PARKER LOSING GROUND

Has Now Only an Even Chance for Democratic Nomination.

Washington, May 10. - Judge Parker is still the most likely winner of Democratic presidential nomination, but he is far from being assured of the prize. The St. Louis convention only sixty days away, and Democratic opinion has not as vet sufficiently crystallized to indicate unmistakably what its action is to be. The most that can be said is that Judge Parker is in the lead, and that his chances are better than those of any other man. But he is not as strong as he was three weeks ago, when the New Denies He Made Enormous Profits From Building of N. W. T. Roads.

Ottawa, May 10. - In the House today Mr. Osler replied to the statement made by the member for Assinibola Long Lake and Saskatchewan Railway and the Calgary and Edmonton Railway, he made enormous profits. Mr. Osler said he took over the financng of the roads after several ineffecual attempts had been made to construct and place them on a paying basis. He made the arrangements in London and was elected a director to look after the money invested. He declared that all his firm received was a small fee. He denied that the land was originally worth three dollars an acre. as had been stated, declaring that seven or eight years after the of which he spoke, the land which was received as a subsidy could be had in the open market at 25 cents an acre Mr. Clarke also spoke defending Mr. Osler, and Mr. Davis repeated his statements of yesterday in support of Mr. Scott.

Mr.Oliver declared that the builders of these roads received $22,634,000 the cost of which by their own showing Dr. Sproule complained that the de-

Canada and Chamberlainism. Edwin Montagu and Bron Herbert, two young English Liberals who will run for Parliament in the next election, visited this country a year ago to study the problems raised by Mr. Chamberlain. They say they were unable to find any evidence that Canada would offer the mother country substantial advantages in return for a preference in the British market. They have spread their views very industriously in Great Britain, and Lord Rosebery places a high estimate on their services to the free trade cause. In a recent letter to the press they say:

"Where does the reciprocal advantage which is to compensate the British workman for a tax upon his food, come in? It amounts to this. In return for slightly improving the excellent position that Canadian farmers now hold in the British market. Britain is to have the broken meats of the Canadian market after the Canadian manufacturers have feasted-broken meats which, as the Canadian appetite for manufacturing grows, will tend to decrease rather than to increase. That Britain, in spite of the preference, is losing one by one those broken meats through the refusal of her manufacturers to adapt their wares to Canadian requirements is a painful fact, but one that we will not now trespass further on your space to describe. So "Tariff Reformer's" plan for binding this part of the empire together works out somewhat thus. In return for a preference which they do not need, the Canadian farmers are to buy articles of British manufacture which they do not like."

There is some biting truth in this.

The broken meats of the Canadian market are all the British manufacturers could hope to get from the political party in Canada which is beating the drum for Mr. Chamberlain. The Liberal party is in a position to do better for the mother country, as it is not wedded, like the Conservative party, to a prohibitory tariff. But the Liberal party will not sacrifice any existing industries nor does it fall in with the idea, which Mr. Chamberlain expounded in his earlier speeches and which seems to prevail in the old country, that the colonies should occupy themselves with furnishing food and raw materials for the British people, leaving Great Britain to do their manufacturing. This conception of the colonies as playing a merely bucolic role in any scheme of imperia preferential trade is behind a great deal of the Chamberlain sentiment in the old country. Canada does not propose to restrict her all-round development or her fiscal freedom. She wants factories as well as farms and expects her mechanical industries to keep pace with the growth of her agricultural. mineral and forest wealth. A complex industrialism is necessary if the country is become great in every sense. The difference between the policies of the two parties is that Conservatives wish to stimulate home manufacture regardless of the cost to the consumers, while the Liberals say there is a limit beyond which it will not pay the country to protect an industry. The Conservatives would exclude foreign competition in articles which can be made in Canada. The Liberals say that this cannot be done without laying an unreasonable burden on the majority of the people, especially on the farmers, whom no tariff can give higher prices for their products. The Conservatives hold that if an industry is sustained or brought into existence the fact is sufficient justification for the tariff. The Liberals think that in fixing the tariff on an article which may be produced at home it should be considered whether the result will justify the taking of toll from the people; or to put it in a homely way, whether the cow will pay for her feed. The Liberals believe also that a prohibitory tariff would not only increase the cost of living and weigh heavily on the unprotected classes, but trusts, which would be able to exact artificial prices through immunity from foreign competition.

It will be seen that the trade policies of the two parties are wide apart, and that the Liberal policy is the only one which affords a basis for a reci-Great Britain. But this arrangement cannot be brought about unless the hope of meeting their Canadian rivals on equal terms in the Canadian market. If Great Britain accepts protection, which is now Mr. Chamberlain's trump card, it will be much easier to patch up a commercial treaty than if they, would do for Great Britain before the latter would make a change in

The rebuke which Messrs. Montagu and Herbert give the British manufac- than can be said for some of his critics turer for his indifference to Canadian tastes, hits the nail on the head. The British manufacturer has to improve his methods before he can improve his trade to any great extent in Canada.

A Crusade Against Divorce.

The Interchurch Conference on Marriage and Divorce, a body representing officially fourteen leading denominations, has issued through its secretary, the Rev. W. H. Roberts, D.D., of Philadelphia, an appeal to the public, calling attention to several aspects of the divorce question. The paper is the beginning of a national campaign of education, to be followed by efforts to secure the enactment of state laws and ultimately to obtain an amendment to by the conference says: "We plead for a recognition of the sanctity of marriage. We are facing condition in our country today which threatens danger to the most sacred things. The very sanctuary of human life and of human love is assaulted and profaned. Manhood, womanhood and childhood, the home and the family, are involved, and neither civil legislation nor ecclesiastical discipline can save them until and unless the conscience of Christian humanity is reached. Behind the monster of polygamy, behind the specter of the lax divorce court, with its collusions, its corruptions and its contagion, stands the sad fact of the low ideal of marriage. It is true that the element of mutual consent and the element of legal contract enter into it; but underneath and behind these, as the sure foundation, stands the revelation of God's holy word.

