MORE ABOUT THE DOUBLE TRACKING OF UNION ST.

Full Text of the Now Famous Letter to the City Council. Bustin & French Acting for the White Candy Co. Ltd. Put Forth Reasons Against the Double Track and Ask That Question Be Reopened.

The vigorous protests against the double-tracking of Union street between Sydney and Brussels streets, have not by any means been abandoned. In fact the White Candy Company and other interested parties have "got out their knives" and are after the mayor and the city fathers for a hearing.

The letter which was laid before the council in reference to the matter, reads as follows:—

St. John, N. B., Oct. 7, 1907. To the Mayor and Aldermen of the City of St. John:

Gentlemen—We have been requested by The White Candy Company, Limited, and others, to call your attention to the following facts:—

Two petitions were lately filed with the board of works of this city strongly protesting against the double-tracking of Union street, between Sydney and Brussels streets, by the Saint John Railway Company.

According to the reports of that meeting published in the newspapers, the matter was laid aside on the ground that permission had already been given to the St. John Street Railway Company.

Now, when the track was originally laid, these residents and carrying on business on said portion of Union street, joining between Sydney and Brussels streets, had no objection to the double-tracking, and those who have since become interested, should surely have the same rights now as then.

Since the first petition was made, and the reasons for not allowing the double-track have been greatly intensified. Those parties who originally petitioned you, "pencil successfully," and those who have since become interested, should surely have the same rights now as then.

COLLINS EXAMINED BY PHYSICIANS AS TO HIS MENTAL CONDITION

Strong Effort Being Made to Prove Murderer of Mary Ann MacAulay of Unsound Mind and Thus Save His Life.

That many of the people of Hopewell Cape will not permit Thomas F. Collins to be hanged there if there is any way to prevent it, is practically assured by statements which came to the Times today from Albert county.

There is little doubt in the community that Collins is guilty, but there has been and is now, in some quarters, a strong feeling of repugnance against the hanging taking place.

Sheriff Lawrence of Albert county, it is understood, prepared to resign rather than see the rope which will usher the unfortunate sinner into eternity.

Extraordinary efforts are being made to save Collins' life. J. C. Sherrin of Moncton, one of Collins' counsel, will leave tonight or Monday for Ottawa with a petition asking that the sentence of death be commuted to life imprisonment.

This petition bears between 800 and 1000 signatures and will be presented to the proper authorities in person by Mr. Sherrin.

The most recent and also the most interesting development of the fight against capital punishment in Collins' case came to light this morning.

Collins has been examined by physicians with a view to the establishment of a case of insanity in his behalf.

Dr. Murray, of Albert, was the physician who made the first examination and his report was to the effect that while the prisoner's mind is weak he (Murray) would not undertake to say professionally that Collins' condition was such as to relieve him from full responsibility for his actions.

This examination was made on Thursday afternoon at the request of Sheriff Lawrence.

Dr. Murray and the sheriff visited Collins in his cell and the doctor made a complete examination. He then prepared a statement of opinion as outlined.

It is stated that this opinion was not entirely satisfactory to Sheriff Lawrence who intimated that he would have a further examination made by a specialist.

Dr. Murray agreed in this and advised that Dr. Anglin of the Provincial Hospital for Nervous Diseases be sent for.

Sheriff Lawrence, however, thought differently and sent for Dr. Marvin, Dr. Handall and Dr. John T. Lewis, all of Hillsboro.

These doctors visited Collins at different times yesterday, and their opinion was in line with that submitted by Dr. Murray.

Dr. Lewis in presenting his report to Sheriff Lawrence, said that while Collins seemed peculiar, there was nothing in his actions to warrant the opinion of insanity, and the doctor's certificate was to that effect.

Dr. Lewis also says that as far as he is aware, Sheriff Lawrence acted on his own initiative in having the examination made.

Meanwhile there is another side to the story. Many Hopewell Cape people, among them J. Anton Tingey and Charles Ayer, feel that the law should be allowed to take its course. They claim that there is no general request for a commutation of the sentence, and that some of those who signed the petition were coerced into doing so.

I. C. R. MACHINISTS WILL ASK FOR EIGHT HOUR DAY

BOURASSA IS THE FAVORITE Bets Are Being Made in Quebec City That He Will Defeat Turgeon.

MONTREAL, Nov. 2.—(Special)—Debate received here today from Belchasse indicates that Mr. Bourassa is meeting with considerable success in his campaign. Several meetings were held Thursday night and yesterday at which supporters of Mr. Bourassa and himself were well received.

