Five Years.
"I have been ill for about five years,

"By the third day all trace of "blood had disappeared and I had "recovered much strength. The "fourth day I sat up in bed and ate awarded a judgment of nearly $10,000.

—Minnie Merrick, a female lion-tamer, was probably fatally injured by one of her pets at a circus at Winston, —The highest priced piano in the United States belongs to the Marquand family of New York City. It was designed and painted by Almas Tadema, and cost $47,000.

—The sailing schooner Sayward has arrived at Victoria, B. C., from Behring Sea, and reports that the whaling huntsmen have secured three hunting boats containing nine men.
—The whalerbelk Welmore went ashore near Empire City, Oregon, last Saturday, and there is little hope of saving her. She was formerly commanded by a St. John captain.
—Cholera has appeared in New York The cases are mild and have been improved, the epidemic is lessening its ravages and hopes are that it will soon be stamped out.
—In a championship lathing contest at Winnipeg, Charles Goodman, a young Islandic lather, won. In ten hours Goodman nailed up 340 yards of laths, a total of more than a dozen per minute. Builders there say this record has never been equalled on this continent.

—A resolution was adopted unanimously by the labor congress at Toronto last week, declaring the admission of Chinese a menace and undesirable danger to the moral and material interests of Canada, and that it should be totally prohibited, and that as the presence of those now in Canada entails extra and special expense on the whole people of such provinces, as they sojourn in large numbers, a special annual poll tax of $100 should be imposed on each Chinese after a given date. The Japanese were included in the above, which was carried with much enthusiasm.
—That lonely spect in Behring Sea where Commander Behring of the Russian navy, the first efficient explorer of those waters, has buried beneath a rude monument a monument to man-of-war Alcock recently visited the spot and will return with a metal cross inscribed to the memory of Behring and his followers, and proclaimed as the tribute of the Aleoet. Behring was wrecked on the island in 1741.
—A tragic tale of disappointed love is told by the Vienna correspondent of the London Daily News. At Philippopolis, in Eastern Roumelia, a Bulgarian officer, Major Liopetoff, and the daughter of a rich Greek merchant, M.
Kalmides, had fallen in love, but the father objected to their marriage, because as a Greek, he would not hear of a Bulgarian son-in-law. The other day he formally forbade the match. A few hours later he took a walk with his wife and daughter in the public promenade, where they met the major. The latter drew his revolver, to shoot down father, mother and daughter as they went, and a few seconds. Then he drew his sword and stabbed himself through the heart.
He expired on the spot, and the father has already succumbed to his wound.
The mother and daughter are still alive, but their condition is hopeless.

Writers of Famous Hymns.
It seems a singular fact that apparently nothing in a literary way will relegate a writer to oblivion so surely as to be the author of a world-famous hymn.
Take a few instances.
Nearly everyone has heard or sung the line, "Shall We Gather at the River?" and yet how many know the name of the author, much less the fact that he is living!
The writer is the Rev. Robert Lowery, D. D., of Plainfield, N. J.
In Richmond, Ill., lives Dr. S. Fil-more Bennett. To how many is that name familiar, yet to whom is his familiar church song, "The Sweet Bye-and-bye," not known?
In the interior of New York State lives Mrs. Annie Sherwood Hawkes, who wrote those famous lines, "I Need Thee Every Hour."
Hardly known and never recognized on the streets of New York as she walks out in Fannie Crosby, the author of countless hymns, among them the famous one, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." It is odd that the roll of obscurity should seem to be the inevitable reward of those whose pens have given us the hymns which have brought consolation and joy to so many thousands.

From The Land of Ice.
The return from the land of the Esquimaux of the gentlemen of the World's expedition in the Evadine, the schooner that took them out, is looked for this week. They are accompanied by fifty men, women and children, or ten families of the arctic aborigines. These latter have their dogs; kayaks, skin tents, spears; cooking utensils, and generally speaking, all their culinary, fishing, shooting and agricultural implements and equipments. They consented to come on the agreement that they shall at the expiration of their usefulness be returned and given three months' provisions, guns, blankets, ammunition etc. When last heard from the Evadine they had part of their complement, half Hamilton's inlet, the northernmost point attained and was making her way back to Nain where she was to take aboard the remainder. This intelligence was received on August 28th by Capt. Joseph McConnell, of the Minnie McKenzie, who is a brother of the candidate.

