ALAS!

Norfolk, W. Va., Nov. 9.—The peanut crop of Virginia and North Carolina is far below the average, the yield averaging only 28 bushels per acre, and the quality of the crop is also below the average.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 9.—The 20th annual general assembly of the K. of L. will be opened in this city on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The assembly is likely to be in session from ten days to two weeks, and will be an important gathering. The knights number 100,000, having been in existence twenty years, and during the past year have added 167 new assembly districts, besides establishing a national organization in New Zealand. While the membership is not as large as it was some time ago, it is none the less one of the strongest and most prosperous organizations in the world.

Why will you allow a cough to lacerate your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive's grave, when, by the timely use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided? This syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing and curing all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc., etc.

Approach of Winter.

Immense flocks of geese have been seen flying south from Northern Canada. This, observers say, is a much earlier date than usual, and indicates the sudden approach of cold weather. Already we have had sharp frosts in this part of Canada, but on the whole the weather has been comparatively mild. In the far north, however, ice formed in the streams weeks ago. A private letter from Scotland says snow fell this year at a phenomenally early date. Only twice during the last 126 years has snow fallen at so early a period. This year the snow came on Oct. 10; but taking the average of the past century and a quarter, the date of the first snow fall works out—Nov. 24, the earliest appearance of winter occurring in 1817, when snow fell on Oct. 1. In the winter of 1857-58 the first snow fell on Jan. 31 of the latter year, the season being abnormally mild till the middle of February.

James Conmee, M.P.P., insists that there is anthracite coal in Northern Ontario, 500 miles north of Sudbury, on the Albany River. The mineral has been burned. Prof. Montgomery, of Trinity University, who was formerly State mineralogist of Utah, says that after blow-pipe experiments with the Sudbury samples, he found that the coal does not ignite as easily as the ordinary anthracite, but that when once lit, it glows and gives out a strong heat for a longer period. He thinks, therefore, judging from the surface samples he has seen, that the coal would prove especially suitable for smelting purposes, more suitable, in fact, for use on a large scale, than in heating stoves. Full investigations will be made by the Ontario Government.

Oil well digging is about as speculative a proceeding as exploring for gold and silver. At Bothwell, one gentleman has a number of wells yielding good returns, one of them averaging 80 barrels a day, but on the other hand there are from fifteen to twenty dry holes that have cost their owners $400 or $500 and have not given a barrel of oil in return. Experienced men should always be consulted before lands are leased for prospecting purposes.

Hon. Mr. Fielding, Minister of Finance, in a recent interview, said the result of the Presidential elections in the United States was satisfactory to the Canadian Government. He thinks that questions at issue between the two Government can be satisfactorily settled. Being told that Sir Charles Tupper had gone to England avowedly to take steps to have Lord Aberdeen relieved of the Governor-Generalship, because of his alleged over-friendliness to the Liberal party during the recent crisis, Mr. Fielding exclaimed: "Absurd! Lord Aberdeen never at any time exceeded his constitutional authority. The British Government, although now a Conservative one, would hardly interfere to make partisan capital in Canada to please a beaten and disgruntled politician."

NEWSPAPER MEN AT A FEAST.

New York, Nov. 9.—Mark A. Hanna gave a dinner Saturday night to the newspaper men who had regularly "covered" national headquarters either in New York or Chicago during the campaign. The dinner was served in the banquet hall at the Waldorf, and it was an elaborate affair. A little gold and silver ship was provided for each diner as a souvenir. There was also presented to each of the guests a gold medal, the size of a $20 gold piece, with the name of the recipient and the fact that it was presented by the national committee inscribed upon it, and also the words: "McKinley and Hobart, Sound Money and Protection."

THE LIBERAL TIDE IS RISING.

London, Nov. 9.—The English municipal elections indicated a change of opinion in favor of the Liberals. In the provincial towns the Liberals gained many seats, while the labor party suffered badly. The Liberals gained five seats in Leeds alone.

BIG BEET CROP.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—An abnormal German sugar beet crop, almost equaling the unprecedented yield of 1894, is reported. In Austria and France, as well as in other European countries, the crop exceeds that of last year, though in some districts the quality is inferior. This is apt to offset the falling off in Cuba to some extent.

INCREASE IN TRADE.

London, Nov. 9.—The British trade returns for October show an increase of £2,716,422 ($13,582,110) in imports, compared with the same period of 1895, and a decrease of £173,869 ($869,345) in exports. The totals for ten months show increases of £15,174,179 ($75,870,879) in imports, and £13,641,847 ($68,209,235) in exports.

CLAIM JUSTIFICATION.

London, Nov. 9.—Lady Tina Scott, mother-in-law of Earl Russell, and the two young men, Kast and Cockerton, who are jointly indicted with Lady Scott for having criminally libeled Lord Russell, have filed a plea of justification of the libels which they are accused of uttering. The trial of Lady Scott and the two men will come up on Thursday next.

KOSSUTH'S SON IN A DUEL.

London, Nov. 9.—A dispatch from Buda-Pest says that Francis Kossuth, son of the late Louis Kossuth, the Hungarian patriot, and Gabriel Ugron, a leading politician and formerly leader of the Opposition, fought a duel with sabres. Kossuth received a serious wound in the chest. Another dispatch says that Kossuth received a severe cut on the right arm.

THE FAMINE IN INDIA.

London, Nov. 9.—The Viceroy of India, the Earl of Elgin, cables that there has been no rain anywhere in the famine districts during the past week, and test relief works have been opened in all the Madras and Decan districts, and in parts of the Bombay Decan, as well as in Kamatak, Konkan, Chappur, etc. Prices are still rising slowly. About 67,000 men are already engaged on the relief works.

VENEZUELA—A DENIAL.

London, Nov. 9.—The Pall Mall Gazette announces that it is authorized to deny the truth of the report that Great Britain has granted railway concessions in the interior of Venezuela, the line of the proposed railway crossing territory reserved for delimitation. The projected railway, if built at all, the Gazette says, will not encroach upon the Schomberg line. If Great Britain and the United States agree to settle the Venezuelan matter by arbitration the line of the proposed railway will be referred to the arbitrators wherever it touches debatable lands.

DISASTROUS GALES.

Madrid, Nov. 9.—Heavy gales have swept over the coast of Valencia, and several vessels have been lost.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 9.—A terrible storm has swept over the Sea of Azov, and many shipping disasters are reported.

London, Nov. 9.—A northeast gale has done much damage at various points along the coast. A number of Yarmouth and Lowestoft fishing boats have been wrecked. The Dutch galliot Dena has been wrecked at the mouth of the River Trees. No lives were lost. The crew of the steamer Camwood havel anded at Lowestoft, and report that their vessel foundered at sea. A snow storm is prevailing in Wales.

THE TURKISH SURRENDER.

London, Nov. 9.—The Daily Graphic this morning says that the hurried capitulation of the Sultan to M. Cambon, the French ambassador to Turkey, shows that the European deadlock is ended, and that the powers have finally decided upon a joint plan of action.

The Daily News expresses itself as being skeptical of the reforms being carried out unless M. Hanotaux has secured Russia's active support.

The Standard publishes a dispatch from Vienna saying it is reported there that France has obtained the assistance of Russia in a reorganization of Turkish finances on the basis of European control. The Standard says that the action of France and Russia in Constantinople is virtually a confession that Great Britain was right all along in the belief that coercion was necessary.

FAST ATLANTIC LINE.

Mr. Sandford Fleming's Pamphlet Against the St. Lawrence Route.

London, Nov. 9.—The pamphlet of Mr. Sandford Fleming, C.M.G., dealing with fast transatlantic line routes is freely quoted here by the opponents of the St. Lawrence route as conclusive evidence against using that waterway as a fast mail route. It is believed that a pamphlet of this kind, coming from a delegate chosen by the Canadian Government to represent Canada's views on the steamship question and the Pacific cable matter, must seriously influence official opinion.

Mr. Fleming contends that he has fresh evidence of the leading St. Lawrence captains, and of naval officers, which makes his case against the route as a safe channel for 20-knot stemers unanswerable.

A Montreal dispatch says: It is understood that Mr. Laurier has intimated that a sub-committee of the Cabinet will thoroughly sift the matter, gathering the evidence of all the available experts, before approving a fast mail contract from Great Britain to Quebec. It is alleged this committee will be able to find that strong warnings were called forth from leading officers of the Marine Department with a vital bearing upon the question. It is also alleged that these were suppressed during the negotiations leading up to the Allans' fast mail contract.

Terrible Mortality!

Ten Thousand Mohammedans Die of Cold and Hunger.

An Average of 16,000 Rebels Beheaded Daily in Kan Su, China.

Tokio, Oct. 20—(Via San Francisco, Nov. 8.)—Terrible accounts come to hand of incidents connected with the Mohammedan rebellion in Kan Su. It is estimated that 10,000 Mohammedans, chiefly women, children and old men, have died of hunger, or have been frozen to death in the hills and mountains.

Those that have submitted number 18,000—women and children, for the most part. Thirty or forty thousand remained under arms among the hills in the southeastern district.

The business of dispersing insurgents was conducted with wholesale vigor so soon as their strength had been broken in any district.

An average of 1,600 had been decapitated daily for two weeks in the Si Ning on June 16, and as three thousand heads remained to come off, the sanguinary carnival was extended to go on for an indefinite time longer. Crowds of people watched the executions, and it is easy to conceive the demoralization that must have resulted from such prolonged intimacy with this bloodshed.

THE SULTAN'S SURRENDER.

Abdul Hamid Accepts the Proposals of the Powers.

Paris, Nov. 9.—When the Sultan received an account of the recent speech delivered by M. Hanotaux, Minister of Foreign Affairs, in the Chamber of Deputies, Nov. 3, upon the Armenian question, he sent his secretary to M. Jules Cambon, the French ambassador to Turkey, to inquire concerning the matter. M. Hanotaux had declared that the excesses of the Ottoman Government had furnished legitimate motives for complaint. He also stated that a concert had been established among the powers, and that in October, 1895, an understanding had been reached with the Porte to the effect that the latter should grant reforms, which, unhappily, had not been applied. M. Hanotaux also announced that owing to the anarchy which reigned in the administrative spheres of Turkey, troubles had ensued and France was bound to use language the strength and significance of which Turkey must understand. The powers, M. Hanotaux said, were convinced of the necessity of their solid union, but there must be no isolated action and no interference with the integrity of the Ottoman Empire. In conclusion he announced that during the Czar's visit a precise exchange of views had occurred, and that a united Europe would be able to show the Sultan that he must give his subjects security and peace.

When the representative of the Sultan conferred with M. Cambon at Pera he was informed by the French ambassador to Turkey that under instructions it was stated it was imperative that the Sultan must adopt a certain number of measures calculated to reassure the public and give Europe satisfaction. The Turkish envoy to Paris, Munir Bey, has now informed M. Hanotaux that the Sultan, on receipt of the message, decided to adopt the following measures:

The liberation from the prisons of the Ottoman Empire of all persons against whom no charges have been preferred.

The issuance to the police of orders that all peaceable Armenians must not be prosecuted.

The immediate convocation of the Armenian national association for the purpose of electing a patriarch.

It is also announced that Mazhar Bey, who was accused of being responsible for the murder of Father Salvator, would be tried by court-martial. The vali of Diarbekir will be dismissed from office, and definite instructions will be sent to all valis that they must repress all further acts of violence. Furthermore, it is stated that the Ministry of Instruction will estimate the cost of rebuilding the Catholic convents in Asia Minor, partially destroyed during the recent disturbance. Aid will be given to the residents of those districts which are reported to have suffered severely during the recent trouble.

The Sultan has also promised to immediately issue a decree enforcing the reforms granted in 1895 to six vilayets of Armenia. In addition he has agreed to extend these reforms to other provinces.

M. Hanotaux thanked the Turkish envoy who explained the matter to him. It is now stated that the Minister of Foreign Affairs has issued instructions to M. Cambon to carefully watch and see whether these promises made by the Sultan are carried into execution.

London's Lord Mayor.

The Customary "Show" Revised and Improved,

But as Popular as Ever—The New Chief Magistrate.

London, Nov. 9.—In bright, crisp weather today the time honored "Lord Mayor's Show" took place, and the new Lord Mayor of London, Mr. A. Faudel-Philips, was formally installed in office, succeeding Sir Walter Wilkin. The old established customs show little signs of becoming obsolete, and, owing to the popularity of the new Lord Mayor and some unusual features in the street parade, the occasion was the most intersting in recent years. The committee having charge of the arrangements wisely determined to eliminate certain absurd features from the parade. Hitherto it has been customary to have a series of triumphal cars representing some allegorical or historical subject, upon which numerous young women have shivered in the November wind. In place of these, in today's procession, the cars were occupied by groups showing the various conditions of London's industries during the past century.

Along the route the usual bunting and decorations were displayed, these being particularly noticeable in Cheapside and Newgate street. A particularly pleasing feature was the maids-of-honor who accompanied the Lady Mayoress.

The first time in the history of these parades the maids were attended by a number of gentlemen as grooms-men. Another feature of the procession was the military display. The Scots Greys furnished the escort, and several line regiments also marched in the procession. The boys of the ships Arethusa, Chichester and Warsprite attracted much attention, and were supplemented by a division of the Gordon Boys' Orphanage, which is composed of lads hailing from London. The fire brigade also made an interesting showing, and the advance which has been made in locomotion during the century was demonstrated by one of the perfected motor cars, in contrast with the old style coach, equipped with coachmen and attendants in old-fashioned liveries, which followed.

