

FARMERS' DAY BRINGS OUT BIGGEST MORNING CROWD TO TAKE IN LONDON FAIR

Today's Visitors From All Sections of Western Ontario Thronging the Live Stock Section— Dairy Hall Also Proving Mecca for Many.

GRAND PARADE OF PRIZE STOCK

Farmers' Day, one of the really big days of the Western Fair, had a most auspicious opening this morning. The morning broke bright and clear, and by noon the day had developed into one of warm sunshine. Granted a good day, Farmers' Day has always been a success, and today was no exception to the rule. Even before 9 o'clock, the gatekeepers were busy, and by 11 o'clock, when trains from the country districts began to arrive, crowds were pouring into the exhibition through every entrance. It was by far the biggest morning crowd of the week. The country people are noted for the thorough manner in which they take in the Fair. They are on the grounds early and usually manage to see the majority of the exhibits of whatever nature before it is time to go to the grandstand for the afternoon performance. Nor is it any casual inspection they accord the various exhibits.

Experts in Agriculture.

Every farmer is more or less an expert in the matter of raising cattle, horses, sheep, hogs, etc., and none can appreciate better than he the good points displayed by the winners. It also gives him an opportunity to see what his neighbors and men in other sections of the country are doing, and what is still more important he gets an idea as to who has the best animals in the particular line he is interested in, in case he should desire to make some purchases.

The Western a School.

The Western Fair is an important annual event for him, and he takes full advantage of the opportunities that are his. The dairy building was the Mecca for the majority of the women-folk today, and many a good housewife looked with admiration on the various up-to-date buttermaking devices displayed there. The woman's department, in the crystal palace, where are displayed samples of the utmost skill in the art of needlework, etc., also attracted its quota of enthusiasts.

No better day could be chosen to see Continued on Page Ten.

THAW SET FREE IN CANADA
NOW IN JAIL IN UNITED STATES

Rushed Across Border Early Today, He Wandered Around Aimlessly Until Sheriff Arrested Him as a Fugitive From Justice.

[Canadian Press.]

Colebrook, N. H., Sept. 10.—Harry K. Thaw wandered about the hills in Coos County, New Hampshire, for three hours today after being thrust across the Canadian border at Norton Mills, and was arrested by Sheriff Drew, of Coos County, at Little Schoolhouse, five miles from Colebrook, just before noon. Thaw showed no resentment, and was brought immediately to Colebrook.

Thaw, in his wanderings, was accompanied by newspapermen. He did not know where to go. Leaving Norton Mills, he stopped for a few minutes at Averill, Vt., and leaving there, doubled back into Canada, re-entered Vermont at Canaan, then crossed the Connecticut River at Stewartstown.

No one attempted to detain him. He was planning at this time to strike a railroad and buy a through ticket to Detroit. Vainly he tried to get in connection with his lawyers at Montreal. Failing in this, he resumed his blind journey until detained by the sheriff. The sheriff had no warrant, but held him as a fugitive from justice.

Colebrook, Sept. 10.—Harry K. Thaw was seized in his quarters by immigration officers at 8 o'clock this morning and rushed, shrieking and fighting, to a waiting automobile, which bore him away to the Vermont border.

On his way to the automobile, Thaw shouted at the top of his lungs that he was being kidnapped, and immigration officers sought to quiet him with assurances that such was not the case. Notwithstanding, he fought like a madman, and smashed a window with a bottle as the officers dragged him down the stairs.

The suddenness of the manoeuvre took both Thaw and his counsel entirely by surprise, and literally carried them off their feet. It was reported here, though not confirmed, that the immigration officers acted under instructions from the Minister of the Interior.

Over the Border.

The destination of the automobile, save that it was some place in Vermont, just over the border, was unknown to any except its passengers. It was reported that Thaw would be taken to Norton Mills. Hector Verrett, of counsel representing New York State, in the fight to have Thaw brought back to Mattewan, said that he did not think that Wm. T. Jerome, commander-in-chief of the New York State legal forces, was at Norton Mills. Mr. Verrett added that nobody knew that Thaw was to be taken so suddenly to Vermont.

THAW IS FREE.

[Canadian Press.]

Averill, Vt., Sept. 10.—Harry K. Thaw arrived here shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. He had been released by the Canadian immigration authorities, and was an absolutely free man, as nobody representing the State of New York or the State of Vermont was there to take him.

The Canadian immigration officials left Thaw at Norton Mills and then told him he was free to go wherever he liked. The newspapermen, who had followed Thaw then offered him room in an automobile and brought him here.

"This thing has been such a surprise to me that I do not know what I shall do yet," said Thaw to the reporters when asked for a statement.

LAWYERS AMAZED.

DEATH TAKES HUSBAND
WITH WIFE ON OCEAN

Unusually Sad Circumstances in Death of Recent Arrival From Old Country.

Unusually sad circumstances are associated with the death of Mr. Walter Prior, who died Tuesday night at the residence of his daughter, Mr. John P. Bell, 511 Piccadilly street.

Mr. Prior had only been in this country two months, having come from England. He was very much pleased with this country, and wrote his wife desiring that she should join him in Canada. She is now on the ocean, and knows nothing of the death of her husband. It will probably be two or three days before she can be acquainted with the facts.

Mr. Prior is survived by one son, F. W. Prior, a plumber in St. Catharines; one daughter, Mrs. J. P. Bell, from whose residence the funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock to Woodland Cemetery.

Wheat Averages
Thirty Bushels

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, Sept. 10.—Thirty bushels to the acre is the estimated wheat yield in Portage and Saskatchewan. Such estimates from two widely separated points, estimates made on a good basis, furnish grounds for the belief that this year's crop will be a bumper one. Inspectors in Winnipeg will be called upon to pass a million bushels per day.

Delay was caused in threshing by yesterday's storm, which passed over the city last night, and made a heavy visitation to districts west. Two days is the longest estimated delay that will be caused. Labor is still in much demand.

To Rejoice Pullet.—The board of directors of the fair met this morning at 11 o'clock. The protest entered on Tuesday by George H. Vaughan, of 802 Maitland street, was reconsidered. It was decided to rejoice the pullets in class 37, section 2, Dark Brahmas.

CITY RECORD
STILL POINTING TO PROSPERITY

Building returns for the month still continue exceptionally heavy. Nearly $50,000 is represented in the permits taken out so far this month. Some of the latest this morning were: G. H. Belton, $10,000 two-story brick dwelling on Richmond street north; C. J. Hickson, two-story brick-veneer dwelling, 49 Windsor avenue; P. Anderson, $2,500 two-story brick-veneer dwelling, Tecumseh avenue; J. D. Madden, $1,200 one-story brick-veneer dwelling on Central avenue.

Bright Prospects.

Prospects are that building during the remainder of the month will go well over the $100,000 mark. In prospect there is a $10,000 addition to the new McCormick plant, a $25,000 church for Egerton Street Baptists and $22,000 for the Fair grounds.

This would bring the total for the month to $120,000, or almost twice as large as it was in September of 1912, when $75,000 was the aggregate.

Up till the end of last month the increase in building during 1913, over the previous year (to the same time) was $10,000. The expected increase of the remainder of the month will bring the increase well over half a million. Building Inspector A. M. Piper anticipates more than $2,000,000 as a total for 1913.

Uniformly throughout the year the building returns have been heavy. To date there have been only three months when the record of the corresponding year's record fruit yield.

EXPERT SURPRISED TO LEARN REPORT
SHOWS A DEFICIT

Mr. Marshall Says He Is Not Concerned With That Side of Question.

END TO 30-CENT FARE

Not Possible to Give Reduced Rates—1,800 Passengers Daily Estimated.

When The Advertiser called Mr. Marshall at Toronto this morning he was greatly surprised to learn that his report on the L. and P. S. R. showed a deficit, according to the figures submitted by every other "expert" engaged to report on the line.

"Do you realize that your report shows a straight deficit for electrification?" was asked him.

"I do not; how do you make that out?" was Mr. Marshall's reply. The reporter then proceeded to show that with operating expenses and fixed charges taken care of there would be a deficit of from $4,106 to $23,490 annually on the line.

Mr. Marshall, said in answer, that he had paid no attention to fixed charges, and operating expenses, and was surprised to learn that there could possibly be a deficit. He said that was no affair of his, as he was only engaged to report on the traffic side.

The report of Mr. Thomas Marshall, traffic manager of the Toronto Board of Trade, which has been handed to the electrification organ by the mayor, proves conclusively that the London and Port Stanley Railway would be operated at a deficit if the electrification scheme were adopted by the ratepayers.

Mr. Marshall says that the gross earnings of the road would amount to $202,000. He does not give any estimate or statement of operating expenses and fixed charges.

Operating expenses and fixed charges are given by the other "experts" as follows:
WARFIELD $215,575.26
EASTMAN 225,490.00
GABY AND STORER 206,000.00
From $4,106 to $23,490.

This means that accepting the figures of either of the other "experts" there would be a deficit of $13,575.26 if the Warfield figures are used; $23,490 if the Eastman figures are used, and $4,106 if the Gaby-Storer figures are used.

Over long-distance phone conversation with The Advertiser this morning, Mr. Marshall said that he had not taken fixed charges or operating expenses into consideration. He did not know whether or not his figures proved a deficit; he had not dealt with anything, but had simply estimated traffic earnings on the returns of the road and the reports of the other experts. He was surprised when he learned his findings proved a deficit.

"Did you not look at what the other experts provided for operating expenses and fixed charges?" was asked.

Paid Little Attention.

"No; I didn't pay much attention to them," Mr. Marshall replied.

Mr. Marshall was questioned as to why he had at first refused to prepare the report and had later on provided it.

"I could not get permission to make it at first, but later on the permission was given," he stated, after some hesitation.

Mr. Marshall refused to tell what sum he had received for the report, nor how much time he had spent in its preparation.

In the report he states that electrical operation would yield a large increase over steam operation. "No one will dispute the fact that electric cars operating hourly would secure more passengers than steam trains running three or four times a day, but the figures of Mr. Marshall show that the London and Port Stanley Railway would have to carry 1,800 passengers a day, and at a rate higher than 20 cents, from London to Port Stanley.

No 30-Cent Fares.