T. Chase Casgrain, former attorney-general for Quebec, who has just returned from the district, states that the betting in Quebec city is largely in favor of victory for Mr. Bourassa.

Private messages were also received by several leading Conservatives in the city stating that after a thorough canvass the supporters of Hon. Mr. Turgeon conceded a victory for Mr. Bourassa by about a hundred majority. These reports, however, are received with a good deal of incredulity, the general impression being that the best Mr. Bourassa can hope to do is to reduce Turgeon's majority.

J. B. McMANUS CO. IN DIFFICULTIES

Application to Place the Firm in Liquidation --- Liabilities $106,000.

In supreme court chambers this morning before Mr. Justice McLeod, an application was presented to place the J. B. McManus Co., Ltd., of Memramouk, in liquidation, under the winding up act.

The McManus Company had a contract to double-track the I. C. R., and within the last couple of months have met with financial difficulties.

The firm now desires to be placed in liquidation. The assets are placed at $106,000, and liabilities are quoted at $75,000. Argument was heard this morning and adjournment made until 2:30 o'clock Monday.

It is stated that the company is not in a position to resume the work and the petition was entered into docket.

Railway Department to be Approached.

C. P. R. Machinists Have Nine Hour Day With No Reduction in Wages and I. C. R. Machinists Will Ask for One Better---H. B. Ames Talks.

MONTCTON, Nov. 2.—(Special)—H. B. Ames, M. P., who passed through Moncton last night on his way home from New Glasgow, speaking of Dr. Puley's references to the Conservative campaign, said the Conservatives would be prepared to make a full statement in this connection if the Liberals would do the same. He rather thought, however, that the Liberals wouldn't desire any such publicity as that. He anticipates a rather lively and interesting session of parliament.

An eight hour day is what the I. C. R. machinists are shortly to ask the railway department to grant, so it is stated by parties in close touch with the Machinists' Union.

Recently the machinists on the C. P. R. asked and were granted a 9 hour day and it is pretty well understood that at the next revision of the machinists' schedule the eight hour day will be the least concession asked for.

Some years ago there was an agitation among the I. C. R. employees here for shorter hours, but there was no

THE INTERCOLONIAL (Toronto Globe.) The minister of railways in one of his recent speeches showed that he is in hearty sympathy with the improvement of the means of transportation, and especially of the Intercolonial Railway. He intimated that there would be a surplus of hundreds of thousands of dollars on the operation of that system during the past financial year and that no effort would be made to make it as efficient as lately appointed by the Presbyterian General Assembly, is expected to return home today.

Dr. White's Honey Balm For Coughs and Colds. SAFE AND SURE. Price, 25 Cents. We wish we could impress upon you the great importance of paying prompt attention to the slightest trouble to the throat or lungs. A sharp cold will often so weaken the Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, as to make them yield readily to the germs of serious diseases. This is especially true if there is an inherited tendency to cough lungs. A cold in the head is but enough, but a cold in the throat or chest is worse; somehow it makes you think of Bronchitis, Pneumonia and possibly Consumption itself. Do not let the cold go down. So long as the lining membrane of the Throat and Bronchial Tubes and Lungs are in a fairly healthy condition, the danger from disease germs is greatly reduced. But once let the membrane be torn or broken, as the result of a cold or violent coughing, and the conditions are entirely different, as everything then is in good condition for the germs of Pneumonia or Consumption to do their terrible work. Then again, the recovery from a bad cold is not always complete. There is a little inflammation or roughness, or tenderness, and you still require to exercise care, as a relapse is often harder to cure than the first attack.

TREATMENT. Just as soon as you feel that you have taken a cold, you should begin treatment by taking something to warm you up. Drink Peniston's Panacea, and put the feet in hot water, and keep the body warm until the perspiration starts, then take a dose of DR. WHITE'S HONEY BALM. This will give you instant relief. A COUGH SYRUP that will treat a cold in a satisfactory manner, must be soothing, warming and healing, one that will loosen the cough, and contains neither opium or morphine. DR. WHITE'S HONEY BALM immediately relieves the throat irritation, and tightness across the chest, and makes a quick and PERFECT CURE. The reason that a cough often lingers for months or years, is because you have not used the proper treatment. To those who suffer, we again say if you want the best get WHITE'S HONEY BALM. Best because the contents are pure. Pleasant to take, and the cure is sure.

RELIGIOUS DISPUTATION

Certain venerable clergymen who are naturally conservative, with the conservatism of advancing years, and certain younger men, who have failed to understand and appreciate the religious spirit of their time, are troubled by the foundations of faith given away because of public tolerance of religious views not in favor with former generations.

