FARMERS AND LABOR OUGHT TO BE UNITED

FIRM AGAINST MORE WARSHIPS

Predicts Day When Disarmament Will be Based Upon Universal Agreement.

Denver, Colo., June 13.—President Samuel Gompers, addressing the opening session of the 91st annual convention of the American Federation of Labor here today declared that the enemies of labor and the advocates of the "open shop" had failed to crush organized labor, and the ranks of the trades union movement held intact. Similar sentiments were expressed in the report of the executive council of the federation.

A year of progress was predicted for 1921, President Gompers declaring that "before the next snow falls we shall have passed the 5,000,000 mark in the American Federation of Labor."

Closer alliance and co-operation between the organized industrial workers and the farmers was urged by the veteran labor leader in "order that we shall not be crushed by the reaction of industrial captains or princes of finances."

Against Ship Bill.

The first official action of the convention was to adopt a resolution to be submitted to congress protesting against the Scott bill now pending, which it was alleged it would increase the length of the navigation season on the Great Lakes, reduce the number of skilled seamen employed on ships and increase the hours of labor. This action was proposed by delegates of the international seamen's union, who declared that the bill would eliminate provisions in the seamen's act and would increase the dangers incident to navigation.

The convention unanimously adopted a declaration of the executive council calling upon all local and international unions to aid the Pueblo flood sufferers.

Disarmament.

Urging world-wide disarmament in his address at the opening of the convention, President Gompers said: "I believe that the time will come, and we have earnestly striven, and we will continue to strive, for the time when there shall be total disarmament in all the countries of the world and that disarmament will be based upon universal agreement." He made an emphatic appeal to the workers to unite in opposition to any movement designed to create a department of public welfare.

"Under the pretense of trying to create the department of labor and the department of agriculture," he said, "no one can foresee where reaction leads."

"As a matter of fact, these are the only two departments in the government of the United States that represent all the producers of the wealth of our country, and it is seriously proposed to destroy these two departments."

The labor leader urged the delegates to discuss the questions confronting the convention "with moderation, with interest, with intelligence, with intense feeling, always driving at the just point."

"While we love every human being," he added, "no matter where he may have been born, or where he now resides and will help to best we can there is one principle from which I feel we cannot depart—American first."

GENERAL GOMEZ, FAMOUS CUBAN LEADER, IS DEAD

REBEL LEADER AND ISLAND'S PRESIDENT

For Many Years He Was One of the Chief Opponents of the Spaniards.

New York, June 13.—General Jose M. Gomez, former president of Cuba, died today at the Hotel Plaza at 140. He had been ill for some time with pneumonia. Members of the family were at the bedside when the end came.

General Gomez, second president of Cuba, leader of the liberal party, and popular army commander, led a life of many vicissitudes. From battlefields to quiet government and from palace to prison was his lot. The revolution in Cuba country were his, and he played a leading part in most of them.

"Jose Miguel," as his countrymen loved to call him, was one of the most able of Cubans in the political and military life of the republic. He was extremely popular as revolutionary leader, general and finally as chief executive.

He was born in 1855 of a well-to-do Santa Clara province family. Most of his wealth was held in lands, much of which included sugar estates and cattle ranches.

FOUGHT TWO DAYS TO GET INSANE MAN

BARRICADES DOOR TO FAMILY HOME

Captured by Plucky Officer After the House Had Been Shot to Pieces.

Chatham, Ont., June 13.—The residents of Kenbridge were given a small taste of life in a war zone this afternoon, when High Constable George Peters of this city went out and made a determined and successful attempt to arrest Joe Smith, the demented farmer who has been threatening the lives of the people of that vicinity for some weeks.

Peters and a posse of farmers tried to arrest Smith yesterday afternoon, but gave up the attempt when his quarry retreated to his home, which is situated on a small farm about three miles from Kenbridge, where he barricaded himself in and offered a strong resistance, keeping the officers at bay with rifle fire.

Posse Surrounds House.

A guard of at least twenty men surrounded the house all night to prevent Smith from making his way into an adjoining wood. Several times during the night Smith made sorties upon the watchers, driving them away with a rapid fire from his rifle, but he made no attempt to hide himself in the woods, preferring his own freedom to the discomfortable conditions.