According to the figures of Mr. Marshall, there could be no 30-cent excursion fares to Port Stanley, and the road would have to carry 1,800 a day.

Some garbled figures secured from supposedly official reports are published in the report. It is stated that in 1908 the gross receipts of the London and Lake Erie Railway and Transportation Company were $56,428, and that in 1912 they were $110,295. This is a glaring error so far from the truth as to be ridiculous.

The returns of the London and Lake Erie, as taken from their books, show that in 1908 the gross receipts of the company were $75,833, and in 1912, $104,506. The increase in business has been more than offset by the expenditures on equipment and roadbed.

Disagrees With Others.

Mr. Marshall disagrees in several instances with the findings of Messrs. Warfield and Eastman. He believes their estimates of traffic earnings to be too high.

The report is to be dealt with at a meeting of No. 1 committee.

THREATS TO LYNCH
DEGENERATE GUILTY
OF SLAYING CHILD

Brantford Citizens Enraged by Grossness of Crime Admitted By Half-Breed.

POLICE ARE PREPARED

Contemptible Human Animal Confesses He Killed to Hide Vile Crime.

"Jim the Spaniard"

James Taylor, the degenerate, who confessed to the Brantford police that he murdered Charlie Dawson, and then, in a fit of fiendish madness, horribly mutilated the body of his victim.

Brantford, Sept. 10.—On his appearance at the police court this morning, Taylor pleaded guilty to the charge of murder, and on the charge of committing an unnatural offence, pleaded not guilty, waived examination, and was sent up for trial at the next assizes on both charges.

[By An Advertiser Staff Reporter.]

Brantford, Sept. 10.—"I did it because I thought the kid would squeal on me," was the explanation given to the Brantford police shortly after 1 o'clock this morning after a two hours grilling, by James Taylor, known as "Jim the Spaniard," who confessed to murdering and horribly mutilating Charlie Dawson, 13-year-old son of Charles Dawson, whose body was found near Cainesville early Tuesday morning. Before slaying the boy Taylor was guilty of unmentionable offences.

Man Closely Guarded.

When it became generally known about the city this morning that Taylor had confessed, and that he felt absolutely no remorse for his terrible crime, there were ominous threats and talk of lynching the prisoner. As a result the police brought him to the police station before 8 o'clock, and there in a strong cell a double guard has been placed to watch him. The officers are also on the alert, and should any attempt be made tonight to take him from the station they are prepared.

After a search of almost twelve hours during which they worked untiringly and followed clue after clue, Police Sergeant Robert Wallace, of the Brantford police department, and High Constable Frederick Kerr, of Brant County, successfully rounded up and brought Taylor to justice.

Taylor has been in many scrapes in Brantford, but all were of a petty nature. When the police first received a tip to the effect that the boy was seen driving with Taylor about 10 o'clock at night, they were loth to be Continued on Page Eleven.

Sergeant Robt. Wallace

Sergt. Wallace, of the Brantford Police, and High Constable Kerr did excellent work in solving the mystery surrounding the murder of 12-year-old Charlie Dawson, who was killed a few miles outside of Brantford on Monday night.

NO MORE WARS
BETWEEN STATES
AND THIS NATION

Dr. Macdonald at Perry Centenary Celebration Makes Strong Peace Address.

BIRTH OF THE NATION

War of 1813 Brought Canadians Together in Common Cause as Never Before.

[Canadian Press.]

Put-In-Bay, Sept. 10.—Dr. J. A. Macdonald and ex-President Taft were the principal speakers at the Perry Centennial celebration here today, when a towering shaft of white marble, erected in commemoration of Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry's victory in the battle of Lake Erie, and the one hundred years of peace between the United States and Great Britain, was formally dedicated.

Inaugurating the dedication ceremonies, cannon boomed at the hour of the firing of the opening gun of the battle, one hundred years ago today, within view of the Put-In-Bay shores.

"One hundred years ago today," said Dr. Macdonald, "within sight of the spot where we now stand, and at this very hour, was being fought the battle of Lake Erie."

A Small Affair.

In the light of modern naval warfare, judged by the standard of the super-dreadnought, and the submarine, of the airship and the four-inch gun, that battle was a small affair. One gun from a modern man-of-war would throw more metal in one charge than their entire broadsides, and would shatter both fleets in the twinkling of an eye.

Reactions of War.

Not only is war ineffectual as a means for the just settlement of disputes between civilized nations, but by the very irony of fate, most wars have reactions quite the opposite of their original intention. The undesired reactions of war are the surges of history.

The undesired reaction of the war of 1812 is the Canada of today.

Let there be no mistake. The readings of history are plain. In the pangs of 1812 the soul of Canadian nationality began to be born. That war was indeed Canada's national war. In it the United States was divided, Britain was re-

MURDER OF MRS. SHERMAN WAS DELIBERATELY PLANNED

Police Believe Woman Was Lured to Lonely Spot by Relative Who Did Not Want Her to Come Back to Her Home in Kingsville.

Windsor, Sept. 10.—Fearing that her return to her former home in Kingsville, Ont., would lead to serious trouble, plans were laid a week ago Sunday last to waylay and murder Mrs. Anna Sherman, of Wyandotte, Mich., who moved across the border three years ago, following an alleged disagreement with her husband, and that the body of the woman found, eight miles from here, hidden in a corn field on the Talbot road, is that of Mrs. Sherman, is the theory that the provincial officers, county constabulary and Windsor police are working on.

This morning a knife was found near where the body lay. It was covered with either rust or blood-stains, and is of the kind that is used in the canning factories in this section.

This find strengthened the theory of the police that a man from this section, knowing of the woman's plans, met her on the road, and after luring her to that lonely spot, brutally murdered her.

Mrs. William Fritz, living in a farmhouse two hundred yards from the place where the body was found, declared that she heard a woman's cries a week ago Sunday night.

She says she was frightened and did not tell anyone.

CATTLE, SHEEP AND SWINE BIG FEATURES OF THE FAIR

Showing in Nearly All Classes Ahead of Standard Set By Former Exhibitions—Horticultural Building One of the Main Attractions.

As was the case at the Toronto Exhibition, Short-horns were the big feature of the cattle exhibit at the Western Fair, the judging of which was commenced Tuesday. A large section of the southern end of the cattle building was given over to this breed, and the throngs of visitors who visited the sheds during the day saw some magnificent specimens of beef cattle. The cattle exhibit as a whole is exceptional and was the centre of attraction for the thousands of visitors all day, from the seasoned cattle buyer, who sized up the "points" of an animal at a glance, to the frightened little girl who clung in terror to her escort, appalled at the close proximity of those dreadful creatures—cows. The little folk were also much in evidence, and the "moo-cows" and little calves received their share of attention.

Quality and Quantity.
To the farmer, or cattlemen, the show must have proved a revelation, both in the number and quality of the animals shown. Scarcely a stall was left vacant. All the popular breeds were represented—Short-horns, Aberdeen Angus, Herefords, Holsteins, Ayrshires and Jerseys—all were represented by many worthy specimens of their kind. The champion milkster was an Ayrshire, "Clerland" Kate II, owned by Mr. Alex. Hume. She won the sweepstake for champion cow, any age, any breed, her strongest point being, of course, a tremendous milk-giving capacity. Among other successful exhibitors, Messrs. A. S. Turner & Sons made a good showing, having five firsts to their credit. Messrs. Wm. Stewart & Sons carried off the sweepstake ribbon for best bull and female. Short-horn exhibits were numerous, the premier honors—sweepstake for bull, any age—going to the Oak Bluff herd, from Oak Bluff, Manitoba. Other successful exhibitors were Mitchell Bros., Burlington; R. and S. Nicholson, Parkhill; George Lindsay & Sons, Cherry Grove, and J. A. Watt.

The Herefords.
O'Neill Bros. of Southgate, divided honors pretty evenly with L. O. Clifford, of Oshawa, among the Herefords, while James Bowman, of Guelph, had the field pretty much to himself among the Aberdeen Angus breed. His collection of "black beauties" was exceptional. Holsteins were largely represented, R. J. Kelly, of Tillsonburg; C. J. Pearce, of Ostrander; T. Wood, of Mitchell, and G. F. Osler, of Bronte, being among those who landed a big share of the red ribbons.

The ever-popular Jerseys completed the list. B. H. Bull & Son, of Brantford, had some superb animals, and carried off both sweepstakes in this breed. A number of firsts went to the Goderich herd of Mr. George Laithwaite.

Swine Exhibit Good This Year

The entries in swine exhibits are very numerous this year, and the quality of the stock excellent. Competition always keen, was exceptional.

spectators. W. E. Wright & Sons, of Glanworth, Ont., and A. Orchard, of Shelden, were the largest exhibitors in this class, and carried off their share of the prizes. They had some fine animals.

The Shropshires.
Some very good specimens were shown in the Shropshire class, J. D. Campbell, Woodville, and W. E. Wright & Son having large entries.

Cotswolds were, as always, shown in large numbers. The breed of this class is popular, and can always boast of its enthusiastic advocates. E. F. Park, of Burford, and E. Brien & Sons, of Woodburn Farms, were represented by large entries, and captured numerous ribbons.

Berkshires were also noticeably conspicuous, there being some creditable specimens on exhibition. Woodburn Farms contributed several good ones, and others that were worthy of a place were shown.

In Leicesters the showing was very good, while Lincolns also made a good class. Some big fellows were to be seen, and these evoked much favorable comment. Hampshire and Suffolks were much in evidence, and furnished interesting competition.

Altogether, the sheep shown were equal to any exhibited in former years, if not slightly superior, showing that sheep breeding is progressing along with other lines.

An important winner was John Kelly, of Shakespeare, who won sweepstakes with a fine flock of Shropshires. The committee, composed of James Murray (chairman), W. J. Reid, Ed. Douglas (Liderton), Col. MacEwen (Byron), Capt. T. E. Robson, James Snell (Clinton), John Kelly (Shakespeare), R. H. Harding (Thorndale), looked after the arrangements in a very capable manner.

Beauties of Garden at Queens Park

No one could visit the large and magnificent display of flowers and plants in the horticultural hall at the Western Fair this year without being convinced that Western Ontario is indeed the "Garden of Canada." Seen in all their brilliance and freshness this morning, they presented a veritable bower of beauty and color against the white walls of the building. It was a sight to gaze at long. There were a large number of entries this year, and the judges were kept busy until Tuesday noon fixing the coveted blue and yellow tickets to the numerous classes shown.

