CANADIANS CHECK CRUSH OF VETERANS OF DOUAUMONT RUSSIANS FORCE AUSTRIANS TO RETREAT IN VOLHYNIA Germans Claim Capturing of Fort Vaux Before Verdun

CANADIANS, WAKE UP!

These are the most momentous days in the history of the world; they are the most momentous days in the history of Canada, of America.

Civilization is at stake; progressive government is at stake.

And yet we in Canada are thinking more of faction and of interests than we are thinking of the welfare of our nation, of humanity. Are we looking into these trenches in Europe or are we looking in another direction?

We are making charges against Liberals in regard to the Borden government's proposal to build dreadnaughts; Liberals are making counter-charges against the doings of the steel committee, identified with the Conservative party, and the manufacture of munitions!

Both sides and two governments are silent about the sickening fact that the German metal trust, acting thru American agents, control our nickel production, and have controlled it for ten years; have used and relied on it for the strengthening of Germany's ships, cannons, munitions. Canadian nickel is the backbone of the assassin now being made with so much destruction of the lives of our soldiers and sailors. The nickel trust is all powerful at Ottawa and Toronto. No attempt is being made to break it.

And it would seem that Canadians,

TRENCH WORKS MELTED UNDER GERMAN'S FIRE

Wounded Canadian Officer Said Ground Seemed to Be in Upheaval.

FOE USED BEST TROOPS

Wurttembergers, Veterans of Douaumont, Led Charge Against Canadians.

LONDON, June 7.—Several more Canadian officers wounded in the fighting after the first violent German onslaught have arrived in England. Hospital trains in all parts of the country are busy taking on board the rank and file of the less seriously hurt whose wounds, being comparatively slight, have permitted their being removed from the base hospitals in France.

The story of the fighting has in its broad outlines already been given. Those who have come back are naturally only able to give personal impressions of what happened in their immediate vicinity, and rather than speak of these impressions they are more eager by far to ply the intending questioner with questions as to the present condition of matters on the Canadian front. Nevertheless, when their questions have been answered they are able to give some realistic particulars as to what it was like to hear the fury of the drive made by hordes of Hun.

Trenches Melted Away.

Sealed like a bomb for a month and a half, which for a most experienced duty as an officers' hospital, a captain from the west gave an account of the violence of the drive in which some of General Hill's men participated.

You have some idea of what a front trench like this was like when it was a square," he said. "You know how walls are as firm as if they were cut out of granite and how sand-bags are about like a carpet of concrete and to most eyes just as immovable. Well we saw all this melt away. Down came tons of earth and big bulks of timber fell on our poor chaps while others just held on while the infernal business got hotter. The very ground at times seemed to be in an upheaval and you can imagine what our front line was like when the enemy artillery ceased their fire and their infantry moved up against the trench. It was a little left in the way of man power to stop them.

Col. Shaw's Heroism.

"Col. Shaw with no more than 150 men succeeded in drawing off his own men to support other trenches. A few minutes afterwards he was shot dead by a bullet thru the head.

"If further proof is needed to show that the enemy had made great preparations for last week's attack it may be found in the fact that the regiments employed against the Canadians were the 101st, 103rd and 104th Wurttembergers, who took part in the front fighting round Douaumont and Vimy Ridge. They had been in the rest for a few weeks and came up against the Canadians thoroughly fresh and fit, with new uniforms and officers. They were a splendid-looking set.

"On Saturday Canadians and with the French artillery, playing veritable havoc among the Germans, who were glad to withdraw at the time. Several captured trenches, the several sections of captured trenches, when the Canadians did move forward they found dead men by the score."

BERLIN REPORTS RESCUE OF BRITISH BLUEJACKETS

One Hundred and Seventy-Six Picked Up After Jutland Fight.

BERLIN, via London, June 7, 7:55 p.m.—The following official communication was issued today concerning rescues made by the German warships after the recent battle off Jutland:

"After the sea battle the German naval forces rescued from the battle cruiser Queen Mary one ensign and one man, from the battle cruiser Indefatigable two men, from the torpedo-boat destroyer Tipperary seven men, including two officers, six deck officers and 73 men, including six wounded; from the destroyer Nomad four officers and 68 men, including one officer and ten men wounded, and from the destroyer Turbulent 14 men, all of them wounded. These 176 men were saved by our small cruisers and torpedo boats."

RUSSIANS DRIVE AUSTRIANS FROM POWERFUL POSITIONS

Splendid Valor of Canadians Praised by Sir Julian Byng

High Courage Displayed at Zillebeke Made the Enemy Pay Dearly for Slight Penetration of Line.

Canadian Associated Press Cable.

LONDON, June 7.—The Canadian corps commander, Sir Julian Byng, sends the following message: "I am proud of the Canadians under my command. Their behavior has been magnificent. I have never known a fiercer or more deadly barrage, nor have I seen any troops fight with more earnestness, courage and cheerfulness. The slight penetration of our line cost the Germans dear."

Vast Quantities of Ammunition Captured in Development of Successes in Galicia, Bukovina and Volhynia—Czar Congratulates Troops.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.

LONDON, June 7.—Fifteen thousand additional prisoners were taken by the Russians in their offensive in Volhynia, Galicia and Bessarabia, since yesterday, the report bringing the totals up to 40,000 at noon Tuesday, according to an announcement of the Russian war office today. The Russians have also captured in all of their operations, 77 guns, 143 machine guns, and 49 bomb throwers.

The Austrians admit that their army in Volhynia has retreated before the Russian advance in an official statement issued at Vienna today. The statement says that they have retired from the upper Putilowski River to the Plain of Lunk.

The Austrians have given up announcements of winning successes over the Italians and it is supposed that troops are already in motion to the Russian front.

Successes Still Develop.

The Russian say that their successes in Galicia, Bukovina and Bessarabia continue to develop and that the total number of prisoners and trophies taken continues to increase. The 40,000 prisoners were taken before the beginning of the recent actions and Tuesday noon. A large quantity of arms and war material was captured. Batteries were captured intact with guns and limbers by the Russian infantry.

A message of praise and congratulation for their bravery has been sent to the army under Gen. Brusilov by the Emperor of Russia.

Story Kept Secret.

With the exception of the brief official communications regarding the new offensive movement, which are bare of details, almost no information has been received in regard to the new campaign of the Russians. It is believed conducted on a front of more than 150 miles, and although it has every indication of being a major operation, it has been permitted cable only the expected tactical effects of the move and other subsidiary features. It has been allowed to estimate the Austrian forces engaged, but not the Russian, placing the former at about 60,000 men.

Adopts Secrecy Policy.

