

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

THE SAINT JOHN CHRONICLE. Published every Friday afternoon, by DUNNAY & CO., at their Office in the Brick Building...

National Loan Fund LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY of London.

Capital, £500,000 sterling. Exclusive of Reserved Fund (Surplus Premiums) of £201,000 sterling.

QUEEN'S COUNTY BYE ROADS.

ES for the road from Crozier's, on the Gageway road near the Nerepis, in King's County...

PRETTING FOR A SECRET.

It was certain that the flames could neither be extinguished nor controlled, the boats were lowered, and the terrified passengers and crew assisted into them as fast as possible...

AMERICAN CITIES.

The growth of American cities is unparalleled in the history of the world. Albany had a million are embraced within its walls...

MISERABLE LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY.

84, King William street, Mansion House, London. TRUSTEES: Thomas Halliday, Junr., Esquire, Chairman...

COMMERCIAL HOTEL, King Street.

THE Suburban Hotel, situated in the Premier Street, is known as the Commercial Hotel, situated in King Street...

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF A CASE. ASHESBURY. Guy's, the Metropolitan, King's College, and Charing Cross Hospitals.

PHYSICIAN'S OFFICE.

Dr. J. W. Smith, Physician, 11, Market Square, St. John, N. B. The principles on which this Company is founded are simple and obvious...

PHYSICIAN'S OFFICE.

Dr. J. W. Smith, Physician, 11, Market Square, St. John, N. B. The principles on which this Company is founded are simple and obvious...

PHYSICIAN'S OFFICE.

Dr. J. W. Smith, Physician, 11, Market Square, St. John, N. B. The principles on which this Company is founded are simple and obvious...

PHYSICIAN'S OFFICE.

Dr. J. W. Smith, Physician, 11, Market Square, St. John, N. B. The principles on which this Company is founded are simple and obvious...

PHYSICIAN'S OFFICE.

Dr. J. W. Smith, Physician, 11, Market Square, St. John, N. B. The principles on which this Company is founded are simple and obvious...

PHYSICIAN'S OFFICE.

Dr. J. W. Smith, Physician, 11, Market Square, St. John, N. B. The principles on which this Company is founded are simple and obvious...

PHYSICIAN'S OFFICE.

Dr. J. W. Smith, Physician, 11, Market Square, St. John, N. B. The principles on which this Company is founded are simple and obvious...

PHYSICIAN'S OFFICE.

Dr. J. W. Smith, Physician, 11, Market Square, St. John, N. B. The principles on which this Company is founded are simple and obvious...

PHYSICIAN'S OFFICE.

Dr. J. W. Smith, Physician, 11, Market Square, St. John, N. B. The principles on which this Company is founded are simple and obvious...

PHYSICIAN'S OFFICE.

Dr. J. W. Smith, Physician, 11, Market Square, St. John, N. B. The principles on which this Company is founded are simple and obvious...

tar was engaged at my instance and expense, to communicate the result, and his noble part in that regard. It is some ten years since I was the author of one address for one year; for $20 I copied, and for $10, 25 copies—single Nos. may be had at the office, at each.

THE CHRONICLE.

SAINT JOHN, MAY 3, 1850.

Tax Enquiry.—The mail of 12th April reached the City on Wednesday morning, and that of the 20th has arrived at Halifax, and will be here this evening. The following Synopsis of the latest intelligence is from a letter of our London correspondent.

Commercial affairs were generally dull throughout the United Kingdom, and the state of trade unsatisfactory. The doom of the present Ministry will appear to be sealed by having been defeated on several occasions. Motion has advanced for the House of Commons to be dissolved for the 10th inst., and from a shade lower in price.

