Enemy Will Have Peace Only on Her Own Conditions

Rumors of Riot and Revolution Within Germany

Germany Regards Herself as Victor, Determined Upon Aggression, Verdict of British Press Upon Hertling's Speech -- Rumors of Grave Disorders in Berlin

By Courier Leased Wire.

London, Jan. 26.—The view entertained by a majority of the morning newspapers of London, respecting the speeches of Chancellor von Hertling and Foreign Minister Czermin is that Germany regards herself as conqueror, that she is determined upon aggression and is prepared to listen to no peace terms except her own and that war must go on.

DICTATED BY PAN GERMANS

Paris, Jan. 26.—Chancellor von Hertling's speech is considered in official circles as confirming the supposition that General von Ludendorff, Field Marshal van Hindenburg and the Pan-Germans are dictating the German Government's policy.

The intention appears clearly on the part of the Germans to seek to treat separately with each of its antagonists. This is indicated by Chancellor von Hertling's reference to France and the eventual conversation with France about the evacuation of occupied territory and also regarding Poland, which Germany wants to consider as a question between Poland and the Central Powers with which no other powers have anything to say.

Count Czermin's speech is regarded as having the same foundation, although the form of expression is different.

RUMORS OF REVOLUTION

London, Jan. 26.—The Amsterdam correspondent of the Express says that extraordinary reports are current concerning a revolution in Germany and that there have been rumors of grave disorders in Berlin during the past two days, the rioters clamoring for peace. He also reports bread riots which were ruthlessly repressed by the police, many men, women and children being wounded.

LONDON COMMENT

The London Times thinks that the speeches of Chancellor von Hertling and Count Czermin were arranged in collusion and constitute a combined diplomatic offensive against the Entente Allies. The Times says: "The attack obviously was intended to shake the solidarity of our defense at several points."

NOT SOLE OBSTACLE

Paris, Jan. 26.—"Never was the Alsace-Lorraine question further from being the sole obstacle to peace," says The Temps in its comment on speeches of the German chancellor and Austro-Hungarian foreign minister.

proof of Germany's inextinguishable hatred let us get on with the war.

"If you attack me in the war, if you compel me to conclude an agreement in great haste, then we shall derive no economic advantage and our population will have to forego the advantages which they might derive from the conclusion of peace."

WEATHER BULLETIN

Toronto, Jan. 26.—The western area of high pressure accompanied by low temperatures has spread quickly southward into Ontario.

AMSTERDAM, JAN. 26.—The Cologne Gazette is reporting a debate in the Prussian Lower House says that a great uproar arose over the speech of Herr Hofman, Independent Socialist.

The events in Austria are the writing on the wall and here, as in Austria, we are within close range of a catastrophe. The people have had enough of being goaded to war.

CZERNIN'S SPEECH

Basel, Switzerland, Jan. 26.—Continuing his address before the parliament of the dual empire of Austria-Hungary, Count Czermin said: "If you attack me in the war, if you compel me to conclude an agreement in great haste, then we shall derive no economic advantage and our population will have to forego the advantages which they might derive from the conclusion of peace."

MOTHERS WHO HAVE DAUGHTERS Read How to Care for Their Health. New Orleans, La.—“I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough, for I know my daughter never would have been so well if she had not taken it. For more than a year she had suffered agonies from irregularity, backache, dizziness, and no appetite, but is now well. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers and daughters who can publish this letter.”—Mrs. A. ESTRADA, 129 N. Galvez Street, New Orleans, La. Philadelphia, Pa.—“My daughter was feeling tired and all run down with no apparent cause. She had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before and knew its value so she again purchased it and she was able to get to work, her eyes became bright and natural, and her system was built up completely. We generally keep the Vegetable Compound in the house for this is relied on.”—Mrs. E. J. Purdy, 6312 Race Street, Philadelphia, Pa. Women Have Been Telling Women for forty years how Lydia E. the spirit of hope that they will return again some day to their own country. Miss Losanitch will always find a hearty welcome in our city. This year, women have made their first entrance into public life, and their first vote demonstrated the fact that party lines must go when we consider the best means of assisting our soldiers at the front. The letters from the front tell us that we have done well—but new hope and courage into the hearts of our men. Many interesting speakers came to plead the cause of Union Government, and our own Mrs. Plumpton, Hon. Sec'y and wonderful organizer of the Red Cross from coast to coast, gave her best effort for this cause. She had been with us earlier in the season to speak in the interests of the Red Cross, and her words are always an inspiration to us. Serat, Turley spoke at this same meeting at heart, who labors so untrudgingly to detect flaws in heels or toes of socks. No soldier shall limp on the long route north nor suffer with blistered feet if Miss Gilkinson can prevent it. We march bravely on, resignation, through ill health, of Mrs. Laing, our secretary. But Miss Buck gracefully undertook the work until the end of the year and had fulfilled her task to the uttermost.

