IRELAND SEEN THROUGH IRISH EYES

Copyrighted 1922 by Seumas MacManus THE OLD GAELIC LANGUAGE TO BE REVIVED

With the control of Irish educa-tion in the hands of Irishmen, the primary school system in Ireland is being reorganized on Irish lines. The youth of Ireland hereafter will be educated according to Irish ideas and the old Gaelic language, which has been banned and derided by the enemies of Irish nationhood, is about to be heard again, as the spoken tongue of the people of Ireland, "in college, mart and senate," as was prophesied in days when it seemed fated to sink into oblivion. In another decade every young man and woman in Ireland will speak Gaelic and it is safe to say that in a generation Ireland will be a bilingual nation, using Gaelic in her schools and colleges power of the various roads, the best Gaelic in her schools and colleges and as the language of her everyday life, and English as the landay life, and commerce and business ment for them, and, among other things is to take up the considerations. day life, and English as the language of commerce and business with the outside world. The things, is to take up the consideration department of the new tion of the renunciation of the staffs with the outside world. The education department of the new Irish Government has already made Irish Government has already made Under British rule not a mile of the work of the renunciation of the standard workers of all the systems.

ricularly in the primary schools.

Ireland has had to fight for the right to learn, as she had to fight for other rights. In the Penal Days it was a crime to teach in Ireland and a price was put on the head of the schoolmaster, who still taught on in defiance of the Penal

LOVE FOR LEARNING COULD NOT BE EXTERMINATED

In the early part of the nine teenth century, when the Irish people had shown that they were determined to learn, even though they had to learn "feloniously" and when it was evident that the hardy race of hedge schoolmasters could not be exterminated, England assumed a new attitude towards rish education—she decided to direct, control and make it an instrument for completing the conquest of Ireland. The "National Schools" were established—England has a wonderful talent for land has a wonderful talent for naming statutes, policies and insti-tutions with deceptive, inappro-priate names—so the schools which were started to denationalize Ireland were called "National" by her. To still further emphasize the "nationality" of the schools, she picked a body of men known for their readiness to serve Emplish their readiness to serve English interests or who were steeped to lips in English traditions and put them in charge of the Irish primary school system with the title of Commissioners of "National"

While the policy and programme the National Schools were devised to destroy Irish nationality and while the purpose of the schools nearly succeed, although it seemed nearly successful at times. It failed because the teachers were Irish and many of them taught taught things to their pupils which were not in the school curriculum. The Irish Ireland movement, too, played a great part in checking the progress of Anglicization.

IRISH EDUCATORS BUSY ON NEW PLANS

Now, under the installment of freedom which Ireland has won as part of her ancient right, the education of the children of Ireland is controlled by Irishmen, and even before the first batch of Black and Tans began preparations for taking their unregretted departure from Irish soil, after the Settlement in London, Irish educators were busy formulating plans for Irishizing the schools. Men and women in Ireland have been working for mo on new text books, which will be used instead of the books issued under the old "National" Board.

Announcement has just been made that a new programme of instruction for the National Schools of Ireland has been drawn up by a Conference appointed by Dail Conference appointed by Dail Eireann, and the Irish Ministry of Education has issued it for provisional adoption from the beginning of the next school year. Some "fads and frills" which were obligatory subjects under the old order have been eliminated and other obligatory subjects have been made optional. In the new scheme the status of the Gaelic language has been raised, both as a school subject and as an instrument of instruction. This is quite a change from the time when it was a "crime" in Ireland to have one's name in Gaelic on the side of a cart or to give the name in the ancient language of the country to an inquisitive policeman. The officious policeman (known to the

WEEKLY IRISH REVIEW | new Irish Government, it is giving attention to another matter which is of vital importance in the economic development of Ireland. On May 3 a Commission appointed by the Irish Provisional Governvital importance ment to inquire into Irish railway conditions held its first meeting in Leinster House, Kildare Street,

> There are forty-six different railroads in Ireland, not including two or three semi-tramways and a spur of road leading to a colliery. This is just about forty-five railway systems too many. What Ireland needs is one railway system and that under national control. Of the forty-six companies, twenty-eight work their own lines and amongst them carry on the working of the remaining eighteen.

The Commission is to advise the Irish Government as to what changes, if any, are desirable in the railroad and not even a spur of road connecting an existing line with a factory or colliery could be con-structed without the passage of a special act of parliament in London.

The operation of Ireland's fortysix railways has been costly, disjointed and detrimental to the best interests of the Irish people. Instead of a multitude of directorates and managerial staffs, one Board of Directors and one managerial staff for the whole country would give a better ordered and much more economical service. At present no general standard gauge of tracks exists on the Irish railroads—some are broad gauge and some narrow gauge—with the result that the rolling stock of one company cannot run on the tracks of another and goods have to be unloaded and reloaded in course of transportation from one part of the country to another. This has made the rate for the carrying of goods particularly high and has been largely responsible for crippling Irish industry and has done tremendous damage to Irish business. The capital invested in the railroads of Irish and Ireland is 47,875,824 pounds. No country in the world could prosper under such railway conditions and t is the earnest wish and hope of It is the earnest wish and nope of those who are interested in Ireland's future that out of the inquiry now going on in Dublin will come the consolidation and nationalization of the Irish railways. REPORT OF BELFAST CASUALTIES

Replying to a statement of A. W. Hungerford, Secretary of the Ulster Unionist Council, that Protestants in Belfast are suffering as much as Catholics as a result of the terrible English in speech, in thought and in outlook, the scheme did not entirely succeed, although it seemed nearly succeed.

the figures: Ca holic Protestar

filled by bombs

louses burned and looted
vioted from homes

endered homeless

When the fact is taken into count that Catholics number only one-fourth of the population of Belfast the difference in suffering can be readily seen. Some of the Protestants killed and wounded were members of the British army who met their death at the hands of Orange mobs and snipers, or in the fighting between both sides. The Catholics complain bitterly of the attitude of the British troops to#### wards them. THE NEW TOY PARLIAMENT IN

DISTRESS The little Six County Parliament established by England in North-east Ulster as a new Pale—to divide the Irish people on religious lines—is already making signals of distress. It is sliding into a financial bog-hole. Major O'Neill, the Speaker of the little toy Parliament (his real name is not O'Neill) addressing the House of Commons, London, on May 2, reported that the North east Parliament is on the verge of bankruptcy. According to the terms of the Act establishing that Parliament, it has been paying £7,920,000 annually to England. The amount of money which England pays back into the Six County treasury has decreased considerably during the past few years until now it is a sixth les than it was in the beginning. reduction of the income tax by the Imperial Government and severe economic depression in the North-east corner of Ireland have also lessened the resources of the Belfast parliament. Major O'Neill asked into what they called "a solemn league and covenant" against Home Rule, but they forgot the solemnity Rule, but they forgot the solemnity of the compact when the politicians asked them to help England and hinder the rest of Ireland by accepting a Home Rule government. The thought that comes into one's mind after reading of North-east Ulster's S. O. S. signals is this—if England gives that kind of treatment to her friends, what can other people who friends, what can other people who have dealings with her expect?

SEUMAS MACMANUS, Of Donegal.

AUSTRIAN WOMEN

WORKING NOBLY TO SAVE COUNTRY

By Joseph I. Breen Budapest, May 7.—Austria, despite the host of troubles that has beset it in the last few years, still hopes for the resurrection. And in that resurrection, if it comes, Catholic women, organized 500,000 strong in the Catholic Women's league are destined to play an important part. Already their record of achievement, against odds that appeared insurmountable, has been such as to justify the most been such as to justify the most enthusiastic predictions and today this splendid body of militant Christian womanhood presses forward to new victories for faith and motherland.

They are alive to the dangers of the day, these Austrian women, and keen to do battle in the cause of saving their country from the chaos and disorder that even yet threaten ruin. Their work already has been a source of inspiration to Catholic women throughout the world who women throughout the world who are battling with social problems. The Katholische Frauenorganis-ation, whose president is the charm-ing Prince Metternich, has branches in all parts of the Austrian terri-tory, with headquarters in Vienna. There are 200,000 members in the district of Vienna alone. Upper Austria boasts a membership of more than 90,000. Salzburg has 50,000 members and the organization maintains branches in Graz, in Tyrol and in the Innsbruck district.

STUDY CLASSES FORMED

Clubs, sewing classes, night cooking schools, cooking schools, and schools of scientific farming are among the enterprises conducted under the auspices of this organiz-ation. But by far the most imporschools. tant part of its activity now is the organization of social study classes which will combat the spread and influence of Socialism. Against Socialism, the Frauenorganisation must not only combat Socialism, but Capitalism. Profiteering is rife in this land of hunger and are going into the names of the profiteers, who pay these women next to nothing, but still are able their products at big goods and not infrequently their Most of the women who are engaged who have been ruined by the smashmonarchy. In some cases they are given so little by the middlemen that they receive nothing whatever for their labor, being paid only what raw materials cost them.

Baroness Francis Wittman directress of the Vienna branch the Frauenorganisation and she is making determined efforts to aid her members in escaping from the so many in Austria. She looks towards America with hope that Frauenorganisation functions suc Its Upper Austria branch. which has its headquarters at Linz, has more than a fair claim to leadership. Princess Fanny Star-hemburg, one of the most remark-accepting it the Orangemen entered into what they called "a solemn saved from the perils that threaten the Church of England by Act of them. Her several residences in and about Linz and her castles in the country have been turned over to the Frauenorganisation. Through her efforts largely, the society has established soup kitchens that feed thousands of unfortunate young ones and fresh-air camps from which hundreds come back revived. One of her properties is given over to a peasants' school of gardening and agriculture and proper methods of cooking and housekeeping are taught. Literature to meet the Socialistic propaganda is also dis-

The Upper Austrian branch operates fifteen or sixteen kindergartens for children whose mothers are obliged to work and its efforts in behalf of consumption and children are indicated not only by the establishment of soup kitchens and the efforts to send the little ones to fresh air farms, but by the fact that despite its poverty the organization more members than at any time since the Reformation. The novitiates for men and the seminaries for secular priests have never been so full as they are now.

Contrast this with the emergency signs sent up by the dignitaries of the Anglican Church, who complain that the number of ordinations is seriously falling off, and that men despite its poverty the organization despite its poverty the organization was able to distribute last year 60,000 yards of material for clothing, 15,000 pairs of shoes and great quantities of dresses and other gar-ments. Much of this work has been made possible through aid sent from outside countries, including notably America, England and Switzerland. The organization has a corps of fifteen women who go about the country instructing mothers how to cut, sew and make over second-hand garments and to cook for, wash and properly take care of infants.

All this is done, not in America, or England or France, but in starv-ing Austria, where disorder and chaos, hunger and disease are the order of the day. The achieve-ments of these Catholic women at such a time and under such conditions, certainly are an inspiration to all interested in Christian charity the world over.

CHURCH SHOWS GAINS IN ENGLAND

By H. C. Watts

London, May 13.—A writer in one of the English theological journals a few days ago made the statement that Catholicism "has no prospect whatever of success in England; the slight revival of its fortunes have lest conturn has not disquised bere lest conturn has not disquised. here last century has not disguised the fact that it has made no real progress for the past fifty years."

Nothing could be farther from the truth. The only religious body in England and Wales—Scot--that has made any real progress

A glance at the acts of Parliamisery. One of its most serious ment passed from, say, the six-problems and one in which it looks teenth to the eighteenth century, to the Catholic women of the United will show that all kinds of legisla-States for aid, is that of helping its tive measures were passed in order members dispose of needlework and paintings which at the present time worship of the Anglican Church.

The Catholic Church, then, lived in this type of work are the daughters of middle-class officials existence, and special acts of Parliament were passed whose very up of the old Austro-Hungarian nature made a revival of Catholi-monarchy. In some cases they are cism exceedingly difficult. Yet from this disadvantage the Catholic Church has emerged splendidly, and its influence is quite disproportionate to its numerical membership. Out of a thirty-eight millions, there are close upon two million Catholics, or over five per cent.

It was not until 1829, when the whirlpool of poverty and hunger Catholic Emancipation Act was and disease that has struck down passed, that the Catholics had their liberties restored to them. Up to that time they had no more rights than the Jews and the Church in this country. Yet today there are four ecclesiastical provinces, ruled by Metropolitan Archbishops with a Cardinal at their part of the firemen and volunteers are four ecclesiastical provinces, ruled by Metropolitan Archbishops with a Cardinal at their Parliament.

Nor are other signs of Catholic progress wanting. The number of Catholic marriages was higher last year than that of any other religious denomination. New Catholic churches are being opened, or are in course of erection; the number of Catholic scholars both in the parochial and secondary schools has increased; the number of converts is higher than in any previous years; while, as Cardinal Bourne said in his Easter Message, the contemplative ways of the contemplative ways and the contemplative ways are supported by the contemplative ways and the contemplative ways are supported by templative orders for women have more members than at any time will no longer offer themselves for the ministry. Even the non-episcopal Protestant sects are admitting the difficulty of securing candidates for their ministry.

Prestige is not always a safe guide to progress. At the same time there is no reason to ignore the fact that the dignitaries of the Catholic Church enjoy a very great prestige in this country.

CATHOLICS AGAIN ENTER UNIVERSITIES There is another haunt of privilege that the Protestants kept to themselves as long as they could. This was in the ancient universities, founded by the alms of past generations of Catholics, and containing in their statutes Catholic conditions that fell into abeyance after the Reformation. The universities became Protestant, and everyone was excluded who did not subscribe to the Protestant Reformed Religion as by Law Established (this, by the way, is the legal name of the Church of England) and receive the Sacrament of the Anglican Church. Thus were Catholics, and conscientious Dissenters, excluded from the universities.

Then the Test Acts were abol-Then the Test Acts were abolished, and in 1895 the Sacred Congregation of Propaganda allowed Catholics to enter the universities. That is not so very long ago, and already the Catholics have well made up for lost time. In both Oxford and Cambridge there are Catholic chaplains appointed by the Catholic chaplains appointed by the nogress for the past fifty years."

Nothing could be farther from the truth. The only religious body in England and Wales—Scotland can be left out of the account—that has made any real progress. influence of Socialism. Against Socialism, the Frauenorganisation has raised its banner. It is now waging a vigorous stuggle against Socialistic leaders who are making a vigorous bid for the support of Catholic workers. It is chiefly through the presentation of the Catholic attitude on the great social problems of the day that this campaign of the Catholic women is being carried on.

But the Austrian Catholic women must not only combat Socialism,

PARLIAMENT HOSTILITY TO CHURCH

studies which are integral parts of the universities, and at which their subjects may study for their degrees. Last of all, under the audiof Catholics in this country is out of all proportion to the numbers out of all proportion to the numbers of Locatholic Church was destroyed, or at all events, every effort was made to destroy it. On its ruins, or supposed ruins, the Church of England was set up and ever since has enjoyed a position of privilege.

PARLIAMENT HOSTILITY TO CHURCH ous orders have opened hostels of

PARLIAMENT HOSTILITY TO CHURCH
A glange at the sate of Parlia

To talk about there being no Catholic progress in England, therefore, is the merest moonshine. The London County Council, which is the largest and most powerful municipal administrative body in the world, recently elected a Catholic as its head. Less than a hundred years ago he would not have had even a vote.

ROME'S OLDEST HOSPITAL SWEPT BY DISASTROUS

Rome, May 18. — The historic nospital of Santo Spirito has been partially destroyed by fire, which broke out shortly before midnight in the laundry and already eighteen bodies have been extracted from the ruins. total population of something like ment isolated the chronic ward and was largely responsible for the deaths, the number of which has not yet been determined. were nearly five thousand inmates in the institution, which includes a hospital, lunatic asylum, foundling asylum, and a refuge for aged and the Catholic women in that country may come to her aid through a system of cooperation or by the establishment of some sort of continued as a missionary organestablishment of continued as a miss infirm persons.

Carabineers, royal guards, nurses system of cooperation or by the establishment of some sort of market whereby these unfortunate workers may be able to sell their goods direct to purchasers without the middleman's commission, which destroys the profit to the worker, being taken out.

ONE PRINCESS'S WORK

Butitis not only in Vienna that the Herarchy was restored. There was, consequently, a great deal of the time to make up, while the very establishment of the Hierarchy was beams of the hospital fell, burying twenty patients in the chronic ward and rendering access to the ward and rendering access to the ward impossible. Rescuers rushed throught the smoke and flame and upon what many people thought. upon what many people thought brought out twelve bodies of persons was the ruins of the Catholic who had died of suffocation. Several on which King Ina, about 726, established a school for English pilgrims. Shortly after the erection of the hospital, which was originally called Santa Maria in the s Santa Maria in Sassia, Innocent besought Guy de Montpellier to come to Rome and take charge of the institution. Innocent also established a foundling asylum in con-nection with the hospital. The Pope's example was imitated all over Europe and within a short time nearly every city had a hospital of the Holy Ghost. The Santo Spirito was enlarged by Innocent IV. in the thirteenth century and rebuilt under Sixtus IV. in the lish Benedictines, and was favorably received.

CONVERT NUNS JOIN THE ENGLISH BENEDICTINE ORDER

It is nine years since these nuns, together with the monks of Caldey Island, abandoned the Protestant religion and in a body were received into the Catholic Church. The action of these two religious communities quitting the Established Church aroused great ire among the Anglicans and questions were asked in the House of Commons as to whether the Government were aware of what had been done. As it did not concern the Government As it did not concern the Government in the least, Mr. Asquith, who was then Premier, said that he had no official knowledge of the fact.

At the time of the conversion the Repudiating pure were living at St.

Benedictine nuns were living at St. Bride's Abbey, Milford Haven. But two years ago they moved to Talacre Hall, the ancient home of the noble Welsh Catholic family of the Mostyns, whose most distinguished representative at the present time is the Metropolitan of Wales and Archbishop of Cardiff, Msgr. Mostyn.

During the nine years that have elasped since the conversion the nuns have remained under local episcopal supervision. They now come under the immediate jurisdiction of the Abbot President of the English Benedictine Congregation—an office held by Cardinal Gasquet previous to his elevation to the Purple.

CHRISTIAN WORLD CALLED ON TO END TURKISH MASSACRES

By Rev. Dr. Wilhelm Baron von Capitaine Cologne, May 10.—It is expected that the appeal made by the recent international congress of the League of Peoples urging the Christian world to unite in putting an end to the persecution of Christians in Turkish territories will bring results. The testimony of numer-ous delegates indicated that the policy of the Turkish Government is to exterminate not only the Armenians but all the Christian populations of the country.

The Munich Congress sent to the Supreme Council and the Secretary General of the League of Nations a report of the outrages which the Turks have been committing on Christians, and asked that some action be taken to stop them. One of the delegates, M. Seferides, of Greece, testifies to the Turkish atrocities, and it was on this motion that the League of Nations was requested to intervene. M. Seferides declared that within the last six months 300,000 Christians have been massacred by the Turks and that all Asia Minor is suffering the most appalling persecution.

AN ENDEAVOR TO PROTECT CATHOL1C INTERESTS IN LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Paris.—The Catholic Union for International Study has held its third plenary session at Fribourg, Switzerland, under the patronage of Msgr. Marius Besson, who also took an active personal part in the deliberations. The chairman was Baron de Montenach, Councillor of State of the Swiss Confederation.

The work of the assembly dealt with the present international juridical organization, the participation of Catholics in this movement, and the amendments of the pact of the League of Nations in regard to the protection of Catholic interests in countries which come under the international control of that body.
As regards the League of Nations,

the Catholic Union for International Study is decided, more than ever, to

CATHOLIC NOTES

During 1921, the Christian Brothers opened 24 new establishments throughout the world. These throughout the world. These include three in Spain, seven in Ecuador, one in Peru, three in the Far East, and a Scholasticate in connection with the University of Lillon of Lille.

Rheims, May 16.—Cardinal Lucon, Archbishop of Rheims, has sent his greetings and blessing to America through a delegation of American bankers who visited this city and to whom he was host during a tour of inspection of the famous Cathedral of Rheims. The party is making a tour of France, investigating economic conditions

London, May 13.—After being unattached for nine years the Benedictine nuns of Talacre Abbey, in North Wales, have been received into the English Benedictine Congredation, and will now rank as an oration, and will now rank as an oration. especial desire of the Pope, who recently expressed a wish for modesty in women's attire.

Rev. Brother Justinus, Secretary-General of the Christian Brothers, this year celebrated his Golden Jubilee. The religious ceremony, which brought together many of the most noted ecclesiastical, civil, and educational authorities of the French Capital, was presided over by Mgr. Odelin, Vicar General of Paris, and among the speakers was Mgr. Baudrillart, Rector of the Catholic Institute. The Rev. Jubilarian likewise received the Apostolic Benediction from the Holy Father.

Rev. Father Fernando Saavedra, C.P., who died at the Retreat of St. Paul of the Cross, Mount Argus, Dublin, Ireland, was a member of a noble family of Spain. He had the distinction of being the first Passionist to give a mission in his native country. For many years he was engaged in missionary work in Great Britain and Australia. His Golden Jubilee in the priesthood took place last year. He celebrated Mass every morning of his mission-ary life, even on the day of his death.

By the death of Very Rev. Denis O'Hara. P.P., Kiltimagh, County Mayo, the Irish priesthood has lost one of its most notable members. Father O'Hara was exactly fifty years a priest. In all movements for the political and social amelioration of the people he took a leading part. Immediately after his ordin-ation he became identified with the Tenants' Right movement and subsequently with the Land League, National League, and Self-Govern-ment movements. He was a powerful platform speaker.

Toronto, May 20.—The second annual Conference of the Catholic Truth Society of Canada will be held in Winnipeg from June 24 to 28 made to have as large a number of representative Catholics as possible at the Conference. A very interesting programme has been mapped out. It includes some topics importance, not only to the Catholic clergy and laity of Canada, but topics pertaining to the well-being of every Canadian citizen from an educational, religious, and sociological point of view. most prominent Canadian and American citizens from Church and State have signified their intention to speak at the conference.

New Orleans, May 22.-Two generations of pupils and alumnæ attended the exercises held at the Ursuline Convent in honor of the golden jubilee of Mother Mary Theresa Wolfe, who at the same Theresa worte, who at the same time celebrated her seventy-fourth birthday. Mother Theresa entered the Ursuline novitiate at Beaujeau, France, in 1870, and made her profession in 1872. She was born in Listowel, County Kerry, Ireland, and was of a family of thirteen, eight of whom entered religious orders. Five of her brothers became Jesuits. One sister is the wife of Laurence Ginnell, T. D. E., who toured the United States and South America in behalf of the Irish Republic.

