THE BOOK OF BOOKS

(From a Lecture delivered at Bath, England, by Prebendary Kemble.)

After remarking on the various objections against the credibility of the Bible he proceeds :

And first, as regards the purity of the text. A few years ago the idea found favour with many, that the text in its transit through many centuries had become so corrupt that it was not safe to lay any stress on words, and that it was very doubtful if we really had a moderately faithful transcript of the original writings. Various principles were laid down for testing the text. Thousands of emendations were suggested, with a view of bringing the text of the New Testament to its original form. But the mature scholarship and patient investigation applied of late to this branch of Biblical study, has tended to justify, to a very considerable extent, the confidence reposed in the received text of the New Testament. In Tischendorf's seventh edition of the New Testament, he has abandoned many of the readings preferred in his earlier editions, and returns to those of the received text. In St. Matthew's gospel alone he does so in more than a hundred instances. Access has been obtained to MSS. of an early date within very recent times, and these furnish most important testimony to the general accuracy of our received text ; and the differences that are found in the oldest manuscripts and versions we possess are of the most trifling character. Bishop Wordsworth writes : "The verbal discrepancies of the MSS. of the New Testament are so slight and trivial as scarcely to be of any account ;" and he proceeds to argue that "these discrepancies being such as they are found to be, are of inestimable value. They show that there has been no collusion among our witnesses, and that our MS. copies of the Gospels, about 500 in number, and brought from all parts of the world, have not been mutilated nor interpolated with any sinister design ; that they have not been tampered with by any religious sect, for the sake of propagating any private opinion as to the word of God. These discrepancies are, in fact, evidences of the purity and integrity of the sacred text. They show that the Scriptures which we now hold in our hands in the nineteenth century are identical with those which were received by the Church in the first century, as written by the Holy Ghost." The publication of the English Testament, in which the variations of the Alexandrian, the Vatican, and the Sinaitic manuscripts are noted, furnishes a valuable means to the English reader of judging of their importance, and thence of the accuracy of the received text. These attacks made on Christianity, through the supposed impurity and unfaithfulness of its sacred books, are met to an extent that had been impossible a few years ago. The careful investigations of Tischendorf, and the discovery and publication of the Sinaitic Manuscript, have restored our sacred books to a position from which for a time they had been thrown down.

But evidence has also been brought to the confirmation of Scripture as to its historical and topographical statements, at a time when such evidence was peculiarly needed. The visits paid to the giant cities of Bashan, the disentanglement of the records of Assyria, the discovery of an inscribed stone in Moab, have wrung from the very stones, testimony to the veracity of Holy Writ. Sargon was a name unknown in ancient history as an Assyrian king, except in the book of Isaiah. But the discovery of Assyrian memorials has confirmed Isaiah's historical truthfulness, mentioning Sargon as an Assyrian king. The revolt of Moab under Mesha (2 Kings iii. 4, 5.) is confirmed by the Moabite stone just named. Cylinders discovered in Lower Babylon, and read in 1854, relieve the Book of Daniel of some of its historical difficulties. Belshazzar is found to have been co-equal with his father, Nabonidus or Labynetus, so that when the post of third in the kingdom was offered to the interpreter of the handwriting, the intention was to place him next the throne, so for the discrepancy between the Gentile and Jewish historians, one having spoken of the death of the sovereign, the other of his escape, it is found that Belshazzar perished at the capture of Babylon, while his father, Nabonidus, in a neighbouring stronghold, survived. Of the Moabite stone it may be well to say, that it is an original historical document set up by Mesha, king of Moab, in the days of Ahab. It is an indirect incidental evidence of the truth of the Scriptures, an undesigned coincidence which served to justify the date assigned to some of the sacred writings, about which doubts had been expressed.

If we turn to the result of recent explorations of travellers in the East, we see that much has been effected toward elucidating the topography of the Holy City, and testing the accuracy of the descriptions given in Scripture of Jerusalem. The closer examination of Sirai has also demonstrated the possibility of the events recorded in Exodus taking place in the neighbourhood in which they are said to have occurred. If we pass to the region of scientific enquiry, we meet with testimony equally satisfactory, assuring, and reasonable. The progress of science has disproved not a few of the interpretations of Scripture that have been in former days accepted, but no statement of Scripture has itself been found false. It is not very long since the sea shells found on lofty eminences were adduced as evidences of the flood. Research and inquiry have shown that these were due to far other phenomena, of much more remote date, and that such a flood as Moses records, would probably leave no marks by which at this period we could trace it. The extent of the flood is also questioned, but believers in Scripture feel the veracity of the sacred records is unaffected by any such questions. The sacred record only requires the destruction of the human race, and that race at that period may have occupied but a comparatively narrow slip of earth's surface, while the universally spread tradition of a deluge confirms the account of the whole world being overspread by the descendants of the sons of Noah. The statements of science are far more startling than the accounts of miracles given by inspired writers, as for instance that the earth revolves on its axis at the rate of 600 miles an hour, and that it is passing through space at the rate of 63,000 miles an hour. Some were disposed to reject the facts of geology as utterly irreconcilable with revelation, and others to discard revelation as utterly discredited by the facts, but patient research has taught men that "he that believeth shall not make haste," that facts may displace preconceived notions, but the word of God standeth sure, and that, assuming the accuracy of successive geological hypotheses, they still may be harmonized with the statements of revelation.