The lack of information concerning the campaign probably is due to the policy of Gen. Brusilov, the Russian commander on this front. It has been reported that one of his first acts on assuming command was to send the newspaper correspondents back to Petrograd.

The Russian statement is as follows: "The success of our troops in Volhynia, Bukovina and Bessarabia are developing. The total number of prisoners and trophies captured in the fighting, which resulted in the enemy being obliged from his powerfully fortified positions, continues to increase.

Take Much Ammunition.

"Since the beginning of the recent actions until noon Tuesday, Gen. Brusilov's armies have captured 300 of more than 40,000 rank and file, 77 guns, 134 machine guns and 49 bomb throwers, and in addition searchlights, telephones, field kitchens, a large quantity of arms and war material and great reserves of ammunition.

A number of batteries were captured intact by our infantry with all their guns and limbers. In the recent fighting our troops had actual proof of the increase in our war material. The actions have strengthened our confidence that as this material develops the enemy's fortified lines will be more effectively destroyed.

The valor and dash of our troops were proved by the results achieved in only three days fighting. His majesty's supreme commander at 10 o'clock last night telegraphed from headquarters the following despatch congratulating the troops of Gen. Brusilov on the success attained:

Czar Praises Troops.

"I transmit to my well-beloved troops on the front under your command the news that I am following with satisfaction their brave deeds, and that I appreciate their bravery. Express to them my gratitude. May the good God assist us in our struggle for the triumph of our cause. I am convinced that all will hold firmly together and fight until the glorious end of the Russian arms.

(Signed) "Nicholas."

"Prudence does not permit the valiant battalions which fought some time with the loss of all their officers. It is equally impossible to publish the names of the fallen officers and soldiers who were wounded, or the localities where the combats occurred."

FORT VAUX TAKEN GERMAN CLAIM

French Assert Place Remained Theirs Yesterday Morning.

COMMUNICATION CUT

Unable to Obtain Word From Post During Bombardment.

Special Cable to The Toronto World.

LONDON, June 7.—In the fighting before Verdun today the French report that a very violent bombardment was directed against the German second lines from the region of Douaumont to Damoupy, and that by reason of the violence of that fire, it had not been possible to effect any communication with Fort Vaux since 3:50 o'clock this morning. The French also report that the Germans announced today that Fort Vaux fell into their power on the evening of June 6, and that on June 7, at the hour the violent bombardment began, they still retained the fort.

They also reported that about 8 o'clock yesterday evening the Germans directed a very violent attack upon Fort Vaux. The enemy was broken by their fire and was driven back in disorder, leaving numerous dead and wounded in the field of battle. The German artillery responded to the violence of that fire, it has been reported, and the bombardment of the fort and the surrounding region began and lasted all night and all day.

This statement received here claims that Fort Vaux, in all its parts, has been in German hands since last night. The enemy says that it was really stormed on June 2, and that the news was withheld until the remains of the French garrison were cleared out of some underground passages. Seven hundred un wounded prisoners, the enemy claims, were taken in this operation.

HE HAD LONG CONFERENCE WITH ASQUITH AND RUMORS SPREAD

NEWSPAPERS DIVIDED

Respective Qualifications of Milner and Lloyd George Advanced.

LONDON, June 8.—The choice of a successor to Lord Kitchener as secretary for war is touched on only lightly by the London morning papers. A news agency despatch, published without comment by several of the papers, says:

"There is reason to believe that an offer has already been conveyed to Field-Marshal Viscount French, who had a long conference with Premier Asquith yesterday."

The Graphic declares that the new war minister should be a civilian and expresses the opinion that the man whose appointment would give the most satisfaction is Lord Derby, former director of recruiting.

The Morning Post sticks to its nomination of yesterday of Lord Milner as the most suitable man.

The Times thinks that Earl Kitchener's successor should be a civilian, and says the name most prominently mentioned is Lord Lloyd George and Lord Milner. It adds:

"It would be a misfortune to put Mr. Lloyd George in a position where a departmental routine would take up such a large part of his time. Lord Milner would probably make the best war minister of all, but we can hardly picture his inclusion in the present cabinet of party men."

The Daily Chronicle and The Daily Telegraph endorse David Lloyd George.

Germans Suffer Severely in Fighting Way Thru Investing Force.

LONDON, June 7, 8:10 p.m.—The following British official communication concerning the operations in East Africa was made public this evening:

"Brig.-Gen. Northey's columns have pursued the East African Germans to Neu Utengule, capturing booty and prisoners. The invested Germans broke out of Namema, suffering heavily. The German commandant was made prisoner, wounded. The demoralized natives are welcoming the British, whose losses are small."

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR KITCHENER.

"K. OF K." MIGHT ADMITTED BY FOE

Tributes of German Papers Are Tinged With Some Bitterness.

HOPES ARE NOT RAISED

Kitchener's Death Apparently Not Deemed Crushing Blow to Allies.

BERLIN, June 7, via London, 9 p.m.—The newspapers devote much space to Earl Kitchener, whom they generally acknowledge to have been an organizer of the greatest ability. But there seems to be no disposition to exaggerate the importance of his death or to base particular hopes thereon.

The Lokai Anzeiger, commenting rather bitterly, declares that Kitchener's wars were mainly won against spearmen and half-naked wild peoples and that the Boer war was really won by interned women and children and permitting thousands to die.

Count von Reventlow, in The Tage Zeitung, also indulges in personalities. "The other papers, however, for the most part refrain from attacking Germany's dead opponent.

The Tagliche Rundschau openly confesses to dislike, but also admiring Kitchener, says:

"He was an honorable enemy. He never visited Germany to admire our philosophy and manoeuvres. He never dripped with honeyed phrases about rapprochement and never pretended to love us. We thank him in death for that. He was a brutal man, but he was a man."

REICHSTAG VOTES NEW WAR CREDIT

Three Billion Dollars Needed for Next Six Months' Operations.

BOAST OF FINANCING

Britain's Outlay is Said to Be Half as Much Again.

LONDON, June 7.—According to a Berlin despatch, via Amsterdam, the reichstag has passed thru all stages, the budget providing for a new war vote of 12,000,000,000 marks (about $3,000,000,000).

A Reuter despatch from Berlin says that in the discussion in the reichstag of the war credit Count von Roeder, secretary of the imperial treasury, stated that the monthly war expenditure from January to May was somewhat under 2,000,000,000 marks and that the new credit would cover the probable requirements for six months. He added that France's expenditure was almost as high as Germany's, while Great Britain's was half as much again.

Call Financing Sound.

"The confidence of the German nation in its own strength," said the secretary, "has enabled us to raise thirty-six out of forty millions in long term loans. None of the other belligerents has been able to do anything like this. The payments on our fourth war loan, which was more successful than the third, amounted at the end of May to 90 per cent. of the whole sum subscribed."

