GOLDEN STATE SENDS WILSON ONCE MORE TO WHITE HOUSE

California's Vote Re-elects the President, It Is Maintained.

SOME RECOUNTS ARE CERTAIN

The Republicans Plan Contests Wherever Fight is Close or Doubtful.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Nov. 10.—Today's returns continued to differ in from states which had been close, but they made no change in the figures, which gave President Wilson 289 electoral votes, and Mr. Hughes 215.

Minnesota, New Hampshire and New Mexico remained in doubt. Minnesota's latest returns showed Hughes leading by 732, but the figures for New Hampshire put Wilson ahead by 239, with 11 precincts missing. In New Mexico, Wilson led by over 2,000, according to latest incomplete returns from that state.

At Democratic national headquarters the view is taken that the election is all over. Chairman McCormick is preparing to go to his home in Harrisburg, Pa., tonight, to resume his private business, he said today. Workmen were removing the furniture and the committee's local business, it was stated, would be conducted at a branch office. The main headquarters will be in Washington.

New York, Nov. 10.—Woodrow Wilson was elected president of the United States when California swung definitely into the Democratic column early today.

The only states where the result remained in question today were Minnesota, New Hampshire and New Mexico, with 19 electoral votes. There is a decided overturn in the districts missing, Wilson will carry New Mexico. Hughes is leading in Minnesota. The result will not be known in New Hampshire until the official count is completed. West Virginia, which was classed as doubtful until last night, has gone definitely for Hughes.

California May Decide.
Unless the vote of California is divided, which now seems a possibility, Mr. Wilson is assured of 293 votes in the electoral college, three more than a majority, and Mr. Hughes of 242. The president could lose three votes from California, and still have enough to elect. This loss would be offset by New Mexico, which it seems certain he has carried. If Mr. Hughes carried both Minnesota with 12 votes, and New Hampshire with 4, he would have only 239, seven less than enough to elect. Mr. Wilson could lose New Mexico and three votes from California, and still win.

Soldiers May Decide.
The result in Minnesota may be determined by the ballots of the 2,128 National Guardsmen now on the Mexican border, which will not be counted until the state expressing sound meets next Tuesday. Returns received early today in the state gave Hughes a lead of slightly over 700 votes.

With 29 districts out of 63 in New Mexico, Wilson was 1,410 ahead. The remote precincts not yet heard from are sparsely settled, and it was not believed the president's lead could be wiped out.

The Doubtful Vote.
The outcome in New Hampshire was in greater doubt than in any other state. Certified returns from all but 26 precincts gave Hughes a lead of 131, but unofficial figures from the districts backing were said to show a Wilson plurality of 117. California complete, except for 26 of the 5,370 precincts in the state, gave Wilson 145,669 and Hughes 142,538, a plurality of 3,131 for the president.

Tension Broken at Last.
The tension of the most dramatic situation in the political history of the United States was broken when the Associated Press flashed the news that Republican State Chairman Rowell of California, had conceded the state to Wilson. Placate appeals to expedite returns had been sent to state leaders after hour from the national headquarters. Telegrams were reinforced by telephone calls across the continent. It had been apparent since Wednesday

The figures do not include casualties among the naval forces or the colonial troops.

The German casualties reported by the same source for the month of October total 199,675 officers and men, including dead 34,321.

Crowd Cheers Happy Wilsons at Rhinecliff

Ovation as They Land From Yacht Near New York.

[Canadian Press.]
Rhinecliff, N. Y., Nov. 10.—The naval yacht Mayflower, with President Wilson and Mrs. Wilson on board, on their way to Westport, Mass., to attend the christening of Mr. Wilson's grandchild, arrived off Rhinecliff early today after an uneventful trip up the Hudson River.

The Mayflower anchored off Rhinecliff before dawn, but the president did not come ashore until 9:50 o'clock to take his train for Westport.

Ovation for Wilson.
Through the river bank, many carrying American flags, and when the Mayflower's launch, carrying the president and Mrs. Wilson, was due to put off from the yacht, the crowd rushed excitedly toward the landing to greet them amid enthusiastic cheers.

The president's face was wreathed in smiles. He looked completely happy. He had received by wireless the word that he had been re-elected. He raised his hand and waved it to the crowd as he and Mrs. Wilson set out on foot for the railroad station nearby.

COAL "PANIC" OVER; PRICES DROPPING FOR BOTH KINDS

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Nov. 10.—The tension in the coal situation has eased in the past few days and wholesale prices have dropped several dollars a ton, according to statements by trade authorities here today. Anthracite selling recently at $12 to $12.50 a ton, wholesale, may now be purchased for from $8.50 to $10, coalmen said.

Arthur P. Rice, president of the Coal Merchants' Association, attributed the lower prices to the milder weather and to the fact that the public had recovered from its recent "panic," during which householders filled their bins through a fear that prices would rise still higher. Mr. Rice said he believed the coal situation would not go up again this season, especially as the closing season of navigation on the Great Lakes would ensure more coal for the retail market.

The recent high prices were due, principally, Mr. Rice asserted, to labor shortage, industrial factories working overtime and a small mining of coal from April to September.

READY FOR PEACE LEAGUE

[Canadian Press.]
Amsterdam, Nov. 10.—Vis. London, 1:15 p.m.—Rumanian troops are now two miles west of Chernaoda, fighting for the famous bridge across the Danube, the war office announced today in its report on the campaign in Dobruja.

England and France in 1915 guaranteed to Russia territorial acquisitions in the Balkans, the Bosphorus and the western shores of the Dardanelles with its hinterland, while Asia-Minor was to be divided among the members of the coalition.

The annexation intentions of our enemies also include Alsace-Lorraine, which the League of Peace was to guarantee them. Such a policy of course cannot form a basis for an effective peace union. Germany is ready at all times to join a union of the peoples, and even to place herself at the head of such a union to restrain the disturber of peace. Not in the shadow of Prussian militarism did the world live before the war, but in the shadow of a policy of isolation, which was a result of our policy.

A "Defensive" War.
"Against this policy, whether it appears diplomatically as an encirclement militarily as a war of destruction or economically as a world boycott, we, from the beginning, were on the defensive. The German people was this war as a defensive war for the safety of its national existence, for its free development. We never pretended anything else, never intended anything else. Not otherwise can be explained this display of gigantic force, this inexhaustible heroism unexampled in all human history.

The enemy ultimately wills to war with the calling up of military material and auxiliary forces from all parts of the world. These efforts harden our resistance to the war, and determine it. Whatever England can still bring out of strength—and England's command of strength has its limits—it is predestined to failure. It is uncomparable, and we await the enemy's recognition of this, confident that this recognition must come."

Two Submarines Attacked P. and O. Liner in the Mediterranean.

[Canadian Press.]
Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 10.—Vis. London, 1:10 p.m.—Two German submarines were seen by persons on board the Arabia when that liner was in the Mediterranean last Monday, and one of them, according to the steamer's officers, was fired upon by guns on the Arabia after it had been hit by a torpedo.

The Arabia was struck aft on the starboard side by the torpedo which sank her. There was no panic among the 437 passengers or the crew, who immediately took to the boats. The Arabia sank an hour and a half later. The City of Marseilles and another steamer and three trawlers picked up the survivors after they had been in the boats about an hour. The weather fortunately was very fine.

MANAGERS OF HUGHES DECLARE ELECTION RESULT UNSETTLED

Chairman Willcox Refuses To Concede Victory To Wilson Until Official Count Has Been Made—Hughes Remains Silent.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Nov. 10.—Chairman Willcox, refusing to concede the election of President Wilson, said today in a formal statement issued after conference with other Republican campaign managers, that the result still depends upon the vote of a few close states, and that the returns thus far announced are in most states unofficial, and may be changed by the official count.

Hughes Silent.
Mr. Hughes himself declined to make any comment upon the election results. He rose about 8 o'clock, and after reading the newspapers went for an automobile ride. He was apparently in cheerful spirits.

It was expected at his hotel that he would receive a visit during the day from Republican National Chairman Willcox, and one or two other party leaders, probably after the conference at Republican headquarters set for noon hour on the question of a recount of the vote in close states. This matter, it was understood, Mr. Hughes was leaving entirely in the hands of his campaign managers, although before taking definite action it was expected they would consult with him to learn his views.

NO CONGRATS FROM HUGHES

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Nov. 10.—Lawrence Green, secretary to Chas. E. Hughes, said today in response to questions by newspapermen that Mr. Hughes would not today send congratulations to President Wilson. "Not yet," said Mr. Green.

SLIGHT MARGIN FOR DEMOCRATS IN BOTH AMERICAN HOUSES

Plurality of Four in Congress and Twelve in the Senate.

[Canadian Press.]
New York, Nov. 10.—With the result in five districts still in doubt early today the returns on the congressional elections indicated that 215 Democratic members of the House of Representatives and 211 Republican members have been elected, giving the Democrats a plurality of four. Two of the missing districts are normally Democratic and three normally Republican. Their addition therefore would give the Democrats 217 and the Republicans 214, or a Democratic plurality of 3.

Four members of other parties have been elected to the House. The districts from which the final result has not been received are four in West Virginia and the New Mexico district.

The Senate, on the basis of the latest returns will stand as Democrats to 42 Republicans, a Democratic majority of 12.

RUMANIA WILL BE SAVED, SAYS GEN. BRUSILOFF

Behind Little Ally Stands the Strength of Greater Russia.

DECLARES WAR IS WON

Co-operation of the Entente Powers Has Ended Foe's Chances.

[Canadian Press.]
London, Nov. 10.—Russia will save Rumania from the Teuton menace this autumn and winter, and next spring will have the strongest army she has had since the war began, Gen. Brusiloff told Stanley Washburn, the Times correspondent, at Russian headquarters on the Carpathian front yesterday.

Gen. Brusiloff commands all the Russian armies that made the great sweep into Galicia in the summer.

"I speak with authority when I say that from the common soldier up, the united sentiment of Russia is that Rumania should be protected, helped and supported in every possible way," said a Russian general.

"The Rumanians must feel faith in the great heart of the Russian people," Gen. Brusiloff continued. "They must know that in the efforts we are making to save them this sentiment is the dominant factor, not merely a question of our own self-interest to protect our left flank."

Behind Stands Russia.
"Rumania is now feeling for the first time the pressure of war and the bitterness of defeat, but Rumania must realize that defeats are but incidents of a greater campaign. Behind her stands great Russia, who will see that her brave little ally who came into the war for a just cause does not ultimately suffer for daring to espouse that for which we are all fighting."

"The war is won today, though it is merely speculation to attempt to estimate how much longer will be required before the enemy is completely defeated. The cause for the sake of which they have drenched Europe in blood is irretrievably lost."

Huns Defeat Certain.
"Personally, never since the beginning have I believed that the enemy had a chance of winning. While they are able to continue successful offensives it is difficult for them to realize that they are not approaching a successful peace. This summer's operations mark a definite period of defeat. That period dates from the time when the Allies, co-ordinating their programs, seized from the enemy the east."

SAW BRITISH MAKE MAGNIFICENT RUSH IN SOMME BATTLE

London Officer Detailed To Follow Advance.

ADVISED HIS BATTERY Had Only Wire Back To It From Front—Where Whiskey Helps.

Londoners are in the thick of the fighting in France. This is not news, but the following letter from an artillery officer, who is with a famous Canadian battery, descriptive of the fighting on the Somme, gives some idea of just what it means to be in the thick of it:

"In the Field," September 27, 1916. I'm on duty at the guns today, and just now we're "standing to" for a shoot. As the first shot seems to be somewhat indefinite, I have repaired to the signposts about pending developments and am thus employed in the interim. On the 25th, we received a long string of operation orders for an advance that was to take place on the morning, and just as we were about to retire, word came in from headquarters that one of the officers from this battery was to follow the advance and keep them posted. Well, I was "elected" and rose at once next morning to get forward before the show started and get my communications fixed up. Arrived about 1,600 yards this side of the front line. I found a dandy observation post in a support trench and the three telephones and myself started in to make it a bit safe in anticipation of the enemy's barrage when our attack started. We had about two hours to do it in, and believe me, we had the little beaver looking like a drone during that time. Eventually we managed to make two fairly deep holes near the observation post and just about then it was time for the big show to start.

Overpowering Din. The firing had been quite heavy on both sides, but when the exact minute for our advance arrived, the din was overpowering. I was with a famous Canadian machine gun company. We were on the brink of a hill overlooking a valley. The other side of the valley was our first observation, and the front line trench (British) was in the valley, and I never realized what a row they make when close. The field, heavy and siege batteries all had their different lines and ranges worked out and joined in the merry work. In the first two minutes there was a big bank of smoke and haze. The wind was from us on to the Hun—and then our infantry rose up from the ground and started forward. I've never been so excited in all my life. It was hell, fire and dynamite everywhere, so to speak, and then right in the midst of it all, up rose our lines and went forward. I was leaning on the parapet of the trench with a strong telescope and could see every move distinctly for about an hour, then our chaps gained the crest of the hill and disappeared into the smoke and distance. Of course, the Boches started retaliation a very few minutes after the show was on, which added to the general din and danger. They put up a defensive barrage along certain spots that was, to use an expression I saw in an official communication the other night about the first "snapping."