Mr. Faudel-Philips, the new Lord Mayor, is the younger son of the late Sir Benjamin Samuel Philips, who was alderman of the ward of Farrington Witden from 1857 to 1888, and who served the office of Lord Mayor in 1866. He was born in 1840, succeeded his father as alderman in 1888, having three years previously filed the office of sheriff of London and Middlesex. He has for the last three years been chairman of the special committee of the corporation, appointed to defend the rights, privileges and existence of the city under its present conditions. He has also, for several years, occupied the position of governor to the Honorable Irish Society, a body which manages the extensive estates of the corporation in Ireland. He served the post of high sheriff in London in 1895, and is a magistrate and deputy-lieutenant for London and Herts, in which latter county, Ballspark, his residence is situated. In 1885 he unsuccessfully contested the Waterford division of Herts in the Liberal interest, but is now a Liberal "Unionist." He is a member of the firm of Messrs. Faudel-Philips & Sons, warehouse men and manufacturers, Newgate street. He married in 1867 a sister of Sir Edward Lawson, of the Daily Telegraph, and by her has two sons and three daughters. The new Lord Mayor is the holder of high decorations from Belgium, Servia, Persia and other countries. He is a member of the Reform and Garrick Clubs. He is the fourth Lord Mayor of the Jewish persuasion, his father having been the second.

Chicken thieves have been operating on con. 8, South Dorchester, recently, and one night when Mr. D. Baxter came home he found a light in his hen house. Coming close up to the building he encountered the outside guard, who was identified by a couple of neighbors, who were attracted by Mr. Baxter's shouts.

George Whalls, engineer at the St. Thomas gas and electric light works, received a severe shock on Friday while at work. He was making a connection of the wire, when he received a shock of 500 volts from a live wire. He was knocked to the ground and badly stunned. The thumb of his right hand was severely burned.

Mr. Reid has been appointed a police officer for Windsor. The new officer has been a resident of that city for the past eight years, during which time he has been employed on the Canadian Pacific Railway. He worked on the road when it was under construction, and has always been a faithful employe. He is 34 years old and married.

A couple of weeks ago Hotel-keeper Harlick, of Thamesford, was fined $30 and costs by Police Magistrate Morrison, of Ingersoll, for extending his bar into an adjoining room on fair day so as to increase his accommodation. The Liquor Dealers' Association took hold of the case and entered an appeal. The appeal came up before County Judge Finkle, who gave a decision quashing the conviction by the magistrate.

An almost incredible amount of plundering has been going on at Brantford since last Tuesday night, when Mr. S. Luke's stable was entered and a set of harness worth $50 stolen. The same night the model school was entered and a number of valued framed picture were taken. The vestry of Trinity Church was stripped of its furnishings, and from the Presbyterian Church a new sofa, half a dozen choice chairs and quantities of dishes belonging to the ladies have also disappeared. Private property has also been stolen, consisting of a horse and wagon, a second set of harness and provisions from cellars. The council has offered a reward of $50 for information that will lead to the conviction of the thieves.

Sarnia Observer: Mrs. Wm. Doherty, of Sarnia township, met with a distressing accident the other day. She was standing near a straw cutting machine that was at work, and attempted to adjust some of the straw that was being cut, with the result that the first two fingers of her right hand were drawn into the machine, and so lacerated that they had to be amputated.

A man named Daniel Ross, employed by Mr. Adams of West Oxford, was arrested Thursday afternoon by Chief Skirving and Assistant Cook, of Ingersoll, as a dangerous lunatic. For years he has threatened to kill people, and on one occasion, it is alleged, he attempted to cut a boy's throat with a case knife. On Sunday night he set fire to a five-roomed log house at Putnam, the property of Charles Small.

Sheriff Hossie met with a queer experience on Norman street, Stratford, Thursday night. In passing along the north side of Norman street he suddenly came in contact with a telephone wire that had been thrown by the wind. The wire caught the sheriff around the neck. William and Alfred Mowat were on the opposite side of the street and came to his assistance, and Mr. Cornwall, who lives near by, also came out, and they succeeded in extricating the sheriff and cut the wire.

The recent arrest and acquittal of W. Lemon, of Tilsonburg, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, will probably result in two actions for damages. A writ is to be issued against George Burke, of Tilsonburg, who prosecuted Lemon on the above charge, claiming damages for malicious prosecution, and a writ for $2,000 for slander has already been issued against Ebenezer Cook, of South Norwich. Statements of claim have not yet been filed.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Campbell, who have resided for many years in Malden township, celebrated their golden wedding last week. They are both natives of Scotland, and when they came to this country they first lived at Windsor, but afterwards moved to the farm where they now reside. Clachan's Sensation.

The Inquest on Mrs. Stewart's Body Begun.

General Condition of the Body That of a Well-Preserved Woman.

Chatham, Ont., Nov. 9.—The mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. A. C. Stewart, near Clachan village, deepens rather than otherwise. The inquest disclosed no cause of death apparent to the medical men who performed the autopsy. The organs were found to be normal, and the general condition of the body that of a healthy, well-preserved woman. The doctors are puzzled to account for her demise under the circumstances which accompanied it, namely, violent pains and vomiting, followed by coma, which lasted a whole day. Evidences of the woman having recently been in a delicate condition were not present. Poison could have caused the death, Dr. Fleming says, without leaving traces discoverable on superficial examination, for certain forms of poison do not disclose any pathological condition. "But what was the motive for poisoning?" he asks. The intimacy between the deceased and a young man was not regarded by the doctor as solving the mystery, unless the woman had got into trouble thereby. Nor has it been shown that she was despondent prior to the illness which carried her off. The young man, McCarter, was sent for by the coroner, but failed to put in an appearance.

The body of the dead woman, which had been exhumed, was in a rather advanced state of decomposition, but not so much so as to interfere with the conduct of the autopsy, which was performed by Dr. Bell, assisted by Dr. Graham, and Dr. Fleming, of this city. A thorough examination of the remains was made, and the stomach and portions of the viscera were removed and sealed up. These will be sent to Toronto for analysis.

Dr. John L. Bray, of this city, conducted the inquest.

The following witnesses were called: Michael C. Dickson, John McIntyre, and wife, Mrs. Blume, Mrs. Grant, Mary Elizabeth Stewart, daughter of the deceased, Dr. Bell, Dr. Fleming, Dr. Graham.

Mr. Dickson's evidence bore the most directly on the case, from the standpoint of the woman's conduct and condition. He believed she was in a delicate condition and was taking medicine.

The other witnesses, saving those who spoke of the woman's illness, did not throw any light on the case, and even as to the illness, nothing that has not already been told was disclosed.

The medical men who performed the port-mortem presented their finding, stating that no cause of death was evident, except it might be a heart weakness, that organ showing a trace of flabbiness. All the organs were in good state. Dr. Bell held to his impression of unnatural death. Dr. Graham was not disposed to state that death was due to unnatural causes.

An adjournment was taken for a fortnight to permit of a report being received from the public analyst as to whether poison had been taken by the deceased.

THREE DROWNED.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Nov. 7.—A fatal accident occurred near Old Forge. Mrs. J. McCarthy, of Scranton, who had been visiting at the home of her daughter, in Old Forge, started on foot to take a trolley car to go to Hyde Park. She was accompanied by her two grand-daughters, May and Margaret Clinch, aged 2 and 4 years respectively. While crossing an open bridge on the Erie and Wyoming Valley Railroad, which spans the Lackawanna River, a train approached. All three became frightened, and in trying to escape were struck by the engine, and fell into the stream below and were drowned.

FOOTBALL.

LONDON NOT SQUEALING.

The Toronto Evening Star of Saturday says: "Secretary Macbeth, of the London football club, came down to the city this morning to see the 'Varsity-T. A. C. match today. Mr. Macbeth's sympathies are with the Lambs, and he fully expects to see them win. Talking with him regarding the recent Lorne-London game, I learned that, while there would be no protest coming regarding Referee Logie's decision, not to take off the time in the extra half hour's play, yet the London delegate would bring the matter up at the next union meeting, and ask for a construction on the rule relating to extra time. Mr. Macbeth, without wishing in any way to criticise the Lornes' actions, states that during the last fifteen minutes of the over-time there was, owing to the tactics adopted by the Lornes, only about four minutes' actual play. The London team, he says, are not squealing at all over the defeat, but wish to see the rules carried out according to the union's construction."

CAPT. STRINGER'S REPLY.

Capt. Arthur J. Stringer, of the London Rugby Football Club, thus replies to Referee Logie's attack upon himself: "Sir,—I am extremely sorry that Mr. Logie has made the mistake of believing that I have insinuated he encouraged rough play in the Lorne-London football match. If he reads my letter I think he will realize his mistake. Be that as it may, he nevertheless adopts a unique method, indeed, of attempting to refute certain charges which no one as yet has brought against him. He accuses me of ignorance of the most elementary rules of football, of persisting in making complaints to him after a match, of rushing into print with unfounded accusations, and, among other things, of putting statements into his mouth which are utterly untrue. In the first place, if Mr. Logie wishes, I shall agree with him that I am absolutely ignorant of the most elementary rules of football. I know he did not mean that, but it really makes no difference to me, and has no connection whatever with the question in hand. Mr. Logie, I am sure, was himself quite ruffled when he brought that humiliating accusation against me. In the second place, I made absolutely no complaint to Mr. Logie after the match which he refereed; I did not even see him when the game was over, much less speak to him, as he himself must know. Again, Mr. Logie is wrong when he says I rushed into print. My attention was drawn to certain misleading reports of Saturday's game, and I wrote a letter, much less ruffled in tone, I think, than Mr. Logie's own letter, and attempted to correct certain misconceptions which that report must necessarily have created. Finally, Mr. Logie denies the little sentence, with the ominous dash, which I have asserted, and still assert most definitely and fixedly, I heard him utter. That denial certainly places one of us in an unenviable light, and I should be much sorrier for that denial were it not that I had reason to learn, even so recently as last Saturday afternoon, that the president of the Ontario Rugby Union exists in that most enviable state—that state of being utter conscienceless, and if I were in that happy state, I, too, should wish to deny as firmly as Mr. Logie has denied it, the same little sentence. Beyond this, I agree with all he says regarding the dangers and the temptations of referees. It was simply in realizing this, and hoping to sound a warning note regarding it, that I wrote my last letter in these columns. In this letter, as in that, I have no quarrel with Mr. Logie. I have attempted to state my position clearly and definitely. I have neither the time nor the desire to enter into a correspondence made of disagreeable little accusations, and sallies of personal abuse. So I hope Mr. Logie will regard this as final."

A LOCAL GAME.

Picked teams representing the Rugby football players of South London vs. the city, indulged in a splendid game at the asylum grounds on Saturday afternoon. George Sippi captained the city fifteen and Percy Moore the South Londoners. The former won by a score of 20 to 6.

ASSOCIATION MATCHES.

At Hamilton, in the Association football matches for the Hamilton District League championship, Smithville, defaulted to St. Matthew's, of Hamilton, and the Burlington Athletics defaulted to the East End Rangers, of Hamilton. At Burlington, the Victorias, of Burlington, defeated Waterdown by 2 goals to 1.

The big football match at Rosedale between 'Varsity and the Toronto Athletic Club was a comparatively easy win for 'Varsity. Score, 43 to 6.

THE LORNES DEFEATED.

Toronto, Nov. 9.—There was a big surprise in store for the Lornes, the conquerors of 'Varsity intermediates and London, when they ran up against Brockville on Saturday in the intermediate championship match, as the visitors won by 25 to 6.

RUGBY GAMES.

The senior teams of Upper Canada College and Trinity School, of Port Hope, played on Saturday, Upper Canada winning by a score of 37 to 5.

At Montreal, Ottawa College won the championship of the Quebec Rugby Union, by defeating the Britannias by 33 to 0.

McGill University defeated Ottawa City by 31 to 4.

The game at Kingston on Saturday between the Hamilton Tigers and the Granites, of Kingston, ended in a score of 39 to 10 in favor of the Granites.

HARVARD DEFEATED BY PRINCETON.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 9.—Shattered, battered and hopelessly fighting against heavy odds, the crippled team of Harvard fell before the prowess of Old Nassau Saturday afternoon, and the Tiger is triumphant. Twelve to nothing was the score of the contest, but it does not tell of the plucky, stubborn stand that the Crimson made against Princeton's relentless assaults, nor of the terrific battle that was waged for two hours back and forth across the white-lined gridiron. The weather was faultless and there will 18,000 people present.

THE WHEEL.

The Toronto Globe thus places the men of the year at the different distances in Canada: Professional—T. B. McCarthy, at the short, and Harley Davidson at the long distances. Frank Moore has done the best work in the sprints in the amateur ranks, R. O. Blayney at the medium distances, and John Davidson has shone at the longer events. On the road at the shorter distances Herbert Cassidy has carried off the palm, but at the work in which endurance and stamina are more necessary than speed, Dr. Robertson, of Stratford, and Sergt. Beattie divide the honors.

A MILE IN :58 3-5.

Denver, Col., Nov. 7.—Riding a wheel geared to 120, on a down-hill grade, with a strong wind at his back, Stanley Barrows, an amateur bicycle rider, rode a mile in 58 3-5 seconds. Although he was closely timed by two men, the record will not be recognized by the L. A. W., as the trial had not been officially sanctioned.

A NEW RECORD.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 9.—James Michael broke the world's record for five miles here Saturday. He rode the distance in 9 minutes 12 seconds. He was paced by a triplet, two quads and a sextet.

SPRINTING.

A NEW WORLD'S RECORD.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—At the field events at Georgetown University, Saturday, B. J. Wefers, the world's champion sprinter, established two world's records. Hecovered 200 yards in 30 2-5 seconds, or 15 seconds better than the world's record made by himself at Travis, Sept. 26, 1896. He also broke the world's record at 100 yards by sprinting the distance in 9 3-5 seconds, 1-5 of a second lower than the established time, which was 9 4-5 seconds.

