DISMISSED BY TORIERS; TAKES CASE TO COURT

Political Partizanship Was Charge; Bourgouin Says There Was No Cause

WAS CLERK ON CANAL

Sues Man Who, he Says, Made Affidavit Which Led to Dismissal—Adds That Hon. Mr. Cochrane Disregarded Counter Affidavits

(Canadian Press) Montreal, April 3—George Bourgouin, one of the civil servants dismissed from the office by the present government on political partizanship charges in the course of the late federal elections, is determined to investigate all the circumstances surrounding the action of the minister of railways and canals in dismissing him from office and, with that end in view, has entered a suit for $50,000 against Ephrem J. de Beascond, who, he alleges, was primarily instrumental in bringing about his dismissal.

The plaintiff, who was in charge of statistical work in connection with the Lachine canal, since 1899, represents that it was on an affidavit of the defendant that the Hon. Mr. Cochrane, minister of railways and canals, acted in the matter. He alleges that he learned of this fact only when he was notified that his services were no longer required.

He says he then proceeded to Ottawa, and though he made counter affidavits denying the charge, the affidavit being sustained by the declarations of several other people, the minister refused to reconsider his decision.

The plaintiff denies that either during or immediately prior to the late campaign he had actively interested himself in matters political, either on one side or the other.

SIR JAMES IN A HUFF

Toronto, Ont., April 3—Sir James Whitney made the following statement in regard to the senator's action in killing the "Brimingham" and Northern Ontario railway subsidy and the highway measure. For years he has kept his real attitude more or less under cover, but he is not attempting to disguise it now. He pretends to be an admirer of British institutions, and in this matter does the expressed wish of the people of the province."

VOTE TO STAY OUT BUT RETURN TO THE WORK

Strike Ballot in Britain Is Proving Against The Wage Bill

Men Seem to Want Fixed Daily Wage—However, More Are Back in the Mines—Situation in United States May Mean More Prolonged Idle Time Than Expected

(Canadian Press) London, April 3—All the miners in the northern counties of England, and a portion of those in Scotland, have followed the fighting lead of the miners of Lancashire and declared against the resumption of work until the minimum rates of wages have been definitely fixed. This will give a majority of the miners in the United Kingdom in favor of continuing the strike, but it is expected that the federation will nevertheless declare it to be terminated.

The result of the vote shows that the government minimum wage act has not settled the local rates of wages, but has appealed to the imagination of the men, who want the principle of the minimum daily wage, translated into a fixed daily wage.

Some of the district boards which have been appointed already, but they have not been able to decide upon their chairman, so that these appointments will have to be made by the government.

The number of miners working in the pits is increasing daily, but not rapidly. Upwards of 10,000 are now working in the Northern Wales coal fields, which is double the figure of yesterday. There has been some rioting in different parts of the country. At Dunderraline, in Scotland, the miners stoned the police protecting the non-unionists, who had resumed work.

At Pontypool, in Monmouthshire, a crowd of striking miners smashing the windows in the houses of the men who have returned to work.

The coal which is being raised is taken chiefly by the railways. There has been a further large decrease in railway traffic according to the week's returns. The Northeastern railway company alone showing a decrease of $800,000 for the week. This has caused a weakening of railroad stocks on the stock exchange.

ENGLAND AGAINST STATE-OWNED CABLES

London, April 3—We do not favor state owned transatlantic cables, nor subsidize for such purpose. If any company offered to construct a cable which would carry messages at reduced rates, then the proposal would be welcomed." Such was Mr. Samuel's reply to Harry Lawson, when the latter asked whether the government proposed to meet the wishes of the Canadian parliament for the establishment of a transatlantic cable.

Postmaster General Samuel said: "I am aware of the general desire expressed in the House of Commons for cheap and easy communication between Canada and the United Kingdom, a desire which is fully shared by His Majesty's government, but no resolution was adopted in favor of any specific rates or recommendations of definite lines of policy. The postmaster general of Canada stated that he did not think that a state owned cable would be necessary. When the question of a state owned cable to Canada was considered by the imperial conference last year it was intimated that endeavors were being made to obtain a reduction of fifty per cent on non-urgent messages in plain language and also a possible reduction for express telegrams. These reductions have since been secured, together with a large reduction in rates for the deferred messages known as cable letters.