An Artillery "Rotation." After a bit, as I could see no more from my O. P., I crawled my little way down the valley after the "boys." Will spare you the details of what we saw, but suffice it to say it was not pleasant. We continued along, finding our way as best we could, until after about three quarters of an hour of trenches and going over some of the old German positions, I got into a Canadian C.E.M.E. I gave him a drink out of my flask and I think he would then have concluded us "Canadian headquarters" if I had asked him. However, I only wanted infantry headquarters and he took me there. It was just beside a dressing station, so I could not escape some harrowing sights. I got into touch with the colonel at once. I had the good fortune of being in touch with the colonel quite a while, and sent them in all the "dope" I could get. It was quite a scoop, as newspapers talk about, as seemingly I had the only way to the front that they relayed it back to General Currie, in charge of the siege artillery in this section. A dash of good luck, wasn't it?

The Use of Liquor. It was about five hours after the opening of the battle, and as I had given all my whiskey and any water to the various wounded chaps, I began to feel as though a cupful of cold water was worth about $125.33 1-3 but could get none as it was all being used for the wounded. By the same token, you should have seen the faces of some of the badly wounded chaps when I handed them a good old-fashioned whiskey down their throats—it was as though I was helping them to some wonderful essence. Of course, it is really what the stuff is for, fancy about 99 per cent of its use is really about, but on an occasion like yesterday, I was thankful to have it to give. I "knock around" as one might say at brigade headquarters for quite a while, going here and there to see how things were going, but about that time the various battalions were sending back word that they had reached their objectives and were digging themselves in, so shortly before dark, headquarters sent word for me to return, and I didn't wait till they had a chance to change their minds on the subject. We made our way home after being lost once, and being lost in trench-land at dusk is about as pleasant as being shipwrecked in the lower St. Lawrence in December. Arrived back at camp about 9:15 p.m. after a wonderful day with the grandest thirst I ever had.

Met a Friend. I saw Charlie Hanson up at infantry headquarters. He was directing the field artillery fire in a certain section. The headquarters, by the way, was in a German dugout about 40 feet underground. They are wonderful creations and are fairly well ventilated. One sees them everywhere. Some are much better than others. Our present one is in one of the same, but it is not nearly so elaborate as some I've seen. There is one at Priou that is at least 60 feet below the surface and can accommodate about 200—imagine, you see. Well, this letter has been frequently interrupted but I fancy it will give you some idea of what a modern battle is like, of course, it can only be an approximate idea, as no description of mine can convey to you the awful effect of the fire, the excitement and the pitiful wounded, to say nothing of the fact that one who has not been through it cannot possibly conjure up the sights or the sound, I hear today that the battle is continuing with great success. There is a chap from the 54th Battery on the job today, I'm glad to say.

JOHN BULL

The following poem was written by Sidney Kingsmill, a student at Ridley College. He is only 12 years old and is a son of Major H. A. Kingsmill of this city.

Old John Bull is a fine old fellow; He guards all men, black, white and yellow. He guards the deep and dark blue sea, And guards the food for you and me.

Old John Bull is a jolly old man, He even loves the Hindustan. He owns much land upon the map, And always respects the little old Jap.

Old John loves a Canadian, Because he is a true and true. "United we stand, divided we fall" Is now the motto for one and all.

MANY WOMEN ATTEND OPENING OF TEA ROOM

Emergency Corps in Former Red Cross Quarters.

If the attendance on the occasion of the formal opening yesterday be any indication, the Women's Emergency Corps tea room is destined to meet with great success. Notwithstanding the inclement weather, a very large number dropped in between the hours of 3 and 6 o'clock to enjoy a delectable brew of tea with crisp, brown toast, with dainty chicken sandwiches, or with delicious homemade cake, as fancy dictated.

The room was found most cozy and inviting, each table centered with a pot of marigolds. Mrs. Cleghorn and Miss Fowler were in charge, members of the Sir John Carling Chapter, I. O. D. E., serving. In several cases, it was necessary to join two or even three tables to accommodate large parties, which showed appreciation of the work of the Women's Emergency Corps, and of the inviting tea room by being among the first to give their patronage. Miss Sophie Porter, registration secretary, presided over the tea, and stated that during the afternoon several copies of the song, "My Queen Mary," specially written for the Women's Emergency Corps by Mrs. Herne, and dedicated to the president, Mrs. Gordon Wright, had been sold. A large percentage of the proceeds on each copy goes to the corps. The song that will be sung for the first time at the meeting under the auspices of the corps, to be addressed on the evening of the 15th by Newton W. Rowell, K. C. in the First Methodist Church.

BIBLE BROUGHT MANY BLESSINGS TO KOREA

People Were Steeped in Ignorance, Says Hugh Miller.

"The Bible was the means of humanizing and civilizing Korea to a remarkable extent," said Hugh Miller last night in St. Andrew's Church, when he spoke to a large audience on "The Romance, Revolution and Revival of Korea." "Korea," he said, "was sought by Russia, who wanted an open port; by Japan, who didn't want Russia as a rival neighbor, and by China, who didn't want to lose her hold on Korea which had long been subservient to her. This led to dissension and Japan stepped in and said to Korea: 'If you can't set your own house in order, we will do it for you,' with the result that Japan finally annexed Korea."

Now, Mr. Miller informed his audience, the bridepaths have given away to over one thousand miles of railways, and courts of justice, where bribes were frequent, have been replaced by courts where fairness and justice rule.

Bulky Money. "The monetary system was a poor one," he said. "When going shopping, it was necessary to carry the money on one's back it was so bulky. When Mr. Miller arrived, $3, came on the backs of five or six coolies. This has since all been changed, and they now have money easily handled."

Mr. Miller conveyed a very clear idea of the backwardness of Korea when he spoke of the old man teaching that the world was flat and that Korea was the greatest kingdom in it. Korea now has good schools supported by the Government. Another illustration of the ignorance that prevailed was the case of a new trolley car, which was overturned and demolished by the people on its first trip, because it was running over an imaginary dragon's back and was blamed for a drought.

Smallpox was formerly very prevalent and, to avoid it, a straw horse would be constructed, supplied with money, and placed on the road, that the smallpox spirit might ride and pay its expenses. The Christians were first vaccinated here, and the others, seeing the good results, followed their example.

Missionaries Helped. "Government officials found it easier to introduce reforms wherever the missionaries had led the way by opening schools," said Mr. Miller.

There are 800 mission schools in Korea, taught by American, Australian, English and Canadian teachers, while the public number 20,000. The Bible is their textbook. The first attempt to bring the Scriptures into Korea met with disaster. The Koreans burned the book, together with the copies of the Bible, and all hands on board. The second attempt was more successful, and although the copies of the Bible were confiscated, the native Christians who carried them escaped and spread his new beliefs.

Since then, the missionaries, aided by the British and Foreign Bible Society, have advanced the work until at present 200 men and 20 women are in the field, traveling, working and distributing. In the past year 200,000 copies of the Bible in the native tongue were circulated. When the members of a family all had become Christians, the Koreans noticed that there was no more quarrelling in that house. "This may seem strange to you," said Mr. Miller, "but when there are three or four or five daughters-in-law in a house, need I say any more?"

BIG QUAKE SOMEWHERE. Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—A heavy earthquake lasting almost half an hour was recorded this morning on George's Island. Tremors were recorded at 4:24 o'clock. The heaviest came at 4:31 and 4:32 a.m., and the disturbance ceased at 4:56 o'clock. Conservative estimates placed the distance at 2,600 miles from Washington, and it was thought that the centre might possibly be within the American continent.

SOLDIER IS SHOT BY COMRADE-GUARD IN TRYING TO FLEE

Moses Wolfe Lies Wounded at Kettle Point.

ABSENT WITHOUT LEAVE Breaks Away From Detail of 149th Battalion Sent After Him.

Pte. Moses Wolfe, a half-breed Indian of Kettle Point, a member of B Company of the 149th Battalion, was shot through the right shoulder Wednesday morning by one of two soldiers of that unit who were dispatched from London to search for and bring him back as an absentee without leave.

Wolfe is now reported to be lying at his home at Kettle Point, painfully, but not seriously, wounded. The shooting occurred in the woods near Kettle Point, nine miles north of Forest.

Major MacVicar, officer commanding the 149th Battalion, last night stated that he knew of the occurrence, but had not been apprised of the wounded soldier's whereabouts. The last report he had was that he was still running. He did not wish to disclose the names of the two soldiers who were sent to bring the absentee back, but stated that they were quite within their rights in shooting, if Wolfe attempted to run away.

Major MacVicar said Wolfe had the qualities of a good soldier, the difficulty with him seeming to have been the fact that he recently got married. Since that time he had shown a tendency to wander back home. From Forest the advertiser learned that Wolfe at first had seemed willing to return with the soldiers detailed to bring him back under arrest, but when near a rather dense wood, he suddenly bolted and made for cover. Dr. Patterson, who is the Indian doctor for the Kettle Point reserve, was called from Forest last evening and attended the wounded man. He says that Wolfe must have been in a stooping attitude when shot, as the bullet entered beneath his right shoulder-blade from the back, and came out of the top of the shoulder in front. No bones were touched.

Dr. Blain of Forest also was called to see the injured man.

THIN PEOPLE CAN INCREASE WEIGHT

This men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "fat" (there's that should try eating a little Sargol with their meals) will find that Sargol is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one or two tablets twice a day for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or how you feel, it's a question of what you think. The scales and tape measure will tell you your own story, and many thin men and women believe can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. Best of all, the new flesh stays put. Sargol does not make you fat, but by mixing with your food, it aims to prepare the fattening, strength-giving material of your body for the use of rice, ripe, fat-producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepare it in the easiest and most reliable way. Much of this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol works to stop the waste and do it quickly, and to make the fat-producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe. It is a guarantee of weight increase or money back. If you find a druggist who is unable to supply you with Sargol, send $1. money order or registered letter, to the National Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine street, Montreal, and a complete ten days' treatment will be sent you post-paid in plain wrapper.

Winter and Christmas Shopping HAND IN HAND

Tomorrow will mark the opening of the Christmas season. The store will be in holiday dress. All the gift things ready. Stop! Look! Listen! Every Christmas shopper knows what the retail stores will be like a month hence, with crowds struggling for a place at the counter, and probably receiving the divided attention of a distracted clerk (perhaps an extra hand taken on for the final rush), who cannot tell you just what you want to know about the different articles. The streets too will be crowded, and everybody in a hurry.

Christmas shopping one month before Christmas is a pleasure. One week before, it is a trial. One day before, it is a calamity. By constant appeals to the public a great change has been brought about in Christmas shopping. Yet the charge of the last week still leaves a trail of wrecked nerves in the ranks of both the salespeople and the shoppers alike, and we venture to say that, like every other bad habit, once broken, you will never again leave your Christmas shopping until near Christmas.

RESERVE JUDGMENT IN LIQUOR CASES UNTIL NEXT WEEK

Magistrates Hear Evidence On Two Charges.

Judgment was reserved for one week in the case of William Lake of 1032 Pine street, who appeared in police court today on two charges laid by Sgt. Birrell, one for keeping liquor for sale without a license and a second for selling it without a license.

Both charges were laid under the Ontario temperance act, and the case was heard before Mayor Stevenson and Henry Macklin, J. P.

A. H. M. Graydon appeared for Lake, and argued that his client should not be tried on more than one count. He further maintained that, whereas the prosecution had a chance to appeal the act if so desired, the defence was not allowed that privilege under the act.

Caught in Cellar
Sgt. Birrell, who accompanied Sgt. Bolton, testified that he had gone to the cellar at Lake's home and found two men and Lake drinking ale.

He found seven bottles of whisky, six sealed, and upstairs two dozen more. He found also four cases of whisky in a clothes closet.

Sgt. Bolton, who accompanied Sgt. Birrell, corroborated the testimony of the latter. Patrolman Toll testified that he had watched the house after Sgt. Birrell and Bolton had left, and had seen Mrs. Lake come out with a box and take it and leave it in a lot a short distance away.

Got the Box
He had afterwards recovered it, and the box was shown in court today along with the other four cases seized.

Pte. Selacher and Thomas Rue testified that each had been invited to have a glass of porter by Lake, but no money had been paid over.

John Anderson, colored, gave evidence to the effect he had been stopped and searched by Officer Toll. "He just grabbed me and went right through me like I was a thief. Yes, and he knocked me out of a date I had on, too. I had that bottle he found on me long before the bars closed," said Anderson.

Lake took the stand in his own defence, and testified that he had produced the whisky from Montreal, and that it had been delivered last Friday at 11:35 a.m.

Got Five Cases
He had secured the five cases, he said, one for himself and one each for E. McGillivray, E. Evans, T. Deans and his son, James Lake. Each had contributed 30 pieces, as having a quantity sent made a reduction in the cost and saved the express.

Patrolman Toll, he stated, had come to him in civilian clothes and said he was from Flint, Mich., and would like to buy a bottle of liquor, but that he had refused to either sell or give him any.

The evidence of Miss Laveda Lake and that of the four women who testified he had bought the liquor for corroborated the testimony of Lake.

Court remained in session until 12:30 when the magistrates announced that judgment would be given next Friday.

MACCABEES TO AID ALL SICK MEMBERS AND PAY INSURANCE

Will Look After Friends Incapacitated by War.