As the Fair visitor enters the horticultural hall through the archway which separates it from the fruit and vegetable section, his attention is drawn perhaps first of all to the beautiful showing of cut flowers, special designs and bouquets, situated near the south end of the hall. The three prize designs for funeral wreaths win many appreciative remarks from the thousands of visitors who pass to and fro.

Beautiful Funeral Designs.
The first prize design, shown by Messrs. Dicks & Son, florists, is a star and crescent, supported by a bank of white roses, starred here and there with the deepest of purple asters. The star is formed of white and purple flowers, and the large crescent of Lady Hillington roses. It is a unique design, and a beautiful one in every respect. But perhaps no less so is the "Gates Ajar," shown by Messrs. J. Gammage & Sons. This is made almost entirely of white and the palest of mauve flowers, including white roses, white stocks, lilies, orchids and gladioli, with dainty fronds of fern giving relief to the mass of bloom. Miss Beryl Attridge, R. No. 7, Leam, is the prize winner in this class, hers being a large anchor in palest pink asters, with a garland of very deep purple asters and touches of green. Miss Attridge also drew third award for basket of flowers, her showing being a most pretty one of pale pink asters growing in a moss-covered basket of rustic design. Messrs. J. Gammage & Sons were the prize-winners in this class, Dicks & Son being a close second.

Some dainty wreaths in white flowers, suitable for funeral or decorative purposes, are shown by Messrs. Dicks & Son, Gammage & Sons, and Mrs. A. Burns, St. Marys.

Bridal Bouquets Fascinating.
There is always a great fascination about the bridal bouquet, especially for the feminine visitor, and some of those exhibited are indeed exquisite enough to tempt the heart of any maiden. Two in the display are peculiar in design, being formed of creamy bridal roses and lily of the valley, entwined with maiden hair and asparagus fern. Suspended from the bouquet are streamers of narrow white chiffon ribbon, with sprays of lily of the valley and fern knotted in tiny bows near the ends. The entire bouquet in each case is tied with a broad scarf of princess lace.

Perhaps never was the display of asters and dahlias finer. In each class many varieties and colorings may be noted. Mr. F. C. Mills, of this city, carried off first award for asters, he showing no less than five shades of purple and mauve, four of pink, and pink and white. Thomas McDonald, of London, comes second, followed by Mr. J. A. McPherson, of Strathroy. Among the varieties displayed by these growers are Purple Comet, a large ragged aster of dark purple color; Mikado, a pinky-red show, also ragged; Claret, an aster not so large as some, but of a peculiar tint more often seen in dahlias; Daybreak, a full white blossom, very compact, and Violet King, a paler shade of mauve.

Dahlias Are Very Fine.
The display of dahlias is also exceptionally fine. Here Mr. J. A. McPherson, of Strathroy, led with a large variety of standard and cactus dahlias, with Mrs. Burns, St. Marys, and Webster Bros., Glencoe, following with second and third. The cactus dahlias, with their long spiky petals, attract much notice. In Mr. McPherson's showing are many beauties, including Pope Plus X, a creamy white cactus bloom; Grand Duke, a standard dahlia, of white, with double yellow centre; Aurora, a well-named specimen suggesting the dawn, with its large yellow centre shading to almost orange red near the edges; Fireworks, a cactus dahlia of yellow and red, and Red Hussar, a small, very full button-like blossom.

Some fine gladioli are included in the display in the centre of the hall, rearing stately heads of velvety scarlet, pink mauve and cream above their more lowly, but none the less beautiful, neighbors, the pansies, verbenas and petunias. Of the latter flower there is a large display of double, large single, variegated and one-colored blossoms. T. H. Hill, of London, leads in the verbenas display, W. H. F. Bartlett in the petunias, and R. Fletcher, of Chelsea Green, a second in each class. Miss Beryl Attridge is successful in her showing of pansies.

Some Old Favorites.
Much time might be spent studying the various specimens in the display of annuals, perennials, etc., where may be found such old favorites as pinks, bachelor's buttons and a variety of grasses. The red ticket is won by Miss Attridge, A. C. Johnston, of Tumbaling's Corners, coming second.

The entire north end of the centre space is devoted to an exhibit of potted plants, palms, rubber plants, begonias and many other handsome and interesting species of foliage.

ONE EMPIRE—ONE NAVY.

Out west, at a school demonstration, the children were called upon to cheer for "One Fleet, One Empire."Of course, it was only a little petty politics on the part of some supporters of the Government—the class who want to make their party politics the standard of Imperialism. We do not suppose it did any particular harm in this case, though it was something not conducive to that united patriotism which all true patriots should encourage. We refer to the matter rather to show the confusion of ideas that prevails among those pseudo-loyalists.In the first place, they did not say what they really meant. There may be, and often is, several fleets in a navy. The British navy has more fleets than one. Mr. Churchill's latest scheme was to establish a Mediterranean Fleet, comprised of Canadian,
New Zealand, Malay and Fiji Island ships. We do not suppose that this was the "one fleet" for which cheers were called. What they really meant was "one navy," instead of "one fleet."But accepting this view, when they use the two phrases, "one navy, one empire," as analogous terms, they show a misty conception of what they are talking about. They propose to have a navy controlled entirely by the British Admiralty. But that is not the idea of the British Empire. It is not ruled by one authority as they would have the navy ruled. The Empire consist of a number of self-governing dominions, each with full control of its own affairs, subject only to imperial exigencies. For mutual offence or defence they are, or should be, one. For local purposes each follows its own course, so long as that course is not antagonistic to the interests of the whole empire. That is the generally accepted idea of the British idea; it is at all events the Canadian idea.Now, the true Canadian idea of "one navy" would be similar. It would be made up of different fleets; each under the control of the Dominion that established it. Should the needs of the empire call for it at any time all these fleets would be united under one control for a definite purpose—the purpose of the whole empire. That is not the conception of the Conservative party in Canada; for it proposes to build a fleet and hand it over to the British Admiralty. In other words it is a policy of contribution.The Liberal policy is "one navy," in the same sense as "one empire." Full local control, but united action when circumstances call for it. Each one for the benefit of all; all for the service of each. Local autonomy with imperial hegemony. In that sense we will stand for "One Empire, One Navy," as loyally as any one can.

A SOLDIER OF STEEL.

Iron has always been considered a necessary ingredient in the make-up of a soldier. Military men in all ages have admired "iron dukes" as generals, and "men of blood and iron" for soldiers. Of course, this iron was of the metaphoric species. But it seems possible that we may yet have the real article. A Danish engineer has invented an automatic steel soldier. If we understand the proposition, a steel cylinder is sunk in the earth; then ethereal waves are started from a wireless telegraphic station, which may be hundreds of miles away, and an inner cylinder springs to the surface, and fires off innumerable volleys in every direction.That looks all right, if it can be made to work, or, rather, to fight.
The steel soldier will not need any pay, nor clothing, nor rations. He can be depended upon to obey instructions by telegraph with neatness and dispatch. No danger of his running away; he will be always at his post, until he is shot to pieces by some other steel soldier. There will be no need for an expensive medical service. Just let him rest in peace where he falls.
Then, after the war is over, a commission of both countries can go out and collect and divide the scrap.This would settle all controversies over militarism. Those in favor of big armies and those opposed can find here a common ground. Even the "peace at any price" man would be willing to spend some money for fighting, which would not kill anyone. And the professional soldier would doubtless be glad of a chance to manoeuvre with an army of men who would stand where you put them,
and die in their tracks if necessary.
The friends of temperance would have no fault to find with this soldier, because he will never go near a saloon, and will not ask for the canteen,while no improper words will ever issue from his lips.And in the meantime, peaceable people will go about their business, undisturbed by "emergencies," real or imagined. In Ontario we will have no fear of conscription. And, down in Quebec, they will not be asked to vote against the Liberals because Sir Wilfrid Laurier is going to send the sons of the habitants to gory fields, where their internal organs will be disturbed by the fusillade of the enemy. Even the Hon. Col. Hughes might be satisfied with an army of steel soldiers.
At least, we hope he would. But it is not safe to predict what would satisfy him.The more citizens see of "experts" reports, the better they like their own common-sense.A Toronto contemporary says that "all laws should be enforced as the anti-gambling law was enforced against W. T. Jerome." In another column in the same issue its report of the trial shows that Jerome was discharged, and the judge apologized to him for the annoyance to which he had been put. We conclude, therefore, that when lawyers and reporters play penny-ante they are not gambling.With the rush of wheat into Winnipeg the price has dropped about six cents a bushel. In Minneapolis it remains unchanged. But, of course, all loyal Conservative farmers in the Northwest—if there are any—will be quite satisfied, and their eastern brethren will encourage them with cheering words and advise them to suffer gladly for their country or their party.Speaking in Vancouver, Sir Gilbert Parker told his audience: "You may not care for Englishmen personally, but the debt you owe is not to Englishmen personally, but to their institutions, constitution and traditions—to England and English common law."
That is all right; but we have no objection to the Englishman personally;
he is as good as any other Briton, and we like him just as well—if he is a good man. If he is a bad one, we don't want him at all.A postcard is being sold in Toronto bearing the words, "Welcome to Toronto, the best town in the U. S. A." Just imagine the indignation it would be had enough if someone tried that on in London. But when it comes to ultra-loyal Toronto, which is opposed to "truck or trade with the Yankees"—at election time, especially. If they can discover the culprit

[Regina Leader.]This is the 100th day since Parliament refused to pass the Borden pay bill, yet Premier Borden has given no sign of fulfilling his pledge to appeal to the people. Why?NOT THE ONLY THING.
[Winnipeg Tribune.]The defeat of reciprocity has done one thing to date, it has shut Western Canadian farmers out of the great Minneapolis grain market, where wheat is commanding a higher price than on this side of the line, and where flax and barley sell for many cents per bushel more than in Winnipeg.MIXED PRONOUNS.
[Manchester Guardian.]People in the Midlands use pronouns in a very perverse fashion. A woman was calling to her children and a group of youngsters standing by stood to listen. One of them said, "Er bairn't

