FERRO

Kerosene Engines can be purchased on easy terms which will give a man two years to pay for his Engine, and if fish are plentiful a Ferro Engine will more than pay for itself.
FATHER TIME A SEVERE BUT HONEST JUDGE.
For seven years the Ferro Engine has held the leading place among the Engines used in the Newfoundland fishery. Other Engines have been introduced and have been claimed to be the "ONLY". But Father Time has been their Judge and they fell by the wayside. Hundreds of satisfied users all over Newfoundland declare the Ferro to be the best Engine on the market to-day.
Such an enviable and widespread reputation can only be based upon one thing—Actual Merit.

Ferro Users are Ferro Boosters.

The following are a few among the many unsolicited testimonials we are continually receiving from users:—

(Copy) Cape Island, Bonavista Bay, December 15, 1914.
MESSRS. L. M. TRASK & CO., St. John's.
Dear Sir,—I have been using one of your 5 1/2
H.P. Ferro Engines for two years and it has given good satisfaction in every way.
We consider the Engine the best on the market for fishing, and would recommend it to any one requiring a good Engine. We have been using it entirely on Kerosene Oil without any adapter.
Yours truly,
DARIUS VINCENT.

Westville, Nov. 27, 1914.
L. M. TRASK & CO., St. John's.
Dear Sir,—I have been using a 7 1/2 H.P. Engine for two years, and find she runs equally as well on Kerosene as on Gasoline.
I would recommend the Ferro to any person requiring an Engine for fishing purposes.
Yours truly,
JABEZ WINSOR.

Flat Rock, Nov. 6, 1914.
MESSRS. L. M. TRASK & CO., St. John's.
Dear Sir,—My Engine is a 7 1/2 H.P., was purchased in 1913, and has been running the entire season, and has given good satisfaction, and I would recommend it to any one for fishing purposes.
Yours truly,
MICHAEL PARSONS.

Fishermen intending to purchase Engines should write for descriptive literature on our Kero-

Plot That Failed;

Love That Would Not Be Denied.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Job started to his feet with an oath. "Come, no larks with me, lads!" he said, savagely. "This is a stale game."

The words died out on his lips, for as the light approached nearer it disclosed the form of the long-lost Leicester Dodson.

There was his pale face and lank hair, all dripping with water, sea weed clung to his white shroud and hung at his elbows.

He looked as if he had just risen from his watery grave.

Job's knees shook and he fell to the ground; the spirit drew nearer and scowled down upon him with fierce eyes, which glowed like fire from the chalky-hued cheeks. Job's fear grew almost to madness. Here was a ghost indeed! One to make his heart quake and his soul shudder to its innermost core.

"Master Leicester!" he gasped. "Master Leicester! have mercy on my soul! Have mercy!"

The fearful words rolled through the chapel, and the ghost seemed to hear them, for in a sepulchral voice, it formed the word, "Confess!"

"I will, I will!" gasped Job. "I'll confess all—before a magistrate, Master Leicester, dear Master Leicester—oh, Heaven, how terrible! Oh, Master Leicester, I didn't think you'd be drowned! I'd never a done! I'll confess all! I'll confess what I've seen, I'll tell how the captain put the paper in the old bureau! I see him do it—I see him and Jim Starling; and I know who killed Jim! I know! I know! Oh, Master Leicester, have mercy on a live man and I'll tell all."

"Confess!" said the ghostly voice. "I will," said Job. "I'm a smuggler, we are all smugglers, but the captain is the chief; he drives us to it, and takes the money—oh, mercy, Master Leicester!—and knows a secret way through the dead squire's room to the beach! The captain knows! and the captain sent you away Master Leicester, and murdered you as he did Jim Starling. Spare me, Master Leicester, and I'll tell all if they hang me for it. I've meant to do it many a time, but now your ghost has come I'll do it, or you'd never leave me! Oh, Lord! oh, Lord!"

"Confess," said the ghost, drawing near.

"I will! I will!" screamed Job, and then he fell face downward upon the earth in a swoon of horror.

At that moment two figures sprang out from the darkness. One was Stumpy with a lantern, the other Mr. Thaxton.

Both rushed at the prostrate man, over whom the ghost was bending. Stumpy seized Job, Mr. Thaxton seized the ghost, and commenced tearing off its shroud.

"Stop!" said a voice. "Stay your hand, Mr. Thaxton. I am indeed Leicester Dodson."

"What!" exclaimed Mr. Thaxton, falling back with astonishment. "What! you alive!" and then he snatched at the linen-banded hand, and shook it like a madman.

"Yes, me," said Leicester, with a thrill of triumph and exultation in his voice. "I have not come back to the world a moment too soon," he added, significantly. "You have heard this man's confession."

"I have," said Mr. Thaxton. "And believe it?" asked Leicester, slowly.

"As I believe that there is a sky over us," said Mr. Thaxton. "I always knew that Howard Murpoint was a villain, and I was waiting for a Nemesis to turn up and track him down. Little did I think that you would be that Nemesis! And who is this?" he asked, motioning toward Stumpy.

"My best and truest friend," said Leicester.

"Then give me your hand," said Mr. Thaxton, and to Stumpy's astonishment, the respectable lawyer grasped the ex-convict's hand and shook it heartily.

"And now what is to be done with this fellow? He is too precious to be lost sight of."

"I have a cart near here," said Leicester, "and I thought that if you would stand my friend you would not mind taking charge of him till the morning."

"Certainly," said Mr. Thaxton, eagerly. "A capital plan! He shall not leave my sight, and to-morrow he shall be before the magistrate."

"Lend a hand, sir," said Stumpy, "for he's coming to."

CHAPTER XXIX.

Quite unconscious of the Nemesis which was already on his track, the captain was rapidly bringing his scheme to a climax.

The world was, of course, very much astonished to hear that Mr. Howard Murpoint was the man Miss Mildmay was to marry, and many blamed her for her fickleness.

But Violet was perfectly indifferent to praise or blame; she pursued the even tenor of her way, calm, serene as usual, with the peaceful and almost sad smile on her face and her usual gentle manner to all.

Mrs. Mildmay had been very much surprised to hear that Violet had, so to speak, changed her mind. But Mrs. Mildmay thought it was a very good change, for she believed the captain to be the best and cleverest man in the world, and perhaps considered him the handsomest.

When Violet went to old Mrs. Dodson, the mother of the man she had loved and whose memory she cherished, she was fearful that the old lady would be grieved.

Perhaps Mrs. Dodson was, but all she said was:

"Violet, my dear, you will do what is right, I know, and—and if this seems to you right, do it. But do you love him?"

"I cannot do that," said Violet, kissing the old lady's hand with a loving tenderness. "You know where my heart is—it will never leave Leicester, never! But Mr. Murpoint does not ask me for love, but for respect and esteem."

"And you give him these?" asked Mrs. Dodson, with a slight shade on her brows.