CONVENTION HELD HERE

Patriotic Declaration Calls Forth Great Enthusiasm at Meeting.

The district convention of the Maccabees for district No. 2 of Ontario was held in London yesterday with representatives present from Clinton, Teeswater, Strathroy, Springfield, Aylmer, St. Thomas, Waterloo, Kitchener, Crediton and other points, and all reports showing a decided growth in the tents and hives of the district.

The new membership plans, as adopted at a recent supreme tent review, giving greater choice in the mode of their protection, were freely discussed and fully endorsed by all the delegates present.

The adoption of the home and relief fund, by which members of the order in distress shall be taken care of, was also endorsed. This fund is available to any member who needs care because of illness or tuberculosis, or any soldier members who might return from beyond the seas incapacitated for work.

Patriotic Declaration
When the matter of the paying of claims on account of members of the order who have gone to serve the Empire came up for consideration the convention took on the nature of a patriotic demonstration, and the reading of the declaration, adopted at the recent special review of the supreme tent in this regard, created the greatest enthusiasm. It was as follows:

"We declare it to be the policy and purpose of the Maccabees to encourage and recognize members who are in the service of their country, and who are citizens of any nation in which our association has jurisdiction, who shall in the spirit of a true patriotism, enlist in the army or navy of such country in time of war.

No virtue is more dominant in Maccabeanism than patriotism. It burns out the selfishness of the individual, distinguishes the life and sacrifice of Judas Maccabeus, for whom our order is named. He was not only the most splendid hero of Jewish history, but the willingness of a patriot to die for his country, but of a purpose to live for it as well. It was Judas Maccabeus who, in the midst of the spoils of war, was first to set aside a selfish ambition for the generous care of widows and orphans.

Guarantees Insurance.
It is the spirit of the Maccabees today, enforcing its purpose through adequate laws and efficient organization, guarantees in full the insurance protection of all members who now and hereafter engage in the lawful service of their country. Likewise, the association purposes to provide generously for the families and dependents of such members through its general relief department."

Resolutions of condolence were ordered prepared and sent to Mr. Janzen of Kitchener on account of the death of Mrs. Janzen, who was an officer of the district at the time of her demise.

The election of officers resulted in the return of practically the same officers as in the last year. Mrs. J. M. Trimm of Aylmer being elected as chaplain to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mrs. Janzen.

The knights and ladies of London entertained the visiting delegates at a social evening in their lodge rooms last night and a very enjoyable time was spent.

CAPT. E. B. NELLES CABLES TO FATHER "LEAVING FOR HOME"

Was Wounded in September and Has Since Been in Hospital.

"Leaving for home."
This cable message reached J. A. Nelles, 24 Prospect avenue, this morning from his son, Capt. E. B. Nelles, in England. Whether Capt. Nelles is coming home on short leave or to stay indefinitely, his friends have no idea, as the three words quoted are the only indication they have had that they would have the pleasure of seeing him in the near future.

Capt. Nelles went overseas with the 70th Battalion, and was not long in reaching the front. On September 25 he was wounded in two places, one bullet penetrating his chest and another his leg, near the knee. Since that time he has been in hospital.

It is supposed, from the cablegram that Capt. Nelles either sailed yesterday from England, or is sailing today.

In a letter to his family here, Capt. Nelles tells of the battle in which he was wounded. He writes that he received his wounds in the attack when the Canadians captured Tulleval on September 25. That the battalion suffered heavily is shown by the fact that only 150 men and 4 officers came through unscathed. The soldiers, however, were not in vain, as they gained their objectives, which were three lines of Hun trenches. Once there, they grappled with the enemy, and after several counter-attacks and taking over 100 prisoners. The full particulars of the battle only reached Capt. Nelles when he was in the hospital, the commanding officer of his battalion having written to him there.

GINSBERG HAS NOT TOLD RELATIVES OF HIS PLIGHT

William Ginsberg, who, according to a dispatch from Windsor, is being held there by the orders of the immigration officials, charged with bringing into this country an undesirable alien in violation of the immigration laws, has not been heard from at his home here, according to Miss Ginsberg, when speaking to The Advertiser this morning.

It is alleged that he attempted to smuggle David Rosenberg, a baker, of Detroit, past the officers at the dock, without the usual examination. Rosenberg had to have told the authorities that Ginsberg had been in the office of the immigration laws, has not been heard from at his home here, according to Miss Ginsberg, when speaking to The Advertiser this morning.

The dispatch this morning was the first intimation that his people received of the incident. Miss Ginsberg told The Advertiser. She knew he had gone to Windsor on business, but declared she was unaware that he was in need of a baker, or that he had written a letter to one. David Rosenberg was unknown to her, she said.

BOARDS OF TRADE HAVE PLANS FOR LEGISLATION

Immigration, Daylight Saving and Other Questions Subjects of Resolutions.

Gordon Philip, secretary of the board of trade, has received the agenda of the Associated Boards of Trade, whose annual session will be held in Hamilton on November 21st and 22nd.

It includes a resolution relative to immigration, brought forward by the Brantford Board of Trade. It suggests that all immigrants from the British Isles be kept in Canada, and deterred from crossing into the United States, the majority be placed on the land, and that only immigrants be admitted who will make loyal citizens.

Hamilton and Toronto ask legislation the daylight saving scheme, and suggest that it be made Dominion-wide. The Kingston Board of Trade suggests that the Government investigate all issues of stocks and bonds before issued to the public. The local organization of Trade is anxious to have the Welland Canal completed, and also that the resources of Canada be subjected to a rigorous investigation, to find out what is to be found here.

There are many other resolutions from boards of trade that were too late for the agenda. Two of them are from the London board. The local organization endorsed the plea of the bakers that bread be sold according to weight, and another asking that excise duties be removed from alcohol used for manufacturing purposes.

A number of members from London will attend the session.

DETROIT LONDONERS ARE HELPING SOLDIERS' BAZAAR

Take Up Idea of Helping Canadian Forces With Enthusiasm.

Former residents of London are taking an active part in the great bazaar for the Canadian soldiers which is being held in Detroit this week, in the tabernacle constructed for Evangelist Billy Sunday.

Thousands of former Londoners reside in Detroit. They are still conscious of the bond of common interest that binds them together, especially because of the Old Boys' Reunions which were held in the city in years gone by. Recently some of them got together and hit upon the idea of securing the Sunday tabernacle for a Canadian soldiers' bazaar and the idea spread like wildfire. It is said that 20,000 Canadians from Western Ontario counties reside in Detroit, and from such an army there was a great response.

Some Londoners are in charge of booths at the bazaar.

IF

Michael Angelo lived today and said that a certain printing process reproduced his art better than any other, you'd believe him—because Angelo was the greatest painter of his time.

If Napoleon had said that a certain cannon was the finest type of artillery, you would also have believed this without question—because Napoleon was the greatest soldier of his time.

If The world's greatest living artists were to tell you a certain sound-reproducing instrument gave the most accurate and faithful replicas of their voices, you'd believe them too, wouldn't you?

THEY DO!!!

Enrico Caruso says

I am indeed satisfied with my new Victor records. They are magnificent and I congratulate you on the superb reproduction which the Victrola gives them.

Madame Melba says

I wish you to know that I am more than delighted with my new Victor records. They are wonderful and reproduce with that perfection which is only possible with the Victrola.

John McCormack says

The Victrola alone of all talking instruments achieves a perfect reproduction of the artist's voice. You may be sure of it that I would not have engaged to make Victor Records exclusively till 1908 unless I was entirely satisfied that the instrument reproducing them was the very best.

Louise Homer says

The fidelity with which the quality of tone of each artist is reproduced by Victor Records as played on the Victrola is almost startling.

Antonio Scotti says

Never had I imagined that a talking machine could give such perfect results as the Victrola.

Wonderful Development of British Munitions Typified.

ADDRESS BY N. W. ROWELL

Ontario Liberal Leader Tells of War Activities to Queen's University Alumni.

KINGSTON, Nov. 9.—"Britain's Effort," was the subject of N. W. Rowell's address here on Thursday evening, before the alumni conference at Grant Hall, Queen's University. In a comprehensive speech, including nearly all British war activities, the leader of the Ontario Liberal party brought out an astonishing array of facts, showing in the most illuminating way the marvellous achievements in organization and finance of the British people during the war.

He compared what they had accomplished with what was expected of them at first by the allies, and showed that any limited liability plan such as had been theoretically contemplated was impossible. It was even more impossible today, and this applied to Canada as well as to Great Britain.

Mr. Rowell reviewed the development since the opening of the war, of the army and navy, munitions, finance, air service, transport, army medical service and other branches of activity. As a sample of the interesting information he brought out there, is the following:

According to the minister of munitions, Mr. Montague, the output which in 1914-15 it took twelve months to produce, can now be obtained from home sources in the following periods:

18-pounder ammunition—3 weeks.

Field howitzer munition—3 weeks.

Medium size shell—11 days.

Heavy shell—4 days.

That there is need for this enormous increase of productive power is shown by the fact that the preliminary bombardment in the week before the opening of the Somme offensive consumed more light and medium ammunition than the total amount manufactured at home during the first eleven months of the war, while heavy munition manufactured during the same period would not have kept the bombardment going for a single day.

One or two examples of the magnitude of the financial operation:

The public debt, which before the war was £651,000,000, is now £2,140,000,000.

The estimated total at the end of the present fiscal year, March 31, 1917, is £3,463,000,000, and in August, 1917, at approximately £4,000,000,000.

At that time, therefore, the interest at five per cent on the national debt would equal the total annual revenue of Great Britain before the war, which was approximately £200,000,000.

Mr. Rowell gave details of the astonishing amount of taxes being levied in Great Britain, particularly on the wealthy classes. He referred to it as the "conscription of wealth" and remarked on the cheerfulness with which the burden was being borne.

As a result of this taxation the annual income of Great Britain has risen from £900,000,000 before the war to £3,377,000,000 in 1915-16, and with an estimated revenue for the current fiscal year of £3,500,000,000, including not less than £85,000,000 from the excess profits tax alone.

In the afternoon Mr. Rowell spoke to the Women's Canadian Club on what he had seen at the front.

THE LONDON ADVERTISER COMPANY, LIMITED.
 London, Ont., Friday, Nov. 10.

ALL HONOR TO THEM.

"Our fighting men in France call us for HELP. We call to the kin of every soldier to join in a movement to support that call with MEN who can go, about 400,000 must go. Let us get together; work together; win together."

THIS is the first call of the Associated Kin of Canadian Expeditionary Forces. And what a brave call it is! Every member of the new organization will be a near relative of some heroic fellow now in khaki. They have given their own to fight, and to die, and now they are organizing themselves into a recruiting machine which will endeavor to inspire more men for the cause. That they should feel the necessity to undertake this work is not a credit to the country as a whole. The example of the men at the front should inspire thousands, but many of those able to enlist are not heeding the call. Thousands of others are willing and anxious to go, if they were not chained down by circumstances. What manly man and boy has not wanted to go? Indeed, it is a certain test of manhood, that if this cause does not inspire one, his character is below the standard of the British race.

The meeting called for Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Normal School will be a proud occasion for London. Every co-operation should be given the new organization. It is taking upon itself a burden which others are ignoring or shirking.

A BRAVE CABINET.

THE DOMINION AND ONTARIO GOVERNMENTS felt the country to prosecute the "food profiteers."

"You go after 'em, and we'll fix 'em!" says the Ontario Government, through Hon. L. B. Lucas.

Which is about the same as telling a man to bring his highway robber to the police station and the police will sentence him.

"The average man in Canada is working too hard to go up against any of the food trusts single-handed. Goliath may have been an easy mark for David, but the modern Goliath does not leave any vulnerable spots for such pebbles as the average working man may throw. (Invariably they have appropriated the visible supply of pebbles.) The modern Goliath has to be blasted with high explosives."

The Dominion Government has miserably failed to tackle the high cost of living problem. Some prices are high properly and some are high improperly. The honest dealer suffers with the robber and heaven knows, there are plenty of the latter class being protected. The Dominion Government has been asked to handle the problem, and it has simply made speeches and "passed the buck" to the municipalities. It has a war measures act designed to protect the people from exorbitant prices. This act is at the present time under the influence of Big Interests' chloroform.

THE WOMEN'S INSTITUTES.

THE GATHERING of the Women's Institutes for Western Ontario was remarkable for the broad interest displayed by these fine maids and matrons of the rural communities in the great problems of the country.

To be able to say that 60 per cent of the Red Cross work of Ontario has been done by the Women's Institutes is enough to cause the whole province to give these devoted workers three ringing cheers. Especially grateful should London be to them, for the Institutes in Western Ontario have done a great deal toward maintaining London's reputation for Red Cross work. They have done much in wartime to develop a fine feeling of comradeship between the people of the countryside and the people of the cities. They are broad-souled, well-read women, who are not concerned at all in this work with anything but human welfare. They have grasped many great questions in advance of legislation, and they have become a powerful factor for good in the community.