Few know the work done by Miss Emily Bunnell and Miss Kathleen Buck. The posting of the books has been no light task, over 4,000 names to be tabulated means strenuous work and we are almost grateful to these young ladies for their efficient work. Mrs. Tilly and Mrs. Wm. Watt and their faithful band of workers have kept up a never ceasing supply of bandages to the hospital here. Mrs. James Adams, Mrs. Sutherland and Mrs. Tilly, our buyers, are ever on the alert for bargains, and their keen judgment has saved many dollars to the Red Cross Fund. We are grateful to mention names for fear I forgot one. Our friends have all been so good to us, but special thanks are due to Mr. J. J. Hambro, who has always given us the boxes for numerous tag days, and to Mr. Frank Cocksliott, who has kindly placed the Teapot Inn at our disposal on many occasions. The St. Johns Ambulance classes began last season with First Aid continues this season with "Home Nursing" under very favorable circumstances. Mrs. Tilly and Miss Raymond have labored most unselfishly to make these classes interesting and instructive. Dr. G. W. Barber has given unstintedly of his time to these classes, and the new class enrolled is an eloquent testimonial to his former work at the hospital here. He is indebted to the Doctor for his generosity and kindness in conducting these classes which have extended over a considerable area of time. To Dr. Nichol, who has also voluntarily given his services as examiner the League is very grateful. We feel that we have contributed very materially to the comfort of our men overseas by the many grateful letters received from time to time. One of the outstanding features of the past year is the quick adaptation of our work to meet the ever changing hospital requirements. This at first was not easily done, but necessity has accomplished it. Following reports will show the great variety of new work being accomplished. The new system of Red Cross monthly collection entails much more

EVERYBODY NEEDS PURE, RICH BLOOD

Pure blood enables the stomach, liver and other digestive organs to do their work properly. Without it they are sluggish, there is loss of appetite, sometimes faintness, a deranged state of the intestines, and, in general, all the symptoms of dyspepsia. Pure blood is required by every organ of the body for the proper performance of its functions. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood, and this is why it is so successful in the treatment of so many diseases and ailments. Its sets digestive organs in motion, ridding it of scumful and other humors. It is a peculiar combination of blood-purifying, nerve-toning, strength-giving substances. Get it today.

SAFETY FIRST

This is preached and taught for protection by all large corporations employing men in operative work. Life Insurance Companies agree to protect your relatives when you die. Accident Insurance Companies protect you from dangers of travel or daily occupation. You can be a Safety First and Life Insurance Company in one on a moderate scale by laying aside a few dollars every pay day. The money is as much yours as though in your own pocket, with this difference: the Bank takes care of it and makes it earn interest for you.

THOUGHTS ON A TITLE

(By A.A.A.) A German gentleman, Carl Hermann Torges, has written a pamphlet, which Oskar Muller of Cologne has published. I know nothing of Herr Torges save that he is a man of over 70. I have not read his pamphlet. But from the title of his pamphlet I know all that anybody wants to know of Carl Hermann Torges, all that anybody needs to know of Germany and what Germany means. Herr Torges is a remarkable man; with one title-page he lays bare to the world the whole psychology of a nation. You can't do that by calling your book "Robinson Crusoe" or "The Three Musketeers."

BINGO BYNG

Former Leader of Canadian Forces is a Firm Believer in Business Efficiency

Efficiency, brilliant businesslike efficiency in warfare has brought General the Honourable Sir Julian Hedworth George Byng, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., to the forefront in his calling. Efficiency. He had been endowed with the title of "Bingo Byng" by the Canadian troops whom he led, drilled, and disciplined into first class fighting men for more than a year before the famous battle of Cambrai. The boys rejoiced in him though he did insist on their polishing their buttons back and front, and keeping the very nails on their boots free from rust. And when it came to the big British drive at Cambrai they gloried in upholding the glory of General Byng. His heroic treatment of them in training brought out the best in them—best behind gun and bayonet—and made him their hero first, and afterwards Britain's. That's Byng.

BRITAIN CALLS ON U. S. FOR WHEAT Food Shortage Serious But Not Dangerous, Says Controller

By Courier Leased Wire. London, Jan. 24.—Great Britain calls upon the United States for 75,000,000 bushels more of wheat. This was one of the important statements which Lord Rhondda, the British food controller, made in an interview with the Associated Press yesterday. The controller described the food shortage in Great Britain as most serious, but not such as would be detrimental to the health of the population with proper management of supplies and willingness on the part of the people to accept equally nourishing substitutes for some of the foods they have been accustomed to.