"I do not wish to regard these reductions as final, but I cannot see my way to demand further reductions at present."

In answer to Sir Gilbert Parker, the postmaster general said that the government was not in favor of a state-owned cable across the Atlantic.

WELCOME BY ROYAL GOVERNOR

Duke of Connaught's Words To The West Indies Delegation

Stimulate Trade

Reciprocity Between Canada and Islands—Refers to Former Action and Expresses Wish For Attainment of End Which is Sought

(Canadian Press) Ottawa, April 3—In his welcoming address to the delegates to the conference on trade relations with the West Indies, His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, said in part—

"You have come to Ottawa to discuss the question of reciprocity between Canada and the West Indian colonies or, in other words, to discover how those two great sub-divisions of the empire may best stimulate the trade in their natural products to the advantage of the producers and consumers. This gives a wide field for negotiations and for discussion, and also opens up the greatest question of commerce without which trade cannot exist."

"I know the difficulties that lie in your way. I had there been no such difficulties to be overcome, this conference would have been unnecessary, and the globe might have been settled by correspondence. But much ground has been cleared by the work of the royal commission which sat two years ago, and whose report furnishes many valuable data as a basis of discussion."

"If the trade between Canada and the West Indies was worthy of the attention of a special mission at that time, how much more is it worth considering now, when the march of the progress in Canada has so enormously augmented her trade and when the turn of the wheel has restored to the West Indies that property which had for a short time, but which was no fault of their own, partly slipped from their grasp."

"I think no one will deny the generosity of the action of the dominion government in giving preference to West Indian sugar when the production of the Tobago was threatened with extinction."

"I do not intend to quote a number of figures, but I simply wish to refer to the value of sugar exported from British Guiana to Canada, which in 1899-1900, amounted only to £20,000 and ten years later attained the important sum of £750,000."

"What has been done in the case of one commodity may be done in another. I don't mean to say that any party to the conference is seeking for concession. No one is pleading 'in forma pauperis.' Your sole object in coming here is to endeavor to establish the maximum benefit at the minimum mutual sacrifice; for the West Indies have products which we need in the Dominion of Canada, and Canada can supply commodities which the West Indies do not produce."

"I wish you every success in attaining this most desirable end, and desire in conclusion to assure all the members of the conference of my very deep interest in the work in which they are engaged."

The delegates were honored by an invitation to dinner at government house last night. Accompanying the delegates were their wives, the members of the Canadian cabinet, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Sir Richard Cartwright, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. S. A. Fisher, Hon. Clifford Sifton, Sir Mackenzie Bowden and many members of the parliament and senate. Afterward a reception was held at government house and the daughters of the guests were invited.

CONFESSES MURDER

PUNCH TO STIMULATE INTEREST IN ST. JOHN PROPERTY IN OLD DAYS

An interesting side light on real estate transactions in St. John 114 years ago is given by a copy of a historic document in the possession of Clarence Ward. It is the account rendered by an auctioneer for the sale of property on November 28, 1798.

The auctions in those days were held indoors, in the old Coffee House, where the Bank of Montreal now stands. Having secured a group of bidders, it was evidently necessary to stimulate their enthusiasm a bit before they would reach the proper state of mind to invest in St. John real estate in those days. The evidence of this is given in the bill of expenses, which includes a charge of two shillings a gallon in those days it seemed to require a considerable amount of it to secure the desired result.

UNIONIST M.P.'S IN BELFAST INVASION

Londolo, April 3—Seventy Unionist M.P.'s will leave for Belfast at the end of the week to participate in a demonstration on Tuesday. The Observance of Maundy Thursday tomorrow in England and in Other Countries

(Copyright, 1912, by the Brentwood Company)

Tomorrow the time-honored observance of Maundy Thursday will take place. In countries where the state religion is Protestant, the celebration is restricted to a general rule nowadays to the distribution of money and baskets of provisions in the name of the sovereign; while in Catholic countries, the old-fashioned and picturesque ceremony of washing the feet of twelve poor men, or twelve poor women, by the monarch, has been retained.