WHEAT AND MONEY

The drop in the price of wheat, and the decision of the banks not to provide cash for speculation in grain is due to the general monetary stringency. Thus the Toronto Mail and Empire says: "Money is too scarce, and the necessity to have plenty of it on hand is too great."

ish and European investors, will cause the gold movement to set strongly towards this side of the Atlantic and will thus ease the financial strain.

The Times yesterday quoted reports from Canadian centres to the effect that Canadian banks, like those in the states, are discouraging speculation in wheat.

MONDAY'S BATTLE

Monday is election day in Bellechasse, and the short campaign is one of the most exciting in the recent history of Quebec province.

While the champions on each side predict victory, the cautious observer offers no opinion. The Toronto News thus aptly describes the situation:—"Mr. Bourassa has resigned his seat in the house of commons in order to fight Mr. Adelaar Turgeon, member of the Quebec cabinet, in the county of Bellechasse."

The Montreal Star sees some cause for thanksgiving in that city. We quote:—"The dairymen have raised the price of butter, the brewers have raised the price of beer, the distillers have raised the price of whiskey and the milkmen have raised the price of milk."

The Victoria Colonist adds this testimony to the greatness of Canada:—"Think of it—strawberries, pumpkin, squash, cucumber, citron and potatoes successfully grow four hundred and fifty miles north of Edmonton! We are yet ignorant of the size of Canada, that is, in respect to its habitable area."

A SCOTTISH NIGHT Many hundreds are desirous of renewing the delights experienced when Jessie MacLachlan sang to the hearts of St. John lovers of the popular in Scottish music.

The Victoria Colonist adds this testimony to the greatness of Canada:—"Think of it—strawberries, pumpkin, squash, cucumber, citron and potatoes successfully grow four hundred and fifty miles north of Edmonton! We are yet ignorant of the size of Canada, that is, in respect to its habitable area."

NOT CAIN AND ABEL BUT JUST TWO CAINS

Though John and James Have Never Met They Have One Thing in Common—Both Have Been Arrested.

James Cain who is employed on D. R. Jack's farm at Duck Cove, drove to the city yesterday and managed to accumulate an overdose of spirits, which made him rather hazy aloft, and on returning home he experienced some difficulty in navigating his horse.

On Douglas Avenue he fell into the hands of Patrolmen Finley and Corbett who placed the animal in McCarthy's stable in Simonds street and Cain in the north end police station, where a friend called later in the evening and put up the necessary $8 to secure his release.

John Cain was gathered in by Patrolman George Henry for begging from door to door.

Neither of the Cains had heard of each other before they met in the north end police station.

William Golding was arrested last night at the instance of Mrs. Winnie de Wolfe, who charges him with striking her in the face with his clenched fist.

Druggist Says No Sufferer of Kidney Trouble or Rheumatism Should Leave This Simple Homemade Mixture Untried.

That the readers of this paper appreciate advice when given in good faith is plainly demonstrated by the fact that one well-known local pharmacy filled the "vegetable prescription" many times within the past two weeks. Most of these folk, naturally bought the ingredients only and mixed them at home. The announcement of this simple, harmless mixture has certainly accomplished the noble purpose of relieving many, relieving pain and misery, especially among the older population, who are always suffering more or less with bladder and urinary troubles, backache and particularly rheumatism.

Another workman druggist asks us to continue the announcement of the prescription. It is doing so much real good here, he contends, that it would be a pity to do so. It can not be repeated too often, and further states many cases of remarkable cures wrought.

"RID HERN" HEARD FROM GRAND MANAN, Oct. 21st, 1907.

Times New Reporter:
Sir—I went into Mr. John Tyler's other day. He was out, but Mrs. Tyler was there, and another woman—I don't know what her name was. She had a blue spotted handkerchief tied into a kind of turban, or a dusting cap, placed coquettishly on her very little head. As I entered, she commenced to tell Mrs. Tyler that she saw in the St. John Evening Times where a boy two years old was arrested. Mrs. Tyler said she didn't believe it.

"Do you mean to tell me that I lie?" she asked.
"Oh, no."
"Didn't I see it with my two eyes?" she interrupted, "in double headlines, in letters as large as my fist! Do you think I can't read?" she screamed.

"I beg your pardon, reconstituted Mrs. Tyler. I merely meant that in the Times—"
"What?" she gasped, "do you mean to insinuate that the Times lied, when everybody knows if you see it in the Times it is so?"