First, the European War and next the trouble and terror in Ireland held up church building and similar Catholic enterprises. To the city of Limerick has fallen the honor of being the first place to erect a church under the new regime. This new church is dedicated to St. Munchin, patron of the diocese. It stands upon the site of Thomond Gate which in former days was the officious policeman (known to the Irish people as the Peeler) is gone and so is the "National" Board, but the language and spirit of the Gael live on.

RAILROADS TO BE REORGANIZED

In spite of the many difficulties which impede the progress of the language and spirit of the Gael lan entrance to the city from the north. A small church was erected there

THE WILDBIRDS OF KILLEEVY

BY ROSA MULHOLLAND (LADY GILBERT)

CHAPTER XXIII-CONTINUED

"You needn't try to frighten me," said Rupert, good humoredly. "You have spoiled me too long and too often for that. I have deserved your anger, and you have always forgiven me. This time there is no fault upon my head."

"When I advised you to marry you would not do it," burst forth his lordship. "Why have you not married your Lady Mauds and Miss

"Because they were not—Fan," said Rupert, smiling.
"Be silent, sir, you are most impertinent," said Lord Wilderspin, striding about. "Now, uncle, do be quiet, and let us talk. I want to marry and settle down according to your wishes; and the woman I have chosen is the 'child' who is dear to yourself. You love her as an old man, and I as a young man, and this is the only difference between You would have her obey you us. You would have her obey you that you may ride out a hobby, and I would devote my life to making her happy. There are women enough to sing for us in the theatres. I advise you to let me have my own way."

have my own way,"

"An Irish beggar-girl, a gipsy's foundling, is to be installed here as the future Lady Wilderspin!"

stormed his lordship.
"I will take her out of the place, that you may not be troubled with the sight of her again."

"You shall do nothing of the kind, sir. I tell you this is no mere case of a hobby, as you think.
I cannot have her taken from me. I love her as a child of my own.

"Treat her accordingly, then," said Captain Wilderspin, laying his hand pleadingly on the old man's Ungrateful, good-for-nothing, towards the house.

and smiled, and then lit his cigar.
"Too hot to last," he said, comon frightening Fan from listening from Fanchea's face when she went nothing to do with him for Wilderspin would never consent to her marrying his nephew, and the conviction brought relief to her encounter—the traces of her l conviction brought relief to her mind. Captain Rupert pleased her; his tender homage charmed her girlish pride; she admired his soldierly bearing, and had felt him younger and more companionable than the other persons who surrounded her. Yet she was very well aware that she did not want to under my roof, you little have rounded her. Yet she was very well aware that she did not want to under my roof, you little bag-marry him. scheme dear to her heart was the discovery of the lost, and she would keep herself free for that enterprise. A promise of help in his power her search had for a moment shaken her purpose, and she had asked her"You have n self whether she could not accept this means of attaining her end. But a word had made everything clear. Her benefactor must not be

Such thoughts having raced to a all shed and gone. conclusion through her head, she flung open her windows and exconclusion through her head, she flung open her windows and extinguished her light and moved softly about her chamber dancing the gipsy's dance. Snapping her little fingers, poising herself on her transfer of the light till I look at you, Miss Impertinence. Eheu! did anyone ever see such a pair of eyes! You ungrateful monkey, did I ever refuse you anything you wished for?" toes she whirled from one end of the room to another, singing gaily under her breath that she was free;

"Free, free, to fly over the sea Like the birds that were cousins Of Kevin and me!

Her head at last on the pillow, she lay, with her face to the east, where she could see the breaking dawn through her open windows, hear the first whisper of life coming back to the world. shrill cry from the meadows below, harsh yet sweet; delicious from its association with the peace of the association with A deep quietude was in the air, and the fragrance of multitudes of roses came in and hung round Fanchea in her bed, where she kept warbling forth little couplets and sending them through her open window, across the darkened woods and fields.

The nightingales had done singing, you going to put her into her and there was no bird awake to dispute with her. She had hoped to

As the terrible words came ringing through her mind, Fan's heart gave a wild throb, and she buried her face in the pillows. It was no ideal, silent upon a subject that ship's weakness. was displeasing to all around her, Captain Wil she had never confronted the fear of such a possibility before. But now she admitted that there was worked himself higher in the scale of education and refinement? What proof had she that he had come out into the world in search of her, had been wrought up into something nobler than the noblest of the nobler than the noblest of the earth? Living at Killeevy, he would naturally do as others did, and go on earning his bread as his father had done before him. Could it be that he had forgotten all his early aspirations; or had he developed into such another as Shawn Rua (called the book-learned man?) Or even if he had followed her (according to he faith,) roamed for her sake out int to her the world's wide high-road, could she feel sure that, even in this case, he had been met by a happier fate How could he have procured any but the rudest tasks to do; who would have given him the advantages that had been so freely poured out upon her?

Travel-soiled, worn, weary, and poor, she had often pictured him to herself; but coarse and uncultivated, never. Oh! why had she not been left upon the mountain among her friends, to grow up and remain a peasant to the end of her day? She thus would never have been aware of anything wanting in those she loved, whereas, now, she realized that she might live to be only more unhappy through attaining the desires of her heart.

Sensitively and artistically alive to refinement, she was appalled at the probabilities presented to her. Sitting up on her pillow, and star-ing at the brightening dawn, her eyes grew red with weeping, and her heart felt like to break. Where was the use of the day if Kevin's beautiful soul were a dream? beautiful soul were a dream what was the object of the exist ence of such a creature as herself, if he were to prove one with whom she could not bear to associate?

> CHAPTER XXIV RACHEL WEBB AGAIN

"So, madam, you have been crying?"
Lord Wilderspin had sent for Fan covetous rascal!" shouted his lord-ship, shaking off the hand and striding away in towering wrath striding about like an angry giant, wards the house.

Captain Rupert looked after him darting fiery glances from under the lit his cigar, his shaggy evebrows. He was bent placently. "His bark is always to what he was pleased to call his nephew's impertinence. She must frightened look had gone snub the fellow, ignore him, have up to her room for the night.
Further conversation with the signora had assured her that Lord

Wilds. there was something in her face encounter-the traces of her last gage?'

"My lord, I have a right to my own tears," said Fan throwing back her head with a smile. It was not in his power to frighten her with "You have nothing of the kind," shouted his lordship. "Everything in this house is mine; you and your tears, as well as the rest.

"Then I am sorry I have wasted your property, sir; the tears are

"Come here to the light till I look

"No; and I am not asking for anything you can give me."
"A very likely story, with such a

Lord Wilderspin turned away from her where she stood in the full light of the window, and went puffing and sighing up and down the room, tugging and striving with his obstinacy and pride. The truth is, he had never noticed a woman The landrail sent up its a girl like this had looked at him piteously with such red-rimmed eyes. He and she had been saying farewell, and a year after the girl was in her grave. That is the story of Lord Wilderspin's old bachelorhood. It had never occurred to him that little Fan was one to cry; and he had no doubt whatever as to grave?"

He wheeled suddenly round on pute with her. She had hoped to sing herself to sleep, but suddenly down came the thought that she had been trying to sing and dance out of countenance.

"An uneducated labourer toiling at his spade, with a peasant wife and children—you will not find him one with whom you bear to associate."

He wheeled suddenly round on Fan.

"A little fresh air will be good for your complexion," he said, "and that rascally nephew of mine is bringing round a horse for you to ride. You have my orders to ride with him, and mind there is no crying about it."

"But my lord—"

But my lord-" "No buts, you monkey; I am as cross as a bear!" and, putting her out of the room, he bowed, and shut the door in her face.

The next hour Fan and Captain longer that she was angry at the words having been said, but she had begun to feel afraid they might be egun to feel afraid they might be downs together, while the signora and Herr Harfenspieler sat at the same face. Thou wert singing and dancing among gipsies."

Captain Wilderspin raptured. Although fully determined to have his own way at any price, it would have pained him to quarrel finally with his good old uncle, and the cessation of his lordmore than a possibility that such a disastrous state of things as had been pictured by Captain Rupert might be true.

Shy, slow, without a cultivated friend, how could Kevin have ship's hostilities delighted much more than surprised him. He had not expected so speedy a surrender, and was all the more pleased that unpleasantness had come so quickly to an end. That Fan would soon listen willingly to his suit he had no longer any fear, and he loved her all the more for the fidelity and tenderness that created her first difficulty. He was resolved to keep his word as to helping her in the search for her early friends, but comforted himself with the reflection that very little of Kevin, when found, would amply satisfy the crayfound, would amply satisfy the cravings of her heart. Out of his pocket he would make the people comfortable for the rest of their days, and thus win her lasting gratitude after the tears of her disgratitude after the days and the satisfactory of the flowers that adorned it.

A large china bowl of fresh-gath. appointment had been shed.

nephew's suit, and it did not sur- ant to Fan's eyes was the whole prise her so much as it ought to scene, have done, because she was so muslin cap, placed the have done, because she was so muslin cap, placed the have done, because she was so muslin cap, placed the have done, because she was so muslin cap, placed the have done, because she was so muslin cap, placed the have done, because she was so muslin cap, placed the have done, because she was so muslin cap, placed the have done, because she was so muslin cap, placed the have done, because she was so muslin cap, placed the have done, because she was so muslin cap, placed the have done, because she was so muslin cap, placed the have done, because she was so muslin cap, placed the have done, because she was so muslin cap, placed the have done accustomed to receive everything accustomed to receive every unusually grave and silent, and her lover respected her mood. He the place and the circumstances lover respected her mood. He divined clearly enough that the force of circumstances was telling upon her imagination, and in time would tell upon her heart. She did replacing it gradually with a reality of happiness.

In the changed expression of her eyes he read that the visionary Kevin "Drink thy tea now constantly filled them instead. She was remembering all circumstantial evidence against the friend of her youth. Her letters had never been answered; in all her wanderings she had not met him searching for her. The seven gipsies years (which at Fanchea's age are a lifetime) had changed him so that need not be afraid of frightening he was contented without her on me. I am no longer afraid of the the mountain, and was patiently supporting his wife and children by supporting his wife and children by the labor of his spade. The utmost good that he could require of her now was probably a little bounty such as Captain Rupert could give, to make him and his family more comfortable. The loss of her dream pressed heavily on her heart and chapged on the loss of her dream pressed heavily on her heart and chapged on the loss of her dream pressed heavily on her heart and chapged on the loss of her dream pressed heavily on her heart and chapged on the loss of her dream pressed heavily on her heart and chapged on the labor of his spade. The utmost assure you," said Captain Wilderspin spin, smiling on her. Mrs. Webb looked from one to tell the that does not concern those people. Didst thou know that some people. heavily on her heart, and changed her from a gleeful girl into a the gipsies?"
thoughtful woman. But Captain Rupert was right in judging that the "Yes, I have

They had ridden a long way, when the sky became dark, and it was evident a thunder-storm was following their steps. They saw it rolling towards them from the sea rolling towards them from the sea across the valley, and to turn would across the valley, and to turn would bling.

"That was his name. It was so "That was his name." farm-house a mile in advance on the road, and they pressed on their horses to reach its shelter. In spite of fast riding, floods of rain and flashes of lighting overtook them; Fan's skirts were drenched, and the wind buffeted her little hat and wind buffeted her little hat and in fluttering ringlets round her wet pair of wings and fly along the and rose-red face.

and rose-red face.

The haven was reached at last—a track so wearily travelle friend so many years ago. neat farm-house with a gable over-grown with climbing flowers. Cap-tain Rupert sprang from his horse and threw the reins upon a rail of the gate, then hypried up the walk the gate, then hurried up the walk times; he was always searching for and knocked at the door. It was the same door at which Kevin had knocked when on his weary tramp so many years ago; and one of Rachel Webb's handmaidens opened

The distressed wayfarers were kindly invited in; Fan was lifted off her horse and hurried under shelter; and a fair, placid woman talents. A literary gentleman took him up, and they went travelling together, and have never returned.' Fan's face had become more and more radiant as the Quakeress went to him. in grey garments and a white muslin cap met her in the hall with

Let me step into your kitchen,' said Fan, smiling and rosy; "my dripping skirts will do less harm there than anywhere else.

As she stepped into the kitchen, and stood full in the light, she made a picture, with her clinging draperies, her blooming cheeks, and the wet tangle of her ruffled hair curling about her pretty head and Rachel Webb looked at her attentively; and then said.

"Young friend, I have met thee before!

CHAPTER XXV UNEXPECTED NEWS

'Young friend, I have met thee before. Fanchea returned the good Quaker's long, steadfast look with a glance of surprise, never doubting that she was mistaken for some other person.

"I do not remember," she said, and yet-I have not seen many people

It is many years I met thee," Rachel, "but thou hast still "Many people saw me then. What a good memory you must

"The time is not so long for me as for thee," answered Rachel, smiling. "At my age seven or eight years pass quickly. But let me remove thy wet clothing. Afterwards I shall have something to say that perhaps may concern

When, still pondering these words, Fan emerged from the bedroom to which she had been led, she was dressed in a print gown fresh from the ironing table at which the maids were at work. Her riding habit was hung at the fire, and she was assured it would not be dry for an hour; besides the storm showed friends, but no signs of abating. In the parlor th the reflec-she found Mrs. Webb and Captain Rupert awaiting her reappearance; and tea was spread on a table in the pleasant old fashioned sitting-room ered roses perfumed the tea-table appointment had been shed.

As for Fan, she saw everything undone again that last night had seemed finished and put away. She was quick enough to perceive that Lord Wilderspin was, favoring his pephew's suit and it did not suit to Fan's everything and it did not suit to Fan's everything and it of the same property. why could he not be glad in her much as it ought to scene, including Rachel's white because she was so muslin cap, placid face, and the hand in her fate. What we she was going to tell her? would tell upon her heart. She did not love him yet; but he would rather wait for her love than see her willing to marry him for the sake of mere worldly advantage. She would have her own time and her own way. It was enough for the part of the pa her own way. It was enough for him at present to watch tenderly was half so becoming to her as the the sorrowful wakening from her impromptu raiment from the irondream of Kevin, and to have the privilege of soothing away the pain, Rachel, eager for her next words, Rachel, eager for her next words, and the sound in the sound impromptu raiment from the iron-Rachel, eager for her next words, yet finding it impossible to hurry er, or disturb her in her little hos-

before seized upon her. This woman belonged to her past, would have a

What was it that

"Drink thy tea first, my dear. was no longer discernible, and the coarse reality, as presented by him, now constantly filled them instead. will say what I have to say to thee." Fan swallowed her tea, and then at silently waiting. "It will be sat silently waiting. "It will be nothing after all," she thought, checking her impatience. Madam," she said at last, "you

She is in safe keeping now, I one else was seeking thee besides Fan rose suddenly to her feet.

at the "Yes, I have always known it, have lead always believed it. What have you Rupert was right in judging that the way was opening that might lead her to become the Lady of Wilder- got to tell me?

"It is seven years since he came "It is seven years since he came" here on his way to London looking for thee, and I have not seen him since. I suppose you know of whom I am sneaking." I am speaking."

"Kevin!" said Fanchea, trem-

Captain Rupert, remembered a new to me that I could not forget farm-house a mile in advance on the it. He was a simple, noble crea-wind buffeted her little hat and tugged at her hair till it streamed Fan, looking as if ready to unfurl a obtained some employment with a bookseller, and I have had means of learning that he gave himself up to study and developed some unusual talents. A literary gentleman took on speaking. The fact that she had caught sight of him only to lose him again could not cloud her delight. Her faith in him had been verified and at present that was enough He had really been in search of her he was educated, talented, and living with people of refinement. What did it signify that they were still to be apart? He lived in the world, and so did she; and with the happy audacity of youthful hope she felt this sufficient guarantee of their ultimate joyful meeting. Glowing with excitement, beaming with triumph and joy, she turned to Captain Rupert who had been a silent witness of this scene; but she met no sympathy from him; he turned away abruptly and looked out of the window, with a clouded face. The whirl of her thoughts would not allow her to guess at the cause of his coldness; she only felt him unkind, and remembered with a sort of pity for his want of judgment, that he had never been able to believe in Kevin. A little laugh rose in her throat, as the picture of a coarse peasant, with which he had lately succeeded in frightenia. lately succeeded in frightening her, flitted across her mind.

Here someone announced that the storm was over, and the horses at the door. Fan hurried away to prepare for departure, and was Wilderspin.

between them during the ride.
Rupert could not bring himself to Grace was the discovery she had made, fearing it involved the ruin of his own hopes. The story he had heard had sounded to him like a page out of a Mother what to do." congratulate the young girl upon the discovery she had made, fearing hopes.

fairy tale, and it seemed cruel of Fate to contrive circumstances so exceptional for the purpose of exceptional for the purpose of robbing him of his coveted happi-ness. Upon his exertions to find a ness. Upon his exertions to find a low-bred and vulgar Kevin he had rested his expectation of winning Fanchea's affections; but he could do nothing to bring about her meeting with such a man as had just been described. Her little outbursts of gaiety as she rode along by his side, the lark-like joy in her voice as she broke out into raptures about the beauty of the clouds, landscape, anything that caught her eye and became for the moment transfigured by her own delight, annoyed him beyond measure, feeling, as he did, that the fact of his own existence had no part in producing her satisfaction. Yet his unresponsive gravity gave her a slight chill in the end. If he really had any regard for her, she thought,

joy?
"I think you are not pleased at my good news," she said, looking at him wistfully, when he had lifted her down from her saddle. Captain Rupert turned pale, but smiled, and for an answer raised her little hand to his lips.

She is such a child," he said to himself. "How can I confess to her that I am jealous? After all she looks on this Kevin as a brother. If I can win her for my wife beforehand, why should I not be satisfied to see them meet?"

TO BE CONTINUED

MAZIE AND THE MAJOR

By Marion Dee in Rosary Magazin

Spring had been late and the April blossoming slow, but May burgeoned forth like a flower. Across the emerald green of field and meadow a prodigal hand had sown the gold of a million dandelions, while peeping from sandy ridges and forgotten fence corners the sturdiest and bluest of violets shook their heads in defiance of the casual despoiler. Such a sunny May, too, whose showers when they did come only served to accentuate the glowing green of tree and hedge and to fill the air with the pleasant smell of fresh loam and growing things. Never had there been a more wonderful May—and never had Mrs. Wynn been less in tune with it. As she raised her living-room windows this morning to the odorous breeze and looked out into the little yard where robins and birds and the inevitable sparrows were disporting elves, her heart was as heavy as smile and waited till the Major came lead at the thought that perhaps soon all this dear and cherished loveliness would cease to be hers. loved her little home and had managed admirably as long as Lessmere remained a suburban corpora-tion; but now that it was to be taken into the city taxes and other expenses would mount up to such an extent that, with her limited income, she would be unable to meet them. By using strict economy she would have enough to rear and educate her three children. But such an economy would not permit living in what promised now to be a very expensive suburb. Besides, she could sell to an advantage. Already she had been approached with flattering offers. Somehow it did not seem right to refuse what would add a material sum to her small capital. And yet the window with a burdened sigh when she heard the kitchen door slam, followed by a rush of eager

Three children, from four to eight, erupted into the room, all talking at once. Mrs. Wynn held up her hands laughingly.

"One at a time!" she admonished. "Grace, you tell me," as the four-year-old precipitated herself into year-old precipitates

her mother's arms.
"Dozen eggs!" she pronounced breathlessly. "A whole dozen, Mother ! "Let's sell 'em-we don't need any eggs—"

"And not move to town!" recited "And not move to the description of triumphant appeal. Such a of triumphant appeal. Such a grand idea—why hadn't Mother thought of it before? "Please Mother, won't you?" Margaret, the Mother, won't you?" Margaret, the oldest, begged. The description of the des

Mother, won t you.
oldest, begged.
Mrs. Wynn smiled, but her eyes silled and a little contraction came into her throat. "That's a good idea," she managed to say cheeridea," she managed to say cheer a moment. "We'll have fully after a moment. "We'll have to think about it, won't we? What would Mother do without her little helpers?" gathering the three close to her.
The children knew all about the contemplated move, and with an understanding in advance of their years realized how much their mother hated to leave the dear little 'It's because Father lived here once," Margaret told the two younger ones sagely, added im-portantly, "I remember him, you know. I liked him." repare for departure, and was on riding homeward with Captain Vilderspin.

Very few words were spoken the control of the contr

Grace was resourceful, if young "Oh, I can like him up in heaven,

"You little silly!" exclaimed Margaret. he'd take care of us all and we wouldn't have to move, or any thing

Mazie looked properly impressed. "Oh!" she murmured. "Oh!" "Oh!" she murmured. "Oh!"
That was it . . . If you had a father there was never anything to worry about. Fathers, it appeared, had so much money that matters like wearing out shoes never worried them like it did Mother, for instance. Her strayed to new dresses, of which her small soul was passionately fond,—proud dresses like those of the Ziegler children, whose weekday attire was hardly less glorified than that of Sunday, when they blossomed forth in the sweetest if simplest of garments. Mazie coveted similiar ones, not alone for herself but for Grace and Margaret. and for Mother a rose-colored hat Mrs. Ziegler's.

"Mr. Ziegler's prob'ly the richest man in the world," she sighed to herself. "Richer than the president, or the Pope, or anybody
. . . I wish I had a father!" It was a fair and lovely evening when Major Butler, who lived at the other side of Lessmere, was making his way homeward. He making his way homeward. He always got off the car at March mont Avenue for the sake of the walk across the stretches of charming suburb. A glance at his watch as he neared the Wynn cottage dispelled his half-formed idea of stop-ping for a few minutes, as he saw it was about the time of their evening He knew Mrs. Wynn gave meal. children an early supper for he had been invited to share it a coupl of times when he had thus happened in, but he was too shy a man, and too fearful of intruding, to risk stopping again at an inopportune moment. There was no one in sight as he passed, but further along as he found himself on a transverse lane he came upon a small figure tramping along steadily brown paper bag in her hand.