Violet's face shadowed and reflected that shade of distrust, but almost instantly she replied:

"I cannot conceal anything from you who have been a mother to me, dear. One time I neither esteemed nor trusted Mr. Murpoint—indeed, I disliked him. But all that feeling has gone," she continued, hurriedly. "He has been a true, a kind friend to me—I dare I distrust the man he loved and trusted. No, when the feeling I have spoken of has come over me I have cast it off as unworthy and unjust. Lately—and she sighed—"it has not come. Mother, I seem to have no feeling, no emotion. Life is but a dream and a sleep to me sometimes, and I think that I shall wake perhaps, and—but there!" she broke off, springing to her feet and putting up her hand as if to ward off the feeling of unhappiness which was creeping upon her. "I will not give way to it, I will trust my father's best friend, and I will try with all my heart to be a good wife to him."

"Heaven bless you!" said Mrs. Dodson, sobbing. "Would that I could have been a mother indeed to you. But it was not to be. My boy was taken from your side, and it is not right that you should remain alone in the world, wedded to a shadow. Violet, you will not change to me? You will love me still?"

For answer the gentle girl threw her arms round the old lady's neck and burst into tears.

"You will always be my mother!" she said, "for are you not Leicester's?"

So the pure, just-minded girl strove to trust and love the man whom she had consented to take as a husband.

He, meanwhile, was all smiles and honeyed words, looking handsome and more confident than ever.

The world declared that there was no end to his successes and that he was the most wonderful man of the times.

Soon it was rumored that the marriage between him and the wealthy Miss Mildmay was to take place almost immediately, and that when it did Howard Murpoint, M.P., would be made a baronet.

No wonder the great man looked happy as he rode his magnificent hunter in the park or appeared in the salons of the elite with his beautiful betrothed on his arm.

But was he happy? Who could see him when he was alone—at night when he sat crouched within his easy-chair in his own room or pacing up and down with the sleek restlessness of a tiger caged and ferocious, well fed but distrustful?

None saw him but his bad angel and himself as he looked into the mirror which reflected his dark, working face.

The world knew nothing of the scar on his leg which the convict gang-chain had left there; of the perjury which his brain had plotted, or the vile murder his hands had wrought.

These and other crimes the world knew nothing of, but he knew, and though he strove to forget he could not. In the dead of the night, or perhaps in the gray dawn when he had thrown himself upon the bed to woo sleep after a day of willful pleasure or a night of dancing and fashion, sleep would come, but bring bad dreams with it.

He dreamed he was in the prison

How To Get Rid of a Bad Cough

A Home-Made Remedy that Will Do It Quickly, Cheap and Easily Made

If you have a bad cough or chest cold which refuses to yield to ordinary remedies, get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour into a 16-ounce bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Start taking a teaspoonful every hour or two. In 24 hours your cough will be conquered or very nearly so. Even whooping cough is greatly relieved in this way.

The above mixture makes 16 ounces—a family supply—of the finest cough syrup that money could buy—at a cost of only 54 cents. Easily prepared in 5 minutes. Full directions with Pinex.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup preparation takes right hold of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough in a way that is really remarkable. It also quickly heals the inflamed membranes which accompany a painful cough, and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. Excellent for bronchitis, spasmodic croup and winter coughs. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children like it.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in vitamin, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex," do not accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

cell; tolling in the hot sun under the Portland cliff, with the horrid chain galling at his leg. Then visions of the haunted chapel at Penruddie crowded his brain; and one night he started up, cold with horror, from a vision of Jim, mangled and ghastly, standing beside his bed pointing to a red, gaping wound. Then, too, in those dreadful waking hours, when sleep would not come, fear took its place, and he moved in an agony of dread, fancying that his secret was known, that the detectives were on his track and that the gallows was looming before him.

But in the morning these disquieting visions always fled, and breakfast time found the great man serene, placid, watchful and smiling, ready to do battle with the world and conquer it.

Preparations for the wedding were proceeding, hastened by the great man's commands and purse.

It was to be a grand wedding, much against Violet's wish, and the fashionable world was on tiptoe of expectation. For it was known that Mr. Murpoint was to be made a baronet and that he would take one of the largest mansions in Belgravia and commence a series of entertainments immediately after the happy couple returned from the wedding tour.

Violet's dress was ordered, the bridesmaids chosen, and the tour arranged before Fitz had returned to town from the execution of his little plot with Bertie and Ethel. He called for his letters at his club, and thrust them in his pocket unread; he noticed that men looked rather strangely and almost commiseratingly at him, and wondered what was the matter. Without much loss of time he called at times.

So the pure, just-minded girl strove to trust and love the man whom she had consented to take as a husband.

He, meanwhile, was all smiles and honeyed words, looking handsome and more confident than ever.

The world declared that there was no end to his successes and that he was the most wonderful man of the times.

Soon it was rumored that the marriage between him and the wealthy Miss Mildmay was to take place almost immediately, and that when it did Howard Murpoint, M.P., would be made a baronet.

No wonder the great man looked happy as he rode his magnificent hunter in the park or appeared in the salons of the elite with his beautiful betrothed on his arm.

But was he happy? Who could see him when he was alone—at night when he sat crouched within his easy-chair in his own room or pacing up and down with the sleek restlessness of a tiger caged and ferocious, well fed but distrustful?

None saw him but his bad angel and himself as he looked into the mirror which reflected his dark, working face.

The world knew nothing of the scar on his leg which the convict gang-chain had left there; of the perjury which his brain had plotted, or the vile murder his hands had wrought.

These and other crimes the world knew nothing of, but he knew, and though he strove to forget he could not. In the dead of the night, or perhaps in the gray dawn when he had thrown himself upon the bed to woo sleep after a day of willful pleasure or a night of dancing and fashion, sleep would come, but bring bad dreams with it.

He dreamed he was in the prison

Mrs. Mildmay's and asked for Violet. Violet was upstairs in her own room, alone and musing, when the maid came to tell her that Lord Boisdale was in the drawing-room.

"Lord Boisdale!" repeated poor Violet, turning pale. "Did he ask for me?"

"Yes, miss," said the maid. "Particularly for you."

"Well," said Violet, sadly. "I will see him."

She was surprised that Fitz should ask to see her after the letter she had written to him, for it was a letter full of true womanly gratitude and kindness, explaining everything, and begging him, if he loved and respected her, not to see her before the wedding.

Now, Fitz had called, she thought, to harass her with reproaches, perhaps to accuse her of cruel insincerity. She determined to be brave and see him, so she went with rather faltering feet into the drawing-room.

Fitz rose at once and came toward her with suppressed eagerness.

"My dear Miss Mildmay—Violet!" he exclaimed, "I have come back, and left Ethel and Bertie the happiest couple in the world! You have heard the news, of course, and you think I have done right? Ah, if you could have seen them when the parson had made them one both turn to me and bless me! Bertie shaking my hand off, with tears in his eyes, and Eth, dear gentle Eth, clinging round my neck and declaring I had saved her! Well, well," and Fitz broke off to wipe with a hasty hand a suspicious moisture in his own eyes. "They are off to Italy, and I left them on the packet looking as happy as a couple of children, and I don't care what the world says and what the earl and countess say: I know I've done the proper thing and those two were made for one another!"

So he rattled on in his eager, simple way, utterly unconscious of the pallor of her face, with its look of astonishment and dread.

For Violet new by his manner that he had not received her letter, and that she should have to tell him that she had refused him and accepted Howard Murpoint.

ROSE

CHAPTER X.