Referring to the allegation of the French finance minister, M. Ribot, that exchequer bills were being stored in the reichstag in place of gold, Count von Roeder declared that the actual gold in the reichstag at the end of May covered thirty-six per cent. of the bank notes issued, while the gold reserve in the Bank of France amounted to only thirty per cent. At the outbreak of the war, he said, the French gold was 60 per cent, and the German 45 per cent.

BRITAIN IS HIT HARD DUTCH PAPER'S VIEW

One of Pillars of Empire Shattered by Kitchener's Passing.

THE HAGUE, via London, June 7.—(9:20 p.m.)—All the Dutch papers dwell on the death of Earl Kitchener. The Nieuws Courant sees in Kitchener's death the most formidable blow England has received in this war. "One of the pillars of the empire has been shattered," it says.

The Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant, on the other hand, thinks that Kitchener's death has no immediate significance. "It may be difficult to replace him," says the paper, "but another will be found to take up the task, and England's strength is in no wise broken by the loss, which, it may be expected, will make the British nation more sternly unbending than ever."

WAR SUMMARY

THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

At Hooge yesterday and the preceding night the Canadians and the Germans engaged in heavy artillery bombardments of each other, according to last night's despatch of Sir Douglas Haig. In regard to the fighting on Tuesday, Sir Douglas Haig says that "the enemy succeeded in capturing our front line trenches, running thru the village of Hooge. Attacks made against other portions of our line failed." In Tuesday night's report, Sir Douglas said: "At Hooge and immediately north of Hooge the enemy penetrated our front trenches after the explosion of mines." The later despatch of Sir Douglas seems merely intended slightly to correct the report of the previous night, and it shows that, the losing the first line trenches at this point, which were obliterated and rendered untenable by the explosion of mines and artillery fire, the Canadians have in general withstood the attacks of the Germans. This portion of the front projects too far into the German line to permit a supporting cross fire from St. Eloi.

Forty thousand Austrian troops were taken prisoner between Sunday and Tuesday noon in the Russian offensive on the front between the Pripiet marshes and the Roumanian frontier, representing the infliction of 200,000 casualties or more on the forces of the ene-

H. M. S. HAMPSHIRE SANK IN TWENTY MINUTES

EDINBURGH, June 8.—The Scotsman today prints the story of an eyewitness of the disaster to the cruiser Hampshire, in which Earl Kitchener lost his life. This man, who saw the tragedy from the shore, is quoted as saying:

"The night was wet and stormy, but the light was good. From the shore a column of water was seen suddenly to rise from the Hampshire, followed by a great column of steam and smoke. In 20 minutes the ship had disappeared beneath the waves. A very heavy sea was running at the time. Four boats were seen leaving the ship, but none were again sighted."

GERMANS SUFFER SEVERELY IN FIGHTING WAY THRU INVESTING FORCE

LONDON, June 8, 12:55 a.m.—British trenches running thru Hooge have been captured by the Germans, according to the British official statement issued at midnight, which reads:

"Last night and today there were heavy artillery bombardments on both sides east of Ypres. In the fighting yesterday the enemy succeeded in capturing our front line trenches running thru the ruins of the village of Hooge. Attacks made against other portions of our line failed.

"A further small infantry attack delivered early this morning against our trenches, west of Hooge, was repulsed."

In his report on Tuesday concerning the operations at Hooge, Sir Douglas Haig said: "At Hooge and immediately north of Hooge the enemy penetrated our front trenches after the explosion of mines." The report of Wednesday may therefore be only a repetition of the report of the previous day.

THE T. EATON CO LIMITED

SYNOD IN FAVOR OF REGISTRATION

Anglicans in Session Here Adopt Resolution Amid Much Applause.

DAY OF PRAYER

Motion Sent to Ontario Synod Suggests September Twelve.

"That some plan of registration be adopted whereby, first, every man who is willing to enlist, but for reasons satisfactory to the examining committee, is not accepted, may remain at home with honor, second, and on the other hand, if any man is able to enlist and has no just cause for not enlisting, that a list of such men, who, without reason, refuse to serve their King and country in this day of national need and peril, be carefully prepared, and that such a list be given full publicity that the people of Canada may know of it, and that when this war is over, both in social life and business life, we may be able to discriminate between them and treat or reward them accordingly."

Moved by Rev. E. E. Skey, seconded by Rev. J. B. McLean, his resolution caused much excitement and applause at the meeting of the Toronto Synod yesterday afternoon in St. James' Parish House. Several members tried to speak at once and his lordship the bishop ruled the motion out of order. This brought the Rev. J. Russell McLean to his feet to ask "Your lordship, is it the case that the affairs of the nation are out of order, and that your lordship has just said that the nation is in a state of confusion, and that the only objection to registration was in the Province of Quebec."

A New Resolution. Discussion for the time being was ended by the suggestion from Chancellor Worrell that a motion be brought in favor of a plan of public registration, which would meet the approval of the synod, and that the deputation decided upon the following resolution:

"That, whereas men are not offering themselves in sufficient numbers to meet the needs of the present imperial crisis, and that whereas the very existence of the empire depends upon the issue of the war now being waged and whereas it is the manifest duty of every citizen to do his part for the defence of the empire, he it resolved that this synod places itself on record in favor of a plan of public registration being adopted, whereby the name and address of every man of military age throughout the Dominion be obtained for the purpose of securing the largest possible number of recruits for the defence of the empire and also for the vindication of the men who are willing to enlist, but who for just and sufficient reasons may not be accepted."

The above resolution, moved by Rev. Lawrence Skey, and seconded by Chaplain Rev. J. R. McLean, will be brought into this morning's session and will then be debated.

The unexpected motion followed the endorsement of the Clerical Patriotic Association by the synod, after its object had been outlined by Rev. Southam and Rev. Skey. It purposed to assist outside centres in raising patriotic fervor and sentiment in order that all possible might be done in the cause of empire. "The test of true churchmanship is sacrifice, and we should be proud of the way our church has come out," said Mr. Skey. During the morning session, T. Crawford Brown, Capt. Patterson of the Methodist Church, and Rev. W. T. McLean of the Baptist Church, addressed the synod on the recruiting work of the church. The church is the efficient force to cultivate a sentiment to make it impossible to allow any self-respecting citizen to fall in doing something for their King and country," said Rev. T. Crawford Brown.

Message to the King. A message of sympathy at the death of Earl Kitchener was cabled the King, under the signature of Bishop Sweeney, as follows:

"To His Majesty the King, Windsor Castle: The Anglican Synod of the Diocese of Toronto, in session assembled, has learned with deep distress of the calamity which has deprived your majesty, the empire, and the noble subject and a brave defender, on whom both sovereign and nation lean, and to whom all looked for leadership in this crisis. The synod expresses its sympathy and prayers for Divine overruling of this calamity.—(Signed) James J. Toronto."

