WOLFVILLE, N. S., DEC. 4, 1885

We have again been compelled to crowd out several interesting articles. They will appear as we can make room for them.

The "Man of One Newspaper" is not so often met with nowadays. The public-spirited reader must have his good local paper, such as the ACADIAN, for information on questions concerning his immediate neighborhood. He wants also a metropolitan paper, and he wants it interesting and enterprising, as well as thoroughly reliable. The Witness, whose special announcements on the occasion of its fortieth anniversary appear in another column, is certainly of that description. An honorable career of forty years is no small matter of congratulation to the publishers; and our vigorous contemporary gives promise of excelling its past record by its future.

The editor of the New Star in the last issue of that paper refers to an article recently published in the ACADIAN, entitled "Bones," and charges its author, "Sam," with poisoning the same from a scientific journal. While we thank our contemporary for the information given, we think in justice to ourselves we should say that we were entirely innocent, never having seen the article before and believing it to be original. Though we are always pleased to have persons write for our columns, and particularly the boys, we would ask "Sam" to please not do this again; and to all the boys we would say, Be straightforward and true, and don't go to other people for your ideas when you write for the press, rely on yourself. "Honesty is the best policy."

Our contemporary, the Windsor Courier, changed hands with its last issue and Mr. G. B. Dakin, formerly proprietor, has sold the paper to a friend of his, Mr. J. H. Dakin. We are sorry to see the paper leaving the work so soon as we feel that in him Nova Scotia loses one of its ablest journalists. We are pleased to learn, however, that he will continue to assist in the editorial work, and, under the management of Mr. Dakin, with his assistance, we expect great things of the Courier. From our personal acquaintance with the new proprietor, we should say that he has the necessary qualities to make him succeed in whatever he undertakes, and we wish him every success in his new venture. As a member of the press we thank Mr. Smith for his kind wishes.

The sub-structure of the new bridge over the Gaspeaux river near White Rock Mills is about completed, and ready for the iron-work which is daily expected. It is stated that the bridge will be first-class, and less expensive in the long run than the bridges hitherto used over the Gaspeaux. Similar opinions were expressed in regard to the Kinney bridge constructed last autumn, yet time has shown that the sub-structure, at least, is fast crumbling away and will very soon have to be repaired; and will become quite as expensive to keep in order as the old wooden one. Grave fears are entertained that the new bridge at White Rock will also, ere long show that a mistake has been made in the construction of its foundation, and may be found more expensive to repair than its predecessor. We are strongly of the opinion that building Iron Bridges in localities similar to that of the White Rock Bridge is not good economy.

We have had a petition prepared asking the Municipal Council at its next meeting to appoint a committee to examine into the propriety of straightening the highway near Mud Bridge and if deemed practical to survey and lay out the same. The said petition is now at our office where all persons interested and desiring to do so can affix their signatures. If a sufficient number of freeholders should sign the petition as to qualify its presentation to the council it will be forthwith transmitted to them for their consideration. We hope the people of Wolfville will not allow this matter to drop, as there can be no doubt but that it would be one of the greatest benefits that could be conferred upon the village. We hope to be able in our next issue to announce that the petition is ready and in the hands of the council.

Within the past few weeks there has been no less than five incendiaries within a radius of some three miles of our office. The first, beginning in an unoccupied part of a tenement building near the Mud Bridge, so called, and extending eastward until three buildings were consumed; the next night unoccupied house at Grand Pre; followed a few nights after by another unoccupied house in the same locality; next a barn on the Wickwire dyke belonging to A. D. Wolf, Esq.; and last and by much the most serious was that of Sunday night last, when the barn of Mr. Alexander Jones, of Grand Pre, was fired, no doubt with the intention of destroying the barn and its contents. Fortunately, however, the fire was discovered in time to save the live stock—some thirty head,—with the exception of one fat ox, which could not be rescued. What motive could prompt the execution of such a diabolical crime we are unable to comprehend, but think it time some action should be taken by the authorities to ferret out the perpetrators and bring them to justice.

TEMPERANCE REFORM.