The last English monarch to perform in person this ceremony was King James II. Subsequent to this, the feet-washing was celebrated by the monarch to the lord high almoner, and we are informed that on April 15, 1731, being Maundy Thursday, there were distributed at the banquet hall, Whitehall, to forty poor men, and to forty-eight poor women, (the king's age being forty-eight) sides of beef and shoulders of mutton, bowls of ale; also large wooden platters of fish, and leaves. Each platter comprised one large ling, two large dried cod, twelve herrings, and twelve white herrings. After this, each person received shoes, stockings, linen, wooden cloth, and leather bags, with one-penny, two penny, three-penny, and four-penny pieces of silver, and shillings, to the amount of about four pounds.

His Grace, the Lord Archbishop of York as lord high almoner of the king, performed on that occasion the annual ceremony of washing the feet of twelve of the forty-eight individuals in the royal chapel, which was formerly done by the king himself, in imitation of our Saviour's pattern of humility.

King James II. was not the only post-reformation sovereign to wash the feet of the poor on Maundy Thursday. Queen Elizabeth, with all her aversion to everything pertaining to the Catholic church, retained this ceremony, and is on record as having washed the feet of the thirty-nine women on Maundy Thursday, in March 1572. What she did was restricted to pouring a drop of scented water on their feet, which she thereupon touched with a napkin, crossed, and kissed.

Tomorrow's Ceremony. Nowadays, the washing of the feet has been abandoned by the crown of England in the celebration of Maundy Thursday, and the ceremony tomorrow will be restricted to the distribution of the royal Maundy dole at Westminster Abbey, with a considerable amount of pomp and ceremony, which is well worthy of attendance.

The recipients, carefully selected, correspond in number, in the case of each sex, with the age of the sovereign. The men and women will be dressed in black. On the doors of the Abbey being opened, they will be conducted to their places by the vergers and will fill the lowest rows of seats in the choir, forming two columns reaching from the organ to the sacristy. On one side sit the women, on the other the men.

Suddenly the organ begins to peal forth, and the procession appears, entering through the nave to the choir. It is headed by the abbot of the abbey, bearing the mace. Following him are the royal choristers, the grown-up members of which are officially termed "the gentlemen of the choir." These fall into their regular places as the procession advances. Next come three choristers, representing the recipients of the royal Maundy. They carry bouquets, the colors of which are invariably red, white, and yellow. Following them is the gorgeously apparelled and magnificent major of the Yeoman of the Guard.

All eyes are directed towards the two next comers and their burden. These are two gigantic Yeomen of the Guard, carrying, shoulder high, an immense brass dish, from the edge of which, in a perfect circle, depend long red and white purses, strings, terminating in silk tassels. On the top of the purses lay twelve well filled bags of chamois leather. The dish is laid by the Yeoman of the Guard upon a tall circular oaken table of ancient date, that looks as if it might have been made for the purpose. Then the Yeomen of the Guard take their stations, one on each side of the table, and behind them, on their way to the sacristy, pass Dean Armitage Robinson of Wells Cathedral, who is the lord high almoner, the sub-almoner, Canon Sheppard, the Lord Bishop Ryle, who is Dean of Westminster Abbey, and the canons of the chapter thereof. Yeomen of the Guard, some sixty in number, all armed with halberds, form a line on either side of the choir.

The office for the Royal Maundy is then intoned by the Dean of Westminster and

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

THE older I grow the more deeply I am impressed by the intertexture of character—that is, the invariable effect of self-indulgence and lack of control in any one direction upon the whole character.

For instance, I believe that the child who is freely allowed to give way to his temper in his youth, in nine cases out of ten, will be the man who gives free rein to his passion in his manhood.

And conversely, I believe that every time a man exerts control over himself in any way—overcomes passion, restrains temper, gives up some self-indulgence, masters his tongue when it would speak foolishly or unkindly, compels concentration, or in any way does the wiser, harder thing, instead of following the course of least resistance, he strengthens his whole character and increases his ability to do not only that particular thing, but each and every one of these things again.

It seems to me it is as if a king should make some strong demonstration of his authority against a rebellious faction in one part of his kingdom, and should thereafter find it much easier to control other factions in the rest of the realm.

Let us imagine for instance, a man whose doctor has told him he must walk more if he wants to keep well and strong, and efficient. "Don't swing onto a street car every time you have a few blocks to travel," the physician has warned him. "Walk man, if you don't want to rest before your time, you've got to exercise more."