The following letter was received yesterday by Carl Ahrens of Lambton Mills from General Mercer: May 20, 1915.

Dear Carl: Your very welcome letter arrived last night. Pleased to hear from you and that you are all well. Nothing very new that I can write about. The last half of April was very hot, then some cool days with considerable rain. Now most glorious weather.

The country is now too beautiful for words, so out of keeping with the desolation of the once picturesque towns and villages and the ruins of the most noted structures. You will never really have lived till you see Europe. I do not mean from the artist's standpoint, but from the view of experience. Our outlook on life is all so different to our former experience. The do not have bands to play bright air returning from funerals as is the custom in peace times. We have learnt from necessity the meaning of it all and turn away from the graves of our comrades with a smile and a cheery word for the living. There is always some thing you can do for their comfort and safety.

Then again the people are wonderful. Farming is done by the old men, the women and children with most excellent results. There is every prospect of splendid crops this year. The growth is extraordinary, wheat heading out, oats well on. Grass cutting has commenced already. Gardens are pictures of rare beauty and utility. Women plough, harrow, reap and every other kind of farm work and do it well. Altho the hours of labor are from daylight till dark, they seem so quietly content, cheerful and courageous.

No people in all the world are so courageous as the French. Have met some very nice families from ruined towns that have lost everything practically, their men folk killed or still in the war and themselves reduced to taking in washing or working in military laundries, mending, etc., and yet so charmingly cheerful, courteous and confident thru it all.

As I admire the glorious French army, all the world knows nothing finer than Verdun, so I am filled with admiration for a nation so well organized that there is scarcely an able-bodied person, but what is doing a bit for the cause and doing it cheerfully and well.

All of the latest quality textures in the very newest pattern and color models. Rich flannels, homespun, lightweight serges, cassimeres, chevrons and worsteds in new two-piece sack styles and Norfolk suits.

We lay great stress on the quality of our cutting suits. Because of the lightness in weight of these textures it takes unusually skilful tailoring to ensure fit and permanency.

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 8.

Is Gold Down or Silver Up?

Theodore H. Price, editor of Commerce and Finance, asks: "Is silver rising or gold declining?" The recent phenomenal rise in the price of silver, a product of Canada by the bye, has forced the question out.

So long as gold is the international measure of value we naturally speak of silver as a commodity, and say that the price of silver is rising, as is the price of nearly every other commodity. But considering gold itself a commodity we would be equally correct in saying that the price of gold is steadily falling. Thus we start upon an endless circle. But there have been times when the purchasing power of gold declined so rapidly as to prompt the demand for its demonetization, just as silver was degraded from its position as a money metal to a commodity metal through over-production. Are the two metals now getting to a place where it will be possible to re-establish the double standard by international agreement.

If there be a universal rise in prices throughout the world, evidently it means nothing else than that the price of gold has fallen. When all commodities increase in value nothing is indicated but a change in the measure of value. But the war, we think, rather than any over-production of gold has caused the rise in the price of many commodities. Just now men are naturally demanding big returns for their holdings in food stuffs, textiles, metals, munitions and whatever else the belligerents need urgently. But does this explain the price of silver increasing by 50 per cent?

Silver is used less than formerly in the arts; it is not so valuable now than formerly, because gold, the only other metal used for coinage, is intrinsically less valuable than it was. Mr. Price thinks, as many have thought since the opening of the war, that the gold standard is to be overthrown. So large are the paper issues of Europe that gold reserves can only be maintained, if at all, by withdrawing gold coin from circulation. But the greater part of the world is quite content to use silver as a circulating medium. Hence there will be a great advantage in having all national and bank issues redeemable in either metal. So enormous are those issues, by the way, that the gold reserves of Europe may soon be too slender for their support. Already we have seen the fabric of international credit trembling, and crude extortions practiced under the guise of exchange. What more likely than that the nations in self-defence will demand the redemption of their paper at a ratio to be fixed by international agreement?

Mr. Price argues that gold cannot long remain the sole standard of value. In this he may be right, but we do not think that the over-production of gold is the explanation. India has been absorbing gold to such an extent that even the increased output will not support the commerce and credits of the world. The demonetization of silver was prompted by Europe against protests from this continent. The rise in the price of silver, the possibility of the double standard being restored, should help Canada, which has produced a lot of silver and will produce more, and should help, indeed, nearly every country on this continent, including the United States, and especially should benefit Mexico.

Unless we are to have an international asset currency, bimetalism may be resorted to. The world outside of Canada is learning the evils of a contracted currency and fearlessly using the national credit to assist the business of the country. In Canada, we have been so devoted to the gold standard, and perhaps we have thereby kept our credit high in troubled times. All admit that we are suffering from a rigid and contracted currency. If both gold and silver were freely coined at a ratio to be fixed by a worldwide agreement, Canada would benefit and indeed would nearly every country on this continent.

A Pro-Public Party

In his charge to the Anglican Church Synod Bishop Sweeney took occasion to speak of the conditions of public life and individual ambition in Canada, and while many may think his words merely sentimental or pious or something else which they may regard as unworthy of consideration, they represent a cold, hard fact in the life of the nation and a condition of things which, if not destroyed, will destroy us.

"Purer, pro-public policies must take the place of widespread, personal, selfish greed and gain, such as the revelations of costly commissions and enquiries are daily bringing to light, to the utter discrediting of those implicated, to the serious dishonoring of public life and the depreciation of public service. God cleanse our empire and our land, in all these departments, of its manifold life, from every evil which is eating, like disease, into their very veins, and threatening the body politic with death."

What the country needs is a body of men, a new political party if needs be, which would not be political, but would supplant the partisan factions of the day and think only of the people and the nation as a whole. The bishop's word is a good one and might well represent the spirit of such a movement. Pro-public is the idea that we must keep in view, and pro-public must be the minds of those who devote themselves to the organization of such work. Perhaps the bishop has no political tendencies himself, but whether he has or not, he must realize that without divesting oneself of all party affiliations it is impossible to realize the policy of which he speaks. It is a pro-party spirit that keeps things as they are in public life today. A pro-public spirit and a pro-public party would mean the repolarization of our whole national life.

Early Glory

Yesterday's casualty lists bore the names of three of the brightest and most promising young men of the city, Lieutenant M. E. Malone, G. W. Rutten and D. Galer Hagarty. What could be said about them could be said about hundreds of others who have fallen and others who must yet fall in this historic struggle for what we deem the wisest and the best way of life. It is to some a mockery to speak of the best way of life, when this way leads to death for so many, but the nobler is the sacrifice.