"I don't know about that," snapped Mrs. Tyler, who about this time was beginning to lose her temper. "Any first word brought on another and they got into a scrap. Just then their husbands came in and they got into it also. I got a home was some torn lingerie and two men crippled for life. I sneaked out in the fracas and went home and dug up back numbers and see if I could find the article that caused so much trouble. After looking through the hour and shivering all the time with fear that the children had torn it up I at last found it. 'Well, I swear,' I exclaimed, 'the woman in the spotted cap was right after all, for here it is in double headlines, in letters as large as my fist! This is some thing unusual. I must see what the embryo species of the animal known as man has been doing.' I drew the light nearer and settled myself comfortably in my arm chair. I found the boy had been arrested for trespass, how he went on his neighbor's farm and dug up all his home truck. Now, sir, you know the mind works rapidly sometimes. I thought: 'It is a shame to put this boy in jail. I would like to have him to dig my potatoes this fall or I could put him in a herring bog on the stringing table and he could string herring, and then I would give him a job. I found myself reading about a woman that had a little boy just one year older than this little boy that swallowed a bottle of scolding syrup, or some other detection. I know not what, and it cured him in fifteen minutes. So, again, by goosh.' I exclaimed, as I examined the gold-larned thing into the stove. Then I went to bed, with visions of fiery headed women, broken dresses, and cracked heads, and streams of profanity and the Times' two-year-old infant. I dropped into dreamland. Yours, RID HERN.

MORE ABOUT THE DOUBLE TRACKING OF UNION ST.

We now request that, in view of its great importance, and of the fact that no chance was given to the business men and residents and teamsters interested in the matter, to lay their side of the case before you the question be again opened.

Taking into consideration the statements which we have just made, we feel assured that the petitioners should be given a hearing, the matter fairly and equitably considered.

We are advised that, because of a petition against it, you refused to allow Union street to be double-tracked between Sydney and Charlotte streets. Our clients were never given a chance to make a petition before the same body as those of the residents and business men between Sydney and Charlotte streets, and the traffic over it is just as heavy. All the reasons that are given by you for not double-tracking Union street between Sydney and Charlotte streets also apply to not double-tracking it between Sydney and Brussels streets. At all inconvenience to the travelling public, while, on the other hand, a double track on the two portions which were last filed with your board of works, in the following way:

It will greatly decrease the value of property fronting on said portion of Union street; will cause great inconvenience to those residing along this portion of Union street; it will greatly inconvenience and seriously hamper along the delivery of goods both to and from their premises; it being the chief thoroughfare of the city of St. John for all traffic incidental to that part of the city, and also one of the main arteries for trade with the surrounding country; it will render unsafe the passage of teams and endanger the lives of pedestrians.

We are,
Very truly yours,
(Sgd) BUSTIN & FRENCH.

Talking with the Times, Thomas F. White, manager of the White Candy Company, Ltd. stated that at the council meeting referred to he waited—not out in the anteroom, but in the council chamber—for two hours, from 4.30 o'clock in the afternoon until 6.30 o'clock in the evening. It could not be said, he added, that he was not in delegation present, as Alderman Pickett drew attention to the matter two or three times, and yet the mayor said he didn't see them.

Another interested party who happened to be present asked Mr. White, if even at this late hour, when the door had been taken down and the horse gone, it were not possible for someone to put up the door again and get him back. White replied that he would go on to point out that letters from the residents of Union street as well as the delegation were ignored by the council and that the matter, he adds, has ceased to concern only the White Candy Company, Ltd. and those doing business on Union street but has become a question of public interest generally and many are wondering what the city council intend to do this time. When the letters were written and laid before the council by the residents of Union street and the other parties to the matter it was thought that the common council had dealt with the matter and nobody dreamed that the board of works would act without authority from the common council.

Another interested party in speaking with the Times said: "The common council having refused to grant a permit to double track Union street, the board of works put it through without consulting the council. Now, when can the citizens rely on an agreement with the city council when such conditions exist?"

The same person adds that the question to be decided is whether the board of works or the common council is running the city and that will be decided by the vote on the double-track matter at the next meeting. This, he points out is the first time the board of works has acted in such a manner with regard to double-tracking, and if they do it with that it is reasonable to assume that they might allow the Allan and other people to have special privileges in the harbor. The double-tracking of Union street will, he states further increase the city's liability to the Allan and other people to have special privileges and the street railway company who must meet any damages resulting therefrom. "Well, the taxpayer of St. John," he concludes, "allow this to go on?"