Let us also suppose that this man has a terrible temper, which all his life he has had to fight to control. Now some cold unpleasant morning this man comes out of his office to go downtown for his lunch. It is only a five-minute walk, and he knows he ought to walk it, but as he comes out the door he sees the downtown car stopping right in front of him and jumps on.

Now, I believe that this man, in doing that, has not only weakened his power to obey the doctor's orders another time, but has also lessened his ability to control his temper.

Suppose some other day this man has been put in a most irritating position and has managed to keep his temper. Don't you think that that success will help him not only to control his temper the next time, but also to do the right thing by his health?

And because of this intertexture of character, I believe that mothers who are so unselfish that they get their children into habits of self-indulgence do their offspring far more harm than they realize. For the whole texture of the child's character is weakened. Not only will he find it harder to be unselfish, but he will find it harder to control his temper and his tongue, to master his passions or to exert control over himself in any one of the thousand directions in which life will demand it of him.

Perhaps you are laughing at my psychology, and thinking my doctrine of the intertexture of character absurdly strained and overdrawn. If you are, I wish you would watch your own character, and see if my theory does not work out true.

Try to see if periods of self-indulgence in any one direction do not weaken your control in all directions; and efforts toward self-restraint and self-government in any one direction do not make you more the master of your whole great kingdom.

Women In Society

Lifeless Hair Doesn't Match a Graceful Form and Handsome Face

Glorious hair! how many women want it and how few have it.

The care of the hair is a puzzle to most women, yet any woman, no matter what her station in life, can easily acquire a wealth of radiant, luxuriant hair, so fascinating to most everyone will admire it.

Use PARISIAN SAOIR, that's the secret of beautiful hair. Use this refined, refreshing hair dressing regularly, and soon abundant hair will be falling back into place; scalp itch will vanish and life and beauty will quickly appear.

PARISIAN SAOIR is just as good for men and children as for women, and if it doesn't give satisfaction to any user money will be refunded. Large bottles 50 cents at a Chipman Smith's and dealers everywhere.

At the conclusion of the first anthem, the first distribution takes place. Two Yeomen of the Guard lift the brass dish from the table, and march to the head of the line of women. They are followed by the lord high almoner, the sub-almoner and their secretaries, the latter in court dress, passing along the line, the doles of money, all in newly minted silver, are handed by the lord high almoner to each of the recipients in turn, in antique red and white kid purses. A third anthem is sung, and then there is a second distribution. The former recipients, of a second purse. Thereupon with a prayer for the king and queen and the royal family, and a benediction by the Dean of Westminster, the royal Maundy function at Westminster Abbey is closed.

Other Countries. In Vienna the imperial Maundy will be observed tomorrow with all the old time medieval pomp and state of the court of Austria, by the aged emperor who, assisted by the granddukes and by the leading ecclesiastical dignitaries of the Dual Empire, will go through the ceremony of washing the feet of twelve poor men, who will be sent back at the close of the ceremony to their homes, in imperial court carriages, laden with gifts of money, clothing and food.

In Madrid the ceremony will be performed by King Alfonso and Queen Ena, the latter washing the feet of twelve old women and her husband the feet of twelve old men, who as in Vienna, will be sent back to their homes in court carriages, laden with gifts.

The nonagenarian Prince Regent of Bavaria, goes through in Munich, identically the same ceremony as in Vienna and Madrid; while the Cardinal Vicar of Rome has, since the confinement of the Holy Father in the Vatican, been delegated to him to fulfill the ceremony of feet washing in his place.

In Russia, the feet washing on Maundy Thursday is performed by the leading dignitaries of the national church, the metropolitan and archbishops; while at the Lutheran courts, such as, for instance, Berlin, Stuttgart, and in fact at all the German, Dutch and Scandinavian churches of the Protestant denomination, the monarchs and members of the royal family are accustomed to observe the day.

The British Budget David Lloyd George yesterday introduced the British budget for the financial year 1912-13, which he said showed a surplus of $2,725,000, the largest on record. Upwards of $3,000,000 in revenue had been lost on the coal strike. The estimated expenditure for the year is figured at $634,620,000, and the revenue he thought would be about $634,945,000. Trade throughout the world he reported as encouraging, and the only disturbing factor would probably be the United States presidential elections.