"Why, I believe it's Mazie!" the Major thought. "I wonder where she can be going?" He began to smile as he gained on the child.
"Listen to her sing, will you?" And stepping quietly on the soft turf he came close enough to hear The Major paused with an odd feeling that he had been eavesdropping. "Poor little tyke!" he muttered. Then, "Is that you, dropping. "For muttered. Then, "Is tun-muttered. Then, "Is tun-Mazie?" he called after her. Mazie?" he called after her. The child turned with a glad

"Where are you going and what have you got in the bag?" he asked with an old friend's privilege. "Cookies?"

Mazie shook her head and mazie shook her head and proceeded to set the bag down care-"It's eggs," she explained. "A dozen fresh ones. I want to sell 'em. They're heavy, too," and she smiled up at her friend. "Do she smiled up at her friend. you know anybody'd want a nice dozen of fresh eggs?"

"Now, isn't that funny?"
exclaimed the Major in great surprise. "I was just this minute wishing I had a dozen of nice fresh eggs."

Mazie looked surprised, 'But you've got some. Mrs. Cross One said so. I was over to your house and she said I needn't—"

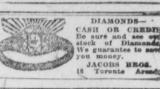

r small capital. And yet to leave the dear home to take the children to the city to live in circumscribed quarters—how could she bear to do quarters—how could she bear to do that? She was turning away from the city to live in circumscribed remarks. Her name was Mrs. Crossen, but having certain infirmities of temper, especially where children were concerned, she had been aptly re-christened by those youngsters of Lessmere ome acquaintance with her sharp ongue. "Yes, I suppose we have ggs." he went on, "but they tongue. "Yes, I suppose we have eggs," he went on, "but they wouldn't be as nice as these, you know. So I'll buy your eggs, Miss Grocery Lady," and he smiled insinuatingly,

But Mazie knew Mrs. Cross One "She wouldn't let you have 'em,' she told the Major sadly. "And i wouldn't be any use to buy 'em if you couldn't take 'em home and eat 'em, would it?" Then, thinking that the Major seemed embarrassed, she consoled him. She said, wasn't so terribly cross. But-" her ment before the absurdity of the thing flashed across his mind. She was so serious, the small rascal, that she had almost taken him in.

"Come," he said cheerfully,
"I'm going to take you home to Mother. I think it's a little late for ladies of your size to be out selling eggs and chickens—" "But I'm not selling chickens!"

(azie assured him. "We have to Mazie assured him. keep the chickens, for the eggs, you know?" looking up at him anxiousknow?" looking up at him anxious-ly. "It was us kids that thought about it, 'n Mother said it was a two good idea, and I thought I'd sell troubles before they came in sight of Mazie's home. He had never dreamed of financial difficulties in connection with Mrs. Wynn, but there must be something, he realized, in what the child was saying. Besides he recalled that Mrs. Wynn had looked worried lately—he had thought so the last time he saw her. And, good Telegrams—Luisandi, Stafferd. Phone No. 104

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS

MURPHY & GUNN BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES Solicitors for The Home Bank of Canada

Solicitors for the Roman Catholic Episcopal Corporation Suite 53, Bank of Toronto Chambers LONDON, CANADA Phone 170

FOY, KNOX & MONAHAN

BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES, Etc. Telephones { Main 461 Main 462

> TORONTO DAY, FERGUSON & CO.

CORNER BAY AND RICHMOND STR ETE

James E. Day John M. Ferguson Joseph P. Walsh TORONTO, CANADA

LUNNEY & LANNAN BARRISTERS, SOLICITORS, NOTARIES Harry W. Lunney, B.A., B.C.L., Alphonsus Lannan, LL. B.

CALGARY, ALBERTA JOHN H. MCELDERRY

NOTARY PUBLIC CONVEYANCER HERALD BLDG. ROOM 24

BARRISTER. SOLICITOR

GUELPH, ONT.

ARCHITECTS WATT & BLACKWELL ARCHITECTS Sixth Floor, Bank of Toronto Chambers

DENTISTS

DR. BRUCE E. EAID Room 5, Dominion Bank Chambers Cor. Richmond and Dundas Sts. Phone 5680

EDUCATIONAL

Westervel School Corner of Richmond and Fullarton Sts. A Business College of Strength and Character

St. Ierome's College

Founded 1864 KITCHENER, ONT. REV. W. A. BENINGER. C. R., President

FUNERAL DIRECTORS

John Ferguson & Sons 180 KING ST.

The Leading Undertakers & Embalmans
Open Night and Day Telephone - House 373 Factory 548

E. C. Killingsworth FUNERAL DIRECTOR Open Day and Night 389 Burwell St.

87 YONGE ST., TORONTO PHONE MAIN 4030

Hennessev "Something More Than a Drug Store"

CUT FLOWERS DRIIGS PERFUMES Order by Phone - we deliver

LOUIS SANDY

GORDON MILLS Habit Materials and Veilings

SPECIALLY PRODUCED FOR RELIGIOUS COMMUNITIES BLACK, WHITE, AND COLOURED SERGES and CLOTHS, VEILINGS

CASHMERES. ETC. Stocked in a large variety of widths and qu LOUIS SANDY ar ose bush, their soft trebles lifted in a sing-song chant. The Major For Major Butler was at the head of the movement which aimed to make Lessmere an integral part of the city. Most of the residents of the exclusive suburb were anxious to be taken in, thus securing better fire and police protection, besides other conveniences not to be lightly put aside. None of these would caught the words saw emotions of to be taken in, thus securing better fire and police protection, besides other conveniences not to be lightly put aside. None of these would suffer from higher taxation; and if there were a few undesirables who would feel it, so much the better if it forced them out of the com-munity. Thus the promoters, led by Major Butler, who now groaned bitterly at the reflection that the very first one to suffer should be so eminently desirable in every way.

It was with a heavy heart that the Major sat down to his lonely dinner, served by Mrs. Cross One with numerous dissertations on the hopeless condition of children in general and of this neighborhood in particular. When, finally, she sourly specified the "bold little Wynn girl" the Major took himself out of the room without a word; for though he had fought at Verdun and faced many a deadly barrage without a quiver, he had a wholeome fear of his housekeeper's some rear or his nousekeeper's tongue and was not going to risk an argument. But if she had only known it Mrs. Crossen had crystallized in his mind what had only been the yaguest of vague dreams, something to envisage, as one does the impossible, to brighten a gloomy hour, then dismissing it again with a sigh at the essential foolishness of

For Mrs. Crossen had said, refer-ring to the Wynn children: "She spoils 'em. But what can you expect? If she had a man to boss her and them kids both—'

Now, Major Butler had not the slightest desire to "boss" Mrs.

Wynn or her lovable children. He was very fond of the latter, in particular Mazie, whom he had always petted to the greatest extent, and too devoted—for the first time he admitted it to himself with a blush—entirely too devoted to their charming mother. Never in his life having been a lady's man, and lacking the ready tongue and the easy manner that he had often admired in other men, it follows that the Major had a very humble opinion of his own attractions. He was content, he often told himself, merely to be Mrs. Wynn's friend, and to know these beautiful friends. and to know that she esteemed and trusted him was a source of constant gratification. But he had not realized until this evening what a large part she and her children were taking in his life and how barren it would be if they were withdrawn. And, then, this other matter . . . if he were driving her away! He had always supposed that Tom Wynn had left his wife in good circumstances. It hurt him to think that she should be needing anything. Well, he was slow, and shy; and awkward, and not to be compared to her, of course, but he could take care of her, and the dear children, too. His big heart yearned over poor little Mazie and her haunting song. They did need a father-that was it. .

So halting had been the Major's footsteps that it was twilight when he came to the Wynn cottage. The air was warm and the children were Thither the Major took his foot-steps, seating himself on the porch beside Mrs. Wynn.

She said at once: "Thank you for

She laughed a little. "I scolded her, but I couldn't punish her, it was so dear of her!"

The Major looked shocked. "Punish her? I should think not! She's a wonderful child. Fancy her thinking of that herself!"

heavens, if this were true, he had been chiefly instrumental in causing a rose bush, their soft trebles lifted caught the words, saw emotions of amazement, indignation and a fugitive amusement flash over her face, and he held out his hand to check her as she started to call the

"Don't stop them, please." His eyes held hers masterfully. "Mazie was singing that this evening when I caught up with her—it's been ringing in my ears ever since.
Don't you think they do need a smile at his future wife.

THE REMEDY FOR LAWLESSNESS

The committee of the American Bar Association appointed to investigate the increase in crime in the United States according to a press despatch from Washington has decided to report to the annual meet-ing in Chicago that a remedy for increasing lawlessness is necessary for the welfare of the country! Several witnesses at the hearing attributed the increase in crime to the War, to inadequate penalties, and kindred causes. The case was thus summed up by one member the committee, who said: not know to what cause the increase in crime may be attributed, but we do know that steps should be in-augurated to check its growth." The American Bar Association is the organization before which the Hon. James E. Beck last year delivered his widely quoted speech on lawlessness in which he called attention to the late Pope Benedict's diagnosis of the five great plagues afflicting modern society. In regard to the question of crime and its remedy it may be opportune to call attention to another diagnosis of national conditions affecting crime and its remedy. This is con-tained in the Pastoral Letter of the American Hierarchy published two years ago.

ment to the disturbances which war invariably causes, the Bishops con-tinue: "Deeper and more omin-ous is the ferment in the souls of men, that issues in agitation not simply against defects in the operation of the existing order, but also against that order itself, its framework and very foundation. In such a temper men see only the facts the unequal distribution of wealth, power and advantage—and against the facts they rebel. But they do beside Mrs. Wynn.

She said at once: "Thank you for bringing my child home. She might be wandering around yet with those blessed eggs if you hadn't the facts they rebel. But they do not discern the real causes that produce these effects, and much less the adequate means by which both causes and effects can be removed. Hence in the attempt at remedy, methods are employed which result in failure, and beget a more hopeless confusion. To men of clear vision and calmer judgment there comes the realization that the things on which they relied for the world's security have broken under the strain. The advance of civilization, the diffusion of knowledge, the unlimited freedom of the strain. She's a wonderful child. Fancy her thinking of that herself!"

"Bless her little heart!" But Mrs. Wynn sighed on the heel of the words. "She said she told you all about it," with a straight, if rather embarrassed, look at the Major. "And I'm glad it happened to be you rather than some other of the neighbors. I suppose it's a mistake to talk to such young children about bosiness matters—I know it is—but you have to talk to some one, and—"

"Why," demanded the Major gruffly, "didn't you talk to me about it? Why, here I've been promoting the thing heart and soul, and you let me rave on and never said a word!"

"Oh but I wouldn't not for the said a word!"

"Ch, but I wouldn't, not for the world! It's a good move, I see that. Only," she shrugged rather hopelessly, "it's simply another angle of 'the survival of the fittest," I suppose. We don't belong in a wealthy suburb and we'll have to go " wealthy suburb and we'll have to go."

Major Butler squirmed in his chair and looked unhappy. Oh, for the gift of tongues to say what was in his heart! "Don't say that, dear Mrs. Wynn!" he implored. "Why—"he stammered on, "Lessmere would never be the same—I—I—"He gulped. "Not without you it wouldn't . . . and the children."

"Thank you, Major," murmured Mrs. Wynn gratefully, if a trifle absently. She was wondering with a pang if she would see very much of the Major after she moved into the city, and she allowed a small doubt to creep into her mind. Not that she doubted his kindness, but he was devoted to his home in the suburb . . . He was not a visiting man. . . The children would miss him, too! She smiled half-sadly at them now as she saw in his heart! "Don't say that, dear Mrs. Wynn gratefully, if a trifle absently. She was wondering with a pang if she would see very much of the Major after she moved into the city, and she allowed a small doubt to creep into her mind. Not that she doubted his kindness, but he was devoted to his home in the suburb . . . He was not a visiting man. . . The children would miss him, too! She smiled half-sadly at them now as she saw

neither order, nor law, nor genuine

Acknowledgment of God's supreme dominion over men, and obedience to his moral code enunci-ated in the Ten Commandments, ated in the Ten Commandments, instilled into American Life through religious education of children and through renovation of the hearts of their elders, is the only effective remedy for crime and lawlessness. We have not yet exhausted the resources of civilization in over-sources of civilization in over-throwing its enemies.

The teaching of Christ still re-mains an untried remedy in many efforts at reform. When we turn from the wreckage of Europe to the condition of our flourishing repub-lic, in spite of the wild anarchic orgy of crime that is sweeping over we are encouraged and heartened nely One tyou think they do need a father, my dear? . . ." He waited a moment, his new courage a in an awkward sort of a chap, but I love you all and I'd like to take care of you. . . ." The dusk deepened and the children's voices sounded far off and very, very seed. by the voice of one who in many instances has been proved to have Christian civilization, they are destined to have the chief role in

THE MOOD FOR PEACE

George N. Shuster in Catholic World

If we are ever to close the book of moral pestilence that egoism has written out of modern life, it must be with the aid of the Only One Who brought tidings of peace. We dare not hesitate; human life and effort will no longer be tolerable if we shall have to bequeath to our posterity the husks of a sunken civilization and bid them eat in the light of hell. Only the Saviour can redeem the world. That awful commingling of towering power and bottomless humility which was His character, is the only model that men can adopt with security. Before Him there are no supermen or kings or rulers or democracies, If we are ever to close the book of before Him there are no supermen or kings or rulers or democracies, but only men to follow, to love and to bear patiently. He speaks as well to the primitive heart of the savage found by the missionary on the icy shores of an arctic sea as to the harrowed mind of a Papini, enmeshed in the encovering shiller. enmeshed in the enervating philosophies of the world. Men have pictured Him in a multitude of robes, with the features of diverse the Mass. races, before the hearth fires of strange and lonely lands. Gauguim has even represented Him as an infant sitting in a basket such as the women of Tahiti use to carry their children; it is a reverent portrait, I think, for it is thus that a primitive people would take to their hearts the Babe of Bethlehem, the universal Master. the universal Master.

Wherever in the past Christian missionaries have walked new trails in trackless solitudes; wherever a carol has been chanted in the marketplace; wherever the hope of the Viaticum has been borne amidst the fleeting mistiness of the world, there has gone, like some flaming shadow, the figure of Him Who is really and eternally, despite the platitudes of expression, the Prince of Peace.

THE MASS

many footsteps sounds upon the pavements! A seemingly endless and who are enjoying the fruits of pavements. A seemingly endless procession passes along the city streets. They walk quickly as those who are eager to arrive at the end of their journey. They are young and old, rich and poor, learned and unlettered. They glide in at the door of some old cathedral sequestered in the heart of the business district or hidden away in the solitude of the slums.

Who are these and whet stream.

Who are these, and what strange quest brings them abroad so early? When the city is shrouded in mists, in silence, in darkness save where, in some isolated window, the lamp of the night watchman gleams out of the night watchman gleams out like the morning star.

This great throng of faithful are on the way to Mass, celebrated in the early hours of the morning when the idle and the lovers of comfort are enjoying the luxury of undisturbed repose. Surely that must be a powerful magnet which can attract the poor, the weary, those who sorely need the stimulus of a little extra sleep, away from the shelter of their homes.

the shelter of their homes. There are tired lines on many faces, lines written by disappointments, by ill-repaid and strenuous toil, by many sorrows. But there is an eager light in the eye, a flush on begrand sheeks—for they know

It would seem that the sentiments of the Cardinal were deeply understood and appreciated by the multitudes of those who frequent our churches for the purpose of obtaining the inestimable blessing of daily Mass. Thirsting at break of day with the Royal Psalmist for this sacred benefit, no sacrifice is considered too great in order to obtain it. The faithful know that here alone can be found the strength and sustenance to enable them to endure with courage the them to endure with courage the cares of this hard life, a land where there is no way and no water. So in the sanctuary they have come before Him, that they may enjoy the sight of His glory.

The poor and unlettered peasant who hides beneath her humble shawl does not know the meaning of the Latin words. But words are not necessary to her faith; she knows that they are simply the means, not the end of this most stupendous Action. They are not morely addresses the factors and the stupendous action. merely addresses to a Supreme Power—they are instruments of something far greater, instrument of consecration, of sacrifice.

"Quickly they go,—they are awful words; they are a work too great to delay upon Opickly they great to delay upon. Quickly they pass, for the Lord Jesus goes with them, as He passed along the Lake in the days of His Flesh, quickly calling first one and then another

Flames spring to life in many hearts that are destined to burn

He does not know the sacred Source of this miracle of grace, a saint in the midst of the busy world. It is she follows her Saviour in spirit as the priest passes to and fro, lifts up his hands, and bends down in adoration before the miracle which has been wrough through him. She follows Him through the various stages of His Passion, sees Him mocked, buffeted, crowned, nailed to a Cross, buried, risen from the dead. In spirit she sees the shining procession of the Saints whose names she has learned to venerate in Litany and song, as, at the mystic words, they are called forth and pass before the altar, their palms in their hands. Lucy, Agnes, Cecilia, Perpetua and the rest— Early in the morning the tread of they who suffered many of the same

a lily in his hand. Now is recalled the life of a little Virgin Martyr who, in the face of her torturers steadfastly refused to burn incense to pagan gods. Sacred presences, they surround the altar at the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, bringing messages of hope and comfort to weary

The priest disappears from the altar; the lights die out, and the worshippers go forth to join the vast army of toil.

In the east morning is breaking.
The sun is rising in all its splendor, a mighty fire kept burning with undimmed brightness by the Hand of God. One more Mass has brought peace and grace to a weary and sin-stained world.—The Pilot.

THEY NEVER MISSED MASS

In the "God's Acre" of a small town in the Midlands of England, are the graves side by side of a are the graves side by side of a brother and sister. Owing to circumstances which they could not change, they had lived seven miles from a church, and yet never had they been absent from Sunday Mass. From childhood to old age, summer and winter alike, had they gladly tramped every Sunday and holy-day morning their fourteen miles—seven in and seven out—to hear Holy Mass. Moreover, every first Sunday of the month they walked in fasting, so as to go to Holy Communion, nor did they break their fast till half-way back on the road home. on the road home, when, sitting down beside a spring, they would eat the bread they had brought with them, and drink the sparkling water. A few hundred yards from

The great Cardinal Newman says of the Mass: "To me nothing is so consoling, so piercing, so thrilling, so overcoming as the Mass. I could attend Masses forever and not be tired."

It would seem that the arrival of the carbon seems to their and went and the answer to their simple and loving souls that are and the seems that the arrival of the carbon seems to their and went and the answer to their simple and loving souls that are and went and the answer to their workers so much as He wants simple and loving souls that are simple and loving souls that are altogether given up to Him. It is the song of the little children that He would not suffer to be silenced; and it was the mite of the poor widow that He commended more than all the golden side of the right than all the golden gifts of the rich. Our Master has a wonderful eye for the service of the little and the WARNING! Say "Bayer" when you buy Aspirin. Unless you see the name "Bayer" on tablets, you are not getting Aspirin at all. Why take chances?

Accept only an "unbroken package" of "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," which contains directions and dose worked out by physicians during 22 years and proved safe by millions for

Colds Headache Toothache Neuralgia Earache Lumbago

Rheumatism Neuritis Pain, Pain

Handy "Bayer" boxes of 12 tablets-Also bottles of 24 and 100-Druggists. Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Mono-accitcacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

And He Said Unto Them

The Great King-Pharoah-was speaking of Joseph: The Provident Man - Who collected a definite proportion of the Nation's wealth, keeping it carefully that it might be obtainable when needed:

Joseph - who founded the first Insurance Company, and worked out the fundamental idea of Endowment Insurance: i. e.

-The Systematic Saving of a definite amount either for a time of stringency, or for an especial

Endowment Insurance

in its very first inception, was a blessing to mankind. It saved their lines.

Endowment insurance is still a blessing - and a life saver. But the modern Canadian can obtain it on far better terms than Joseph demanded from the ancient Egyptians. They paid heavily for the return of the original savings

-We return your Savings, and pay you an additional sum.

The Provident Man is Full of the Spirit of God.

Carry Insurance! Carry Enough!

London Life

Insurance Company

"Policies Good as Gold" HEAD OFFICES LONDON, CANADA Agencies in all principal cities

GET "JOINT EASE" FREE! A Regular 60c Tube.

For Rheumatie Pains, Lumbago, Sciatica, stiff, swollen, aching joints and muscles. Wonderful for Neuritis. Just rub it in and watch the pain and trouble disappear.

"JOINT EASE" is better than mussy old plasters and liniments that stain and blister, For free 60-cent tube (only one to sach family) address, with 10c in stamps or coin to help cover mailing costs. H. P. Clearwater, No. 65-B St., Hallowell, Maine.

Summer Camp For Catholic Boys

Under Personal Direction of the Christian Brothers, Lake Simcoe Beach, Ont.

Swimming, Boating Fishing Hiking

An ideal place for your boy. For fur-ther particulars, address: REV. BROTHER ALFRED 575 Jarvis Street Toronto, Ont.

ST. JOSEPH'S HOME of the SACRED HEART Hospice for Ladies Old Gentlemen and Couples

lars apply to the Mother Superior, 78 Yate St. St. Catharines, Ontario, Canada in charge of the Carmelite Sisters. D. C. J.

F. E. LUKE OPTOMETRIST

AND OPTICIAN 167 YONGE ST. TORONTO Eyes Examined and Glass Eyes Fitted

ROOMS Each With Bath Rates % of rooms at $2.58 25% of rooms at 3.00 25% of rooms at 3.50 20% of rooms at 4.80 5% of rooms at 4.50 AND UP Enjoy Stay CHICAGO The Home of the The Home of the lettace Garden CHICAGO'S WONDER RESTAURANT

The Cross-Bearers Of The Saguenay

By Very Rev. W. R. Harris, D.D., LL.D., Litt. D. Author of "Pioneers of the Cross," "Days and Nights in the Tropics," "By Path and Trail."

Pres. Publications

Nov. 18, 1920

READERS of Parkman's vivid pages know something of the heroic labors of the early Roman Catholic Missionaries among the Indian savages of Canada. In the book before us, as in several previous works, Dr. Harris continues the study of that fascinating story. The present volume tells particularly of the work; carried on among the Algonquins of the Saguenay region. Here the name of the heroic Jesuit, Paul Le Jenne, shines out resplendent. His hardships and suffering as he shared the cold and squalor of the Montagnais lodges and followed the wanderlags of the Indians through

Price 75c. Post Paid The Catholic Record

LONDON, CANADA 3 67223

OR CLOKE & SON 16 West King St. Hamilton, Ont.