Meanwhile the work of double tracking Union street is going merrily on. The tracks have been laid and the paving of the street is almost completed.

DOCTORS AND DRUGS FAILED HER

ECZEMA TORTURED HER
Then She Tried "Fruit-a-tives" and They Cured Her

Skin disease is always due to impure blood. It is the duty of the skin, bowels and kidneys to rid the system of tissue waste. When there is anything wrong with the kidneys or bowels, the skin tries to do extra work and breaks down under the strain. Sometimes the skin is attacked by germs, which, because of its weakened condition, it is unable to resist. Ointments and lotions, and dusting powders, and medicated soaps are useless in eczema, because they treat only the outer skin. "Fruit-a-tives" cure, because they go to the root of the trouble, they purify the blood. They act on the liver—purify the kidneys and bowels—soothe and stimulate the skin—and so purify and enrich the blood that disease germs are thrown off—the itching, bleeding surfaces healed—and the whole system is built up and strengthened.

"I had dreadful eczema on my face, arms and head. I was advised to take 'Fruit-a-tives' to purify the blood, and I am very thankful to say that I took this medicine. When I had taken two boxes, the rash was entirely gone, the pain in the back left, and my complexion is clearer than it has been for years. Before I used this medicine, I had used many kinds of salves and took quantities of medicines, but these did me no good. But 'Fruit-a-tives' at once did me good—and they entirely took away the fearful rash."—Mrs. F. Mallory, 34 Union Street, Ottawa, Ont. druggists.

HOTEL GUESTS ESCAPED CLAD IN NIGHT ROBES

Fire in Plaza Hotel Early This Morning Causes a Panic—Exhausted Women Picked Off Fire Escapes.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—More than five hundred guests of the Plaza Hotel, North Avenue and Clark street, fled from their rooms early today when fire broke out in the basement of the hotel. The building was quickly filled with smoke and many of the guests had difficulty in reaching the street. The guests, most of them thinly clad, sought refuge in stores nearby. Some of them were slightly affected by the smoke. About 40 women becoming exhausted, were carried down ladders and fire escapes by firemen. Arthur Hart, the night clerk and two bell boys who nearly lost their lives in wearing the coats of their danger, assisted many in reaching the street. When the firemen reached the building the fire escaped were cleared with frightened men and women. Some of them jumped from the second floor landings without waiting to be taken down. Several were severely bruised. The fire was soon extinguished with small property loss.

THEY CAN'T TRIM KING

Japanese in Vancouver Find the Commissioner a Difficult Problem.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 2.—(Special)
Mr. Ogawa, secretary of the Kanjo Company, an employment agency, who on Thursday was instructed to produce the company's books failed to do this yesterday.

Commissioner King said he hoped he would not be obliged to send a policeman after Ogawa. He pointed out that it was very desirable in the interest of Ogawa and his firm, that the promise to produce the books be carried out. He hoped, for the sake of the parties interested in these employment agencies, were not surrounded by more mystery than was necessary.

"I want to have a look at those damaged goods," remarked the commissioner to Mr. Tanaka, a tailor who presented a claim for $675. Tanaka stated "in his declaration that the goods were spoiled by stones thrown through his windows."

"I cannot see how you lost so much on this cloth," continued the commissioner. "There is a doubt in my mind and I think I will go down and look at the goods, you take me down."

"Oh, I don't think it's any use going down, besides, I am busy this evening," replied Tanaka.

"I will go right away," said the commissioner, "now do you want me to go?"

"Put I have not had anything to eat," protested the witness. "and I have business to attend to."

"Well," said the commissioner, "if you have no time to show me the damage done I have none to consider your statement. I am prepared to go with you, to look at the damage, and make my own estimate. Do you want to go?"

"Oh go if you like," said the witness.

"That's not answering my question," objected the commissioner, "take your choice."

"All right," conceded Tanaka, "any time you like to come," and the little party embarked for Westminster.