[London Chronicle.]The difficulties of golfing without swearing were exemplified in the case of an elderly Scotch "meenister" who had taken to the links. "It's nae guid," he said sadly, pausing after two or three unsuccessful strokes, "I'll have to give it up." "What?" asked his senior deacon. "The golf?" "Nae, nae, the meenistry."WHERE THE RACE CRY COMES FROM.
[Toronto Star.]Throughout his whole career the racial cry has been used, not for, but against Sir Wilfrid Laurier. In Ontario he has been denounced as a Frenchman and a Catholic; in Quebec he has been denounced as a bad Catholic and an Englishman. Even Sir Charles Tupper, a Conservative leader, speaking to a French audience, said,
"Sir Wilfrid Laurier is too English for me." When Laurier was first made a minister of the crown, his Conservative opponents in Quebec said that he had become a Protestant minister of the Gospel!HOW SHE RECOVERED.

band died I was unable to sleep."
"If you are all over that now," her sympathetic friend replied."Yes. The lawyers finally found his

[Washington Star.]A man always feels like a hypocrite

[Judge.]"Ah, yes! And who gave the bride away?" inquired the able editor of the Goshen Gazette. "Nobody," replied the Sage who was relating the details of a recent wedding in high life. "If there was anybody present that could have done so he never said a word."WHO SPOKE FIRST?

in dear old London.THE FRIENDS OF LABOR.
[Regina Leader.]The history of Canadian legislation with regard to labor interests has been made by Liberal governments. The history of neglect to use wise legislative machinery for improving the relations between capital and labor and the prevention of strikes is being written by the Borden government. The Tory attitude was outlined by the Minister of Labor at Montreal, when he said that he had little use for labor unions, and has been further exemplified by the admission of the gentleman that he had completely failed to bring about industrial peace in the coal mines of Vancouver Island.EXHIBIT OF FRUITS AN ATTRACTIVE ONEApples, Pears, Peaches of the Finest Gathered From All Sections of Dominion.Visitors to the Fair, who have not seen the wonderful display of fruit in the Agriculture Building have missed one of the features of the exhibition.
Never before in the history of the Fair has such a splendid showing been made in all of the classes.There is a profusion of fruit laid out for inspection.
The exhibitors vied with each other in adding attractiveness to their exhibits and a more beautiful sight would be difficult to imagine. From all over Canada the choicest fruits were brought to add keenness to the competition. Big, round apples are piled in tiers, arranged in orderly rows, displayed in neat boxes and cases, and in many other catchy forms. Peaches hold a prominent place in the exhibition.
There are Early Crawford, Elberta, Crosby, Early Harward, Mountain Rose and the luscious Late Crawford.
Pears of the big, juicy kind found ready favor with the spectators. The class was well filled, Bartlett's, Bourne, Hardy, Howell, Sheldon, White Doyenne and full varieties being the most numerous. Plums were also seen in large quantities, some excellent specimens drawing much favorable comment. Bradshaw, Yellow Egg, Long-bird, Washington and Jefferson were the principal varieties.Tantalizing Grapes.
Perhaps nothing was so tantalizing to gaze upon as the splendid, large bunches of grapes. Particularly fine were some big bunches of Black, with Whites close seconds. Other varieties in evidence were Brighton, Rogers, Wilder, Lindley, Concord, Eaton, Delaware and the popular Niagara grapes from Niagara district.There were several excellent mixed displays, including apples, pears, plums, peaches and grapes, shown on plates. A 35-foot range was allowed for each display of this kind, and within these spaces as the collection as could possibly be brought together were to be seen.The feature of the fruit show was the fine exhibit of Middlesex County. Rows upon rows of choice No. 1 apples, the best the country produced, occupied a conspicuous position at the entrance to the north wing. There was also a comparison between apples taken from sprayed and pruned trees and neglected trees. The former were perfect, while the latter were smaller and spotted. It is a splendid example for fruit growers to follow.The Hospital for the Insane also had a large and varied display, and several occupied the west wall of the south wing and also the tables in front. Sheaves of wheat, corn on the stalks, and foliage artistically arranged on the wall added to the attractiveness of the vegetables and fruits on the tables. Photographs of the farm work in operation were also exhibited to advantage.The Canned Fruits.
Only two branches of the Women's Institute in Middlesex have availed themselves of the opportunity of competing for the special prizes offered this year by the Western Fair Board for best collection of canned or preserved fruit.The first prize was given to the Thorndale Women's Institute, the Wilton Grove branch obtaining second award.
Each branch exhibited 13 jars of fruit, including whole peaches and pears, pineapple, cherries, red and white, plums, green grapes, and several varieties of berries. Most of the fruit is bottled in clear glass jars, and shows to decided advantage.There were also several individual entries of six jars each, for which the first and second prizes went to Messames J. C. Westcott and Williams, both of Wilton Grove, and the third to Miss A. Vennor, of Hyde Park.This exhibit of canned fruit may be seen in the Agriculture Building, near the east side entrance.

Escape as Did Thaw?Question Raised as to Whether the Criminal Insane Should Be Kept in a Separate Institution as in England—The Case of MoirThe Toronto Star Weekly has the following, which will be of interest in view of the recent local agitation to have Gunner Moir released:Would it be possible for a criminal lunatic, like Harry Thaw, to escape from a Canadian asylum? Ought criminal lunatics to be placed in the same asylums as the mentally defective who are not criminal? Or should there be a separate institution for the criminally insane, like the Broadmoor Criminal Lunatic Asylum in England? Such were some of the questions which The Star Weekly recently discussed with a well-known Toronto medical man, who is well versed in lunacy and most that appertains to it."I cannot," he said, "express an opinion as to Thaw's escape, as I have no actual knowledge of the circumstances, nor, indeed, can I give an opinion as to whether an asylum was, or was not,
the place in which he really ought to have been confined at all. But I will say that a criminal lunatic is often very crafty. And no matter how seemingly perfect an organization may be,
it seems possible, on occasion, for such a one to beat it. I would have the most stringent precautions taken to insure that criminal lunatics do not effect escape from the institutions where they are held. And I am strongly of opinion that criminal lunatics should be lodged in an institution solely for their kind, and not in one where the mentally defective, who are not criminal, are also lodged. There are institutions in this country which receive both, and I believe the practice to be thoroughly bad for both."Moir and Taggart.
It will be remembered that it was from the Hamilton Hospital for the Insane, which shelters both classes of mentally defective, as do some other similar institutions in this country, that William Moir, the murderer of Sergeant Lloyd, and Robert McTaggart, the mur-derer of his wife, escaped three years ago. Their escape was due to the collusion of an attendant. But Moir had made two previous attempts, which might well have resulted in success. Inone of them he beat up a warder, but was ultimately overpowered. In the other, he fled away the bars of the window of his room."Precautions which are necessary," proceeded the doctor, before quoted, "to prevent the escape of criminal lunatics are wholly out of place and out of date where the merely mentally defective are concerned. The mentally defective is just a sick man, and should be treated as such. The day of chains and wristlets, and strait-jackets has gone, never to return. The old 'asylum' has been replaced by the 'hospital.' The patient is treated with sympathy and kindness, not as a criminal or a prisoner. If violent, he is sent to bed, and nursed. But a rational diet and plenty of occupation —particularly of a manual kind—help to restore many of these poor sick people to normal mental health."Treat Them Well.
"Of course, in the interests of the public, it is necessary to take precautions to prevent escape. But there may be worse evils than the occasional escape of a mental defective not criminally disposed. For example, I have known several instances of persons confined in hospitals for the insane making their escape, and subsequently obtaining employment, and making good. These instances give one occasion for pause. One cannot help wondering how many patients there are who are detained in these hospitals who would really make good outside. Undoubtedly there must be many, just as there are many people outside who would be better in.""The tendency of today in dealing with the mental defectives is to give them courage and confidence—to help them, too, to an insight into the nature of their own malady. We are still, perhaps, only on the threshold of the right way of treating this disease. But the public mind certainly needs to be better educated on the question. It wants to be taught to regard the mental defective in a more human light, and not merely as a person to be shrank from or feared. Where at all possible, the object should be to relax, not to increase, restraints."MANY PROTECTIVE MEASURES PROPOSED BY HEALTH BOARDBan Hay Fever Weeds, Stop Night Noises, Better Meat Inspection, Etc.Passed hay fever prevention ordinance.
Made provision for slaughter-house inspection.
Took up better handling of bread.
Investigated milk can nuisance.
Ordered cessation of unnecessary night noises.
Condemned Dundas street houses.
Notified butchers of offal fed hogs liability to seizure.
Ordered better street cleaning.Tuesday's session of the board of health was a record-breaker as far as health protective measures are concerned. Dr. F. L. Burdon, chairman of the board, presented to its attention a number of matters upon which the other members decided to act.Inspection of Meats.
The first question raised was the added powers of the local boards, under the new health act, to provide for greater protection of the public meat consumption. On motion of Dr. Burdon, a resolution was passed ordering the butchers and slaughter-house men, who supply meat for London trade, to make statutory affidavits as to the killing of the meat and its condition. Instructions will be issued to these men, outlining the conditions under which meat can be prepared for consumption, and an inspection system will be instituted. Any butchers or wholesalers who refuse to comply with the orders of the board will be barred from selling meat in this city.Ban Hay Fever Weeds.
Weeds, conducive to hay fever, are going to be banned from London. Dr.
Burdon raised the question of the prevalence of the fever in this city, and declared that in the opinion of many medical men in the city, the weeds allowed to grow along the line of the G. T. R. and in vacant lots were responsible. Rag weed, golden rod, the pollen of which is responsible for the fever, were condemned. Their presence in many of the vacant lots of the city, and especially along the line of the way of the Grand Trunk, from end to end of the city, was referred to, and a resolution passed ordering all owners of vacant lots, the railways and the city to cut down all weeds growing on these respective properties. If the work was not done by the responsible persons, then the board will step in and have the work charged up against the property.Bakers To Use Tongs.
More sanitary handling of bread was decided on, though no resolutions were passed along this particular line. It was decided to ask the bakers of the city to co-operate with the board in an endeavor to have the bread handled better than at present. The respective merits of wrapping, the use of gloves and of tongs were considered. The general approval seemed to be with the latter suggestion, the first having been considered too much of an advantage for the larger companies.W. H. Abbott, referring to the handling of bread in general, declared that conditions were vastly better than they were. He, however, stated that in a bakery wagon from one of the smaller towns he had found maggots, caused by the hot bread, the resulting dampness and the practice of putting bags in the wagons upon which the loaves were laid.No Double-Bottom Cans.
An investigation into double-bottom milk cans was ordered on the suggestion of J. R. Haslett. He declared that many of the milk dealers were using double-bottom cans for the carriage of milk. The second bottom insuredlonger life to the can, but in the case of any break in the first bottom it allowed milk to form in an insanitary sediment that scalding or any cleaning treatment was powerless to remove. After the investigation an ordinance will be prepared prohibiting the use of this type of can after a certain date, if conditions are found as they are reported.Condemned Insanitary Houses.
Two houses, at the foot of Dundas street hill, recently placarded by the board as insanitary, were the subject of still further discussion. Dr. Bur-don reported that he had paid personal visit of inspection to these places and that the rear, especially, was unfit for human habitation. He, therefore, brought in a resolution ordering the rear of the two houses to be removed at once. It was passed.A supplementary resolution was brought in and carried that the building inspector be notified of the condition of the entire houses. There is a like-hood that the two departments will co-operate in having the entire building removed.No More Slaughter-House Hogs.
No more slaughter-house hogs will be allowed on the London market. Under the new health act, no animals that are fed on blood, offal or any kind of meat, that is either diseased or putrid, or has not been steamed or cooked, are allowed to be sold. A heavy penalty is imposed for any infringement of this clause, and the health boards are empowered to seize and destroy any animals so fed, either before or after killing. The board decided that every slaughter-house keeper and butcher in London and vicinity should be appraised of the new law and the section of the health act, containing it, will be forwarded to them.Wants Cleaner Streets.
Street cleaning, particularly of the pavements, is better than formerly, according to E. J. Haslett, but it is still far from coming up to the mark.
He instanced several cases where pavement sweepings were allowed to accumulate because of lack of cans, and suggested that covered receptacles be provided in order that the "white wings" could more efficiently carry out their work. He was of the opinion that more men ought to be added to this department. The case was drawn to the attention of the board of works, a memorial having been sent on to the latter body.The bill of the Provincial Board of Health for cleaning the Anderson avenue dump ($450) having been dealt with by the city council, was allowed to pass without comment.Quietness Must Reign.
If Dr. Burdon and the other members of the board have their way, the slumbers of peaceful citizens will no longer be disturbed by unnecessary noises during the "watches of the night." Dr. Burdon raised the question and declared that in London there were many noises at night that were not only unnecessary, but harmful to health. He instanced American cities as examples of what had been done to prevent these noises.At his suggestion a resolution was adopted, calling on the council to amend the city ordinance covering noises, so as to prohibit the use of auto cut-outs, motorcycles without mufflers, the tooting of horns and so on. Barking of dogs, noisy roosters, fighting cats, and a few other things