This afternoon when Peters arrived on the scene with Henry Smith, Wilford Peters, Joseph Wallace and Alex. McDonald as his assistants, Smith was still in the house, keeping up an intermittent fire on the watchers. Twenty rifles were secured, and the house was practically riddled with bullets, but Smith refused to come forth. Finally Peters directed all of the fire at his control to be directed on one end of the house and he made a dash for a window at the other end and entered. He saw Smith crouching in a corner of the room still using his rifle. Peters fired several shots with his revolver into the house, which was captured and succeeded in grabbing him and taking his rifle away from him. He was brought to the jail, and is tonight in the hall. He will appear in court at the peak time of the afternoon, and probably placed in an asylum.

House Shot to Pieces.

During the whole of the firing no one was wounded. The bullets known were crack shot, but the watchers were wary. The firing with the high-powered rifles was directed high in order to avoid hitting the man inside the house, which was a small log structure. And it was noticed afterwards that none of the bullets had penetrated both walls. The chimneys had been shot off. The house was left a single pane of glass remained. A large part of the roof itself had been removed and shattered by the rifle fire from the outside. When Smith was captured it was found that he had about 20 rounds of ammunition left, but at the time Peters made his rush it was believed that he possessed much more.

AMERICA ENDS WARS AGAINST CENT. EUROPE

By Vote of Five to One—305 to 61—Porter Peace Resolution is Adopted.

TWO-DAY DEBATE NEVER CHANGES VOTE

Charge Made That Agreement Does Not Guard Property Rights of States.

Washington, June 13.—By a vote of 305 to 61, the House today passed the Porter peace resolution, which is the substitute for the Knox resolution, already passed by the Senate, repealing the declaration of war, it was put through, 305 to 61, as a public measure with the loss of only one Republican vote—Kelly of Michigan. Forty nine Democrats joined in the landslide.

Rule Order Point Out.

First throwing out a point of order by Representative Flood, Democrat, Virginia, to end the resolution back to committee with instructions to report a substitute requesting the President to negotiate with the enemy countries for a treaty of peace, the House voted down, 264 to 112 another re-committing proposal relating to disarmament.

There was no debate on the latter motion, which provided for an amendment to the pending resolution reserving the right under the Treaty of Versailles to enter into "an agreement with Germany and her Allies and the powers associated with the United States in the war for joint disarmament."

Minority Crumbled.

The effort of Democratic leadership to hold the line against the resolution failed, and the minority crumbled on roll-call.

The crack of the gavel, ending the two solid days of debate, which had not changed one vote, brought a sigh of relief to weary members.

Mr. Kelly, who is chairman of the House conference at work on the Naval Bill with its disarmament amendment, made a bitter attack on the resolution, declaring Congress would not be able to do so, which he described as making peace with a mere splash of the hand, after the fashion of professional wrestlers.

Against U. S. Rights.

The principal attack on the resolution was based by Democrats on the ground that it did not properly protect United States rights and that the United States in attempting to negotiate a treaty with Germany and her Allies, would sit down with feet and hands tied and without being able to demand the rights won by war. Republicans held, however, that all rights were safeguarded in the resolution and that the peace resolution would still be a part of the whole question of peace to conference.

LOWTHER TELLS STRANGE TALES ABOUT SPEAKER

FIRST SPEAKER WAS CRUSADER

Distinguished Visitor to Canada Had to Put Motion That Recited His "High Crimes."

Toronto, June 13.—Mr. James W. Lowther, former speaker of the British House of Commons, addressed the Canadian Club here today and received an exceptionally hearty welcome. "The speaker's chair" was Mr. Lowther's subject, which he dealt with as a matter of fact, rather than as a speaker. He said that he had almost forgotten to what party he had once belonged.

In the old days, Mr. Lowther said, the speaker in the British House of Commons was recognized as the first commoner. That distinction, however, had passed to the prime ministers.

Historic Office.

In the passage of time the speaker had ceased to be the servant of the monarch, spokesman for the House of Commons, servant of the government and exponent of party wishes.

The office of speaker had become a purely honorary and judicial rather than political or partisan; his duty was to assure free liberty of discussion in all public matters of discussion to parliament, and to elect the speaker in the House of Commons.