MASONIC SIGN IN HIS APPEAL TO THE JUDGE

Remarkable Scene in Sentencing of Prisoner in London by Judge. Himself Prominent as Mason

London, April 3--The spectacle of a judge sentencing a brother Mason to death and commending his soul to the keeping of the Great Architect, was witnessed in the trial of a man and his wife here.

Justice Becknell was the presiding judge. The prisoners were Frederick Henry Seddon, 49, insurance superintendent, and Margaret Seddon, 24, his wife, charged with murdering Miss Eliza Jane Barrow, aged 49, on Sept. 14, by administering arsenic to her.

Seddon was found guilty, and his wife was acquitted. The motive of the crime was the obtaining of the money of the deceased.

By nearly twenty minutes Seddon addressed the court, speaking in a clear and steady voice, with sometimes a tone of passionate protest.

Concluding, he said: "I have not had the money. The prosecution has never traced the money to me. The prosecution has not traced anything to me in Yorkshire. I declare, before the Great Architect of the Universe, I am not guilty of it. I do not suppose I will make much difference, but I am not guilty of the crime for which I am committed."

Once again Seddon spoke, this time to declare of his wife. "She has done nothing wrong." Then the judge hurried on to the words of condemnation. He spoke them quietly, almost inaudibly. Tears rolled down his cheeks, and he ended with a sob as he pronounced the "final exhortation." "And may the Lord have mercy on your soul!"

PREMIER FLEMING IN MONTREAL TODAY

Montreal, April 3--(Canadian Press) --Believing that the east offers opportunities to young Canadians and incoming settlers who are being neglected in the rush westward, Hon. J. K. GROWTH OF ST. JOHN

It is an alluring prospect which Mr. W. Barton Stewart, manager for the Norton Griffiths Company, holds out in respect to the establishment of a great steel manufacturing plant on the shores of Coaticook Bay.

THE BRITISH BUDGET

The extent to which undervalued lumber is being cut upon crown lands is a matter in which the people of the whole province are very deeply interested.

THE CROWN LANDS

The British budget shows a surplus of $2,725,000, and but for the loss of revenue caused by the coal strike it would have been $35,000,000.

the conditions throughout the world as healthy and promising. On the whole, the budget should give great satisfaction to the people of the United Kingdom.

Now that a woman has journeyed from London to Paris in an aeroplane a mere automobile tour becomes a trivial pastime.

Of course there is no disposition to complain about the weather, but there are a lot of people thinking about the pleasures of spring, even while they gaze on the movements of the snow-plow.

Mr. Armand Lavigne is still opposed to a Canadian navy, or a contribution to the British navy. He states the views of some of Mr. Borden's colleagues.

The Swedish government has introduced a bill to extend the franchise, and the right to sit in parliament to women on the same conditions as men.

The Halifax Chronicle desires to know what Mr. Borden thinks now of the resolution he moved in parliament when he was in opposition, as follows:—That in the meantime the immediate duty of Canada and the impending necessities of the Empire can best be discharged and met by placing without delay, at the disposal of the Imperial authorities, as a free and loyal contribution from the people of Canada, such an amount as may be sufficient to purchase or construct two battleships or armored cruisers of the latest Dreadnought type.

OPPOSITION LEADER WAS IN FINE FORM

Mr. Copp Gives Government an Uncomfortable Time—Yesterday's Business in the Legislature

Fredericton, N. B., April 2.—When A. B. Copp rose in the house this evening, after the close of Col. Sheridan's speech, it was 11:30 o'clock, and he naturally expected that the same courtesy, of moving the adjournment of the debate until tomorrow, would be extended to him as had been accorded to members upon the government side on previous evenings while the budget debate has been in progress. He was mistaken. Attorney General Grimmer, who was leading the house, refused to permit him to adjourn and forced him to begin his speech, which he must have known, and as Mr. Copp stated, would take some time—probably some hours—at that late hour.

It seemed almost as if this kind of treatment was all that was necessary to warn the opposition leader up at the set, for at the time of the adjournment, three-quarters of an hour later, he addressed the house with greater eloquence and force than in his usual custom.