TO DISPEL COLDS.
Headaches and Fevers, to cleanse the system effectually, yet gently, when cosive or bilious, or when the blood is impure, or when the system is permanently habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, use Syrup of Figs.

Origin of the Mathematical Signs.
The sign of addition is derived from the initial letter of the word "plus." In making the capital letter it was made more carefully until the top part of the letter, hence the plus sign, as we know it was gradually reached.
The sign of subtraction was derived from the word "minus." The word was first contracted in n. s. with a horizontal line above to indicate that some of the letters had been left out. At last the letters were omitted altogether leaving only the short line.
The multiplication sign was obtained by changing the plus sign into the letter x. This was done because multiplication is but a shorter form of addition.
Division was formerly indicated by placing the dividend above a horizontal line and the divisor below.
In order to save space in printing the dividend was placed to the left and the divisor to the right. After years of "revolution" the two d's were omitted altogether, and simple dots set in the place of each. As with the others, the radical sign was derived from the initial letter of the word "radix."

WOMEN'S COLUMN.
Conducted by the Ladies of the Sackville
W. C. T. U.
In Lady Henry Somerset's recent address before the convention of the British Women's Temperance Association, she made the following statements which will be of profound interest to all our readers and which apply with full force in lesser and in larger circles of co-operative work. She said:
"I deeply feel, my comrades, that we must come into closer touch as leaders with the women of the masses; we must look with level lids into each other's eyes; we must have for one another, not the uplifted or down-sliding, but the gliding, horizontal palm of faith and fealty. No accident of birth or material circumstance must make the smallest separation between us, as enlisted soldiers in a holy war. I cannot tell you the sense of unity I felt in the new world, where no thought of lineage or inheritance hedged me away from my white-ribbon peers, but all flocked around me in that sacred equality of service which alone confers on any Christian heart the patent of nobility. Can we not, as Christian sisters, rise to the same high level of an equal hand clasp, and an outlook from the heights where we all stand together under the white banner of the newer and holier cross?"

"In accepting the presidency of our association, I did so because I believed I could, by God's grace, be a leader.
To act simply as a figure-head seemed to me then, as now, to be holding a position unworthy of me, and I certainly unworthy of you. You will bear me witness that I have tried to be a worker side by side with you, sharing your hardships as well as your successes. It has often seemed to me in some respects a disadvantage that fortuitous conditions should be considered by any to have a separating influence, but if there is anything more vital in our Christianity, it will enable us to overcome all difficulty, and to pass out beyond the tenacious and artificial barriers that men have built, into the natural and enduring largeness of a 'liberty' with which 'Christ hath made us free,' and the equal fellowship of those who are called to be co-workers with God.
The sweetness of reciprocal affection that comes to us in the comradeship flows along the duty highway, and to my mind the most holy characteristics of our movement are the mutual encouragement, good cheer and love we feel toward one another. Let us help each other to the utmost to call forth these qualities; speaking our honest words of praise and faith, while yet the listening ear and lonely heart can be in their uplifted and enriched. I write this, not for myself alone, but for my comrades' sake."

"We should make untold advances during this coming year, if in our hearts we enthroned the great dual principles of truth and kindness. Let us henceforth show more patience with weakness, more tolerance towards those who differ, and more 'love-serve' should be our motto from this hour. Let us with affectionate candor tell each other when we think work can be improved, errors amended, or mistakes avoided.
"I have resolved in all discussions on the conduct or character of others to "let something good be said," not count any conversation closed till the advantages, as well as the defects, of an individual have been set forth. Our hands need to be tender, to have a touch of blessing in them, as well as the power of healing. Our voices must be attuned to the concert pitch of that love that "never faileth." Our feet must be swift to walk on errands of mercy, and strong to be burden-bearers for one another. As the story of God's tender mercy is read here by thousands, not in the pages of the Bible, but in the record of human life. We are sometimes hyper-sensitive about allowing the good we are permitted to do, to be known to the world.
We are misers too often of our souls best treasures. Life is a trust, and if by our heavenly Father's love, we have been given some good gift and permitted to use it for Him, some power we have consecrated, some bright experience which has lightened our way, "pass it along like bread at sacrament." Let self be as surrendered that all we have is invested in this one absorbing enterprise of our life, the profits of humanity.
"We see that we can only do a deed to God by doing that deed for Him; only by offering ours as the hands with which it shall be done." I expect to pass through this world but once. If, then, there is any kind word I can speak, any helpful action that I can perform, let me not be neglectful or forgetful, for I shall not pass this way again."