BASEBALL.

THE CANADIAN LEAGUE.

There is a possibility of Port Huron being induced to come into the Canadian League next season. It is possible that Guelph, in view of the unsatisfactory results of the past season, may not be found to be over anxious to join in with Toronto, Hamilton and London, and in that event Port Huron would be a decided acquisition to the circuit. There is every prospect that four games a week will be played by each team next year. A meeting of the Canadian League promoters will probably be held in a couple of weeks with a view to making definite arrangements as to what cities shall have a representation in the league.

FLYS.

The Alert management have never received the guarantee money which the Maple Leaf directors withheld from them at the close of last season, and have entered suit for the amount, $50.

THE AUDIENCE SAID "OH!"

When Guelph's Defaulting Treasurer Was Sentenced.

Guelph, Nov. 9.—On Saturday the case of Edmund Harvey, the defaulting city treasurer, came up. The crown counsel presented seven charges against the accused. The other four were duplicates, only laid under another section. Mr. Osler, on behalf of the prisoner, said he wished to withdraw the plea of not guilty to the plea of guilty on seven charges. Judge Chadwick then proceeded to pass sentence, recounting alleged extenuating circumstances in the case, and sentenced Harvey to three months' imprisonment on each charge, the sentences to run concurrently, or, in other words, three months for all the offenses.

There was an audible "Oh!" from the crowded court room.

The judge said restitution had been made satisfactory to the city. The prisoner had lost his position in society, and he had already suffered much by imprisonment. These were the reasons for what many would no doubt consider a light sentence.

Remarkable Results From Wheat Cultivation.

CUTIVATION OF WHEAT.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

With the hope that some of your readers will try to rival the wheat-growers in the old country, I again ask you to give space to extracts from the annual report of Sir J. B. Lawes' experimental farm, on which wheat has been grown every year for 53 years. On one piece no manure has been used for 56 years, and the crop this year is 16 3-4 bushels per acre, weighing 61 3-8 pounds to the bushel. One piece has been well manured each year, with farmyard manure, and the crop is 44 bushels, of 64 pounds. Three plots, manured with artificial manures, gave an average of 39 3-4 bushels, of 63 7-8 pounds to the bushel. The average yield of all, including the unmanured piece, is 33 1-2 bushels, of 63 1-8 pounds, or 35 1-4 bushels of 60 pounds. All the figures are much above the averages of 10, 34 or 44 years, and there is no former record of 64 pounds to a bushel. A later report of the general crop gives equally good results, viz., 50 bushels to the acre in one county, 48 bushels in two counties, 36 to 40 bushels in fourteen counties, and 30 to 35 bushels in nearly all the rest. A very favorable season, and years of good farming, have helped to make this record. Will not one of your readers resolve to try what can be done on this side of the water? Yours, etc.,

G. MERCER.

HERE IS A PATRIOT.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

It is gratifying to the friends of liberality and Christian charity to see a spirit of conciliation and brotherly love, based upon Christian toleration, prevailing in any part of the world, and I am glad to say that such a spirit as above stated exists in the great Dominion of Canada. But how could it be otherwise in a country over which waves that champion of eternal right, that emblem of Christian greatness, the grand old Union Jack? Her Majesty, your most gracious Queen, is to be congratulated for her wise, just and equal laws, which made this spirit possible in the Dominion, with its justice and equality in its laws! God bless her, and her noble subjects for such a glorious spirit! I shall always endeavor to evince my gratitude to her and Almighty God for the existence of such a grand and ennobling spirit by doing good, obeying her laws, and seeking to promote peace, happiness and goodwill among her loyal colored subjects. Humbly yours,

An important find of ore, rich in gold, silver and copper, has been made at Point Wolf, Albert county, N.B. Fifteen miles of areas have been taken up.

Three thousand five hundred miners struck Saturday in Jackson county, Ohio. The operators want to reduce the price of mining from 61 to 45 cents. The prospects are that a compromise will be effected.

Chancellor Boyd has granted an interim injunction restraining the payment of the $500 salary recently voted to Mayor Fleming, by the Toronto council, because of the demands made upon him for the relief of the poor.

At Baltimore on Saturday, a colored convict named Andrew Jackon was about to attack Deputy Warden John P. Wollering with a shoe knife, when the warden fired two shots at the prisoner, the second one proving fatal. The shooting was done in the shoe shop in the presence of 115 prisoners. Jackson was sentenced on Nov. 15, 1894, to serve three years for larceny.

THE MEDICINE FOR LIVER AND KIDNEY COMPLAINT.—Mr. Victor Auger, Ottawa, writes: "I take great pleasure in recommending to the general public Parmelee's Pills as a cure for Liver and Kidney complaint. I have doctored for the last three years with leading physicians, and have taken many medicines that were recommended to me without relief, but after taking eight of Parmelee's Pills I was quite relieved, and now I feel as free from the disease as before I was troubled."

How many days

(working days, Union labor days,) do you suppose it would take a woman to count the packages of Pearline (use without soap) sold yearly. Here it is, all figured out for you.

60 × 60 = 3600 × 8 = 28800) 40000000 (1388 8/9
28800
112000

230400
25600

1,388 8/9 days, about four years

Now if you are one of those poor, plodding women who are trying to get along with the old-fashioned ways of washing, stop and think what all that Pearline (use soap) means. Don't you suppose most of these millions of women who use it are just as careful and particular as you are? And if Pearline were not what we say it is, or if anything could be urged against it, would women be using it in any such way?

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 503 JAMES PYLE, New York.

Canada and the Imperial Customs Union --The New Primate in Bad Odor.

Gladstone and Morley on the Liberal Leadership — Another Irish Eviction Campaign — Poverty of the Turkish Embassy — Duchess of Sutherland's Matrimonial Venture — Royalty Booked for Canada.

London, Nov. 8.—The Saturday Review publishes an article on "Canada and the Imperial Customs Union," in which it calls attention to the alleged spirit of disaffection with the empire at work in Canada, and says: "Canada's peculiar geographical position regarding the United States is a natural aid to the propagation of this spirit and annexation to the United States would be the most logical outcome. What needs to be done in the direction of a customs union should be done quickly. How incredible is the folly of the attitude which Downing street has hitherto adopted towards Canadian proposals for commercial federation." The Saturday Review adds: "Though it is idle to hope that the new Laurier Ministry has inherited the old enthusiasm for federation, it is no wise unlikely that the Premier will favor the project, because he believes that Canada must enter into closer commercial relations either with Great Britain or the United States. Even a Liberal minority would hesitate at the awkward vista of problems which the latter alliance opens." The article concludes: "The enthusiastic reception of the United Empire Trade League delegate in Australia points that a suggestion in favor of a zollverein may be expected thence. If so, it will rest with the Imperial Government to summon an imperial conference, which will be the best celebration of the Queen's sixtieth anniversary of her reign."

THE NEW PRELATE IN BAD ODOR

The new Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Temple, is already in very bad odor with the Liberals. Speaking at a church convocation on Thursday, he complained of the free education act, and urged increased concessions to the voluntary schools in order to enable them to compete with the board schools. He referred to the high salaries of the teachers in the latter schools, for which the Daily News takes him severely to task, saying: "As head master at Rugby, Dr. Temple received £4,000 ($20,000) yearly; as Bishop of Exeter he received £5,000 ($25,000); as Bishop of London, he received £10,000 ($50,000), and as Archbishop of Canterbury he will receive £15,000 ($75,000). That he should go out of his way to attack the extremely moderate incomes of this singularly industrious class is both impudent and contemptible."

Since Dr. Temple's appointment as Archbishop of Canterbury, he is shaping the coming education bill so as to aid the increasing denominational schools from the public rates. He has been considered by nonconformists a churchman of extremely liberal views, with a distinct non-sectarian bias. Dr. Temple—as he has grown towards power—has veered towards conservatism and churchism. He may now be described as a prelate to the core. He has gone over heart and soul to denominationalism, as one of the authors of the last education bill, and appears likely in preparing that for next session to land the Government in serious trouble rather than accept any compromise with the dissenters. A section of the Cabinet, desirous of avoiding the long and futile conflict of last year, want the education bill to be a simple proposal of a yearly grant of additional aid to voluntary schools. This single clause measure could be introduced as soon as the House meets, and passed before the close of the year. But the bishops privately are fighting for more than this, and are likely to overcome their opponents in the Ministry.

WHAT WILL SALISBURY SAY?

A year ago this week Lord Salisbury's Guildhall speech was supposed to be an epoch-making utterance; yet the only visible change wrought by the past twelvemonth in the Levant is that many thousands of Armenians who were alive then are dead now. There is a very general impression, however, that important changes are about ready to be proclaimed. Interest now centers on the chance that Lord Salisbury may have revelations to make at the Guildhall tonight. Already, we know that an abandonment of Cyprus is no part of his present plans, and it seems equally clear that England's position in Egypt is at least not going to be submitted to European opinion. Undoubtedly the tendency of the past month's events has been to strengthen England's hands and to put up the price of her favors, and no doubt the consciousness of this will be manifest in tonight's deliverance.

THE LIBERAL LEADERSHIP.

The chief event of English politics is Mr. John Morley's speech in Glasgow Friday night, in which the question of the Liberal leadership was discussed with good sense and discretion. He touched lightly upon Lord Rosebery's reasons for resigning as inadequate and inexplicable, paid a high tribute to Sir Wm. Harcourt's ability as a tactician, and referred to the House of Commons as the only possible center of political authority for the Liberal party.

Mr. Gladstone has written an answer to a private letter, urging that the leadership of the Liberal party, made vacant by the resignation of Lord Rosebery, ought to be settled, and that the party ought to determine upon a definite programme, including its attitude on the Turkish question. Mr. Gladstone refers to his retirement as disqualifying him from passing judgment in political matters. He adds: "When these retirements have formally taken place, the public desires to know that they are real, and does not wish to see them compromised."

ANOTHER IRISH EVICTION CAMPAIGN.

With pertinacious periodicity the Irish question springs up again at tidings of the regularly recurring famine in Ireland. There can be no doubt as to the authenticity of the reports about the famine. Bleak are the Irish tenants' prospects and desperate his straits. The correspondent of the Manchester Guardian declares that no such appalling prospect has presented itself during the present generation. Concurring reports show that the prolonged and continuous rains of the autumn have ruined the crops from north to south. The rich lowlands have been flooded for weeks at a time, when the harvest ought to have been proceeding. Stacked corn and haystacks have been submerged, and potatoes are rotting in the fields. In the poorer hill-lands the small farmer and cotter population are again face to face with one of those failures of the potato crop which has too often brought the utmost horrors of starvation and disease among them. Up to the present, the Government is doing nothing, The Irish Secretary's tour in the west and northwest occurred before the bad weather set in, and at a time when little could be predicted of the harvests. Since then he has obtained reports from official sources—from landlord sources—which can only be described as misleading. The farmers on many of the large estates have apprized their landlords' agents that no rent can be paid this year, because no rent has been earned. But the landlords under the Land Act are applying for ejectment decrees by the thousands, and an eviction campaign such as has rarely been witnessed in Ireland is now in progress in many districts. As soon as the rigors of winter set in the demand for relief will be clamorous. Before Parliament opens the Government will be compelled to intervene or face an accusation of reckless indifference to suffering such as might serve to overwhelm and English Ministry. With this famine impending, combined with the revelations of the financial relations commission showing how Ireland is annually bled of millions of money to the advantage of Great Britain, it will be no wonder if Irish discontent assumes a more active form in British politics than mere magpie chatter over legislation for home rule.

MR. LONG'S HARD TASK.

Mr. Walter Long has been seeking to convince British farmers that the Government has done something to help them by passing the Light Railways Bill and the Cattle Diseases Act. English farmers are in a high state of good nature over the prices received for an exceptionally good crop of wheat, but they are hardly credulous enough to believe that their prosperity depends upon the Agricultural Ratings Act.

HASTY CONCLUSIONS.

English opinion, better informed respecting American affairs than ever before, has been heartily, emphatically, almost fraternally, expressed in regard to the Presidential election. Cynicism has not been lacking here and there, but in the main the English press has been sympathetic and appreciative, and has established a new bond of international amity and fellowship of its intelligent and cordial recognition of the important service rendered to the world by American citizenship in this supreme crisis. This exhibition of friendship has been all the more creditable, because McKinley has never been a favorite in England, and has been generally regarded as the champion of anti-English politics. His post-election address is received with hearty commendation. The English journals have greeted with even more enthusiasm Mr. Hanna's conservative remarks on tariff legislation, and have assumed with precipitate haste that changes in the existing tariff will be indefinitely deferred, and will be moderate and harmless when finally made.

POVERTY OF THE TURKISH EMBASSY.

The people in Constantinople know that they are living on the edge of a volcano, but that disagreeable fact does not prevent those with a sense of humor from smiling at the spectacle presented every day by the Porte's financial embarrassment, which is daily becoming more marked and more comical. Here in London the unfortunate officials at the embassy are in the lowest depths of despair, for they have finally abandoned hope of the Government raising a loan wherefrom their arrears of salaries may be paid. The embassy is dunned hourly, but creditors, of course, can get no satisfaction, and if something like a miracle does not soon occur the embassy's credit will be cut off, and then it will be necessary to start a Mansion House fund to save the ambassadors, secretaries, attaches, clerks and so forth from starvation.

THE DUCHESS OF SUTHERLAND'S NEXT HUSBAND.