The Advertiser believes that every woman in this country should be a member of these Institutes, and that city mothers and daughters should be glad to emulate the social service idea upon which their work revolves. The Women's Institutes have done much for our country life. They will do more. They are capable, high-minded Canadians, sterling women who are the mothers of the best Canadian men, men who carry on the tradition of Canadian solidarity and sincerity. From such stock as this have sprung the men who lead the provinces of the west and of the east, democratic, generous, devoted to their church, and, as we all know, to their country, in the same degree as the women who loaded muskets in log cabins, or fled the oppressor for their faith. Today the destiny of the country is to a large extent in the hands of such women as compose the Women's Institutes. May they carry on their work for the children, for the soldiers, for the nation, and for the general betterment of us all. May they be supported and encouraged and appreciated in every quarter, for they are the givers of life, and the welfare of the race is in their keeping. They have given us strong men in a time of test; they would have all the budding men and women of the nation strong and clean, and worthy of the name they bear. More power to them!

THE "OLEO" AGITATION.

MANY WELL intentioned persons are today asking the Dominion Government to permit the free entry of oleomargarine into the country in order to secure some measure of relief from the high cost of living. Cattle feed is scarce, milk and cream have gone sky high and the creameries are paying unprecedented prices for butter fat. The result is that milk and butter have come to be almost luxuries and with some poor people beyond the reach of the housewife's purse.

The oleomargarine advocates are making a strong campaign to offer the substitute for butter on Canadian markets, and it is quite possible that further pressure will be brought to bear on the cabinet, which is a most impressionable body along some lines. Newspapers in Toronto which have a city outlook almost entirely are advocating the free entry of the animal fat product, and the necessity for lower prices is lending weight to their agitation. The poor man and the man in moderate circumstances is being assured that oleomargarine is as valuable in nutriment as butter and quite as palatable. Is he to be blamed if he is attracted for his free entry when butter is selling from 42 to 47 cents? Would it be a fair measure of justice if the city-dweller were to be permitted the use of this apparent boon? Is not oleomargarine barred simply because of the tariff?

Perhaps. But when the public, both farm and city dwellers, are considering this question they should remember that the vast packing interests of America are in practical control of the meat industry in Canada. They know the advances in prices of meats in the last few years and well may they ask themselves if the permanent injury of the dairy business would be justified in order to put practical control of another commodity into the hands of the meat trust? It is known that in some instances oleomargarine has been sold as low as 10 cents a pound. With the dairy industry severely dealt with and put out of the way the packers would be in a position to raise prices on oleomargarine, a product which while it may have good qualities, will never be able to supplant the genuine article that comes from the creamery or the farm dairy.

Of course, the Advertiser is not predicting that the dairy industry, which is in one sense the backbone and the hope of the country, would be ruined by the free entry of oleomargarine. Nor does it argue that there should be a high tariff wall of protection for the farmer. If dairy butter were to be admitted free that would be another question. But if oleomargarine means that another great food product is to be turned into the hands of the meat-packer, the Advertiser would prefer to be left to the tender mercies of the unscrupulous farmers, who will give us butter at fair prices on the whole, when farming conditions permit. Even in spite of himself the farmer must make his prices according to the law of supply and demand. Every farmer who comes to the London market is a competitor of every other farmer. The butter business is not in the hands of a trust, either by combination of farmers or creameries. The oleomargarine business is absolutely in the hands of a trust. "The Big Four" control prices in Canada as in the United States, and the "boom" of oleomargarine would be a very doubtful one. The public would have about the same chance as a gentle lambkin with the meat-packer. Besides all of which there is a sentiment which clings to the cloth-wrapped rolls and crocks of good farm butter that makes it worth a good deal more than the "synthetic" imitation. Mostly we do not eat butter as a food, but as something that makes the food go down easily.

We do not help ourselves to a dish of butter and devour it. In a sense it falls into the same class as home-made jam and pickles, and it has a sacred place in the home which will not be usurped unless the packers are able to swing Ottawa into line.

The Village Dreamer

By A. W. Peach.

He was surprised. In the four years of what had been his quiet working life he had not seen her so excited or so happy. Instead she had seemed a calm little body, greeting him on his evening calls with a gentle friendliness. Now she was vibrant with some happiness of spirit that was reflected from her soul into his eyes.

"Jared, guess what's happened!" For a moment he was puzzled; then a slow dread took possession of him. "You are going away," he ventured. "It was just a venture and not his real thought."

She laughed. "No, but you're pretty close, in a way. The reason has arrived why we need not go. Hartley Shaffer has come back."

It was his first unspoken guess. Shaffer returned—that and her present happiness could have but one meaning: an end to his wooing, an end to his dream of the time when she would say "yes" to the question he had been waiting to ask.

Before he could form his answer there was a quick step on the porch, and a moment later he found himself facing the cheerful, tanned face of Shaffer. Her joy was visible in her happy eyes as the two men greeted each other.

"Yes, I'm glad to get back," Shaffer said, smiling, and looking toward her, "and find people glad to see me. Going to go, Jed? I'll be over and see you."

As he closed the gate he smiled faintly. "Too slow, too slow, too much of a village dreamer to match with Hartley for her. But I love her," he thought to himself as he turned homeward.

The next day the news of Shaffer's coming spread and the entire village knew that the courtship it had watched with interest was over. Old "Graveyard" Sparks, privileged because of his years and his kindly nature, summed the situation up when he said to Jared: "You're just a dreamer, lad, and your sparks ain't good for much in this hustlin' world. 'Hart's' come back with the money—made good with his plantation. But just the same, lad, there's a pile on us who are glad you stayed with us, an' the old man speakin' is one."

Just as Jared was closing his mill late that same afternoon, a stranger came in, a short, thick, keen-eyed fellow, and asked to see him.

"I came to see you because I've been told that you were reliable, and because you are administrator and trustee for some people around here. Now, do you know anything about any money placed in the hands of a Hartley Shaffer for investment? Have you given him any?"

Jared remembered that Hartley had tried to interest him in his money schemes, but had failed. "No, I feel a heavy responsibility for the funds in my care, and I take no chances."

The stranger smiled slightly. "My name is Graves, and I happen to be under the responsibility of tracing Mr. Shaffer and arresting him."

"A detective?"

"Yes, although I'm down on that name. Mr. Shaffer has secured funds for a fake, and some of the people in this vicinity have been touched. I thought you might be one. I have a pile on us who are glad you stayed with us, an' the old man speakin' is one."

Jared stared at the name he offered. "Miss Avery Stinson?"

"Miss Avery Stinson?"

"Under Graves' meeklike face a shadowy smile came and went as he watched Jared. 'I understand that you and Miss Stinson were pretty good friends until this Hartley butted in. You won't be troubled by him long. He's gone up to call on the lady now and him going to call on him—and arrest him.'

He rose and picked up his papers. Jared, dumbfounded, rose with him, his thoughts in turmoil—Avery's small fortune gone, on which she and her mother depended—the home her mother would not leave until death summoned her. All the rumors he had heard were true; she had given the money to Hartley trustingly; she had loved him—always would.

"Well, good-bye, Mr. Byrd—"

"Wait a moment," Jared said quietly. "This means that the money is gone!"

"The other shouted, 'Not a glint of it left.' Jared stood in thought while the detective watched him with curious eyes. 'I wish you could arrange it that you would not arrest Shaffer there; and moreover, I can't bear to think of their little money gone; besides, she thinks a lot of him.' Jared did not see the detective's eyes widen in wonder. 'No one in the village but Miss Stinson trusted funds to him, so she won't find out through them. Now, I want to turn over to you the three thousand he took from her, and I want you to arrange it so that she gets it in his name.'

Graves stared, then swore softly. "Of all the foot stunts! I'll pinch him right in front of her—show him up! You be right on hand."

"That isn't my way, Graves. What I ask you to do is very simple. You come from a long distance away, and you will take Shaffer still farther. The chances are she will never hear of this. I wish to save her grief. You don't understand."

"I'll be hanged if I do," the other said without emotion. "But I'll do as you suggest, is there anything else?" Jared shook his head.

It was long before he left the quiet of his dingy, dusty mill office; so he did not see Shaffer and his "city friend" leave the village on the early evening train.

Two days sped away in the fashion that time does, but he did not venture to visit the little cottage at the end of the broad village street. He stayed long in the mill office, fussing with his accounts in appearance, but in reality dreaming his old dreams over.

It was on such an evening of dreaming that a friend passing by left his message mail. Among the first letters he opened was this:

"Dear Sir—My business isn't to prevent men from making fools of themselves; it's to catch them after they have. I'm making an exception in your case. I have written Miss Stinson the whole story. Yours, Graves."

Jared gazed with astounded eyes at the big, scrawling message.

In the midst of his astonishment the door of his office opened. Glancing up he saw the small, graceful figure of Avery. Her dark eyes were bright with a brightness he had not seen there before.

He rose slowly. "Why, Avery—?" She came up to him close, until the lashes of her eyes, the faint rose of her cheeks were distinct. She spoke swiftly. "Jared, I never knew. You see, that man wrote me everything. I was happy before because Hartley wrote me that he was successful, and he would bring mother's money with him."

"Wait a moment," Jared said quietly. "This means that the money is gone!"

The Y. M. C. Johnson and Jackson Never Played With a Winner

The two stars who are active in the game today and who have never been with a winning team are Walter Johnson, for years conceded to be the best pitcher in the American League, and Joe Jackson, the hard-hitting outfielder.

The case of Johnson is much the same as that of Rucker. Even when the Senators were down among the last clubs in the American League, Johnson pitched a caliber of ball that made him stand out more prominently and above the pitchers who were on winning teams. It has often been remarked that had Johnson been with the Cubs, Giants, Tigers or Athletics when those teams were winning pennants, he would have established some pitching records that would have stood for all time.

And Joe Jackson has been prevented from playing in a world series because he happened to be under contract to the hard-luck Cleveland team up to last year. There is still a chance for Jackson realizing his ambition, as he is now with a team that has been in the thick of the pennant race for two seasons, and Joe should be good for several more years before he starts on the path which all players eventually travel—backward.

As for Johnson, there are at least four clubs in the American League that are as far ahead of the Senators that Walter will have little opportunity of seeing into a world series unless he is disposed of to another club, or unless Clark Griffith becomes a miracle man and puts over an unexpected winning combination.

put up a great three-round scrap. Jenkins is a shifty lad, and will be matched with the best of the 118th Battalion can produce. The bout will probably be held under the auspices of the S. P. A. McKenzie is no slouch and will be heard from yet.

Earl Wainwright, who is well known to local fight fans, and Heck Speedy Mason waltzed three rounds for the benefit of the men. Heck took some good hard punches in the third, and when he managed to land a few heavy smashes at the close of the mill he was heartily applauded. Mason would put up a good fight were he in condition.

Other Sports.
A basketball match between two picked teams was then played, after which everyone adjourned to the swimming pool, where C. Stephens, C. Gline and T. Glineberg put on some fancy diving and swimming strokes.

The 19th Band was a pleasing feature of the evening's entertainment. The music was excellent and the selections were heartily enjoyed.

The soldiers were more than pleased with the splendid selection given by a number of the city's most gifted soloists. Among those who took part in the musical program were the Misses Straith, Ware, Henderson, and Miss, Mrs. (Rev.) Hugh McFarlane, Reg. Hudson, Gordon Scott, R. W. Hodgins, and "Singer" McKenzie, of the 21st Battalion.

J. P. Moore responded to the speech made by Mr. Langford when he presented the soldiers with their membership tickets.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. provided excellent refreshments for the returned heroes at the close of the evening.

Wainwright, the Kid's sparring partner, will meet Eddie Burns, the Detroit featherweight, in one of the preliminaries while Cookson and W. Everett of this city, will stage the first bout, a six round affair. The two main bouts will last ten rounds each.

Outman and Producers Among Those Who Turned Out—Soldiers Look Good.

Toronto, Nov. 10.—A record for early hockey practice in these parts was made last night when the 228th Battalion team, recently admitted to membership in the N. H. A., turned out in line, including Outman, late of Portland; the McNamara brothers, Procter, Meeking and Duncan. The soldiers promise to cut a wide swath in the professional ranks, judging from their early form.

BURNS OUTPOINTS O'LEARY.
MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—"Kid" Burns, local featherweight, outpointed and outgeneraled Artie O'Leary of New York in a ten-round bout before the Canadian Hockey Club here tonight.

MISKE KNOCKS OUT O'NEIL.
NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Billy Miske of St. Paul, knocked out Tim O'Neill of Chicago, in the sixth round of a 10-round bout here tonight. Miske weighed 174, and O'Neill 167½.

N. H. A. HAS TROUBLE WITH HOLD-OUT GANG

Veteran Puck-Chasers Refuse Low Salaries.

OWNERS HOLD WHIP HAND

Old-Timers Must Take Cut or Drop Out of Hockey.

Nearly all the clubs in the National Hockey Association are having trouble lining up the old-timers for the coming puck-chasing campaign. The veterans do not like the idea of signing up for less money than they received last season, which was a lean year from a financial standpoint, and there are many hold-outs. The magnates, however, are not disposed to make any concessions.

Now that peace has been patched up with the Coast League, they hold the whip-hand, and the veteran stars can come in or stay out, just as they like. Manager Livingstone of the Toronto team has all but two or three of his team under contract. Cameron, Cy Denneny and Skinner are the old players who are anywhere doubtful, and they are expected to fall into line.

Canadian Refuses to Sign.
George Kennedy, manager of the Canadiens, has announced that Eddie Pitre has refused to sign at a reduced figure, the Flying Frenchman having returned his contract unsigned. Kennedy has not yet approached Lalonde, Veina or Laviolette, but these players are also due for "cuts," and it would not be surprising if they also joined the ranks of the hold-outs.