Fifteen months ago Lieut. Malone was known to everybody as the great goal keeper of the champion university junior hockey team. Eager, alert, full of keen and abounding life, as soon as play was over and the championship was won, he and most of his companions dedicated their strength and talents to the great cause of humanity and justice. Lieut. Galer Hagarty has had a remarkable career for a young man, and has been distinguished in study and athletics, and Lieut. Rutten, a graduate of Varsity, abandons a career of the greatest promise. The sorrow is not for them, but for those who stay at home and suffer bereavement.

The precious gifts of these young lives, however, are given gladly and willingly, and the joy will come with the morning, which shows the meaning of victory and defeat and heart-break and tears. It is always especially hard to part with the young and the brilliant. The tragic end of Lord Kitchener was not unfitting for one so full of years and honor, and we could repeat the words of Spenser:

Admiral Wilhelm

In the course of an extraordinary speech at Wilhelmshaven yesterday, the Kaiser is reported to have said that "the world was prepared for everything, but not for the victory of the German fleet over the English. The start which you have made will cause fear to creep into the bones of the enemy."

It is difficult to say whether the Kaiser condescended to joke, or was merely lying as usual. The world was certainly not prepared to see the German fleet conquer the British, and we doubt if the world is any more prepared than it has ever been for this spectacle. The battle of Jutland may have caused fear to creep into our bones. It has certainly not brought it out on the surface. Perhaps the Kaiser thinks that when it strikes us, like measles, it is most dangerous. It is manifest that when the Kaiser talks in this strain he has either been deceived about the facts himself, or he is trying to deceive his own people. Certainly the rest of the world is un-

"ELECTRIFIED WORLD"

Emperor's Address at Wilhelmshaven is Palpable Distortion of Facts.

Editor World: I should like to call attention to some statements which appeared in a recent article in The World entitled "Canada-India Problems." Mr. Ruston is represented as saying that India is not at all ready for home rule, that "the agitation for such a measure is foolish and dangerous," and that "the smattering of John Stuart Mill and other modern writers leads some fanatical Hindus to pose as saviors of their country, when they really do not understand the conditions of the people in the least." It would require an article of length to deal with this question, but may I be permitted to point to a few facts. The Indian National Congress, from its beginning in 1885, has asked every year for increased representation in the government for the Indian people. In 1906 a resolution was passed asking for self-government on colonial lines. Since 1906, articles in the constitution, to which every delegate must subscribe, has stated the object of the Congress is to secure for the Indian people a system of government similar to that enjoyed by the self-governing members of the British Empire, and a participation by them in the rights and responsibilities of the empire on equal terms with those of the British.

A home rule league was organized by the people of India of a system of government similar to that enjoyed by the self-governing members of the British Empire, and a participation by them in the rights and responsibilities of the empire on equal terms with those of the British. The Indian National Congress, from its beginning in 1885, has asked every year for increased representation in the government for the Indian people.

"I stand here today as your supreme war lord, thank you from the bottom of my heart, for the representative of the fatherland. I thank you in the name of my army I have done your duty unselfishly and only with one thought, that the enemy must be beaten."

"At a time when the enemy is slowly being crushed before Verdun and when our allies have driven the Italian and the Greek armies back into the world was prepared for everything, but not for the victory of the German fleet over the English. The start which you have made will cause fear to creep into the bones of the enemy. What you have done you did for the fatherland that in the future it may have freedom of the seas for its commerce. Therefore, I ask you to join me in three cheers for our dearly loved fatherland."

PLAYS, PICTURES AND MUSIC

OPERA STOCK OPENS WITH "FLORODORA" Success of Two Continents Presented at Grand by Vandenberg Co.

TALENTED ARTISTS Made Fine Impression on Initial Performance in Toronto.

It is many years since a Toronto audience was favored with a production of "Florodora," one of the best known of English musical comedies, but the Vandenberg Opera Company presented the international favorite at the Grand Opera House yesterday as the opening attraction for its summer season.

The piece was given a very good presentation which was all the more meritorious in view of the fact that the organization has been subjected to some inconveniences during the past few days.

In the first place the performance was postponed on Monday on account of the baggage car containing the costumes, going astray, and in the second place the actor who was to play the role of the baritone, was taken ill, and a Toronto man, Ernest Caldwell, was called upon to assume the difficult part short notice.

Toronto's latest stock company is an aggregation of really talented artists. Ben Lodge provided the comedy in the first act, and yesterday, will soon become great favorites with theatre goers. They all act exceptionally fine voices, and their acting is of the highest order. The chorus is large and its singing of the many difficult numbers worthy of special commendation.

Miss Marie Hamilton, the prima donna, took the part of Dolores in a very many. Her personal beauty, charm and grace, together with her voice, combine to make her a fascinating star.

Hydrolyd was played by Miss Edith Carlisle and her vivacity and coquetry were responsible for a good many of the laughs.

Miss Carlisle has a voice of rare sweetness, and in her rendering of the favorite "Tact," was considered a favorite. Her rendering of "The Girl in Africa," is an amusing comedy sketch presented by Arthur Huston and Company, which has been presented in Toronto at a 25-cent price. The story of the play is pretty well known here, but it is worth presenting in Toronto at a 25-cent price.

For next week the Hippodrome management offer as the headline attraction, the play "The Girl in Africa," which will not only appeal to the kiddies, but will prove immensely amusing to their parents. The play is a comedy, and the film of the bill will be the first appearance on the screen in Toronto of a well-known, humorous, and amusing play, which has been presented in Toronto at a 25-cent price.

For today and for the balance of this week there will be a complete change of attraction at the Strand Theatre. The feature photoplay will be "The Supreme Temptation," in five superb acts of breathless interest, which has been the selection of the Strand. The plot is at once tense and thrilling. It involves the plotting of a doctor—the hero of the play—in a position of terrible difficulty. With the scalpel in his hand he has to solve a problem, and carry a heavy burden of ethical and moral responsibility. His duty points to one solution, but his heart points to another. The interest in this drama is sustained throughout the end. The bill will also include a comedy and the Pathé news.

"Wanted, a Husband," the offering of Alderson Players at the Park Theatre, is the last of this week, is a farce comedy, full of wit, and they will feature of Katie Brayton is one in which Della Alderson excels. She is ably supported by a well-balanced company. Helen Dawn in "The Sealed Lady" is the Famous Players feature film.

Now under a long term contract with the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Film Company, Marie Doro, beautiful and talented dramatic artist, will be seen in "The Heart of Nora Flynn," a thrilling photodrama by Hector Turnbull and Jeanie MacPherson, which will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday in "The Heart of Nora Flynn," a thrilling photodrama by Hector Turnbull and Jeanie MacPherson, which will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday in "The Heart of Nora Flynn."