The engagement of Sir Albert Kaye-Rollit to the Dowager Duchess of Sutherland was announced in this correspondence some time ago, and was denied by request of Sir Albert immediately after. The reasons for denial lay not in any prospect of the engagement being broken off, but in private family arrangements, which made it desirable that nothing premature should be said about it. Sir Albert's only daughter has been engaged for some time to a Capt. Ellison. She has a fortune of £3,000 per annum from her mother, and there was a question of an additional grant from her father. The settlement, as now completed, enables the marriage of Miss Rollit with Capt. Ellison to come first. Then Sir Albert will relieve his solitude by marrying the Dowager Duchess of Sutherland. They are both experienced in matrimony. He will be her third husband and she will be his second wife. Sir Albert has political ambitions. He had a chance in the formation of the Salisbury Ministry to obtain a prominent, almost a Cabinet post, but his chance goes with his marriage to the Dowager Duchess. Though in some respects a most estimable lady, she has not the cachet which is thought essential for the position in the Salesbury set. If he makes his way upwards it will be in spite of his marriage connections.

THE COMING JUNE FETES.

The Queen has decided that St. Paul's Cathedral and not Westminster Abbey shall be the great central scene of the function associated with the jubilee accession fetes in June next. Westminster Abbey was selected for her Majesty's recent jubilee on account of its association with her coronation. The progress of the Queen and all the European royalties from Buckingham Palace to St. Paul's will probably be one of the grandest spectacles of its kind the world has witnessed.

BICYCLE BUSINESS OVERDONE

The Investors' Review this week points out that 44 bicycle companies were floated during the past year with a capital of nearly £14,500,000 ($72,500,000), and that out of the purchase price £9,048,275 ($45,243,625) the vendors took over £8,000,000 ($40,000,000) in cash, showing, it is claimed, a decided preference for sovereigns over shares. The Review thinks this industry is overdone and that American machines will eventually drive the high-priced British goods out of the market.

EMIGRATION TO CANADA.

The emigration returns, just issued, show that during the month of October 2,001 persons sailed for Canada, against 1,769 in the preceding October. For the ten months of the year the number was 21,316; for the same period last year it was 21,184.

THE CZAR A PEACE-MAKER.

Judging from the best information obtainable, it is believed that the Czar's influence has brought about an arrangement of Anglo-French differences regarding Egypt. This implies a prolongation of the British occupation of Egypt, with a free hand to extend it to the whole of the Upper Nile.

CECIL RHODES' AMBITION.

Cecil Rhodes is seeking through certain well-known members of the Irish party to be elected a member Parliament. If he obtains a seat he will appear as an Anti-Parnellite and supporter of Mr. Dillon. His strong personality and immense wealth would make him a dictator like Parnell.

PERU BUYING GUNS.

Peru has sent an agent to England, who will negotiate for the supply of artillery batteries and machine guns, and the latest improvements in small arms. Birmingham and the Elswick factories are concerned in coming contracts, and it is understood that Peru has the money to pay for the supplies.

ROYALTY COMING TO CANADA.

The Duke and Duchess of York are arranging to visit Toronto in the fall of next year. Their visit will be associated with the opening of the Toronto municipal buildings rather than the meeting of the British Association. The extension of their tour from the Dominion to Australia and homewards via India is under consideration by the Government.

CABLE NOTES.

The Manchester Guardian says: "It is whispered among bimetalists that Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, during his visit to the United States has become a convert."

The Times publishes a dispatch from Brussels saying that revelations are impending for the purpose of proving that Capt. Dreyfus, the French military officer who was degraded and sentenced to life imprisonment for betraying military secrets to Germany, was the victim of a plot.

EDWARD RODGERS' CASE.

A Canadian Convicted of Murder May Yet Prove His Innocence.

Middletown, Conn., Nov. 9.—By a somewhat startling announcement, Levell Hall, counsel for Edward Rogers, the Canadian wood-chopper who was recently found guilty of the second degree murder of Timothy Parmlee, of Cobalt, and sentenced to life imprisonment on Saturday, secured a postponement until Monday of the hearing on the motion for a new trial.

Mr. Hall has received a communication in the nature of a confession from a person whose name for the present is withheld. This letter states that the writer was present at the killing of Parmlee, and that Rogers did not commit the crime.

The attorney has also received a letter from another source, in which it is stated that the writer saw Rogers late on the afternoon of the day on which the murder was committed with a team tweve miles distant from the scene of the crime, and his description of the circumstance is practically identical with sworn testimony of Rogers while in court. The attorney is investigating, and is confident that the Canadian will be granted a new trial.

SAVED BY HER SISTER.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—Laura, the 4-year-old daughter of A. E. Bates, Bartonville, was nearly drowned by falling into a well on her father's premises. Her sister, Miss Birdie Bates, who saw her fall, saved her life by jumping into the well and holding the child above water until assistance arrived.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE WINS.

Salt Lake, Utah, Nov. 9.—The Woman Suffragists' amendment in Idaho has secured a majority of votes cast on the question. The State board has held that a majority of all participating in the election is necessary to carry the amendment. The Supreme Court will probably be appealed to to decide the matter.

That Tired Feeling

Makes you seem "all broken up," without life, ambition, energy or appetite. It is often the forerunner of serious illness, or the accompaniment of nervous troubles. It is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is therefore apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

American Produce Markets.

CHICAGO.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—At the close of today's half session the wheat market rested with just a shade better prices quoted than at the end of yesterday. But from the opening action was rapid and most erratic. Liverpool's advance of 1½d to 2d did not meet expectations, and although there was a bull feint at the start the disappointment at the absence of vigor abroad soon found expression in a swift decline of almost 1c. At the expiration of the first hour an advance which was ascribed to Bradstreet's report that only 23,000,000 bu available for export remained in this country, set in. It grew in force until 2c rise from the inside was scored. The New York bank statement made a poor showing for the week, and when it was properly digested there was a slump of 1c. After that fluctuations were narrow, and at the close only a slight improvement. Corn—The strong tone and appreciating ability of wheat had a strengthening effect on corn, but the action of the market was about the same as has been noted of late. While the prices advanced the improvement made showed little if any increase, and the undertone was not buoyant. Oats—Only a light business was transacted.

The leading futures closed as follows:

Wheat—No. 2 Nov., 77c; Dec., 78½c; May, 83½c.

Corn—No. 2 Nov., 24½c; Dec., 25½c; May, 28½c.

Oats—No. 2 Nov., 18½c; Dec., 19½c; May, 22½c.

Mess pork—Dec., $7 05; Jan., $7 95; May, $8 25.

Lard—Dec., $4 10; Jan., $4 22½; May, $4 37½.

Short ribs—Dec., $3 67½; Jan., $3 90; May, $4 12½.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour strong and unchanged; No. 2 spring wheat, 75½c to 78½c; No. 2 red, 82½c to 85½c; No. 2 corn, 24½c to 24½c; No. 2 oats, 18½c; No. 3 rye, 36½c to 37c; No. 2 barley, 35c, nominal; mess pork, $7 05 to $7 10; lard, $4 07½ to $4 12½; short rib sides, $3 80 to $3 90; dry salted shoulders, $4 to $4 25; short clear sides, $4 12½ to $4 25.

Receipts—
Flour	6,000	Wheat	84,000
Corn	217,000	Oats	390,000

Butter—Finest United States, 98s; good, 60s.

LONDON.

There was no cheese market on Saturday, and many were the disappointed sellers. The hall was fixed up as usual, but the good-natured janitor and the buyers forgot that the board had adjourned for two weeks the Saturday previous.

TOWN AND COUNTRY.

The appointment of J. P. Whitehead, V. S., as Dominion inspector of live stock shipped from Strathroy to the United States, is announced.

Rev. R. L. Holden, of London, will give one of his celebrated jubilee concerts at Nilestown, under the auspices of the R. T. of T., Tuesday evening, Nov. 10.

The R. T. of T. Society, Nilestown, at their open meeting, held recently, flung down the gauntlet, expecting that "every man will do his duty" if a Dominion plebiscite is taken.

On Thursday last Henry Hardy, auctioneer, of Caradoc, disposed of the farm of James Howe, being lot 11, con. 1, Caradoc, and containing 70 acres, for the sum of $2,300. The purchaser was David Howe, a younger brother of James.

The death occurred Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Campbell, Newbury, of Mr. Robert Baird, in the 75th year of his age. Death was the result of an attack of paralysis, with which he was stricken a week ago. The deceased was born in Ayrshire, Scotland, and came to Canada about 48 years ago. For a number of years he was section foreman of the St. Clair division of the Canada Southern. The surviving children are: Mrs. Campbell, Newbury, and Mrs. McConnell, Glencoe. The sons are, William, M. C. R. engineer, St. Thomas; Robert, Niagara Falls, and Adam, British Columbia.

LUCAN.

Advertiser Agent, Willard Hodgins.

Lucan, Nov. 9.—The banquet given by L. O. L., No. 662 on Nov. 5 was held in Chester Hall here. Over 250 people sat down to the bountiful meal prepared for them by Mr. T. Webb, baker, of this village. Three tables the whole length of the spacious building were filled with choice delicacies, and at the completion of the meal, which occupied over two hours, it was found there was enough and to spare.

When supper was ended, Mr. John Fox, banker, was moved to the chair by Mr. F. Ryan, W. M. of L. O. L., No. 662. Mr. Fox gave the party, in a neat little speech, a hearty welcome to the village, and expressed himself as more than pleased with the good order that prevailed, the unity that that characterized the large gathering, composed, as it was, of representatives from all classes and creeds. He then proceeded to dispose of an interesting toast list.

The first on the list was, "The Motherland," which was responded to in a brilliant speech by Mr. G. Stanley.

The assembly was next treated to a recitation by Mr. F. Porte, entitled, "The Tramp," which was admirably rendered and well received.

"Our Municipal Governments," brought Mr. G. Westman, a Biddulph councilor, to his feet, and, notwithstanding the intricacies of the subject, he made a very acceptable speech.

"The Land We Live In," "The Learned Professions," and "The Mercantile Interests," were responded to consecutively by L. D. Stanley, Dr. Hossock, and W. E. Stanley, each of whom made very pleasing and appropriate addresses.

The last toast responded to was one to "The Ladies," which was coupled with the names of Mr. Jas. Craig, inspector of agencies for the Excelsior Life Insurance Company, of Toronto, and Mr. P. Holliday, of Montreal, both of whom delivered interesting addresses.

Before the departure of the elderly portion of the assembly "God Save the Queen" was sung, after which the young people enjoyed themselves in dancing.

Davis Defended Himself,

But Failed to Disprove the Charge of Picking Pockets.

The Horse-Poisoning Case—Alibi Proved by the Accused—Long Session of the Police Court.

The Police Court this morning had a full house. The pickpocket, Davis, had attracted many, and the Leff-Harris horse-poisoning case a few more.

The case of Wm. M. Davis, the colored pickpocket, came up first. Mrs. Alvin Marr, of 816 Lorne avenue, from whom the purse was stolen, said she was standing on the market, and had seen Davis come along, and as he passher she felt something strike her coat pocket, into which she had just put the wallet. "When I felt my pocket," said Mrs. Marr, "my purse was gone. Davis was two or three feet away from me, whistling. I grabbed his arm and said, 'Give me my purse.' He opened his hand, and I picked my purse out of it. Mr. Webb held the man until the policeman came. My purse contained about $5 52."

The Police Magistrate (to Davis)—Have you any question you want to ask Mrs. Marr?

Davis—Well, yes, I've got a few questions." (To complainant.) Did you see me take your pocketbook?

Mrs. Marr—Most decidedly, I did not, but I took my purse out of your hand.

Davis—I beg your pardon, madam. "You had it, anyway," answered Mrs. Marr.

Davis—I never took no pocketbook out of the lady's hand.

Wesley Webb corroborated Mrs. Marr's statement. He had seen the fellow elbow his way into the crowd, as if for some purpose. He had caught hold of Davis, who asked him, "Do I look like a thief?"

Davis—Did you see me take the purse?

Mr. Webb—I saw you hand the lady her purse.

Davis—It is no good of saying any more. My word won't go as far as yours, because I am a stranger here.

The Magistrate—I'll have to believe what Mrs. Marr and Mr. Webb say.

Davis—Well, judge, I have only been here three weeks, and established in business in horse-clipping at Mr. Huestson's. You can learn my reputation from anyone I worked for.

Here Davis held out his hands, and said: "No man in the world would call me a thief. Look at the corns on my hands. You know, judge, there is the evidence, but there are always two sides to a question. I haven't any more intention of going round stealing for a living than you have, and I don't think you have any intention of doing that."

"I'll have to believe Mr. Webb and Mrs. Marr," said the police magistrate.

Davis—Well, all I can say is, I ask for the sympathy of the court. That's all I got to say.

Mr. McKillop asked that the prisoner be sentenced on Wednesday morning, as there was another charge against him.

In answer to a question from the police magistrate, Chief Williams said Davis came here from St. Louis, Mo.

The police magistrate remanded him until Wednesday, after finding him guilty upon this charge.

Jacob Harris, charged with attempting to poison the horses of Samuel Leff, was the next case, and it was a lengthy one. Prof. Harrison said he had analyzed a portion of the mixture brought to him, which was mixed with oats, and of a pink color. He said he examined about five drams, and this had contained about 150 grains of arsenic. A very small quantity was necessary to cause death.

Samuel Leff, 105 Clarence street, told his story to Mr. McKillop, as follows: He, with his father and brother, were sitting in the kitchen, watching, as Harris had promised to do them injury. They had sat up every night after the burning of the barn. As they sat waiting, they heard a sound, as though something had struck the tin boiler, which had been placed in an old democrat wagon for the purpose of feeding the horses, a short distance from the gate. They heard a wagon stop, and, going out, they saw Jacob Harris and Essery Walenpeanski going out of the yard, and heard Harris say: "Hurry up; the door is being opened."