The Wanderers have already landed three or four of their players, and Owner Leachman hopes to have them all ready for the first practice about the opening week in December. The Wanderers had the lowest salary team in the league last year, and the reduction in their cases will not be great.

THISTLES WILL ELECT NEW OFFICERS TONIGHT

Prospects Are For Best Season in Club's History.

The annual meeting of the Thistle Club will be held in the clubrooms tonight. Officers will be elected for both the curling and bowling ends of the club, and a large attendance is expected.

The Thistles believe in starting the evening properly, and to this end a bounteous chicken dinner will be served to the members at 6:30 o'clock. All the boys, however, are requested to be present at 8 o'clock, every member having been notified to this effect. Full reports from the different departments will be given, financial and otherwise.

Big Matches To Be Played Here.
The curlers are enthusiastic about the season's prospects. All the big matches will be played in London this winter. The Ontario tankard games, district cup matches, and the colts' bonspiel will all be staged in this city, as well as a big city of London tournament, between the Thistles, London Curling Club and the Asylum Club, which will probably be held in February.

A week from tonight the regular weekly curling tournaments will start. Those held up to the present have not been "regular," according to several of the club officials. The members spend many pleasant Friday evenings playing curling, while they are waiting for Jack Frost to put his O. K. on the ice. Valuable prizes are put up for competition, while the member that rolls up the highest score for six straight weeks is also included in the prize list.

AUSTRALIAN CHAMP. WINS

[Canadian Press.]
Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 10.—Jack Read, Australian lightweight champion, was given the decision over Art Fox, ex-amateur lightweight champion, in a six-round bout here last night.

WINNIPEG AMATEURS JOIN PROS.
VANCOUVER, Nov. 9.—Stan Marple, Chem Loughlin and Dick Irvin of Winnipeg, three of the best-known hockey players in the Dominion, have decided to forsake the amateur ranks for the professional game, and have been signed by Manager Savage of the Portland club of the P. C. H. A.

Manager Savage declares they will report for practice about November 17. This means that the coast hockey association champions this season will put on the ice a team composed of most entirely of former Winnipeg amateur stars.

City Basketball League Schedule

Physical Director A. T. Taylor of the Y. M. C. A. has finally drafted a schedule for the city basketball league, which opens at the "Y" next week. The league will be composed of four teams up until the new year, when a new series will be started, with two teams from the Western University added. The boys have been working out for some time and are anxious to get back in the game again.

After giving the list of each team's members the once over it looks as if it would be anyone's race for the championship. The soldiers have a good bunch to pick from.

Following is the list of players and the schedule adopted:
Nov. 14—6:30 p.m.—Military Team vs. Y. Juniors.
14—7:30 p.m.—Wagners vs. Dowlers.

ROBERTS MAY GO EAST.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8.—Gordon Roberts, ex-Wanderer hockey player, who is practicing medicine in New Westminster, and a deal for whom is now pending between Sammy Lichtenhein and Frank Patrick, declared today that he was anxious to play in Vancouver's team of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association. President Frank Patrick stated that the deal for Roberts was still hanging fire, and that while he was certain that Roberts is a star fully worth the $35 Lichtenhein is demanding, he thought the price might be lowered.

NATIONAL "COMMISH" VS. PLAYERS' FRAT.

They're Still Hammering at Each Other.

HERRMANN TALKS NOW

Says Davy Is Trying to Create False Impression on the Fans.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 9.—August Herrmann, chairman of the national baseball commission, today issued a statement replying to a request by David Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' Fraternity, that some players' contracts be changed to prevent players injured in the services of a club, being suspended uncompensated during their illness. Mr. Herrmann's statement says in part:

Listen to Garry.

"This request on the part of Mr. Fultz, in my judgment, is wholly unwarranted and uncalled for and creates a false impression in the minds of the baseball public, to wit: That they may be given to understand that the practice now is that players injured in the service of a club, after a certain period, may be suspended without compensation. This is not a fact, and the commission has at all times ruled that a player must be compensated when injured in the service of a club, regardless of the length of the period of his injury, or else be given his release after a certain period."

ELMWOOD BOWLING CLUB ANNUAL MEETING TONIGHT

Winner of the Underhill Trophy Will Surprise the Members, Says Secretary Speiran.

The Elmwood Bowling Club will hold its annual meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the club rooms. The club has had a most successful season with the bowls, and the members are looking forward to next year already. Officers will be elected, and business of general importance will be transacted.

Trophy Presented.

The feature of the meeting will be the presentation of the cup donated by E. Underhill for the champion of the Friday night matches. Secretary C. E. Speiran would not divulge the winner last night, but stated that a dark horse had won the trophy.

Second Meeting.

Immediately after the meeting of the bowling club, the Elmwood Club, Incorporated, will hold its annual meeting. Mr. Speiran, who is also secretary of this club, will make a full report on all business transacted. It is expected that there will be a full attendance of members at both meetings.

The consistent and rapid growth of this business can mean but one thing:

MORE CRITICISMS BY SAM HUGHES OF BRITISH WORK

Hospitals System Blamed, But
All Is Well Now.

IS MODESTY RAMPANT?

Tells How His Superior Equipment Has Been Pulled From Scrap Heap.

TORONTO, Nov. 9.—In an address to the Empire Club this afternoon Sir Sam Hughes declared that thousands of Canadians had lost months and in some cases a year of their time in hospitals not under Canadian control when they should have been back in the trenches. A plan was advanced for the treatment of Canadian convalescents by which from 60 to 65 per cent are restored to the trenches. Heretofore men had been sent back to the trenches before they were restored to health, the general pointed out, and said the practice had had a demoralizing effect upon the fighting efficiency of the men. The new plan had worked out well.

General Hughes continued: "The prime minister of Canada has promised 500,000 men I have no hesitation in saying that if Canada had had the storage capacity for men and if we had been able to equip them, we would have had these 500,000 men six months ago. We had to halt in our recruiting work last year owing to lack of accommodation and equipment."

The speaker said that he felt satisfied that there would be no difficulty in getting the men of Canada to continue to come forward.

More Self Praise.
Sir Sam told of his efforts, finally successful, to secure Canadian control of troops, arms, equipment and hospital care. British methods, equipment and organization, he maintained, had proved inferior. "On the principle of responsibility," he said, "we in Canada rose and asserted ourselves." Sir Sam added that he did not blame the British Government. "It was the fault of officials who had no experience of any kind."

"In the second year of the war," he said, "we found that Bavaria and Saxony and other German states, integral parts of the German Empire, controlled their own troops, their appointments, although the men were all paid out of the German imperial exchequer. Yet Canada, paying her own men, leaving the entire control, and similar privilege. It need not, and should not, surprise anyone to learn that when this was brought up, those in responsibility objected to being treated any longer as a crown colony, and took steps to see that Canada should be recognized in this matter, and that our promotions and appointments, while accepting a British officer in command in the field, should be accepted, that in these matters Canada, and Canada alone, should control their appointments and these materials."

Pulled From Mud.
"Therefore, our saddles were pulled out of the mud, our harnesses scraped up, and article after article and department after department gone through, and today our stuff is used at the front by Canadian, and by British in some parts, and is regarded as better than their own stuff."

Evangelist Wires to Friends in

DETROIT, Nov. 9.—In response to a telegram from four here advising him that Michigan had gone into the prohibition column, Evangelist Billy Sunday, from his home at Winona, Lake Umbagog, sent the following typical message, in reply today:

"I am overjoyed with the result. Couldn't sleep much last night thinking about dear old Michigan. She certainly did hit the booze crowd, a solid blow. I am sure there is crepe on the doors of hell today—praise God from whom all blessings flow. (Signed) 'W. A. SUNDAY'."

A telegram also came to the "dry" headquarters today from William Jennings Bryan at Lincoln, Neb. He wired:

"Michigan has done splendidly; accept congratulations. With Montana, South Dakota, Utah, Florida and Alaska also adopting prohibition we now have 24 states and one territory dry."

WOULD EXTEND DROUGHT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The legislative committee of the Anti-Saloon League of America, issued a statement here tonight commenting on the prohibition victories Tuesday when Michigan, Montana and South Dakota joined the list of statewide prohibition states, and declaring that Congress this winter should pass the federal amendment resolution, make the District of Columbia "dry" and deny the mails to liquor advertising.

BEAN CROP RETURNS HURON MAN $5,500

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Clinton, Nov. 9.—Huron County is showing splendid results from the bean crops of 1916, as many of the farmers had an unusually heavy crop of excellent quality. One farmer named John Schwartz, living a few miles north of Clinton, on the Huron road, had 65 acres of beans, and has already sold 1,000 bushels, which will net him $5,500, he having made the sale at $5.50 per bushel.

The farmers of Stanley Township are perhaps district leaders in the production of beans, and they report excellent results this year.

NURSE HAS GRIEVANCE.

Kincardine, Nov. 9.—At the regular meeting of the Kincardine hospital board three of the nurses appeared with grievances, fancied or real. Miss Jamieson asked for two months' back salary which had not been paid her. She entered also a claim for lost time. It appears when she came here as probationer she was placed nursing typhoid fever patients and contracted the disease, being laid up several weeks. Miss Jamieson claims this time has been paid up and her diploma is due her. The matter is now in the hands of the board.

Severe Headaches and Pains in the Back

Resulted From Deranged Kidneys and Constipation of the Bowels.

It is in vain to try to regulate and restore the healthful action of the kidneys until the liver and bowels are set right.

And just here is where so many kidney medicines fail. Kidney derangements almost invariably begin with constipation and torpidity of the liver. The whole work of filtering the blood is thrown on the kidneys, and in time they fail to stand the strain. The poison in the system gives rise to severe headaches, pains in the back and tired, depressed feelings.

Because they act directly on the liver and bowels, as well as on the kidneys, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are eminently successful in the treatment of kidney derangements.

Mr. William Loney, Marysville, N. B., writes: "I am glad to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to anybody who is suffering from kidney trouble or constipation. I suffered for a long time from kidney disease and pains in the back, but have found that by using one pill a week the kidneys and bowels are kept in good order, and I do not have any more pains in the back or head like I used to have. I was also a great sufferer from piles, and could get no relief until I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. This ailment is entirely cured now, but we always keep both the pills and the ointment in the house for use when they are needed."

This statement is indorsed by Mr. F. Saunders, town marshal, who writes that Mr. Loney's letter is true and correct.

LEAMINGTON WOMAN BURNED, FIRE STARTED BY A CHILD

Little Son of Mrs. A. E. Law Plays With Matches.

Leamington, Nov. 9.—A fire broke out in the residence of A. E. Law, Talbot street, which but for the presence of mind and quick action of Mrs. Law might have been a serious one. Her little boy, about 5 years of age, was upstairs and secured some matches from clothes which hung in a closet and started a fire. When it became, as he thought, too big for him, he gave the alarm to his mother, who rushing upstairs, with a piece of carpet, began to fight the flames. She was badly burned about the hands and face and hair. It is almost a miracle the boy did not catch fire. The fire department was called out, but was not needed.

Judge Dromgole Presides.
Monday Judge Dromgole held a court of revision upon the Leamington voters' lists. Lambert Wigle, M.P., and W. Simpson appeared for the Liberals, and Dr. Anderson for the Conservatives. There were quite a number of changes owing to death and absence.

HOUSEKEEPING IS A BUSINESS. ECONOMICAL COOKING IS A SCIENCE.

Our Consumers' League

BY ISOBEL C. ARMSTRONG.

The surprising thing is not how preachers keep on finding texts. The wonderful part is that they are ever able to decide upon one with so many in front of them from which to choose. The world is just fairly teeming with texts, lessons in every shopping expedition, and sermon subjects wherever one turns.

Take the advertisements which appeared last week in our Consumers' League Page. (We take it for granted that the title "Consumers' League" has been unanimously accepted.)

How is this for a text: "Use only the best grades of food. They are the most economical in the end."

Have you tested this out for yourself? Have you discovered this by experience?

Stretching the income to cover expenses is a big problem. But it is not the whole problem of catering to a family. There is one which is equally important, providing the food which will bring the best returns in health and strength, and building up of the body for the money expended. If the human animal is to be cheerful, efficient and a satisfactory member of society, it must be properly nourished. This means supplying with good food. Good food is never by any chance impure food. In order to merit the term "good," it must be pure, manufactured under the most sanitary conditions. Ever buy butter a little below par, just because it was some cents cheaper? It didn't improve in quality as the days went by, and from the first it was unpalatable. Pleasure in eating is an important factor in the digesting of food. That "below par" butter neither bettered the bread, the appetite nor digestion. It was dear at any price.

Bargains Often Bad Economy.

You all know the woman with a mania for bargains. She boasts about her economies. One of these which she consistently practices is waiting till things get cheap before buying. She waits till fruit is over-ripe, then she carries home her basket in triumph. She uses quite as much sugar as her next door neighbor, who preserves and, according to scientific methods. The bargain-hunter wonders why her jellies refuse to jelly, why her berries and pears and peaches go to pieces in canning, why she frequently finds fermentation when she opens a jar of fruit. She wonders, but she doesn't give the matter serious consideration and study.