The age in which we live is truly an age of reform. We have to turn our thoughts backward but a short time to behold many striking improvements in the condition of the human race. Numerous are the streams that have been explored to their sources; and many mines have been wrought out; that, to our forefathers, were clouded deep in obscurity. The old cant of opinions has gradually given way to a better order of things; and civilization, which has been characterized as "a plant of slow and gradual growth," has developed so much within the present age, carrying with it so many reforms, which have benefited mankind, that it is difficult to guess at what state it will arrive. The abolition of that giant evil—slavery, has added a star to our firmament that will remain fixed unto eternity. The laboring class have found out that they were placed in the world for something higher than to serve the ends of a so-called nobility. Caste distinctions are gradually being obliterated and the equality of man is recognized. On all sides do we behold the indelible influence of man's innate desire to improve, and surpass their predecessors in intellectual culture and religious freedom.

Although there are many to be found who dwell with pride upon our free institutions and our untrammelled laws, there yet remains many burning questions that Reformers and Theorists have not solved. Slowly, but with a surety characteristic of its gradual progress, there is a reform going on in our very midst, which will immeasurably add to the welfare of mankind. Many a hard fought battle will be recorded upon the pages of human history, before the giant evil—yea crime—intemperance shall have been routed. But who is there among us that does not cherish generous hopes that at a not very distant day this evil will eventually succumb to the shafts of morality and religion.

The question before us is one that can not be overruled and trampled under foot. It is rising daily to greater and more solemn importance. It is the burning question of the day, and in its implication and extent it overshadows all else. Although politicians have almost unanimously evaded this greater problem, and used their talents upon secondary, it is plainly to be seen that temperance and politics can not long be separated. Public opinion has been wrought to so high a pitch, that it will be useless for the law-makers of our country to divert our minds upon other questions of the day. It cannot be talked down, laughed down, or sneered down, and there is not enough money or influence in all the millions of this country to buy its silence. The liquor traffic has become a national scandal, and its influence on the moral and physical health of the people is being felt in every part of the land. It is a curse that has brought down upon us the wrath of heaven, and it is a curse that will not be removed until it is utterly and forever destroyed.

To attain the ends which we seek, let the temperance cause receive from us the attention which it deserves. It can not be said that the agencies organized for the suppression of the liquor traffic have not accomplished lasting good. Had not temperance organizations been controlled by influences almost divine, they would have given up in despair; but "thanks be to God who giveth us the victory," we have already attained a grand and glorious success. No other movement can show so good a record against such fearful odds in so short a time. The return in its infancy found the business world opposed to it, the church in favor of moderate drinking, and the state blind to the evils of this traffic; but by facts and arguments the business world, the church, and the state have been convinced that the liquor traffic is an outlaw; and now all those who indulge in alcoholic drinks are branded as being under the flag they are flying. Realizing what we already have attained, let us stand shoulder to shoulder on the battle-field of this reform, firm and unwavering in our hope, to crown right with victory and overcome vice and error with truth and purity.

TEMPERANCE AT LOWER HORTON.

We are here to celebrate in verse and song and social intercourse the seventh anniversary of our Division. On such an occasion a brief history of the Division will be appropriate, and I trust interesting also. I have interviewed members and searched the minutes through, and the result is written on this paper, which I shall read to you as my contribution to the programme for the evening's entertainment.

On the tenth day of December 1879 the leading men of Horton met together and formed a society, "For the better improvement of Husbandry, encouragement of Manufactures, cultivation of Social Virtues, acquirement of Useful Knowledge, and to promote the good order and well-being of the community." The society was called Colonia Societas and had a seal with a Plow engraven on it, and the motto Vive et Fideat. The following were the first officers appointed, viz: Jonathan Crane, President; John Thos. Hill, Vice P.; James N. Shannon, Treasurer; James Fullerton, Secretary; and David Dennison, Steward. The ancient Colonia Societas is our King's County Agricultural Society of to-day, and is the first society of its kind formed in Lower Horton of which we have any authentic record.