Referring to Thomas Hungeford, the first speaker, who took his seat in 1295, he said that the speaker, Speaker Chaucer was a son of the famous poet. Sir Thomas Moore, speaker, died a martyr to his devotion to the liberties of the people.

Not All Angels.

"All our speakers have not been angels of light," Mr. Lowther said. "There was one, whom I shall not name, who got himself into a bad way. He was obliged himself to put the question that he (the speaker) had been guilty of high crime and misdemeanor, in which case he was unanimously expelled from the House. He was chiefly distinguished for his adroitness to porters. In those days porters were served by Bohamy, who was also purveyor to parliament and a great character. Historians have recorded," Mr. Lowther continued to the audience, "that William Peel's last words were: 'Oh England, Oh My Country!' A matter of fact, what he said was 'I believe I could eat one of Bohamy's pork pies.'"

Temple of Free Speech.

The procedure of parliament, Mr. Lowther continued, had changed with the times to meet difficulties as they had arisen. Parliament, he said, was the temple of free speech, of liberty of discussion, within defined limits, not to be exceeded. "It is only by sound discussion and free speech," he said, "that we arrive at stability for the state. The best guarantee for the liberties of the House of Commons and sound administration of the country's affairs is fair and free discussion in the House, and to have that you must have an impartial speaker."

HALF MILLION DOLLAR BAIL IN BABE CASE

Five Charged With Slaying Kidnapped Baby Held in $100,000 Bail Each.

GANG EXPECTED RICH TO PAY UP

Knew Italian Mother Was a Protege of Millionaire Families.

New York, June 13.—Five men charged with kidnaping five-year-old Giuseppe Varolia, whose body was found in the Hudson Saturday, today were held in bonds of $100,000 each, after the district attorney's office had tried to have them detained without bail.

Assistant District Attorney Sullivan told the court that immediate indictment of all five on a charge of first degree murder would be sought.

First Gate of Kind.

He declared this was the first case that had ever come to the attention of the authorities where a band of blackmailers had carried out their threat to kill.

The police say that the kidnapers learned of the interest in Varoli family of Mrs. A. J. Drexel Biddle and other wealthy persons, and believed they would pay the ransom money. Mrs. Biddle aided the family financially when a brother of the murdered boy was badly burned in an automobile accident several months ago.

CLAIMS BRITAIN WANTED EMBARGO FOR WAR PERIOD

Hon. Duncan Marshall Declares the Rule Was for World War-Time Only.

CANADIAN HERDS IN GOOD HEALTH

British Market Attractive for the Western Producers of Fine Beef Animals.

London, June 13.—Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture for Alberta, gave evidence at the cattle embargo enquiry today on behalf of the provincial legislature. He said the Alberta assembly was unanimously in favor of the removal of the embargo and that there was strong feeling among Canadian farmers on behalf of the provincial legislature. He said the Alberta assembly was unanimously in favor of the removal of the embargo and that there was strong feeling among Canadian farmers on behalf of the provincial legislature.

Why Embargo Imposed.

The embargo was imposed because of pleuro-pneumonia, and as that disease had disappeared the embargo should be removed. The greatest care was taken in Canada over the health of the herds. If the British government chose to put a tariff on imported cattle it was not the business of Canadian farmers' interests. Canada could be considered in fiscal policy just as those of Canadian farmers were consulted in a similar way.

Asked if Canada expected that it would prove profitable to sell their cattle in Great Britain, witness replied that it would be more profitable than selling nowhere. It was foolish to suggest that a certain supply of cattle if the embargo were removed, cattle would always go to the best market.

Two Employees Had Narrow Escape When Flood Poured Into Engine Room.

Peterboro, Ont., June 13.—Flooding of the Hydro-Electric Commission's Generating Plants at the Henley Falls late Saturday night, resulted in practically all the hydro power being cut off in this city this morning. Two private concerns this afternoon came to the rescue and gave a partial supply of electric power. It may take a week or longer for the necessary repairs to be made at the Henley Falls plant for the service to be restored.

Dam Gave Way.

The flooding was caused by the dam logs at the dam giving way. The dam burst, and the water poured through an open manhole and filled the building to the depth of four feet. Two employees, Richardson and Hoyte, were repairing a turbine at the time and were in imminent danger of being drowned. They jumped through a window into the roadway and swam ashore. The extent of the damage done to the machinery at the Henley Falls plant has not yet been ascertained.