He did not hesitate to tell the government, at the outset, of the unfair treatment of not only himself but of Mr. Byrne on a previous evening, when, though in ill health, he was forced to continue because of the refusal of the premier to adjourn.

Scores Sproul.

Before he began the discussion of the budget, Mr. Copp paid his respects to Messrs. Sproul and Murray, of King, dealing in short matter with the unorthodox speech of the former, earlier in the evening, and then taking up the personal references of Murray to himself, when he addressed the house.

The forecastle member of the government, representing Kings, had referred to Copp as drawing $228 for services to the old government, and after the opposition leader stated that he had given much time before a board of arbitration trying to save the province money, he said he was not ashamed of his account. It was open and above board. He did not try, like some of the government members, to hide behind a Price & Nevins or a John P. McAuley.

He had time before the adjournment to show up the inconsistent attitude of the government members, as compared with their speeches when in opposition, by quoting from the synoptic reports, and then he followed with statements from the auditor's report to prove how much more rapid the debt increase had been in the last four years than under the last four years of the old government.

His speech was listened to with the closest attention by both sides of the house, and he was frequently interrupted by the applause of the opposition.

The unbusiness of the government members under his scathing indictment was very noticeable, particularly when he referred to the scattering of accounts in the names of clerks and other employes.

There was an interesting debate in the house this afternoon upon Hon. Mr. LaBelle's resolution in favor of legislation to set one day apart in the week throughout the province for the exception of incorporated towns and cities, upon which automobiles could not be used, save those of physicians and clergymen in the exercise of their professional duties.

The member for Restigouche has always been an advocate of such legislation and today made out a strong case in moving his resolution. He referred to petitions that had been presented to the legislature setting forth that autos were not a public convenience and that because of excessive

BABIES HAVE ITCHING ECZEMA

Itching, almost constant and well-nigh unbearable itching, is the marked symptom of eczema. The direct cause is usually friction or irritation of the skin. In babies the trouble often arises from infrequent changing of nappies.

Until you have used Dr. Chase's Ointment in a case of eczema you can scarcely realize the relief which this treatment affords. Gradually the sores are cleaned up and replaced that which has been irritated and diseased.

By keeping Dr. Chase's Ointment at hand, along with the bath soap and using it whenever chafing or irritation appears you can keep baby's skin in perfect condition, save him much suffering and yourself much anxiety.

speed and reckless driving they were a menace to the lives of people. He also quoted from the report of the agricultural commission recommending that some action be taken to remedy this grievance of the farmers.

Mr. LaBelle contended that the wishes and convenience of 60,000 farmers were of far greater importance than the pleasure of 500 auto owners. That in order they might have one day in the week on which they and their wives and daughters could drive teams upon the public highways without fear such a resolution should pass the house.

Another thing that he pointed out was the damage that was being done to the trade of the country merchants in many places where the fear of automobiles kept the women at home and forced them to patronize the department stores of upper Canada.

He made a strong plea in favor of the merchants and farmers, and added that he would be in favor of the restriction extending to at least a part of the Sabbath day.

Mr. Upham made an effective speech in seconding the resolution, which was also supported by Munro, Sproul and Bentley, but it was opposed by Provincial Secretary McLeod, Attorney-General Grimmer, who was leading the house, and John P. Barbeau. The vote stood eighteen to eleven in a thin house and the resolution was lost.

Central Railway Enquiry Costly.

Some information was given to the house in response to an inquiry which showed that the Central Railway inquiry cost in all $7,839. Of this amount Commissioner Landry received $2,273 and Messrs. Teed and McDougall $1,142 and $314 respectively. H. A. Powell also was paid $2,273 and stenographer, printers, etc., $1,474. There are no claims outstanding.

In answer to another query it was stated that Game Warden Dean did not send in any expense account last year and has no claim against the government that it is aware of.

Mr. Baxter furnished some evidence that the route of the Valley road from Gagetown to St. John is still undecided, for, in answer to his question as to what the government intended to do in answer to the petition of Loch Lomond people asking that the road take that route, the cautious reply was given that the government has the matter under consideration and will submit the facts set forth to the railway company before location surveys are made.