Whether those leading men included temperance in the clause, "to promote the good order and well-being of the community," is a question which I think may be safely answered in the negative. In ye olden time the use of alcoholic liquors as a beverage was a universal custom. Every family of note displayed the decanter and wine glass on the side-board and possessed a punch bowl for festive occasions, and the drinking of wine was used to welcome the coming and speed the parting guest. Hosts were considered ill-bred and their hospitality niggardly and mean if wine was not set before their guests, and the man who refused to drink a health from the sparkling cup or to take a glass of wine with a lady was voted quixotic, eccentric, and even boorish. Drinking was thus made respectable and fashionable, and the younger members of the family were familiarized with it and trained up to do it, and few young men could resist the temptation, or, indeed, tried to do so, and many became drunkards. An extensive trade was carried on between Halifax and the West Indies in those days. Fish and other produce were exported and rum and molasses were the return cargo. This rum was sent all over the country and sold in every corner grocery, and the item of rum figured largely in every farmer's account. It was bought by the gallon and served out as rations to the men employed in haying and harvest; used freely at every large raising and public gathering, and supplied ad libitum by candidates at an election. Drinking was the universal custom then in all classes and conditions of society, and was fashionable and respectable. Thank God! it is now, in our day and generation, the exception, and is looked upon as disgraceful and disreputable as it was then fashionable and respectable. Our Division has done a large part of that good work for us. The Agricultural Society did much good work for the community, doubtless, but there was probably very little temperance work done until we approached the year 1848.

I have good authority for stating that a Division was formed in that year, but I have been unable to find the minutes or any written record. This Division, the first in Lower Horton, was organized by Theodore Harding, a merchant of Windsor, and son of Rev. Theodore Harding, Baptist minister. Lawyer Chas. Harris was the first W. P.; Andrew Borden, a worthy member of our Division, Conductor; Arthur M. Wier, R. S. Among the members were nearly all the leading men of that day—Edward Byers, William Dennison, George McGregor, Wm. H. Harris, Jacob Curry. These men have all passed away, but their names are fresh and green in the memory of many here to-night, and their sons and daughters, who were the younger members of the old Division, take their place as the older members of Evangelium. Andrew Borden, Chas. H. Curry, and the late Elen H. Curry were members of the old Division. Chas. Morris, a graduate of King's College, Windsor, was a fine scholar, an able lawyer, and an enthusiast in the cause of temperance. He was ably seconded by Arthur Wier, who was a clever business man, and the good cause prospered in their hands. The Division met at first in Jan. K. Rathbun's house, but gained sufficient strength and means to build a temperance hall, to hold in the completion of which, a tea-meeting was held. This tea-meeting is described by those who remember it as the most interesting of Lower Horton. People came from Windsor, Newport, Cornwallis, and all over the two counties. Lower Horton was alive for once in its history and the people united in a good cause. There was a march through the place in regalia, and Chas. H. Curry, then a lad of fifteen, tells me he had the honor of bearing the banner aloft and found it no easy task. This banner was painted by Parker Smith, of Windsor, and presented to the Division by the late Samuel Harris. It must still be in existence and should be hunted up and restored to its place. There are a number of incidents related in connection with this tea-meeting. The hall was not finished and the crowd of people to crack and there was a rush outdoors, some jumping from the windows, no one was seriously injured, however, and the affair was a success. The hall stood just in front of the residence of W. K. Rathbun. After some years it was converted into a schoolhouse, and was burnt soon after the "School law" came in force. Arthur Wier owned the property now belonging to Councillor F. G. Curry and lived in a two-story house which stood, until it was destroyed a few years ago, on the bank above the wharf with a large elm tree in front. Wier was not successful here and went to England and became a ship owner and a wealthy man. This old Division, the name of which I do not know, occupied the ground for a number of years, and then ceased to exist, and was succeeded by the Order of Good Templars, and we next meet with the Division in 1873.

On Thursday evening, March 20th, 1875, a public meeting was held in Grand Pre Hall for the purpose of organizing a Division of the Sons of Temperance. After the meeting was dissolved, Geo. Y. Rand, assisted by members of Wolfville, Greenwood, and Gaspereau Divisions, organized Evangelium Division, No. 339, and the following officers were elected: Rev. S. F. Heston, W. P.; Jennie Stewart, W. A.; Robert L. Borden, R. S.; Ida Faulkner, A. R. S.; Edward McLaughy, F. S.; J. B. Bowser, Treas.; William Faulkner, Chap.; Fred Rathbun, Cond.; Louisa Simon, A. C.; M. Duncanson, I. S.; Joseph King, O. S. Of those officers, death has removed two, and of the remainder only three are members of our present Evangelium. The charter members of No. 339 numbered 39 and the total membership at the end of the first quarter was 70. Bro. Andrew Borden was elected W. P. for the next quarter. On the 28th Jan. '74 prohibition petitions to the Dominion and Local House were signed by the members; so that our agitation for prohibition was begun in '74. The division met in Borden's Hall until April the 8th, 1875. This meeting was held in a room in Mrs. Sherman Denison's house, and the Division continued to meet there until the charter was forfeited. The death of Mrs. Denison and the burning of the house shortly afterwards, has left nothing but the memory of that old Division room.