The House of Commons assembled on Monday and the Lords on Tuesday, but neither the proceedings in either House were of much interest. Mr. Fox's motion for the repeal of the Window Tax, the discussion of which was interesting, though the arguments were not of great value. The House of Commons on Monday was likewise defeated on a Naval question. This made three defeats in one week. The division on Lord Duncanson's motion was a defeat. The Public have now had time to form a judgment on the correspondence between Admiral Sir Charles Napier, on the one side, and the Lord of the Admiralty and the Premier, on the other. The most general opinion is, that the Admiral has been unjustly treated by Sir F. Baring. The prosecution given to the Admiralty, various letters addressed to the Premier, on the subject of the extravagant and mischievous system of management in our Navy. This has been stigmatized by Sir F. Baring and the other Lords of the Admiralty as being extremely "unjustified," and as a punishment, Sir Charles Napier, in his letter to the Premier, has pointed out that he is likely to be ostracized altogether from active employment, because two has endeavored to point out the quarrelsome and unbusinesslike system of the Admiralty.

At Manchester, he was fettered and addressed by the Convention, and when he returned to his native service. The answers of Lord John to the Manchester and Stafford addresses display great candour—dealing in generalities the replies which are not complimentary to the speaker, and mean little, and pledge the speaker to nothing.

The proposed abolition of the Lord Lieutenants of Ireland has been a subject of much discussion in that country. Singularly, it is the most violent opposer of the measure to be met with in the ranks of the Whigs and Liberals, and in the ranks of the Tories and Conservatives. It is regretted that any man in his more dignified and honest aspect, is brought into the discussion of the matter. The Irish papers literally teem with articles in support of the measure, and in the ranks of the Whigs and Liberals, and in the ranks of the Tories and Conservatives.

some stirring work in Parliament. Ministers are not yet of the wood with the Australian Colonies Bill. It is a mere sham; a puppet show. Chamber is to be established in the Australian Colonies—funded by long annuities from the Colonies. The increase is neither one thing or the other. It gives to the Colonists about the same amount of liberty which the child grants to the captured savages. It may be far to the better, but long enough, but it knows not when to anticipate a check. It gives the Colonists rights, but does not define them. The strings may be pulled in a moment. The House has a contest on the other side. It is not likely that it will succeed in carrying out its scheme. It is not likely that it will succeed in carrying out its scheme.

Major-General Brown is to be the new Adjutant-General. He comes from the 10th Brigade, 17 years and has seen much service. The colony of the 2nd foot is still vacant. It is reported that Colonel Weatherall, now Deputy-Adjutant-General, is to succeed him. He is a very able and energetic officer, and has been in the 10th Brigade for several years. He is a very able and energetic officer, and has been in the 10th Brigade for several years.

The PROSECUTION OF THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.—The most potent and, and reversed, was constituted this notorious body, they returned to their respective homes, and as they passed by the door, he said, "that their good works do follow them," and it is no doubt equally true, that the evil doings of the workers of iniquity are their perpetual associates. In the present case, at least, the assurance is sweet and comforting. When the constituents of New Brunswick read to mind the unrighteousness and the unpopularity of the present session of the Provincial Legislature, its ruinous cost, and reckless expenditure, surely those whose blind and hopeless conduct has imparted to its proceedings this disgraceful tone, must be forever borne in mind, and the Legislature must be forever borne in mind, and the Legislature must be forever borne in mind.

It is painful to dwell upon such facts, although we have the consolation of knowing, that there is a remedy in the hands of the people themselves, if they would only exercise it. It would be well to have the means to which our agents have brought us. We should have lost sight of their legislative duties, and talk over them daily, friend with friend, and neighbour with neighbour. The people throughout the land should make common cause, and unitedly agree to clean the Augean stable, and possibly in the next meeting of the Assembly, we may be cheered with the glad tidings, that they body presents a more glo-

of the old familiar faces, the contemplation of the physiognomy of which would naturally aid the task of compiling essays upon hypocrisy, plant delinquency, time serving, and all kinds of political delinquency. The subject is revolting, yet we shall frequently recur to it.

