BABY'S OWN TABLETS CURE SUMMER COMPLAINTS Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in every home where there are infants and young children, and at first sign of illness during the hot summer months they should be given to the little one. At no time of the year is baby in such danger as in summer. Summer complaints come on so quickly that unless prompt aid is at hand the little one may be beyond help in a few hours. The Tablets never fail to relieve the sick child, and if occasionally given to the well child they will keep him well. Mrs. P. Laroche, Les Follies, Que., says:—Last summer my baby suffered severely from stomach and bowel troubles but the prompt use of Baby's Own Tablets saved his life! The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Entertainment in Australia. Perth, Victoria, June 26—The Modern Woodmen of America at this place have just completed a large hall, the opening of the handsome, commodious edifice was accomplished and celebrated in appropriate fashion, and attended by the largest assemblage of people that has ever assembled at any point on Battle river since the settlement of the country.

The "Belle" of the river, a steam launch, sailed on a pleasant excursion of land with the Battle river only a stone's throw away, and in the immediate distance surrounded by some lands of rich fields and miniature mountains skirting the banks of the water course, rendering the whole a romantic and delightful location.

The entertainment which began early in the day and did not conclude until late in the evening was made up of varied outdoor sports, boys' and girls' races for prizes, 100 yard races, the egg race, five wheelbarrow and sack races, baseball and trolly races. A literary and musical programme was a special feature in the afternoon and contained a long list of juvenile and adult recitations. This was particularly interesting, the entire out-put of fate in this respect was made up from members of the order, "Belle of the River" and "Woodcraft and its Principles" being the theme throughout.

THURSDAY, JUNE 30, 1910.

SLAUGHTER HOUSE NUISANCE.

There are many reasons for insisting upon the removal of the P. Burns slaughter house, which has been operated in the east end of the city for several years.

The medical health officer pronounced it a nuisance. This, together with an emphatic expression of opinion from the residents in the affected area, resulted in the city council taking formal action in its removal within ninety days.

The ninety days have elapsed but the slaughter house is still being operated and the odors exuded by it have shown no diminution.

For the second time the medical health officer has been called upon to inspect the premises and to give his opinion as to whether or not it is a public nuisance.

The reason is not clear why action in this matter has been delayed and the city council's resolution ignored.

The fact that the commissioners are dealing with the question may or may not be sufficient. The city council has said remove and remove means remove.

There are several features about the operation of the slaughter house which are a marked degree revolting. The medical health officer on his inspection two days ago entered the building to find a half-dressed woman and several young children delving in the offal in the hope of securing some scraps of meat.

But the most valid reason for demanding the removal of this institution immediately is the fact that odors emitted by the slaughter house are unquestionably offensive, and are the right of the residents of this city to live where they are not called upon to submit to nauseating, if not unhealthy, smells.

The residents of the east end of the city have been long suffering in this and other respects. The incinerator and its stench still occupy a place in the memory of the people of Northwest and the east end.

AS TO GRANDE PRAIRIE.

A settler from Grande Prairie makes the statement that the crops there are two weeks ahead of the Edmonton district. That means that they are at least three weeks ahead of any other district in the West.

From the reports received from Manitoba and Saskatchewan and the southern part of our own province, the crops in the Edmonton district are exceptionally well advanced and in particularly good condition when compared with other sections of the country.

Central Alberta has yet to realize the extent and the marvelous fertility of the soil in the country to the north and northwest. In a visionary sort of way we have accepted it as a fact that the last great West will prove the equal if not the superior of any of the known West today.

Edmonton is particularly interested in the development of the north country. The future of this city is to a large degree dependent on it. It has been stated before, but it does not lose its value by repetition; that the country north and northwest of Edmonton will be to this city what the whole of the West has been and is to Winnipeg.

Thirty townships were opened for settlement in the Grande Prairie country in May of this year, and it is a remarkable fact that 600,000 acres in these townships two-thirds of the land is ready for the plow at the present moment.

Today there are 300 settlers in the Grande Prairie country where there is land and opportunity for thousands. The moral is, let it be made more readily accessible. How can this object be realized? Obviously by the construction of a railroad or a wagon road. When can it be accomplished? When the people of this city and the province realize what the opening up of the country will mean to the province as a whole.

A MAN AMONG MEN.

The campaign in Vermilion has served to bring out the strength of character of Premier Sifton as a campaigner of the usual nature could not have done. Mr. Sifton went into the campaign with no announced policy.

More, he stated at the nominating convention that he would not announce what course he would pursue. Upon this his opponents seized, as a point favorable for attack. Not being in office, and having no prospect of being there, they were free to declare for what policy they pleased, or each for the one which seemed best to him, or none of them for any.

But while they were free to speak, the Premier stepped to silence, alike by circumstances and by word. Quite well they understood that he could not with propriety make an announcement on the question at this time. Equally well they knew that having declared he would not make an announcement there was little danger of his doing so.