Concluded next week.

ANNIVERSARY PICTURES. These "Beauties of the Olographic Art," as they are well described, consist of three charming sets of views, beautifully executed in tinted and colored, and are produced for the "WITNESS" publishers by a well known Art Publishing House in London, England. They are entitled "The Banquet," "Who's Asked You?" and "The Foster Mother." Specimen copies will be on view in our Agencies. Everybody who sees them wants them. We will send sample copies of our papers containing descriptions of the pictures, and blank forms for subscriptions, containing full particulars of this and other offers, to any address, on application. If everyone who sends one, we, or three new subscriptions, along with his own will receive any TWO of the pictures. Everyone sending four or more new subscriptions with his own, will receive THREE pictures. No other offer can even compare with this. The Anniversary Pictures will not be given or sold to any but subscribers. The demand will be necessarily so heavy that we must strictly follow the rule "FIRST COME, FIRST SERVED." Therefore send your subscriptions to JOHN DOUGALL & SON, Montreal.

The Acadia Athenaeum for December is to hand. The paper is well filled as usual and shows a marked improvement over last year in typographical appearance. A noteworthy change has been made in issuing at the first of the month instead of the middle of it. We have no doubt but that the publishers will find this greatly to their advantage. There is no reason why a monthly magazine should not be issued at the first of the month. We wish the Athenaeum a successful year.

A full line of Oil Tubs and Water-Cake colors imported direct from Winsor & Newton, London, and for sale low by Western Book & News Co.

DYKE MEETING.—A meeting of the proprietors of the Grand Pre and Dead Dykes was held in Borden's Hall, Grand Pre, on Thursday the 26th, for the purpose of appointing a committee to award compensation to the latter Dyke, under Chapter 42, Section 27, Revised Statutes. A paper largely signed by the proprietors of the Grand Pre Dyke, was read at the opening of the meeting, protesting against the legality of the meeting on the ground that a committee had already been appointed and an award made according to law.

Several attempts to appoint the committee were voted down, and the meeting adjourned without accomplishing anything.

If you wish to color wool, cotton silk or fathers, use the new Electric Dyes, Strongest and Best in the world. 10 cents at all dealers.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—A very serious accident occurred in the construction of the Randall's Bridge, near Canning, on Saturday morning last. While three men were standing below on the abutment, waiting for a stone weighing considerably over half a ton to be lowered into its place, the boom of the derrick on which the stones were swung and another timber attached to it in the shape of a V fell, the boom striking the man in question, John Campbell, of Kentville, just back of the neck, knocking him about seven feet against the wall and down among the rocks beneath, while the blunt edge of the smaller timber struck Edward Harris, son of Mr. Charles Harris, on the top of the head, knocking him off the pier also. O'Hearn, of Canning, who was standing just between the two, escaped with but a few bruises; as he stood just in the angle of the falling timbers. When Mr. Campbell was picked up it was found that the fish had all been taken off the back part of his head, his arm was broken in two places, his lower jaw was broken and knocked over his upper jaw, and he had two horrible gashes over his eye and on his forehead, while his face was terribly mutilated, the skin hanging in large pieces from his cheek. Young Harris had his head split open all across the top of his head and down on his forehead, so that you could lay two fingers on the skull. Persons were immediately sent to Canning for a doctor; and the injured men were taken to the house of Charles Harris, where everything was done to stop the flow of blood, which almost poured from them. Drs. Miller Jr. and Lockwood soon arrived, and proceeded to do whatever they could for the wounded until the arrival of a more experienced doctor. After a time Dr. Woodworth arrived, and he immediately began to set the broken bones and sew up the gashes in Mr. Campbell's head. At the time of writing it is not known how Mr. Campbell is; but his recovery seems very doubtful. He is a man very much esteemed, being an excellent workman. He is now at his home in Kentville. Young Harris is now able to get about again, though very weak from loss of blood. The accident was caused by the working of the derrick being placed in incompetent hands; and the necessary precautions were not taken to make it safe, there being only a few brittle strands of wire to hold the boom in its place. Work has been resumed on the bridge, the derrick being thrown aside.