At Channel we met many and we are sorry we could stay with them awhile longer. duty called us on, hence we them a kindly adieu. We, ho wish to place on record our th all who assisted us, and especia Rev. Mr. Read, Messrs. Clemens Pike, merchants, and Messrs. and Pike, of H. M. Customs and James.

So far we had travelled by but at Channel we joined the and completed our tour by water found the train service very satisfactory, and mid-winter though all the connections were made in time. The run from Channel to Blanche our next port of call was completed in about three hours though the Fiona pitched some the run was enjoyed by all on board.

Arriving at Rose Blanche we that arrangements had been made. Mr. Pariseau for our meeting held in the school room, and like all the other public officials had done his best to make the me a success. We found, however, we were too late to meet the Rose Blanche proper, as a great of the crews had begun their fishing, and were therefore at from home. Nevertheless a gathering assembled within the school room, and the meeting satisfactorily conducted, Mr. neaux presiding. We cannot say impressions were made, or wh any volunteers afterwards offered we feel certain that some of misconceptions which we met talking to the people in their were removed as a result of the ing.

As a centre of trade Rose Blanche is one of our foremost winter fish ports, and we were pleased to find that at the time of our visit, the ports and prospects of the fish were very good. The principal which do business at Rose Blanche are those of Messrs. Harvey and T. and R. Moulton, L. Chafe, and Horwood. Rose Blanche was formerly the home of the Rideouts and Leins, but other names have succeeded these firms, but business seems to be conducted very satisfactorily for concerned.

Rose Blanche has often been referred to as possessing valuable quartz, but so far it seems to have been in vogue only that this mineral exists; but the nature of rock and the entire strata of the locality does certainly impress one containing mineral of a valuable quality. Many years ago Professor Jones of Wales, who devoted much time to the consideration of our asbestos, whom we happened to meet during our stay at Rose Blanche, made a survey of some of the quartz which he saw and which abounds in the district and he was quite satisfied that it contained gold. Professor Jones was a Kentishman of much experience, and was not given to quick conclusions nor exaggerations, but he seemed to judge things from a safer method than that of extremes; hence his opinion as to the mineral value of quartz at Rose Blanche may be trusted as trustworthy and correct.

So far the fishery has been the mainstay of Rose Blanche, and all the people are comfortable, and own the "owl" homes; but the place does not seem to grow much, and several people leave and make their homes elsewhere. There is certainly room enough for a larger population, and it is developments could be made in the direction of its gold-mine, they should surely prove beneficial to the trade of the place, and to the advancement of the people.

New Rose Blanche is the small settlement of Harbour LeCou, where a nice trade is carried on, where dependence seems to be the heritage of all. Our stay at Rose Blanche was short, we did not form any acquaintances; but to still wish to express our thanks; and to especially mention Messrs. Mr. Fumcaux and Mr. LeChafe.

In comparing our notes of Rose Blanche we cannot say that we found much to praise, as in other parts of the West Coast. It seemed to us there were less schooners of

ROSE BLANCHE.

CHAPTER X.
L. C. M.
At Channel we met many friends and we were sorry we could not stay with them awhile longer, but duty called us on, hence we bade them a kindly adieu. We, however, wish to place on record our thanks to all who assisted us, and especially the Rev. Mr. Read, Messrs. Clement and Pike, merchants, and Messrs. Soper and Pike, of H. M. Customs and Mr. James.

So far we had travelled by train, but at Channel we joined the Fiona and completed our tour by water. We found the train service very satisfactory, and mid-winter though it was, all the connections were made in good time. The run from Channel to Rose Blanche our next port of call was accomplished in about three hours, and though the Fiona pitched somewhat, the run was enjoyed by all on board. Arriving at Rose Blanche we found that arrangements had been made by Mr. Furbieux for our meeting to be held in the school room, and that like all the other public officials, he had done his best to make the meeting a success. We found, however, that we were too late to meet the men of Rose Blanche proper, as a great many of the crews had begun their winter fishing, and were therefore absent from home. Nevertheless a goodly gathering assembled within the school room, and the meeting was satisfactorily conducted. Mr. Furbieux presiding. We cannot say what impressions were made, or whether any volunteers afterwards offered; but we feel certain that some of the misconceptions which we met while talking to the people in their homes were removed as a result of the meeting.

As a centre of trade Rose Blanche is one of our foremost winter fishing ports, and we were pleased to notice that at the time of our visit, the ports and prospects of the fishery were very good. The principal firms which do business at Rose Blanche are those of Messrs. Harvey and Co., T. and R. Moulton, L. Chafe, and Mr. Horwood. Rose Blanche was formerly the home of the Rideouts and Garcins, but other names have supplanted these firms, but business seems to be conducted very satisfactorily for all concerned.

Rose Blanche has often been referred to as possessing valuable gold quartz, but so far it seems to have been in name only that this valuable mineral exists; but the nature of the rock and the entire strata of the locality does certainly impress one as containing mineral of a valuable quality. Near Rose Blanche is the smaller settlement of Harbour LeCou, where a nice trade is carried on, where independence seems to be the heritage of all. Our stay at Rose Blanche being short we did not form any acquaintance, but to all who helped us in our work we desire to express our thanks; and to especially mention Dr. WILSON, Mr. Furbieux and Mr. Luke Chafe.

In comparing our notes of Rose Blanche we cannot say that we found much progress in its other parts of the West Coast. It seemed to us there were less schooners of the

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

Every child delights in a chain of any sort, from a daisy chain to those of popcorn or cranberries. Paper chains are pretty and easily made. Show the child how to cut strips of paper five inches long and one-half inch wide, paste the two ends together making a ring. Link another strip and paste the ends and so on until the desired length is made by using colored papers. Common dried peas and toothpicks furnish amusements. Soak the peas over night and by using toothpicks to join them, quaint little people and tiny furniture may be made.

Charity Committee Meets.

The committee appointed at Monday afternoon's meeting at the Board of Trade rooms, to consider the formation of a Charity Organization to relieve the destitution in the city, met again yesterday afternoon.

Mr. W. G. Gosling presided and those present were:— Rev. Fr. McDermott, representing Archbishop Desjardins Roche, Rev. Canon White, Rev. D. B. Hemmison, Mrs. W. C. Job, (Dorcas Society), Mrs. V. P. Burke and C. W. Ryan, St. Vincent de Paul Society, Hon. John Harvey, Commissioners C. P. Ayre and F. W. Bradshaw and Inspector O'Brien.

Mr. C. W. Ryan, President of St. Vincent de Paul Society, reported that ten representatives of that body were making the rounds of the city distributing coal and other necessities yesterday, and that with the aid of a collection it was hoped that sufficient relief might be given until labour is provided.

Mrs. W. C. Job, on behalf of the Dorcas Society, reported that the funds of that body were entirely exhausted and they had been forced to discontinue their work.

Mrs. V. P. Burke, representing the Women's Branch of St. Vincent de Paul Society stated that they would be able to continue their work for some time yet.

Fuller reports will be made at a meeting to be held on Monday next.

WHEN SHALL WE LEARN!
(By J. A. Giffin.)

When shall we learn, and when shall we learn?
That rulers are all men.
Who patiently build for a nation's weal,
And then tear down again?
With false ambition they toil through the years
For that which brings renown;
And then like children who build in the sand,
We tear the whole thing down.