She is offered a bargain in potatoes. (They are so frightfully expensive this year, she has been wondering how she can afford to buy them at all.) Right next is a bag of good, sound potatoes, in which she is assured there will not be the least bit of waste. But she cannot resist the bargain. After all, every so many of the bargain potatoes are free from spots. She has them sent home, intending to pick them over at once. But so many other duties press that before she is able to give herself to the task, the decay has spread and spread and spread. She consumes time and wastes many valuable regards peeling and cutting around the bad spots, and what she puts of that bag of potatoes in the garbage can is little short of scandalous, particularly in war time.

Is this good economy?

The Housekeeper's Business.

There is one thing sure, it is very bad business to keep on repeating mistakes and making bad bargains.

Business? Who said anything about business? This is "running a house." What then, pray, is running a house but a business, the business of the housekeeper? The business of the wage-earner is to provide the wherewithal to pay the household expenses, whether it be by a profession, a business, a trade or in employment as a laborer. The housekeeper's share in the partnership is to make the wisest investment of the capital with which she is furnished. To spend a living is just as important a business as to earn it, and one which requires just as much thought and intelligence.

How long would a business firm retain the services of a buyer, either man or woman, who entered upon the task without first carefully considering the needs of the institution represented, the amount of capital available; who failed to familiarize himself or herself with market prices and the lines of goods to be purchased?

More than this, a business firm demands knowledge, if not experience as well, before accepting a candidate for the position of buyer. But supposing the buyer happened to be a partner. How long would the partnership last if the buying partner refused to profit by experience and to substitute efficient methods for slipshod practices?

Having a life lease on a position isn't any reasonable excuse for taking unfair advantage of the partner with the capital.

Stopping Leakages.

"A penny saved is a penny earned." This was a favorite text for sermons with our grandmothers and our great-grandmothers before them. Today in the business world, they call it "stopping the leakages."

The water inspector goes around from time to time to inspect the city taps and to see that no unfair advantage is being taken by householders. A little drip-drip from one tap isn't a great deal in itself, but several drip-drips have the effect of seriously diminishing the water supply, which isn't anything to be trifled with, so far as quantity is concerned in London. The bigger the institution, the more careful it is about "leakages."

Many of the largest business institutions in the country know to a cent what it costs for operation each day, how much stock has gone out, what new supplies have been received.

How many small households can boast the same accuracy? How many small households keep records at all?

Our Reader's Response.

Our Consumers' League Page had readers last week. This isn't a guess. It is a statement of a fact. There has been the best of evidence to this effect. The readers have told us, telephoned us, and written to us what they thought about the new Advertiser feature. Without a single exception, the opinion has been favorable.

The readers weren't confined to the housekeepers. The men also had taken a dip into the page, because of their interest in the problem of making the income stretch a little farther in these days of high cost of living and continual demand upon the pocketbook.

A city official said the beginning of this week: "I like the idea of the page very much. I read it all last week, and was most interested."

Even better than such kind comments, a number of the housekeepers and home-makers have already shown their practical interest by the announcement that they intend having a part in making our Consumers' League a success.

A strangely-familiar voice said over the telephone: "Jane Wiggins is speaking." The editor of the page didn't for one minute believe it, but the voice insisted, finally compromising, "for newspaper purposes, anyway."

This is what Jane wanted to relate: "The problem of the cost of living very closely affects me. That's me, as you said last week. I wonder if it would help the readers any if some time I wrote in and told how our garden this summer supplied us with enough vegetables for the winter, and a surplus to sell? We had the ground, and when we read so much during last winter about the importance of greater production we decided we would do our bit by growing, and thereupon we decided to go at it another year in a businesslike way. We are getting ready now for next year's garden and, beginning with the 1st of October, we started to keep an exact account of every single item of expense and profit."

"By the end of next September (1917), we will know exactly how much we have made from the garden, though there are other benefits we won't be able to estimate in dollars and cents at the time, such as the improvement of our property, and the health and strength we have gained, as well as knowledge from outdoor life."

Thrift v. s. Butter.

"Elsie G." has sent in the following suggestion, accompanied by a note signed with her own name, in which she states that she saved "Our Consumers' League" from Friday's paper to read when she had plenty of time. This is a bear in the life of the writer. How often as a child I longed to escape from them and be "darned extravagant." On reading your prelude to what is, I am convinced, going to be a source of information and inspiration to many, and of necessity, I wondered where we could economize further. I was relieved to find that there was one small way, viz.: to return to an English custom, and dispense with butter at the dinner table, the American custom of serving butter at dinner having invaded ours, as well as most Canadian homes.

"This new economy was inaugurated Sunday and has continued since. While talking of the subject of butter, personal experience has demonstrated that especially in regard to butter (as the thrifty housewife will agree is the case in purchasing any article) there is little or no economy in buying any inferior brands. Use less, if necessary, but use the best."

ALLIES WILL FIGHT TILL FREE FUTURE OF WORLD IS ASSURED

Victory Insures Liberties, Declares Mr. Asquith.

NO SEPARATE PEACE

Entente Powers Firmly United, With Only One Object In View.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The banquet of the lord mayor of London, Sir William Henry Dunn, was given at the Guildhall tonight, and was attended by cabinet ministers, members of the diplomatic corps, including Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador, and men prominent in the military and naval world, among them Lord Fisher, chairman of the inventions board; Arthur J. Balfour, first lord of the admiralty, and Sir William R. Robertson, chief of the imperial staff at army headquarters.

The leading speech of the evening was delivered by Premier Asquith, who, in alluding to peace, declared that nobody had greater reason than Great Britain to desire peace, but that it was desired on only one condition—that the sacrifices of the war should not have been made in vain. A feature of the speeches was the stand made by Rumania, and the expression of the opinion that although the attack on Rumania had not yet been defeated, it had been successfully stayed.

Premier Asquith began his speech with a reference to Turlu, which country he described as a subservient agent of German interests and ambition, as was intimated, he said, by the fact that by lifting a finger Germany might have created the Armenian horrors, but instead looked on unmoved, acquiescent and possibly even complacent.

Sample of German Turkey. "That," said the premier, "is a significant sample of what the continuance of the rule of German Turkey in Europe will mean."

Mr. Asquith said he would refrain from any detailed review of the naval and military situation. He dwelt, however, on the continued Entente Allied success, and said the British navy was ready, and more than ready, whenever opportunity was offered to it.

With regard to the Greek situation, Mr. Asquith said he wished he could speak with as much confidence as hope. The Entente Allies went to Saloniki as friends of both Greece and Serbia, he said. Their sole desire was to prevent Greece from becoming enmeshed in the Germanic net, and to save her from internal strife. Whatever apparently drastic measures had been taken were dictated solely by the necessity of preventing Athens from becoming the centre of German propaganda and intrigue.

Entente Venizelos Sympathizers. Declaring that the Entente Allies were in hearty sympathy with Eleutherios Venizelos, former premier, Mr. Asquith asked how Greece could possibly stand aloof from a war for the emancipation of smaller states.

"Greece," Mr. Asquith continued, "first lit the torch of liberty in Europe, and withstood the inrush of eastern barbarism and tyranny. May Greece relapse into her former state, and herself worthy of her immortal past?"

Dealing with the general situation, Mr. Asquith said: "Let there be no illusion about our enemies. They are great organizers and fine fighters in the field. They are also, if not skillful, indefatigable workers in the sphere of propaganda, where they have a double motive: to divide the Allies, and capture neutral opinion."

No Economic Suicide. In this connection Mr. Asquith characterized the German suggestion of a similar design on the part of the Entente Allies to combine against neutral countries and build up an insuperable stone wall against their trade as childish fiction, which only meant that the Allies were bent upon economic suicide. He said it ought to be unnecessary to affirm that when the time comes for peace nothing will be more essential for the Entente Allies from the standpoint of simple self-interest than to establish and maintain the best industrial and financial relations with neutrals.

Alluding to the different methods of propaganda which he said were employed at different places with a view to dividing the Allies and influencing favor for a separate peace, Mr. Asquith said:

Only Condition of Lasting Peace. "I desire to declare without hesitation or reserve that the Allies are fighting in a common cause, that for the purposes of war their interests are identical, and that a victory securing those interests is, in our judgment, the only condition of a lasting peace."

Continuing, Mr. Asquith said he desired to mention that hitherto no German propagandist had ever suggested that Germany was prepared to concede anything to the demand of the Allies for the reconstitution of and independence of Serbia.

Alluding to what he termed propaganda conducted in Russia, to the effect that Great Britain's only desire to prolong the war and prevent any sort of peace because she is making huge profits by exploiting her allies unscrupulously, the premier said:

Peace But Only One Condition. "For us, who know what terrible sacrifices we are paying in precious lives, in the unceasing, pitiless drain upon our resources of potential promise and vitality—who have greater reason than we to long and pray for peace? Peace? Yes, but on one condition—that the war with its vast sacrifices, its untold sufferings, its glorious and undying example of courage and unselfishness, shall not have been in vain."

"There can be no question of a separate peace. And peace, when it comes, be it soon or late, and I will not disguise from you for a moment my conviction that the struggle will tax all our resources and our whole stock of patience and resolve—the peace that must be such as will build up on sure and stable foundations the security of the weak, the liberties of Europe and a free future for the world."

Mr. Balfour briefly denied the statements that the British navy had accepted a passive role in the war, saying the Germans had refused to allow their ships to meet the British. Referring to the recent raid by German torpedo craft in the English Channel, Mr. Balfour said:

"It did not disturb our transport service for a moment."

Huns Would Lose Heavily. "The first lord of the admiralty said he would not say that such a raid could not be repeated, but that if it were the Germans would not be able to get out of the channel again without heavy losses."

PROVINCIAL ANALYST TO ANALYZE STOMACH OF LAMBTON CITIZEN

Christopher Kauchanmaster Dies After Vomiting.

INQUEST AT HILLSBORO

Dead Man Had Had Fall, But Thought Not Badly Injured.

FOREST, Nov. 9.—To clear up an uncertainty that exists concerning the death of Christopher Kauchanmaster, who died suddenly Sunday, local authorities have sent a stomach and other vital organs to Toronto for examination by the provincial analyst.

An inquest was held Tuesday morning at the dead man's home in Hillsboro.

Kauchanmaster had fallen out of a tree on Wednesday last week, but was not thought seriously injured. On Saturday evening he had a severe attack of vomiting and died before his medical attendant arrived. Both Drs. Blain and Hubbard of Forest saw the body on Monday, but could not certify as to the cause of his death. Dr. Patterson, coroner, was notified and communicated with the crown attorney.

A jury was summoned, composed of Geo. W. Beatty, C. Burr, W. D. Coffey, R. B. Croble, Dr. C. L. Hoffman, M. J. Roche and Lorne Scott. On Tuesday Dr. Hubbard performed a post-mortem operation, removing the stomach, which was sent to Toronto for analysis. The inquest was adjourned until next Tuesday morning in Hillsboro.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon from the residence at Hillsboro to Beechwood Cemetery. The only immediate survivor is his widow, to whom he was married about a year ago. His step-daughter, the child of a former wife, was married recently, and her husband, Mr. Kauchanmaster, bought the farm of John Jones, and moved onto it a few weeks ago. Previously he had lived a quiet life in Forest for over forty years. He was considered well-to-do.

MUNITIONS PLANTS OF STATES DEPEND ON NIAGARA POWER

Therefore British War Office Asks Leniency for Power Co.

TORONTO, Nov. 9.—Munitions branch of the war office at London, England, has appealed to the Ontario Government to deal leniently with the Canadian Niagara Power Company in its demands for electricity. The board says that if the Ontario Government forces the Canadian Niagara Power Company to supply a greater quantity of power than it has been doing the production in at least eight large British munitions plants will be seriously affected and some of them might be forced to close.

These plants, says the official communication, are dependent on an American concern near the border for "electros" used in making munition steel. The firm supplies at least eight British munitions plants and is dependent on the Canadian Niagara Power Company for its power.

Attorney-General Lucas, who is a member of the hydro commission, said today:

"It is a very serious situation. The answer of Ontario to the question is of course that the power we are demanding on behalf of the Hydro Commission is also being used for munition plants. We need every bit that we can get. I suppose the idea of the British authorities is that we might do with a smaller quantity until the Canadian Niagara Power Company gets its steam plants working so as to care for the business on the American side. If the situation becomes so serious that there is not power for both the American munitions plants and our munitions plants, the American plants will have to close. That is the only solution that I can see."

HAD WEAK BACK AND KIDNEYS

Suffered So Could Hardly Move in Bed

"When the back becomes weak and starts to ache and pain, it is a sure sign that the kidneys are performing their functions properly. On the first sign of any weakness or pain in the back, Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken. They are a remedy for the kidneys only, and make right for the seat of the trouble."

Mr. Francis M. Woodbine, N.S., writes: "I deem it my duty to let you know the wonderful results I have received from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. For a long time I had been suffering from weak back and kidneys. I used to suffer the most at night, and sometimes I could hardly move in bed with the pain. I could do no hard labor. A friend advised me to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial, and I am glad I did, for the pain in my kidneys is gone, my back is strong, and I can perform any hard labor and get my good night's sleep. I only used three boxes of the pills."