GREAT HANGAR FOR DIRIGIBLE NEARLY BUILT

Structure is 803 Feet in Length, 195 Feet High and 264 Feet Wide. Great Mast For Mooring Airships Everything Necessary to Safeguard Big Balloons is Provided in Unique Building.

New York, June 13—America's first great terminal for giant aircraft is nearing completion at Lakehurst, N. J. This structure, the largest of its kind on earth, is 803 feet long, 195 feet wide, and 195 feet high. Some idea of its immense size may be gleaned from the fact that if set down in a city the hangar would occupy three solid blocks. Its doors at each end stand more than 145 feet high and are 264 feet wide. A 18-story skyscraper could be pushed through the space disclosed by the doors when they are opened.

Great Mooring Mast

Incidental to the hangar is a gigantic mooring mast to which great dirigibles may be tied when it is impracticable to house them inside the hangar. The mast is so constructed that the giants of the air will be moored, bow on, and will swing in the direction of the wind.

Two Huge Doors

First in importance came the question of doors to the hangar. Each leaf of the two doors, being two leaves to a door, is made up of 800 tons of steel and corrugated asbestos. These leaves are supported on concrete trucks which in turn rest on wheels the size of those on a freight car. The leaves are rolled apart by a 25-horse-power electric motor. It was found that it would be necessary to open the doors, it is estimated that 1,500 men would be called on. Naval engineers calculate that the giant doors will not be rolled open within 13 minutes and the entire process of hoisting one of the dirigibles will consume approximately 40 minutes.

The most interesting event in the tea world during the past year has been the birth and growth of Blue Bird Tea. Finally evolved but four months ago, a rising wave of popularity is sweeping across the country for it.

Demands for this different new tea has already sprung up throughout New Brunswick and to meet it, Baird & Peters have taken over the distribution for the entire Province. In doing so they placed a record initial order for Blue Bird Tea, confident that there were more people awaiting it in New Brunswick than in any equal body of people.

THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

There appear to be more differences concerning the so-called Imperial Conference than about most meetings of public bodies. There are doubts as to the character of the meeting; as to the agenda of the proceedings to come before it; and even as to what it should properly be called.

The Winnipeg Tribune declares that there are those in Canada who would have the country enter this conference in a carping spirit, with an assertive chip upon the national shoulder, and daring anybody to knock it off.

"These," asserts the Tribune, "are obsessed with the idea that the object of British statesmen, one and all, is to milk Imperial loyalty and exploit the Imperial connection for the selfish advantage of Great Britain, and to the disadvantage of the other nations in the Empire."

"They think so, because in a similar position, that would be their own object, and they are unable to conceive of anybody animated by one that is higher and better. Their minds are incapable of receiving the Imperial idea, their hearts are cold to the vital kinship established by tradition and cemented in the war, and their voices are incapable of transmitting the authentic message of peace with power which the Empire carries to a suffering world."

If a policy so selfish and narrow as their own ever showed itself in British statesmen, it would indeed be advisable to reconsider Canada's relations with Great Britain, but so far, it has been unnecessary to sit in conference with the statesmen of the Empire, taking the same precautions as one does in sitting down to cards with a gentleman suspected not only of having concealed aces up his sleeves, but a knife in his boot.

This is not the spirit of the conference, and it is not the spirit in which Canada desires to approach the conference. It is devotedly to be hoped that no traces of its influence animate Mr. Meighen. It is a family conference in which all the members of the family seated, may be expected to have equally at heart the interests of the family as a whole.

What need is there of a cast-from agenda framed to exclude the discussion of doubtful or contentious issues? Let the range of the discussion naturally accommodate itself to the necessities of the time and the interests of the Empire. In no other way can they be fruitful.

It is perfectly possible that Imperial problems may give rise to local political issues in Canada. But no Canadian statesman need be afraid of these, who can show that his course was governed by the necessities of the Empire as a whole.

Premier Meighen, it is to be sincerely hoped, will pay scant heed to the noisy element which has urged him to a course of action that would lessen the Empire's power to maintain peace and frustrate its great purpose for the advancement of civilization.