The Catholic Record

Price of subscription—$2.00 per annum. United States and Europe—$2.50. Zablisher & Proprietor, Thomas Coffey, LL. D. Editors { Rev. James T. Foley, B. A. Thomas Coffey, LL. D. clate Editor — H. F. Mackinger — Robert M. Burns. d addressed envelopes are enclosed.

Zatholic Record has been approved aended by Archbishops Falconio i, late Apostolic Delegates to Can shbishops of Toronto, Kingston, Otte
L. Boniface, the Bishops of Lon

Ordensby In St. John, N. B., single copies may be urchased from Mrs. M. A. McGuire, 249 Main ontreal single copies may be purchased Milloy, 241 St. Catherine St. West.

Ottawa, Ont., single copies may be pur-different J. W. O'Brien, 141 Nicholas St. of following agents are authorized to ve subscriptions and canvass for The bile Record: atholic Record:
General Agents—M. J. Hagarty, Stephen V. Lames, George J. Quigley, Clarence A. Contyre, Resident Agents—Miss Bride aunders, Sydney; E. R. Costello, 716 Pender L. West, Vancouver, B. C.; H. Chamberlin, Law West, Mrs. & dward McPike, 224 Lartin Ave., Elmwood, Vinnipeg, Man, ohn P. O'Farreil, 98 Aberdeen St., Quebec Ity.

LONDON, SATURDAY, JUNE 3, 1922

ABOUT POLITICS

Canada. If a survey of these bodies Government by these lawyers is were undertaken by independent now published. It is as follows: investigators for the purpose of ascertaining how far they interfere arisen with regard to the mode of in politics as organized bodies, it apportioning the special grants for would be found that the Catholic urban, Public and Separate and also Church interferes least of all. As Public and Separate schools. The individuals, Catholics are like other citizens; but the Church as such as follows: The practice of the does not meddle with Dominion education department is to divide does not meddle with Dominion the grants by first making an politics at all. We are not asking allotment to the Public and Separallotment to the Public and Separallo whether this is right or wrong, wise ate schools according to school attendance as provided in the first ed by Catholics. They are now to what takes place in fact. If the part of subsection 2 of section 6 of formation of the present Dominion and then to apportion the said allot-Cabinet, the Department of Immigration would have been placed in according to the regulations which charge of a Catholic. On the contrary, from the personnel of the and 'g' Cabinet it is evident that Catholics for the allowance of certain sums of sought portfolios which suited them as politicians. The truth is that the Church in Canada has not the machinery for united action in such matters. There is no central bureau. There are no meetings of all the Bishops. There is no correspondence on the subject. There is no fund to draw on for the cost of dated revenue united action.

On the other hand, it is assumed generally by Protestants that the Catholic Church is continually using her influence for political effect. Thus, when the Anglican Bishop of Huron sought to account for the fact that the Catholics have Separate schools in Ontario, in his address to the London Synod a few weeks ago, he did not even think it worth while to inquire into the facts. He simply assumed that the Catholics "got Separate schools by playing party politics successfully." This statement is not merely false; it is cruelly false. Separate schools were imposed upon Catholics by the preceding months or during the the necessity of religious training in action of Protestant ministers in number of months which have elasted from the establishment of a new Separate school as compared of the protestant ministers in elasted from the establishment of a new Separate school as compared of the protestant ministers in elasted from the establishment of a new Separate school as compared of the protestant ministers in elasted from the establishment of a new Separate school as compared of the protestant ministers in elasted from the establishment of a new Separate school as compared of the protestant ministers in elasted from the establishment of a new Separate school as compared of the protestant ministers in elasted from the establishment of a new Separate school as compared of the protestant ministers in elasted from the establishment of a new Separate school as compared of the protestant ministers in elasted from the establishment of a new Separate school as compared of the protestant ministers in elasted from the establishment of a new Separate school as compared of the protestant ministers in the protestant ministers in elasted from the establishment of a new Separate school as compared of the protestant ministers in elasted from the establishment of a new Separate school as compared of the protestant ministers in the protesta 1841, and especially by the action of Anglican ministers. Dr. J. George with the whole average number of Hodgins, who wrote a History of pupils attending school in the same Separate schools in Ontario, was, we believe, an Anglican. · At any rate he was a Protestant, and his official position as colleague of Dr. Ryerson gave him access to the facts. In his History he asks the each province the legislature might question: Who was responsible for exclusively make laws in relation to question: Who was responsible for the introduction of Separate schools such law shall prejudicially affect into Ontario? He answers (page any right or privilege with respect 19): "It was owing principally to the well intentioned, but mis- class of persons have by law in the directed, zeal of those who sought to province at the union. influence the newly elected and public grant on the basis specified mixed Legislature of the time to make the Bible a class book in the Common schools." The Bible which British North America Act and under the provisions of section of the numerous petitions and Angliabove quoted from that act it would above quoted from that act it would not to place in the Common schools as a prejudicially affect such right. text-book is the version authorized that the Roman Catholic Separate by King James, in other words, the Protestant version. The Legisla- the allotment made to them under ture could not do this, any more the first part of sub-section 2 of than it could impose the Catholic section 6 of the department of edu-Catechism as a text-book in all the cation act, and that the same should schools. The outcome was that the Legislature divided the Common schools into different branches, allowing the formation of Separate school boards, both Protestant and opinion we are not to be understood Catholic, for the benefit of the minority in each place. The Bishool may not be withheld for minority in each place. The Bishop cause. and Clergy of the Church of England in Toronto actually petitioned assessments may be awarded for ing to the Act of 1868. The Hearst which is not ardently defended by Hon. Attorney-General.

very much more in the way of back to the basis of attendance, as by others. separation than was ever obtained or even sought by Catholics.

How account for the fact that an address to a Synod, passed over the judice of his class led him to substitute fancy for fact.

ABOUT SCHOOL GRANTS

One of the claims made by Separate school supporters is a proportional share of all legislative school grants. From 1863 to 1907 this claim was never questioned. Then the Department of Education made a new set of regulations, dividing the grants on a basis which departed from the basis of proportional school population, with the result that the Separate schools received in grants a smaller aggregate amount than the Act of 1863 gave them. In 1915-16 the Separate school authorities represented to the Government that the Separate schools were entitled to the full proportional share. The Government consulted as legal advisers The Dominion census gives a long Messrs. Cartwright & Middleton in that the debt should be paid, but that will be acceptable alike to Jew list of religious denominations in 1916, and the advice given to the

> "It appears that a question has first making an the department of education act, ment among the Public schools and the Separate schools respectively, were passed following clauses 'd of subsection 1 of said section 6, which regulation provide money to each school according to the class of teacher engaged and the equipment of such school. result of this apportionment is that the sum allotted to the Separate schools is not exhausted and there is a considerable amount. which under subsection 5 of section 5 at the end of the fiscal year lapses and becomes part of the consoli

'The Separate schools have now made a claim that they are entitled to the full amount of the allotment made to them under the first part of subsection 2 and that no part lapse.

"By an act of the old province of Upper Canada, 26 Victoria, chapter which is entitled 'An act to restore to Roman Catholics Upper Canada certain rights in respect to Separate schools, it was provided by section 20, that every Separate school shall be entitled to a share in the fund annually granted by the legislature of this province for the support of Common schools, etc., according to the average number of pupils attending welve next city, town, village or township. This act was passed in the year seem clear that the share of the was a right of the Separate schools, under the provisions of section 93 can propaganda in the press sought seem that the legislature should not

We are therefore of the opinion schools are entitled to the whole of be divided among them so as not to leave our surplus to lapse into the consolidated revenue fund under sub-section 5 of the same section. We may add that in expressing this

Thus advised, the Government in 1917 resumed the payment of the the Legislature of 1841 to provide full proportional share on the basis of their own Church may be ten years prior to 1917 the Separate trines have their advocates and denial should come now when the and for their own prosperity; and treaty. It seems that since this must be built, however hard-prest entrusted to their own pastors, and schools lost over a hundred thous- their opponents. Not a single re- Bishop is away in Europe and beyond these things, they fight treaty was made, Mr. Lloyd George the country was to find funds with their instruction." This was asking Government brought the grants some and most vigorously denied the lawyers advised; but refused credit side is a blank. One does not need to be a lawyer to see that no Government had the to mean. Hence, the amounts lost schools. of people who are pained at seeing justice done to Catholics.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

The stand which the synods and conferences of the different Protestant sects are now taking in regard to religious teaching in the schools is somewhat inconsistent with their almost unanimous opposiadvocating a more extensive teaching of religion in the Public schools. Religious bodies in the United States have gone on record, advocating the same thing. The Catholic Church has always maintained that, wherever possible, religious education should accompany secular education.

The Church teaches and has always taught that not only the intellect must be trained but also the will: and the will can only be properly directed by principles of religion. Why then should there be opposition to the Catholics who have put in practice the very resolutions which the various synods and conferences have passed? It seems that the opposition is not so of much directed against the fact of the allotment should be allowed to Separate schools as against the Catholic Church itself, and the many specious arguments used by the opponents of Separate schools are nothing more than popular to prevent the Catholic Church exercising that influence over her children for which she was divinely appointed. The activity which the different of results which the Public schools have produced under the present present system the Public schools their conduct will be. have not produced the best type of sweeping both countries, the numhave forced them to take notice and the same time to suggest a remedy.

Judging from the published re-Presbyterians, Baptists and Anglicans, all place the cause of these conditions on the lack of religious extensive teaching of religion.

But just here is the difficulty. What religious instruction will be acceptable to all the Protestant sects, not to mention the Jewish Religion? They may agree on what is not to be taught, but to formulate a positive set of religious principles that would be effective, they would be hopelessly at sea. In doctrinal matters they differ to refund the amounts which had belief cannot be taught in the Pub- Minister of Education is due the statesmen perceived that her pros- domination of Russia; of the been lost during the previous ten lic schools without offending the public. The statement was a most perity was not to be served by greatest unexploited natural re-Anglican Bishop, in a formal years. We have to place to the convictions of some one. If this is credit of the Hearst Government true of the Christian sects, how influence from the fact, as was head and "the last cent" were good softness to Germany come back that it gave us at least partial offensive must such teaching be to known facts of the case and gave that it gave us at least partial find the legal department of the legal department of the legal department of the one general election; an election at Genoa instead a mere supposition of his justice. One wonders what measure the Jews and the Unitarians, whose of the legal department o own? The answer is—prejudice. of credit can Separate school sup-Nothing but the traditional pre- porters accord the Drury Govern- with the teaching of the Christian on his return will try to refresh the ment of the War. But such policies average observer on this side of ment after its demise. So far its Religion. In any science a start memories of the Hon. Gentlemen. must be made from fundamental principles, if the science is taught properly. Religion is no exception. right to deprive the Separate If religion is to be taught effectiveschools of the grants due according ly the first principles of religion to the Act of 1863. The wording of must be stated. But no two Prothis Act is so plain that no one testant sects are agreed as to what could distort it into meaning any- are the first principles of religion. thing different from what Messrs. Principles of religion, therefore, Cartwright & Middleton found it must not be taught in the Public to the Separate schools during the Since principles of religion cannot years 1907-17 are clearly due to be taught in the Public schools, and those schools from the Provincial since there is urgent need of some-Treasury. Why have two succes- thing that will influence the life and sive Governments refused to per- conduct of the pupils, influencing form this act of plain justice? Be- them to do good, and restraining cause the Governments are afraid of them from evil, the advocates of the majority of electors. All the religious training in the Public talk about Ontario striving to live schools have found a substitute in a up to the pacts of 1863-67 is nothing certain system of ethics. In their but talk. Acts speak louder than zeal they are now engaged in workwords. The Government knows ing out a plan of moral teaching shrinks from paying it in presence and Christian and Atheist. It is a rather difficult task as the same difficulties which are evident in the teaching of doctrine are present in the teaching of ethics. There is just as much difference among the Christian sects in regard to ethics as there is in regard to doctrine.

A few weeks ago, in the city of London, there arose a heated controversy over the question whether the students should be allowed to dance at the opening of the new Collegiate Institute. Members of different religious denominations protested against this form of morals of the students. They appealed to the School Board. Immediately the School Board, which has no right and claims no. right to define what is dangerous to morals, became the sole judge in this particular case. The dance was held, and from the newspaper reports an enjoyable time was had by all.

The point here is who is going to determine what ethics should be taught in the school. In the particular case stated above, the School Board determined what the students of the London Collegiate Institute should be taught in regard to dancing. Its decision did not meet with favor among a great number who pay their taxes for the support of the school and whose convictions are strongly opposed to an amusement of this kind for children. appeals to the bigotry of the people Who will determine the morality of indiscriminate frequenting of the heretofore, will be left pretty much system. They admit that under the to themselves to determine what

Religion is the only factor that citizens. The crime wave that is can safeguard the morals of the children. There can be no subber of delinquents of tender years, stitute. The Catholic Church has taken this stand from the beginning. ascertain the cause of these and at | Since it is impossible to have this in the Public schools, she demands schools of her own where her chilports of their meetings, Methodists, dren can be taught both the princishe puts in practice what all teaching in the Public schools, and religious denominations are now the remedy they suggest is a more demanding but which they are unable to accomplish?

HON. MR. RANEY

In the issue of the Mail and sentation on the Board of Education | in the slightest. was a rank injustice. The Hon. R. fundamentally. In the interpreta- H. Grant, Minister of Education, tion of the Scriptures not only is corroborates the denial of the politics; and it is not the history, Some believe in the Divinity of ship, Right Rev. M. F. Fallon, Christ; others reject this doctrine. quoted the Attorney-General as Some believe in the necessity of making the above statement. It was for the sake of establishing or proof the long silence on the part of secondary part. alleged, that it came from the head enough to carry a general election; roundaboutly to embarrass him?

THE GENOA CONFERENCE By THE OBSERVER

A French paper, some time ago, had a cartoon representing John Bull presenting a final ultimatum to Russia with the words: "I ask you for the last time, will you trade with me?

The despatches from Genoa are full of the word "peace." One so much talked of? It seems to be peace for financiers and traders, and nothing else. But it has only one meaning for the masses of the European peoples, and that is the opposite of war, of which they have had so recent and so bitter an experience.

We have not the chance to read much, in Canada, of the views of other nations on the tangled and complicated situation which is the subject of the Genoa Conference. The gathering of news, the sending of cable despatches, the formation of public opinion on this side of the Atlantic, are in the hands of agencies and correspondents and writers who are not much concerned with what is thought of the European situation in Paris, in Rome, or in Brussels; and are greatly dominated by the diplomats and politicians of England. For instance, one of the principal correspondents of The New York Times spent a amusement as dangerous to the good while with Mr. Lloyd George in Wales before going to Genoa. It is not surprising that Mr. George bulks large and the rest of the diplomats small in the despatches from Genoa to the New York Times.

As to such of the Canadian papers as have a special correspondent a land-power; and that is worrying overseas, it has long been noticeable that their accounts of European affairs are colored to accord with the ideas that happen to prevail amongst the leaders of the English Government at any given time.

There have been, for a long time past, many signs that public foreign markets and fewer exports. opinion in England and over here was being prepared for a rupture between England and France, not invaded and ravaged. She lost English diplomacy, for over two nearly twice as many men in the that after a successful existence of years past, has been tending War. She is much more interested towards friendliness with Germany, and a resumption of trade with Belgium. Russia on easy terms. The Fall after the Armistice and before the for any special devotion to ideals today. Treaty of Versailles, Mr. Lloyd and high principles in her dealings "movies" or of the countless other George went to the country. It is with other States, it is reasonably forms of present day amusements? interesting to recall now his cam-It surely does not fall within the paign watch - words. The Kaiser towards Germany and Russia is the Cathedral of Rheims, so badly province of the School Boards. It was to be hanged as high as based on more vital necessity, is damaged by the Germans during the cannot be determined by the differ- Haman; and Germany was to pay more nearly inevitable, and is more War, France had already put in the United States display in urging the necessity of religious training in the necessity of reli from exacting the last cent from that has come up at Genoa is the re-dedication, marked as an occasion must not be done. The children, as Germany, concession after conces- question of the French and Belgium of public thanksgiving, is indeed, sion has been made in the terms of property which the Soviet Govern- already an event of the past, and reparation; always with England's ment wishes to retain and to nation the civilized world which mourned eager consent; always against alize. France and Belgium say: the mutilation of the venerable fane, France's protest.

I think I have been able to see how We are Communists; and your Mr. Lloyd George and his political property must come under that associates have been moved so far regime; but we will give you the press reflects the views of English | million dollars invested in Russia | other huge and pressing demands, finance and trade control English very large per centage of the man- German reparation promises, the Why then find fault with her when politics and England's diplomatic ufacturing and the public utility French Government has, we are action.

-many people-who look at English | in others. politics as something beautiful and ideal. For them, there is no sordid

But that is not the history, nor fought for the right; nor, when she do that. has fought for it, has it always been were good only to win that election; the Atlantic. There is much in it they would not do; and they will that is obscure; much that is disnot do for the next election. For, torted; but some of the main lines in the next election, the moneyed emerge from the fog of partisanship interests, the forces which make and and the propaganda. unmake English governments, will Mr. George told Mr. Barthan that want to know, not about the the Entente was coming to the Kaiser's head or "the last cent," parting of the ways. On the whole but about the future of English Berlin has a good deal to feel satismanufactures and trade.

Berlin; and German diplomacy bent Berlin does feel fairly well itself to the task of persuading English manufacturers, bankers and traders, that the welfare of terms to Germany.

"The balance of power in Europe' is still the main subject matter for the thoughts of English politicians; but its nature has changed from what it was when it used to give 'The rise to wars long ago. balance of power in Europe" is now financial and commercial, primarily; and is military and naval only in a secondary way.

And so, the safety and welfare by business men, and English politicians, influenced by both, have been thinking, since the War, are financial and commercial safety and welfare, more than any other. England can hardly have considered business; her manufactures and her years. exports; her investments in other European countries.

France has also been worrying about her business situation; but she has other things, and worse, to worry about. Germany is of the Caversham Park, a large estate past as a sea-power; but not as France far more than her business the Oratory School have been so situation. Besides, France has no long associated in the Catholic mind such financial interests in re-building Germany as England has. She is not in such dread of a flood of German goods in her foreign markets; because she has fewer She is much more damaged by the War than England, whose soil was than England is, in the future of

So, without giving France credit

Reading English newspaper views value of it." Russia says: "No. in their joy over its restoration. away from "the last cent" and the management and the use of it."

Mr. Lloyd George says to France, or selfish side to the policies and ments), and to Belgium: "Let relief from the German reparations acts of English statesmen. For Russia have the property, on the upon which they had set so much them, English statesmen are super- terms she offers you. We must store," says the Literary Digest, Empire, May 23, it is stated that statesmen, on whom no consider- reconstruct Russia and finance her. the Hon. Mr. Raney denies ever ations of no such sordid things as The 'peace' of trade requires that they could do to carry the making the statement that the trade, money, or the chances for it." France and Belgium are not ordinary expenses of government present system of Catholic repre- the next general election, can weigh convinced. England is ready to and provide funds for the restoraso much as the others, I believe; the present condition, of English but she apparently sees her way to make up the loss in new trade nor the present condition of English with Russia. France and Belgium individual enjoys the same right. time has elapsed since His Lord- diplomacy. England has not always do not seem to see their way to project of church-reconstruction.

This question has only come to an acute phase at Genoa; it is not Baptism for salvation; others deny never publicly denied, and it seems tecting the right. Nations fight a new question, and meantime this. All the other Christian doc- strange that after all these weeks a and scheme for their own safety Germany and Russia have made that an annual grant from the and dollars of the grants due accord- ligious belief can be mentioned unable to help the memory of the little and scheme little. England is has become more eager still to make which to meet the demands of the

In the meantime an explanation of all; and ideals are playing only a Belgium property. What is the reason? Does he see Germany The fundamentals of Christian the Attorney-General and the Soon after the War, English outbidding him for commercial important one and had greater crushing Germany. The Kaiser's sources left on earth? Has his fied about, in the diplomatic doings This fact was clearly perceived in of the last two years; and I suppose satisfied.

Nobody seems to be worrying very much in Canada; though the English business required easy results may cost us blood and money some day.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

An interesting item comes to us from an Italian contemporary. Just before leaving for home after the events of the coronation, His-Eminence, Cardinal Begin, paid a visit to the Salesian Fathers at Valdocco, and in the Borgo S. Paolo, Turin. He also visited the of which English papers, influenced Marist Brothers in the same city and was much impressed by the apostolic and world-wide character of the work being carried on by these two religious orders. The impression was not all on one side. however, as the Fathers and Brothherself in any danger in a military ers speak of the "youthful vigor" or naval sense, nor likely to be which characterize the Canadian n any such danger. What she has prelate, and the ease with which he thought to be in danger is her bears his burden of eighty-five

> ANOTHER ITEM of interest from across the water is the projected removal of Cardinal Newman's famous foundation, the Oratory School, from Birmingham, to recently purchased by the Fathers. near Reading. Birmingham and that the big city of the Midlands will not seem quite the same place without the latter. It was within three years of his conversion that the future Cardinal set himself down in Birmingham to begin his great work for the re-conversion of England, and fifteen years thereafter that he opened his school. So over sixty years, it begins to rank as one of modern England's venerable institutions, antedating, as it does, most of the Catholic schools of

WHILE THE world at large was debating the possibility of restoring Now, the most crucial question cal completion. The ceremony of "Give us our property, or the will now join with the French people

It is re-assuring to be informed. and from independent authorities, that religion in France has really hanging of the Kaiser. The English Belgium alone had four hundred benefited by the War. In spite of finance and trade; and English before the War; and was doing a aggravated by the falling down of work of that country; from 80 per told, decided to issue bonds to the There are in Canada some people cent. in some lines to 75 per cent. extent of 200,000,000 francs to re-build 3,000 churches destroyed by the invader. "Carrying the burden (which has also very heavy invest- of a vast public debt, with little "the French are said to have all sacrifice some investments too; not tion of their ruined villages, and for the rebuilding of 'houses to shelter the homeless," yet it was possible to restore Rheims, and to inaugurate the above-mentioned

> SAYS THE Boston Transcript : "It was not enough to re-build homes and schools. The martyred churches-some 8,000 in number-particularly heavy hand upon the churches in the battle-swept area. They were a favorite registration and reference point for the artillery; when other land-marks failed, artillery commanders could invariably Toronto. find a church spire upon which they could adjust their fire, and enable them to prepare an effective 'fire for effect.'" "What light," moralizes the same paper, "these churches could throw upon the Boy. varying fortunes of the War, if they could but tell their full story !"