"Doan's" are the original kidney pill. Put up in an aching box. The trade mark is a "Maple Leaf." Price 50c per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

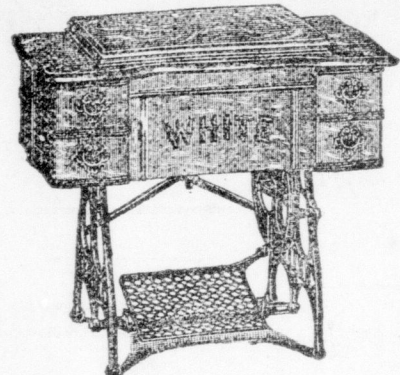

Specify "Doan's" when ordering direct.

IF STOMACH HURTS DRINK HOT WATER

A Physician's Advice. "If dyspepsia, suffering from gas, wind or flatulence, stomach acidity or indigestion, catarrh, heartburn, etc., would take a teaspoonful of pure, disintegrated magnesia in half a glass of water or immediately after eating, they would soon forget they were ever afflicted with stomach trouble, and doctors would have to look elsewhere for patients."

In explanation of these words a well-known New York physician states that most forms of stomach trouble are due to stomach acidity and fermentation of the food contents of the stomach, combined with an insufficient blood supply to the stomach. Hot water increases the blood supply, and disintegrated magnesia instantly neutralizes the excessive stomach acid and stops food fermentation. The combination of the two, therefore, being marvelously successful and decidedly preferable to the use of artificial digestants, stimulants or medicines for indigestion. Adv.

THE NEWEST REMEDY

FOR
Backache, Rheumatism and Dropsy.

Kidney, Bladder and Uric Acid troubles bring misery to many. When the kidneys are weak or diseased, these natural filters do not cleanse the blood sufficiently, and the poisons are carried to all parts of the body. There follow depression, aches and pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, chilliness and rheumatism. In some people there are sharp pains in the back and joints, distressing bladder disorders and sometimes obstinate dropsy. The uric acid sometimes forms into gravel or kidney stones. When the uric acid affects the muscles and joints, it causes lameness, rheumatism, gout or sciatica. This is the time to try "Anuric." Send for trial package.

During digestion uric acid is absorbed into the system from meat eaten, and even from some vegetables. The poor kidneys get tired and backache results. This is a good time to take "Anuric," the new discovery of Dr. Pierce's Kidney Trouble and Backache. Neglected kidney trouble is responsible for many deaths, and insurance companies examining doctors always test the water of an applicant before a policy will be issued. Have you ever had a uric acid test? Water for twenty-four hours? A heavy sediment or settling sometimes indicates kidney trouble. The true nature and character of diseases, especially those of the kidneys and urinary organs, can often be determined by a careful chemical analysis and microscopic examination—this is done by expert chemists of the Medical Staff of the Ingersoll Hotel. If you wish to know your condition send a sample of your water to Doctor Pierce's Ingersoll Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and describe your symptoms. It will be examined without any expense to you, and Doctor Pierce or his staff of Consulting Physicians will inform you truthfully.

GERMANS TRIED TO KEEP CONTROL OF THE VAUX WORKS

Prepared Plans To Strengthen Before Evacuation.

Equipment, Rations, Cannon Ammunition Abandoned to the French.

PORT VAUX, ON THE VERDUN FRONT, Nov. 8.—Via Paris, Nov. 9.—From a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press.—News of the presidential election in the United States was communicated by wireless telegraph to the correspondent of the Associated Press in Port Vaux today, and created intense interest amid the activities of defence preparations and under a very severe German bombardment.

The correspondent reached the fort which is the most advanced fortified point of the French lines at Verdun, around the walls of which shells were then falling, and thickly increased throughout the day. Within the garrison the French were engaged in restoring the fort to its original condition, and the correspondent related to the correspondent how he had entered the works while it was still supposed to be occupied by the Germans. He approached a machine gun, emplaced under cover of darkness and inserted his head. He saw nobody, and proceeded to search further. He then found that the entire garrison had departed. The French were able to occupy the fort without a shot.

Answer to German Claims.
Evidence was discovered in the shape of a program drafted by the German commander, von Engelbrecht, dated October 21, for strengthening the position so as to permit the Germans to prepare for a further attack on Verdun. The details comprised the erection of barbed wire in the interior, in order to permit of its defence in sections, also the construction of a new exit and galleries, the erection of barbed-wire entanglements, and the excavation of a tunnel, forty feet of which had been completed.

The French found essential parts of the fortress intact, and that the other parts could be easily restored, despite the fact that the Germans had left a number of mines hastily laid by the Germans before their departure, most of which were unexploded. The Germans also left a million rifle cartridges, many shells and grenades, two machine guns, one cannon, 2,000 rations, much canned preserves, quantities of mineral waters, medical bandages and stores.

Ceaseless "Straffing."
Ever since their departure the Germans have bombarded the fort night and day, but have not been successful in preventing supplies from arriving. The correspondent of the Associated Press was compelled to stay fourteen hours in the fortress and then had to cover the first furious storm which fell on the ground already dented with shell shots like a collider.

The French have already advanced their lines well to the front of Port Vaux, thus opposing any attempt at a counter-attack by the Germans, who would be obliged to seek a position in a marshy ground, where it would be impossible to dig trenches. Vaux was the sole strong point occupied by the Germans from which it was possible to attempt to execute a counter-attack with any possibility of success, and the Germans are constantly showing their contempt for the food supplies of the civilian population.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 9.—Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper has just received word that his son, Victor Gordon Tupper, who left here as a private in the 7th Scottish, has been decorated with the Military Cross. Besides receiving this honor, Mr. Tupper was promoted to the rank of captain for his services at Courcellette. He is now in command of a signalling section, and is seeing active service in France.

NOBEL PRIZE AWARDS.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Swedish Academy, reviewing the dispatch from Stockholm, has awarded the Nobel prize for literature for 1915, which had been held in reserve, to Reinhold, a Swedish playwright and novelist. The prize for 1916 has been awarded to the Swedish poet, Verner Heidenstam.

WILSON RE-ELECTED BY VOTE OF WOMEN, SAY SUFFRAGETTES

Women's Support in the West Turned the Trick.

APPROVED WAR POLICY

Reward for Keeping the United States of the War.

(Canadian Press.)
New York, Nov. 10.—Leaders of the cause of women suffrage yesterday believed that the vote of women in the west had elected President Wilson, and that without these votes, Hughes would have been elected president by a considerable majority in the electoral college. Of the ninety-one electoral votes in states where women vote, 44 went for Wilson, the thirteen votes of California were uncertain, and the 25 votes of Illinois and the five of Oregon were for Hughes.

Women For Wilson.

Correspondents from Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, Utah, Washington and Wyoming have reported that the general belief was that the women vote in those states has gone heavily for the president. In Idaho and Kansas, Nevada, Utah, Washington and Wyoming—states which have a total of 31 electoral votes—it was believed to be very likely that the majority among the women for Wilson has overthrown a majority among the men for Hughes. There is no way of checking the women vote in any of these states. It is not a certainty that any of them would have gone for Hughes, had the men alone voted, but the estimates of men for Wilson are based on the observation of the parent popularity with women of the argument that he saved the country from war.

Suffragettes Jubilant.

Whether the women swung the west or not, the fact that the west suffrage states were almost unanimous for Wilson, saved the situation for the suffragettes. Before the election they had relied on Illinois to shatter the argument that women ought not to have the vote, because they would vote the same as the men. Pre-election predictions were that the women of Illinois would go for President Wilson by a majority of 150,000. The Republicans admitted that they were very much worried about the way the women would vote, and this was the uncertainty which caused the state to be classed as doubtful.

Chicago Female Vote.

But in Chicago, the only place where the women vote separately, and were counted separately, they did the opposite of what was expected. Their votes indicated that, where Wilson's sentiment was strong, it was stronger with the women than with the men, and where Hughes sentiment was strong the women gave him greater pluralities than the men did. The total women vote in Chicago was apportioned between the candidates in about the same manner as the vote of the men, Hughes received there 135,169 votes against 130,051 for Wilson.

There was nothing to indicate that the women in Chicago responded more readily to pacifist arguments than the men did, and no evidence that an special plea to the women in favor of any candidate was effective.

Watchful Waiting Puts Rates Higher

American Vessels on Safe Insurance Footing as Other Craft Now.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Marine underwriters here today advanced to 5 per cent the war risk rate on American vessels in Mediterranean waters. This increase, resulting from submarine activity against one or more American ships, places United States vessels on an equal risk basis with other neutral craft in the Mediterranean zone. The rate on United States vessels there was formerly 2 1/2 to 3 per cent.

SOUND ETHICS GIVEN AT S. S. CONVENTION

"Righteousness" Should Be Added to Three "R's" in Schools.

(Special to The Advertiser.)
THORNDAL, Nov. 9.—The annual convention of the West Nisour Sunday School was held Tuesday in St. George's Church. The officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows: President, Joseph Cunningham; first vice, Ed McLeod; second vice, R. B. Wheaton; secretary-treasurer, W. C. Gee; superintendent missionary department, Mr. Moss and R. B. Wheaton; superintendent Bible class, R. J. Stephenson; superintendent teachers' training class, W. D. Bell; superintendent cradle roll, Miss B. L. Hobbie; superintendent home department, Mr. James Angus; superintendent teen age, Charles Molland; superintendent temperance department, Mr. Bridgeman.

An address was given by J. Halpeny of Toronto. Dr. Silcox gave an excellent address on "The Teacher as a Character-Builder." He stated that the cause of failure in lives of statesmen, politicians, professional men and businessmen is not the lack of mental ability, but the lack of morality. No nation could stand unless the individuals be taught the principles of morality. It was clean womanhood and pure manhood that made a nation great. The speaker also stated that in public schools more attention should be given to character-building. Along with the three "R's" should be added a fourth "R"—righteousness. As a textbook for the study of character, there was the Bible, and as a true type, Christ himself.

ST. THOMAS CONTRIBUTION TO RED CROSS $15,741

Canvassers Receive $5,741—Two Soldiers Returning.

(Special to The Advertiser.)
ST. THOMAS, Nov. 9.—The British Red Cross campaign conducted in this city this week, has resulted in the sum of $15,741 being reached. $5,000 of the amount was granted by the city council, and the remainder collected by canvassers.

TWO SOLDIERS RETURNING.

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 9.—Two more St. Thomas soldiers, Sergt. W. G. Hurrell, 23rd Battalion, and J. G. Grives, 15th Battalion, are being sent back to Canada. Pte. Grives was wounded last spring and incapacitated for further service.

NOW IS THE TIME

to send some Zam-Buk to your soldier friend at the front. With the coming of cold weather, the men in the trenches all suffer, more or less, with chapped hands, cold cracks, chilblains and cold sores, and the soldier who has some Zam-Buk on hand to apply, will be able to keep his hands and feet at least a little warmer, and his appearance, will be saved hours of suffering.

Pte. E. Westfield of "C" Company, 3rd Worcester Regiment, writes: "We wish our friends would send us out more Zam-Buk. It is splendid for sore hands, cold cracks, cold sores, etc. Nothing ends pain and heals so quickly as Zam-Buk, and being germicidal, it prevents blood-poisoning."

ANCER LINES ARE STILL OBJECTIVE OF GERMAN ATTACK

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The official communication from general headquarters issued at midnight reads:

"During the day there was considerable shelling of our front south of the Ancre. We bombarded an enemy area east of Regina trench."

"The enemy's attack Nov. 5 that he repulsed the British with huge losses in a big battle is entirely false. The facts are as stated in the British communiqué of the same date. The British casualties were in proportion to the small force employed and the scope of the operations."

Bombard Lines.

Concerning military operations on the battle front in Northern France the British official statement issued this evening says:

"This morning we discharged gas east of Arrertrieres and bombed the enemy's trench line. Elsewhere there was nothing to report."

PARIS, Nov. 9.—No action of importance occurred on the Somme front today, according to the communication issued by the British command. The bombardment of the Germans was violent in the Douaumont-Vaux sector of the Verdun front. The text reads:

Nothing on Somme.

"On the Somme front there were no important operations. There were artillery duels and minor infantry engagements near Sailly-Belmont, south of Pressoir, in which we cleared several positions and captured prisoners. Prisoners confirm that the enemy suffered heavy losses at Sailly-Belmont."

"Eastern Army"—There is nothing of importance to record. The bad weather continues."

WARMTH DESIRED IN PARLIAMENT'S DRESS

Stone for Finishing Interior Architectural Problem Now.

(Special to The Advertiser.)
OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—What sort of stone shall the interior of the new Parliament Buildings be dressed? This problem is engaging the attention of the building committee. A large number of samples have been examined, but none has been finally selected. Now a call is to be sent out for specimens of every building stone in Canada are wanted. The committee has decided to advertise for them.

Specimens of every building stone in Canada are wanted. The committee has decided to advertise for them. The architects have decided that marble is too cold and too fine-grained a stone to harmonize happily with gothic construction. Wallace sandstone has also been condemned as lacking the character desired.

What the architects want is a stone which has a texture not too fine, and with both depth and warmth in its coloring. The most suitable stone, in the opinion of the architects, which has yet been discovered, is Lyndal stone from the Lyall quarries, near Winnipeg. This is the stone in which the Manitoba legislative buildings were finished. The effect of applying it there is said to be most happy.