Mr. E. Meredith conducted the case for Harris, and put Leff through a most severe cross-examination. Leff said the three of them sat up to catch someone, as Harris had promised to make it cost them something. He admitted having had a great deal of trouble with several parties, and told Mr. Meredith that his father had found the stuff in the boiler when they went to feed the horses. He had taken some of it to the police station and some to the druggist.

Wm. Leff corroborated the story of his brother Sam, and said Walenpeansky was his father-in-law, and that they were not friends. Walenpeansky did not live with his wife. She was at present in the old country. He had seen Harris in the wagon, and heard him call out, "Hurry up."

Moses Leff, the father, saw both men in the wagon, but did not go out.

Minnie Johnston, a neighbor, saw a wagon standing in front of Leff's house at 11:20 on the Saturday night in question. The wagon was a blue one, and the horse black.

Edith Leff, the sister, swore to having seen Jacob Harris and Wolenpeansky together about 10 o'clock, near the Tecumseh.

The defense proved an alibi without much trouble. Samuel Jacobs swore he went to Harris' house between 6 and 7 o'clock, and remained there until 2 or 3 Sunday morning, playing cards. Neither of the Harrises nor Walenpeansky had gone out.

Simon Trichbout, a Detroit optician, had gone to Harris' house at 6 or 7 o'clock and had played cards until 2 or 3 the next morning. Both the men whom Leff said he had seen about 12 o'clock were in the house playing cards with him at the time. They had played until 2 or 3 on the Sunday morning.

Ruben Gorden had called at Harris' house about 11 p.m. and saw the men playing cards.

The testimony of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Schwartz, who swore to being at the house, and that the men had not left it that night, closed the case.

The magistrate summed the case up briefly, stating that the evidence for the defense had been very strongly in favor of the men, as it showed them to have been at home. He then dismissed the case, and declared the charge not proven.

It was nearly 1 o'clock when the case was concluded, making it the longest court for the past six months.

It's an awful long distance between the pulpit and the most desirable pew in some churches.

City Church Circles.

Christian Endeavor Anniversaries at Two Presbyterian Churches.

The Opening Services at the First Methodist Church Concluded—"The Devil in Church"—Other Church Notes.

The King Street Presbyterian Y. P. S. C. E. celebrated its tenth anniversary yesterday. Rev. Thos. Wilson preached sermons appropriate to the event. This society has the honor of being the oldest in the city, having been organized in 1886 by Rev. W. M. Rogers. It has had among its members many prominent workers, among them being Dr. S. J. Gibson, its first president, who is now practicing in North Dakota; Mr. Eli Allen, the Persian missionary, and Mrs. (Rev.) McWilliams (formerly Effie Carson).

Rev. Father Paul, of the O. S. F., delivered a lecture in aid of the charitable work of the St. Vincent de Paul Society at St. Mary's Church last night. The church was filled.

The dedicatory services in connection with the Erskine Church's new Sunday school building, Hamilton, were held yesterday. Rev. W. J. Clark, London, preached morning and evening.

The 73rd anniversary services of the First Methodist Church, Hamilton, were celebrated yesterday, Rev. E. B. Lanceley, of Dundas Center Methodist Church, city, preached morning and evening. Mr. Lanceley's pulpit was occupied by Rev. J. McD. Kerr, of Toronto. The latter will hold evangelistic meetings in the Dundas Center Church every afternoon and evening this week.

Harvest home services were held yesterday in the Colborne Street Methodist Church, Rev. Mr. Middleton preaching in the morning, and the pastor, Rev. Geo. Jackson, in the evening. Special music was rendered by the choir under Mr. H. R. McDonald's direction.

The new Southern Congregational Church will be opened on Sunday, 22nd, although the members will worship in the basement for some time.

Rev. Thos. S. Johnson, of the Adelaide Street Church, is to preach the anniversary sermons on Sunday next at Burgessville. Rev. Mr. Cunningham, of the latter place, will occupy Mr. Johnson's pulpit that day.

St. James' Presbyterian Church Christian Endeavor Society held its sixth anniversary services last night. The lecture hall was well filled, and much enthusiasm was displayed. The subject of the evening was: "What is the most interesting thing I know about missions?" Miss Jenny Campbell presided, and read a paper on missions. Other interesting papers were read as follows: By Miss C. A. Cannel on the missionaries of the Old Testament, taking as an example Elijah; by Mr. Hugh Omond, on "Missionary Work in Tibet"; and by Miss Jenny Walton, on "Missions to the Lepers in India." The latter paper stated that in India there were at the present time over 500,000 lepers, and over 200,000 in Japan. It dealt with the loathsomeness of the disease and the modes of treatment. Several small interesting clippings were read by a number of the members. A duet was well rendered by Misses Maggie and Bella Scott, after which Rev. M. P. Talling addressed them.

"The Devil in Church" was the startling subject of Rev. J. W. Pedley's sermon at the First Congregational Church last night. The preacher said the devil was seen in many shapes in the church, such as bigotry, creed, form, parade and worldliness. He referred to the fact that Old Trinity Church, New York—one of the richest and oldest in the city—derived a large revenue from houses of ill-repute, which were its property.

The opening services at the First Methodist Church were concluded yesterday, and large congregations again attended morning and evening. Rev. Robert Johnston, the pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, city, preached in the morning with his usual ability. In the evening the celebrated Dr. Sexton, who is no stranger to London, delivered a profound and deeply interesting discourse. Dr. Sexton preached in St. Andrew's in the morning.

THIS WAS DIFFERENT.

Didn't Know That the Pistol Was Cocked.

Teeswater, Nov. 9.—Saturday afternoon Archie Gillies, the 16-year-old son of Mr. A. Gillies, was accidentally shot. He, his brother and a chum had been out shooting. On returning, they cleaned the gun, and young Gillies picked up the empty gun, pointing it at his chum, and remarked that he could hold up both of the others. "Could you?" said the chum, picking up a cocked revolver lying on a table, and pointing it at Gillies. At this juncture the revolver went off, the bullet entering the lower part of Gillies' throat, and lodging in the shoulder. It was a case of knew it was loaded, but did not know it was cocked. Serious results are not apprehended.

A BLIND BRGLAR.

From the London Chronicle.

The Leeds police have in custody James William Lawson, 19, son of an independent lady, and Ernest Ingham, 17, son of a coal merchant, both of Armley. Lawson is blind, but he has displayed mechanical skill and resource. In a chest of drawers in his bedroom was found a large quantity of tools, identified as the proceeds of a burglary at the silk mills of Lawson's uncle at Upper Wortley. Under a loose board was found a quantity of jewelry and fifteen skeleton keys. In a small room which Lawson used as a workshop, the officers discovered 30 loose padlocks, door and box locks, which had been broken off various premises. A square iron plate in one of the walls proved to be the door of a safe which had been let into the wall and was full of stolen tools. Lawson's mother stated that notwithstanding his blindness, he fixed the thing himself, telling her that it was a ventilator.

Milk on Sunday.

A Milkman's Support to a Preacher's Contention.

How He Has Prospered and Paid Off His Debts and Yet "Kept the Sabbath Day Holy."

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

There has been a letter in your columns from a city milkman relating to the Sunday delivery of milk, and, while I do not wish to hurt any person's feelings, I ask the favor of an opportunity to correct a few mistakes that occur in his letter. In the first place, it appears to be much out of place for any milkman to cast slurs upon Mr. Wilson, the Presbyterian minister, who so nobly stood up for the rights of milkmen by assisting them to throw off the chains of slavery with which the Sunday delivery of milk fast has them bound. If more of our ministers would more prominently advocate the rights of the Sabbath it would help to scatter the dark cloud that rests upon the nations for their desecration of the Lord's Day.

Mr. Learn takes exception to Mr. Wilson's proposal with regard to supplying milk for invalids and children. Mr. Wilson undoubtedly gave the best idea he had, and along with his suggestion I should like to give my experience. I have supplied milk for invalids and babies, and though I have never delivered it on Sunday, it never failed to give satisfaction and prove successful. In proof of this assertion, I am prepared to give to any individual instances where such has been the case.

Mr. Learn asserts that because the cows give milk on Sunday it is right to deliver it on Sunday. He might as well argue that because the wheat grows on Sunday it is right to take it to market on Sunday. It becomes necessary to prove that it is practicable to keep milk palatable and wholesome from Saturday evening until after tea on Sunday, as customers can be supplied before breakfast on Monday morning. This I have done in my previous letters.

It has also been argued by some milkmen that they would prefer to deliver on Sunday morning, rather than work until 11 o'clock on Saturday. This argument might be urged with as much justice by grocers and other tradesmen who have to deliver late on Saturday evening.

One would judge from the general tenor of Mr. Learn's letter that milkmen are a few of God's outcasts, for whom no Sabbath has been provided. In view of the experimental facts produced in my previous letters, I am convinced that the main reason for the presence of the milk wagon on the streets on Sunday is either ignorance of those facts or financial speculation. It does not at first appear altogether necessary to introduce financial affairs into such a controversy; but I do not hesitate to do so, in order to prove that from financial considerations it is not necessary to deliver milk on Sunday. A little over five years ago I was running a small coal and wood business; my capital was small, and amid the strife of dealers, I failed. My liabilities to the Bank of British North America at that time were $500. This amount I have since paid off. Beyond this, I have bought property of Mr. Wilkie, East London, having paid him $312. Other small liabilities to the extent of $100 have been met, besides another $100 spent upon property improvements. These amounts reach a total of over $1,000, paid out of profits from my milk business, and while this is not a very large amount, when it is considered that I was on the down side of life, and not very expert at the milk business, it shows conclusively that Sunday delivery is not needful for the milkman from a financial point of view. I have generally found that men supplying me with milk desired their Sunday morning mess for their own use, making butter, etc.

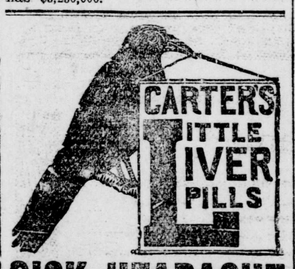

Mr. Learn spoke of the loss of Sunday milk to large cow owners. It is almost needless to say that large owners have other avenues of disposal beyond supplying milkmen, such as Devonshire and raw cream, making butter, and supplying cheese factories. This is the hour for the milkmen to take a decided stand for liberty in this matter. Let them at once solicit their customers, and ask them to give Saturday delivery a fair trial, and when it is seen that milkmen are anxious to help themselves, the public will come to their assistance, and should there be a few milkmen who persist in Sunday delivery, the council can then be applied to with confidence for a bylaw prohibiting Sunday milk sale. Yours truly,

A. WINDRIM.

IAN MACLAREN AT THE FALLS.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Dr. John Watson, better known to the literary world as "Ian MacLaren," arrived here from Buffalo yesterday and spent the day in viewing the cataract. Today he goes to Hamilton, Ont.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 9.—When the Fredericton express on the C. P. R. was approaching this place about 9 a.m. Saturday, the engineer saw an obstruction on the rails just as he was entering a rock cutting. He applied the brakes, reversed his engine, and thus probably saved many lives, as had the train struck the pile of nail kegs and timber a terrible disaster would doubtless have occurred. Two freight trains were due to pass the spot ahead of the Fredericton train, but one was late, and the other was held until the arrival of the express.

Local Brevities.

—Mr. Wm. C. Kipp has taken out a permit to erect a frame cottage on Thornton avenue, to cost $700.

—The customs house flag is flying in honor of the birthday of the Prince of Wales, who was born on Nov. 9, 1841.

—Mr. J. M. Eastwood, of Hamilton, was in the city this afternoon, attending the funeral of the late Mr. Isaac A. Anderson.

—Mr. Sheriff, of the Eddy Manufacturing Company, Hull, formerly connected with one of the local banks, is in the city looking up old friends, of whom he has legions.

—The ever-favorite Joe Murphy drew a large audience on Saturday night. His perennial play, "Shaun Rhue," was superbly produced, and as satisfying as of yore.

Yesterday was a great day in the Askin Street Methodist Church. At the reception service last night seven persons were baptised on the profession of their faith, and 68 were received into the church, a few of whom came by letter, but the balance was the result of the revival services conducted by the pactor, Rev, R. Hobbs.

—The University of Toronto Glee Club will come to London on Dec. 19 and appear at the Grand Opera House. C. J. Whitney, the lessee of the Grand, has also booked them for the Detroit Opera House the same week. The club give an excellent performance in both instrumental and singing, the songs being both classical and comic.

—The St. Peter's Association have rented the second and third flats over W. H. Heard & Co.'s store, 357 Richmond street. The rooms will be finely fitted up and made very attractive. The principal object of the club is to provide a place of amusement for the young men particularly, where they will be under good influences.

—Hon. David Mills was unanimously elected honorary president of the Baconian Club on Saturday night. Mr. J. A. Cottam was elected secretary-treasurer after a lively contest; Rev. George Fowler, Mr. D. A. Galbraith, B.A., and Mr. Jared Vining will compose the executive. Newton Rowell, G. R. Faskin, B.A., and M. F. Libby, M.A., of Toronto; A. D. Hardy, of Brantford, and G. Moorehead, of New York, were elected honorary members.

—The following telegram was received by The Advertiser late Saturday night: "Mr. James O'Neill, at the Grand Opera House tonight, concluded one of the best engagements held in this city. Mr. O'Neill's entire repertoire was witnessed by large and fashionable audiences, who demanded a few words in speech at each performance. One of Toronto's fairest daughters, Miss Margaret Anglin, gave Mr. O'Neill able support in the leading roles. The engagement terminated with the ever-popular 'Monte Cristo.'" Mr. O'Neill will be greeted by a large house here tonight, as the plan is well taken.