MARRIED.—ROOD-SLEEP.—At the residence of the bride's father, Wolfville, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 27th, by Rev. W. C. Brown, assisted by Rev. J. B. Hemen, Mr. Arthur B. Rood, of Port Huron, and Lizzie L., youngest daughter of S. R. Sleep, Esq.

A rich find of gold-bearing quartz is reported from North Brookfield, Queens Co. It is asserted on authority that over two hundred dollars worth of gold was with the simplest method taken out of the lead on one day.

A gentleman afflicted with the chronic rheumatism says: "No description of my case can convey the vast amount of benefit I have received from the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. I believe it is the best article in the world for rheumatism."

In our last issue we stated that the barn on the Grand Pre dyke belonging to Mr. A. D. DeWolf was supposed to have taken fire from sparks dropped by persons working in the barn. Mr. DeWolf informs us that this is not the case as the two men who were taking hay from the barn were neither of them smokers and were not using matches. Mr. DeWolf attributes his loss to incendiarism, and repudiates the New Star man's idea that it was caused by spontaneous combustion.

YARMOUTH.—The health officers of Yarmouth held a public meeting last week. They adopted measures similar to those adopted by Halifax, to prevent the introduction and spread of small pox in this municipality. All vessels coming from places where small pox is known to exist, are to be quarantined. A general vaccination is earnestly requested. If there should be any goods imported from infected districts, they shall be taken in charge, and fumigated before being placed on the market, very few are importing goods from Montreal. There arrived here last week from Shelburne County a colored man, who has been exhibiting the peculiarities of this man is that he has two hearts and two sets of ribs, on each side. One of the doctors here examined him, and pronounced it so. It has been rumored here that the Local Government will in a few days, take possession of the Western Counties Railway, and that P. J. MacEay, of Kentville, will be manager of the through line from Halifax to Yarmouth. Some say that a certain newspaper published at Kentville, is trying to do all it possibly can, by throwing out insinuations against Mr. MacEay, that he may leave and move the head quarters somewhere else. Providing there is a consolidation of this Railway the people of this place would welcome him here.—Cont.

For the ACADIAN. THE INDIAN HUNTER.

Let me go to my home That is far distant west, To those scenes of my childhood That I love the best.

Where the tall cedars are, And the bright waters flow, And my parents will greet me; While man let me go.

Let me go to the hills, And the valleys so fair, Where so oft I have breathed My own mountain air; And there is my mother, Whose heart will o'er flow At the sight of her child; To her let me go.

Let me go to my father, By whose brilliant side I so often have wandered In the height of my pride; And excited to conquer The insolent foe; To my father, the Chieftain, White man let me go.

And oh let me go To my own dark-eyed maid, Who taught me to love Beneath the willow shade; With a heart like a fawn, And as pure as the snow, And she loves her dear Indian; To her let me go.

And oh let me go To my own forest home; And never again Will I wish to roam; And there let my body In ashes lie low To those scenes of my childhood; White man let me go.

MRS JUDITH ELLEN FOSTER.

Mrs Foster is the daughter of a Methodist clergyman, who, in early life, years before he ever heard of a temperance organization—outside those mentioned in the Bible—pledged himself to total abstinence. He was one of New England's most successful preachers and leaders in all reforms.

In his gifted daughter, he still breathes and speaks his lofty and indomitable spirit. She was born at Lowell, Mass., 1840; educated in the Boston Public School and the Seminary of Charlestown, Mass., and Lima, N. Y. Her husband is a prominent lawyer and politician of Iowa, a life-long temperance man and earnest working Christian. She read law for his entertainment, and afterwards, by his suggestion, and under his supervision, pursued a systematic course of legal study, with, however, no thought of admission to the bar.

Instead of amusing herself with fashion plates and fiction, she read with her babies about her knees such learned poems as Blackstone and Kent. She never had an ambition for public life or public speaking. Until about the time of the crusade she never heard a woman preach or lecture; but when the trumpet of her husband's cause sounded, she responded to the call, and lifted up her voice in protest against the iniquity of the drink traffic.

