London and the New Railway Deal.

The meaning of the new arrangement for bringing the Wabash trains over the Grand Trunk Railway is that a large quantity of through traffic hitherto carried by the Vanderbilt linesthe Michigan Central and the South Shore-will be conveyed by the Grand Trunk. Mr. Hays, the general manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, was formerly the ruling spirit on the Wabash, which, under his supervision, became one of the most enterprising of western railways. When Mr. Hays took hold of the Grand Trunk, the impres sion gained ground that the confidence closer business relations with the great system of which he is the head. And so it has come about. The result will be the speediest possible passenger service over the Grand Trunk consistent with safety, as the timetable printed in yesterday's Advertiser indicates, and an ever-increasing augmentation in the freight business of the two goads.

The Wabash system has an equipment of 409 locomotives, and 13,033 cars. It extends from Detroit and Toledo to Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, Des Moines, Quincy, Ill., Keokuk and Council Bluffs. As has been pointed out by the Detroit News, the Wabash has long been one of the best feeders of roads running from Toledo and Buffalo east. Extending through the rich farming istricts of the Mississippi and Missouri Valley, it has brought to the eastern roads hundreds of thousands tons of freight annually. In April last it transferred to the Vanderbil lines at Toledo 20,000 tons. The passenger business delivered from the west has been proportionately profitable. The west-bound freight not being anywhere so great as the east-bound, the Vanderbilt lines have small percentage of the tonnage for the east. The advantages which the Wabash and Grand Trunk will get out of the arrangement are understood to be mutual. In the way of track rental, the Grand Trunk will get more from the Wabash than it has heretofore received as itspro-rata for freight and traffic that came to it in the ordin ary course from the Wabash. The latter will get the benefits of hauling all of its east-bound passenger and freight a considerably greater number of miles, for which it will collect the rates direct, less the mileage It pays to the Grand Trunk from Detroit to Buffalo through Canada than by delivering to a Vanderbilt line at

London will reap those benefits from the increased traffic which its position as a railway and commercial center, interested in fast travel and a fast freight service, command. There will be the further incidental advantage accruing of increased receipts from the business done, which ought to add to the prosperity of the company, and its men, and react favorably on the com-

The machinery used at Athabasca Landing will be moved to Pelican Rapids, about eight miles further down the Athabasca, and fresh operations will begin there. A section of the party will make borings at Victoria, on the Saskatchewan. There is speculation as to whether oil will be found. If it is there the Petrolea men will find it. Dr. George Irmir, governor of the Marshall Islands and other islands in the Pacific Ocean, sailed for Bremen ecently on the North German Lloyd ship Trave, after paying a brief visit to this city, says the New York Journal. He is returning to his native land in response to a call from the Emperor of Germany, issued last February, and the governor has been transit nearly ever since. It was his desire to pass through America unnoticed, so far as the gen-eral public is concerned, but when informed that his identity was known the governor consented to talk of his tropical home and told some grewsome spots in the far-away Pacific. He de clares that cannabalism not only has been practiced by the natives on the islands in that locality, but exists today on some of them. He will not admit that it is carried on in the provinces over which he rules, but in ew Guinea, New Britain, and Solomon Islands, he asserts, men still eat one another.

"This knowledge," said the governor I gained from a recent visit to Nev Guinea and New Britain. A tribe had been accused of slaughtering a white man, and the chief was ordered by the German authorities in control to be brought in a prisoner. The chief of another tribe, after a short time, brought to the city the head of the

Which was listened to with profound attention by the Senators. In moving the address, the aged Senator pleaded justification for introducing the subject by stating that for years he had made a special study of the subject. He began by pointing out that the indifference of Great Britain as to the welfare of her colonies was now a thing of the past, and showed that succeeding years had demonstrated to imperial statesmen that Great Britain, stripped of her colonies, would soon sink into a second-class power among the nations of the world. Wardsville, June 3 .- A number of power among the nations of the world. Word has been received here of the In order to prevent such a catastrophe death of Mrs. Charles Watterworth, formerly of Mosa township, but of late years he has resided in Windsor. Services were held at his mother's residence in Glencoe on Thursday. Inter-statesmen, he maintained, were naturally distributed in the Strengthening of the Str dence in Glencoe on Thursday. Interment took place at the Simpson cemetery, services being conducted by Rev. Mr. Randall, of West Lorne.