THE SONG OF THE HAT.
(With apologies to Tom Hood.)
With fingers weary and stained
With brows o'er his desk and worked,
His giddy brain was racked with pain
But never a day he shirked,
Nine from ten leaves one, and one from one leaves naught.
He figured thus as he sadly sat
All to pay for an Easter hat,
Hat already bought.

ENORMOUS WEALTH OF GREAT BRITAIN

The London Economist has attempted to compute, in money value, the capital and property in all of Great Britain.
Using its figures on an estimate made by Sir Robert Giffen in 1885, it shows that since that time, and up to 1909 there was an increase of $2,900,000,000, making the total value $13,988,000,000.
Although admitting that the principle followed may have resulted in over-estimating, the Economist adds in the figures
a subject for much interesting comment.
Since 1885 the return on capital has, on the whole, risen considerably, and this has caused a shrinkage in value of many real interest securities, such as consols, railway debentures, and even ordinary railway stocks. In this way capital value has been affected.
The total capital value of land shows a steady decline since 1875. The capital value of houses, on the other hand, has increased rapidly, a result which is certainly not unexpected in view of the growth of the population of the United Kingdom.
Comparing the figures with Giffen's previous estimates, we get the following result, showing the increasing accumulation of wealth since 1865:
1865 $1,200,000,000
1875 13,038,000,000
1885 10,602,000,000
1895 10,027,000,000
1905 8,548,000,000
1909 6,113,000,000
In this comparison the changes are, of course, affected by price variations, the period 1875 to 1885 being one of falling prices, and that from 1885 to the present day one of rising prices.

Annual Report of Cunard Line

The annual report of the Cunard line for 1911 shows that the net receipts for the year, including $30,000 brought forward, amounted to $4,491,770. After debiting the income tax and debenture interest and reserving $2,578,499 for depreciation of ships and wharf properties, there remained at the credit of the profit and loss account $1,653,482. Of this $253,000 was transferred to the insurance account, and $400,000 to reserve.
The directors recommended dividends of 15 per cent on the preferred stock of 7 1/2 per cent on the ordinary shares, leaving the government share, leaving $482,947 to be carried forward as balance.
At the credit of the insurance account is $296,561. The reserve fund has been increased to $4,000,000. The company's first-class passenger traffic during 1911 remained at about the satisfactory level of 1910.
The third-class business was very disappointing, conditions in America not being favorable to emigration from Europe.
Freights have generally been satisfactory.
The operation of a larger fleet naturally led to a rise in the working expenses, but the labor costs and special expenditures in connection with the labor disturbances at

$20 Suit to Measure
(Carriage and Duty Paid)
FOR $8.60

There is a distinctive style and finish about a "Curzon" Suit which the "ready to wear" or "semi-ready" garments sold in Canada, and the States lack. Indeed the "Curzon" cut and finish is hardly equalled even in garments sold by the best Custom Tailors, whose charges are always exclusive, if not altogether prohibitive. There is just that ease and comfort about our garments which give the wearer a "well at ease" appearance.
Then there is the cloth to remember: nothing but real British materials every time.

Baseball
Detroit, Mich., April 2—Manager Hugh Jennings of the Tigers announces that Shortstop Donnie Bush, who has refused to sign his 1912 contract because the salary inserted in the contract was not what he thinks he is worth, would not be in the lineup in the opening game this year. Jennings says he has given up hopes that Bush will sign his contract and even if he does sign the contract and comply with its terms Jennings says Vitek will play short in the opening series. Jennings says Vitek is going well, both in fielding and batting. He is the batting star of the Tigers this spring and Jennings says he is more than pleased with the youngster.

A Master at the Bat
Willie Keeler, who is teaching the Brooklyn bats to bat, is the most scientific batter baseball ever knew. Lacking the physique of other great hitters, he batted more than 300 for thirteen consecutive years. His brain overcame the physical handicap and he is one of the few who have batted 400 or better.

Now Two to One
Philadelphia, April 2—The spring series between the local major league baseball teams now stands two victories to one in favor of the Nationals. The Americans won their first game today by the score of 7 to 6.

A Draw
Boston, April 2—Charley Griffin of Australia and Gilbert Gallant of Chelsea, lightweights, fought ten rounds to a draw. His Hands are Bad.