RUSSIA DEPLORES KITCHENER'S LOSS

Public Had Looked Forward to Proposed Visit with Interest.

Death, However, Inflicts Grievous Blow on Allied Nations.

PETROGRAD, June 7, 1 p.m. (via London, 1.25 p.m.)—The death of Earl Kitchener's death has profoundly affected the whole of Russia. His proposed visit to Russia, had been looked forward to with intense interest, not only by officials, but by the public generally, as evidence of the further cementing of the growing cordiality between Great Britain and Russia, and as a concrete token of complete co-ordination between the fighting forces of the respective countries.

Russia's remoteness from her allies has prevented close co-operation which exists between France and Great Britain, and Earl Kitchener's visit was expected to unify Russia's efforts with the other nations with which her lot is cast. For this reason the loss of the British war secretary has come to Russia as a national calamity.

Foreign Minister Sazonoff, immediately the news of Earl Kitchener's death was received here, cabled an expression of sympathy to London on behalf of the imperial government. Baron Schilling, under secretary of foreign affairs, in the temporary absence of M. Sazonoff, said with regard to the death of Earl Kitchener:

"The allies have sustained a grievous loss in the death of Earl Kitchener, whose ability and worth were fully recognized by Russia. His loss, however, great as it is, can have no appreciable effect on the future conduct of the war."

Sir George W. Buchanan, the British ambassador, has been the recipient of a constant stream of messages of condolence on the death of Earl Kitchener from Russian officials and men of all ranks and classes.

Russia feels her loss. "Russia will feel his loss almost as keenly as England," said the ambassador today. "After all he had accomplished his unfortunate death at this time comes as a tragic end to a brilliant career. I had received no specific instructions regarding the purpose of Earl Kitchener's visit to Russia, but assumed it was personally to acquaint himself with the details of the Russian fighting organization, and bring the military operations of the allies into closer rapport. The interest displayed in his prospective visit had been extraordinarily keen."

For today and for the balance of this week there will be a complete change of attraction at the Strand Theatre. The feature photoplay will be "The Supreme Temptation," in five superb acts of breathless interest, which has been the selection of the Strand. The plot is at once tense and thrilling. It involves the plotting of a doctor—the hero of the play—in a position of terrible difficulty. With the scalpel in his hand he has to solve a problem, and carry a heavy burden of ethical and moral responsibility. His duty points to one solution, but his heart points to another. The interest in this drama is sustained throughout the end. The bill will also include a comedy and the Pathé news.

"Wanted, a Husband," the offering of Alderson Players at the Park Theatre, is the last of this week, is a farce comedy, full of wit, and they will feature of Katie Brayton is one in which Della Alderson excels. She is ably supported by a well-balanced company. Helen Dawn in "The Sealed Lady" is the Famous Players feature film.

Now under a long term contract with the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Film Company, Marie Doro, beautiful and talented dramatic artist, will be seen in "The Heart of Nora Flynn," a thrilling photodrama by Hector Turnbull and Jeanie MacPherson, which will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday in "The Heart of Nora Flynn."

What Becomes of Famous Racing Cars?

"What becomes of famous racing cars?" is the question that arises in the minds of many people, especially during the automobile season.

Often you hear of stories of the thoroughbred horses which, after winning some thrilling Derby, is tenderly cared for the rest of its existence.

Do the manufacturers which build these cars and race them keep the cars, and up, hand, or do they go back into the service of private owners?

Recently a racing car which the manufacturer was asked the question what they did with their old racing cars.

The work on the road and speedway. Some day they will be used for the company ever built in the West, which came to the market as an international sweepstakes race on May 30, 1911.

Previous to the race this wonderful six-cylinder car had won several less conspicuous events. After winning the 500-mile event of 1911 the car was retired from racing and has been used mainly for exhibition purposes ever since.

Some day they will be used for the company ever built in the West, which came to the market as an international sweepstakes race on May 30, 1911.

The two smaller cars were sold after the company discontinued racing in 1912 and are now in the hands of private owners and are being used, not for racing, but for everyday use.

The larger cars were built in 1910, and they won many races all over the country in their class.

CANADIAN LETTUCE BEST ON THE MARKET

Excels Any of the Imported Variety and Commands Higher Price.

NEW POTATOES ON HAND

First of the Season and Sold Readily for Four Dollars Per Bag.

Canadian Boston head lettuce, as grown by Pitterington Bros., St. Catharines, at last equals the best of the imported variety, and excels any of the imported on sale at the present time, and also commands a higher price. They are home-grown bringing $2.25 to $2.50 per case of 1 1/2 dozen heads, while the imported brings $2 per case. They are being shipped in another fine lot to McWilliam & Everist yesterday, and are to be heartily congratulated on their achievement, which places Canada in the front rank in still another product.

Leamington hothouse cucumbers did not sell so readily yesterday as on Tuesday, the No. 1's bringing $1.50, $1.75, and an odd basket $2 per 11-quart basket. The No. 2's were of such poor quality to admit of not nearly as good quality as the imported hothouse, which sell at $2.75 per basket, containing 24 extra large cukes, or 30 smaller ones. The imported outside-grown yesterday sold at $2.75 to $3 per hamper.

Hothouse tomatoes were slightly easier, the bulk of the No. 1's selling at 25c per lb., a very few bringing 25c per lb., while the No. 2's were of such poor quality they went as low as 15c per lb.

The Texas Bermuda onions are advancing, as they and the real Bermudas (which do not sell very well here, chiefly on account of their looks) are the only ones we have to depend on at the present time. There are some Egyptians due next week, but it is hard to tell when they will get in, and they are such an uncertain proposition at the present time that they will not likely affect the price materially. The Texas Bermudas yesterday brought $3 per 50-lb. crate.

A car of new lemons arrived yesterday to Chas. S. Simpson. They are the Rioleppa, a fresh cut lemon, which matures a little earlier than the Yerville and are selling at $4.50 per case.

Cuban pines are also firmer, as their season is just about over, and the desirable sizes are especially scarce.

Asparagus was scarce yesterday, and brought slightly higher prices, selling at $1 to $1.75 per 11-quart basket.

White & Co. had a car of new potatoes in bags, the first for this season, selling at $4 per bag; a car of late Valencia oranges, selling at $4.50 to $4.75 per case; a car of Cuban pines at $5 per case; a car of Mississippi tomatoes (the first of the season), selling at $2 per four-basket carrier.

Stronach & Sons had a car of cabbage, selling at $2.75 per case.