LITERARY PILGRIMAGE

THE PALACE AND OLD TOWER

GOETHE HOME AND MUSEUM

DOCKAY HOUSE IN THE PALACE PARK

Just as thousands of tourists visit Oberammergau to witness the Passion Play and hasten to Bayreuth for Wagnerian festivals so each year nearly the same number visit Weimar, the Athens of northern Europe. Ever since the two greatest German poets made this place aged with their memories, scholars and writers no less than musicians have found it a worthy retreat. Dickens and Thackeray spent some time here and George Eliot and Madame de Staël sought Weimar as a place of inspiration. Amalia Winter in her charming Weimar album describes the many brilliant English and Russians who came to take tea with Goethe's daughter-in-law, and spent the evening listening to the reading of German and English poetry. An Englishman of that day wrote in his diary these words in memory of Goethe and the days he made golden: "Sad heart why do you awaken in me memories of those golden days that flew by so quickly. In the classic town on the Elm noted for its culture, life in the open air and pleasure. Weimar, oh, your name and its associations haunt me now." There are still plenty of associations to delight thousands of travellers who spend several happy days amidst these literary haunts. Weimar is an attractive place in itself, it rests in a valley surrounded by mountains and splendid woods of the Thuringian forest. The air is refreshed by a small river which wanders gently and romantically about the meadows, and woods and again rushes on so forcibly it must be held back by a dam. The town is adorned with a beautiful park and some splendid monuments and some very attractive houses. The Hotel Erbprinz is one of the show places because of its historic associations. This hotel was formerly a large inn and was for many months at a time the home of German writers when Goethe, musicians and painters. When Franz Liszt first came to Weimar this was his only home for five months. Here he practised and played for many of his friends and wrote many of the compositions which were later brought out at the opera house. His bedroom and the room occupied by Goethe are the two most popular rooms in the house and guests bid high to say they lived in the last and Goethe rooms. There is nothing especially noteworthy in its furnishing except the beautiful writing desk at which the great musician and composer wrote. The top is shaped like a Greek temple decorated with mirrors and marquetry wood. The rest of the furniture is limited to a wooden bed, a small table, washstand and a large round table and an oblong table with gilt trimmings. But the furnishing of the room is very fine to that which the Schiller room knew. The small dimensions, the single bed, the plain writing desk and the one chair tell better than words the struggle and hardships which followed the great and talented poet all his days. Very different from the comfortable quarters Goethe enjoyed. Goethe's room was far more spacious and better furnished. His room had two large windows with a balcony commanding a splendid view of the old Castle walls with their strange carvings, a small house opposite with a strange sun-dial and the large market square. Goethe's bed is especially interesting because it is built in the wall and has linen curtains hung before it. The most elaborate piece of furniture in the writing desk, an exact duplicate of the one Liszt used. It is the desk on which he is supposed to have written many of his most ardent love letters and parts of his Faust. Though many noted guests have dined and spent some hours in this inn, two other names have made the place historic. Napoleon lived here some weeks when he once paid a visit to Weimar. In the rooms Franz Liszt first came to Weimar this was posed to have written many important state letters. The great painter Menzel also lived here a long time and painted some of his greatest masterpieces. There is the same terrace overlooking the garden where Goethe gave a dinner to Prince Augustus, Liszt and others. It is here whispered that he often paid for Schiller's supper when his friend was short of money. Liszt also gave some famous dinners here, played for his guests and discussed his compositions at length. A stone's throw from the hotel is the royal park, a beautiful wooded place out by the Elm murmuring with waterfalls and spanned with rustic bridges. In the summer-time the park is crowded with mothers giving their children an airing and men resting and enjoying the beauty of the surrounding after their day of hard toil. They are seen in a cabinet on the other side are seen dishes, rings, letters, snuff-boxes and walking sticks, used by the poet. The single wooden bedstead in which Schiller breathed his last is placed in the work-room. It is piled high with ribbons which adorned wreaths sent by all nations when he died. As one goes on those faded ribbons one's eyes fill with tears and the lips whisper: "They came too late. Why did not the world help and appreciate this wonderful genius when his soul needed their sympathy and protection." Not far from the Schiller house is the library of which Goethe was director for many years. The building showed that he was almost as good an architect as poet. Not satisfied with the appearance of the place he remodelled the hall so that the pictures, busts and books would be the other. There are busts of many of the men who made Weimar known to the world. In this number are seen Goethe, Schiller, Herder, Wieland, Karl August, Lavater, Napoleon and Madame de Staël. To one side is a large room overlooking the garden where Goethe worked many years and is supposed to have planned and written the greatest part of his Faust. More interesting still is the Goethe summer-house, a single frame dwelling surrounded by a lovely garden and wood. He lived here for eight years before moving to the larger house. The home is much the same as when he lived there. On the first floor is the dining-room furnished with wooden chairs and table. It is here Schiller and he often sat together and discussed poetry by the hour. Their discussions were only to be interrupted by the garden to keep the dishes and books. The most elaborate furnishings are the white curtains which were embroidered by Frau von Stein, one of Goethe's sweethearts. These are now covered because so many of the tourists insisted on cutting off pieces and taking them away as souvenirs. The garden is set out in terraces and is full of beautiful trees. There is a large stone where Goethe and Frau Klein sat together talking by the hour. A bronze slab contains the love verses she wrote to him while sitting there one afternoon. Across the road is a house where Frau von Stein is supposed to have had an apartment. Close to the garden hedge runs the road to Ober-Weimar, on the other side is a meadow and a path lined with trees. A bridge leads to the Gartenhaus where Prince Karl August lived during the summer and amused himself telegraphing to Goethe's summer house. Goethe's summer house was exceedingly simple compared with the place he lived in later. The entrance hall is large and imposing and decorated with several statues brought from Greece. A broad flight of steps lead to the many living rooms. The walls are hung with many rare portraits including splendid likenesses of Schiller and the poet Wieland; but the most interesting are all of Goethe's many sweethearts including Madame Schroeber and Frau von Stein. Just as valuable are the rare collections of Venetian glass, Majolica and terra cotta Goethe gathered when travelling in Italy and Greece. But this rare collection includes personal gifts given to the poet, including a laurel wreath of gold, rings, seals, snuff-boxes, coins, rare plate and a piano, a gift of Mendelssohn. A flight of steps open into a wing. Beyond are his work-rooms filled with splendid collections of woods, minerals and zoological specimens, showing what a wonderful knowledge of science he had. There are also cabinets filled with scales, bottles and test-tubes. The most ostentatious room is his work-room, only lighted by two small windows. In the middle is a large work table and two chairs, one was for him, the other was used by his secretary. Under the table is the wastebasket into which he threw his handkerchiefs when he got excited. The only other furnishing is a high writing stool on which rests a creamy glass host of Napoleon. The bedroom used by the poet is even smaller. In his old age the chief luxury in which he indulged was to eat his breakfast in a large armchair. On a stand are seen the bottle and spoon from which the poet took his medicine in his last illness. Above stairs is a series of rooms which were later occupied by Goethe's only son. The walls are hung with many portraits of Schiller and his father. In one small room is a large picture of Goethe seated in an armchair and looking towards a window. His daughter-in-law kneels weeping before him. The room is flooded with light symbolizing the poet's last words, "Light, more light." But the traveller is unwilling to say good-bye to Weimar until he visits the resting place of these great men. A short walk leads to a cemetery. In a plain tomb are a number of bronze caskets, two are distinguished from the others because they are covered with beautiful wreaths. On one casket lies a wreath of gold inscribed with the words: "Wilhelm Goethe," on the other a silver wreath bears the words "Friedrich Schiller." These two friends, brother poets so warm to each other in life now rest side by side. This friendship is beautifully expressed in the large bronze statue erected to their memory. The young poet Schiller holds some parchment in his hand and his eyes are seen gazing upward in inspiration. His other hand touches the laurel wreath which Goethe holds as he looks out on the world confident of his genius.