This, occurring just as she had finished her legal studies, and seemed a providential indication, and her husband said, "If you could talk before an audience, you could talk before a court of law," and he insisted on her being examined for admission to the bar. She was examined and admitted. This triumph won the approval of friends, and increased the hatred of the liquor party who knew in their hearts that she was a help-mate to you, and not a hindrance, for you must take in to consideration that now while on are young you must lay something p for a time of need, for that time is—and to come some time in a man's life, and a list in the bank may tide you over some sudden rock that lies in your life of travel. Do not think of making her your wife because she is a beauty, for she will grow old; not for her lovely hair, for she may be bald and wear a wig; but make sure that she has good common sense, a mind of her own, and will have a smile of welcome for her husband when he comes to his home. A woman who will try to make one's life full of sunshine and to help and cheer him on, as he climbs the rugged road of life to a more successful issue, is a treasure to be proud of.

A girl who will try to make her father and mother happy and fill their lives with sunshine is the girl to make you a good wife.—O. Angelo, Halifax, Mass.

ONLY A PRINTER. Such was the sneering expression of a person residing not a thousand miles from the door of our Sonnetier, in reference to the profession we follow in pride. "Nobody but a printer," in south it makes our free blood run rampant through our veins to hear such expressions from the lips of those nursed on republican soil. And let us become dis- graceful?—and is the name of printer a reproach in the land? We cannot believe it. Whoever gains an honest living by his laborer look to their grandfathers, and they will see noblemen after the same God's own hand—men who stood and sang among the waving corn—men who wore their human nature like a crown. "Nobody but a printer anyhow!" Who was William Caxton, one of the fathers of literature? "Nobody but a printer!" Who was Earl Stanhope? "Nobody but a printer!" Who was Samuel Woodworth the poet? "Nobody but a printer!" Who was Governor Armstrong of Massachusetts? "Nobody but a printer!" George P. Morris, James Harper, Horace Greeley, Robert Secor, and Senators Cameron, Dix and Sibley, and a host of no less conspicuous names! Who were they? "Nothing but printers, my how!" Let the mistaken souls of our land scorn those who honest- ly work out the perils of our condition prescribed by the Creator, and, if justice has not will do. Or, "They are not worse than other young men." Excuse sin on account of other's sins—how's that? What others do won't make much difference when trials and troubles come as the result of these (to you) now harmless faults but which may change to serious ones as years roll on.

The result of marriage is to every one either happiness or misery, joy or sorrow, plenty or poverty, unity and peace, or discord and strife.

I have written all these letters hoping that you may be influenced to look before you leap; to be sure as you can of your future before you take the decisive step; to be in no haste to wed. The end and aim of life should be something higher and nobler than just to have "Mrs" prefixed to your name. The choice is yours, and that you will either rise in the world or else sink to a sort of nonentity. Girls, please read and think on Aunt Mollie's advice, and in the future may it be of assistance and help to you.—Aunt Mollie.

For the ACADIAN. WHAT IS LOVE.

One hundred letters were written to as many well known "thinkers" of Vincennes, requesting answers to the question, "What is love?" The result indicates a confusing variety of opinions among the people of Vincennes as to what love is. Following are the answers of sixteen different persons. The most interesting and pardonable of human weaknesses.

A mere delusion that has ruined many men. A feeling of such exquisite tenderness that it is too sweet for comparison. I don't know anything about it; don't think it amounts to much.

The sweetest and most passionate excitement known to men—binding together by the strongest cords sex, kindness, and nations. Don't know anything about it; never was there.

It is something that no fellow can find out—yet all feel its power, more or less. A sweet and delusive imagination act.

A dormant passion of the mind aroused by beauty and intellectual qualities of some one woman. An indefinable principle which will beings processes, and which lies at the foundation of all happiness.

A noble passion which envelops our whole being and shows itself in every thought, word, and action. Fine bliss—void of fancy—of happiest happiness. An egotism of two.

A feeling that takes root in the heart and is only made perfect when it enters the soul. A latent faculty of the mind that, when aroused, glows with a radiance that illuminates the gloomiest mind and wields a power of influence that is unequalled. One of the worst diseases of the heart.