Therefore, from their standpoint the expedient course seemed to be to demand an announcement from him. This demand he must either accede or decline. If he should accede to the demand he would be in the hand of the Government at a most inopportune time for the public interest in the case. In that event he would be open to attack as courteous, popularly, and from their standpoint the expedient course seemed to be to demand an announcement from him.

WHEAT GRADING IN THE WEST.

Toronto Globe: The greatest single asset possessed by Canada today is clear duty of Messrs. Roblin and Rogwestern wheat, and there is no reason in the nature of things why its value, in proportion to its quantity, should ever diminish. Its value depends in the last resort, however, on its quality. There is no other great extent of territory in the known world, except part of Russia, where the five wheat grains will produce the kind of species which is known as "Manitoba hard." Its pre-eminence depends on the proportion of gluten to other ingredients in its composition, and for the production of this most valuable of wheats the Canadian West has the best known combination of soil and climate over a wide expanse of country.

Hard wheat is pre-eminently among grains used as human food, and soft wheat stands next to it, starch grains following at a long interval. Nations with low standards of life use grains that have a large proportion of starch to attract moisture. Nations with a medium or rising standard use soft wheat. Nations with the higher standards use the hard kinds of wheat mixed in various proportions with the softer kinds. In Canada the names of three grades are familiar—"Manitoba hard," "No. 1 Northern," and "No. 2 Northern." On these grades the reputation of western wheat has been made, and on these it must for the future be based.

It is quite certain and reasonably clear that any attempt to export the foreign purchasers of Canadian wheat grain that is not of the grade in which it is placed by the exporter will result in great and widespread loss to the whole country, however profitable the deception may be to those who are deceived.

The grades in the elevators and Port Arthur and Port William are determined by the kinds of wheat grown in together and the proportions in which they are mixed. The process of admixture is supposed to be watched and checked by Government inspectors but it is not ubiquitous and it is far easier for wrong dealings to be made than for wheat than it was for short weights to be substituted for the proper amounts in the New York sugar market. Not long ago one man was heavily fined for wrong grading, but that was obviously not a very effective deterrent.

It is not surprising to find the people of the West very much interested in and anxious to know the truth in this question of grading; it is both surprising and disturbing to note that it has failed to attract attention in the rest of the Dominion. LARGE INCREASES IN THE AREAS OF GRAIN

Western Farmers Took Full Advantage of the Early Season—The area for Manitoba—Average Under Wheat in West is Placed at $378,345, Increase of 17 Per Cent.

Winnipeg, June 29.—The wheat area in the three western provinces this season is 3,575,945 acres, an increase of 1,222,585. Not only is this the largest increase for wheat grain in the history of the prairie country, but the increase in one year is also the greatest. The percentage of gain is only 37, and a larger percentage advance has been noted in several seasons in the past. But an increase of over 1,200,000 acres marks a new record and reflects the growth and development of the country. The west is now showing in its statistics of wheat production the effects of the remarkable influx of farmers that has taken place during the past two or three years. The agricultural immigrants have been able to bring their land up to the state of cultivation where they can look forward to a responsible profit from the production of grain. A total wheat area of 3,810,000 acres is one of the results.

Manitoba Makes a Good Showing. The Manitoba Government has issued its spring estimate of the areas devoted to the various grains, and the returns contained in that report are highly gratifying. The acreage under wheat is placed at 3,113,093, as compared with 2,642,111 last year, an increase of 470,982. This under-oats is placed at 1,564,689, as compared with 1,373,688 last year, an increase of 190,999. Barley covers 857,590 acres, as compared with 801,008 last year, an increase of 56,582, and flax 41,022 acres, as compared with 29,635, an increase of 11,387. The total area devoted to the four grains is 5,581,383 acres, as compared with 4,837,497 last year, an increase of 743,886. With one exception the area under wheat this season is the largest in the history of the province. In 1906 it was 3,142,000 acres. The oats acreage is easily the greatest. The previous record was held by the province in 1909, and it has been left behind by this year's total. In this connection it may be noted that the total acreage of the four grains in Manitoba in 1909 was 2,162,152, of which 1,457,396 were in wheat, and 704,756 in oats. This wheat area has increased to 3,113,093, and the oats area nearly 300 per cent.

Rapid Increases in Grain Areas. The rapid increase in the western wheat area during the past few years seems to reflect accurately the general development of the agricultural industry. In 1905 the total acreage in wheat was 1,457,396, in 1906, 1,763,799, in 1907, 2,046,000, in 1908, 2,642,111, and in 1909, 3,113,093. The increase in five years is 1,655,697 acres, or about 115 per cent. This gain during the past three years has been 85 per cent. The extension of the oats area has been even more rapid. The total acreage in that grain in the three provinces this year is 4,430,139, as compared with 2,283,737 in 1905, an increase of 2,146,402, or 157 per cent. The gain during the past three years has been about 50 per cent.