The Moon's Influence Upon the weather is accepted by some as real; by others it is disputed. The moon never attracts corns from the tender,aching spot. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes the most painful corns in three days. This great remedy makes no sore, doesn't go fooling around a man's foot, but goes to business at once and effects a cure. Don't be imposed upon by substitutes and imitations. Get "Putnam's" and no other.

PURE COD LIVER OIL combined with Vitamin and Hypophosphites renders it palatable. It is the best for the weak and nervous.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.
In the Annual Report of the Swine Breeders Association of Ontario, among other papers of great value are two able ones from men who have long been engaged in pork buying and packing in Ontario. Mr. Fearman of Hamilton and Mr. Davies of Toronto annually send large quantities of their own products to these provinces and in this very place there are more hog products imported from the west and sold than are produced by our own farmers. The Ontario farmers by careful breeding and intelligent feeding are able to suit the demands of the market and are gradually taking the markets of the maritime provinces away from the local farmers. They are able to do this only because our farmers will not raise hogs of the right kind to meet the demand. Here are some extracts from Mr. Fearman's Report:
The Canadian grade hog, founded on the Berkshire, Essex, Yorkshire, Chester, White, Poland, China, Tamworth and other breeds, is a valuable animal and compares well with the hogs of any country. The system of feeding in this country is a vast improvement on that of any other, the animal being fed first on grass and clover, then on corn and then on grain in the pen. Owing to the increased population of our towns and cities, the lightened work of the farm on account of the use of improved agricultural machinery, etc., a change has taken place in the popular taste resulting in a demand for leaner, lighter and more palatable pork, so that now many farmers sell all their hogs and buy the better prepared meats from the packers. The hog crop of Canada is largely entirely handled, cured and sold by the packers, and in the English market the Canadian product brings much higher prices than the hog product of any other part of this continent. But still there is not a sufficient number of hogs raised as they are always scarce in summer, when the trade in live hogs is at its best.
Much has been written about the points and shape of the hog, and the trade. With regard to the carcass, while pure bred pigs are a necessity, I have always found grades from almost any breed to be suitable for my trade.
We require, when dressed, a carcass weighing from 120 to 130 lbs. at 7 months old; a long body, thick, heavy ham; small head and neck; light shoulder, light in the bone, deep and thick side, well marbled with fat and lean, and a fine shade of lean throughout. I am not so particular as to color, but breeders should pay attention to the above points, so as to arrive as nearly as possible at a perfect hog for the packer's use at the present day.

Mr. Davies says:
The next thing I want to impress upon feeders is to push their fill they rapidly and not sell them till they weigh 180 lb., and 200 lb. would be better. If they have the characteristics I have before mentioned, I see no reason to overdone, always provided we have the three with heavy ribs and a deep carcass mound in a city like Toronto for pig pork, little fellows weighing 100 to 140 lbs., not for packing in winter for sale in summer and for export we must have weight and thickness. We are sometimes asked if we will take a lot of load of Yorkshires. To this I would say we have never advocated the raising of pure bred Yorkshires for slaughter reason. We contend their value lies in their usefulness for crossing the other breeds or mongrels, and that I am not alone in this opinion I give you the following extract: "At a meeting recently of the West of England Bacon Curing Co. the manager stated a crisis between the large Yorkshire and the ordinary breeds of the district make an excellent bacon pig."

Farmers desiring some valuable and reliable information upon Sheep and Swine would do well to write the Dept. of Agriculture Toronto, for a copy of these reports.