The House of Commons on Monday was likewise defeated on a Naval question. This made three defeats in one week. The division on Lord Duncanson's motion was a defeat. The Public have now had time to form a judgment on the correspondence between Admiral Sir Charles Napier, on the one side, and the Lord of the Admiralty and the Premier, on the other. The most general opinion is, that the Admiral has been unjustly treated by Sir F. Baring. The prosecution given to the Admiralty, various letters addressed to the Premier, on the subject of the extravagant and mischievous system of management in our Navy. This has been stigmatized by Sir F. Baring and the other Lords of the Admiralty as being extremely "unjustified," and as a punishment, Sir Charles Napier, in his letter to the Premier, has pointed out that he is likely to be ostracized altogether from active employment, because two has endeavored to point out the quarrelsome and unbusinesslike system of the Admiralty.

The PROSECUTION OF THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.—The most potent and, and reversed, was constituted this notorious body, they returned to their respective homes, and as they passed by the door, he said, "that their good works do follow them," and it is no doubt equally true, that the evil doings of the workers of iniquity are their perpetual associates. In the present case, at least, the assurance is sweet and comforting. When the constituents of New Brunswick read to mind the unrighteousness and the unpopularity of the present session of the Provincial Legislature, its ruinous cost, and reckless expenditure, surely those whose blind and hopeless conduct has imparted to its proceedings this disgraceful tone, must be forever borne in mind, and the Legislature must be forever borne in mind, and the Legislature must be forever borne in mind.

It is painful to dwell upon such facts, although we have the consolation of knowing, that there is a remedy in the hands of the people themselves, if they would only exercise it. It would be well to have the means to which our agents have brought us. We should have lost sight of their legislative duties, and talk over them daily, friend with friend, and neighbour with neighbour. The people throughout the land should make common cause, and unitedly agree to clean the Augean stable, and possibly in the next meeting of the Assembly, we may be cheered with the glad tidings, that they body presents a more glo-

of the old familiar faces, the contemplation of the physiognomy of which would naturally aid the task of compiling essays upon hypocrisy, plant delinquency, time serving, and all kinds of political delinquency. The subject is revolting, yet we shall frequently recur to it.

of the old familiar faces, the contemplation of the physiognomy of which would naturally aid the task of compiling essays upon hypocrisy, plant delinquency, time serving, and all kinds of political delinquency. The subject is revolting, yet we shall frequently recur to it.

The House of Commons on Monday was likewise defeated on a Naval question. This made three defeats in one week. The division on Lord Duncanson's motion was a defeat. The Public have now had time to form a judgment on the correspondence between Admiral Sir Charles Napier, on the one side, and the Lord of the Admiralty and the Premier, on the other. The most general opinion is, that the Admiral has been unjustly treated by Sir F. Baring. The prosecution given to the Admiralty, various letters addressed to the Premier, on the subject of the extravagant and mischievous system of management in our Navy. This has been stigmatized by Sir F. Baring and the other Lords of the Admiralty as being extremely "unjustified," and as a punishment, Sir Charles Napier, in his letter to the Premier, has pointed out that he is likely to be ostracized altogether from active employment, because two has endeavored to point out the quarrelsome and unbusinesslike system of the Admiralty.

The PROSECUTION OF THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.—The most potent and, and reversed, was constituted this notorious body, they returned to their respective homes, and as they passed by the door, he said, "that their good works do follow them," and it is no doubt equally true, that the evil doings of the workers of iniquity are their perpetual associates. In the present case, at least, the assurance is sweet and comforting. When the constituents of New Brunswick read to mind the unrighteousness and the unpopularity of the present session of the Provincial Legislature, its ruinous cost, and reckless expenditure, surely those whose blind and hopeless conduct has imparted to its proceedings this disgraceful tone, must be forever borne in mind, and the Legislature must be forever borne in mind, and the Legislature must be forever borne in mind.