There are many savings accounts opened with the Home Bank for special purposes; for instance—a householder may be buying up to make payment against a mortgage on his house or to pay a premium on his life insurance. W. H. Abbott was appointed the board's delegate to the international health convention that meets shortly in Regina, Sask. This convention is regarded as one of the most important of its kind, and the board expects to receive many tips and suggestions from its deliberations.

The monthly report of the medical health officer showed only six cases of infectious diseases in the city.

Billie Burke Tells How to Take Off Tan of Which You Were So Proud---Once

[BY BILLIE BURKE.]

BILLIE BURKE.

Since I have been ill I have found out that no busy woman who goes along and does her work day after day ever realizes just how much she accomplishes until for some reason she leaves undone those things she ought to do.

Such sweet letters have come to me from my many readers since I have been sick I wish I could tell every one of the writers personally how much I appreciate her thoughtfulness, but these letters have piled up on my desk until I can hardly see over them and my secretary says that it will be impossible for her to take any more dictation than she is doing now. With rehearsals for two new plays coming it looks like a strenuous few months for B. B.

I am today going to answer a number of frantic requests; however, for "something to take off my tan." During the summer you were delighted with your fine brown color; in fact, you tried to get as tanned as possible, but now that you are home and beginning to think of going to the theatre and to parties, not one of your hats or frocks seem to look well with your darkened skin. And to cap the climax of your annoyance and distress you find that for every shade that your complexion has turned dark your hair--from going without a hat--has turned a shade lighter. You feel like a "bleached blond."

But you can bleach your skin out in a very few weeks if you go at it in the right manner. There is nothing that is a finer bleach than perspiration, so first you must take a sweat bath at least twice a week. You need not go to the Turkish bathhouse to do this. Just put a half a pint of alcohol in a pint pail and put the pail on an overturned soup plate under a wooden kitchen chair. Put a cushion on the wood seat and after you have lighted the spirits and seated yourself have some one wrap around you and the chair a heavy blanket. Be very careful that the flames are not high enough to burn you or set the blanket on fire.

Sit as long as possible and when you are good and wet get into the bathtub filled with very warm salt water. Wash yourself thoroughly and then turn on the cold water. Stay in the tub until the water is perfectly cold, and then rub yourself dry with a coarse towel. After you are perfectly dry dab on your face, arms and neck the following lotion:

One pint of extract of hamamelis, 1 pint of rose water, ½ ounce of benzoin and 1 ounce of aromatic vinegar.

The next morning cleanse your face in cold cream made after the following formula:

One ounce of coconut butter, 1 ounce of lanolin, ½ ounce of white wax, ½ ounce of spermaceti, 2 ounces of sweet almond oil, 2 ounces of orange flower water and 10 drops of benzoin. Heat wax and oils and beat in the orange water. Beat until perfectly cold.

The nights you do not take the sweat bath, wash your hands, face and neck with a 10 per cent solution of boracic acid made milky with a few drops of benzoin. This treatment will whiten your skin as rapidly as anything I know. But it is a thousand times better not to get brown in the first place.

PROBLEMS OF THE FAIR SEX SOLVED BY CYNTHIA GREY

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letters can be answered privately.]

What Should She Say?

Dear Miss Grey--I have dark hair, dark eyes, and am not too fair or too dark, what are my colors?

2. Who should provide the flowers for the bridesmaid?

3. What do you think of my writing?

4. When introduced to a chum's friend, what is something good to say? Thanking you in advance.

ROSE BUD.

A.--1. Tan, brown, green, blue, and old rose.

2. The groom provides the flowers for the bridesmaid.

3. Your writing is neat.

4. It is quite customary to say: "I am pleased to meet you"; then there is that old standby, the weather subject. That is always safe. But for goodness' sake, child, don't always say the same thing.

Brown Eyes.

Dear Miss Grey--I, could you please tell me if beaver hats will be worn this winter?

2. I am 15 years old, five feet four inches tall, how long should I wear my dresses?

3. What do you think of my writing?

BROWN EYES.

A.--1. Yes, beaver hats will be worn this winter.

2. About five inches below the knee.

3. Your writing is neat, but has a tendency to be cramped; do not hold your pen too tight, and endeavor to use arm movement.

The High Coiffure.

Dear Miss Grey--I am a girl 18 years old and wish to arrange my hair high on my head. Mother says this makes one look older. Is this so?

A.--The high coiffure does add to one's years. The hair arranged low on the neck makes the face look younger. However, one's features as well as one's age must be taken into consideration before deciding how the coiffure should be arranged.

Does Anyone Know?

Dear Miss Grey--As you have answered questions for me before, I come again to ask you if you could give me the address of the Diamond Glass Company? They make fruit jars with the tops. Four years ago I bought some of their jars, and now need some new tops, and I cannot get them in our town. Hoping to see an answer soon, I remain,

A READER OF THE PAPER.

KATHERINE LESLIE'S HOME CHAT

THE SMALL BOY AND HIS MOTHER'S TEACHING.

The little lad was going to his first "job." He had been offered a holiday "job" for which he was to be well paid, and he was delighted at the prospect of making some money. He was so concerned with this aspect of the "job" and so little with the work, that his mother thought he needed a little guidance. It was what I saw and heard. "Come here, darling, I want to talk seriously with you," said the mother. And drawing the little fellow of 12 close to her side, she said: "What would you think if Mr. Blank kept out of your pay at the end of the two weeks 50 cents or 80 cents, or perhaps a dollar?" "But that would be cheating!" exclaimed the boy indignantly. "He promised me $5 for the job." "Exactly," said the mother. "Now, what do you give in exchange for that $5, dear?" "Why, mother, I give my work," said the small boy. "Not only your work, but your time, my boy," gravely replied the mother. "Now, remember, that if you waste your time--no, not your time, but Mr. Blank's time, since he is paying you for it--by idling, by looking at the people, by talking with the other boys instead of doing your work, if you waste 10 minutes, 50 minutes, or an hour daily of Mr. Blank's time, that he is paying for, you are cheating Mr. Blank, just as he would be doing if he paid you less than he promised you. It is just as mean to cheat with time and work as it is to cheat with money. Remember, that it is not honest to take money as pay for work or time that you have not done and given. It is dishonest to give as little work as possible for the money that is paid you. You must be a manly man, dear, and a manly man does nothing that is mean or shabby or dishonest or dishonorable. And there is nothing so mean and shabby and dishonest and dishonorable as scamping your work or cheating at your time. Promise mother that you will work hard and earn every cent that Mr. Blank has offered for your job. That little fellow looked as though he were thinking hard. These were things he had not thought of before. But he gave his promise, and I could not but think that if an Canadian mother were taking the trouble to explain to their boys the meaning of work and time and their relation to wages and salaries, and to inculcate in them the principles of honesty and honor as their mother was doing, the coming generations of Canadians will never bring upon their families or country the dreadful reproach of dishonesty.

LONDON LADY TELLS OF BIG FUNCTIONS IN MOTHER LAND

Mrs. (Dr.) H. T. Reason Describes Receptions, Etc., Tendered Visitors to Congress of Doctors in London, England.

