in the thinking of our friends that our prayers would soon be turned into blessings, our wishes into facts, twenty thousand people praying and adding their prayers to the prayers of thousands urging still others to join them in praying, would mean that countless hearts would begin to turn with a more ardent love for God and all would learn new secrets about the magic of loving one's neighbor as one's self.

Shall we live this year looking upward or plod on face downward towards the dust. Twenty thousand people, praying, not only praying but believing and working. Will you begin to pray now, you for whose prayer the silence is waiting and the blessing hanging high, will descend somewhere if the prayer is earnestly answered, put your wish in the crucible of prayer and add the transforming medium of self consecration and soon desire will change to deed and your most talent wish shall be transmitted to potent facts.

In view of the present almost universal strife and suffering and sacrifice there never was a time when we need such hearty co-operation in prayer. This is your opportunity, your privilege, your obligation and it is the bounden duty of every Women's Christian Temperance Union member to be a worker with God.

TROUBLE

Was never cured by dosing the stomach. The two organs are not connected. If they were, food swallowed would choke you. For lung and bronchial troubles you must breathe the cure; and you can't breathe cough syrups, tonics and syrupy compounds! Peps provides the rational treatment for coughs, colds, bronchitis and lung troubles.
Peps are tablets made up of Pine extracts and medicinal essences, which when put into the mouth turn into healing vapors. These are breathed down direct to the lungs, throat and bronchial tubes —not swallowed down to the stomach, which is not alling.
On the face of it, now, does this not sound more reasonable than drugging the stomach? Try one box of Peps. A trial will cost you only 50c, and the good you will reap—well, health cannot be expressed in money terms. Be sure of the article when ordering from druggist or store. Just four letters

COMING TO THE RESCUE

(Christian Science Monitor). . . .
Another, rather more sardonic, story is that of a certain luncheon given, at Hatfield, by the great Lord Salisbury, a veritable master of ironic epigram.
On this occasion a certain up-to-date young man, was wearing an old-fashioned squire, for whom Lord Salisbury had a warm regard. After the squire had several times been described, by his tormentor, as a Philistine, he somewhat irritably replied that he did not know what his neighbor meant by a Philistine. It was then Lord Salisbury intrenched. "A Philistine," he remarked dryly, "is a gentleman who is annoyed by the jaw-bone of an ass."