—The remains of the late Isaac A. Flock, who died suddenly at Pittsburg, Pa., on Thursday, arrived home on Saturday evening, in the care of his brother, Mr. E. W. M. Flock. The funeral, which took place this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from the family residence, 428 Adelaide street, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, was attended by a large number of sorrowing friends. Deceased was very popular. Many beautiful floral tributes were sent by friends from a distance, and also from those in the city. Rev. E. B. Lanceley conducted the services. The pall-bearers were E. W. Flock, H. M. Flock and J. K. Flock, brothers of the deceased; Murray R. Anderson, Alex. Gillean, and Lewis Lawrason.

GAY GILBERT.

Joseph E. Gilbert, of Wallaceburg, a piano tuner, was arrested here last September on the charge of not supporting his wife and child. He was committed for trial, but escaped conviction on some technicality. Now it appears that Gilbert has left suddenly with the wife and daughter of the man with whom he boarded in Wallaceburg. Chief Gonyon is on their trail. The injured husband charges Gilbert with alienating his wife's affections. Gilbert's wife resides with her sister on Horton street, this city, and works in some factory for a living.

G. T. R. EMPLOYES PLEASED.

Conductor Jones, of this city, acted as spokesman of the grievance committee of the Grand Trunk employes, who waited on the general and divisional superintendents of the company at Montreal last week. The committee were assured that there was not one word of truth in the story that American workmen were to replace Canadians; that the services of the present employes were eminently satisfactory to the management, and that with the hearty co-operation of the men in the future, as in the past, all might look forward to success and prosperity. Not a shadow of doubt as to the honesty of the promises given them was left upon the minds of the delegates, and, thanking the superintendents, they left, highly delighted with the outcome.

"HUMAN HEARTS" TOMORROW NIGHT.

While walking through the public square in Memphis, Tenn., Hal Reid, the young author of "Human Hearts," accompanied by his co-star, Bertha Belle Westbrook, was stopped by a clerical-looking gentleman, who wished to know if it were not Mr. Reid and Miss Westbrook. Being answered in the affirmative, he inquired if "Human Hearts" was to be played in Atlanta, Ga. Being answered in the negative, he expressed great regret, saying that he had witnessed the performance the night before at the Lyceum Theater, and had been so pleased with its purity and the natural charm of its action, and as his family resided in Atlanta, he wished to write to them telling them, in case "Human Hearts" was played there, not to fail to go and see it. The gentleman proved to be the Rev. Mr. Suddeth, assistant rector of the Episcopal Church. This true incident is one which seldom happens in the career of an actor or actress, and certainly bespeaks much for Henry C. Miner's beautiful production of this homely, honest play.

JAMES O'NEILL TONIGHT.

If it be true that the eye is the window of the soul, then the strength of James O'Neill's soul is revealed in a most wonderful manner through this actor's eye. The strange power, the brilliant luminosity, and the absorbing glance of this organ are in the main Mr. O'Neill's secret resources of success. The most impressive scene in "Virginius" is in the fourth act, where Virginius claims the possession of his daughter from Appius Claudius, the tyrant. Two actors last year gave up the part, unable to meet O'Neill's gaze every night. They say it burned into them like fire. They were both cast to play Caius Claudius in "Virginius," and Danglars in "Monte Cristo." In "Monte Cristo" Danglars fights a duel with the Count of Monte Cristo in the last act. The introduction, quite a famous one, is this: "Witness Nortier that I grant the honor of a duel to this viper, whom I have a right to crush beneath my heels." When O'Neill pronounces the word "viper," he looks venom at Danglars. It is a look that would cause the features of the most hardened criminal to betray his guilt. Although Mr. O'Neill positively refuses to pose as a Svengali, yet it is true that the task of playing Danglars one night and Caius Claudius the next was too enervating for at least two actors, owing to the spell they were subjected to by the intensity of Mr. O'Neill's gaze.

HER DRESS CAUGHT FIRE

Five-Year-Old Daughter of Richard Wrey Badly Burned.

Violet, the little 5-year-old daughter of Richard Wreay, 176 Wortley road, South London, was very painfully burned this morning about 10 o'clock. The little girl was playing in the house and coming close to the coal stove, a handkerchief which was pinned to her dress caught fire. The flames immediately spread to her clothing, and the little one rushed to her mother in an adjoining room. The mother extinguished the flames by wrapping the child in a quilt.

The little girl's face and one hand and wrist were badly burned, but Dr. Ferguson, who was called to attend the injuries, says they will heal without leaving scars.

A FIREBUG'S VICTIM.

Moras Leff's Timely Discovery That His Stable Was On Fire.

Moras Leff, a Russian Jew living at 68 Clarence street, is evidently being persecuted by someone for whom the law has little terror.

He was the intended victim of a firebug on Oct. 29, and another attempt to set his property on fire was made shortly after 6 o'clock Saturday night. Moses, his brother, lives on the opposite side of the street a little further south, and shares the enmity apparently, for he also was the victim of an incendiary fire a short time ago, when his stable was burned, after which he kept his horse in Moras' place. The other day he had two men in the Police Court, charged with attempting to poison the animal.

Serious damage was fortunately prevented on Saturday night. Moses saw a man run out of his tumble-down stable, and his suspicions were aroused. Hastening out he found the place in a blaze, and shouted "Fire." The brigade were summoned, but Leff put out the blaze before any damage was done. The firebug, who made good his escape, had applied the torch in a box of hay.

AFTER THE HOUNDS.

London Hunt's Enjoyable Run—A Pleasant "At Home" at Glenmore.

The forbidding weather of Saturday morning was responsible no doubt for a smaller attendance than expected at the "At Home" given at the London Hunt and Country Club by Mr. T. H. Smallman and Dr. J. S. Niven in the afternoon. The guests were received by Mrs. Smallman and Mrs. Niven, and among them were the following: Mr. G. C. Gibbons, Mrs. and the Misses Gibbons, Mrs. Macbeth and Miss Macbeth, Mrs. Beddome, sen., Mrs. Inglis, Mrs. E. Meredith and Miss Meredith, Miss Smallman, Mrs. John Puddicombe, Miss Puddicombe, Mr. C. Piggott and Miss Piggott, Mr. and Mrs. Broderick, Mr. Pratt and Miss Douglass, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson, Mr. J. Little, Miss E. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Reid, Major Beattie and son, Mr. F. Reid, Miss E. Hyman, Miss E. and Mrs. A. McDonough, Mr. H. W. Marshall.

Those who followed the hounds described the run as one of the most enjoyable ever held. Considerable distance was covered, and the jumps, though stiff ones, were in every case well situated and well taken. Major Smith acted as master, and Mr. Geo. Gibbons, jun., filled the post of huntsman very creditably. The youthful whip won the praises of everyone for the manner in which the dogs were kept together. The other riders were: Mr. G. C. Gibbons, Mr. W. T. Strong, Mr. Napkin, Mr. Hugh Niven, Mr. K. McCormick, Mr. J. Kilgour, Mr. Pigott and Mr. P. Smith. The run started in front of the Ladies' College, and ran parallel with the river for half a mile, and then crossed to the northern bank and led through a very pretty stretch of grass for a mile or so, and then recrossed the river again before coming to the Adeaide street bridge, and here there was a check, and the trail was not taken up for half a mile or so, when it went east again, and then north up a hill, and took a zigzag course to the Asylum sideroad. Another check occurred here, this time somewhat longer, but in both cases Mr. G. Gibbons, jun., kept the hounds beautifully together with the skill of an experienced whip. Shortly before reaching the Asylum sideroad the young huntsman's horse stumbled, throwing the rider over its head, but Mr. Gibbons was up before the horse, and little injury or delay was caused by the accident. The trail led east and the finish was made at Mr. M. Breen's, where a most unexpected welcome awaited the weary hunters. The tired horses were well cared for, and then the riders were invited to partake of a sumptuous dinner. They were royally entertained, and did ample justice to the generous spread provided, which included many of those pies for which the Misses Breen are noted. Those present will long remember the half hour so enjoyably spent at Mr. Breen's.

EARLY SNOW.

South Dakota Has More Now Than Fell All Last Winter.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 9.—Specials from points in South Dakota report a remarkably heavy fall of snow for this season of the year. A Huron special says from twelve to fourteen inches of snow covers the ground in that portion of the State, more than fell all last winter. Thousands of acres of corn are covered, and but a small portion of the crop has been threshed. Settlers are unprepared for winter, and much suffering will follow. The snow has drifted and the railway traffic is impeded.

Mr. Brooks' House Burglarized

Valuables Taken, Including a Church Collection.

The Thief Disturbed in His Depredations by Mr. Oliver—Other Small Robberies.

Burglars and thieves seemed to have held high carnival on Saturday night, and again last night. The house of John H. Brooks, grocer, corner of Simcoe street and the Hamilton road, was entered by a burglar between 7 and 8 o'clock last night, while Mr. and Mrs. Brooks were at church. The robber broke through the back door, which was bolted, by forcing the keeper off. The kitchen door was also locked, but it, too, was broken open. The door and frame bore the marks of a heavy chisel or crow-bar. Once inside the intruder lighted the lamp and proceeded to ransack the house. He went into the store, where he found a box containing some $2 in coppers. In another room, in a drawer, was a cigar box containing the morning collection of the Hill Street Mission, consisting of about $3 or $4 in coppers, small change, and envelopes containing part of the stipend of Rev. H. J. Uren, the pastor. Just how much there was in these is not known, but it was all taken at any rate. The burglar continued his ransacking, and as a consequence Mrs. Brooks has missed her gold watch chain and fob, a few old coins, and nine pieces of silver, upon which was the monogram "M. E. B." The latter included eight 5 and 10 cent pieces, and one quarter of a dollar, which were being prepared for a brooch. Two pins were also taken; one was a silver Epworth League emblem, and one a gold wire pin bent to form A. W.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks returned about 8:20 and found the lower part of the house turned topsy-turvy. Upstairs was undisturbed. There, on a bureau, lay Mrs. Brooks' gold watch, and in one of the drawers a wad of bills and change in the till, which Mr. Brooks had taken up Saturday night.

The marauder was evidently disturbed in his work, as Mr. Wm. Oliver, of Alma street, called at Mr. Brooks' place about 8 o'clock to telephone for a doctor. He saw the light, and knocked loudly at the door, and wondered why there was no answer.

Mr. Brooks' brother, who lives next to him, saw a man at the back door about 7:45, but paid no attention to him, thinking it was Mr. Brooks himself.

Mr. and Mrs. Brooks left the house in darkness, and did not know a lamp had been used until Mr. Oliver informed them.

The robber was evidently disturbed by Mr. Oliver, and left by the back door as that gentleman was hammering at the front.

MORE ROBBERIES.

Andrews & Sons' grocery store, at the corner of Hamilton road and Rectory street, was another scene of operation. Mr. Andrews had some goods exposed in the front of his store, among which was a pail containing about a gallon of oysters. When he went to get a quart of the bivalves for a customer he found the pail gone. Mr. Andrews says the pail had been full in the morning, but he had been drawing on it all day, and thinks about a gallon of oysters will cover his loss.

Across the road is the store of Wm. Wray. His place was visited and relieved of a box of haddies. Both these robberies are supposed to have been committed by a gang of toughs about 10:30 who were out on a spree.

PIPPA PASSES

The Theme of Dr. Sykes' Lecture at the Western University—Wordsworth Next.

On Saturday afternoon Dr. Sykes took as the subject of his public reading at 3 o'clock Browning's drama of "Pippa Passes." Unlike those of Shakespeare, this drama was never intended for presentation on the stage. The plot covers but one day's duration, the scene being laid at Asola, a small town in Northern Italy. Pippa, the chief character, is a silk weaver at the mills, and as she is granted but one holiday in all the year, New Year's Day, she determines to make the most of it. Rising with the lark, she muses while dressing on whom best in all her little world she would like to be—whether the haughty Ottima, wife of the Prince Lucca, who is even now sporting with her paramour, the German Sebold, or Phrene, who will become at noon the happy bride of Jules the sculptor; or the mother of the noble patriot Luigi; or Monsignor, who comes tonight to enter on the rich inheritance left him by his brother. No, she would rather be herself, and so she goes forth singing a simple refrain, which closes with the words that form the motto of The Advertiser:

"God's in His heaven.

Sebold and his guilty companion, who have just murdered the old prince, hear her voice in the garden below, and their hearts are stirred to the depths, so that they repent of their crime. At noon she passes the church where Jules, after having wedded Phrene, becomes aware that he has been imposed upon, and is about to cast her off, when the hymn of the maiden leads him to accept his fate and do his duty by the humble creature who has just been made his partner for life.

Again, in the evening, it is her song heard in the stillness of the night by Luigi and his mother, who are in an old castle plotting to free their country from the Austrian yoke, that leads him to rush out on his self-imposed task of killing the emperor. The last scene is that where Monsignor learns from the superintendent of his dead brother's estate that this Pippa, who is heard singing another hymn, as she passes by outside, is the rightful owner of all his wealth, as she is the child of an elder brother, whom he had been paid to murder when an infant. At once Monsignor orders him arrested to keep him from revealing what he knows, and so Pippa passes on her way wholly unconscious of her great heritage, to take up the destiny of her life as usual on the following morning in the humble and lowly occupation of a silk weaver.

"Wordsworth's Lyrical Poems" is the theme for next Saturday's reading.

START TOMORROW

To Lay the Floor at the New G. T. R. Car Shops.

Tomorrow morning the laying of the floor at the G. T. R. carshops will be commenced in the machine shop at the east end.