When shall we learn, and when shall we learn?
That rulers are all men.
Who patiently build for a nation's weal,
And then tear down again?
With false ambition they toil through the years
For that which brings renown;
And then they cast the garland of praise
In the furnace of war's red flame.

When shall we learn, and when shall we learn?
That brothers all men should be,
And whether they're white or yellow or black,
Should matter not to me?
And those who earnestly seek through the years,
To learn the Father's plan,
Will find neither war nor race nor creed
In the brotherhood of man.

Fire Destroys Octagon Hotel

Yesterday afternoon the Octagon Hotel, near Irvine, was completely destroyed by fire the cause of which is attributed to a defective chimney.

About 2.30 p.m. yesterday Mr. Poole, the proprietor of the place, visited the hotel which had been unoccupied since last fall, and lighted a fire in the kitchen stove. He then went down to the ice house, some 200 yards distant, to inspect the winter's cut of ice, and upon his return noticed smoke issuing from the roof. He hurried to the scene, but the house was filled with smoke and he was obliged to retreat. No water being at hand the flames spread rapidly and in less than an hour the building and most of its contents were consumed. All the bedding, linen and other furnishings were destroyed, as well as a piano that was in the ballroom. The latter was insured for $250, but the other furnishings were not insured and the loss to Mr. Poole is estimated at about $500. The building was owned by Mr. Fowling, of Trinity, and was, we understand, insured.

Fuller reports will be made at a meeting to be held on Monday next.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Get a 25-cent bottle of Danderrin at any drug store, pour a little into your hand and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of this awful scrub will have disappeared. Two or three applications will destroy every bit of dandruff; stop scalp itching and falling hair.

FUNERAL YESTERDAY.—The funeral of the late Mrs. James took place yesterday afternoon from her late residence, Bannerman Street, and was largely attended. The burial service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Clayton, of St. Thomas's who also officiated at the graveside. Interment was at the Church of England Cemetery.

At the R. C. Cathedral.

Rev. Fr. Cox, S. J., occupied the pulpit at the R. C. Cathedral last night, and preached an eloquent and instructive sermon on the duty of man to his Creator. Before the sermon he made reference to the appointment of Rt. Rev. Monsignor Roche, as Archbishop, of St. John's, congratulating the new Archbishop on the great honour conferred on him, and also the people of St. John's on having one so much revered and beloved by them raised to the exalted position for which he was so eminently qualified. He exhorted the congregation to pray fervently for strength for their new leader, that with God's help he may long be spared to guide the affairs of the Archdiocese, over which he so ably presided as Administrator.

After the sermon the Te Deum was sung in thanksgiving for the blessing conferred on the Archdiocese, and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was imparted by Rev. Fr. Cox, S. J., to the large congregation present.

They Cured All Of His Troubles

WHAT NOVA SCOTIA FARMER SAYS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Just Why John A. Campbell Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills to Everybody who has Kidney Disease.
Hillsdale, N. S., Feb. 24. (Special).—I can recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to everybody suffering from Kidney Disease. These are the words of Mr. John A. Campbell, a well known and highly respected farmer living near here. Mr. Campbell suffered from Kidney Disease for three months. He used two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills with the result that he says emphatically, "Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of all my troubles."
It is well to note that Mr. Campbell says he was cured of his troubles. For when you cure the Kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills the result is new health and vigor all over the body. The Kidneys are the organs that strain all the impurities out of the blood. When the Kidneys are wrong they fail to do their work and the impurities remain in the blood, the circulation becomes clogged and the net result is lassitude and weakness all over the body. Dodd's Kidney Pills correct all this and give new life and energy all over the body.

St. Andrew's Club.

"How an English Railway Advertiser" was the subject of an interesting lecture given by Mr. Thorpe, of the Methodist College to the members of St. Andrew's Club last night. Mr. T. McNeil, Vice-President of the Club occupied the chair, and introduced the speaker who dealt with his subject in an interesting and instructive manner. The lecture was illustrated with maps showing the north eastern portion of England, including Hull, Scarborough, Whitby and Hartlepool. During the course of his remarks, Mr. Thorpe pointed out how the coal, iron and other industries of the places, as well as their historical associations were used by railway companies to attract visitors.
At the close a vote of thanks, moved by Mr. M. Parsons and seconded by Mr. J. A. Garmichael was accorded the lecturer for his interesting discourse.

FOR A BAD COLD

The surest way to stop a cold is to liven the liver and cleanse the bowels, and the nicest cathartic to do this is a 10-cent box of Cascarella. Take one or two Cascarets to-night and your cold may be gone by morning.

"OURS" IN THE WEST END.

Crowded out to the doors at each performance. The pictures are fine and were loudly applauded last night. "The Spirit of the Orient" with Marjorie Costello and Clara Kinhal Young in the leading role; "Arizona Sheriffs" in two reels had the house thrilled with excitement, and several others. The little vocalist in beautiful costume, sang a dainty telephone song much to the delight of the crowd. The West End patrons must not forget the great benefit on Friday, 26th of Feb. Every penny turned in for bread for the city poor. The benefit is under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency the Governor and Lady Davidson. Rally round, friends, Toll For the Brave.

The fishermen of Newfoundland have been called upon to pay a heavy toll to the sea during the past ten or eleven months. Of the four great disasters two were met in the course of industrial service and two in naval service. The conditions to which the ice crew of the S.S. Newfoundland were subjected caused the death of 78 of our sealers and crippled others. The storm of the same day, the fatal 31st of March sent 173 stalwart sealers to a watery grave. These were the toll of a hazardous occupation on the icefields and at sea, and were by far the most serious losses the country has been called upon to face. We have now begun to feel the losses of the war and these losses have struck Newfoundland in proportion to its population far more seriously than the war losses sustained by other Dominions across the sea.

In the S.S. Viknor Newfoundland lost twenty-six of her young fishermen and now comes the news that twenty more of our brave sailor boys were aboard the missing H.M.S. Clan MacNaughton, which has not been heard of since February 3rd. A search for her has been unsuccessful, but wreckage has been found supposed to belong to her. The disappearance of both ships are mysteries of the sea. It is not known whether they struck mines, were torpedoed by German submarines, or went down in storms, or how they were lost. According to information in the possession of the Daily News, two of the crew from Newfoundland are known. Their names are William G. Dyer of Logy Bay, and Thomas Knight, son of Wm. and Annie Knight of Pleasant Street, St. John's. The latter have four other sons fighting for the Empire. Both of these naval reservists were in the contingent which left by the Carthaginian. These forty-six heroes of the sea have given their lives that the rest of us might enjoy the peace of our homes, the liberty of our laws and that the British flag may continue to float over us, and there are 2,000 Newfoundlanders more who have volunteered to face the same hazard for the same cause. All honor to those who have already made the sacrifice and to those ready for it, and all consideration of sympathy and aid is due to the dependents left behind.

LEAKING BADLY IN MID-OCEAN—RETURNING TO HALIFAX.