"Marriage is a holy thing. Marriage is the institution of God himself and is sanctified under solemnities of the old sanction by our blessed Lord. This is the root of the matter. BAYIFY'S.

St. Petersburg, May 11.—It is further stated that the garrison at Port Arthur is stronger than heretofore has been stated. "There is no reason to keep the strength of the garrison at Port Arthur a secret," said a Russian officer. "The Japanese know it, because of their perfect information. We have 20,000 soldiers and 10,000 sailors there. The latter will not be used on the fortifications, except as a last extremity. The Japanese will not obtain possession of our fleet, even if they capture Port Arthur. The orders to the commander there are that he shall, when a fall is inevitable, put to sea and engage the enemy. We do not propose for the Japanese to find in the harbor a number of valuable warships, which they can seize and add to their fleet. THE Y. M. C. CONVENTION

Buffalo, N. Y., May 11. — The international convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of North America convened here today. The convention marks the 50th anniversary of the first international convention in Amerformed, and the first meeting on this continent of association delegates was held. The convention has brought together about 1,400 delegates, representing 600 city associations, 700 student associa-tions, 200 railroad associations and a large number of miscellaneous associations representing the army, navy, ne-gro and Indian races, and industrial concerns. An interesting feature of the big gathering are eight frames, which spread over the entire length of a pacious room made up of maps, charts, diagrams and photographs, showing at a glance the development of the work of the association all over the world. The programme includes not only meetings for the delegates, but meetings for the ladies and members of the boys' department. Workers are present from every state in the Union, Canada, Mexico and European countries.

The opening session was devoted entirely to devotional services. These services were fed by D. S. Gordon and SLATER-SHOE STORE were solemn and impressive.

-Sole leather, or apology-which? Can you tell from appearances?

Nice looking shoe we'll suppose! - good grade of upper leather-fits well-smart-stylish! But how about vitality - flexibility - shape retention—continued satisfaction?

Is the sole of tough, close textured, long fibred leather, which holds the stitches like wax, repels water, bends like buckskin, and wears to the thinness of a wafer without breaking? Or—is the sole—that painted and polished sole—as short grained as linoleum, brittle and stiff like cardboard, with as little cling to the stitches as rubber, and with a chronic thirst for the absorption of water, like blotting paper?

How do you know which kind of sole leather is in the shoe, under the finish? How can you hold the Manufacturer responsible for value, if the Dealer, not he, regulates the price? There are shoes made to sell, and shoes made to wear, as well as to sell. The Slater Shoe Makers dare not rob the covered up sole of The Slater Shoe, to give an extra selling effect to the visible shoe upper, because their brand, and Makers' price, pledges certain fixed values, from which there is no hedging. The limit of the Makers' direct responsibility is clearly stated—viz: -their own prices, $3.50 and $5.00-regulated by themselves, not by the Dealer—and stamped on the soles.

Every pair Goodyear Welted, and the trade mark is a slate frame.

day or two. Capt. Carruthers, in the course of an interview, went into the matter of signaling in an interesting manner. He said the militia department were anxious to introduce it throughout the country, their idea being to first instruct the permanent corps. He had just been at Kingston, where the Royal Canadian Field Artillery had had a two months' course, and a course would be now started at regimental depot No. 1 here. By this systematic instruction of the permanent corps it was thought that men would be trained so that other instructors could be secured and attached Capt. CLASS WANTS MR. CAMP TO RETURN

Unanimous Invitation Extended at the Closing Session— May Be Accepted.

A large audience assembled at the Auditorium last night, it being the closing session of the Union Bible Class. Mr. Norman Camp, the teacher, took the special subject, "Heaven' -the future abode of the saved. There was deep interest throughout, as the speaker unfolded some of the beauties of the heavenly home, and spoke of the Vancouver News-Advertiser says: | the blessed condition of those who attained it. In our present state, he said, the glories of heaven are in a measing. For the past week he had been ure revealed and made real to the believer, by the Holy Spirit, yet it is true that "eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." A description of the New Jerusalem, 1,500 miles square, was read from Revout of heaven as a sample of heaven. Heaven is above this earth, declared the speaker, and is not connected with the earth. There Christ is at present who are saved depart immediately to heaven, where they wait in a state of conscious happiness, for the resurrecwhen the glory shall be manifested. God is preparing for a day of glory, and then shall the sons of God be revealed and be rewarded, according to their work. There will be de-grees in glory and each one of those cording to their walk of faith here. In heaven Christ's servants shall serve him, bear his name, follow him, sing the new song of the redeemed and see him face to face.

At the close of the session, Mr. Keenlevside, the secretary of the class, asked for an expression as to whether the classes should be continued next winter or not, giving it as his own conviction that the work had been much blessed of God. Mr. C. R. Somerville spoke of the blessing the class had been in stimulating Bible study unanimous. Mr. Camp thanked the class for their expression of interest in the work, and while he could not then give a definite decision, he spoke of the probability of a continuance of the work next fall. Messrs. C. R. Somerville, Robt. Fox, W. H. Liddicoatt and C. B. Keenleyside were chosen by the class as a committee to confer with Mr. Camp about his return, and to make necessary arrangements.