The roof is not yet on, but the floor will not suffer much from lack of protection. It is to be of 3-inch pine plank, laid on 8 by 10 inch cedar ties, and between the ties the space will be filled in with cinders. Contractor Mills will be through with all but a few bricklayers on Friday, as by that time he expects to have all the walls completed. All the frames are here, and only a portion of the south wing remains to be built. Although he will be practically through with the gang then, a few men will be engaged for some time building gable ends and putting in concrete floors, etc. "Had it not been for the delay with the frames," said Mr. Mills to a reporter, "we would have had the walls up by last Wednesday."

Mr. Donaldson, the Hamilton man who has the contract for the carpenter work, has a force of 25 men working under him, all of whom are London men but two. They have been laying the wall plates and manufacturing the trusses for the roof. In the plates alone there of 22,000 feet of lumber. Nearly all of the trusses are framed, and Mr. Donaldson says they start raising them on Monday next. In the open space between the two wings of the shops is about 400,000 feet of large timber, most of it ready to be put into place on the building. The carpenter work will be finished by Christmas, if the weather is favorable.

The painters, too, are at work, and nearly all the window and door frames have had a coat of dark red paint.

FOOD RIOT IN INDIA

Four Men Shot Dead by the Police and Six Wounded.

Bombay, Nov. 9.—Serious rioting occurred yesterday at Sholapur. A band of 5,000 men looted 1,500 bags of grain. The efforts of the police were of no avail, and therefore they fired upon the mob, killing four men and wounding six. A further outbreak is feared, as Sholapur is one of the worst famine tracts of the Presidency.

WHEAT RECORD BROKEN.

Highest Price This Season Reached in Chicago.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Wheat broke the record for the season this morning by selling at 80 1-8 cents, December, 2 cents over Saturday's close. The advance was not attended by any great degree of excitement.

LONDON FIGARO "hears" that "during his stay in Homburg the Prince of Wales suffered much annoyance from being mobbed in the streets by ill-natured, over-curious women, chiefly Americans. One Chicago lady was heard to remark to her lord: 'Now, Howard, I shall just die if I don't see the man before he leaves.' On one occasion the prince was obliged to take refuge in a shop from the embarrassing attentions of a crowd of well-dressed females. Six young Yankee girls immediately hired a carriage and drew up in front of a shop and waited for him."

A Lover's Triumph.

It had all been done so quickly and so resolutely that there had scarcely been time for the others to interfere had they been so disposed; hardly time, even, for Mapleson himself to resist, he had been so completely taken by surprise, while everyone was amazed at the wonderful strength and dexterity that Geoffrey displayed.

But once more on his feet, Mapleson flew into a white heat of rage.

All his hot Southern blood was up, and he dashed at Geoffrey with blazing eyes, crimson face, and with fists clenched and uplifted as if to smite him to the floor.

But Geoffrey caught him by the wrists, with a grip that rendered him instantly powerless, while he said, with the utmost good nature:

"Mr. Mapleson, you are no match for me; I measured you well before I touched you; my muscles and sinews are like iron from long gymnastic training, so I advise you not to waste your strength. I am sorry to have offended you, but this affair was none of my seeking, and you tried my patience altogether too far. I have simply acted in self-defense."

But Mapleson had lost his head entirely, and blustered and swore in the most passionate manner, while his comrades were so struck with admiration for Geoffrey and his masterly self-control in the face of such excessive provocation, that not one of them was disposed to meddle in the quarrel.

"Let go, you cold-blooded Yankee!" Everet Mapleson cried, hoarsely, through his tightly locked teeth.

"I will release you, Mapleson, but you must not try the same thing again," Geoffrey returned, with quiet firmness, and instantly loosed his hold upon the young man's wrists.

With another violent oath, quick as a flash, and before anyone suspected his intention, Mapleson whipped out a pistol from an inner pocket, cocked and pointed it at Geoffrey.

What might have been the result no one can tell, if a young man named Abbott had not dashed forward and thrown up his arm.

The next instant he had wrenched the weapon from his grasp.

"Are you mad, Mapleson?" he cried. "We shall have the whole faculty down upon us if you trifle with such a plaything, and then there will be a fine row."

The other sophomores now gathered around and tried to pacify their enraged leader, but he only grew the more furious, and vowed that he would have the Yankee's heart's blood for his insolence in laying hands upon him.

"No, no, Mape, you drove him to it," interposed one; "you can't blame him, and you would have done the same had you been in his place."

"Who ever heard of a 'fresh' getting the upper hand of a half-dozen 'sophs' before?" he retorted, angrily. "You're a set of cowards, everyone of you."

Two of the students seized Mapleson by the arms, and he was forced from the room, muttering threats of vengeance as he passed out.

When Geoffrey was at length left alone, he closed and locked his door, and then sat down and fell into troubled thought.

He was sure that he had made a bitter and lasting enemy of the young man, and he regretted it, for Geoffrey Huntress was one who loved to be at peace with all mankind; but he could only wait patiently to see how the matter would end, and having reached this conclusion, he resumed his interrupted studies. But he could not put his mind upon them, for all at once the remarkable resemblance between himself and the young Southerner began to haunt him.

Could it be possible that any of the same blood flowed in their veins? If so, how?

Why was Everet Mapleson the favored son of a proud and wealthy father, while he had been a poor, demented outcast, abandoned in the streets of a large city and left to his fate.

CHAPTER IX.

Several days went by, and Geoffrey heard nothing either of or from the sophomores who had attempted to haze him.

Neither did he happen to meet any of them on his way to or from his recitations, and he hoped that the occurrence would gradually be forgotten and occasion no more trouble.

He did not mention it to any one, and he bore none of the actors any ill-will, for he well know that hazing had been an established custom in many colleges, and that every freshman was liable to be subjected to the ordeal.

But the affair was destined to be more serious, eventually, than he imagined an occurrence of that kind could ever become.

Young Mapleson realized, as soon as his passion began to cool somewhat, that he should be obliged to relinquish all thoughts of retaliation for a season, for none of his comrades would bear him out in any plan for revenge; he vowed in his heart that there should yet come a day of reckoning between himself and Huntress for the indignity to which he had been subjected before his companions.

He was furious with them for not having come to his release, and he raved over the affair all the way back to his room after leaving Geoffrey's.

But they made light of it, and tried to pass the whole thing off as a joke. This only enraged him the more, although he began to see the wisdom of keeping still about it, since he could get no sympathy from them.

There is no telling what rash act he might not have committed if he had been allowed to go and come as usual while this fierce mood lasted. But he had wrought himself into an excessive perspiration, and then, going out into the chill night air afterward, he had taken a violent cold, and for three weeks he was confined to his room with a threatened fever.

At the end of that time, although his anger had not abated one whit toward Geoffrey, and he was no less determined to have his revenge, he had come to see the wisdom of refraining from all rashness which might rebound injuriously upon himself, and he resolved to conceal his purpose in his own breast and watch his opportunity to strike his foe down at some time in the future, when the blow would be felt with bitter force.

So, upon recovering his usual health, he resumed his studies and his intercourse with his fellow-students as if nothing had occurred to ruffle him, and those who had participated in the hazing of Geoffrey Huntress imagined that the unpleasant affair had blown safely over and become a thing of the past.

Thus the fall and winter passed.

Meantime Gladys was winning golden opinions for herself at Vassar.

Study was a perfect delight to her, and consequently excellence in every department was but a natural result.

The name of Gladys Huntress became a synonym for all that was learned and brilliant in her class, and there was not one who did not predict that the first honor should be conferred upon her at the end of the course.

No one appeared to be jeaous of her, either, on account of it, for she was a general favorite with both teachers and scholars, always having a pleasant word and a kind smile for everybody.

During the recess, which occurred between the winter and spring terms of her second year at Vassar, she was in New York city for a few days with her chosen friend and room-mate, Addie Loring.

There was considerable shopping to be done to prepare for the warm weather, dressmaking to attend to, besides a gay round of social duties, and the two girls were all the time in a delightful flutter of business and pleasure.

One morning, after a long siege of shopping, feeling both weary and hungry, they entered an uptown cafe to obtain a lunch and rest a little before going home.

At the cashier's desk near the door, as they stepped inside, there stood a tall, handsome young man in the act of paying for his dinner.

Gladys caught sight of him in an instant, and she started and flushed a vivid crimson.

Then a smile of joy illumined her whole face as she sprang forward, and, laying her hand lightly on the young man's arm, exclaimed in delighted tones:

"Why, Geoffrey, where did you drop from? I imagined you a solitary recluse at Yale, and hard at work over Latin and Greek, 'to gain time,' as you wrote in your last letter."

The young man turned quickly as the sweet, lady-like voice fell upon his ear, his whole body thrilling at the light touch upon his arm, and found himself face to face with the most beautiful girl he had ever seen.

A tall, slender, perfect form, clad in a bewitching suit of modest gray, stood before him. Her small head was proudly poised on a pair of graceful shoulders, and crowned with a jaunty turban of gray velvet in which there gleamed a scarlet feather. The face was delicate in outline, with lovely features and a complexion of pure white and rose. Her eyes of dark blue were lighted with surprise and gladness, her lips wreathed with a tender smile of welcome, which parted them just enough to reveal the small, milk-white teeth between.

A look of admiration shot into the young man's eyes, and then they began to gleam with amusement.

He raised his hat with all the gallantry of which he was master, and bowed low as he replied:

"You have made a slight mistake, lady. I do not answer to the name by which you have addressed me, although I might be tempted to do so, perhaps, if I could thereby secure the pleasure of your acquaintance. Allow me," he concluded, drawing a card from his pocketbook, and respectfully presenting it to her.

A MARVELOUS CURE.

Helped by the First Box—Could Not Lift Fifty Pounds — Cured by a Few Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Arthur, Nov. 9.—Among his more intimate friends it has long been known here that Mr. J. C. Morrison had gradually been failing in health for many years. The acuteness of his sufferings was known only to a few. His complete recovery is a surprise here and is causing much talk. Of his cure he says: "Yes, I got help from the first box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and I have taken fifteen boxes. I kept getting better every day. When I commenced I could not lift 50 pounds; now I am as strong and well as ever in my life."

Two Parisians are going to try to beat the balloon record by remaining 24 hours in the air. The record is held by M. Gaston Tissandier, who, in March, 1875, made a balloon journey of 20 hours and 40 minutes.

LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good."

Cold Storage.

Dominion Government Bonuses to Dairymen and Others.

The Minister of Agriculture Gives Notice to All Parties Concerned.

Ottawa, Nov. 9.—Hon. S. A. Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, has authorized Mr. Robertson, the dairy commissioner, to issue the following: "I am directed by the Minister of Agriculture to say that the sum of $20,000 was placed in the supplementary estimates by the Government and voted by Parliament at its last session towards providing for cold storage and carriage of Canadian perishable food products in the markets of Great Britain in an undeteriorated condition. Part of this sum is to be used in assisting the owners of creameries to provide suitable cold storage rooms. In order to have creamery butter in a perfect state when it is delivered to the consumers in Great Britain it should be protected in cold storage from one day after it is made. As the Government has decided to arrange for what will be practically a chain of cold storage service from the producers in Canada to the consumers in Great Britain, it is necessary that the owners of creameries, the manufacturers of butter and the farmers who furnish the milk or cream should all co-operate to bring about the best results. Very few creameries are equipped with sufficient or efficient cold storage accommodation.

COST OF BUILDINGS.

"The cost of an ice house and refrigerator room adequate to store the make of butter at a creamery for two or three weeks while awaiting shipment is estimated at from four hundred to six hundred dollars per creamery. At most creameries there is already an ice house, or at least a room that goes under the name of a cold storage room. The necessary alterations and improvements to those existing buildings would cost probably from one hundred to two hundred dollars per creamery. Plans showing the style of construction to be adopted for the insulation of the cold storage room and the method which is recommended for the storing of ice and the cooling of the room will be furnished on application to the agricultural and dairy commissioner, Ottawa. These require that the inside of the walls of the cold storage room shall have two dead-air spaces, measuring together not less than three inches in thickness, with an inside finish of two thicknesses of 1-inch lumber, with building paper between. The dead-air spaces can be made most economically and effectually by the use of a thick, tough quality of building paper. The bottom of the outer dead-air space is to be filled with mineral wool or sawdust, to a depth of at least six inches, to prevent the admission or exit of air. Where the air can enter or escape from the hollow space in a wall it becomes a flue rather than a dead-air space, and is not as efficient as part of a non-conducting wall. The hollow and dead-air spaces on the cold storage room are to be continued on the ceiling, without interruption at the corners; and each thickness of paper used on the sides is to be continued on the ceiling and under the top thickness of lumber on the floor. The floor is to be at least two inches thick, with two thicknesses of building paper between the top and underneath boards or planks of the flooring. The cooling is to be effected by means of cylinders to be filled with ice, or ice and salt, as shown on the plan, or by some other efficient method, to the satisfaction of the Department of Agriculture. The temperature is to be maintained under 38 degrees, Fahr., continuously. The butter-maker must keep a record of the temperature of the cold storage room, taken once a day. Forms for the keeping of the record will be supplied by the Department of Agriculture in duplicate for each month; and one copy when filled up is to be sent at the end of the month to the agricultural and dairy commissioner, Ottawa. The quantity of butter to be manufactured at the creamery from the 1st of April to the 1st of December shall not be less than 15,000 pounds.

GOVERNMENT ENCOURAGEMENT

"To encourage the owners of creameries to provide the cold storage accommodation which is so desirable, the Government will grant a bonus of $50 per creamery to every creamery which provides and keeps in use a refrigerator room according to the plans and regulations during the season of 1897; the Government will pay a bonus of $25 per creamery to every creamery which provides and keeps in use a refrigerator room according to the plans and regulations during the season of 1898; and the Government will pay a bonus of $25 per creamery to every creamery which provides and keeps in use a refrigerator room according to the plans and regulations during the season of 1899. It will thus be seen that the owner of a creamery who provides the necessary refrigerator room and keeps it in use according to the regulations during the years 1897, 1898 and 1899 may receive a bonus of $100 per creamery. The owners of the creameries which already have ice houses and cold storage rooms will please send specifications of the same, together with a statement of the materials used in construction, and a sketch or plan of them. Plans and specifications will then be furnished showing the alterations, additions or improvements which are required to meet the regulations of the Department of Agriculture."