A CORRESPONDENT of the Boston Gillooly. Pilot enlarges upon the pitiful conditions of parish life which have been the rule rather than the exception in the devastated region of France. Temporary wooden huts have done duty for churches and for the housing of the clergy, For this reason the Government has deemed it necessary to give dent, "the rebuilding of these countless persons."

generosity all the more."

THE APHORISM of a well-known French writer, M. Paul Concoeur, tion: "The soil of France has been the furrows have been made ready; sturdy workmen have begun to cast in the good seed. The spirit of camp taken up with swimming and and kelping to make the Boy's sacrifice must render that seed baseball. fertile."

ent report to the Home Office, an English inspector of prisons gave it as his opinion that certain hymns sung in the prisons under his jurisdiction were rather incongruous. As an example he cited the singing in his hearing in Portland Prison of "Lord, keep us safe this night."

This has recalled the reception given to Sir J. S. H. Banner at a meeting of the Liverpool Sunday School Union at which he had been invited to preside. The first hymn on the programme, which the audience shouted out with great lustiness, was "Fling out the

A THIRD example of the kind was the selection at a recent deaf and dumb festival of the hymn: "Oh for a thousand tongues to sing." As a matter of fact, however, could anything be more out of harmony with historic or existing conditions than the singing at any Protestant gathering of the well-known 'Onward Christian Soldiers:"

"We are all united All one body we One in faith and doctrine One in charity.'

He who can preserve peace in the midst of the confusion and com-plexity of business, and sweetness in the midst of suffering, is almost perfect.—St. Francis of Sales.

The experience of centuries teaches us that men need consoling first, instruction afterwards. Begin with argument and all will be sterile. Begin with love, and all

BOY LIFE

Catholic Boy Life Council. appointed by His Grace, Most Rev Neil McNeil, D. D., Archbishop of

Organized to promote Boy Welfare by fostering existing organizations, developing co-operation and promoting civic and national activities for the betterment of the Officers-President, Mr. P. J. Mulqueen, Treasurer, Mr. A. J. Gough, Secretary, Mr. C. J.

Committee-Mr. Fred O'Connor, Mr. W. J. Commins, Mr. T. E. McDonnell, Mr. R. F. Fitzpatrick, Mr. J. P. Hynes, Mr. J. M. Lalor, Mr. P. G. Cherry, Mr. E. M. Carroll, Mr. F. J. Shannon.

JUST ABOUT CAMP-A TALK TO BOYS

restoration, and a committee of a successful stay in camp. Proper along the route. Wabasso Park architects has been named to preparation can only be made when was reached at 11 o'clock, after a supervise the work. And it is you have decided what you are gratifying to know that artistic going to do at camp. It then hungry, two camp fires were immeconsiderations are to be kept always resolves itself into taking with you diately started, and in a short time in view. "To the student of archi- all the equipment necessary to carry all were relishing a meal cooked in tecture," adds the Pilot correspondout your program. Camplife offers the open, and enjoying coffee made churches easily recalls one of the adding to your store of knowledge sides were chosen and a basball greatest periods in the history of on nature subjects, that you should game was soon in progress on the architecture. It was in France not let a camp term go by without spacious lawn of the park. When that some of the greatest archi- finding out for yourself a little the game was finished, the boys tecture of all time, the great Gothic about birds, trees and stars. had a 'wild time' on the Roller cathedrals and churches of the Suppose you are interested in birds, Boller Coaster and other amuse-Middle Ages, reared their stately you will want to bring along a book ments at the Park. A strong wind heads in a sublime era of building, on bird life. It would also be well then started to blow from the east. and they have always been subjects to have a camera, and see what fun the sky darkened a little, and fearof close study and interest for you can have in the woods trying to ing rain, a start was made for home REVERTING TO religious conditions but a good snapshot is worth all where camp fires were started in France since the return of peace, the trouble and energy you expend by the lake and the evening meal the Boston Transcript has this to in getting it. If you are interested prepared. After a brief rest, the say: "The War has done much to in trees, you will need a book on journey was resumed and Port strengthen the cause of religion in the subject and perhaps some means Credit reached at eight o'clock. France and increase the prestige of of preserving the specimen leaves Here a fifteen minute rest put the Church. Priests and prelates which you will collect. Again if everybody in shape for the last by the thousands answered the you are a fisherman of no mean lap. Although traffic was very clarion call of battle, and served repute, your hook and line will come heavy between Port Credit and and suffered in the trenches side by in handy, and perhaps a camera Toronto, the party arrived home side with laymen. There was will help you to show your friends at nine o'clock, everybody feeling neither Church nor State, but all in town what a big'un you caught. that he had put in a 'large' day. was France. A grateful nation, as Suppose astronomy commands your This completes the second successthe dawn of peace turns into the attention. You will then need a ful bicycle hike of the troop this full noontide, acknowledges its treatise on the stars. Perhaps at month. debt to the Church, and desires to the same time you would like to repay that debt by rebuilding these make your way through the woods bicycle hiking like a duck taking to thousands of ruined churches. Nor with a compass. If so, a compass water, and is deriving great benefit is it without significance, especially will be a necessary part of your therefrom. These hikes are of to Americans, that the French have equipment. Thus we could go great value in teaching the boys had the initiative to begin them- through the whole list of activities the rules of the highway and traffic selves to raise funds for this pur- that can be carried on in the out- "etiquette"; unfolding to them some pose. In as much as they have not doors. It is for you to decide what of the beauties of nature; teaching waited for the generosity of others hobby is going to occupy your them how to take care of themselves conversations he had with representative citizens he concluded that 95% to show itself, they merit that attention at camp this year, and in the open; in a word, giving them take along the equipment accord- a healthy outlet for their superingly. Probably these few sugges- abundant energies. tions will help you to think of your stay at camp in a little different has therefore a religious applica- light than you did before. There is a great chance at camp to get an move being made to get the City opened by the plowshare of war; education that is hard to get other- interested in its boys—its future wise, therefore you should not be citizens. We hope every boy is content to have all your time at doing his best to boost Boys' Week, > going to do at camp the next thing that ever hit Toronto, and is to make out a list of the things you need to take with you. You will find that this list will be of great service when you come to pack up. I have found that a flasharound camp. While it is by no means essential it will come in quite handy. Don't forget to take along a pair of heavy boots for hiking. The grass is generally damp in the morning, and if you do any tramping, you are sure to get wet feet with a light pair of boots. You should also have your hiking boots waterproofed. If you are going to a camp where you will be supplied with your blankets, and where you will not have to do your own cooking, you will of course not need to think about sleeping or cooking equipment. The following list, while only suggestive, will serve as a reference list, to which

- you can add to suit yourself. 1, Extra underwear and sox (or stockings).
- 2. Khaki shirt and pants. (Or old clothes.) 3. One suit winter underwear in case of cold night.
- 4. Gym suit and swimming suit. Hiking boots (waterproofed).
- Running shoes. 7. Heavy sweater for chilly evenings.
- 8. Pajama or night shirt. 9. Towels.
- 10. Handkerchiefs.
- Soap (floating), tooth brush 11. and paste, comb and brush and small mirror.
- 12. Pocket knife.
- 13. Prayer book,

We might call the above list the ssentials, while the following list is optional and will be decided by the interests of the individual.

Flashlight, camera, sporting equipment, as baseball, bat, gloves, tennis racquets, fishing tackle, etc. Musical equipment, mouth organ, ukelele, etc. Books on special subjects as spoken of above. SCOUT NEWS

The 24th Toronto Troop (St. Vincent de Paul Church) took a bicycle hike to Wabasso Park, Hamilton, on May 24th. The party of 14 assembled at the church at half past six, and at seven o'clock the 80 mile journey was commenced. It was a fine morning, and the breeze from the lake made riding very pleasant. The pace was not a fast one, so that the boys got the benefit of the beautiful scenery which may be seen en route. Stops This week we are to discuss some were made at Port Credit and Oakimmediate attention to the work of of the preparations to be made for ville, and at other minor points four hour ride. As the boys were such wonderful opportunities for over the camp fire. After dinner, take a snapshot of a particular bird. at half-past three. Half-past five This will take some real ingenuity, brought the party into Oakville,

The 24th Troop is taking to

BOYS' WEEK JUNE 3-10, 1922

Are you getting ready for Boys' Week in Toronto? This is a great boy is counted upon to make it go over with a bang. Are you preparing for Boy's Athletic Day on Saturday June 10th? There will be athletic competitions open to every boy in light is a very useful article to have the City without entrance fees of any sort. Medals will be awarded to the winners. Here's your chance to show your wares! In what events are you going to enter? Here is the program :

Saturday, June 3rd-Parade Day. Sunday, June 4th-Boys' Day in Church.

Monday, June 5th-Boys' Day in Schools. Tuesday, June 6th-Boys' Day in Industry. Wednesday, June 7th-Boys' Day to Serve.

Thursday, June 8th-Boys' Day at Home. Friday, June 9th-Boys' Day to Entertain.

Saturday, June 10th-Boys' in Athletics.

EPISCOPALIANS BAR WOMEN FROM VOTING AT CHURCH CONVENTIONS

Newark, N. J., May 18.—Fifty-one parishes of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Newark have voted against the admission women to membership in parochial vestries, and to suffrage in the diocesan convention. Only twentyfive voted in the affirmative. vote was the result of a referendum on the questions, which have come before the diocesan conventions for three years.

The proposal which raised the convention. Had that carried it would have had the effect of putting women of the diocese on an equality with men in various positions in the administrative bodies of the Episco-

ARCHBISHOP SINNOTT

ADDRESSES TORONTO NATIONAL CLUB

Archbishop Sinnott was in Toronto on Tuesday and Wednesday last on his return from Rome to Winnipeg. He was entertained at a dinner given at the National Club, and in the course of his remarks stated that he was present in Rome during the Conclave, which resulted in the election of Pope Pius the Eleventh. He was present in St. Peter's on the day of the Coronation when there were about seventy thousand people within the Church and not less than one hundred thousand in its Piazza He was particularly impressed with the patience, kindliness, and consideration of His Holiness, whom he likened to Pope Pius the Tenth. learning and audition the present Pontiff Pontiff he considered resembled Pope Leo the Thirteenth. He stated that His Holiness was spending much as seven hours a day in audiences for the purpose of becoming thoroughly familiarized with all the problems of the Church through the entire world. He explained that His Holiness, earlier in his career spoke English, but does not do so now because of the long number of years he was denied the opportunity of conversing in Eng-

He pointed out that for the first time since the reformation the professors and students of Oxford University had forwarded a letter of congratulation to His Holiness upon his elevation to the Holy See. in that His Holiness while attached to the Vatican Library had on one the papal occasion been sent representative to Oxford and occasion had been entertained by the University.

His Grace was very much impressed with the work being done by the Catholic Truth Society of there were present all the prominent English Catholics from every walk in life. In his opinion, the English Catholic is at the present time making a greater effort than other to spread the Truth. His Grace was in Dublin early in May and had the pleasure of calling at Mansion House the day upon which the representatives of the Free State and of the Republican Party were in conference together with the Lord Mayor of Dublin The personality of Michael Collins very much impressed His Grace. is a young man still under thirty and is bound to give a good account of himself as soon as experience improves his judgment. From the of the Irish Electorate, are in favor of the Treaty negotiated with Great Britain and are anxious to have the Free State established at the earliest Speaking of Western Canada, His Grace paid a glowing tribute to the work of the Catholic Church Extension Society. He stated that were it not for such Society, it would have been impossible for any Bishop in Western Canada to have carried me that I am not quite on with any degree of success what-soever. He is most anxious that acknowledge their letters as far as Having decided what you are going to do at camp the next thing sto make out a list of the things boy is counted upon to make it go. belong to them. He is particularly Intention list No. 245, with a note anxious that the Conference of The Catholic Truth Society of Canada, were acquitted. I have yet a card Catholic Truth Society of Canada, which is to be held in Winnipeg, June 26th to June 28th next, should be a success and that it should awaken among the English Catholics in Western Canada, an appreciation of the faith which they possess and serve as a means of reviving the faith among those who have become lukewarm.

AN IMPORTANT FIND

Washington, D. C., May 22. Biblical scholars throughout the world are manifesting keen interest in the Epistola Apostolorum, Catholic-apostolic epistle of t second century which is the subject of an article in the current number of the Homiletic and Pastoral Review by the Rev. Dr. Heinrich Schumacher, associate professor of New Testament Scripture at the Catholic University.

According to Dr. Schumacher, discovery of the Epistola Apostolorum surpasses in its significance the discovery of the Didache by Bryennius in 1883 with its valuable testimonies for Baptism, the Eucharist, ecclesiastical hierarchy and Canon, dating from the beginning of the second century and that Odes of Solomon by Renee Harris in 1909, a precious source of information about tradition and thought of early Christianity."

"With the latter document," "With the latter document," writes Dr. Schumacher, "it shares the privilege to a work of the second century. Even Harnack has to admit that probably it must be dated before 180 A. D., although he dated before 180 he inclined to assign it.

number of the most vital questions that we would like to have answered by the ecclesiastical tradition of the second century; e. g., the Canon of the Old and New Testaments, the idea of God. Chistology, Eschato-logy. Soteriology, the Resurrection of Christ, and the resurrection of the body, the spreading of the here-sies, the Payisia are here not relasies, the Parusia, are here not only touched upon but made the subject of lengthy discussions.

Full credit is given Carl Schmidt for the discovery in Dr. Schu-macher's article, which deals with a synopsis of the content of the manuscript, which is written on and Cerinthus, the false Apostles.

Included in the treatise which follows the introductions are such subjects as the divinity of Christ, the reality of His humanity, a short infancy passage, certain of His miracles, Christ's Passion and Resurrection, the annunciation of Gabriel, the resurrection, the judgment after resurrection, and the last judgment.

THE CATHOLIC CHURCH EXTENSION SOCIETY OF CANADA

OUR DOLLAR CLUB

We are opening for our mission-aries a "Dollar Club." We wish to We wish to reach every Catholic and interest him in a practical way in the work of preaching the gospel. That sacred obligation belongs not to the Bishops and priests only, but was imposed by Our Lord Himself on the whole Church. As a member you have a duty in that respect. Missionary work is one of our ordinary works and should be so considered. For this reason we considered. For this reason we wish all Catholics at home to take part in the activities which going on in their midst for the spread of the faith. It is the constant donations for the welfare of religion that make it such a practical force in our daily lives. much It is the generosity of heart which ag done we manifest towards its ministers by the Catholic Truth Society of England and was afforded the opportunity of being present at the opportunity of the new quarters in successful. It is our cheering successful. It is our cheering forms which renews their courage and enlarges the vision of their hopes. Our readers are well acquainted with the writings of Father Daniel, O. M. I. He has given us in entertaining lines the story of one of the missionary field. going to add here another recent letter from the same pen; let it be a fitting accompaniment to our appeal.

Jasper, Alta., April 26th, 1922.

My Dear Father O'Donnell: l duly received your cheque for $30 from two benefactors, for which I am very grateful. His Grace the Archbishop has also notified me that you have sent him a cheque for be used for building a chapel and altar. The site of this chapel shall be decided when chapel shall be decided when His Grace makes his pastoral visitation, and in the meantime I shall be glad if you will convey my heartfelt thanks to past few weeks I have received many kind messages from readers of the Register, who wish to assure of ten Masses, and three special intentions which came through the Very Rev. Father Grandin, so that I am still bound to think of "Extenevery time I celebrate Mass. The hard winter weather is over but I do not feel as well as I would

The miners at Brule have a saying to the effect that a good workman in the coal-seam should be weak in the head and strong in the back." From my experiences on this line I can see that a good missionary needs to be strong both in head and back! While modesty forbids my passing any judgment on my head, I can quite safely say that my back is not equal to the burden, and that I hope some good young missionaries of sound wind, limb, and judgment, will soon be here to help us out. And yet we are not by any means of the most aged. Even Father Louis, for all of his venerable appearance, has only forty-five summers to his credit. Take, as another instance, the case of Father Tissier. He recently celebrated his Golden Jubilee and is still hard at work. He lives all alone, just outside of Edmonton, in a one-roomed shack, does all his own house-work, and attends to his parishoniers, Indian and White, with a holy obstinacy which will never consent to the legitimate "retraite" of old age.

would rather be inclined to assign it to a later period because of its abundant use of New Testament writings. To this early date must be added a distinction of far greater the persitiage of my articles, a very urgent appeal for instant help. More than money we need men and women—priests, teachers, nuns and Sisters of Service—to give themselves. Otherwise the outposts of issue was to strike the word "male" importance, its extremely interestfrom the constitution of the diocesan ing and illuminating contents. A catholicity in the West, built up by become mere historical souvenirs instead of strongholds for the future

behind hand with my "Notes," but if you think that your patient readers can stand any more I shall try to continue them after a while. With continued thanks for your good kindness,

I am, Dear Rev. Father, Gratefully yours IVOR DANIEL, O. M. I.

Father Daniel accentuates the appeal for personal service. That service is badly needed. There is not one who has spoken to us about our missionary posts who has not told us the same story. Well, ou appeal for "Our Dollar Club makes these men and women possibilities because our collections will then give us some means of supporting them. The Church in her work for the faith has to face the actual conditions in which the ople whom she serves are placed. She has no choice. The missi packs his grip and goes with his lock or to search up those should belong to him and live how he may. Little wonder broken down at forty-five. he is Father Daniel has told us of the beloved shack with the worn-out missionary lying at the door-step, he has told us about the meals cooked by the missionaries, about the hurried morsels snatched at lunch counters, and the long, hard trips when strength was little and duty called. Incidentally he has told us the story of many other faithful ambassadors of Christ. They, dear reader, are our messengers too, for they preach the gospel when we do not. Can we refuse them to join the number who make their work—our work—a possibility? Even our small donation is a work of great charity, for it joins with the gifts of thousands of others and makes the great power necessary to reach and he souls that are perishing. then the "Dollar Club" idea to reach the rich and poor, th negligent and the What about the reward for even a cup of refreshing water. Let erect fountains that will pour forth streams of living water forever. Donations may be addressed to:

REV. T. O'DONNELL, President Catholic Church Extension Society 67 Bond St., Toronto.

Contributions through this office should be addressed:

EXTENSION. CATHOLIC RECORD OFFICE London, Ont.

DONATIONS

Previously acknowledged $5,262 98 MASS INTENTIONE of soul of late Miss Connelly ..

Admaston..... G. G. P., Ottawa.... NEW BOOK

DR. O'HAGAN'S COLLECTED POEMS

We are very much pleased to learn that Dr. Thomas O'Hagan has given to the public his collected The volume is from the press of the well-known Canadian publishing house of McClelland and Stewart and is remarkably well bound and printed.

The author of this attractive The author of this attractive volume ranks among the ablest by Dr. Anton Dorrer, one of the essayists of the Dominion and we believe that his latest publication will assign him a place in the front line of our best Canadian poets. the lines, the dramatic the scenes and the no foreword is from the nen of Dean Harris, and there is also prefixed to the poems an eminently complimentary letter written to the author by the late Honorable Justice Langley, of Halifax. The author's own preface is brief but within the compass of four short paragraphs he advances his theory of the func tion and responsibility of the poet. The Doctor tells us that "Poetry should reflect, as in a mirror, the soul of the writer and its should be to delight and exalt. Not philosophy but beauty and truth are the true vestal virgins of verse that should ever preside over the fires of poetic inspiration." When we examine this fine volume of the "Collected Poems" of Dr. O'Hagan we are at once confronted with the interesting variety of themes that has largely interesting occupied his poetic pen—poems of Canadian patriotism, of love and stanzas descriptive of affection, pioneer days, commemorative and elegiac poems and splendid odes and lyrics of memory, meditation and high imagination. Dean Harris in his "Foreword" contends that in the two forms of poety—in the Elegy and Commemorative domain of verse Dr. O'Hagan has not been or verse by any Canadian poet. Certainly many of the poems in this attractive book would seem to support the Dean's contention. the talented and versatile poet and essayist we tender our warmest congratulations and the expression of the hope that his volume of poems will meet with a large and ever increasing circulation. We have not so many writers of our own that we cannot afford to purchase their books, and we trust it will be Dr. O'Hagan's pleasant experience to discover that the Catholic reading public realize their obligations to the men of great talent and literary ability who, from time and literary ability who, from the to time, rise luminously above the horizon of literary mediocrity.

Com. above the

BURSES FOR CHINESE MISSIONS

PLEASE HELP

To complete the following burses for the education of Missionaries for China. It requires $5,000 complete a Burse. The interest on that amount will support in per-petuity a student in

CHINA MISSION COLLEGE. ALMONTE, ONTARIO

J. M. FRASER.

QUEEN OF APOSTLES BURSH Previously acknowledged $2,832 55 Friend, Canso, N. S. Mrs. Dan O'Neil, Pokeshaw...

ST. ANTHONY'S BURSE Previously acknowledged $1,858 00 W. J. Cashman, Watrous K. K., Ottawa..... 2 00

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION SURSE Previously acknowleded $2,629 43 ATHOLIC RECORD Reader.

Sarnia ... COMFORTER OF THE AFFLICTED BURSH Previously acknowledged $889 to ST. JOSEPH, PATRON OF CHINA, BUESZ Previously acknowledged $2,467 43 Thanksgiving ... oseph Charles Martin, Grate's Cove.....

BLESSED SACRAMENT BURSE Previously acknowledged $849 05 ST. FRANCIS XAVIER BURST

Previously acknowledged $813 80 HOLY NAME OF JESUS BURSE

Previously acknowledged $248 00 HOLY SOULS BURER Previously acknowledged $1,894 62 M. H. Matthews, Toronto Friends, Watford Friend, Arichat... 2 00

LITTLE FLOWER BURES Previously acknowledged $830 04 Is not | Friend of Souls in Purgatory, Stratford..... In thanksgiving..

SACRED HEART LEAGUE BURSE Previously acknowledged $2,254 25 Members of Sacred Heart League, Halifax...... Mrs. M. Slattery.....