J. J. Ryan had a car of New Brunswick Delaware potatoes, selling at $2.10 to $2.15 per case; a car of late Valencia oranges, selling at $4.50 per case; a car of Cuban pines, selling at $2.50 to $2.75 per case.

A. A. McKinnon had a car of New Brunswick Delaware potatoes, selling at $2.10 per case.

H. Peters had a car of strawberries, selling at 10c to 15c per box.

The Wentworth Orchard Company had tomatoes in four-basket carriers at $3 per case; also part of a car of Cuban pines at $2.75 to $3 per case.

GRADUATES RECEIVE MEDALS AND AWARDS

Excellent Program at Sixty-Ninth Annual Commencement at Loretto.

ALL WERE SUCCESSFUL

Twenty-Five Candidates at University Examinations and Everyone Passed.

That they might become "queens of the home" was the wish expressed by Dean Moyna to the white-gowned girls who graced the stage at Loretto yesterday afternoon on the occasion of the 69th annual commencement of the institution, when one of the most charming programs of the year was presented. Graduates and others received medals and various awards for a splendid year of work.

The ceremony of crowning the graduates by the presiding dean took place immediately after the singing of the National Anthem. This was followed by "After the Rain," Pinsuti, and "Hail, Smiling Morning," by Moffat, the choral class showing the excellence of their training in the clear cut phrasing, good enunciation and musical quality of tone. "The Relief of Lucknow," a reading with peculiar appeal at the present moment, was given in intelligent interpretation by Mary E. Flanagan, assisted at intervals by the chorus. Another number given in semi-opera form was the "Madonna of Palen," in which Miss Lella Rodway was the principal, and the story being beautifully told thru the medium of recitation, song and musical instruments.

The "Witches' Dance," a piano solo by Miss Ruth Johnson, and the Prelude, by Rachmaninoff, played by Miss Lella Rodway, together with the choruses, "Rule, Britannia" and "Ave, Marie Loretto," were all given with credit to the performers. The vocal numbers were introduced by Mr. Francis Coombs and Miss Ruth Johnson as accompanist.

An impressive Address.

Rev. Dean Moyna, in congratulating the pupils and sisters of the house on the success of the year, referred to the present sad condition of the world, and said that the quality of the civilization of any nation was the product of its schools. He impressed upon the pupils that they all had a part to play in service to the church, the school and the home, to the last especially. Unfortunately the home, which ought to be the sanctuary of religion, had become for the most part only a place in which to eat and sleep. He urged upon the outgoing pupils the duty which it well performed would make them everyone a queen with the home as their domain. Rev. Robert McBrady, C.S.B., of St. Michael's College, read a glowing tribute to the work of the abbey, and Prof. Keys of Toronto University offered his congratulations and sympathy to those who were leaving the institution. The professor added to his praise of the tuition which the school affords, the testimony of the patriotic work of its alumnae, shown by the gift of $100 to the hospital of Brittany.

Presentation of Medals.

The graduates yesterday were Meritis Donnelly, Josephine McBrady, Frances Mitchell and Lella Rodway. The pupil medal for bibliography was obtained by Miss Mabel McAuley; gold cross for Christian doctrine, presented by Archbishop McNeil, obtained by Miss Dorothy Hammill; gold medal for Bible history, presented by Right Rev. Mr. Eld, obtained by Miss Kathleen Lee; gold medal for church history, presented by Miss Meritis A. Williams, obtained by Miss Meritis

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why Vaccines Prevent But Do Not Cure Diseases

BY DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A.B., M.A., M.D. (Johns Hopkins University).

The blood is the Appian Way of life and one of the main springs of transportation. To injure the blood is to cut the lines of communication. It transports the commissary, the munitions and the red-blooded men-corporals and oxygen to the life. At the same time it carries away from the front the dead and wounded, the waste and discarded materials that are in the way and no longer needed. Blood is a mixture of several things, as the fibrin which is formed, clot the blood, the serum or brothlike fluid, and the white and the red blood corpuscles. Some chemical ferments called enzymes, which are called ferments or enzymes, however small, have the power to cause great changes in other things without themselves changing at all in quantity or make-up. Rennet is one of these enzymes. Rennet is still another, and so are some of the agencies emitted by bacteria and micro-organisms. If you take a minute bit of some ferment or enzyme, and hypodermically inject it into the blood stream, instead of merely floating about harmlessly, the blood learns to become accustomed to the presence of the ferment and seems to form some material to go counter to it. If small amounts of it are injected into the blood stream at definite intervals over a period of time the serum of the blood will show that the man or animal concerned has learned new tricks and has picked up new properties. All Tissues Work Together. If rennet is used the serum will be of an anti-rennet nature and will prevent the curdling of milk. An antibody is now present in the serum, formed by repeated injections of the stuff—rennet—in this instance, antibody against the typhoid germs. There have been these injected—and used to develop immunity. Anti-bodies and the serum which hold them are called antibodies, vaccination—immunity, anti-toxins, anti-compoands, artificially acquired immunity and many terms of the same sort, to indicate what has happened. Snake venom, lockjaw toxin, diphtheria toxin, typhoid bacilli killed, snipepox vaccine, whooping cough germs, cholera toxin, and many other disease products of man, animals and plants are thus inoculated slowly and safely into the blood to bring about the formation of immunity chemicals which are thereupon present in large enough quantities to ward off those ever-threatening germs. Foods as well as venoms and microbes injected into the blood to generate an anti-toxin ferment. The reason a few minutes' contact with the germs, fish, oysters or fruits is because their blood serum has never been wholly successful in the manufacture of anti-toxin materials with which harmlessly to consume these foods. When the fabric of man is alive each fragment of tissue co-operates with the whole anatomy. Tissues ob-

The Amateur Gardener

BY RACHEL R. TODD, M.D.

Most of us are already transplanting their asters and stocks and all the rest of the tribe of summer annuals. Those that have been raised from your own seeds are perhaps not so large and healthy looking as those shown in the various florists' stands, but this fact need worry no one. The varieties cover such a range of kind and coloring that it is not possible for me to specify any particular kind as being better than any other. Any of them will grow, and grow well, once they get fairly started. However, I would advise the true beauty lovers to be sure of a supply of the pure white asters, since these make splendid vase flowers, and harmonize well with most of the other garden beauties. There are several shades of deep blue, and some delicate mauves that are too beautiful for description. The old purple and magentas do well to lighten up dark corners or make a line of rich coloring. The florists offer us many lovely varieties, and those that are either rimmed with white, or fade into white toward the centre, are among the most beautiful among this class. Last year my asters were a sad eye-sore to me, and I ended by pulling them all up early in July and burning them up in a bonfire. The aster worm had got after them before I noticed it, and it was impossible to gather any of the blooms without gathering as well a number of worms from half an inch to two inches in length. I blame the disease. I have the family cat, since she had rather a large family than usual to attend to, and as a consequence, all kinds of birds that escaped their villainous little claws, avoided my garden. As we all know, a successful garden depends in no small degree upon the presence of the birds, and the sparrows are the most faithful

Housing Geese.