NATIVE WINES

When the prohibition movement is so strong in this part of the world, it is interesting to note what is occurring elsewhere. An odd situation has been created in Ontario by the declaration of a large majority of the electors, voting in a referendum, for total prohibition, while at the same time the Legislature of the Province rejected a motion to include Ontario native wines in the prohibited list.

Australia the advocates of prohibition meet a similar difficulty. The prospect of prohibition there is not encouraging to the friends of the movement. At Adelaide, South Australia, a recent conference of wine-growers was addressed by the Premier of the State, who very emphatically said that the wine growing industry must not be allowed to close.

It is doubtful if the enthusiasm of the prohibitionists will not be extinguished by these declarations of policy. They may make some progress by following the Ontario example, and outlawing the use of Australian wines while banning all other intoxicants.

BE AN OPTIMIST! Be an optimist! Anyone can smile and see a great future for Canada when prices are jumping, every one is prosperous and we have a fresh supply of millionaires for breakfast every morning.

It takes a different brand of confidence to smile when prices drop, the dollar looms up as if seen through a magnifying-glass, and the breakfast food has changed from millionaires to bankrupts.

But from all over Canada come reports that indicate a bumper crop. The starvation that stares some countries in the face gives the Dominion a wide berth. There is work for everyone who is not too proud or delicate to work on the land.

And all the while Canada's national resources are increasing in value. There is gold in the Northland, oil in the Arctic circles, and billions of tons of coal waiting to be mined in the Western Provinces.

It is a period of universal poverty. The world is strewn with bankrupt nations. And Canada looms up among them as one of the few nations that can look to the future with a full stomach and a satisfied smile. Be an optimist!

icles. Opposition rendered practically leaderless, kept up an incessant chatter that ate up time without getting anywhere. B. hurriedly abandoned the idea of what it considered serious fighting that finally died away to a drowsy drivel. The lesson this all teaches is that if Canada can be governed by a few words, it is to be hoped that it will be governed by a few words.

THE VICE-REGAL OFFICE

The job of a Governor-General of one of the group of British nations of today is a new kind of job. His job is to be the face of an obsolete order of things. His task is to preserve the semblance of an authority that no longer exists.

Just what these two excellent men got out of their terms of service in Canada we do not know, except the approval of Britain and Canada for having occupied an anomalous post blamelessly, ensuring for the present its continuance, until the two countries can devise some better arrangement whereby the relation between them can be evidenced without the disparagement of either.

A BIT OF VERSE

THE MODERN POET. Behold that foolish time When our poets sang in rhyme, Or it not in rhyme, at least in singing rhyme.

They waited it and they dinged it, They mimicked it and they spurred it, And, publicly in times they secured to, They perked and pronounced, But, privately, they labored like the devil.

But now, Forsooth! Gadzooks! God wot! We've found a way much better, Since singing is so difficult, And rhymes and rhymes balk the poet Yearning with great yearns To voice The infinite depths of deepness— And finding times Is silly.

AS A WOMAN THINKETH

By HELEN ROWLAND (Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

What Every Woman Thinks: That nobody in the world would suspect her to be within five (or ten) years of her real age. That, no matter how many other women a man may have flirted with THIS time he is serious!

What Every Man Thinks: That he is "different" from other men. That he is a deep, dark, fascinating mystery to women. That other men may not know how to handle their wives, but that when HE marries, he will be "different."

"If I Were King" Is Splendid Picture

Imperial Delighted Large Crowds With Justin McCarthy's Masterpiece.

One of the most exciting scenes in the big William Fox production of "If I Were King," which will be shown for the last time at the Imperial today is that in which William Farnum, the noted Fox star, engages in a duel in a darkened tavern. Mr. Farnum is an expert swordsman. Any one in the theatrical profession will tell you that, far back in the days when William was so popular as the spouting drama on Broadway and throughout the country, his dueling scenes were famous. St. John people know this to be true.

Cats Not Referred To In The Bible

Yet Were Known as Early as 1600 B. C. and Have Been Worshipped in Many Lands

Perhaps you think you know something about cats. Poistery you are mistaken. The animal has been a god, at the Witches' Sabbath. It is royal in Spain. In Japan it is called "the tiger who eats from the hand;" Mohammed adored the cat. It was Laura's rival with Petrarch, and the friend of Richard's idle moments.