FAILURE OF A BIG "BEAR."

John C. Allen, of Buffalo, Puts Up the Shutters.

Buffalo, Nov. 9.—John C. Allen, manager of the International Commission Company, which runs "bucket shops" in about half a hundred places in the United States and Canada, has failed again. Allen's last previous failure was in 1895. He has failed about ten times. He had branch offices in Rochester, Syracuse, several minor places in New York State and Pennsylvania and Ohio. In Canada he ran several broker wires, and had three offices alone in Toronto. He was a consistent bear, and the recent boom in wheat started him on his downfall. It is rumored that he has shut up all round.

The Schooner Senora of Wiarton Goes to Pieces

A Woman and Four Men Probably Lost

St. Thomas, Nov. 9.—The schooner Senora, of Wiarton, was wrecked on Lake Erie during Thursday night's gale, and out of a crew of five men and one woman, only one survivor remains. The schooner was in command of Capt. Buckley, of Sarnia, and the crew consisted of Mate W. M. Duquett, of Bay City, Mich.; Seamen Daniel Russell and James Morrison, Glasgow, Scotland; Malcolm McLeod, Toronto, and the cook, whose name is not known, but who is called "Dumping Maid."

The only survivor, so far as is known, was Mate Duquett, who said: "The schooner Senora was owned by Chamberlain & Co., of Detroit, Mich., and was in command of Capt. Buckley, of Sarnia, with a crew of four men and one woman. We were bound for Tonawanda, N. Y., with a load of heavy lumber. During Thursday afternoon we were making good headway, and although a storm could be seen approaching, we thought it would be nothing more than ordinary, until the wind struck us. The schooner was tossed about on the huge waves as if it was a piece of cork.

"The schooner was finally struck by a huge wave when midway between Port Stanley and Cleveland, and the canvas and deck-load were carried away. This made her much lighter, and she was tossed about from that time until she struck the reef, and soon after went to pieces. We were then near Port Colborne. The balance of the crew took to the small boat, but Mr. Duquett remained on boad, until the boat began to show signs of breaking up. He then lashed himself to a hatch door and left the schooner, and a few minutes thereafter she went to pieces. This was about 4 o'clock on Friday morning. He was tossed about on the waves for a considerable time, until he was seen from the life-saving station at Point Abenew. The life-saving crew, whom Mr. Duquett cannot praise too highly, lost no time in going to the rescue. He was taken to a farmhouse near by in an exhausted condition, but soon rallied, and after remaining upon the beach for a time to see if any of his mates had been saved, he started for Port Stanley. Arriving there, he wired Mr. Chamberlain, of Detroit, about the disaster, and then came here and left for his home in Bay City.

DIED FROM HIS INJURIES.

Hamilton, Ont., Nov. 9.—John Houghton, the G. T. R. section boss who was so severely injured at Mimico on Thursday, died from his injuries on Saturday. He was an old resident of Hamilton, and had been employed on the G. T. R. for many years. He was 55 years of age and leaves a widow and one son.

LOST.

Quebec, Nov. 9.—A private cablegram received here announces the loss at sea of the German bark George Linck (Capt. Vanseloo), which sailed from Quebec Oct. 2 for Grimsby, with a cargo of timber and deals, shipped by Messrs. W. & J. Sharples. The crew were rescued and are on the ship General Gordon, bound to London.

COWARDLY.

St. Johns, Nfld., Nov. 9.—Further disclosures concerning the marine tragedy today indicate that after the steamer Tiber abandoned all efforts to save the victims of the collision with the schooner Maggie Just, beyond the entrance of the harbor, she continued her voyage, and within half an hour nearly ran down another vessel, which escaped only by the merest chance. The police have been dragging for the bodies of the persons who went down with the schooner Maggie, but so far without success. Inquiry is now being held before the city magistate to learn if the evidence warrants the arrest of the captain of the steamer Tiber.

The Deadly Revolver.

An Accidental Shot Deprives Leonard Harding of Life.

Lived but Twenty-Five Minutes After—"Father, I Have Shot Myself!" His Last and Only Words—A Popular Boy.

Sad and sudden, indeed, was the death of Leonard, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harding, of 443 Elizabeth street. The calamity which deprived the unfortunate lad of life was the accidental discharge of a revolver by himself, about 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Leonard and the other children of the family were in the kitchen, where he was playfully flourishing the revolver. Through some unknown cause, the pistol was discharged, the ball entering his chest and grazing his heart. The boy staggered to the parlor, where his father was sitting, and exclaimed: "Father, I've shot myself!" Then he sank unconscious to the floor. Mr. Harding made all possible haste for Dr. English, who was on hand five minutes after the shooting, but could do nothing, as the youth was past all earthly aid, dying 20 minutes after the doctor's arrival.

The boy was in the employ of A. J. Denny, grocer, and was of a jovial and kindly disposition, liked and spoken highly of by all who knew him. The pistol which did the deadly work was a five-shooter, of small caliber, in which four loaded shells remained, the fifth having been the fatal shot.

Leonard had on a previous occasion displayed the revolver, and had been reprimanded by his parents, and told to give it back to whom it belonged, which he was supposed to have done long since. Coroner Ferguson was called, and decided that an inquest was not necessary, it being clearly an accidental death. The family will have the deep sympathy of friends and the entire community. Leonard was a private in the Seventh Battalion, and very popular with its members.

Daring Thefts.

Street Car Conductors' Fare Boxes Stolen,

In Full View of Passengers—Conductor and Motorman Give Chase—Pelted With Stones.

The fare boxes on the trolley cars are the latest objects of the sneak thief. Two of them were taken on Saturday night, and both from the same line, which seems to indicate that they were stolen by the same party. The boxes were made of steel, and were worth about $15 each, and contained, Manager Carr says, about $12 or $14. The boxes were new, and would require considerable smashing before being opened.

The first box was taken off Conductor St. Clair's car, as he was in the act of signalling his motorman over the Port Stanley track on Horton street. There were only two or three passengers on the car at the time, and when the conductor got aboard again he was acquainted with the fact that a man had politely picked the box off the end of the rod and slipped away in the darkness. Conductor St. Clair reported the case to the head office on his return, and in the meantime did the best he could without the box. The man who took the box can be identified by the parties, who saw him take it. He is about 28 years old.

The second theft occurred about 11 o'clock, while a car was turning the "Y" at Rectory street and the Hamilton Road. Conductor Griffith and Motorman Fitzgerald were in charge of the car. When the conductor had removed the pole from the wire, the light went out. This was the sneak's opportunity, and, grasping the box, he jumped from the car and ran. Motorman Fitzgerald saw the deed as he turned to back up his car. He called to the conductor, and the two pursued the thief for a short distance up Egerton street, but the latter escaped in the darkness. He evidently had a pal, for the motorman met a man with two rocks in his hand, who acted in a threatening way.

In neither instance was the thief a passenger on the car. He stepped on and off too quickly for anyone to make a move.

Yesterday morning Mr. Sandy Drennan, of the G. T. R., found one of the boxes on the old race course. The bottom had been smashed in and the contents taken.

Impressions of London.

Recorded by the Assistant Editress of the Bowmanville Statesman.

What She Saw—Her Opinions Generally Favorable to the City.

The assistant editress of the Bowmanville Statesman was a delegate to the recent Sabbath school convention here, and in that paper records her London experiences in an interesting way. She was the guest of Mrs. S. B. Gerry. She first describes a visit to the electric power house, terming it a wonderful sight. "On our way to the first session Tuesday," she adds, "we called at the sulphur baths, and had a drink of sulphur water. While this may be very valuable for the good it does in curing rheumatism, dyspepsia and other ailments which humanity is heir to, we haven't the least inclination or desire for another drink. It certainly has a lasting effect, for we imagined we could taste it for hours afterwards. We were told that after several times tasting it one grows to like it, and craves for it almost like whisky."

Speaking of Dundas Center Methodist Church, she says: "It is splendidly situated, and has a seating capacity of 1,300. The walls of the interior of the edifice are finished in rough plaster, while the ceiling is smooth, and the two are connected by a pretty design in plaster paris. No pillars are to be seen supporting the gallery, and as President Patterson remarked, "it looked as though they despised earthly supports." An iron railing finished in silver and bronze surrounds the gallery, and behind the pulpit is a choir gallery capable of holding 50 persons and a large pipe organ made by R. S. Williams & Sons, of Oshawa. It is a very comfortable and home-like church, with a school room attached with all modern improvements. Rev. E. B. Lanceley may justly feel proud to be pastor of this church and people.

"London is a church-going city, if we may base our conclusions on what we observed on the Sunday we spent there. The fact that so many large and beautiful churches within such a short distance of each other, supported and well attended by citizens of that city, speaks clearly of the character and morals of the people.

"On Sunday we attended the First Methodist Church on Dufferin avenue. This is the largest church in London. It has a seating capacity of 2,500, with a Wesley Hall, as the school room is called, that can seat 1,500 persons. The exterior of the structure is red brick, and the walls of the interior are finished in whitish colored brick, while the ceilings are finished in a smooth cream colored plaster. The church is carpeted with Brussels carpet, costing about $2,000. This part of the furnishings, with the upholstering of the chairs, is a terra cotta color, and is very pretty and comfortable looking, indeed.

"In the evening we attended St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and heard Rev. Robert Johnston, the pastor, deliver a splendid sermon on "Gideon's Downfall." We had the privilege of looking through another Presbyterian church whose pastor is Rev. W. J. Clark, who was so popular in Bowmanville, while supplying for Rev. R. D. Fraser in St. Paul's, and whom we learn is quite as popular with his London congregation. His church has a very cosy and home-like appearance. We were not privileged with seeing anything more than the outside of St. James' Church, of which Rev. M. P. Talling, another successful Bowmanville boy, is the esteemed pastor.

"The principal business streets are Dundas and Richmond, which are laid with asphalt. Very few empty stores are to be seen, and all the merchants appear to be doing a thriving business. On Richmond street may be seen the large wholesale houses, a number of lawyers' offices, printing offices, postoffice and custom house, the two latter being very fine buildings. The public library on Queen's avenue is a fine building, built in 1895, of red brick, and another large building is being erected near by of white brick for the Young Men's Christian Association. Among the other buildings visited were St. Paul's Cathedral, and Bishop Cronyn Hall, adjoining. This is a very large church, and we were told that it took 80 tons of coal to heat it during the winter. It has a very comfortable appearance inside. It has a magnificent pipe organ in which 56 miles of wire are used. The Catholic Church is another very large building, built of stone and nicely furnished within. We also visited the C. P. P. station, and were impressed and much pleased with the clean and tasty appearance of this public waiting-room. Outside of the new G. T. R. station at Toronto, I have never seen a better equipped building in connection with any railway.

"On Saturday morning, as soon as daylight began to dawn, until late in the forenoon, a steady procession of farmers and market-gardeners might be seen passing along with vehicles heavily laden with all kinds of produce for the market. We were pleased to visit this market and witness the great quantity of vegetables, poultry, butter, eggs, etc., which was displayed for sale. On visiting the market in the afternoon, it was astonishing to find that out of that great throng only one or two were left, the remainder having disposed of their goods, and were either delivering them or doing their shopping."

Du Maurier used to keep a vase on his mantel piece for his friends to drop jokes into, which he then used for Punch. So, at least, says the London Daily News.

Fever and Ague and Bilious Derangements are positively cured by the use of Parmelee's Pills. They not only cleanse the stomach and bowels from all bilious matter, but they open the excretory vessels, causing them to pour copious effusions from the blood into the bowels, after which the corrupted mass is thrown out by the natural passage of the body. They are used as a general family medicine with the best results.

A NOTABLE FUNERAL.

That of Mr. T. W. Standfield—Large Society Parade—A Long Cortege.

The obsequies of the late Mr. T. W. Standfield, who died in Vancouver, B. C., occasioned yesterday afternoon one of the largest society parades and funeral corteges ever seen in London. The deceased was a notable and popular fraternal man, having been a prominent member of the I. O. O. F., C. O. F., and S. O. E., while resident in London. By his own wish, Chorazin Lodge, I. O. O. F., of which he was a past noble grand, conducted the funeral ceremonies. The cortege was headed by members of the Canadian Order of Foresters and Sons of England, followed by the Seventh Band, the London Uniformed Canton, and the Independent Order of Oddfellows, numbering several hundred members. The procession of those on foot and in carriages was fully a mile in length, and was a striking tribute to the memory of deceased. The religious services at house and grave were conducted by Rev. J. W. Pedley, of the First Congregational Church, and at the grave, also, the Oddfellows' burial service was read by Bro. E. W. Boyle, noble grand, and Bro. Samuel Badcock, chaplain, of Chorazin Lodge. The pall-bearers were John Matthews and Wm. G. Willis, past grands of Chorazin; Color-Sergt. Cooper, of Wolseley Barracks, and Bro. Joseph Simmons, of the Sons of England, and Bros. W. Brown and W. H. Abbott, of the Canadian Foresters. A large Union Jack was placed over the casket by the Sons of England, according to their usual custom.

The funeral was held from the residence of the deceased's son, Mr. Melville Standfield, 1,064 Dundas street.

THERE is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nullify this danger with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—a pulmonic of acknowledged efficacy. It cures soreness and lameness when applied externally, as well as swelled neck and crick in the back; and, as an inward specific, possesses most substantial claims to public confidence.