The following letter has been received by a friend in this city, from Mrs. (Dr.) Harry T. Reason (formerly Ethelwyn Johnston), describing some of the functions tendered to visitors at the International Congress of Doctors, held in London, England, in August, and at which Dr. Reason was a delegate. Mrs. Reason writes: "There is so much I want to tell you that I hardly know where to begin. I have wished so many times you could have been with me, as I have been to some wonderful affairs. Sir Thomas Barlow gave a reception the first night of the congress. There were a good many in Oriental dresses, and wonderful gowns. That was Wednesday night, Thursday we were at a luncheon and to the theatre Thursday and Friday evenings.

"Saturday morning we left for Brighton, where we were tendered a luncheon at the Hotel Metropole, and afterwards a garden party in the Palace grounds given by the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress of Brighton. The palace was built by George IV. and occupied by royalty until the death of Edward VII. Most of the rooms are as they were originally and are most beautiful. We were received in the south drawing-room, a perfectly wonderful room. The gardens were beautifully decorated and a band played and different singers of note sang during the afternoon. We spent the week-end there, and did enjoy it so much.

"We returned to London Monday morning and went to a garden party given by the Duke and Duchess of Bedford. We had a most enjoyable time there, but last night eclipsed anything I ever saw. It was a conversation given by Lord and Lady Strathcona. The grounds and decorations are beyond description. The trees, flower-beds and bushes were strung with myriads of different colored bulbs; there were a half dozen marquees and two bands, one in the palm room, the other on the lawn, and an orchestra played and different ones sang. There was a promenade walk arranged by placing bamboo poles opposite each other and on each of these poles were six Chinese lanterns of all colors. The tips of the poles met, forming a beautiful arch. And, oh! you should have seen the gowns. I never imagined anything like them.

Dr. and Mrs. Reason, who have been spending their honeymoon in the old land, in company with Dr. Clifford and Mrs. Reason, sen., expect to return to London about Oct. 1.

Half an Hour With the Cook

Readers of this page are requested to contribute recipes or helpful hints along culinary lines for publication in this column, the desire being to make it one of mutual benefit. Original recipes, or any found to be tried and true, will be especially appreciated.

As a general thing, the simpler the method of preparing vegetables for the table the better, but so many vary the menu so little that the family grows tired of the boiled, fried or mashed potato, the steamed corn and the creamed beans and pickled beets which seem to many housekeepers the limit of possibility in the vegetable line.

Queer Quetzal With Fine Plumage Is National Bird of Guatemala

AS TOLD BY AUNT GERTIE.

The bird house at the Zoo is so interesting that Artist "Barnie" and I spent another afternoon there this week.

While we were watching the birds or gorgeous plumage and listening to their chatter and queer calls, we noticed a long-tailed bird sitting a little apart from the rest on a high perch. No one seemed to know its name, so we inquired of the keeper, whom all the birds seem to love.

He feeds them, you see!

The man told us that this bird's name was "Quetzal."

The home of the quetzal is South America, and it has been adopted as the national bird of Guatemala.

In ancient times it was regarded with veneration and its bright feathers were kept to decorate chiefs of the native tribes.

The quetzal clings to trees much of its time and scrambles about just as a woodpecker does. Its upper plumage is very brilliant--a beautiful green. Its head is golden and its tail feathers are a beautiful blue.

You will notice that the two centre sections of its tail are very long, 23 to 26 inches.

The plumage of many bright-colored birds fades after the bird dies. This is not so with the plumage of the quetzal, which retains its brilliancy. On this account the feathers are very much sought by milliners.

You will see the picture of the quetzal on the Guatemalan postage stamps.

CANADIAN LEAGUE SEEMS
DUE FOR REORGANIZATION

Sale of Hamilton Franchise May Be Initial Step in Re-arrangement of Canuck Circuit—Move To Bring American Cities in Appears To Be a Poor One.

The passing of "Kooty" Lee, founder of the Canadian League, from the organization which he fathered and worked over so hard in order to put it on a paying basis, will probably result in a reorganization of the Canuck circuit. For the past couple of seasons it has been reported that the league will drop Guelph and Berlin, the two poorest-paying clubs on the circuit, and either form a six-club league or take in Toronto and Montreal. The probable purchase of the Hamilton franchise by the Toronto International League club will put an end to any further attempt to place a Canadian League club in the Queen City, and will be a stronger argument for a six-club league.

Six-Team League Should Pay Better. There is little doubt that a six-team organization can be made a better paying proposition than the present eight-club circuit, and with Ottawa, London, Hamilton and one or two of the other clubs favoring the smaller circuit, the change may be taken up and adopted at the next league meeting. The only objection to a six-club circuit is the long jump to Ottawa. With a smaller league the other teams would have to make this jump a couple more times each season than they have in the past two years, and without a pennant-winning club in the capital this would not be a paying proposition.

Keep Out the Americans. Of late agitation has been started to bring two American border cities into the league, Niagara Falls and some other place in that section. Past experience with a league composed of American and Canadian cities such as are mentioned has been a costly one, and every league bordering organized with this circuit has been a total failure. The International League of five or six years ago was the last attempt, and this league broke up in the middle of the season. The Canadian towns were supporting it far better than the larger American cities.

There is need of reorganization in the Canadian League at present, but it cannot be accomplished successfully by replacing Canadian cities with American border cities. What is needed is a complete six-club league or else an eight-team league, with Toronto and Montreal replacing Guelph and Berlin.

Dunlap, Not "Dunlop," Is Way to Spell Shortstop's Name

London Player, Now With Cleveland, Did Not Want to Have It Changed After Fans Had Got Used to Calling Him "Dunlop."

George Dunlap, the London shortstop who was sold to the Cleveland Club, and who got his first chance in a big league game at Washington yesterday, made his debut in fast company under conditions that were enough to try even the most seasoned recruit. Dunlap was sent in to play shortstop in the second game, after Washington had obtained a lead that Cleveland had little chance of overcoming, especially with Walter Johnson out there pitching against them.

To have to face the best pitcher in the world on his first appearance in a big league game does not often fall to the lot of the recruit, so that it is little wonder that Dunlap is not credited with a hit. His game in the field, however, was perfect, having three chances without a slip up.

His Right Name Is Dunlap. Dunlap's right name is Dunlap. When he first joined the London Club it was but later Manager Eddie Donohue said it was Dunlop. However, Dunlop himself settled the question by stating that the last syllable was spelt with an "a," but as the fans had come to know him as

Dunlop, he did not want the name to be changed. It, however, will appear in the Cleveland lineup as Dunlap, and local fans who see it will now know that instead of being a typographical error,

it is the real spelling of his name.

May Return to London. Dunlap will likely return to this city after the American League season closes.

He stated before departing that he liked London, and would stay here all winter if he secured a position. A couple of good positions were offered him, and he, together with Looey Bierbauer, may remain here until next spring.

Big Bowling and Curling Revival Occurs in Ingersoll

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, Sept. 10.—Ingersoll never experienced such a bowling revival as during the present season and the prospects appear unusually bright for the success of the game next year. In this connection it might be stated that the projects also are bright for an increased membership of the Curling Club.

It is a singular fact that the two games are very similar, and many of the men who bowl are also enthusiastic curlers. The competition created by the Rogers' trophy has proved beneficial to the competition of next season. The Rogers' trophy has been won by the rink skipped by Mr. G. A. Myers. Their opponents were a rink skipped by Mr. C. H. Sumner and the Myers' rink won out by a score of 22 to 8. The games have been contested with a spirit that must necessarily build up the club and a banner season is expected in 1914.

2:50 PACE SPLIT
INTO TWO RACES

Owing to Big Entry List Management Decides to Hold Another Race Friday.

CONSOLATION CANCELLED

Otto Bars Took 2:24 Trot, While Red Smith Captured Part of 2:50 Pace.

Another fine program of racing was provided in front of the grandstand at the Western Fair yesterday afternoon. A much larger crowd than on Monday gathered in the stand and enjoyed the sport.

Consolation Cancelled.

One of the biggest entry lists of any trotting event ever pulled off at the Western Fair was brought out in the 2:50 pace, a mile heat, for green horses. Secretary Eastwood had 16 entries in this event, and it was decided to divide the race in two and only let nine of the horses start in yesterday's race. To do this it was necessary to cancel the consolation race on Friday and hold instead the 2:50 pace in order to let the other entries run. The Fair management decided it advisable to make this change owing to the risk of accident if such a big field was allowed to run in the one event.

Red Smith's 2:50 Pace.

This race provided the feature for the afternoon, four heats being necessary to decide it. Liberty Lass captured the first heat, but the next three

went to Red Smith, Charlie Barrett's likely looking little horse. Red Smith nosed out Liberty Lass in the stretch in the second heat and captured the other two rather easily. Liberty Lass Yesterday.

WERE TAKING IN SIGHTS

Yesterday was not Farmer's Day at the Western Fair, but nevertheless "Rube" Deneau and Matty Matteson, late 1913 Canadian League pennant chasers, were on the grounds yesterday taking in all the sights. Rube and Matty journeyed up from Windsor yesterday afternoon in order to take in London's great fall exhibition.

When seen last evening they denied that they had bought any gold bricks or that anybody had relieved them of their watch or had picked their pocket. Both seemed to be having a good time and amid mouthfuls of peanuts and pop-corn stammered out they were enjoying themselves immensely.

Their visit was largely one of pleasure and had little to do with the London baseball club or matters pertaining to baseball. Matty is anxious to land the Brantford management job and he may be the next leader of the Red Sox. Rube had little to say about baseball.

The winner of the stakes was Night Hawk, owned by W. Hall Walker. White Magic finished second, and Serenad was third. Twelve horses started.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Washington outclassed Cleveland in both games of today's double-header, winning by 8 to 1 and 8 to 2 and gaining two full games on the Naps for second place. Gregg was wild in the first game and Cullip, who relieved him in the second, was hit hard, as was James in the seventh. Boehling gave the visitors but four scattered hits.

Blanding was driven from the box in the third inning of the second game, while Walter Johnson held the visitors safe at all stages. Ayres, a recruit from the Richmond Club, of the Virginia League, twirled the last inning of the second game, and made a good impression. Scores:

Poles, Chinese, Scotch, Irish, English and Canadians helped along the tableau.

China Militant.