San Francisco, April 2—Francis Klaus, the Pittsburg middleweight, has called off his match with Eddie McGoorty. The so-called middleweight elimination tournament now in progress here and in Los Angeles thus becomes inconclusive.

CAMERON GOES TO THE WEST TO RUN FOR MONEY
Montreal, April 3—Fred Cameron, the stocky little runner of Amherst, N. S., is off to the west to pick up what money he can from the rapidly dying professional running game. He has been wintering in the east, but as there is no more money to be made there in the Marathon game, he is going to take in the county fairs and small meets in the west.
Cameron was one of a party of easterners, who passed through the city yesterday. Jack Paul of Springfield, N. S., who was a pretty fair amateur sprinter, went with him and they will team in the back districts of the west. Mickey McIntyre, a Cape Breton fighter, was also in the party. He has a western engagement.

CITIZENS' CANDIDATES HOLD GOOD MEETINGS
Rally in South End and One in Victoria Rink—Ward Workers Tonight
The four citizens' ticket candidates for commissionerships addressed two enthusiastic meetings last evening, in King's Hall, St. James street, and in the Victoria Rink hall. L. P. D. Tilley presided at the meeting in King's Hall and outlined the method of voting under the new system. He urged a solid vote for the citizens' ticket.
Walter W. Allingham spoke at length on the principles of the initiative, the referendum and recall, explaining their advantages. He said the commission form of government had proved a help to the workers in other cities and it would be equally beneficial here.
H. B. Schofield denied that the citizens' ticket represented the board of trade, and said that it represented the citizens as a whole, mentioning particularly that this was the first time a representative of the working men had been placed on any ticket in St. John. He urged that the whole ticket should be elected in order to give them an opportunity to work out the new principle harmoniously and said that it would not be reasonable to expect the new system to get a fair trial if men who had opposed it were elected. From a careful canvass of the city he was convinced that nine out of ten of the hard-working taxpayers would vote the citizens' ticket.
Miles E. Agar spoke of the weakness of the old system, which commission government will correct, and pointed out some of the matters which show the need of a more business like administration.
G. B. Allen was called away to address the meeting in Victoria ward, and there made a most effective appeal for support for the men who had advocated commission and who would be best qualified to run the system a fair trial. W. S. Clavering took a fair trial in the meeting and speeches were given by the other citizens' candidates.

MORINE TO STAY

Government Will Try to Let the Storm Blow Over—Ministers Plans
Ottawa, April 2—The government has been in conference all day, and one of the matters to which it devoted much time was the position of its "Purty" agent, A. B. Morine, who was so seriously exposed in the house on Friday by F. B. Carvell. It is understood Hon. Meeser, Hughes, Rogers and Cochrane were for instant dismissal. The other members of the government took a contrary view and held that Morine should be retained in his position until the storm blows over and the public has time to forget.
The cabinet ministers will remain for a week or so cleaning up errors of departmental business. Most of them will leave at the end of the week for a fortnight's rest after the constant work and worry of the session. Premier Borden and Mrs. Borden will leave on Friday night for New York and Hot Springs, Virginia, for a two weeks' holiday. The premier will play golf and take his first respite from the innumerable cares of office.
Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lady Laurier are also contemplating a similar trip to Quebec city next Monday and will deliver an address there. He will also confer with Premier Gouin in regard to the provincial political situation. It is probable that Premier Gouin will appeal to the electors this summer.
Hon. Frank Cochrane will go to Toronto, Hon. Robert Rogers, Hon. Martin Burrell and either Hon. F. D. Monk or Hon. E. P. Pelletier will go to Winnipeg to attend the banquet of the Manitoba Conservatives to Premier Roblin on April 11.
Hon. J. D. Hazen will spend Easter in St. John.
The members of parliament left for home with a tacit assurance from the government that next session an extra sessional indemnity of $300 each would be granted "for clerical and typewriting assistance in connection with their voluminous correspondence."
An order in council was passed today transferring the census and statistical branch of the agricultural department to the jurisdiction of the minister of trade and commerce. Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Archibald Blue will remain in charge of the branch, but a general reorganization of the work is contemplated with a view to co-ordinating and making more generally useful and available to the public the various statistical bulletins and reports published by the government.