THE SCHOOLS
(Toronto News)
Correspondence schools in the United States and Canada have found a profitable field among the workmen of this country. Hundreds of young men working in machine shops, foundries, railway shops, or in other centres of industry are spending their leisure time and their spare cash in order to learn something about the trade in which they are engaged. They are wise to do so. While teaching by correspondence is not an ideal system, still these lessons are eminently practical and cannot fail to benefit an earnest student. As the field of such institutions must be chiefly among those men whose circumstances do not permit them to remain in school after the age of fourteen, the lessons provided by the correspondence schools are entirely technical or industrial. The frank object is to enable the student to secure more remunerative employment and to make him more valuable to his employer. Therefore, for example, courses in mechanical drawing, hydraulics, surveying, textiles and the machinery, telegraphy and stenography are provided. The very success of the correspondence school is a proof that technical education is a vital requirement of these days. Manufacturing is not what it was twenty-five years ago. Improved machinery has worked marvelous changes. Now a man can work in a machine shop for ten years and come out no more a machinist than when he went in. Perhaps for those ten years he has simply watched a machine which punched three rivet holes in a steel plate of a certain shape and size. The chances are that he is "on piece work," and so he buys that he has no time to do anything but his neighbor's doing, and why. Such a man could never take charge of a shop. A foreman must know what the factory makes and how to make it most economically. Therefore, when a foreman is needed, the employer is forced to go abroad. That is the situation in many Canadian factories. It is the natural outcome of our modernized industrial system, and in many respects it is unsatisfactory. The workmen feel that they have no chance to improve their positions, the employers feel the lack of skilled labor. No wonder that workmen turn naturally to the correspondence school as the only available means of technical instruction. But in Germany the government has established facilities for technical education far surpassing the system of learning by mail. In Britain also polytechnic schools have been established by government aid. There is a great need for something of the kind in Canada. It is not necessary to slavishly imitate Great Britain, Germany or the United States. Conditions here are unique. Indeed, neither labor men nor employers presume to demand a definite programme. The procedure. But they say that the whole question should be the subject of earnest government inquiry. Here is the situation: certain employees feel deeply the need of technical education. The trade and commerce of the country will languish unless facilities for such education are provided. Let the federal department of trade and commerce investigate. Something better than skin deep instruction by mail is desirable in the interest of the industrial army of Canada.