The final hour's record was hid to technical conditions. Leaders included Standard Oil, Mexican Petroleum, American Sugar and American Woolen. Sales amounted to 1,060,000 shares.

The money market was quiet and easy. All call loans were made at six per cent, probably because of last week's large gain in clearing house reserves. Only a moderate inquiry for brokers loans and commercial paper was reported.

British, French and other important foreign exchanges were firmer, the only noteworthy exceptions being Dutch, Swiss and Scandinavian rates. Private cables from London referred hopefully to the British coal strike.

Liberty bonds were heavy, with uneven tendencies in other domestic issues. Mexican Government 4 featured the international list, gaining 3/4 per cent on advice that interest payments on those and kindred issues were to resume. Total sales, value, aggregate $12,375,000.

Wall Street Journal And Riordan Finance

New York, June 13.—Discussing the Riordan company financials, in which an issue of $5,000,000 ten-year 8 per cent mortgage bonds is being offered to shareholders at 90 with a bonus of $760 per value 7 per cent preferred stock with every $1,000 par value bond, the Wall Street Journal says: "The story of Riordan with its large aggressive programme conceived when the paper boom was under way across the Canadian border, is typical of the industry. It can, however, be said that the interests which at one time controlled it have not hesitated to demonstrate their faith in it by backing it with their personal fortunes."

"A two month's delay has been asked of creditors to enable the company to dispose of its bond issue. Present indications are that it will be disposed of, as more than half the amount required is in sight. If it can be disposed of over the present crisis by obtaining the funds necessary, the company may yet work itself out of its difficulties."

NIX ON THAT STUFF, SAYS THIS JUDGE
Man of 67 Wants to Adopt Young Woman 29 as Daughter.
PROPOSITION TURNED DOWN BY THE COURT
Advises the Woman to Get Married and Then Adopt Man as Son.
New York, June 13.—Can a bachelor of 67 years adopt a woman of 29 who has endeared herself to him by teaching him the latest jazz step?
"No," thundered Surrogate Charles J. Bonaparte in his opinion, which was put before him as a matter of judicial decision. And without pausing for breath the surrogate proposed the solution:
"Let the woman marry some one else and then adopt the parental bachelor as her son."
Harper N. Curtis, plaintiff, began looking into the matter of the adoption of the woman, because she had told him she was a widow. He was a retired business man, had known Miss Mary Lois Leis for several years and wished to adopt her. Furthermore, he explained, Miss Fox was about to marry, and the adoption would give him the standing of the kindly disposed father-in-law.
"Taught Him Dancing."
His friendship with the woman began when he sought to learn the new dance steps. So proficient was she that he cultivated her friendship. In time she wrote and sang songs and he aided her in this work. One day he said to her, "I am going to be married, but I would like to have you as my daughter. I would like to have you as my daughter." He then told her of his intention to get married.
"I am going to be married, but I would like to have you as my daughter. I would like to have you as my daughter." He then told her of his intention to get married.
Lenine Is Fond of Wolf Hunting
Royal Estonian, June 13.—Nikolai Lenine, head of the Russian Bolshevik government, has recently developed a liking for wolf hunting. According to recent arrivals from the Soviet Union in company with Krienko, one of the Red Army leaders, has just returned from a wolf drive at Zhabidovo.
Those who know Lenine are most fondly declared that despite the heroism of the Bolshevik regime he still presides the "most cheerful man in Russia."
He preserves his continual humor by shielding himself from detailed work. He is surrounded by foreign authors in the final French, English and German, who also keeps in touch with the principal works on other subjects.
It is said he continues to work simply, in striking contrast to a her of minor Bolshevik officials who occupy luxurious quarters. Lenine his wife have only a few rooms.
Mrs. Lenine, says those who know her, disagrees quite strongly with her husband on many political and being more of the social revolutionary type, advocating slower change than Lenine's Communism. However, it is said they get along splendidly.

He said he had received a letter from Mrs. Gilbert, of Greenacres who said she had read an article in an American paper about this. She was of the opinion that the fish were swimming in a clockwise direction for the one-way swimming mackerel was that they swim with the current, or, in other words, with the most of the current. The letter has been sent to the British Board of Agriculture.

