"There's a Lining of Silver to every Cloud."

BY JONATHAN FREKE SLINGSBY. " Did a sable cloud Turn forth her silver lining on the night "-MILTON

One winter night dreary, Dejected and weary, kept my lone vigil of sorrow and care ; Mistrusting-mistaking-My heart full to breaking-My soul seeking comfort and finding despair

attained

All wildly and chilly The wind whistled shrilly, Drifting the clouds o'er the desolate sky Low moaned the ocean In ceaseless commotion, Dashing the spray of its billows on high !

Tearfully gleaming, The young moon was beaming, Struggling by fits through each gathering cloud; Faint light now shedding, Dark shades now spreading, Over the moonshine their vapoury shroud !

" Ah! thus," thought I, sighing, . From birth to our dying, Man's course is a struggle through trial gloom : Joy gives scarce a promise That grief rends not from us, O'ef the light of our life looms the shade of the tomb-" But soon, to my wonder, The cloud burst asunder, And down thro' the fissure now streamed the moon's light; Soft fell its splendour, So holy and tender. In showers of sheen on the face of the night !

While all the cloud's margent Was gleaming like argent, Tho' earthward still sullen and dark was its shroud. I knew that towards heaven

Its brightness was given-A lining of silver spread over the cloud !

Then my soul rose in gladness, And shook off its sadness, I felt God can turn all our darkness to light-To-day what is sorrow Make joy on the morrow-Dry tears that are hiding his smiles from our sight !

I looked up, confessing That Trial is Blessing, To HIM if each grief be spread out and avowed What from earth Man sees gloming, God above is illuming-" There's a lining of silver to every cloud !"

Dr. Cramp and the Legislature.

Instead of appearing at the Bar of the House of Assembly, to address Members on the subjec of a Prohibitory Law, the Rev. Dr. CRAMP, G W. P., held a Meeting at Temperance Hall on Thursday last, which Members of the House and Legislative Council were invited to attend .-The decision of the House in granting leave for such an Address, showed a disposition to treat the G. W. P. with the utmost respect, as well as to hear argumen's in favour of an anti-liquor law. When this intention was abandoned, and a more unobtrusive measure was adopted, that disposition was still made manifest, if we are to judge from the numbers of both Houses who attended at the Hall.

This is a new phase in the history of the Temperance movement in this Province, which we hail with no little delight, as a significant sign of the times. Whether all who listened were convinced of the expediency and necessity of such and keeping stables in order, the comfort, a law, by the able, argumentative, and interest. and consequently the health and thrift of were requested to get out that cargo this General Commission Merchant ing Lecture, we cannot say; but there is no the animal should be kept constantly in morning." doubt that some, who may not hitherto have re- view.