The fields over which evidential literature has extended are so wide that time would fail were I to attempt to pay a transitory visit to all. But he is without excuse who suffers his doubts of the truth of Christianity to hold him back from faith, without a fair and full inquiry into the particular branch of knowledge on which his doubts grow. That the evidences should be such as by force to compel the judgment to yield, were a demand inconsistent with a system which demands the exercise of the faith of its adherents. "We walk by faith and not by sight." A physical demonstration—evidence that could leave no possibility of doubt—would leave no place for faith. What we have a right to expect is, such evidence as can satisfy reasonable scepticism, show that the facts faith is required to receive are not contrary to reason, nor irreconcilable with facts we know.

In conclusion, let me remind you of the one purpose for which the word of God has been given to man. It is not to teach science, to open out the secrets of nature, to furnish the annals of mankind, to satisfy the legitimate desire after knowledge implanted by God in man. It is to give the knowledge of salvation by faith in Christ Jesus. Should we find history falsified, or statements of the process of nature irreconcilable with well-ascertained facts, then the record would fail of its purpose of inspiring or confirming faith in its testimony to things unseen; rather would it impede and overturn faith, and leave the infidel well-nigh justified in his unbelief. But when we find prophecies fulfilled, historical allusions in the sacred writers verified, and a resurrection of witnesses from long-buried cities; when Assyria, and Babylon, and Moab, and Bashan, and Jerusalem, confront the sceptic with their material testimony; when science ratifies the statements of Solomon touching the circulation of the wind and the waters, and the declarations of Job, and of Amos, may we not say, "God is in the midst of her; she shall not be moved; God shall help her, and that right early!"

LONDON AUXILIARY BIBLE SOCIETY.

The Annual Meeting of this society was held on Friday, May 29th, in the City Hall, the President, the Bishop of Huron, in the chair. The platform was fully occupied by ministers of different denominations, amongst them the Revs. Dr. Cooper, J. Scott, Dean Boomer, W. H. Tilley, J. Smythe, D. Camelon, — Cox, R. W. Wallace, and several others. His Lordship called upon the Rev. W. H. Tilley to read a portion of scripture, and the Rev. Dr. Cooper to engage in prayer, after which the Chairman introduced the proceedings of the evening in a neat and forcible speech, adverting to the moral and religious effect the circulation of the Scriptures had upon the nations where circulated. He also spoke of the growing and extensive circulation of the Bible in different languages, and the liberality shown by the people in the support of this institution, by the immense amount subscribed. His Lordship made some pertinent remarks regarding the small attendance of citizens at the meetings of the society; and characterized the conduct of the absentees as un-Christianlike in every sense. Several speakers who followed him also adverted to this matter, and regretted the necessity for such remarks.

The Secretary, Mr. Natrass, read the report—which was happily much briefer than usual—showing that the society was in a prosperous and flourishing condition, and all its branches healthy.

The first resolution (referring to the adoption of the Report, and the election of officers and committee) was moved by the Rev. Dr. Cooper, seconded by Mr. Alfred Rowland.

President—The Right Rev. I. Hellmuth, D.D., Lord Bishop of Huron.

Vice-Presidents—Rev. J. Scott, Rev. Canon Innis, Rev. A. Kennedy, Rev. Dr. Cooper, Rev. Dr. Jeffers, Rev. D. Savage.

Secretary—Rev. J. Natrass.

Treasurer—L. Gibson.

Depositary—R. Hannah.

The second resolution was moved by the Ven. Dean Boomer, seconded by the Rev. D. Camelon, as follows:—That in these days of tendency to religious doubt and practical materialism, it is the duty of all who hold the Word of God to be the only solution of spiritual difficulty, and the only safe and true guide in this life, and for that which is to come, to seek to the utmost the diffusion of the Scriptures amongst the people of this and other lands.

The third resolution, as follows, was moved by the Rev. R. W. Wallace, seconded by the Rev. John Scott:—That we deeply rejoice at the measure of success which has attended the operations of the different Bible agencies throughout the world, in the many countries occupied, the numerous translations made, the immense numbers of copies circulated, and in the spiritual and social transformation wrought out under their influence, &c., &c.

His Lordship, before closing, threw out a suggestion, which it is hoped will be taken up and worked to a successful termination, viz.: that the ministers of the various denominations organize themselves into a society for the purpose of building and supporting a benevolent institution for the benefit of the sick, poor, and indigent of the community.—London Free Press.

Bible Society Recorder.

TORONTO, 15TH JULY, 1874.

THE QUARTERLY MEETING of the Board of Directors was held in the Board room on Tuesday, the 14th inst. The President, the Hon. G. W. Allan, occupied the chair. The Rev. W. H. Poole read a Psalm and offered prayer. After the confirmation of the minutes of the previous meeting, the Depository's statement of receipts and expenditure was read. The receipts for the quarter ending June 30th, showed an increase of $261.65 over the corresponding quarter of last year. The gratuities during the months of May and June (including a grant to the Central Prison) amounted to $95.19, and were confirmed. The names of several ministers, whose services as agents had been secured, were laid before the Board, and the Agency Committee was authorized to assign to them sections of the agency field. After reading a communication from the Rev. Dr. O'Meara, who is preparing a revised edition of his translation of the New Testament into the Ojibwa language, it was ordered that 50 copies be purchased for the Society's use.

A communication recently received by the President from the Permanent Secretary requesting the Board to accept his resignation, to date from the 14th of September next, was presented to the Board. On motion of the Rev. W. H. Poole, seconded by Warring Kennedy, Esq., it was accepted. At the above date Mr. Gemley will have filled the office of Permanent Secretary for five years. After the discussion of various matters of routine business the meeting was closed with prayer by the Rev. Wm. Reid, M.A., at 10.30 p.m.