PASSION PLAY AT ERL

By Dr. Frederick Funder

Vienna, May 12.-The little village of Erl in the Tyrol is this year the objective of thousands of visitors in Europe, for here, beginning May 14, will the simple Tyrolese peasantry give the celebrated passion play that has now been presented for three hundred years and which in many respects rivals the famous production at Oberammergau. Erl is not far from Oberammergau and many of those who attend the one 4 00 production will see the other.

Erl's passion play was last given in 1912 and many of the actors who had prominent parts in that production will be seen again this year. Kaspar Pfisterer, who played the part of Christus in a manner that drewforthexpressions of admiration from the critics, will again be seen in that role. The Virgin Mary, the apostles and the high priests will also be portrayed by experienced actors. The veteran George Rayner, who has played Judas Iscariot for forty years will again undertake that role. The original text of the producmost prominent and active Catholic the lines, the dramatic intensity of furnished by the Tyrolese landscape, with its mountain summits resplendent in perpetual snow, make the production a magnet for European

Walking in the Tyrol, the traveler encounters at every step the traces of a great past and of the creative power of a strong Catholic people. For the Tyrolese are noted for their magnificent churches, for the valuable art collections of their famous abbeys and convents, for the beautiful ornaments of their stately farm houses and for the many picturesque picturesque towns and ancient castles that lend lustre to their land.

Without being a chauvinist, the Tyrol peasant loves his freedom with his whole heart and he was ready during the War to stand up for the rights granted to him by former Austrian emperors against every foe. By the treaty Germain the Tyrol, one of the oldest historical entities of Europe, was torn asunder and the country is today bleeding from wounds received for four years. But although half of the Tyrolese were left on the battlefield, there is no hint of national hatred in these mountains. His religious has mountains. His religion has kept the Tyrolese from the passions that the War set loose. Because of these traits of character the Tyrolese peasant is able to give to his passion play a consecration of very

The Erl passion play will be given twenty-nine times, ending on September 24. The performance lasts six hours, beginning at ten in the morning. fees are modest, The entrance being 2,260 Austrian kronen for the most expensive seats-about two dollars in American money. There are excellent railway accommodations to Erl and the traveler has an opportunity to visit the celebrated city of Innsbruck, the seat of a great Jesuit university, and the place of the tomb of Maximilian I.

FIVE MINUTE SERMON

BY REV. WILLIAM DEMOUY, D. D.

PENTECOST SUNDAY

THE MAN OF PEACE

"Peace I leave with you, My peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth do I give unto you." (John xiv, 27.)

Christ's mission on earth was one f peace. He advocated it on every both by word and by Even when His enemies did their utmost to disturb Him and persecuted Him unjustly, His cry was for peace, His actions were filled with it. As God, he enjoyed the peace of the Almighty; as man, He lived in peace, and also endeav-ored to have His followers do so. In fact, it was to be a mark of their sincerity and a proof that they were truly sent by Him and were doing His work. On the other hand, where peace was lacking there was little, if any, sincerity; and it was a sign that His work was not being done.

not being done.
Christ was to leave the world, but the peace He advocated and mirrored forth in his life, should remain with His followers. One of the missions of the Holy Ghost's descent upon the apostles, and His perennial presence with the Church, is to bring and spread peace everywhere. And truly has it been so. The Church, for the sake of peace, has patiently borne the uncalled-for attacks and has patiently bitter hatred of her enemies. Had she been a human institution like the great nations, when affronted she would have raised her mighty arm in defense of her injured rights; but the contrary has been verified. As her Founder and Model, Christ, taught her these lessons, she put them into practice. All this was done, and is done now, for the sake of peace. She looks to an all-wise God for protection, and leaves it to Him to punish—if not now at least after the judgment day-the violator of her rights, and safety.

One of the surest signs, therefore, that a man is really a minister of God, and conspicuously engaged in His work, is this: that he performs a peaceful mission, and endeavors to spread abroad the spirit of peace wherever discord reigns. He must do this even in regard to his most bitter enemies. If he can not do it, then let him no longer falsely pose as a representa-tive of the God of peace; for he would be doing the work of Satan, whose aim is to sow discord and engender hatred. But, alas, there are many false teachers. How they flourish! This country of ours has more than its share of them. Crouching hypocrites or ignorant blasphemers, how much scandal do they not give? What an insult to the all-good, all-pure, all-loving God, to have such men parading the country, and calling themselves His ministers! Where is the charity He demands of His disciples and followers? Where is the peace He necessarily exacts from His true representatives? It is not found in them, yet they pose as men of God! It is a sad fact but true, that so many people support these wolves in lambs' clothing! Do they not realize that their voices are but "sounding brass or tinkling cymbals"? Do they not know that to be in their presence is to be in the presence of those who scandalize the more fervent and sincere part of humanity? Their or any inspiration from God, that urges them onward. "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." Their utterances give speaketh. Their utterances give us an insight into the condition of their hearts. They thrive on discord, and their work is to sow it in the hearts of others. Will people ever realize that when they listen to the discourses of these dissemintance or corner and putruthfulness. ators of error and untruthfulness they are placing themselves in the danger of which Holy Writ speaks when it says: "He who loveth the danger shall perish in it?" These same people would not, if they could avoid it, place themselves where there is certain danger of their body being injured; yet why do they walk so easily into the greatest possible dangers to their the truth.

Christ's Church, and firmly act in accordance with their resolution, will do much towards applying an antidote to the poison taken in by so many, and will do a giant's work in preserving the peace that Christ wishes the world to have. We are only asking Christian people to be consistent when we urge them to do this. But if they heed the warning, ti will prepare them to become real children of God. "Peace on earth to men of good will"—and if we have peace on earth we shall have peace beyond also. Woe to him, however, who by word or deed sows discord, unjustly criticizes those who disagreed with him, and yet who poses as a man of God-that God who is charity, truth, and Christianity alone, of all human religions, possesses the power of keeping abreast with the advancing civilization of the world.—James Freeman Clarke.

This leads us at once to the real what is on him object of the devotion, for as the second decree, that the same Indulgence might be gained on the last gence might be gained on the last gence has a second decree.

PENTECOST

When Cardinal Manning was yet a minister of the Anglican Church a his notice what she considered a strange omission among the topics of his sermons. He often had spoken of God the Father; the person and work of God the Son had been a frequent burden of his addresses; but somehow God the Holy Ghost, she thought, had been neglected. Was He not of equal importance with the Father and the Son?

The Archdeacon, like every great man, was amenable to correction. He did not say or think, "Don't I know better than this lay person what I am to preach about?" No, he examined his conscience as to the truth of the charge preferred truth of the charge preferred against him, and to his own astonishment, he became aware that he really had not given enough thought to the person and work of the Holy Ghost. He decided at once to mend He decided at once to mend his theology involved. This course of study led him into the Catholic Church, a happy consummation which a correct appraisement of the mission of the Holy Ghost is apt to bring about for any well-meaning

Christ's mission to the world was on the world was end in its effect but in its actual performance — temporary. However, before His departure He told His apostles that He was going to send them His Spirit, the Paraclete, who would stay with them forever and lead them into all truth. As God in the beginning had fashioned of the earth and then breathed an immortal soul, the principle of life, into him, so Christ, as it were, had first formed the body of the Church and then as the choice gift of His redeeming love, sent the Holy Spirit to quicken the body of the Church. To the end of time, then, the Holy Spirit was to be the life principle of the Church. And be it noticed here that on the bitter and foul enemy of her Pentecost, when the promise of Christ saw its fulfillment, the Holy Ghost descended on the Church as a unit. The whole church as it then existed was the joint recipient of the gift and power from on high.

What the rational soul is to the physical body of man, such the Holy Spirit is to the mystical body of Christ, the Church, permeating and quickening its every part. But as the soul, though present in the whole body, does not perform the same function in every organ—it thinks with the brain, it sees with the eyes, it hears with the ears, it speaks with the tongue, it works with the hands and so forth; so the Holy Spirit though present through the whole mystical body, assigns to each member its proper function. 'There are diversities of operations, but the same God who worketh all

If, then, the Holy Spirit is the quickening principle of the Church and if He, according to the promise of Christ, is to remain with the Church forever, it follows that whenever the Church has authoritatively spoken throughout the ages, she has spoken with the authority of the Holy Spirit who is with her to lead her into all truth. The Church speaking authoritatively cannot but speak infallibly because she is the mouth-piece of the Holy Ghost. Therefore a reformation of the doctrine of the Church is as impossible as it is to correct God. charge that the Church has deviated from the truth is-though, we are support, too, is the only encouragement these false prophets get. It is not love for the work of the Lord.

This is what Cardinal Manning realized when he studied the relation of the Holy Ghost to the Church.—S. in the Guardian.

MONTH OF THE SACRED HEART

The month of June is dedicated in a particular manner to devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. In the Sacred Heart of Christ we find expression of the fullness of love. Because June expresses the fullness of nature the Church has chosen this month for adoration of the Heart that expresses the fullness

The spirit of the Sacred Heart has diffused its life into the Church of our day. It is bringing the Kingdom of God to earth. Never was there greater vitality in the Spouse of Christ. Never in her history minds and souls? And why will they voluntarily take poison to their intellect? It is difficult to conceive how easily people allow themselves to be carried afar from themselves to be carried afar from the interior the interior the interior the interior that it is bringing the Kingdom of God to earth. Never was there greater vitality in the Spouse of Christ. Never in her history were there more devout people he truth.

All who resolve to lend no support whatever to the slanderer of Christ's Church, and firmly act in accordance with their resolution, and the Vicar of Christ. The enemies of the Church have exhausted their power to enslave or destroy their power to enslave or destroy their power to enslave or destroy her. Today she is more firmly intrenched in the world's work, more valiantly waging the battle of God than at any period of her history.

In order to increase devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus during the month of June, the saintly Pius X. on August 8th, 1908, graciously conceded many great indulgences in all those churches in which special devotions are held in honor of the Sacred Heart during this month, a

Plenary Indulgence, toties quoties, applicable to the Souls in Purgatory, may be gained on the last day of the month. Mindful that the ordinary occupations of many of Christianity alone, of all human eligions, possesses the power of availing themselves of this wonder-

Sunday of the month. All that is required for the solemn observance of the month, according to the mind of the Holy Father, is that there shall be a sermon each day, or at least on eight days of the month, in lady of his congregation brought to his notice what she considered a his notice what she considered a comission among the topics grants Plenary Indulgences for the grants Plenary Indulgences month of June to those who shall perform these pious exercises. All these Indulgences are applicable, by way of suffrage, to the suffering Purgatory. - Catholic Columbian.

> TEA SHORTAGE—HIGHER PRICES

In 1920, so much more tea was produced than required throughout the world, that the market dropped to a very low level. The situation was so serious for the growers that they agreed to reduce their production 20% during 1921. Consumption, which has increased tremendously, and the production of tea being curtailed, has resulted in the highest prices for tea in years. The recent reduction of four pence per pound on tea tax in England has further stimulated consumption, which means that even higher prices may soon be expected.

GENERAL INTENTION FOR JUNE

RECOMMENDED AND BLESSED BY HIS HOLINESS THE LATE BENEDICT XV.

TRUE DEVOTION TO THE SACRED HEART Devotion to the Sacred Heart is no longer a novelty in the Church of God. Time was when opposition to it was strong and bitter, when the timid hesitated before accepting it as a source of grace for the nourishment of their souls. But nineteenth century saw its world-wide development, and in our days no devotion can approach it in popular esteem. It is not too much say that the Sacred Heart of Jesus is the most prominent object of devotion in the Catholic world today. Nations have been con-secrated to It. Families without number have put themselves under Its protection. Sacred temples and Catholic institutions of all kinds are dedicated to It. Painting, statuary, literature, books, pamphlets, keep It constantly before us. Whole libraries have been written about It. Popes, prelates and priests have urged the faithful to study It and test the efficacy of the devotion connected with It. As a result, devotion to the Sacred Heart has found its way into the homes of millions and at the present time, under some form or other, con-tinues to implant in the hearts of old and young the greatest thing in the world,—the love of God. It is only fitting therefore that all should have an intelligent grasp of this great aid to spiritual advancement; the profit which millions have been able to derive from it, other millions will share in if they are taught just what devotion to the Sacred Heart means. The object of this devotion is twofold: the one material and sensible the other spiritual and invisible In other words, its object is not the sole material heart, nor the soul's spiritual heart, but both indis-solubly united in the Divine Person solubly united in the Divine Person of the Word made Flesh. The devotion does not restrict itself to love and honor with a spiritual cultus the Heart of Flesh which forms a part of the adorable Body of Our Lord. This Heart of flesh is but the tangible object of the devotion. Its real chieft is the boundless law to the Divine Person on the Divine Person of the devotion. The second more clearly testify Its ardor, than by permitting not only the Body but Itself also to be pierced by the lance? This lance layeth bare the spiritual wounds. Who is there that in demanding these things we had to the diplication who lies for years on a bed of pain rather than to the ten others who do not need her solicitude. I know that in demanding these things we had to the diplication who lies for years on a bed of pain rather than to the ten others who do not need her solicitude. I know that in demanding these things we had to the diplication who lies for years on a bed of pain rather than to the ten others who do not need her solicitude. I know that in demanding these things we had to the diplication who lies for years on a bed of pain rather than to the ten others who do not need her solicitude. I know that in demanding these things we had to the diplication who lies for years on a bed of pain rather than to the ten others who do not need her solicitude. I know that in demanding these things we had the diplication who lies for years on a bed of pain rather than to the ten others who do not need her solicitude. I know that in demanding these things we had the diplication who lies for years on a bed of pain rather than to the ten others who do not need her solicitude. I know that in demanding the pain that in demanding the pain that it is well to the diplication that the diplication is the pain that the diplication is well as the pain that the diplication is the pain tha Its real object is the boundless love of Christ for men. But this love being wholly spiritual, some symbol was needed in order to render it appreciable to our senses. Now what symbol of love could be more natural and fitting than the heart which. St. Thomas tells us, is the source and seat of love and to which are usually attributed the tenderest feelings of the soul? The word "heart," then, is here used merely in a figurative sense to express the character of the devotion which is in reality but the exercise of a deeply grateful love for Jesus Christ, for His ineffable goodness

Not that the Heart of Flesh writes Father Croiset—does not merit our adoration. For it is enough to say that It is the true Heart of Our Lord Jesus Christ; and if we feel so drawn to the devotion to His Five Wounds or to the devotion to His Holy Face, we cannot be less so to His Sacred Heart. If our veneration for the saints render their hearts of so great value that we regard them as the most precious of their relics, what must we think of the admirable Heart of Jesus

In order to stimulate our love and gratitude, the Church presents the Heart of Jesus to us not, as it were, lifeless, or as separated from the other members of His Body, but as a true and vivified heart totally inseparable from the living Humanity of the Word. Let it not be thought or said that this devotion divides Christ, for the Sacred Heart, though distinct from the other members of His most holy Body; cannot be separated from His Soul and Divinity. Hence it obviously follows that we cannot adore the Sacred Heart without adoring at the same time the entire organ of all the sensible affections of God; it is evident that we cannot find any other image or symbol of Him more fitting to express and remind us of the desires, affections and sentiments of His mortal life; nor can there be any devotion relat-ing to His Sacred Humanity better calculated to attach 'us to Him whose Heart was the depositary of the mysteries of our redemption and the foundation of our hopes.

The Roman iron worker who forged the nails for the crucifixion, or the joiner who shaped the cross, or the expert who intertwined the piercing crown of thorns, little thought that a time was to come when these terrible instruments, besprinkled with the Redeemer's Blood, would be venerated by man kind in every region of the world. And yet we have in the Church's calendar feasts dedicated to the Sacred Lance, the Holy Cross, etc. Long ago, Pilate stood before the judgment seat of God to reacknowl-edge the innocence of Jesus, and to admit his own guilt; the execu tioner and the soldiers, who aided in the crime on Calvary, stood there too; and along with other facts, they surely learned that the thorny crown, the hammered iron, and the felon tree, were destined to hallowed memorials of an ineffable mystery, the like of which hath never before been, and shall never again be! If, therefore, the Church commends the cold instruments of Jesus' torture to our respectful homage, if she commands us to bend the knee whensoever His most holy Name is pronounced, what homage should we not bestow on His adorable Heart, the source, the seat, the center and the symbol of His infinite love for us? This great consideration took root early in Christian hearts. It is quite certain that even in the earliest days of the Church, the followers of Jesus were taught to regard His Heart as an object of special adoration and imitation. Da Vinci's picture of the Last Da Vinci's picture of the Last Supper, now so familiar to everyone, in engraving and plaster casts, is not half so instructive as the words of Origen, when describing the Beloved Disciple reclining on the bosom of His Lord. The painter merely records the fact, the commentator records its great significancy. "It is certain," says Origen, "that John, reclining on the Heart of Christ, beheld therein the treasures of divine wisdom and knowledge." St. Augustine, interpreting St. John's Gospel, assures "that the Reloyed Discipled drapk that the Beloved Disciple drank ing on the mysterious character of | ing their quota they have done same St. Augustine remarks: "The oldier with his lance hath opened thy side; I will now take up my therein and repose in peace. O Heart, source of living water, grant me to drink of the life-giving stream that flows from Thee!" St. Bernard, whose eloquent accents fold. still ring through the world, thus addresses himself to the Heart of Jesus: "O what a blessing to abide in this Heart! What a rich treasure, what a priceless pearl! I beseech Thee, O Jesus, to draw me into the divine sanctuary of Thy Heart. It was pierced that we might abide in It—that we might learn from the visible the invisible to so much love?" St. Bonaventure, whose seraphic soul so often found prose too cold a medium for the burning thoughts that inflamed him, would fain bide forever in the Heart of Jesus; nay, he yearned to be transmuted into the soldier's lance. "O!" he exclaims, "what lance. "O!" he exclaims, "what ineffable sweetness overfloods the soul that, through these woulds is united to the Heart of Jesus Christ! I cannot describe it. The gate of Paradise is thrown open, the sol-dier's lance hath beaten down the flaming sword that forbade us ingress. Would I were that happy lance! I never would be drawn out from my Saviour's side. I would say, This is my home; here will I dwell forever. Oh, soul, created to the image of God, how you should be wrapt in ecstacy! your loving Spouse hath opened His side to give you His Heart!" Sentiments like these, entertained by men who were favored with so much insight into heavenly things, and who throughout the centuries have been celebrated for their science and their sanctity, will surely suffice to explain the magnetism of the Sacred Heart for souls and the extraordinary impetus given to the devotion to It in the world. The millions who love and trust the Sacred Heart in our days have solid motives for doing so. What the saints loved and practised so also may we; what they urged us so also may we; what they urged us to do, we also may do in all security. It is the will of Our Lord, plainly expressed to Saint Margaret Mary that we love Him under the symbol of His Heart of Flesh. What a consolation it will be for us on the Day of Judgment if we can show Day of Judgment if we can show Him who is to be our Judge that we loved His Heart and tried to make others love It.

E. J. DEVINE, S. J.

Reckon what is in a man, not what is on him if you would know

REAL IDEALS OF

San Diego.—The libraries of Mr. Carnegie and the research institutions of Mr. Rockefeller, immense as they have been, have had little or no influence upon the lives of the great multitude, according to the Right Rev. John J. Cantwell, Bishop of Los Angeles, in an address before the fourteenth annual convention of the California Conference of Social Work, held in Balboa Park.

"Mere liberality," said Bishop Cantwell, "will produce nothing in social life but Dead Sea fruit." He warned social weeker senior was a social was been social weekers expired was a social weekers expired was a social was a social weekers expired was a social weekers. warned social workers against overpolice duty.

REAL CHARITY IDEAL "The social worker," said Bishop Cantwell, "should see to it that we of America do not return to a pagan standard of generosity, to the destruction of the ancient ideals that are summed up in the word "charity." The ancient Romans, while not as remarkable for their public generosity, for the largeness of their giving, as were the inhabitants of Greece, yet astonished us in the lavishness of their gifts. Their wealth endowed libraries, recreation centers, public baths. Communities selected some wealthy man to be a patron, with the hope that the city or town would benefit om his generosity. In Rome and n the great provincial centers beggars in large numbers were to be seen sitting at the corners of the streets, at bridges, at the entrance to the temples, in places where traffic was most lively. They received some small coins from the passers-by. Travelers and those who were wrecked at sea were the recipients of a kindly generosity. When in the reign of Nero the great theater at Fidenae fell in and buried fifty thousand men, the citizens of Rome dispatched physicians and all kinds of medical appliances to the scene of the isaster, and received the wounded into their own homes. The emperors and the politicians were not behind-hand in the generosity of their gifts.

PERSONAL SERVICE NECESSARY

under prevailing conditions, bring to his task the loving prudence of the father, the tender compassion of the mother, the strong support of brother and of sister. He must have the wisdom of the teacher, and the strength of the apostle. The social worker in his calling must not vield to discouragement nor know defeat. The mother's tender wound that Thy love has inflicted. How could this Heart more clearly testify Its ardor, than by permitting not only the Body

"ALL'S LOVE, YET ALL'S LAW"

L. Wheaton, in Catholic World

God is Love. If once we get a firm grasp on that one great central fact, the "burning heart of the universe," things fall into their universe," things fall into their places, the tragedy of life explains itself, problem disappears, the true meaning of our existence is clear. Since God is Love and all love must have something of God in it, why do we find the pursuit of human love, as it is presented in the modern novel, so often disastrous? When we want a quick and sure answer to a question, we must fall back upon our poets, who give us what Victor Hugo calls, "l'essence des choses. Browning writes in Saul :

"I report as a man may of God's work—all's love, yet all's law." It is because love is so enticing that God puts His limitation to its human possession. "Of all the trees but this" after yielding the garden to man: thus far and no farther—the old Eden, the old serpent, the old desire, the old permission and the old restraint—these

The essence of an immoral novel is the reverse of Browning's line. The case is put with such plausible pathos, that it looks as if the Divine command were too great a strain upon the temperament of the person manifestly on trial. The average girl will not understand that there is a wide difference between an immoral book and one which is merely coarse (realistic is the term gener ally used.) The former may be quite free from indelicate allusions and expressions, and yet may subtly insinuate the poisonous impression that virtue is dull and uninterest ing and vice quite the opposite that passion is overpowering, that love is not law, that, worst of all

SOCIAL SERVICE

specialization that would make social work lose its humaneness, its and degenerate into mere

"One of the dangers of an organized charity is the peril of excluding personal service, of freezing out the volunteer worker. Many people, having given their contribu tions to some social agency, will close their eyes to the distress in the most recondite secrets from close their eyes to the distress His most inmost Heart." Reflect- around them, and feel that in paywound in the Saviour's side, the duty. It is the sight of suffering that makes the heart tender and makes the social worker, professional or volunteer, to be what he ought to be, and begets a greater generosity. When one realizes how people suffer, enthusiasm for their relief will be increased a thousand are part of the test of every soul.

what is on him if you would know whether he is rich or poor.—Henry Ward Beecher.

there is no such thing as human love, but mere animal instinct.