It is painful to dwell upon such facts, although we have the consolation of knowing, that there is a remedy in the hands of the people themselves, if they would only exercise it. It would be well to have the means to which our agents have brought us. We should have lost sight of their legislative duties, and talk over them daily, friend with friend, and neighbour with neighbour. The people throughout the land should make common cause, and unitedly agree to clean the Augean stable, and possibly in the next meeting of the Assembly, we may be cheered with the glad tidings, that they body presents a more glo-

of the old familiar faces, the contemplation of the physiognomy of which would naturally aid the task of compiling essays upon hypocrisy, plant delinquency, time serving, and all kinds of political delinquency. The subject is revolting, yet we shall frequently recur to it.

of the old familiar faces, the contemplation of the physiognomy of which would naturally aid the task of compiling essays upon hypocrisy, plant delinquency, time serving, and all kinds of political delinquency. The subject is revolting, yet we shall frequently recur to it.

The House of Commons on Monday was likewise defeated on a Naval question. This made three defeats in one week. The division on Lord Duncanson's motion was a defeat. The Public have now had time to form a judgment on the correspondence between Admiral Sir Charles Napier, on the one side, and the Lord of the Admiralty and the Premier, on the other. The most general opinion is, that the Admiral has been unjustly treated by Sir F. Baring. The prosecution given to the Admiralty, various letters addressed to the Premier, on the subject of the extravagant and mischievous system of management in our Navy. This has been stigmatized by Sir F. Baring and the other Lords of the Admiralty as being extremely "unjustified," and as a punishment, Sir Charles Napier, in his letter to the Premier, has pointed out that he is likely to be ostracized altogether from active employment, because two has endeavored to point out the quarrelsome and unbusinesslike system of the Admiralty.

The PROSECUTION OF THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.—The most potent and, and reversed, was constituted this notorious body, they returned to their respective homes, and as they passed by the door, he said, "that their good works do follow them," and it is no doubt equally true, that the evil doings of the workers of iniquity are their perpetual associates. In the present case, at least, the assurance is sweet and comforting. When the constituents of New Brunswick read to mind the unrighteousness and the unpopularity of the present session of the Provincial Legislature, its ruinous cost, and reckless expenditure, surely those whose blind and hopeless conduct has imparted to its proceedings this disgraceful tone, must be forever borne in mind, and the Legislature must be forever borne in mind, and the Legislature must be forever borne in mind.

It is painful to dwell upon such facts, although we have the consolation of knowing, that there is a remedy in the hands of the people themselves, if they would only exercise it. It would be well to have the means to which our agents have brought us. We should have lost sight of their legislative duties, and talk over them daily, friend with friend, and neighbour with neighbour. The people throughout the land should make common cause, and unitedly agree to clean the Augean stable, and possibly in the next meeting of the Assembly, we may be cheered with the glad tidings, that they body presents a more glo-

of the old familiar faces, the contemplation of the physiognomy of which would naturally aid the task of compiling essays upon hypocrisy, plant delinquency, time serving, and all kinds of political delinquency. The subject is revolting, yet we shall frequently recur to it.

of the old familiar faces, the contemplation of the physiognomy of which would naturally aid the task of compiling essays upon hypocrisy, plant delinquency, time serving, and all kinds of political delinquency. The subject is revolting, yet we shall frequently recur to it.

The House of Commons on Monday was likewise defeated on a Naval question. This made three defeats in one week. The division on Lord Duncanson's motion was a defeat. The Public have now had time to form a judgment on the correspondence between Admiral Sir Charles Napier, on the one side, and the Lord of the Admiralty and the Premier, on the other. The most general opinion is, that the Admiral has been unjustly treated by Sir F. Baring. The prosecution given to the Admiralty, various letters addressed to the Premier, on the subject of the extravagant and mischievous system of management in our Navy. This has been stigmatized by Sir F. Baring and the other Lords of the Admiralty as being extremely "unjustified," and as a punishment, Sir Charles Napier, in his letter to the Premier, has pointed out that he is likely to be ostracized altogether from active employment, because two has endeavored to point out the quarrelsome and unbusinesslike system of the Admiralty.