An All-Round Advance. Figures showing the acreage of barley and flax in Saskatchewan have just been issued by the Government of that Province, but it is known that the latter shows a big increase as compared with last year. It is likely that the total area devoted to the four grains in the three provinces this year will be about 14,500,000 acres, as compared with about 9,500,000 last year. Each of the four shows an increase, and the largest proportional gain is scored by flax, amounting to about 75 per cent. And the amount of land which is in crop is so small in relation to the area available that it is scarcely possible to calculate what the volume of production may be when the country is well settled.

Farmers Had Good Start. It is evident that the farmers took full advantage of the early season in their seeding. The three weeks' start was most useful for their purpose. This is indicated more particularly by the statistics for Manitoba. Decreased rainfall in that province would have caused no surprise if the season had been normal, because it is recognized that the partiality for grain-growing is less pronounced here than it was four or five years ago. When the tilth of the soil found conditions so favorable they hastened to seize their opportunities, and increases in area all along the line are the natural consequence. But the early spring brought advantages other ways. Not only did it enable the farmers to sow in plenty of time, but it permitted them to give more than the usual attention to the preparation of the land. The seed went into the ground this year under conditions more favorable than were ever before known, and this circumstance should count as a great help in when harvest time rolls around. Washes Has Misbehaved. The weather has been erratic during the spring and early summer, and for a time there was some curiosity as to whether warm days would come at all. From touched the growing plants in many districts and the average temperature for at least a month was low enough to send a chill down the back of the ordinary cultivator. As there is an end of everything, the summer did come eventually, and it immediately made a violent effort to overcome the handicap with which it started. The past few days have been decidedly warm and the growing crops already show the effects of the change. Their general condition at the present time is most promising and encouraging. A general outlook for the season has been more satisfactory at this time of the year. The supply of moisture is in ample

GEN. FRENCH PRAISES ALBERTA'S HORSEMEN

British General Says There is Scope for Cavalry in the West. Criticism, Advice and Praise to Alberta's Troops.

Calgary, June 25.—With the eyes of the greatest cavalry soldier in the world upon them, the volunteer troops of Alberta engaged in mimic warfare for four hours on Friday. When the "enemy" had been captured and the "wounded" stowed in ambulances from the field of carnage, the umpires who took the place of bullets and the British forces told them that they thought of them. He explained frankly how they had made mistakes that would have been calamitous in a real battle, and he frankly told them how much he admired their horsemanship, their appearance and the dash of the officers. And he made one point especially apparent, and that is that mounted troops are almost a hobby with him. He believes it the arm most needed in the Canadian West.

"For God's sake, don't look down on the mounted rifleman," he said. "There is a tendency to do this for some reason. And yet it is as honorable a branch of the service as any. The only system of training should be a mounted rifle role. The improvement in firearms has brought changes about the rifle, and the scope for cavalry in the east of Canada because the country is too confined, but out here on the prairies it is needed and it must be trained. The horses here seem to be better than those I saw in the east, and they need to be because they have to get over so much more ground."

An Exciting Spectacle. The sham battle was an exciting spectacle. A sight of cavalry troops in action is always interesting. The officers were very earnest. "Hurry up there, men, don't you see the smoke coming from the rifle? Unless you close up!" an officer would order, perhaps, as he ran up his line. Or again he would order them to get under a hedge where they would not be such an easy mark for the enemy.

A number of civilians watched the scene on a knoll at a safe distance. For the day, working out the problem, the brigade was divided into two forces. The "Reds" were commanded by a general reserve of two squadrons of the 15th Light Horse, who had two squadrons of cavalry representing a regular regiment. The "Blues" were in command of Lieut.-Col. James Walker. They consisted of two squadrons of the 15th Alberta Mounted Rifles; the whole of four squadrons of the 23rd Alberta Hussars; and the 21st Alberta Hussars represented by flags.

WAS CONVICT DEPORTED?

Washington and Ottawa Argue Entrance Into U. S. of Undesirables. Kingston, June 24.—The justice department in Ottawa and the state department at Washington have been in correspondence over the entry into the United States at Cape Vincent of "Baldy" Wilson a short time ago. It is believed that the justice department officials point out that Wilson, who was transferred from British Columbia was not deported. His time had expired and he wished to return to his country. The penitentiary must report where every prisoner goes and that was the reason a guard was sent to Cape Vincent with Wilson. Washington was advised of this and that there was nothing irregular. The joke was that the guard was held up and the ex-convict who was only being shadowed, was allowed to slip by.

Purified His Blood. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mr. Wilson's Sores. When the sores of the body—bores, kidneys and skin—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes: "For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without success. My blood was purified by the use of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills. They always had a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy." Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box.