At 9 o'clock this morning Mr. Geo. Shea, the Agent here for the Allan Line Company, received the accompanying wireless, via Cape Race, from Captain Hatherly of the R.M.S. Mongolian:—"Returning to Halifax, noon yesterday, one thousand miles off; No. 1 and No. 2 holds leaking badly; keeping water under control." As will be remembered this is the second mishap that the Mongolian has had within a very short time. Three weeks ago she left here for Glasgow on her final trip for the season. Scarcely was she clear of the Narrows when she got jammed and after being icebound three days returned and on coming in the harbor struck "Ruby" rock, punched a hole near the bow on the starboard side below the water line. Repairs were made from the inside of the ship and she left here again on Thursday last, a week ago. From the tenor of the message, the ship steamed at the average rate of a little over half speed, notwithstanding that she had ice to contend with on this coast. It may be mentioned that special pumps were installed on the ship before leaving this port and, we learn, that no fears need be entertained about coping with the influx of water in No. 1 and No. 2 holds. We may add that over two hundred Newfoundlanders are on board.

Davidson Lodge held a most successful and interesting entertainment at the Oddfellows' Hall Wednesday evening. Every seat in the Lodge Room was occupied while many had to remain standing. The Worthy Mistress, Mrs. Bessie Thistle, presided with dignity and grace. The program was creditably rendered, each performer receiving well merited applause, especially the patriotic songs by Miss Langmead and Mr. Hatcher, which called forth the greatest enthusiasm. The address of the Hon. R. A. Squires was one of his best and was well worth the entrance fee. From exordium to peroration he held his audience spell-bound. After a few remarks with reference to the Association and its aims and objects, he launched forth with one of those patriotic addresses for which he is famous, and his reference to the volunteers, many of whom were present, brought his hearers to the highest pitch of excitement and loyalty. At the conclusion of the program, refreshments were served by the ladies of the Lodge.

Not "Sedition in India"

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—The question which the public would like to have solved is, Where is Singapore? The Daily News in its edition to-day, as well as yesterday, refers to the riot among the Indian regiment at Singapore as "Sedition in India." Now, Mr. Editor, my geography teaches me that Singapore is a cooling station in the Malay Straits, south of Borneo and the Malay Peninsula, and is therefore not part of India. The whole world knows, and Germany knows to her cost, of the splendid loyalty of India, and a riot which takes place in a regiment in an isolated foreign station (over promotions, as the official message states) should not be advertised as "Sedition in India," and so give the people a wrong impression. Yours, etc., LOYALTY. St. John's, Feb. 25th, 1915.

Concert at Fox Harbor

A school concert held here on the 15th inst. under the capable management of Mrs. A. Bruce (who taught school here previous to enlisting in the matrimonial ranks a short time ago) was socially and financially a splendid success. The new and spacious school hall was literally packed. The efforts of our amateur players would do credit to professionals, that they were highly appreciated was testified by the spontaneous and hearty applause evoked. Fox Harbor has earned the reputation of producing excellent entertainments, hence many people from outlying settlements were in attendance on this occasion. The proceeds, which soared beyond most sanguine expectations, were informed, will go to pay off the debt on the school-building. COM. Fox Hr., P.B., Feb. 18th, 1915.

Four German Ships.
Four German ships sailed out to sea—
Ho, bullies, heave a pawl!—
With turrets clear and tompons free
And shotted guns and all;
With a shell for Poll and a shell for Jane
Which isn't the game for you and me,
But is the German way.

Four German ships turned tall
again—
Ho, bullies, heave a pawl!—
When they found they had to fight with men.
Which wasn't their game at all;
With a shell for church and a shell for school.
And a shell for anyone,
But never a shell for an English ship
When there's room to out and run.

Four German ships set out to fight—
Ho, bullies, heave a pawl!—
And they choose the dark, for they hate
the light,
Which isn't strange at all;
With a shell for mate and a shell for age
And a shell for the baby's bed,
But never a shell to stop our way
When we crossed their bows with lead.

One German ship is down below—
Ho, bullies, heave a pawl!—
And we drummed the rest ere we let them go.
For they raced us after all;
With a shell for this and a shell for that
And a shell for the kids at play,
But never a shell to hold us back—
That isn't the German way.

Germany's Offer

FOR ITALY'S PARTICIPATION.

Rome, Feb. 15.—The Idea Nazionale, a newspaper published in the interests of the Nationalist party, in its issue of to-day, publishes a forecast of German proposals to Italy which reads as follows:
"Before the end of February Prince Von Buelow, the German Ambassador to Italy, will present to the Italian Government a concrete proposal for Italian participation in the war on the side of Germany."

"This consists of the cession of Austria of the Province of Trent and the retification of the Eastern Italian frontier by the addition of a strip of land going as far as the Isonzo River."

"In addition Germany will pledge herself to conclude a new treaty with Italy, which will afford protection to Italy's Mediterranean interests."

"In exchange Italy is to take part at once in the war. She will occupy Tunis and help Turkey drive the English from Egypt, which will return under the dominion of the Sultan of Turkey."

"In addition the Italian fleet will attack the Anglo-French naval forces in the Mediterranean."

Continuing, the paper says that Prince von Buelow, referring to Trieste, made this statement: "It is impossible to give Trieste to Italy, because this seaport is the lung, not of Austria, but of Germany."

At the conclusion of one of his conversations with the Italian statesman Prince von Buelow, according to this newspaper, made use of this phrase: "Either Italy will be friendly toward us or we will treat her worse than we are treating England."

FIGHTER AND FARMER.

The warrior in armor is slaying fellow men, the while the peaceful farmer goes forth to plow again. All through the day the farmer is wasting shot and shell, and making Europe warmer than the gates of Hannibal. Mo. And all day long the letter is wrestling with the soil, and makes the welkin clatter with sounds of useful toil. The farmer cleans his horses, and gathers luscious eggs, the soldier's making corpses, and wounding people's legs. The farmer fills his mangers with good and wholesome hay, the soldier butchers strangers for thirteen cents a day. The farmer or "sets" his biddy, and leads a useful life, the soldier leaves a widow where was a happy wife. The farmer prows the nation and builds the smiling town, the soldier earns his ration by burning buildings down. The man who lives on danger, and leaves a trail of woe, looks cheap beside the stranger, whose weapon is the hoe. The soldier with his sabre should be ashamed to meet the peaceful man who labors to raise the corn and wheat.

Great Bread Benefit at Rossley's.

On Friday, the monster benefit takes place to buy bread for the poor of the City, and it is to be hoped that the public rally round and make it worth while; they will get their money's worth without a doubt, and help the poor at the same time. When Mr. Rossley gives a benefit he gives it right and gives it all, not taking out of expenses for this and that, but turns over the whole amount. There will be the string band from H.M.S. Calypso, who have kindly volunteered their services; Mr. Collier and Mr. Lloyd, comic singers, Rossley's pantomime troupe, Jack and Marie Rossley in one of their old time favorites, Joe Burkhardt, Bonnie Rossley and others, about thirty splendid turns. It is all under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency the Governor and Lady Davidson.

McMurdo's Store News.

THURSDAY, Feb. 25, 1915.
McMurdo's Cough Cure is well suited for ordinary coughs and colds, especially where there is much bronchial irritation, or a great deal of mucus. It is pleasant to take, and does not affect the appetite or upset the digestion. It is well worth while to try it. Price 25c a bottle.
Fer Bravais is a highly concentrated iron tonic in a form which can be easily assimilated, and which is put up in a very palatable and convenient form. It is useful in anemia, loss of appetite, and general debility, and also during convalescence from acute diseases. Price 75c a bottle containing about 6 weeks treatment.