The PROSECUTION OF THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.—The most potent and, and reversed, was constituted this notorious body, they returned to their respective homes, and as they passed by the door, he said, "that their good works do follow them," and it is no doubt equally true, that the evil doings of the workers of iniquity are their perpetual associates. In the present case, at least, the assurance is sweet and comforting. When the constituents of New Brunswick read to mind the unrighteousness and the unpopularity of the present session of the Provincial Legislature, its ruinous cost, and reckless expenditure, surely those whose blind and hopeless conduct has imparted to its proceedings this disgraceful tone, must be forever borne in mind, and the Legislature must be forever borne in mind, and the Legislature must be forever borne in mind.

It is painful to dwell upon such facts, although we have the consolation of knowing, that there is a remedy in the hands of the people themselves, if they would only exercise it. It would be well to have the means to which our agents have brought us. We should have lost sight of their legislative duties, and talk over them daily, friend with friend, and neighbour with neighbour. The people throughout the land should make common cause, and unitedly agree to clean the Augean stable, and possibly in the next meeting of the Assembly, we may be cheered with the glad tidings, that they body presents a more glo-

of the old familiar faces, the contemplation of the physiognomy of which would naturally aid the task of compiling essays upon hypocrisy, plant delinquency, time serving, and all kinds of political delinquency. The subject is revolting, yet we shall frequently recur to it.

of the old familiar faces, the contemplation of the physiognomy of which would naturally aid the task of compiling essays upon hypocrisy, plant delinquency, time serving, and all kinds of political delinquency. The subject is revolting, yet we shall frequently recur to it.

The House of Commons on Monday was likewise defeated on a Naval question. This made three defeats in one week. The division on Lord Duncanson's motion was a defeat. The Public have now had time to form a judgment on the correspondence between Admiral Sir Charles Napier, on the one side, and the Lord of the Admiralty and the Premier, on the other. The most general opinion is, that the Admiral has been unjustly treated by Sir F. Baring. The prosecution given to the Admiralty, various letters addressed to the Premier, on the subject of the extravagant and mischievous system of management in our Navy. This has been stigmatized by Sir F. Baring and the other Lords of the Admiralty as being extremely "unjustified," and as a punishment, Sir Charles Napier, in his letter to the Premier, has pointed out that he is likely to be ostracized altogether from active employment, because two has endeavored to point out the quarrelsome and unbusinesslike system of the Admiralty.

The PROSECUTION OF THE HOUSE OF ASSEMBLY.—The most potent and, and reversed, was constituted this notorious body, they returned to their respective homes, and as they passed by the door, he said, "that their good works do follow them," and it is no doubt equally true, that the evil doings of the workers of iniquity are their perpetual associates. In the present case, at least, the assurance is sweet and comforting. When the constituents of New Brunswick read to mind the unrighteousness and the unpopularity of the present session of the Provincial Legislature, its ruinous cost, and reckless expenditure, surely those whose blind and hopeless conduct has imparted to its proceedings this disgraceful tone, must be forever borne in mind, and the Legislature must be forever borne in mind, and the Legislature must be forever borne in mind.

It is painful to dwell upon such facts, although we have the consolation of knowing, that there is a remedy in the hands of the people themselves, if they would only exercise it. It would be well to have the means to which our agents have brought us. We should have lost sight of their legislative duties, and talk over them daily, friend with friend, and neighbour with neighbour. The people throughout the land should make common cause, and unitedly agree to clean the Augean stable, and possibly in the next meeting of the Assembly, we may be cheered with the glad tidings, that they body presents a more glo-

of the old familiar faces, the contemplation of the physiognomy of which would naturally aid the task of compiling essays upon hypocrisy, plant delinquency, time serving, and all kinds of political delinquency. The subject is revolting, yet we shall frequently recur to it.