F. A. LAURENCE M. P.
TO THE N. S. BENCH
He is Appointed Puisne Judge of Supreme Court - Judge Townshend Now Chief Justice
Ottawa, Nov. 1.—Hon. Charles James Townshend, puisne judge of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, has been appointed chief justice of the court in the place of Chief Justice Weatherbe, who resigned some time ago.
Judge Townshend was elevated to the bench from the house of commons to which he was elected as a Conservative in 1884 after a very active and prominent part in provincial politics. In 1885 he seconded the address in reply to the speech from the throne and was congratulated by Sir John Macdonald. In 1887 he was appointed to the bench. Judge Townshend is the senior member of the court.
Frederick A. Laurence, K. C., M. P. of Colchester (N. S.), has been appointed a puisne judge of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia in the place of Justice Townshend, deceased. Mr. Laurence represented Colchester in the Nova Scotia assembly from 1886 to 1891, when he entered the House of Commons. For ten years he was speaker of the legislature assembly. This leaves three vacancies for the commons, one in Colchester and one in Lunenburg and the third in Nicolet.

BIG SMELTER FOR TORONTO
Probability of Large Establishment in Queen City.
Toronto, Nov. 1.—The Moose Mountain Company's application for a site on Ashbridge Marsh has been reported by Commissioner of Industries Thompson. He says it is the intention of the syndicate to immediately proceed with the erection of a smelter capable of treating 1,400 tons of ore per day, to be followed as quickly as they reclaim the land by the establishment of industries such as rail mill, plate mill, structural iron and steel works and eventually the building of railway cars. Available space in Ashbridge Bay, including Simcoe Park, after deducting ground necessary for dockage along the water front, is approximately 520 acres. To open up the proposed works would necessitate the syndicate acquiring the whole of the property. It would be necessary to give a bond of about 450 acres of land as soon as the smelter is in operation.

TWO TRAINMEN DEAD IN WRECK
C.P.R. Freight Crashes Through 20 Foot Trestle Near Eastham, Quebec.
Richard, Vt., Nov. 1.—In the plunge of an engine and eight cars of a freight train through a twenty foot trestle on the Canadian Pacific railroad at Eastham (Que.), today, two of the trainmen were killed, according to a despatch received here tonight from the scene of the wreck. The victims were: Roland Draper, engineer, of Sutton Junction (Que.); Hugh McKinney, fireman, of Richard. The rest of the crew escaped by jumping when they felt the trestle sway beneath the weight of the heavily-loaded train. At the instant the trestle collapsed, Draper and McKinney had not been recovered from the mud in which they were buried by the debris of the wreck.
The train was bound from Halifax (N. S.) for Sutton Junction and was proceeding slowly over the trestle near Eastham, where it spans a deep gully at the bottom of which is a small but very muddy stream. When the train was well on the bridge the structure began to sway heavily. The brakemen at once perceived the danger and leaping from cart-top to cart-top, they reached the cabooses and jumped to the ground just as the trestle crashed to the muddy bottom of the gully. Engineer Draper and fireman McKinney had no time to jump and were carried down with their machines. Eight cars of the freight piled in after them and made the work of reaching their bodies one of great difficulty. Traffic on that branch will be held up probably for several days.
Winnipeg, Conn., Nov. 1.—The Boston express over the Central New England railroad narrowly escaped being hauled over a fifty foot embankment when a dam this afternoon by the breaking of a journal on the tender of the locomotive, as the train was rounding a curve between West Winfield and Winnfield. No one was hurt. Although the rails twisted, neither the engine nor any of the coaches left them. Passenger trains were stalled on either side of the wreck.
As a result of the accident the Halifax express tonight will have to go to Moncton via Newport (N. S.), and thence to Lunenburg over the Boston and Maine.