Our Volunteers.

Volunteers to the number of 1,206 have enlisted with the Second Contingent to date, the following having joined the ranks yesterday:
Patk Hogan, Thorburn Road.
John White, Bay Bulls Big Pond.
Jerry Grove, Leo Bay.
Thos. J. Gosse, Leo Bay.
Bert G. Hanz, Wesleyville.
Ggo. P. Simms, St. Anthony.
Lenton Simms, St. Anthony.
Robt. Upward, Hairy's Harbor.
The different platoons had skirmishing drill yesterday morning, and in the afternoon there was company drill at Government House grounds. No. 8 Platoon spent the afternoon at rifle practice at the Southside Range, and last night another squad had practice at the Highlanders' Armory. Before dismissing the men yesterday Capt. Ayre furnished them with printed instructions regarding the handling and care of a rifle. The instructions also contained diagrams dealing with correct aim. The instructions will be read out and explained from time to time, and the men will study the same while off duty.

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

"When one is invited to dinner how soon before the dinner hour should he arrive?" asked James.
"When invited to dinner you should arrive about ten minutes before the hour set and not more than five minutes thereafter in case you cannot arrive before the hour," answered his father.

Interesting Lecture.

Capt. Abram Kean lectured to a large and appreciative audience at Wesley Church Basement last night. The chair was occupied by Mr. J. Whiteway who briefly introduced the lecturer.
Capt. Kean then began his discourse and for over an hour dealt interestingly with the motives that animated the lives of great men from the early time of the Jewish people right up to the present day. The lecturer also made particular reference to the Motherland in defending her national honor during the present great struggle.
During the evening a programme of vocal and instrumental selections was given by Misses Barnes and Tucker, Messrs. S. J. Tucker, W. Tucker, P. H. Cowan, F. J. Chislett and Rev. H. Royle who presided at the organ.
At the close a vote of thanks proposed by Mr. W. H. Pike and seconded by Mr. R. Cross was accorded the lecturer by acclamation. The singing of the National Anthem brought the enjoyable evening to a close.

Where Charity Begins —and Ends.

By RUTH CAMERON.

One of my letter friends writes me that she believes that sympathy with the Belgians, expressed in charity, can be carried too far. She cites the case of a woman who has striven for years to keep her children in school. This last winter she has been forced to give up the battle, because the people who formerly helped her now help the Belgians.

Now I feel for the mother. But I also feel for the Belgians. I wonder if, by any chance the people who withdrew their kindly aid from the former and tendered it to the latter, are in the same category as a man I know of.

The Poor Rich Man.

This man is the head of a big corporation. He was approached last winter by an acquaintance who wanted him to subscribe toward a fund she herself was raising to buy flour for the Belgians. She was giving time and energy, as well as money, toward the project.

"Well," said the great man, "Of course what you say about suffering is true. But if I give to the Belgians, who is going to go without? I give to such and such (naming half a dozen, personal or organized charities). Which would you advise me to cut down?"

He thought of course, that he had scored a point. All the charities named were quite worthy. To turn the money he usually devoted to their assistance to some other purpose would most assuredly work hardship. And he leaned back and smiled, quizzically. He had put his applicant in a hole.

He Never Thought of Denying Himself of Anything.

Shame upon him! Here was a millionaire—for he is all of that and more—who has his costly home, his fine food, his automobiles, whose wife has jewelry worth thousands and thousands of dollars. Yet so narrow was his vision of charity that he could not see how he could give money in a time of unparalleled suffering without taking it from some other charity. He could not take a penny that would spell a moment of comparative self-denial to himself and devote it to the Belgians. In fact he never even thought of that.

I say that the people who are taking the ten dollars that formerly purchased some poor old woman's coal for the winter and are giving it to the Belgians instead are not practicing real charity. They are simply being charitable at somebody else's expense.

One Way Out.

If the terrible suffering of the Belgian women or the Belgian babies make you feel so uncomfortable (as I hope they do) that you feel you must send something, do so, by all means. But instead of withdrawing your assistance from someone who needs it as much now as ever, make this new charity, for which there is greater need than the world has ever known before, real charity by depriving yourself, and not somebody who depends upon you.

Give not what you usually do—but all you can!

Ruth Cameron

FRESH CHILLED HALIBUT, etc.

Things Seldom Just "Happen."

There are sound reasons if you look for them. Homestead Tea is as distinctive in cup quality as it is in name. This didn't just "happen." The reason is that in Homestead we use a proportion of the rich, strong teas of Northern India—teas grown in the district of Assam, where the tea bush is said to have had its origin. These teas when blended with the finer sorts of Ceylon teas give that rich strength and pleasing flavour possessed by Homestead.

In Milady's Boudoir.

By GWEN SEARS.

TIRED TANGO FEET.

Are you a tango fan? Almost everyone is now-a-days, so it really does not excite resentment or even disapproval, if you truthfully admit it, Milady.

But your feet—your poor suffering, mite little feet that glide you about on the hard polished floors while you smile and coquette in your most engaging manner. Do you ever reward them and remember their service to you?

Have you a little heart for the pedal extremities and perhaps they will serve you even more gracefully and graciously during the mad whirl of the winter dancing.

It is the height of folly for a woman to crowd her hapless feet into slippers which are a size too small in length or width.

And what is the result when vanity rules out common sense? Death to grace, awkwardness, limping and a tortured, tell-tale expression which even the most seductive smile cannot eliminate. If you observe the feet of professional dancers you will note that they are not as small as you fondly imagined them to be. On the contrary, while shapely, they are long and narrow.

No one can dance comfortably and gracefully on weak ankles. Ankles that turn without the slightest warning often result in embarrassing sprains for the dancer.

A simple exercise that should be taken night and morning with clock-like regularity is to rise on the toes, going as high as possible, remaining there for a count of five and then gradually lowering to the floor. Repeat from ten to twenty times.

This movement develops strength and endurance in the muscles and bones. Another splendid exercise is to raise one foot off the floor, relaxing all the muscles and shaking it from the ankles as though it were lifeless. This also makes for balance.

Another movement to make for bodily poise and to strengthen the ankles is to assume the position of a flying cupid, thrusting the body forward at a sharp angle. The weight is thrown on one foot, while the other is raised some distance off the floor, the arms outstretched to make for the requisite balance.

The Rev. W. P. Kitchin, Ph.D., will lecture in the Star Club Rooms on Thursday evening, at 8.30, on "Louvain in History and Remembrance." Admission 10 cents. Proceeds for clerical students' fund. Everybody welcome.—Feb 23, 31 shells fell in different blocks of the city. What was left of the Cathedral seriously suffered from this renewed bombardment. The interior of the dome, which had resisted up till now, has foundered. About 20 civilians were killed, and 20 houses are in flames. East of the Argonne between Mailincourt and the Meuse our artillery discovered the position of a German battery and blew up its caissons. On the rest of the front there is nothing to report.

RIO CASUALTIES.

LONDON, Feb. 24.
A communication issued last night by the Colonial Office, gives the casualties in the Singapore riot as 35 killed, including six officers and 15 men of the local native forces and 14 residents of Singapore. The Colonial Office says that some of the rioters were killed and that a large number surrendered or were captured.