During that time, I had treatment from a number of doctors, and tried nearly everything I saw advertised to cure Rheumatism, without receiving any benefit. Finally, I decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. Before I had used half a box, I noticed an improvement; the pain was not so severe, and the swelling started to go down. I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place". ALEXANDER MUNRO. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. eral thus honored was Sir Herbert Charles Onslow Plummer, to whom by name, Sir Douglas Haig gave first credit for the Mesines Ridge advance in June. It was explained that the reason General Plummer was especially mentioned in the report was that he had himself originated and perfected the plan and preparation of the attack. It is a not unnatural inference that the idea of the tank onslaught, and the marvelous secrecy that preceded the sudden action, may be due to General Byng.

HANDSOME HOTEL BECOMES HOSPITAL M.H.C. Convalescent Hospital at Burlington

The transformation of Brant House, Burlington-on-the-Lake, one of the handsomest summer hotels on the Great Lakes into a model convalescent hospital for 350 men is complete, and the first group of war-maimed men have been entered on the register. For natural beauty of location it is unsurpassed by any of the middle west or eastern hospitals established by the Military Hospitals Commission for the treatment of returned men suffering from wounds or disease contracted in military service. There are broad lawns, beautiful gardens, and wide verandahs overlooking the lake. Wealthy Canadians and Americans have come year after year to this resort for their summer holidays to enjoy the attractions which the Commission has secured for the battle-worn soldiers of the Dominion.

Export Surplus

Washington, Jan. 24.—To create a large export surplus of flour for Allies, the food administration is considering a plan for forced reduction in flour sales all the way from the miller to the consumer. Millers, wholesalers, retailers and bakers probably will be required to hold their sales of flour down to 75 per cent of the amount now handled. As the allies are demanding from 75,000,000 to 100,000,000 more bushels of wheat, the food administration has arranged to take over thirty per cent of America's production of flour out of which will be selected supplies for export. Food administration officials believe the United States can give Europe 90,000,000 bushels of wheat made into flour between now and before the new American crop comes in without endangering the American supply.

TOM LYNX - TRAPPED

ON a snowy, well-brushed ridge just north of the Ice River the big tom-lynx lay in the snow, surly, frightened, and in pain. A strange object clung grimly and cruelly to his foreleg and had stayed there ever since he had leaped at a dead partridge early that morning.

Two miles away in the sunlight open a big moose and three cows browsed in placid quiet. On the ice of the Kootenay River, a mile or two further away, a coyote had just run to earth and killed a rabbit which the lynx had unconsciously jumped an hour before he had spied the dead partridge. The white expanse of a beaver-made lake was marred in a straight line where the last band of black-tail deer had gone south to the more open portions of the valley to spend the winter.

Ten miles to the north the faint whistle of the transcontinental C.P.R. train whistled as it rushed westward down the grade from Field, B.C., toward Leacholl, and in the fallen, tangled timbers the pine marten and mink looked eagerly for rabbits and spruce partridge, keeping ever a keen and apprehensive watch for the approach of the dread wolverine.

The tom-lynx had gone out that morning, empty of stomach, but full of hope. As he glided over the single snowshoe trail, looking for food his nostrils had encountered a strange and most enticing and promising odor. Lifting his head, with twitching ears, he tasted that scent again, olefactorially, and then followed eagerly up the wind. It promised unknown but very desirable things. At the bole of a great tree he saw a little litter of broken sticks fencing off approach on all sides but one to a tender young partridge, dead but toothsome. The captivating odor was more powerful, too, it even blunted the natural caution of the lynx. He leaped hungrily, and his sharp teeth crushed on bone and flesh and feathers just as the steel jaws of an anise-scented trap clamped with paralyzing force on the furry foreleg of the animal. Since then he had toiled and snarled and struggled in fear and pain and anger, and was now lying in exhaustion and fatalistic quiet.

He heard the crackle of brush, the crunch of snowshoes. A man in warm winter clothing burst through the intervening bushes, and whooped gladly as he raised a heavy club he carried and moved swiftly down on the fifteen dollar hide his trap had caught. The big lynx reared to his full height and was almost on a level with the man's eyes when the club dropped on his skull and he knew no more. Trappers always try to get the skins without breaking them. It means a better price. L. V. K.

SIDE TALKS

THE REALWORKERS. In the little country village where I spent part of my summer, the Red Cross holds its weekly meetings...

On Thursday the Library Sewing Circle holds a meeting for the same purpose. I was talking to one of the village women about the work one day...

"Isn't it So in Your Town?" "There certainly are," she affirmed, "and some of them come once in a while, but lots of them never can manage to find the time, somehow."

"Naturally I couldn't speak for everywhere else. But I could speak for half a dozen places and I could tell her that it was especially the same there."

I once worked in a Woman Suffrage organization. I was asked to apporportion our some work among the members and was given the membership roll as a basis. I was delighted to find it so large. "This ought to be very easy," I thought. Plenty of Names But Not So Many Workers...