A large audience filled the town hall on Monday night, the occasion being the second medal contest given under the auspices of the R. T. of T. Six selections were rendered, the successful contestant being Miss Mamie Morrison. Mr. French, of Glencoe, Mr. Findlayson, of Appin, and Dr. Jennie Carson, of Newbury, were the judges.

Statesmen, he maintained, were naturally diffident in proposing anything to the colonies involving expenditure to them, and he urged therefore that the movement should begin among the colonies themselves. He suggested as a beginning that Canada should authorize the Governor-General in council, by proclamation, to admit free of duty goods the produce or manufacture of any other British colony. There were, he though, fair prospects of such an offer being accepted by the other colonies. Assuming that the offer would be accepted, he would then suggest an accepted, he would then suggest an agreemenet among the colonies to simagreement among the colonies to simultaneously commence to reduce the duties on imports from the United Kingdom, and devise some other means of raising a revenue sufficient to make up any deficiency. This would ultimately lead to free trade within the empire, accomplish all that was hoped for by imperial federationists. Granton, June 3.-Our Methodist an imperial zollverein. In pointing out an imperial zollverein. In pointing out the advantages of such an ar-rangement, he dwelt on the in-creasing demand for food products in Great Britain and showed how the vast resources of the colonies could supply that demand. What was true with rethat demand. What was true with regard to food products was true in re gard to a multitude of raw materials and manufactured articles now imported by Great Britain. Then there was the vast intercolonial trade which could be worked up. Great Organ Recital.

A Most Successful Affair at Wallaceburg.

The New Roman Catholic Church Instrument Is a Gem in Every Particular-Large and Appreciative Audience.

From the Wallaceburg Herald, May 27. Wednesday evening, the 16th inst., will long be remembered with pleasure irg, the occasion being the opening Organ just placed in the Roman Organ Manufacturing Company of London. The evening was fore and the spacious building was crowded with a throng, eager to hear the opening tones of the instrument. As the people entered and turned catching the first glimpse of the beautifully illuminated front, the air became filled with expressions of admiration. The hour for ommencement of the recital arriving, Prof. J. W. Fetherston, of London, took his place at the keyboard, and the vast audience breathlessly awaited the nitiatory chord. The very first sounds went right to the hearts of the anxious isteners, and as the passages followed, from the softest, sweetest tones to the heaviest rolls of the large pedal pipes. causing the great building to vibrate, and from the most plaintive to those of sparkling brightness the enthusiasn of praise was unbounded. The organ is certainly a noble and magnificent one, and has won for itself a permanent place in the affections of all who heard it. It is a credit to the young company whose production it is secretary-treasurer, J. A. McIntosh, has every reason to feel delighted over the shower of congratulations he eceived after the recital. Many experts were present, yet all expressed themselves delighted at the wonderful beauty and marked variety of pleasing effects produced, it being freely com pared to the ordinary pipe organ at many times its price in this respect. It is certainly a great advance in pipe organ building. Its cost is $1,200.

The presents were numerous, costly and useful. The happy couple left next day for London, where they will make their future home."

THE ANNUAL FEAST.

The very unfavorable weather yesterday did not prevent a large attendance at the annual mision feast in connection with the First Presbyterian Church, Westminster. People were present from all parts of Westminster township, St. Thomas and Port Stanley. In the morning the choir rendered a most excellent programme of music, and an interesting address was given by Rev. Murdock Mackenzie, of Honan. China, on the progress of mission work in the Chinese Empire, dwelling on the cruelties inflicted on the young women of China from their birth. After this there was 2 hours' intermission, which proved one of the most pleasing features of the day. In the afternoon Miss McKellar, of India, addressed the gathering on "Mission Work in India."