SEDITION IN SINGAPORE.

MANILLA, Feb. 24.
Four hundred members of the mutinous Indian regiment, which revolted at Singapore, were killed, as well as seven German prisoners from the detention camp, who joined the natives, when offered their freedom. According to reports of the uprising brought here by passengers from Singapore, the mutineers are said to have killed all their officers, save the Colonel, then attacked civilians, several of whom were killed including one woman. The revolt began without warning. Half the Fifth Light Infantry of Bengalis, on their way to Egypt, numbering 500, suddenly attacked and subdued the other half. Reports brought here are to the effect that the rebellious troops killed some of their comrades, except the officers including natives. They then attacked the houses of civilians, killed the men but sparing the women and children, who sought refuge on the transport Nile, lying in the harbor. The mutineers offered freedom to all Germans in the detention camps who would join them. Only seven of the prisoners accepted this proposal, the others preferring to remain where they were. Half the regiment, which remained loyal, soon organized itself and started to attack the mutinous troops. They were joined by Europeans of all ages, who offered their services as volunteers. In the running fight which followed, four-fifths of the revolting Indians are said to have been killed, and it is believed only about 100 now remain in the country around Singapore. The troops, which were reinforced on the following day by sailors landed from French, British and Japanese warships. The revolt began at a time when there were no war vessels in port. Other reports received here from Singapore are to the effect that there are rumors of unrest among the natives in Rangoon, Colombo and Java.

ANOTHER BRITISH DISASTER.

LONDON, Feb. 24.
The Press Bureau gave out the following announcement: The Secretary of the Admiralty regrets to announce that H.M.S. Clan MacNaughton, an armed merchant cruiser, commander Robert Jeffreys, has been missing since Feb. 3, and it is feared the vessel has been lost. An unsuccessful search has been made, and wreckage, supposed to be portions of this ship, has since been discovered. The last signal received from her was made on the morning of Feb. 3, and it is feared she was lost during the bad weather which prevailed at that time. The Clan MacNaughton was built at Glasgow in 1911. She has been in the Indian service, for she reached London from Calcutta on Nov. 4th last year. She was owned by Cayzen Irvine and Co., of Glasgow. Two hundred and eighty lives were lost when she went down. Among her crew were 20 men of the Newfoundland Royal Naval Reserve. Twenty officers and two hundred and sixty men were on board. She was commanded and her principal officers belonged to the Royal Navy. The others to the Royal Naval Reserve.

BERLIN SAYS CARIB'S CREW SAFE.

BERLIN, Feb. 24.
A despatch received from the American Vice-Consul at Bremerhaven, declares that all members of the crew of the American steamer Carib, reported yesterday as having sunk in the North Sea, have been saved. It is understood she struck a mine in the Bight of Helgoland on Feb. 22.

SMALL STEAMER TORPEDOED.

EASTBOURNE, Feb. 24.
The steamer Roy Perana was sunk off this port to-day. It is believed she was torpedoed. The crew of 31 was saved. Maritime records make no mention of the Roy Perana, which was a small coasting steamer. Eastbourne is in the English Channel, in which German submarines have been particularly active since the naval war zone was established by Germany.

ANOTHER BRITISH SHIP TORPEDOED.

DOVER, Feb. 24.
The British steamer Oakley, of West Hartlepool, was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine in the English Channel, off Folkestone, to-day. The crew landed. The Oakley was not far from the Folkestone pier when she was attacked, indicating that German submarine attacks are becoming more bold. The Oakley was destroyed in the lane used by British transports crossing the Channel from Folkestone.

ANOTHER TORPEDOED.

NEWHAVEN, Eng., Feb. 24.
Eighteen members of the crew of the Cardiff steamer Branksome Chine, a Government collier, were landed here. The vessel was torpedoed in the English Channel, 20 miles south-east of Beachy Head. The men say the captain and mate of the steamer are standing by the vessel which is badly damaged. All hope of the vessel has been abandoned, as she should have reached Dover several hours ago, if she had managed to keep afloat.

GERMAN SUBMARINE SUNK.

PARIS, Feb. 24.
The French Minister of Marine announced to-day receipt of definite information that the German submarine which attacked the Channel steamer Victoria on Monday night, was later sunk by a French torpedo boat. The submarine is believed to be the U-16 which had been attacking merchant ships in the Channel all the week. She was sunk off Cape Allbrech near Boulogne.

THREE AVIATORS MISSING.

LONDON, Feb. 24.
Three aviators, who took part in the raid directed against the German positions in Belgium, are missing, according to a statement issued to-night by the Official Bureau.

GERMANY'S LOSSES.

PARIS, Feb. 24.
At least 500,000 men were lost by Germany in their attack on the Russian positions on the Rawka River and in the region of Borjimev and Gumbinnen, according to Ludevic Naudean, a journal correspondent, who witnessed the operations. He considers the situation highly favorable to the Russians, and says the Germans are being gradually, but implacably, worn down. Whether their attack or merely defend themselves, their armies melt away from day to day. Their feverish activity and their frightful sacrifice of lives show they realize they are fighting against time.

GERMAN EAST AFRICA BLOCKADED.

PARIS, Feb. 24.
The Governments of France and Britain have caused notice to be served on the Governor of German East Africa of a naval blockade, beginning Feb. 28th. Four days' notice will thus be allowed to neutral ships, in which to leave the blockade zone.

ITALY CAUSING ANXIETY.

BERLIN, Feb. 24.
A sudden change in the feeling concerning the attitude of Italy, has been noticeable in diplomatic quarters here during the last few days. The position of Italy appears to have become a matter of much greater concern. The reason for this change is not clear at this time.

LORD BEREFORD'S PROPOSAL.

FOOD CARGO CAPTURED.

MONTEVIDEO, Feb. 24.
The German steamer Gatha, loaded with provisions for the German auxiliary cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm, has been captured by a British cruiser, according to reliable advices, and taken to the Falkland Islands.

RESULTS OF BLOCKADE.

LONDON, Feb. 24.
The German blockade of the British Isles has been effective for a week with the result that so far as is known two Norwegian, one French and five British steamers have been sunk or torpedoed by submarines, with the surprisingly small loss of four lives. Two of these steamers, the Belridge and Dinorah, succeeded in reaching port. On the other side of the account, it is reported that two German submarines are missing, and that a third had been hit and possibly sunk by a French destroyer. Besides these vessels which fell victims to submarines, two American and one Norwegian steamer have been sunk by mines in the North Sea. The Swedish steamer Spela and one or two British steamers are overdue, and it is feared they have been lost with their crews. In almost every case the steamer sunk by the submarine was a small, slow vessel. At least three steamers were caught while at anchor, or while they were barely under way. This, with the failure of the submarine to hit a fast Cross-Channel steamer at which it fired a torpedo apparently proves to the satisfaction of the British naval writers that steamers with moderate speed, which observe precautions, can invariably escape underwater craft. The blockade however, has had the effect of increasing the insurance rates, and some owners are keeping their ships in neutral waters. With conditions such as these the public both in England and neutral countries are naturally curious as to the latest proposal of the American Government to Britain and Germany, of which little has been allowed to leak out either in London or Berlin, and also to the Allies reply to the German's blockade. In addition to the loss of the above-mentioned merchantmen, the British Admiralty has been impelled to give up hope for the armed steamer Clan MacNaughton, which has not been heard from since Feb. 3rd.