SOLDIER'S SON MAY DIE FOLLOWING FALL

Will Be Second Bereavement Since Leaving for War.

(Special to The Advertiser.)

Sergt. Gerow is serving with the 71st Battalion in France. His infant son died a few weeks ago at the home here.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS

U. S. Government has not yet received a reply from Germany as to sinking of the Marina.

HAIGHT-LAZENBY.

Hill of the Methodist Church of this town officiating in the presence of a number of the relatives and friends of the bride and groom. A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. Haight left for Montreal and other distant points. They will reside in St. Thomas.

HAD INDIGESTION Could Keep Nothing on Stomach.

Indigestion is one of the worst forms of stomach trouble. The stomach becomes upset and you have a raw, debilitated feeling in it.

After a meal you feel that you must get rid of that nasty, heavy, lurg sensation; that souring and rising of the food which is so unpleasant and in many cases very painful.

It is not necessary for you to be troubled with indigestion when Burdock Bitters may be so easily obtained. This old and reliable remedy, which is a combination of nature's best roots, herbs, barks and berries will cure indigestion and all stomach troubles.

Mr. Lazare Savoy, Pokemouche, N. B., writes: "About two years ago I was troubled with indigestion. That had I could keep nothing on my stomach. I tried to relieve me. At last a friend advised me to try Burdock Bitters. I took four bottles and can now eat anything that is set in front of me."

That grand old medicine, B. B. B., has been on the market for the past forty years, and we claim, without any fear of contradiction, that it is the best cure for all stomach troubles.

HOW TO MAKE A GOOD HAIR TONIC AT HOME

If you have been using hair tonics purchased ready-made at the drug stores you can probably save some money and get a great deal better results by using the following recipe which has been remarkably successful in stopping loss of hair and making new hair grow on bald and thin spots. Anyone can easily make it at home. Simply mix 2 oz. of Lavone De Compose with 6 oz. of pure Bay Rum and then add one-half drachm of menthol crystals and a little perfume if desired. The preparation should be well shaken and then allowed to stand a few hours before using. All these ingredients can be obtained from any well-stocked drug store. In applying be sure to not merely wet the hair, but rub the tonic right into the scalp, as its ability to grow new hair depends entirely upon its nourishment being absorbed by your hair roots. This preparation has been widely used for years, and is entirely harmless and will not make the hair greasy or sticky. Ladies should be careful not to apply it to face or where hair is not desired. DECISION NOT YET GIVEN OUT ON NEW RECRUITING PLANS

Officers Favor Compulsory Methods of Enlistment.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—No decision was announced as a result of the recruiting conference held here today, and attended by commanding officers of militia districts in Ontario, Maritime Provinces and Quebec. The military men favor some form of compulsion to secure the remainder of Canada's quota of 500,000 men for overseas, and would like to see conscription. Compulsion is not expected, however, according to the general feeling here.

One result that may follow as a sequel to the conference is a better co-operation between the militia department and the new national service commission. R. B. Bennett, head of this commission, was present at the meeting of officers, which was presided over and called by Parliamentary Secretary of Militia F. B. McMurtry, M.P. Co-operation is desired, for Mr. Bennett is to decide what men should be retained in Canada.

LONDONER IS CHARGED WITH BRINGING ALIEN TO CANADA AGAINST LAW

Wm. Ginberg is Arrested at Windsor by Immigration Men.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, Nov. 9.—William Ginberg, 33 years old, a wholesale grocer in London, is held here by Canadian immigration authorities, charged with bringing an undesirable alien into this country in violation of the immigration act, and this afternoon after the cases had been investigated they were ordered to arrest.

Rosenberg told the authorities that Ginberg had written him from London, offering him $25 per week to come to London and enter his employ. He further alleges that Ginberg carried his suitcase over on the ferry boat and instructed Rosenberg to meet him at the Grand Trunk depot. The alertness of immigration Officer Burnie prevented the plan from being carried out.

"The White Flour Pinch"—have you felt it? With the advancing price of wheat "the seven-cent loaf is doomed," say the bakers. In its place we have the eight-cent loaf—in many cities only the sixteen-cent loaf. A loaf of white flour bread is not a complete ration. However wholesome and pure, it does not supply all the proteids the human body needs. In Shredded Wheat Biscuit you have all the body-building nutriment in the whole wheat grain prepared in a digestible form. It is always the same price, always the same high quality. Eat it for breakfast with milk or cream or with fruits.

BATTLE PICTURES SHATTER RECORDS FOR ATTENDANCE

Many Citizens Go Two or Even Three Times.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WORLD'S GREATEST FILM Indescribable Battle Scenes Are Reproduced Exactly as They Happened.

Performances of the Battle of the Somme pictures commence at the following hours:

1 p.m.
2:15 p.m.
3:30 p.m.
4:45 p.m.
6 p.m.
7:15 p.m.
8:30 p.m.
9:45 p.m.

Surpassing all attendance records in the history of motion-pictures in this city, the Battle of the Somme, the greatest film ever screened, continues to attract thousands, and every performance is to a capacity house. Last evening in front of the Lyric Theatre anxious citizens stood in lines extending from the ticket office to the sidewalk, and then diverged towards Queen's avenue to the north, and Dundas to the south.

Many, though, have been so deeply impressed with the pictures that, not content with seeing the performance once, they returned for the second time, and one man stood in the line at 8 o'clock last evening who announced: "This will be the third time for me, but I haven't been able to grasp it all yet."

Audience Carried Away. As the show proceeds and the greatest human drama that has ever been enacted is unfolded, scenes in which the audience gives way involuntarily to emotions ranging from applause to tears.

Never has the world witnessed devastation and destruction on such a colossal scale as that brought about by the modern methods employed in this great struggle.

The effect of several days' artillery fire on a town is almost beyond human conception. To read the press descriptions gives one the faint impression, and the rest is left to imagination. To see the actual devastation accomplished by the modern engines of destruction as they explode in the air, is staggering in its effect. What were formerly homes of peaceful villagers are shown bearing no semblance to human habitations, nothing but a battered wall or a portion of a shattered roof.

Trees were splintered and torn as if repeatedly struck by lightning, roads made impassable and craters, some as deep as forty feet, produced by the explosions of some of the giant shells hurled by the Germans' largest guns.

Language is inadequate to describe the scenes as shown. In order to comprehend them one must see.

In describing the thrilling features of the film one is liable to overlook what is going on "behind the scenes." Back behind the lines is shown those heroic members of the Royal Army Medical Corps and the British Red Cross.

Good Samaritans. In improvised shelters the surgeons attend to the most serious wounds, the ones that must have immediate attention in order to guard against infection or in many cases death from bleeding.

The marvelous fortitude with which the British "Tommy" bears their wounds, was shown in one picture where a wounded soldier suffering from a bullet wound was attended to by a British surgeon. The picture plainly shows where the bullet entered one side of the arm and passed completely through, leaving a wound from which the blood spurts in streams. Watching the doctor as he applied the antiseptic and cauterized the wound this British hero simply clenched his teeth and bore the pain with no more show of emotion than an ordinary individual would display in paring the finger nail.

And then when it was all over he was offered a cigarette, which he accepted and lighted with a smile.

Handling Big Guns. A feature of this great film that has been attracting especial attention is the firing and manipulation of some of the largest artillery guns.

One giant British gun christened "Grandmother" is shown in operation, firing shells weighing 1,400 pounds. The projectiles are raised to the breach of the gun by a swiveling crane and when fired the recoil of the barrel shows a "kick" of ten feet. The shock is absorbed in the larger guns by a hydraulic attachment to the gun, permitting a recoil of the gun barrel only.

In other field pieces the entire gun recoils on its wheels.

The difficulty with which some of these ponderous guns are handled was shown when a traction engine is seen hauling one, which was finally placed only by the combined efforts of over a hundred of the men.

That Britain doubtless has an unlimited supply of ammunition was shown by the acres of shells piled at ammunition bases behind the lines, ready for immediate movement to the guns.

The "Battle of the Somme" will be shown continuously today and Saturday, and to miss the chance of seeing this wonderful picturization of the greatest drama ever produced, not enacted by motion picture actors, but by men fighting for life and a better civilization would be to allow the golden opportunity of a lifetime to slip away. But few are missing it if the record-breaking crowds that go to every performance can be accepted as any criterion, and it may be assumed that it may.

CHRISTMAS PARCELS FOR ORANGEMEN OVERSEAS

At the regular meeting of Hackett Lodge, L. O. L., last evening, it was decided to send Christmas parcels to the 36 members of the lodge who are now overseas. The meeting was well attended and addresses were given by District Master Gordon Walker, Past County Master Gordon Murray. Excellent reports of the band committee in connection with the recent concerts were made.

The regular district meeting will be held next Monday.

To Cure Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal remedy that in many instances has effected a complete cure after all else has failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from their ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home, and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmit. (Double Strength). About 75c. Add 10 drops of 40% alcohol to it. Pour the hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, head ache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc. while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat, are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal deafness, which are often entirely overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are said to be directly caused by catarrh, therefore, there must be many people who, hearing can be restored by this simple home treatment.

Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial.

Important Note—In ordering Parmit, always specify that you want Double Strength. Your druggist has it, or he can easily get it for you. If not, send 5c. postal note or money order, to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine street, Montreal, Que., Can., and they will supply you.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

Look at tongue! If feverish, bilious, constipated, take no chances.

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste. When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy. Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember, there are counterfeiters sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

"WHY are your cookies creations of charm?"

Said the young lover to Mary: (Dimples were seen on her plump little arm.

Pretty and sweet as a fairy!) This she responded, her utterance clear, "Purity Flour is the cause of it, dear."

TEN-CENT JUMP IN WHEAT
FEATURE OF LOCAL MARKET

Both Old and New Grain Affected—Potatoes Creeping Still Higher.

The price of both old and new wheat jumped 10c on the local market this morning. New wheat, which was $1.70 a bushel and old wheat at $1.60 a bushel. Old oats are being offered, and barley is very scarce.

Potatoes are higher and now sell for $2.25 to $2.40 a bushel, and thus to $1.60 a bushel. New cabbages are selling for 60c to $1.50 a dozen, and dry onions for $2 to $2.25 a bushel.

Apples are steady at 80c to $1.25 a bushel. Crabs apples bring $1 a bushel, and pears sell for $1.25 a bushel. Citrus are offered at 10c to 20c each.

Hay was scarce this morning, and the price rose to $14.50 a ton once more. The lowest price was $12 a ton. Straw was steady at $9 to $12 a ton.

Dairy prices are steady. Creamery butter sells for 44c to 46c a pound, and butter in crocks brings 40c a pound. Eggs are firm at 43c to 44c a dozen.

The poultry supply is still good with the prices unchanged. Chickens retail for 30c to $1.40 a pair, and ducks for 75c to $1 each. Turkeys bring 25c to 30c a pound.

Live hogs are selling at $10.15 a cwt., with prospects of lower prices. Fat sows are selling for $7.60 a cwt., and small pigs for $4 to $5 a pair.

There are no other butchers' meats. Hides are unchanged in price.

GRAIN.

Winnipeg, Nov. 9.—November wheat touched $2 today, and then declined to $1.95. December wheat was up with an advance of 45c and May was 5c dearer.

Oats were steady with a gain of 25c in December, and 2c in May. Barley gained 2c. Flax closed at a rise of 45c to $1.45 a bushel.

Two dollar wheat became a reality when a local firm bought from a brokerage firm 5,000 bushels of November wheat at that price. From the time the wheat looked strong, chiefly on reports of big export business during the week. There was a steady rise in the price of the wheat and it brought a rush of sales. The buying was of an excellent character throughout the day, and speculative interest still believe in higher prices.

The cash market was completely demoralized by the future prices. Some of the lower grades showed enormous losses in the spread. No. 1 northern sold at 15c over November during the day, but when the market rallied, it touched wheat was hard either to buy or to sell. Oats were in good demand. Barley was strong with flax fair.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—After a wavering start the wheat market today made a decided upward jump. Unexpectedly lower quotations from Liverpool, with reports of scattered arrivals in Argentina, gave a temporary advantage to the bears, but on the decline a number of big houses had to be sold, and the market was again influenced by a sharp upturn in values at Rosario and by advances in the New York stock market.

Many Londoners the murder of Policeman Tooley, who was shot by "Peg Leg" Brown on June 24, 1888. It was while attempting to arrest "Peg Leg" Brown on June 24, 1888, that Mr. Tooley was murdered. Brown had assaulted Mr. Ross, then G. T. R. watchman at the Adelaide street crossing, that Tooley was murdered.

Brown had come into the city on a freight train and about 7 o'clock on Friday evening of June 25th, 1888, was seen walking east along the track.

Mr. Ross intercepted Brown and told him it was against the rules of the railroad company to allow walking on the tracks.

The death on Thursday of James Ross of 135 William street, one of the oldest residents of the city, and father of the late Rev. LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE. London, Nov. 10.—The stock market was quietly steady today, with American securities inclining to droop on the result of the election, which also was said, created a certain amount of uneasiness in other sections, although a sagging tendency in gilt-edged issues was likely due to monetary influences.

The feature today was the strength in diamond shares. De Beers rising to 134 on active purchases. Shipping shares were firm, but Russian stocks were easy on the high rate of exchange. Americans closed idle.

Money was in moderate demand and discounts were quiet.