Because geese are very hardy birds, that is not sufficient excuse to neglect them so far as their housing arrangements are concerned. To achieve good results a comfortable shed should be provided for their accommodation. The house should be about four feet high and made of fairly thick boarding. If the timber is very thin the interior becomes too cold during the winter and too hot during the summer. The earth makes the best floor, as wood, cement, and bricks are all unsuitable and liable to lead to the disease. I have always found it a good plan to use a shed entirely, or almost, open in the front. If the house can be placed in a sheltered position no shelter is necessary, but if out in the open, exposed to the wind and rain, it is advisable to have one

OUR OWN POPULAR SONGS

JOE BINGLE was a married man, but I don't care a whoop. He had a lot of children who had never had the croup. The neighbors youngsters used to try to get Joe Bingle's goat by bragging of the measles and their ailments of the throat. One day Joe Bingle called his wife and said, 'I'd like to know why Mary, Jane, Elizabeth, Luella, Tom and Joe have never had the whooping cough, the measles or the croup.' Then Mrs. Bingle made reply in tones as soft as soup: 'Well, who are you, I'd like to know, to ask me such a thing? You strut around this house just like a kaiser or a king. I'll choose those kids' diseases, so, Joe Bingle, run along! You're crazy—you're so nutty that I'll bet you wrote this song.'

CHARLIE CHAPLIN'S STORY

By ROSE WILDER LANE. (Copyright, 1916.) (Continued from yesterday.) I met Holmes and the manager, just outside the dressing-room which was my place in their company with great happiness. 'Of course—you understand that I cannot do justice to my art as long as I am supported by a manager who is not a first-class actor,' I said, looking at Holmes as he smiled at me. 'I would like to see you two feet less than the average man, and I would like to see you with a manager's nose and a manager's ears. You are a very busy man, with a quick, nervous voice. I told him who I was and he gave me a very good turn of part in a hurried manner. 'That's all. Rehearsal here, nine to-morrow,' he said. 'Like to see Mr. Gillette?' 'I would,' I answered, eagerly, and tried to clutch at my self-possession, which I had never before, while the boy led me thru the dim passage to Mr. Gillette's dressing-room. The boy knocked at the door of it, rapped loudly, 'Mr. Gillette to see Mr. Gillette,' and led me standing there, not knowing what to do. The door opened, and a little Japanese, perfectly dressed in the clothes of an English man-servant, stepped into the room. He had never seen a Japanese servant before, and his eyes were fixed on me. He said only look at him and repeat what the boy had said, while I fumbled in my pocket for a card and handed it to him. He was proper to give it to him if I was not necessary for he opened the door wider. I stepped in. William Gillette was sitting before his

HELENE ROSSON IS PLANNING LONG TOUR

Leading Lady of 'Flying A' Maps Out Vacation Trip to the Orient. Helene Rossion, one of the most popular stars in the motion picture realm, is laying plans to visit Japan this summer. Miss Rossion is one of the few photo players gifted with literary ability. She has written many short stories for magazines and has prepared innumerable scenarios. Thru all of her work there is a delightful thread of romance and love—conceivable only in the mind of one who understands and believes in a correct mode of life. It is Helene's enviable ability to sense the feelings and emotions of others that has made her a film star. Her portrayals are always truly heart-rending. How does she accomplish these marvelous things? By drawing on her fund of knowledge she had stored up under those pretty blonde curls thru diligent study and observation. She is delightfully democratic, congenial and lovable, because she has that power of placing herself on an equal plane with anyone she happens to be with—never above the lowest, never beneath the highest. And now she strives to put into form a story based on a romance of Japan, amid cherry blossoms, picturesque jirikishas and the blue-tipped mountains peopled with the pink-cheeked olive-skinned, black-eyed, black-haired, quiet Orientals. And to know Helene is to feel confident of her masterful success. Josephine Bushman, a sister of Francis X. Bushman, is nursing a few slight bruises which she received Saturday by being thrown from a horse which she was riding near her home. The Russian actress, Heddá Kusnezsk, who recently returned to America from her home, will make her debut in the moving picture world with the Lubin Company in 'The Light of Dusk.' Viola Dana, the newest of the Metro stars, makes her debut in 'The Flower of No Man's Land' next week.

ALEXANDER GADEN WAS IN PLAYS WITH PICKFORD

Will Be Featured With Gertrude Robinson in New Company. Having definitely arranged a series of three-reel releases, the Gaumont Company now announces that one of the special organizations making these photo-dramas for Mutual will be headed by Alexander Gaden. The intention of Gaumont to have its three-reel release the same as its five-reel features in everything but length is seen in the decision to put this popular star at the head of one of these companies. Miss Gertrude Robinson will co-star with him whenever the scenario provides a part suitable for her. Before appearing upon the screen Alexander Gaden had a varied stage experience. As a motion picture actor he has played with Universal and Vitagraph West Coast companies. He also supported Mary Pickford in 'Fanchon the Cricket.' He has been noted for his many narrow escapes from death, once having been hurled from the roof of a train while it was in motion. His life was saved by good fortune in falling into a snow bank. FORCED TO TAKE REST OLLIE KIRBY INJURED Twisted Her Knee in Fight Scene and Doctor Ordered Her to Lay Up for Week. Ollie Kirby twisted her knee so badly in a scene in the fourteenth episode of the 'Social Pirates' series that her physician has ordered her to take a week's rest. The 'Lady of the Dimpled Shoulder' was having a stage fight with Rupert Dell when the accident happened. Mr. Dell felt badly to have been the innocent cause, but it was one of the unfortunate occurrences which are unavoidable in melodramas. It proved, incidentally, the pluck which motion picture people must have, for Miss Kirby, despite her pain, stuck to her work and finished the episode. Now she is getting in shape for the fifteenth and final instalment of the series. Rose Melville, creator of Sis Hopkins, is an Indiana girl.

RECIPES FOR THE CARD INDEX COOK BOOK

Asparagus Soup

INGREDIENTS METHOD Hard asparagus stalks. Cut the asparagus into short lengths (the hard ends which were trimmed off are all right). Boil them in the stock for 45 minutes; rub thru a sieve, add the milk, butter and the flour mixed to a cream with a little of the milk. Season and bring to the boil again, then simmer for 8 minutes, stirring so as to keep from burning. Stir in the cream at the last moment and serve very hot.