ADVICE TO YOUNG MEN. I would say a few words to the boys. Young man, if you are in love with a young woman, be sure that she is a lady before you ask her to be Mrs.—Do not let your love blind your sense of duty to yourself and your parents. Make sure that she will be a help-mate to you, and not a hindrance, for you must take in to consideration that now while on are young you must lay something p for a time of need, for that time is—and to come some time in a man's life, and a list in the bank may tide you over some sudden rock that lies in your life of travel. Do not think of making her your wife because she is a beauty, for she will grow old; not for her lovely hair, for she may be bald and wear a wig; but make sure that she has good common sense, a mind of her own, and will have a smile of welcome for her husband when he comes to his home. A woman who will try to make one's life full of sunshine and to help and cheer him on, as he climbs the rugged road of life to a more successful issue, is a treasure to be proud of.

Let the mistaken souls of our land scorn those who honest- ly work out the perils of our condition prescribed by the Creator, and, if justice has not gone forever, they will blister their hands with manual labor. We have seen such scenes even in our day.—Troy-City Daily.

MOTHER. Have you ever noticed when hearing a child say the word mother what a pleasant, soft, balmy sound it has, like a sweet, soothing and grateful breeze? Do you know why every bosom responds to the word mother as it finds its way to our hearts in youth and retains its hold upon us in our age?

Why, it is because the blessed tie which links mother and child together is so holy, simple and beautiful in its construction so pure, good and genuine in its strength, and is the emblem of all we can imagine of fidelity, truth and love that we feel the value of it in our youth and manhood, and lament the loss of it when our mother is laid up to rest. If fathers are locked up to rest, principle and tenderness, mothers are relied upon for tenderness and endearing affection; if fathers are strongholds of safety, mothers are sources of love and consolation. In all our trials, amid all our afflictions, mother is our friend; when all else forsakes us she is still by our side calming the ruffled spirit and tranquilizing the agitated heart. If we do wrong she reproves us more in sorrow than in anger, and whose voice is ever so soft and tender as mother's? Do not despise mother when she is old, for when she was young you were prouder of her and had more respect and reverence for her than for any other woman. Do the same now, and continue doing so to the end. Age may wax and waste the mother's beauty, she may lose her strength, she may lose her hearing or eyesight, she may be gray-headed, but is still the same to her child, and her "motherly relation is ever in its flourish." It may be autumn or winter, but with the mother, as mother, it is always spring. Never forget she is mother; she can never tear you from her bosom nor forget you are her child.

Noah was the first base-ball player recognized in sacred history. He "pitched" the ark within and without, and finally sent a "fowl" "out on a fly" in search of dry land.—Chicago Telegram.

Hundreds have been cured by us in for LIVER COMPLAINT, COSTIVENESS, DYSPEPSIA, SALT RHEUM, CATARRH, RHEUMATISM, IMPURE BLOOD, LOSS OF APPETITE, KIDNEY DISEASE, —AND—

GENERAL DEBILITY.

READ THE FOLLOWING TESTIMONIAL. Wolfville, Sept. 14, 1885.

Dr Norton: Dear Sir.—For twenty-five years I have been afflicted with Salt Rheum, and last Summer my head and part of my body was, one fearful sore. My husband employed at different times three doctors, which failed to do me any good. In August 1884 I commenced taking your Dr O. W. Norton's Burdock Blood Purifier, and after taking three bottles, an entirely cured, so I have not the least symptoms of it since. The Blood Purifier has also cured Capt Brooks of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint.

Yours truly, Mrs John Grand

Peter Frost, Esq., of Little River, Digby Neck, was sick a long time with Liver Kidney and Nerve Disease. He is now well by using Norton's Burdock Blood Purifier.

As Raymond's son was sick and confined to the house for over three months with Rheumatism and Kidney Troubles. He was attended by a doctor, and tried many remedies but obtained no relief until he used Norton's Burdock Blood Purifier, which cured him.

John Layton of Mount Denson, was sick with Sore throat for five weeks, when his doctor gave him up. He is now quite well by using Norton's Magic Liniment and Dr O. W. Norton's Burdock Blood Purifier.

There is no medicine known to the medical fraternity that has cured so many of Liver, Kidney Blood and Nerve Diseases as the medicines that compose Norton's Burdock Blood Purifier. Sold by most of the dealers in medicines throughout the county, and by G. V. Rand, Druggist, Wolfville at $1.00 per large bottle.
