

THE INSOLVENCY ACT

out, lest your sands of life be nearly Never run down your opponent's goods from a public. Let him do his own advertising.
 Let your advertisements have something of the dash in them, without great exaggeration.
 You can't get enough in one day to let you know in a year, and you can't advertise on that plan either.
 It's as true of advertising as of anything else in the world—if it is worth doing at all it is worth well.
 Hand bills and circulars are good of their kind, but they don't take the place of newspaper advertising.
 Injurious advertising is like fishing where there's no fish. You need to let the line fall in the right place.
 No bell can ring so loudly as a good advertisement. People will believe what they see rather than what they hear.
 Small advertisements, and plenty of them, is a good rule. We were all failures once, yet we made considerable noise.
 When you advertise, see that you do not use the same principle that you buy roots. Get the most you can for the

We don't recommend advertising as the best way to get a good wife, but we know that it is the best way to get a good trade.

People who advertise only once in three months, forget that most folks can't remember anything longer than one month.

If you can arouse curiosity by an advertisement, it is a great point gained. The fair sex don't hold all the curiosity in the world.

A constant dropping will wear a rock. Keep dropping your advertisements on the public, and they will soon melt under it like rock salt.

Quitting advertising in dull times is like tearing out a dam because the water is low.

Either plan will prevent good times.

"'Full time,' it is said, "are the best for adventures." Because when money is tight, and the people are forced to economize, they always read the advertisements to ascertain who sell the cheapest, and where they can trade to the best advantage.

For a few days ago Miss Poole, a young lady residing with her parents in London, went with a young clerk named Fache, to whom she was engaged, for a row upon the Thames near Teddington. As they approached that town from above, Fache, finding that the stream was running out with much force, turned the head of the boat back towards Kingston, but after pulling for about ten minutes, he found that the boat did not move at all. He then rested

He ran rapidly towards Teddington. On looking he was horrified at finding that they were approaching the weir. At that time he was on the Middlesex side. He attempted to pull across, but failed in the Surrey shore, and was borne with great momentum into the weir. He stood up and caught hold of a post, but the current was so strong that the boat was carried over the weir in a moment, and dashed to pieces. He lost sight of her, and knew nothing of what occurred for a few seconds. The next thing he remembered was finding himself in the rough water on the Surrey side, and on the weir. He could not swim, but sustained himself by floating till he was rescued by some men in a boat. He recovered, and, after a few days, till he HORACE Greeley has a liking for the healthy exertion involved in chopping wood, in the sense that at times of relaxation, and when the retirement of Chappaqua frequently devotes two or three hours to that to that exhilarating pursuit. Shortly after receiving the first intimation of his nomination, we are told that he made his way home, and worked off the natural excitement of mind by chopping quite a number of trees. The philosopher of the Tribune is not alone in this peculiarity for it is well known that Mr. Gladstone, the Premier of Great Britain, is a good hand with the axe and an archbishop. Whately used to find relaxation in his severe intellectual toil in an hour's daily woodchopping miles below.

Whatever the weather might be.
One of the most valuable mineral products of Nevada is borax, which is found in the marshy lands about the sinks of rivers, most plentifully in Esmeralda county. At Ragsdown, near the sink of Carson river, works are erected for the separation of the borax from the crude material with which it is mixed, the whole being hauled from extensive deposits in the marshes some twenty miles east of the works. There it is found lying in detached masses over thousands of acres. It is usually combined with soda, magnesia, salt, and other minerals; its separation is effected by a series of settling vats, evaporation, and chemical processes. Similar works are carried on at Wadsdown, the raw material to supply the Hot Springs.

The man, Henry Tarcott, who built, or claims to have built, the first brick house in Chicago, is now living on a farm near Cold Water, Mich., and regards himself as in the prime of life.

see to go, and the other can't go to son

Grasshoppers have made their appearance in Southern Utah, and the people

EARS AND HEADS.—The minister who divides his discourses into too many heads will find it difficult to procure attentive ears for all of them.

A NEW YORK WOMAN.—was married first to Robb, second to Robbins, and third to Robinson. She will have to take Robbins' grandson next.

What's in a name? There is a town in Iowa with the delightful name of Cascade, the people of which have to go five miles for water.

