Not the least remarkable sign of these times is the martial attitude now assumed by Rome. The Church of Rome, be it noted, is mild and merciful. Her angelic anture cannot droop so low as to indict a wound, even upon the mennest of her children, or the most provoking of her foes. Her Ministers, that is to say her Priests,—they who carry the viaticum to the chambers of death, and offer consolation to the desolate, and salvation to the damned, by means of those venal suffrages which are said to release the captives out of purgatory—insust not let blood. A man in hely orders may not handle a scallel; no, nor even use a fancer. Holy mother lays her soft hand upon her eyes when the dragoon, the headsman, or the assumin is going to us ill blood before her alters. Nacot so's Dazam or Rome. There was cince a village lad whose an one was Nicolas, and whose a village lad whose an one was Nicolas, and whose a village lad whose an one was Nicolas, and whose dram was Rome. This was no idle dream with them, for he had pointed from his childhoo! He would paint he could not help it; and at Paris, to which is cound has way, that he might look at better potures than he could not help it; and at Paris, to which he can he would see at home, he copie drome eigerings from Raphael, which gave a sail firmer eigerings from Raphael he will age of Andels on the Seise—and dreamed of Ro e as he wy out the last of Rome, and panted his way as far as Ffor he; for Rome, and panted his way as far as Ffor he; but not a step could be get beyond, that, and he returned almost in despair to Paris. Here at a light he accidentally found a patron, who enlits the sail to the sail would be get beyond. The farment is thus told:—Here Nicolas lived for a long time muse ably poor, but supremely happy; starving his body, and banqueting his mind. He fell is with a sculp or called Franci a Flarmand, whose circumst ness were similar to his own, and these two lived and laboured in a conner negher, surrounded by the drams and momments of genius, and stealing, out every now and then to sell their works for any pitance what ignorance would bid or avarice afford. But the picture of Nicolas at length began to attract attention; and the himble artist was drawn from his solitude. This change of fortune went on; for silhough piverty or envy may retard the rise of guist for time, when once risen, any attempt to repress it, however powerful, is like opposing a tempest as he afon. Unlike the host of pernicious quackeries which boast of vegetable ingredients, the LIFE MEDICIES are purely and solely regetable; and one tain neither Heroury, nor Antimony, nor Are mic, nor any other mineral, in any form whatever. They are entirely composed of extracts from rar and powerful plants, the virtues of which, though long known to several Indian tribes, and recently to some eminent pharmaceutical chemits, are shogether unknown to the ignorant pretaseden to medical science; and were never before admustered in so happily efficacious a combination.

The first operation is to longen from the coas of the stomach and bowels the various impurities and termities constantly settling round them; and is remove the hardened faces which collect in the convolutions of the small intestines. Other medicines only partially cleanse these, and leave such collected masses behind to produce habitnal Contractions, with all its train of evils, or rudden Darhiers with its imminent dangers. This fact a wall known to all regular anatomists who examine the numan bowels after death; and hence the premience of these well-informed men against the suck medicines of the age.