PROPOSITION TURNED DOWN BY THE COURT

Advices the Woman to Get Married and Then Adopt Man as Son.

New York, June 13.—Can a bachelor of 67 years adopt a woman of 29 who has endeavored herself to him by teaching him the latest jazz step?

"No!" thundered Surrogate Cohalan, of New York, when this question was put before him as a matter of judicial decision.

Harriet N. Curtis, stately, benevolent-looking, and hopelessly practical, the problem of the surrogate, Mr. Curtis said he was a retired business man, had known Miss Mary Lois Fox for several years, and wished to adopt her.

Mackerel Swim With Motion of The Earth

He said he had received a letter from Mrs. Gilbert, of Greenfield, Pa., who said she had read an article in an American paper about this mystery.

U. S. Coastwise Ships Free Through Panama Decide for This Rather Than Exemption for All U. S. Shipping. Washington, June 13.—U. S. coastwise shipping would be exempted from payment of Panama Canal tolls under a bill ordered favorably reported today by the senate inter-oceanic canal committee. The committee vote was unanimous after Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, had withdrawn a request that hearings be held. The decision so report on the O'Brien bill, applicable only to U. S. coastwise ships, rather than the Jones-Posteater bill, which would give the U. S. shipping free canal passage. Reached committee members said, as it was believed it would be easier to pass a coastwise shipping bill. Another consideration, it was said, was assurance that the committee that the British government conceded formally during the Tait administration that the Hay-Pannecotte treaty authorized free tolls for coastwise U. S. ships.

Grand Manan Pastor Comes To St. John

Rev. R. Osgood Morse is Editor of Maritime Baptist—Testimonials and Praise.

The Rev. R. Osgood Morse closed his work as pastor of the United Baptist Church at Grand Harbor and Seal Cove on Sunday, after a pastorate of two years and three months. During the time he was in Grand Manan sixty members have united with these churches, the property of the Seal Cove church has been improved, and advances have been made along various lines. The congregations that greeted Mr. Morse at the closing services of his pastorate were large, that at Grand Harbor in the morning being an excellent representation of the community, with that at Seal Cove in the evening was a capacity house many being turned away or back of room. A fine spirit has pervaded the work of these years and was very evident in the services of yesterday. Testimonials were presented to Mr. Morse by both churches, that from Seal Cove being accompanied by a purse of money. Mr. Morse arrived yesterday afternoon on the S.S. Grand Manan and immediately entered upon his duties as editor of The Maritime Baptist to which position he was recently elected. He is accompanied by the good wishes of all the people of Grand Manan who also deeply sympathize with him in the continued illness of Mrs. Morse, whose kindly presence has been a benediction to all who have known her during her husband's pastorate on Grand Manan. St. John Lodge K. P. Injustice Worked Officers Installed By New Regulation Young Lad Reported To Have Drowned

Grand Chancellor D. M. Cochran of Sydney Guest of Pythians in Castle Hall.

The Grand Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, D. M. Cochran, of Sydney, N. S., paid a visit to Castle Hall, Temple building, Main street, last evening, where he was the guest of St. John Lodge No. 30. For his benefit the rank of page was exempted. The Chancellor after complimenting the lodge on the very fine manner in which the team work was carried out, gave a brief but interesting review of the work of order during the past year, in which, he said, over one thousand additions had been made to the lodge.

Collection of Exchange by Customs Authorities Works Hardship on Business Houses

It is pointed out to The Standard that a rather peculiar situation has been created through the application of the new customs regulations to importations from the United States. The result of this interpretation will be one of two things, a very largely increased cost to the consumer of these commodities or the early withdrawal from Canadian banks of scores of millions of dollars now kept on deposit in this country by United States manufacturers.

Slip at Foot of Duke Street Combed for Body—Playmate Reports Affair.

The report that a lad had lost his life by drowning in the slip at the foot of Duke street brought crowds to the McLeod and McFarland wharves about six o'clock last night, to watch men grappling for the body. The first information of a drowning was given by a young lad, Donald Nicholson, five years of age, who rushed to his parents, residing in the McFarland building, Water street, and in great excitement told them of a boy about his own age, but whose name he did not know, falling into the water and not coming up again. The father quickly rushed to the street and informed the night watchman of the warehouse in that vicinity, John Bond, who secured the grappling irons and with the aid of Mr. Nicholson and another gentleman began grappling for the body. Every inch of ground was raked over with the grappling iron but no body was brought up. The tide was on the ebb and if a child did fall in and was drowned it is possible that the current carried the body out.