Tom See is a cook in the Empress Club. Ordinarily he hosts nothing heavier than eggs. Last night he broke his hard and fast rule. Further, he broke a plate over the eye of William Marks, of Parkhill. This morning he broke a plate to pay his $3 fine and costs. When the case was unravelled for the edification of the court, it was claimed that Marks and two companions ordered a meal that wasn't up to specifications. There was an altercation over the payment for said meal, and the result was a small-sized free-for-all.

History Was Difficult.

Police Magistrate J. C. Judd endeavored to delve into the little ancient history to see whether Joe Zubik or Mike Sanitaris struck the first blow. After a short attempt he desisted. Apparently interchange of pleasant words and the swapping of blows has been so long in existence that neither could recollect the first encounter. The gentleman with the mineral water name accused his com-patriot with having "knobbed his head," or "pushed his dome," in other words.

ACTOR CRAIG DEADWas Well Known on Canadian Stage for Many Years in Noted Plays.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Mr. Charles G. Craig, a former well-known actor, who had been ill for a considerable time, died on Monday night at the Kennedy Hospital, Rusholme road. Mr. Craig was well known on the Canadian stage many years, his best work being in "More Acres." In the course of a production of the famous pastoral drama, he sustained an injury which resulted in creeping paralysis. Since then his wife, who had previously only played small parts, took to the stage seriously, and has gained fame as a character actress. She has appeared in Toronto in "The Winslow Boy" and "The Clansman" and "Beverly of Graustark." During the past week she has been playing in "The Sons of the Father" at Rochester, and came to Toronto at once on learning the news of her husband's death.

NEW YORK BEAT ST. LOUIS.
New York, Sept. 9.—Wild pitching by Wellman and Leverniz, both southpaws, coupled with a batting rally in the fifth inning which drove the former from the box, enabled the New Yorkers to subdue the St. Louis Browns today at the Polo Grounds by a score of 8 to 5. Ray Fisher was touched up rather freely in the third and eighth, the Browns out-hitting the New Yorks 10 to 7. Score:

PIMPLES BROKE OUT AROUND CHIN

Burst and Formed Ugly Soabs. Burning, then Itching. Had to Go Without Shaving for Weeks. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Skin Perfectly Clear.

181 Close St., Toronto, Ont.—"I was troubled with facial eczema for nearly ten years. The first signs were pimples breaking out and then burning and forming nasty ugly soabs around my chin. Very often the sensation was that of burning, then itching so that I scratched the sore. I had to go without shaving for weeks at a time. I tried many patent remedies but patient found a permanent cure. Every spring and fall the disease appeared at its worst. I sometimes got rid of it for a few months, then it returned as bad as ever.

"About six months ago I received a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and found great relief after a few applications. I purchased two boxes of Cuticura Ointment and some Cuticura Soap and used them as directed and now my skin is perfectly clear. I can shave with pleasure." (Signed) Wm. MacBean, May 27, 1912.

Not only is Cuticura Soap and Ointment most valuable in the treatment of eczema and other distressing eruptions of skin and scalp, but no other eczema so much for pimples, blackheads, red, rough skin, itching, scaly soabs, dandruff, dry, thin and falling hair, chapped hands and shapeless nails, nor do it so economically. A single cake of Cuticura Soap (25c.) and box of Cuticura Ointment (50c.) are often sufficient when all else has failed. Sold by druggists and dealers throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post card Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 43D, Boston, U. S. A.

No Other Way

BY GORDON HOLMES.

Author of "A Mysterious Disappearance,"
"The House of Silence," Etc.

He seemed to abandon some project he was entertaining, and asked the women, with a smile, whether they preferred the window open or shut.

All this, of course, was excellent footing. Clancy meanwhile was peering after the porter, en route to the telephone office. "The lady who gave you the telegram," he gasped, "is she the same?"

"She is not sure. If she has written 'Peena,'"

"The man obeyed instantly, and Clancy owned the man quicker pair of eyes.

"Yes, it's all right—thank you," he said, and made the imperative command to John Stratton Terrie.

"Follow me to Atlantic City by next train without fail. Most important. Wire."

Now, neither he nor Steingall had agreed on a course of action. They had seen Mrs. Delamar prepare to send off a message, and Clancy had skipped to the end of the corridor without a word. The remainder of the comedy was merely the working of two trained artists, each could trust the other to do exactly the right thing. When Clancy gave Steingall the text of the telegram, his chief did not even trouble to tell him how he had brought Mrs. Delamar from the window at the psychological moment.

"No, did Clancy return to the car until five minutes after the train had started. Then he reappeared with news.

"The district attorney's deputy," he said, "has a section all to his lonesome 'Captains' said. Steingall and they gathered up their baggage, including the square case.

"The good woman caught Mrs. Delamar's eye again.

"Those men must be detectives," she said. "I remember the name of Forbes as appearing for the district attorney. Don't you wish they had brought him here?"

"Why?" demanded Mrs. Delamar, forcing a smile.

"Because they are extraordinarily out spoken, and it is so interesting to listen to the conversation of such people. I suppose this Absecon murder will be all in the papers tomorrow or Thursday."

"Murder?" Mrs. Delamar's voice sounded somewhat shocked. "Why do you call it murder?"

"Oh, the district attorney would not take it up otherwise. I know a little about these matters. My husband used to be connected with the department."

"But, if I recall the incident correctly, there was an inquest. I think the poor man was supposed to have died from heart disease while sailing his yacht."

"You mark my words, there is more in it than can be seen; though, for the life of me, I cannot imagine why that queer little man gave his friend such a lecture about it, and before us, too."

"I am going to Atlantic City—they mention that place, didn't they?"

"Absecon, wasn't it?"

"Yes, perhaps it was. But the inquest was held at Atlantic City, I fancy."

"So it was."

"Well," and Mrs. Delamar languidly reopened her writing-case, "as I have had plenty of time to read the papers while in a chair on the board walk, I may hear more of it, and before us, too."

The other woman was well acquainted with Atlantic City, and was half inclined to put leading questions, but, being a well-bred person, refrained, and the opportunity passed.

While the detectives were making for Forbes' locality, Steingall saw Waverton sitting dejectedly in an intervening car. With him was a respectable looking person with an inch of dark whisker beneath the chin.

Clancy grinned. He, of course, had discovered Steingall's presence during his earlier transit.

"A nice bunch of sleuths we are!" growled Steingall, "but they were out of our line. Here is our bird in this train, and we never flushed him!"

"Name of good old gray man!" smirked Clancy. "What a lark if he had come into our car and Mrs. Delamar's! But I'm mighty glad he didn't."

"I should like to know just why you say that," muttered Steingall.

"Because he is under suspicion, and he is such a real good fellow. Makes you feel sort of ashamed of yourself for regarding him as a villain. Is that how it strikes you, Steingall?"

"I am not quite sure yet that he is a villain," said the chief inspector. "The Waverton case has taken on a few peculiar kinks during the last fortnight, and it may have a twist or two in store."

"Yes, if Waverton is Scott, he has committed offences enough already to keep him in the Sing Sing for the rest of his natural life. Queer how we sympathize with him. Ah, here is Forbes."

"Mrs. Delamar might have seen Waverton either at New York or on arriving at Atlantic City, but she gave no sign of the knowledge. If she possessed it, she was driven to one of the large hotels, found a telegram awaiting her there, went to her room, dressed, and she telephoned to the police station and went out."

Hence it happened that a small cove of officialdom at another hotel was interrupted by a waiter.

"Mr. Steingall," he inquired.

"Yes," said Steingall.

"Lady to see you, sir."

"Ah!" He exchanged glances with Clancy.

"Toujours cherchez la femme!" laughed the latter.

"This time the femme is cherechez me. You come, too."

"Who is it?" demanded Forbes, realizing from the manner of the two men that the call was on business.

"Mrs. Delamar, for a five-spot," said Steingall.

And it was!

How to Rid the Skin
Of Objectionable Hairs

[Toilet Talks.]

Make a thick paste with some powdered talc and water and apply to hairy surface for two or three minutes; then rub off, wash the skin and it will be smooth and free from hair. This simple treatment banishes hair or fuzz without pain or inconvenience, but care should be used to get the talc into an original package. Applying pyrolox at bath-tubs with thumb and forefinger causes the eyelashes to grow long and slightly curly, and the eyebrows are thin, rub pyrolox on frequently and they will come in thick and glossy. Be careful and don't get any where no hair is wanted.

FOUND BODY OF A. RUBENSTEIN HID IN CELLAR

Police Believe That He Was Murdered by Crooks for His Money.

STRANGER GOT THE KEY
Went to Store and May Have Placed the Body
There.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Sept. 9.—Buried under a pile of coke and rubbish in the cellar of a vacant store at 384 Somerset street, the body of Charles Robinson, but whose real name is Abe Rubenstein, of Brooklyn, was found today under circumstances pointing to murder.

Robinson, who hailed from New York, was a sheet writer for Nathan Shapiro, a bookmaker of St. Louis, Mo., and vanished from Connaught Park track here on the evening of Aug. 28.

From that date until today not the slightest trace of him was found, and all the efforts of his employer failed to reveal anything in regard to his movements. Shapiro offered a reward and went to Montreal on Thursday.

Stranger Got Key.
On the Saturday before Labor Day a stranger obtained the key of 384 Somerset street, stating that he wanted to open a clothing store, and was looking for a location. Only a meagre description of this man is obtainable. The key was returned on Tuesday, the man saying the store did not suit.

Today the house was entered and examined, and the body of Robinson found in the cellar. The corpse was so badly decomposed about the face as to be practically unrecognizable, but the identity was established by means of articles of clothing.

Has Many Wounds.
What wounds there are on the body or what caused the man's death cannot be stated until after the autopsy which will be performed tomorrow.

The theory of the police is that Robinson did not die in the Somerset street house, which has been long vacant, but that he met his death elsewhere, and the body was taken to the Somerset street place in a trunk, possibly by the man who got the key on the 9th of August. A large trunk was found near the heap covering the man's body.

