NEW YORK

SEAFOOD DISTRIBUTORS

Most retailers and restaurants look to the Fulton Fish Market as their source of supply. As mentioned before, the bulk of New York's seafood goes through the market. However, there are wholesalers handling fresh fish which operate in other locations in our area, and some of these firms are listed below. In most cases these firms are wholesalers except where indicated otherwise. While their ability to settle their accounts is not guaranteed, an effort has been made to select those firms which are reasonably good risks. In any event, all prospective suppliers should be cautioned to make the usual and customary credit investigations before goods are shipped.