STRUCK A MINE.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch to Lloyd's Agency from Newhaven: say that the steamer Rio Parana, of London, with coal, bound from the Tyne to Porto Ferrajo, island of Elba, struck a mine five miles southeast of Beachy Head on Wednesday afternoon. The explosion tore a hole in the vessel's starboard side. She filled and sank. The crew were rescued by a torpedo boat and landed at Newhaven.

HARPALION TORPEDOED.

NEWHAVEN To-day. The British steamer Harpalion, from London for Newport News, without a cargo, has been torpedoed off Beachy Head. She was struck amidships. Three of a crew of Chinamen were killed. Two others were badly scalded. Forty-one members of the crew were landed here. The steamer Harpalion was owned by J. C. Harrison, Ltd., of London. She was built at West Hartlepool in 1910. She registered 5,867 tons gross and was commanded by Capt. Pope.

ORDERS TO TAKE NO PRISONERS.

LONDON, To-day. Message of Sympathy.

February 25, 1915. The Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir, I beg to enclose herewith telegram from the Secretary of State to His Excellency the Governor, which I shall be glad if you will insert in your issue to-day, for public information.

Yours truly, J. R. BENNETT, Colonial Secretary.

Code Telegram (No. 313) from Secretary of State (received 23 February, 1915).

To Governor, Newfoundland. Herewith my telegram 1st February. Admirably desire to express their sincere sympathy with the Colony of Newfoundland on the lamented loss of twenty-five noble lives of Newfoundland Royal Naval Reservists who were serving on H. M. S. Vektor when she foundered.

HARCOURT.

Dynamite Discovered in Highlanders' Armoury.

Between 7 and 7.30 o'clock on Tuesday evening, a parcel containing twelve sticks of dynamite, an equivalent to about four pounds weight of explosive, was found in the Armoury of the Newfoundland Highlanders, on King's Road.

The explosives were first discovered by a man named Lynch, caretaker of the drill shed. They were concealed behind a door near the place the volunteers engage at musketry practice and adjoining the non-commissioned officers' room. At the time the principal officers of the brigade were holding a meeting in another room at the rear of the building. Caretaker Lynch immediately reported the discovery to Adjutant C. Henderson who in turn showed them to Captain J. J. McKay, who placed the matter in the hands of the police. Detectives Byrne and Tobin took charge of the dynamite and arrested the foreigner, we alluded to yesterday.

Last night Byrne and Tobin got in touch with a thirteen year old boy named Leopold Calais, who lives almost directly opposite the Highlanders' Armoury on King's Road. The boy told the detectives that he picked up the twelve sticks of dynamite on the vacant piece of land situated between King's Road and Flavin Street. He then got a newspaper at a nearby printing office, put the explosives into it and hid the parcel in the drill shed on Tuesday morning. He says that he was going to go back for the explosives the same night. The boy was detained in custody.

FORBIGNER RELEASED.

The foreigner arrested as an alien suspect was released today, an interpreter having established to the satisfaction of the authorities that he is a Russian and not a German as suspected.

St. Vincent de Paul Collection.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—At the meeting of the Sub-Committee yesterday to devise ways and means of assisting the poor of the city, Mr. C. W. Ryan announced that the St. Vincent de Paul had proposed making its annual collection in a few days, and asked whether they should do so in view of the possibility of another collection in the near future. The Sub-Committee were unanimously of the opinion that the St. Vincent de Paul Society should make its collection as usual, and trusted that it would receive the fullest support of the public.

Yours truly, W. G. GOSLING.

Fanny Crosby.

BLIND WRITER OF HYMNS, DEAD
Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 12.—Fanny Crosby, well-known blind hymn-writer, died to-day at her home in her 95th year.

Her death was not unexpected, as her health had been failing for some time. At her bedside were her niece Mrs. Henry D. Booth and other members of the family, with whom she had made her home for years. Although her health had become more feeble, especially within the past few months, Miss Crosby did not stop her work, but continued writing hymns up to within a short time of her death. Eight thousand hymns of Christian worship sung in Protestant churches throughout the world, are the work of Fanny Crosby. No one since the days of Charles Wesley or Isaac Watts has made anywhere near as large a contribution to the gospel song book as did the blind writer whose death occurred to-day.

Fanny's Crosby's name was signed so regularly as author of one hymn after another that the hymn book makers of a quarter of a century ago were forced to give her some 200 different pen names to make it appear that someone beside the famous writer had contributed. Thousands—perhaps hundreds of thousands—who sang her songs, which were translated into every language, did not know that it was a blind woman's inspiration which they employed to express their Christian faith and hope in song.

"Saved by Grace," "Blessed Assurance," "Rescue the Perishing," and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" are typical of Fanny Crosby's most popular religious verses.

Fanny Crosby did not begin hymn-writing until she was over 40 years of age. Fifty years ago she was best known for her popular melodies, which were whistled all over the country, such as "Proud World, Good-by, I'm Going Home," "Hazel Dell," "The Honeysuckle Glen," and "Never Forget the Dear Ones."

Born in Putnam County, New York State, March 24, 1820, christened Frances Jane Crosby, and married to Alexander Van Alstyne, a blind music teacher, who died many years ago, the blind writer lived to be nearly 95 years old. Her mother had lived to be 102, and her grandmother to be 106. She retained to the last all her faculties, excepting eyesight. She lost this during a fever in infancy when a hot poultice was applied to her eyes, destroying the optic nerve.

At eight years the little girl displayed her first talent in versification by this philosophy of contentment: Oh, what a happy soul am I;

Although I cannot see; I am resolved that in this world Contented I will be.

How many blessings I enjoy,
That other people don't,
To weep and sigh because I'm blind,
I cannot, and I won't.

For twelve years she studied at the New York institution for the Blind. She never learned to read by the raised letters. Playing the guitar while a child she so calloused her fingers that they were never sensitive enough to read the raised characters. All she learned she memorized from hearing. During her connection with the institution, which included an additional 12 years as a teacher, she travelled all over the country declaiming her own verses.

Food High in London.

London, Feb. 4.—In view of the increasing cost of food, which is due almost entirely to high freight rates, and the congestion of goods at the docks, members of the Corporation of Glasgow, Liverpool and other cities in the Kingdom, to-day proposed the passage of resolutions for the framing of a petition to the Government in favour of government control of food-stuffs and coal and the shipping services. While the resolution was defeated, those present at the meeting expressed strong views that immediate action by the Government was necessary as wheat, flour and coal are daily increasing in price.

113 BRITISH SHIPS SUNK SAITS HAMBURG.

Berlin, Feb. 12.—Among the statements given out for publication to-day by the Overseas Agency, were the following items:

"Contrary to British reports that since the beginning of the war only 1 per cent. of the British merchant ships have been sunk, Hamburg ship owners state that 113 ships of 308,000 tons, or about 4 per cent. of the British commercial navy, have been destroyed.

"The Prussian minister of agriculture stated to a newspaper correspondent that Germany was assured of a supply of food and would be able to continue the war longer than France or Russia."