No Appetite

Nervous exhaustion leads to distaste for food. The nerves of the stomach are weak, digestion fails and you become generally upset and out of sorts.

The secret of complete restoration is in getting the nervous system fully built up.

Mrs. R. Cheney, 208 Richmond St., Chatham, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with indigestion, which caused me many sleepless nights. I would be in terrible distress at times, and would get no relief for two or three and would get no relier to two who hours. For sixteen months I ate nothing but Shredded Wheat biscuits, as I dare not eat anything else. I did not know what to do, as I had tried so many know what to do, as I had tried so many different remedies, as well as doctors' medicines, without gaining permanent relief. Finally I got some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and while on the second box noticed that I was improving. I continued the treatment until I am new fully restored, and have returned to my regular diet. My husband has also taken Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results, so we are glad to recommend it to others."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, all dealers, or Edmanson Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Newfoundland Representative: Gerald S. Doyle, St. John's

Wash silk stockings the LUX way

Whisk a tablespoonful of Lux into a thick lather in half a bowlful of very hot water. Add cold water until lukewarm. Dip the stockings up and down, pressing the Lux suds throughand through them. Rinse in three lukewarm waters. Squeeze water out—do not wring. Hang to dry. Never dry over a dry. Ne

The thin, white, satin-like Lux flakes are made by our own exclusive process and melt quickly.

Lux is supreme-for washing fine clothes. Sold only in sealed backet-dust-proof!

LEVER BROTHERS LIMITED

Toronto

Casavant Freres CHURCH LIMITEE Organ Builders

ST. HYACINTHE

"Service First" Phone 6925 J

Pate & Vaughan LOCAL AND LONG DISTANCE

TRUCKING 499 ADELAIDE STREET, LONDON W. H. VAUGHAN

LONDON OPTICAL CO

Have Your Eyes Examined Dominion Savings Building Richmond St. Phone 6180

The PEDLAR PEOPLE Limited
(Established 1861) (Established 1861)
Executive Offices: Oshawa, Ont.
Factories:
Oshawa, Ont., and Montreal, Que.

Mutual Profit Participation

The Profits of the Mutual Life of Canada are comparative-ly high, owing to wise investment, economic management, and low mortality, due to care-ful selection of risks.

High-interest-bearing, longfrigh-interest-bearing, long-term, government securities pur-chased during the war and since, assure a good, sure rev-enue for the company for a long period in advance.

Mutual profits reduce the cost of Mutual Life Insurance, because the entire net profits go to profit - participating policy-holders.

Send for our booklet "Insurance at Cost." The MUTUAL LIFE of Canada

WATERLO, ONTARIO

DRUNKENNESS Can be cured, but not islative enactment. Prohibition does not always prohibit. The poor drink addiet needs help in the form of medicinesomething that will give him a violent distaste for liquor, and also establish resistance of body and will against the drink disease. SAMARIA PRESCRIP TION does this. It is tasteless and car be given in tea, coffee or food with oo without the knowledge of the patient Send three cents for trial treatment Mailed in plain envelope, enclosing book let with full directions for use. Included are a few of the many thousand testi monials received from wives of forme drink victims, telling of happiness brough to homes through the result of this treatment.

SAMARIA REMEDY CO. Dept. Q, 142 Mutual St. Toront

Free from dandruff and itching. It's easy. On retiring rub spots of dandruff and itching with Cuticura Ointment, getting Ointment well on scalp. Nextmorning shampoo with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Rinse with tepid water. Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold Lymans, Limited, 344 St. Paul St., W.. Mo

CHATS WITH YOUNG MEN

FRIENDSHIP

A friend is one whose worth is Not bartered at a random guess;

A homely soil where seeds are sown To bloom in trust and kindliness. A presence where man bares his heart And put aside his day's disguise, And is himself and not the part He plays before the stranger's eyes. And friendship's hour can softly

The power of long forgotten things; The simple bliss of loveliness, And joy that honest laughter brings.

Cheap intimacies flash in flame, And swiftly burn their passion out; Begin with ardent, wild acclaim, And end in traitorship or doubt.

The deed is aye the acid test; The act that asks not reasons why Marks one man from the huddled

And crowns his silent constancy.

The world disdains the heart's intent,

Alas, and cannot comprehend The splendid gallantry that's meant When friend calls gaily to a friend. And so the sightless world puts store On self-and selfishness reveals, And loses one fair joy the more Of those rare joys that life conceals. -MYLES E. CONNOLLY

THE NINE FIRST FRIDAYS

Our Lord wished to win back men to His love and showered still greater love on the wanderer. Man was taken up with the toys of the world; his passions spurred him away from God; his head was lowered by the pressing burden of flesh. Then it was that Christ revealed to St. Margaret Mary that He was longing for the love of His wayward children and to win them back He bade her establish the devotion to His Sacred Heart.

Now, a special manifestation of this devotion was the Communion of Reparation on the First Friday of each month, and to anyone making this reparation, in nine succes sive months, our Lord promised the tremendous favor of the grace of final penitence. "They shall not die in penitence. "They shall not die in My disgrace nor without their sacra-My Divine Heart shall be their refuge in this last moment

Hence it is that the wonderful interest in making the Nine First Fridays has grown up in the Church. Oh, never let laziness or love of ease hold you in bed on the morning of the First Friday when you can make a sacrifice for the Sacred Heart and gain His love especially in the hour of your death. All the associates of the league have ever been desirous of making the First Friday Communions. They are devoted to this practice that they are spreading devotion to the Sacred Heart practically and are at the same time vision of the same time same time. the same time winning the bounti-ful promises of our Lord. You know the benefit of frequent Com-munion and how dear to the Sacred Heart such a practice is. By making the Nine First Fridays you add another Communion to your loveoffering to Christ.

WHAT INTERESTS YOU MOST? you had hoped you would.

That vocation ought to be about as interesting to you as anything could be. Is it? Or do you look upon it merely as a means to the necessary end of earning a living?

Are you more interested in the amusements of your leisure hours?

Are you so interested in let you

Are you so interested in, let us say, the theater or the "movies" that you go to the theater or "movies" at every opportunity, perhaps stealing time from your work to do this?

Are you so interested in dancing that you count that week lost which does not see you in attendance at two or three dances?

I sincerely trust that self-examination will not compel you to acknowledge yourself among these poor people—dominated not exactly by unworthy interests, but at all events interests bordly matter. events interests hardly worthy of anything resembling enthusiasm.

And, on the other hand, I trust that self-examination will not show you to yourself as belonging to the equally numerous group of people who are really interested in nothing

If you are one of these luckless wights, bestir yourself to develop a keener interest in something—most of all in your work. And bestir yourself likewise to gain a keener interest in your work if your life is motivated by obsessive interests

Otherwise you will always lag, lways be outdistanced. Life's winners are those—and only those—who sense the delight of constructive achievement and rejoice in their work above all things as offering them a sure means for constructive achievement.—Michigan Cath-

KEEP AT IT

as there is no turn off. But if promise, "Behold I am with you there's a lane or a crossroad, he all days, even to the consumnation always wants to try it. I'm afraid I've got to get rid of him because it's a nuisance to be always pulling him back on the road."

Lots of folks are like that. They can keep steadily at a task so long as there is no side attraction. The old tortoise, of school-reader fame.

did example of this keeping to the road than that of Columbus. Though jeers and mutiny and various attractions bade him turn aside, west. Thus "he gained a world; he gave that world its watchword:

'On! and on!'''

St. Pon!

St. Paul, glimpsing the goal beyond, said: "This one thing I do; I press on toward the mark." And again, "None of these things move that I may finish my course

This keeping to the road applies to every task in life, big or little, whether a lesson to be learned, a home duty to be performed, a public speech to be made, a business deal to be put through, or what not.
We must turn a deaf ear and a blind eye to all that would turn us aside and press on to the finish. aside and press o Catholic Bulletin.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS

ROSES

went to gather roses and twine them in a ring, For I would make a posy, a posy for the King. I got a hundred roses, the loveliest

But when I took my posy and laid it at His feet,

I found He had His roses a million times more sweet: There was a scarlet blossom upon each foot and hand. And a great pink rose bloomed from

His side for the healing of the Now of this fair and awful King there is this marvel told

That He wears a crown of linked thorns instead of one of gold. Where there are thorns are roses; and I saw a line of red,

A little wreath of roses around His radiant head. A red rose in His Sacred Heart, a white rose in His face; His breath has turned the barren world to a rich and flowery place. He is the Rose of Sharon, His was divine love that caused the Creation, and when the creature by Have you ever squarely asked yourself, "What are the things I am most interested in?" It is a question you might find worth putting—especially if you have to confess that you have not been succeeding in your chosen vocation as love, caused Jesus' first miracle to be wrought at the marriage feast in Cana, and in later years love directed all His miracles. It was the lepers, made the lame to walk, the deaf to hear, the blind to see, and the dead to return to life. But there is a test of perfect love which the Divine Saviour Himself has declared to be the supreme proof and, it is that a man should lay and, it is that a man should lay down his life for his friend. More even than this did Christ do, for He died for His enemies that they might become His friends, and only the strength of an infinite love could have supported Him through the terrible death ordeal which He chose for Himself chose for Himself.

chose for Himself.

It might seem that even divine love had exhausted itself in the Crucifixion of the Son of God. The Good Shepherd had laid down His life for His sheep and proved Himself not a hireling. But this supreme sacrifice did not suffice for the love of the Sacred Heart. That Heart could not bear to be separated from bear to be separated from the creatures whom It loved to such an excess up. Therefore the resources of God's power were called upon for the institution of the Holy Eucharist. Had Our Divine Lord been satisfied with redeeming the world by the sacrifice of His life upon Mount Calvary it would included world by the sacrifice of His life upon Mount Calvary, it would indeed have been much, and sacred history would have preserved this great record for the reverent and prayerful meditation of all generations to come. But He who reads the secrets of our souls, knew well the weakness of poor fallen mankind, its preparess to become the all days, even to the consummation of the world," by remaining always on every altar where the Blessed Sacrament is reserved. He is there to give Himself to us in Holy Com-munion, to be carried to our bedsides when we are sick or dying, as there is no successful as there is no successful as there is no successful as the to receive our visits, to convey Every one is welcome who comes with an humble heart, and even the sinner need not fear to remain in His presence if he will only resolve in return for such condescension and love as God has shown in estab-lishing the Holy Eucharist, that the whole Christian world would be in constant adoration of Jesus in the Most Blessed Sacrament. What a me, that I may finish my course with joy."

Every planet moves, unswerved in its own appointed course; keeps to its own orbit. Artists, musicians, sculptors, authors, scientists, all keep at one big idea, make it the main force in life, until a great result is accomplished. of Life as frequently as they should. The Prisoner of the Tabernacle is alone many hours of the day and night, when numbers of those upon whom He has lavished His favors might easily keep Him company. Some fervent souls there are indeed, who strive to return love for love, and these are His consolation. the vast majority are either indifferent or contemptuously unbelieving, and this poor requital of His con-suming love has inflicted a painful wound upon the tender Heart of

It is more than two centuries ago since the holy nun, Blessed Margaret Mary Alacoque was favored by the revelations which Our Divine Lord made of His Sacred Heart and its burning love for men. He made magnificent promises for those who there be, would practice.
From the white rose vine and the pink rose bush and from the pink rose tree.

Heart and strive to make reparation for the pain and injury it endured through the ingratitude of men. He complained more of the coldness and indifference of those who should be His fervent friends and upon whom He had bestowed many special graces, than of the great wickedness and insults of unbelievers. He craves the love of our poor, inconstant hearts, a love which is humble and self-denying and has learned to make sacrifices for conscience sake. It is not a mere sentiment that He desires, but a steady flame which purifies from earthly affections and leaves a victory for superpotural grape.

supernatural grace. The month of June is consecrated especially to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. Its bright days breathe love human heart, and our most faithful Lover asks the homage of our devotion in return for the infinite love He has given us. In these days of horrible conflicts with flowery place.

He is the Rose of Sharon, His gardener am I;
And I shall drink His fragrance in Heaven when I die.

—Joyce Kilmer

MONTH OF THE SACRED HEART

God is essentially love. Love is the reason for all His works. It was divine love that caused the

CATHOLIC REVIVAL IN EUROPE

The Great War destroyed the map clothed Him with human nature. The stories of Bethlehem and Nazareth speak to us of the tenderness of an infinite love. Love again, in response to His Mother's pity and love caused Jesus' first miracle to are more Catholic nationalities in are more Catholic nationalities in Europe organized as States, in 1922 than there were in 1914.

The breakup of the Schismatic Empire of the Russian Czars, made tremendous changes. Two new states, Poland and Lithuania, broken off from the old Empire are Catholic countries. Lithuania has a Catholic countries. Lithuania has a total population of four and three quarters millions. Of these three and a half millions or more than 75 per cent. are Catholics. The President of the Republic, Dr. Stulginkis and many of the ministry are Catholics.

The observance of the centenary of the conversion of Lithuania last November was the occasion of public rejoicing in which the gov-ernment took part. The constitution guarantees equality before the law to all citizens whatever their creed, but the Government recognizes the fact that the people are mainly a Catholic nation.

Poland has 27 millions of people, of whom 70 per cent. are Catholic. The whole tradition of Poland like Irelands has been Catholic. Last June the whole Polish nation was Irelands has been Catholic. Last June the whole Polish nation was solemnly dedicated to the Sacred Heart. The majority of the members of Parliament are Catholics. Of her six universities, only one, that of Warsaw is officially described as a Catholic University, yet Catholic theology is taught yet Catholic theology is taught in all.

Catholic teaching is given in the schools. Catholic organization, charitable, religious, educational, and industrial has been wonderfully extended in the last three years. Some years ago while traveling about a rural district, we chanced to ride behind a horse which frequently had to be pulled back into the road. The driver remarked, "He's a splendid traveler so long" the weakness of poor fallen mankind, its proneness to become the prey of passion and pleasure and the necessity of a living fire to keep alive the ardor of divine charity in the heart of humanity. Therefore He decreed literally to fulfil His taking.

Always Delicious Always Refreshing

Sold in sealed aluminum packets only Never in Bulk. BLACK-GREEN-MIXED H287

first acts of the new government, in which there was not one Catholic member, was to send a diplomatic mission to the Holy See to assure the Pope of its good will to its Catholic citizens. Ukrainia, the Southern Russian Republic under Soviet rule has liberty of worship, and contains nine million Catholics out of a total population of thirty millions. The prospect of unity with Rome is exceedingly bright in Russia owing to the downfall of Czardom, with its immemorial state policy of separation from Rome Southern Russian Republic under policy of separation from Rome.

Like Russia the old Austrian Empire has been shattered into fragments. In the two new Republics that have come into being in consequence, the Catholic popula-tion is in the decided majority. In the bordering States the condition is somewhat different. The new kingdom known popularly as Jugo-Slavia, but officially as 'the Serb, Croat, and Slovene State' guaran-tees freedom of worship to all, and has several millions of Catholics in its population of eleven millions. The northern Republic of Czecho-Slovakia, made up of Bohemia, Moravia, and border districts of Austria, has twelve million Catholics, out of a total population of thirteen and a half millions. The unfortunate Czech schism greatly exaggerated, is now declining and Czecho-Slovakia will soon be a solidly Catholic State.

He older States of Europe are und agoing a Catholic revival. In Germany where Prussianism meant the protection of Lutheranism, a Catholic, Dr. Wirth, is Chancellor, and at the last Catholic Congress of Germany he was present, and Germany realized the changed state of affairs by witnessing the successor of Bismark kneeling to receive the Papal Benediction.

The increase of membership in The increase of membership in Catholic associations, the abundance of vocations, and the circulation of the Catholic press shows a great revival of Catholicism in the new German State. France according to a statistical review in the Revue des Deux Mondes has the Revue des Deux Mondes has given evidence of a Catholic resurgence in the increase shown in the number of Paschal Communions, in the frequentation of the sacraments, in attendance at Mass, in the increase of the birthrate, and in the growth of Catholic opinion revealed by the resumption of diplomatic relations with the Vatican. Belgium has just seen the triumph of the Catholic party at the recent elections. Her northern neighbor Holland, long considered a Protestant country, now has twofifths of her population Catholic, the Government and several of his colleagues are Catholics.

The little States of Luxemburg and Lichtenstein are solidly (Catholic. Two years ago the ruler of Luxemburg, the Grand Duchess Maria Adelaide, resigned her coronet to enter a convent where this year she took her vows. An army of only two-hundred and fifty men acts really as a police force. For peace and prosperity the larger powers may well envy the little Catholic States of Luxemburg and Lichtenstein. All in all the prospect of Catholicism in Europe as seen from this rapid survey of political conditions is bright.—The Pilot.

SPIRITISM IS FORM OF SATANISM

Under the title "Spiritism, the Modern Satanism," the Rev. Dr. Thomas F. Coakley, pastor of St. Patrick's church, Pittsburgh, has published, through the Extension Press of Chicago, an admirable exposition of modern mediumistic exposition of modern mediumistic methods and a clear definition of the attitude of the Church toward the doctrines enunciated by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and other

Inese leaders of a dangerous cult disagree among themselves in regard to many matters, but it should be significant to Christians that they are united in the declaration that Christ was not the Divine Son of God. Not only so, but, as Dr. Coakley points out, they assert that He was morely a redium and that He was merely a medium and that all the miracles recorded in the New Testament are simply spirit-istic phenomena.

With these assertions positively proclaimed, the prophets of the "new revelation" blandly announce themselves as the protectors of religion, the defenders of the doc-trine, of immortality and the con-solers of the bereaved.

mainly Protestant, but in all three the Catholic minority has complete religious freedom. It is noteworthy that when the independence of Finland was established, one of the first acts of the new government in draw men and women from the faith. The basic principle on which they operate is the elimination of God. This is clearly shown in the first interviews and lectures of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. His conception of existence after death is a continuation of a purely material istic life. In it there is no recognition of service to or for the Almighty. Its modernity of material istin makes its biggest bid with the announcement that in that state in which Christians have been as proof in one instance is virtually admitted in the anxiety shown to substitute an entirely different theory as proof in some other.

The physical, mental and moral and moral dangers of the new manifestations of an old cult are brought to light by Dr. Coakley in convincing manner. Of the spiritual dangers of modern mediums there is evidence of demoniac possessions. He reminds his readers of the petition offered every day after Mass imploring protection against the shallow of the spiritually admitted in the anxiety shown to substitute an entirely different theory as proof in some other.

The physical, mental and moral dangers of the new manifestations of an old cult are brought to light by Dr. Coakley in convincing manner. Of the spiritual dangers of modern mediums there is evidence of demoniac possessions. He reminds his readers of the petition offered every day after Mass imploring protection against the spiritually and moral dangers of the new manifestations of an old cult are brought to light by Dr. Coakley in convincing manner. Of the spiritually different theory as proof in some other.

Catholics who may be tempted to dable in Spiritism, the author speaks plainly. He points out that in which Christians have been taught there-shall be neither man riage nor giving in marriage, there shall be marriage—but no children. It is necessary that Catholics should realize the dangers of this teaching. It is necessary also that they should have opportunity to fortify themselves against its falseness and its absurdity by knowledge of the attitude of the Church and the record of Holy Scripture. This opportunity is afforded by Dr. Coakley in his most timely work.

The method employed by the pastor of Old St. Patrick's is one which will not appeal to the spirit.

which will not appeal to the spiritwhich will not appeal to the spiritists. He insists on scientific proof of every step made. If the supporters of the "new revelation" assert that Christ was a medium, Dr. Coakley responds: "Prove it." The proof is a series of further allegations. There are no steps but positive flights of imagination. But the reverend critic keeps feet But the reverend critic keeps feet firmly on the ground. He takes these various supplementary allegations and in exposing them, con-trasts them. The one immediately trasts them. contradicts the other. The sheer ridiculousness of what is advanced

A BSORBINE

Reduces Strained, Puffy Ankles, Lymphangitis, Poll Evil, Fistula, Boils, Swellings; Stops Lameness and allays pain. Heals Sores, Cuts, Bruises, Boot Chafes. It is a SAFE ANTISEPTIC AND GERMICIDE Does not blister or remove the hair and horse can be worked. Pleasant to use hair and horse can be worked. Pleasant to use, $2.50 a bottle, delivered. Describe your case for special instructions and Book 5 R free. ABSORBINE, R., antisepte liniment for makind, reduces Strain, Paintuk. Rooted, Swolfen Veins. Concentrated—only a few drops required at an application, Price $1.25 per bottle at dealers of delivered.

W. F. YOUNG Inc., 299 Lymans Bidg., Mentreal, Can. Absorbles and Absorbles. Its are made in Canada.

UNABLE TO WALK

Paralysis Entirely Relieved by "Fruit-a-tives"

The Wonderful Fruit Medicine

Paralysis is a break-down of the Nervous System and affects the victim in various ways. Sometimes, nervousness makes itself known by hysteria, insomnia, constant headaches, or it may be so bad that one is partially or completely helpless in some part of the body, just as Mrs. Heacock SAULT STE MARIE, ONT.

"When I was twenty-eight years of age, my doctor advised me to have an operation, which I did and it proved very serious, leaving me weak and unable to walk for a year. Seeing your "Fruit-a-tives" advertised in the papers, I decided to try them. I continued to use them regularly, and today I am able to go about my home duties and care for my family" MRS. J. W. HEACOCK.

Any form of Nervousness is often caused by, and is always aggravated by, Constipation, which poisons the blood, irritates the kidneys and inflames the nerves. "Fruit-a-tives" stimu lates the action of liver and bowels, kidneys and skin-tones and sweetens the stomach-keeps the blood pure, and builds up the entire nervous system.