Honest and courageous people have very little to say about either their courage or their honesty. The sun has no need to boast of his brightness, nor the moon of her effulgence.

TO BE PITIED.—The man who is able to love and does not, is to be pitied as well as despised. He knows nothing of the sweet sleep and pleasant dreaming of the happy man. He is a miserable drone, and eats a substance he does not earn.

HAPPINESS.—A crust of bread, a pitcher of water, a thatched roof, and love—there is happiness for you, whether the day be rainy or sunny. It is the heart that makes the home, whether the eye rests on a potatoe patch or a flower garden.

THE GLASSES.—A woman's greatest enemy is the looking-glass, said a husband to his wife, who was admiring herself in a mirror while he was sipping his wine. "That may be," she retorted.

But it does not cause her and her children half so much woe as her husband's wine-glass does."

He that has energy enough in his constitution to root out a vice, should go a little further, and try to plant a virtue in its place; otherwise he will have his labour to renew. A strong soil that has produced weeds, may be made to produce wheat with far less difficulty than it would cost to make it produce nothing.

At a recent wedding in Williamson county, Tenn., the bride was married in the shoes which her mother gave her.

They raise incredible sums at Boston for charitable purposes by means of fairs. A fund of eighty thousand dollars is the result of the fair lately held in that city, for the purpose of establishing a homeopathic hospital; and another which took place last year in aid of the French Relief Fund produced almost as much.

Our worthy father was elected police justice, our worthy brother was elected known, ran for aidefman in our own ward, and, unfortunately, was defeated.

At Fairyhouse races, near Dublin, a curious accident, has occurred. Two gentlemen were galloping in opposite directions, when the heads of their horses struck full tilt together, and both

A CAUTIOUS WITNESS.—Lawyer (to witness): "Do you mean to say, sir, that my client was drunk?" Witness: "I won't say that he was drunk, but I do say that he couldn't tell what time it was, because he said his watch had two hands, and he didn't know which to be-"

A country clergyman, paying a professional visit to a dying neighbor, who was a very churchish and universally unpopular man, put the usual questions, "Are you willing to go my friend?" "Oh, yes," said the sick man, "I am." "Well," said the simple minded minister,

A commissioner of deeds in a neighboring city was somewhat nonplussed the other day. He asked a woman, whose acknowledgement of a deed he was taking, "Do you execute this deed without any fear or compulsion of your husband?" "Fear of my husband!" exclaimed the property on Queen street. He left a widow, but no children or collateral heirs, and as Sutherland was of illegitimate birth, it was contended the estate went to the Crown. This view was sustained, and the widow, who had spent considerable of her own money on the property, is deprived of all.

A singular case was decided a man named Donald Sutherland, lately deceased had in his lifetime held four jobs.

A correspondent informs us that the recent conflagration in the neighboring village of Kemptville was far more disastrous than has been generally supposed, and the destruction of property, in proportion to the size of the place, greater than was at first imagined. Some cases of a very distressing nature are mentioned.

by our correspondent, particulars of which are furnished by him. He trusts that some action will be taken for the relief of those who have suffered from this great disaster.

Brigham Young has made his reappearance in public among the saints of Salt Lake city. The prophet is reported to be in very good health and spirits, and has addressed to his people a sort of religio-political deliverance on the general aspect of affairs. He chides backsliders for failing to come down with their tithes at the proper times, and rebukes them for neglect of their duty to the poor. He says the prosecution men are not if it is the people's system of postal rates varying with distance. The United States is the only country in the world where the rate of postage is not uniform. Perhaps the proposed trial of the postal card system will have the effect of awakening a more enlightened public sentiment on this subject.

While benighted Europe is likely to have before long an international postal system at uniform rates, the great republic which boasts that its people are the most live and keen-witted in existence, is content with its antiquated system of postal rates.

John Dillings discourses on the "Dinner Horn." This is the oldest and most sacred horn there is. It is set to music, and plays "Home Sweet Home," about noon. It has bin listened to with more rapturous delight than ever Graffula's band has. You ken here it further than you ken one of Mr. Rodman's guns. It will arrest a man and bring him to his knees.

than a Sheriff's warrant. It ken outfoot any other noise. It kauses the deaf to here and the dumb to shout for joy.— Glorious old institution, Long may yeure lungs last,