AMUSEMENTS

Irish Romance Five Performances.
The tenor voice of Fiske O'Hara will be heard in a choice budget of new songs at the Grand tonight for five performances with special matinee on Saturday, when he will present his newest Irish romance, "In Old Dublin." Mr. O'Hara is an ideal interpreter of the ballad. His rendition of Irish songs is especially characterized by feeling and his execution shows a sound training in the various essentials that go to the making of a singer who is also an artist. The character of Neil Powers, the hero of "In Old Dublin," is one of those ideal personages licensed to sing at any time during the progress of the story, and the songs never seem to be out of place. Mr. O'Hara is particularly happy in this style of characters, and plays them better, perhaps, than any interpreter of Celtic roles now before the public.

FOURTEEN DROWN IN WRECK OF GREAT GERMAN AIRSHIP

Huge Aerial Craft Was Caught in Hurricane While Going To Take Part in Manoeuvres—Kaiser Weeps Over Disaster.

Berlin, Sept. 10.—The worst of the numerous disasters which have overtaken Germany's airship fleet happened last evening, when the new naval ship Zeppelin L-1 was wrecked while on a voyage from the mainland to Heligoland, 28 miles away, and 14 of the crew of 20 were drowned. This is the twelfth accident to befall the Zeppelin airships, and the first to be accompanied with loss of life. News of the disaster was conveyed to the Kaiser, who burst into tears when he learned of its tragic nature.

On Trial Trip.
It had been previously announced that the L-1 was going on a 54 hours non-stop trial trip from Friedrichshafen to Wilhelmshaven, where she was to be joined by two waterplanes. Thence she was to proceed with the waterplanes to Heligoland, from which place she would cruise across Schleswig-Holstein to Danzig, returning from the latter place to Friedrichshafen by way of Potsdam and Hanover.

Disaster Came.
Details of the voyage have not yet reached Berlin, but it was apparently without incident until the disaster came. This was about 7 o'clock, when the L-1 was struck by a hurricane 18 miles north of Heligoland. The great airship was struck by the terrific gusts almost amidships and hurled to the surface of the sea, where she was pounded to pieces by the wind and the waves.

According to the incomplete reports which have been received up to the present, the big ship floated for about

After a Terrible Struggle—The Police Are Scouring the Country.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Windsor, Sept. 10.—The police are scouring the district for a clue to the murder of an unknown woman, whose body was found hidden in a cornfield at Oldcastle, eight miles from here, shortly after eight o'clock last evening.

The woman, who was of medium height and about 35 years of age, was evidently having been terribly beaten over the head with some blunt instrument. Her body bore evidences of a fierce struggle. Her hair was disarranged, her face a mass of cuts and bruises, while her clothes were torn to shreds.

Coroner J. W. Brien, of Essex, was notified, and will conduct the investigation. Though the opinion that the woman is the victim of some person who lay in wait for her as she was passing along a road not far from the field, which is a part of a farm owned by Michael Robinson, sen.

Constable Frank Brown, of Essex, arrived in Windsor at 10 o'clock last night and asked the aid of the Windsor police in investigating the woman's death. An inquest was held this morning.

The body was discovered by Frank Robinson, jun., a farmer's son, who was passing through the field at dusk.

PRODUCE.
TORONTO, Sept. 9.—Wheat—The run here yesterday totaled 137 cars, containing 3,606 cattle, 366 calves, 1,225 sheep and lambs, 1,973 hogs, and 22 horses.

Despite the very large run of cattle today the market opened firmer than it has been for some months. In almost every department an increase of from fifteen to twenty-five cents was recorded, and the trading was very brisk at that price. There was an exceedingly good demand for both butcher and export grades, while a number of Montreal buyers were calling for heavy butcher cattle. Distillery cattle were also in demand, and the call for stockers and feeders for both home and export trade was marked. Calves became very firm today, the market for very choice calves being from seventy-five cents to one dollar higher than last week.

The prevailing prices in this market today were higher than at any time during the summer. Though the run of sheep and lambs was fairly large for an opening day, that market regained what it lost last week, opening at from twenty-five to fifty cents above last week's closing quotations. There was no change in hogs, this market remaining firm throughout the week. The jump in prices is due to the whole to the cooler weather and the increased local consumption.

LOAD OF EGGS WAS WRECKED

Big Auto Truck Went Over Embankment Near St.
Marys.

DRIVER WAS UNHURT

[Special to The Advertiser.]
St. Marys, Sept. 10.—Yesterday forenoon the motor truck of the J. D. Moore Company, produce dealers in charge of James Mitchell, met with a mishap when coming into town from the east with a large load of boxed eggs.

The road has just been newly oiled, and the wheels of the motor truck skidded to one side opposite Mrs. Gould's market garden, and went with its load down the embankment. The driver narrowly escaped serious injury. Many hundred dozens of eggs were smashed and scattered on the embankment. Many men and a team of horses righted the truck again.

Are in the Wreck.
No further airmen, living or dead, were discovered today. Thirteen corpses, including those of Captain Melzing, chief of the naval airship service; Captain Hammon, commander of the wrecked dirigible, and Lieutenant Baron Von Maltzahn, and the engineer officer, Welner, undoubtedly are confined in the cabin of the airship, which lies at the bottom of the sea. The fourteenth victim was picked up by boats launched from the destroyers, but he was dead when taken out of the water.

Was Up 4,200 Feet.
The airship was engaged in reconnaissance work in connection with target-boat manoeuvres, and when struck by the gale was flying at a height of 4,200 to 5,000 feet. She was equipped for a 30-hour cruise, and was observing actual warfare conditions. The balloon had sustained a heavy loss of gas due to the cold atmosphere and already was unmanageable when caught by the storm. The entire amount of water ballast was thrown overboard, but the ship failed to respond, and fell into the sea.

The ceremony, performed by Rev. T. H. Mitchell, of New St. James' Presbyterian Church, took place at four o'clock in the drawing-room, which was tastefully decorated with palms and chrysanthemums, the decorations throughout being in pink and white.

Conservatives AnnoyedOver East York Results

Cutting Down of the Usual Big Majority Regarded as Significant.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Sir James Whitney and the Conservative party have no special grounds for comfort or congratulation in the East York campaign. In fact a distinct note of optimism and encouragement is heard in the Liberal camp.

The Conservative party failed utterly in their strenuous efforts to roll up a huge majority in a riding that was essentially a Toronto City constituency. They brought the contest on suddenly when they knew the Liberal leader was in Europe, and unable to be back in time to take part in the campaign.

Three of the cabinet ministers, Messrs. Lucas, Duff and Pyne, worked day and night canvassing and speaking in the riding in contrast with the Liberals had at its disposal plenty of money for organization purposes and for automobiles to bring the voters to the polls; they had also the assistance of the Liberal interests and yet their majority, instead of being increased fell off by nearly 25 per cent.

If under these most favorable auspices and at a by-election which almost invariably in Ontario goes to the Government of the day, the best the Conservatives can do is to suffer a material reduction in their majority, it is evident that the Conservative party is arousing no enthusiasm among the electors and that the Whitney Government and its policies is losing its popular hold on the people.

Kidney Stones Dissolved

The Sanol Manufacturing Co., Limited, Winnipeg, Man.

Dear Sirs, I have seen several testimonials in the paper of people who suffered with their kidneys and were cured with SANOL. I think it is a duty I owe the public to let them know about my experience. I suffered for a long time from kidney stones and have to say like everybody else, "tried everything known to the medical practitioners, except an operation, but found no relief." I was for two days in bed, suffering untold agonies, and had to get several injections of morphine to relieve the pain when an old friend of mine, a Mr. McColl, called on me and induced me to try SANOL. The second day I had taken it I had a little relief; the third day I was able to sit up in bed, and when Mr. McColl called me up on the phone the fourth day I was able to go downstairs and talk to him and tell him what a wonderful cure SANOL was. A week from the first day taking it, I was back in my office doing business, but continued taking it for three weeks as I passed kidney stones, which stone I will always keep to show anyone who is suffering like I was what SANOL has done for me.

Please use this letter for publication, and send copies to everyone in Canada, as everybody should and must know about a cure which you have; also refer them to me for further information, as I could not tell them when they would not have told you all I think about SANOL. I cannot, on paper, wish you the success I wish. Yours sincerely,

THOS. JOBIN,

WEDDING BELLS

McKellar—McCull. The marriage of Miss Mary Edna McCull to Mr. John Alexander McKellar, of the Merchants' Bank of Canada, London, was solemnized on Tuesday evening, Sept. 9, at the residence of the bride's brother, Thornton McKellar, only immediate relatives being present.

The ceremony, performed by Rev. T. H. Mitchell, of New St. James' Presbyterian Church, took place at four o'clock in the drawing-room, which was tastefully decorated with palms and chrysanthemums, the decorations throughout being in pink and white.

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Duncan T. McCull, and the wedding march was played by Mrs. (Dr.) Cornett, of St. Thomas.

The bride looked charming in a gown of ivory chamoise satin, hemmed with pearls and trimmed with real lace and pearl trimmings. She also wore a tulle veil with bandeau of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

The groom's gift to the bride was a ring with settings of pearls and diamonds.

After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. McKellar left on the evening train for Muskoka, the bride's travelling costume being of navy blue rough serge with tailored hat. On their return they will reside at 168 John street, city.

Among the many gifts was a living-room suite of oak, upholstered in leather, from the bank staff, and a colonial mahogany clock from Mr. Magee, manager.

Conservatives AnnoyedOver East York Results

Cutting Down of the Usual Big Majority Regarded as Significant.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Sir James Whitney and the Conservative party have no special grounds for comfort or congratulation in the East York campaign. In fact a distinct note of optimism and encouragement is heard in the Liberal camp.

The Conservative party failed utterly in their strenuous efforts to roll up a huge majority in a riding that was essentially a Toronto City constituency. They brought the contest on suddenly when they knew the Liberal leader was in Europe, and unable to be back in time to take part in the campaign.

Three of the cabinet ministers, Messrs. Lucas, Duff and Pyne, worked day and night canvassing and speaking in the riding in contrast with the Liberals had at its disposal plenty of money for organization purposes and for automobiles to bring the voters to the polls; they had also the assistance of the Liberal interests and yet their majority, instead of being increased fell off by nearly 25 per cent.

If under these most favorable auspices and at a by-election which almost invariably in Ontario goes to the Government of the day, the best the Conservatives can do is to suffer a material reduction in their majority, it is evident that the Conservative party is arousing no enthusiasm among the electors and that the Whitney Government and its policies is losing its popular hold on the people.