Theft Cases In The Police Court

In the police court yesterday George Stanton was charged with having liquor on June 11th in other than his private dwelling, having it in his beer shop on Marsh Road. The defendant pleaded not guilty and the case was postponed until today at noon. E. J. Heneberry is the counsel for the accused. Another liquor case was also heard, that of John Stillwell, charged with having liquor in his beer shop at the corner of Prince William and Britain street. The defence was introduced and losses read describing premises, and the story told of an unconnected cellar and the intentions of some unscrupulous persons who wish to do evil to the defendant. Fined $200.

Confiscates Exchange.

If in American funds nothing further is demanded and the entry is passed in the United States, the Customs Department turns round, announces to the purchaser that such being the case he is therefore saving $12 exchange and in order that he may not be permitted such enjoyment $12 is demanded by the Customs Department before the goods are released. The cost of $100 worth of paper is, therefore, by the imposition of these various taxes brought up to $112. In view of the fact that thousands of United States manufacturers have during the past couple of years opened branch bank accounts in Canada and are keeping very considerable balances in that country, which money is being used by these banks for their own purposes and in the interest of their customers, it will be seen that the collection by the Customs Department of this entire exchange as a preference duty destroys at once the principal reason for the maintenance of the branch bank accounts. On the other hand if the importer is compelled to pay in American funds or prefers doing so in order to avoid this extra duty, his customers in turn must meet the added cost.

Milk Situation Still Unchanged

All is quiet with both the milk dealers of St. John and the producers of Kings County. A local dealer explained the situation as follows. He said that one of the largest milk corporations in the city advised the dealers at the first of June that from that date forty cents a can would be the price paid by them for all milk delivered to their ice house at Sussex. There they charged the farmers two cents a can for icing their milk, and only took it off their hands after its arrival in the city, where they paid for their milk by weight. In this way, the producer whose herd ranked low as butter fat producer, received a correspondingly low price for his product, even as low as thirty-five cents a can. At the same time the other, and smaller dealers in the city, were paying prices ranging from forty to fifty cents per can, with none of the deductions enforced by the big company. Farmers' Disapproval. The drastic cut did not meet with the farmers' approval and the sudden drought which parched the pastures and obliged the addition of heavy feed for their herds increased the rankling sense of injustice, as they felt the cut in prices was lower than their own cost of production, they therefore held a meeting at Sussex and delivered an ultimatum to the St. John dealers that fifty cents a can would be the lowest price they would accept for their product this summer. The St. John dealers were given to a certain date to accept or reject the proposal, following which the milk supply was to be cut off, if the offer was not agreed to.

Local Dealer Gives Explanation—Same Prices and Milk Coming in as Usual.

William Alward, a clerk testified to being called by the police to the store and finding three tubs of butter missing from the basement. The missing tubs were identified as those produced in court. Alward said the accused had worked around the store and was familiar with its layout. The case was postponed at the request of the prosecution. The two youths were arrested by Plain Clothesman Saunders and Officer Blackwell.

Speculation Rife As To Appointment

Failure of "Spinney Bill" Raises Nice Point in Connection With Customs. The date has past, the dealers are paying the old prices, and the milk is still coming in. A change may come at any moment, although the general opinion seems to be that an amicable arrangement will be made, rather than have a repetition of the blockade of last year. It has been said that one concern has accepted the farmers' terms, but this was denied last evening by the manager, who states his company is not interested in the controversy. They are able to obtain their milk at prices agreeable to themselves and their producers, and are not concerned in the question.

Four Men Eligible

In the St. John Custom House at the present time are four men who have reached the limit of promotion in their respective departments, but all are eligible for the position of collector. John McDonald, Jr., district inspector of inland revenue, Arthur L. Brunswick, S. W. Wilkins, port surveyor, and C. F. Tilly, senior chief clerk. All these have given years of faithful services, and all are capable of the position. It is understood the Civil Service Act provides for all appointments on merit and stands for the policy of promotion in the service and does not recognize the policy of appointments for political services, rendered or to be rendered.