In a word, "Fruit-a-tives" has proved that it is the most scientific and effective remedy in the world for Nervousness or a disordered condition of the nervous system.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent postpaid by Fruita-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

Capital Trust Corporation Authorized Capital . $2,000,000.00

Board of Directors

President: HON. M. J. O'BRIEN Renfrew Vice - Presidents :

H A. E. PROVOST
Ottawa A. W. ROBERTSON

H. W. TOBIN, M. P. GORDON GRANT, C. E. J. J. SEITZ Toronto HUGH DOHENY Montreal J. J. McFADDEN
Spragge
J. F. BROWN
Toronto JOSEPH GOSSELIM, Ja. F. J. B. RUSSILL Toronto T. P. PHELAM Toronto

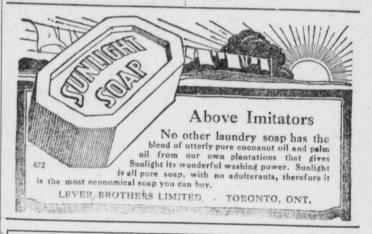

J. B. DUFORD COL. L. T. MARTIN Managing Director
Assistant Gen. Manager
Manager Toronto Branch B. G. CONNOLLY T. B. PENNEFATHER THOMAS COSTELLO

OUR CHIEF WORK IS EXECUTOR OF WILLS ee advice given on all financial matters. Call on us or write to 10 Meicalfe St., Ottawa, or to Temple Building, Toronto

P. V. BYRNES

W. H. McAULIFFE

COL. D. R. STREET

Sanctuary Oil

(Eight Day Oil)

"PERPETUO" Brand

Used in all Churches in Rome Sold in 5 gallon containers and bulk in barrels. Prices quoted on We can also quote favorably on specialty food products such as Macaroni, Olive Oil, etc. Send for our complete price list.

P. PASTENE & CO., Limited

Importers, Macaroni Mfrs, Wholesale Grocers 340 St. Antoine St. Montreal, Que.

TEA - COFFEE

Finest Importations always in stock at lowest market prices. Samples and quotations sent promptly upon application, Special attention given to requirements of institutions.

Kearney Brothers, Limited TEA - COFFEE. IMPORTERS and SPECIALISTS 33 St. Peter Street Established 1874 Montreal, Que.

CHURCH'S COLD WATER Alabastine Express your love of the beautiful by tinting your walls with Alabastine. There are twenty-one tints and white from which to choose and dozens of stencil patterns. Make up your own color scheme or use the Alabastine color plan book. You will have artistic, sanitary walls at a cost much less than that of paper or paint by using.

5-1b. packages, 75c; 2½-lb. packages, 40c. The Alabastine Company Paris, Limited

---in over 50,000 Canadian homes

esigned by master artists, fashioned by expert craftsmen-the Gerhard Heintzman is Canada's highest grade piano-the piano which graces over 40,000 Canadian homes.

And the Gerhard Heinzman Phonograph - built by the same piano craftsmen - is a worthy companion to this truly great piano.

Let us picture to you the joy these instruments will bring to your

The Original, Genuine GERHARDHEINTZMAN

222 Dundas Street, London

REPRESENTATIVES WANTED

STATUES

FOR THE HOME

405 YONGE ST. TORONTO

IMPORTANT TO

CLERGY

promoters of Garden Patties, Fairs, We supply very latest attractions, money getters, viz. Punch Board, 700 pieces merchandise brings 870, 812 to $15. Shooting Galleries plete with Gun Target, Displayrd and 350 pieces merchandise, only Good for take-in of $150 to $200. Bling-a-Peg, Dutch Kid Prize ow, etc. Illustrated Photos giving particulars, and latest prize goods. conditionalise Mailed Free. J. M. Ryan ply Co., P. U. Box 372, St. John's, l. Newfoundland letter postage 4c.

BOOKS (by Catholic Aucthors). We have thousands of

APPRECIATION

THE EFFORTS OF CATHOLIC MISSIONERS PRAISED

Appreciation of the great relig-ous and educational work which the Catholic missioners of Arizona are doing and have been performing for many years is contained in a dispatch which the El Paso Herald publishes this week. The Herald's correspondent at Phoenix contributes the information.

Although Catholic priests, regular and secular, and members of differ-ent sisterhoods have been in this field for more than a hundred years and have accomplished immense good in a civic as well as spiritual way, it has not been often that their labor and sacrifices have won even bare notice from the secular press.

The dispatch published by the Herald ls as follows:

Herald Is as follows:

"Phoenix, Ariz., May 9.—At St.
John's mission, 17 miles southwest of Phoenix, is centered one of the most important of the missionary efforts of the Catholic Church in America, for from this mission are controlled no less than 14 day schools and 86 chapels in Pima and Papago settlements in Arizona and northern Sonora. northern Sonora.

The necessary work is in the hands of young and energetic Franciscan friars, who have dedicated their lives to the welfare of the

"A number of them are in the field constantly, visiting the scattered Papago people, who all are of the faith, their conversion dating back before 1700, when the great Jesuit, Kino, devoted his life to

"Even greater was the work, around 1775, of the Franciscan Garces, who was martyred by the Yumas a few years later.

BAND WILL TOUR

"St. John's mission dates from about 1896, soon after the Franciscans returned to take over the work of theirchurch in this field. A brush hut in 1902 gave way to an adobe church and that to a stately church, lately and that to a stately church, lately rebuilt after a fire that destroyed all save the walls. Around it are 18 buildings, in which are housed, schooled and trained about 500 young Indians, mainly of the Pima and Papago tribes.

and rapage tribes.
"There is inclusion of a brass band of remarkably excellent sort, one that is about to start on a concert tour of eastern cities to raise money needed for extension of the work at

'This band was one of the main features at a late celebration, to which hundreds of Phoenix resiwhich hundreds of Phoenix residents gathered. There was presentation of Apache and Pima war dances, elaborately staged and costumed. There even had been construction of a typical Pima village of olden sort, needed for contrast, for the Pima of today usually is found in a comfortable adobe home well furnished in the white man's fashion."

GREATER DEMAND FORCES PRICES UP

The increased consumption of tea in 1921, (during which year, by agreement, the tea growers of Ceylon and India had curtailed Ceylon and India had curtailed production) forced the price of tea steadily upwards to the present abnormally high level. The lowering of the duty in England will mean still greater demand, and authorities on tea tell us that still higher prices may be expected.

May 14th, 1922, Mr. Michael Maley, reputation, no matter what that reputation may be," according to soul rest in peace.

May 16th, 1922, Mr. Michael Maley, reputation, no matter what that reputation, no matter what that reputation may be," according to soul rest in peace.

May 14th, 1922, Mr. Michael Maley, reputation, no matter what that reputation may be," according to soul rest in peace. higher prices may be expected.

WORSHIP RESUMED IN 680 FRENCH PARISHES IN DEVASTATED AREA

Paris, May 13.—The annual assembly of the Committee for Help for the Devastated Churches has just been held in Paris under has just been held in Faris under the presidency of Cardinal Lucon, Archbishop of Rheims. Cardinal Dubois, Msgr. Cerretti, Apostolic Nuncio, seven bishops and Marshal

Foch also were present.

The report of the General Secretary showed that worship was resumed last year in 630 new parishes in the devastated regions. Two million francs collected by the Committee in 1921 brought the total amount distributed to date to 14,000,000 francs. The committee congratulated itself upon the result of the loan for the permanent reconstruction of the churches. Two hundred million francs were asked of the French public alone for the beginning of the work. This sum was raised in the work. In s sum was raised in five days by the subscriptions of a public which already is burdened with new charges and charitable obligations and which is, in great part, deprived of its income through the destruction of the large indus tries in the North and East. Everyone made heroic efforts on behalf of the churches. Mayors of towns and prefects of departments worked with architects and priests. The banks waived the issue fees connected with the loan.

In his brief address Marshal Foch aid: "We have other victories to said: "We have other victories to win. Following the military victory we must win moral victories. We shall win them under the benedic-tion of our rebuilt church towers."

Cardinal Lucon, in moving terms, said that the joy he found in the haste of the people to rebuild the ruined churches was a cor lation for the sufferings he had endured during the War when he saw the Houses of God, one by one, fall around him.

POPE SENDS APPROVAL TO CATHOLIC SCOUTS

Paris, France.—Cardinal Gas-parri, Papal Secretary of State, has sent to Canon Cornette, founder and chaplain-general of the National Catholic Federation of Scouts, a letter which definitely accredits this organization. Cardinal Gasparri writes: "The paternal solicitude of the Holy Father extends most particularly to Father extends most particularly to the training of disciplined youth on whom the most optimistic hopes are founded. His Holiness therefore sends you his august encouragement, and expresses the wish that your association, under the patronage of the bishops of France, may extend more and more its fruitful action and thus contribute singularly toward the realization by your larly toward the realization by your valiant country, in the future as in the past, of the noble motto of your ancestors: 'Gesta Deiper Francos.'"

793,000 COMMUNIONS AT LOURDES IN 1921

Paris, France.—The latest figures show that in 1921 over 793,000 Communions were distributed in the basilica and in the grotto of Lourdes, not counting the number Papago settlements in Arizona and of communicants in the parish church and numerous chapels of religious communities. About forty-three thousand Masses were cele-three thousand Masses were cele-brated during the same period.

The pilgrims included a hundred archbishops and bishops and seven cardinals, namely, Cardinals Ratti, Lucon, Gasquet, Andrieu, de Cabrieres, Dubois and Maurin.

Three hundred and ninety physicians of every nationality and religion took part in the work of the Medical Bureau and fifteen extraordinary cures were reported.

OBITUARY

THOMAS O'FARRELL

One of Normanby's highly respected citizens was called to his eternal reward on Saturday, May 13th, in the person of Thomas P.

Deceased was born in Puslinch, Wellington Co., and as a wee boy came with his parents to Normanby. Forty years ago he married Cather-ine Horrigan who shared with him all sorrows and happiness of life. Deceased was of a hard working and thrifty disposition, and resided and thrifty disposition, and resided on lot 19, con 8, where with his good wife and help mate, he reared and provided for a family of four sons and four daughters, viz., Joseph of Niagara Falls, N. Y., Andrew at home, Ignatius of Niagara Falls, and [Frank] Brother T. Martin of the De La Salle College, Aurora: Mrs. I Dowling [Meagie] Aurora; Mrs. J. Dowling [Maggie] of Niagara, N. Y.; Mrs. P. J. Lynch [Tessie] of the 12th con., Normanby; Mrs. Simmons [Nellie] of Niagara Falls, N. Y. and Blanche at home. He was sixty-seven years and six months of age, and leaves, besides his widow and family, one prother, Jas. of Mt. Forest, a sister. Mrs. Green of Teeswater to mourn his departure. R. I. P.

Maley.—At Chelmsford, Ont., May 14th, 1922, Mr. Michael Maley,

May his soul rest in peace.
HANAVAN.—At Berkeley,

Francisco, California, on May 16, 1922, J. J. Grattan Hanavan, aged fifty-six years. May his soul rest in peace.

CONNOLLY. -At her late residence, 344 Madison Avenue, Montreal, on Saturday, May 13, Mary Sarah Farrell, widow of the late Thomas Connolly. May her soul rest in

HOUSEKEEPER WANTED WANTED a housekeeper for elderly gentler man and bachelor, on a farm; no outside work

HELP WANTED COOK general wanted. Four in family. No laundry work. Good wages. Apply to Box 324, CATHOLIC RECORD, London, Ont.

AGENTS WANTED 100% profit selling our household necessity Quick easy selling repeater. Good salaries ar earned by agents willing to work. Drop us card for information. Special Products Co P.O. Box 623 Ottawa, Ont. 2276-2

De La Salle College, Aurora, Ont.

Altar

NOTE-Our Wine is purchased from the Vendor to His Holiness the Pope, and is sold under Archiepiscopal approbation.

Just received, Reduced Prices Terragona Sweet, Terragona Dry, Moscatel Sweet. Important - Have your year's supply shipped now before the hot weather.

W. E. BLAKE & SON, Limited Toronto, Canada 123 Church St.

Everything a Catholic

Should Know—is told Every question a Catholic may ask— is answered in THE Manual of

Prayers

The Mass is Printed in Plain Type For those with Poor Eyesight Bound in Turkey Morocco

The Manual of Prayers, with Ribbon Book Mark, Heart, Anchor and Cross, of $3.00 Silver. Price JOHN MURPHY CO., Dept. D. Baltimore, Md.: Please send me the "Manual of Prayers," with Book Mark.

THE HOME BANK OF CANADA ORIGINAL CHARTER

Your Name on Cover, 50 Cents

Government Cheques Cashed Free at Par

All cheques issued by the Canadian Government may be cashed at their full face value at any office of the Home Bank.

Branches and Connections Throughout British and in All the Principal Cities of the World

Correspondents

Foreign

Fourteen Branches in Middlesex and Elgin Counties

HOW CRIMINALS ARE MADE

"The love of being noticed-the same thing that makes many actors and many politicians—is responsible for the making of many young criminals," states the Rev. William J. Cashin, Catholic chaplain at Sing Sing, who has lived among convicts for the past nine and a half years, and who perhaps knows them as well as any other man living.

There are other reasons in addition to this "fondness for having a "Lack of religious training in school," declared Father Cashin, "undoubtedly is contributory to the turning out of the youthful law-breaker. I do not think of any one religion in particular when I say this. Out of the total number of prisoners in Sing Sing, of all shades of religious beliefs, there are not more than three out of every one hundred who ever had anything like proper moral training in their youth. Of the Catholic population up there, to cite an example, not more than five per cent, have been students in parochial schools.

"I don't agree with those who write and talk on the theory that criminals are mentally deficient.
The criminals may be deficient in the sense that they have not had the proper moral training. But they most certainly are not men-tally deficient. They are, as a rule, well 'brained,' but their intelligence never was given an opportunity to expand, to move along right

"We have found that the bulk of the criminal population comes from the great cities." Greater New York contributes 60% of all the RETREAT FOR LADIES

MAIL CONTRACT

May, 1922.
D. J. McLEAN, Post Office Inspector.

MAIL CONTRACT

May, 1922. D. J. McLEAN, Post Office Inspector.

MAIL CONTRACT

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the Post-master General, will be received at Ottawa, until noon, on Friday, the 23rd June, 19:2 for the conveyance of His Majesy's Mails, on a proposed Contract for four years, 6 times per week on the route Thorndale No. 3 R. R. from the 1st October, 1922 next. Printed notices containing further informa-tion as to conditions of proposed Contract may be seen and blank forms of Tender may be obtained at the Post Offices of Thorndale, Ontario, and at the office of the Post Office Inspector, London, Ontario. Post Office Inspector's Office, London, 12th May, 1922.

MAIL CONTRACT

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the Postmaster General, will be received at Ottawa intil noon, on Friday, the 23rd June, 1922 for he conveyance of His Majesty's Mails, on a proposed Contract for four years, 6 times per week on the route Tavistock No. 3 R. R. from he 1st October, 1922 next.

Printed notices containing further informaion as to conditions of prorosed Contract may be seen and blank forms of Tender may be obtained at the Fest Offices of Tavistock, Ditario, and at the office of the Post Office inspector, London, Ontario.

Post Office Inspector's Office, London, 12th
May, 1922. May, 1922. D. J. McLEAN, Post Office Inspector

MAIL CONTRACT

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the Post aster General, will be received at Ottawa ntil noon, on Friday, the 16th June, 1922 for ne conveyance of His Majesty's Mails, on a

The Strength of

Wabasso Cotton Company, Limited 7% BONDS

is well proven in the circular which we have issued giving a statement of earnings for the last four years as well as a copy of the last balance sheet.

Assets are nearly three times Bonds outstanding, and earnings for many years have reached over 3½ times Bond interest requirements.

PRICE: 100 and Interest to Yield 7%

Write for Particulars.

L. M. Green & Co. inmates in the State's prison, adds Union Bank Bldg., TORONTO

Callaghan's Tours

To Ste. Anne de Beaupre

Fare from Toronto, 8 Day Tour, $68. From Kingston $54.50 Boat Leaves Toronto July 3rd, on 1st Tour RETURNS TO TORONTO JULY 10th

10 Day Tour to Murray Bay, Tadousac and the Saguenay, $92.00 Tour takes in Ste. Anne de Beaupre, Montreal, Quebec, Montre Personally Conducted. All Expenses Included

WRITE FOR BOOKLET TO

J. J. CALLAGHAN, 613 Wellington St., London, Ont.

Canada Rug Company 98 CARLING STREET, Established 1909

point inserted in one end of it. The difference in efficiency between one make of fountain pen and another lies in how closely they approach perfection in controlling

Thirty-eight years ago, Mr. L. E. Waterman invented Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen. It was the first fountain pen with a device that in scientific conception and practical application automatically controlled the flow of ink from the barrel to the point of the pen. It did this with a degree of perfection never before known and which,

New Method Makes Music Amazingly Learn to Play or Sing. Every Step way—teach you to play or sing by Made Simple as A B C D. J. McLean, Post Office Inspector. B. J. McLean, Post Office Inspector. B. J. McLean, Post Office Inspector. Entire Cost Averages a Few Cents D. J. McLean, Post Office Inspector. Entire Cost Averages a Few Cents In the Contract Manage of the Post Office of Averages a Few Cents In the Contract Manage of the Post Office of Averages a Few Cents In the Cost Average a Few Cents In the Cost

Advanced Pupils
Piane
Organ
Vielin
Drums
Sand Traps
And Traps
Mandelin
Clarinet
Flute
Saxophone
Cornet
Cello
Hawaiian Steel
Guitar Voice and Speech
Culture
Culture
Culture
Culture
Control

and address in a letter or

U. S. SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Please send me your free book, "Music Lessons in Your Own Home," and Particulars of Your Special Offer. I am interested in

(Name of Instrument or Course)

2936 Brunswick Bldg.

Address

U. S. School of Music, 2936 Brunswick Bldg.,

New York City.

New York Boston Chicago Sanfrancisco London Paris

We call this method "new"—simply because it is so radically different from the old and hard-to-understand ways of teaching music. But our method is you knew how to play the violin or Over 250,000 successful pupils—from you knew how to the thoroughly time tried and proven plan to violin or Over 250,000 successful pupils—from piano — or whatever your favorite women of 60—are the proof. Largely instrument may through the recommendations of satisbe—or that you could take part in school of music in the world.

Singing?

How many an easy, why continue to confine your envening's pleasure joyment of music to mere listenhas been utterly ing? Why not at least let us send you our free book or, "No, I am sorry, but I an't play."

And not

And now-at last-this pleasure and satisfaction that you have so often wished for can easily be added to your daily life. No need to join a class. No need to pay a dollar or more a lesson to a private teacher. Neither the question of time nor expense is any longer a bar-every one of the obstacles that have been confining your enjoyment to simply mere listening have now been removed.

Our method of teaching music—in Our method of teaching music-in your spare time at home with no strangers around to embarrass you— makes it amazingly easy to learn to sing by note or to play any instrument. You don't need to know the first thing about music to begin—don't need to know one note from another. Our method takes out all the hard part—overcomes all the difficulties makes your progress easy, rapid and

Whether for an advanced pupil or a beginner, our method is a revolution-ary improvement over the old methods used by private teachers. The lessons we send you explain every point and show every step in simple Print-and-Picture form that you can't go wrong on—every step is made as clear as A B C.

Phone 708 Our method is as thorough as it is easy. We teach you the only right

Don't Throw Your Old Carpets Away

The Famous VELVETEX Rugs

supply of ink. It is virtually a tube containing ink, with a pen automatically the flow of ink from the tube to the pen point during the act of writing.

to the present moment, has never been equalled.

Articles of Devotion Large Assortment W. E. BLAKE & SON. Limited 128 Church St. Toronto, Can. AGENTS

MEMORIAL SS WINDOWS GLASS ENGLISH ANTIQUE MED LYON GLASS CO.

the Irish Race A New History of Ireland By Seumas MacManus

720 Large Pages, Beautifully Bound in Karatol and Gold This is the story of the Irish race from the very earliest period down to today. Writtan in what one critic calls "Seumas MacManus' own swinging, singing style," it reads like a novel. It is filled with the romane, the tragedy, the poetry, and the pathos of Erin's story—the most wonderful story the world ever knew. Any man who would pride himself on being posted about Ireland cannot afford to be without this handsome volume.

GEO. GORDON BATTLE, ordering twenty copies of the book for his friends, writes, "I wish every American would read this delightful book and learn Ireland's wonderful story. It is a contribution of permanent value this torical lore."

RT. REV. MONS. CONNOLLY, New York, writes, "I only took up this book to glance at it, but could not lay it down again. It is fascinating. I am enclosing $100 for copies."

FRANK P. WALSH: "I am simply charmed with this book. It is the most readable, concise and beautiful work that has yet been done—a most applendid contribution to the Gause."

REV. DR. GEARY, Catholic University: "Its methods?

We know you will find this book absorbingly interesting, simply because it shows you how easy it is to turn your wish to play or sing into an actual fact. Just now we are making a special short-time offer done—a most splendid contribution to the Cause."

REV. DR. GEARY, Catholic University: "It is a work of which every man who belongs to the Irish race may well be proud."

RT. REV. MONS. KEANE, of Pittsburgh: "During the past fifty or sixty years, since I was a boy, herding the cows on the green hills of dear Tyrone, I have read almost every work in English by both friend and foe, about the land of my birth, but after all these years, I must candidly confess I never met a work that pleased me as much as this one. Children, yet unborn, will bless Seumas MacManus for his beautiful work."

MAJOR EUGENE F. KINKEAD: "I am that cuts the cost per lesson in two—send your that cuts the cost per lesson in two—send your name now, before this special offer is withdrawn. No obligation—simply use the coupon or send your name

THE BOSTON TRANSCRIPT: "Seumas MacManus keeps as closely as possible to admitted facts. He adds to his laurels with this book."

GAELIC AMERICAN: "This book should be in the home of every Irish family."

PITTSEURGH LEADER: "Singularly unbiassed and absorbing. Here is history written by a poet, and romance written by an historian." historian."

AMERICA: "A splendid book which should find its way into every Irish home—and every other home as well."

THE NATIONAL CATHOLIC NEWS SEEVICE: "Here are dash, brilliancy, humor, generosity, romance. Across the pages stalk warriors and saints, poets and patriots. Ané shining through every chapter is the indomitable spirit of the race. To thousands a Americans this book will be a revelation."

Price $6. Postpaid

The Catholic Record LONDON, ONT.